At the beginning of its new year the Relief Association wished to remind its friends and sympathizers that donations of money or of second-hand clothing are always acceptable, and that the need for help is now as urgent as ever. Money contributions should be paid to the Treasurer, Mrs. Wm. W. Myers, while clothing may be sent to the society rooms—No. 45 West Second street.

E. R. LEONARD, Secretary.

To Extend the Service.

Inspector Rogers of the Free Delivery system, was in the city a few days ago, looking over the district already laid out for free delivery here. It was decided to extend the service up to and including Sherman and Clinton avenues, in the Southwestern portion of the city. This will necessitate another carrier, and an extra one has been granted. The carrier who is to cover the district above referred to, will make his rounds in a carriage or on horseback.

AN ACTIVE ASSOCIATION.

At a regular meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E., of Dr. Ketcham's church, held on the 3d inst, the following officers were elected:

President—A. E. Hoagland.
Vice President—Josephine Pearis.
Secretary—[illegible] E. Blair.
Treasurer—Edward Petrie.

This society of the First Presbyterian Young People, is one of the most active and progressive in the State. It will hold a meeting in the church, this evening, at 7:45 o'clock, to be addressed by the Rev. F. E. Clark, of Boston, President of the United Societies of Christian Endeavor, and the Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D. D. Those interested in Christian work are cordially invited.

Middlesex County Bowling Club.

A lively contest between the members of the Middlesex County Bowling Green Club, took place on Mr. C. Schepflin's Green at Dunellen, on Saturday afternoon last, for the champion medal. Dr. W. E. Linstedt of New Brunswick, was the victor, and he found strong competitors in Messrs L. A. Pawlson and F. P. Haffner, and only defeated the latter by a score of 15 to 14. Among the other competitors were Messrs E. D. Christian, R. M. Pettit, F. Weigel, A. W. Pettit, J. E. Powelson, H. B. Willis, T. B. Boorcam, P. W. Frick and Dr. Wagner. Mr. C. Schepflin was the holder of the medal last season, but arrived too late to show his skill for 1889.

The season will close after a friendly game between the Middlesex and the Dunellen Bowling Green Clubs, which will take place after the return of Mr. Schepflin from his trip to the West and Southwest. This will be in about three weeks.

Governor Abbett's Patronage.

The next Governor of New Jersey will have the appointment of successors to the following officers:

Chief Justice Beasley.
Associate Justices Scudder and Van Syckle.
Secretary of State, Henry C. Kelsey.
Attorney General, John P. Stockton.
Supreme Court Clerk, Benjamin F. Lee.
Clerk in Chancery, Allen L. McDermott.
State Prison Keeper, John H. Patterson.
State Prison Supervisor, Henry L. Butler.
State School Superintendent, E. O. Chapman.
Three Judges of the State Court of Errors, including Judge McGregor.
Three members of the State Board of Assessors, including Messrs. Reynolds and Wiener.
Three District Court Judges in cities.
Six Deputy Factory Inspectors.
Eight Prosecutors of the Pleas.
Nine Law and eighteen Lay Judges of the County Courts of Common Pleas.
Six Managers of the Morris Plains Insane Asylum.
Four Trustees of the Reform School.
Ten Visitors of the Agricultural College.
Six Trustees of the Deaf-Mute Institution.
Five members of the Council of State Charities.
Four Managers of the House of Feeble-Minded Women.
Three members of the State Board of Health.
Three members of the State Board of Pharmacy.

Chief-Justice Beasley has been since 1864 upon the Supreme Court bench, and is seventy-four years of age. Mr. Kelsey has been Secretary of State since 1870, Mr. Lee Clerk of the Supreme Court since 1872, and Mr. Stockton Attorney-General since 1877. Allan McDermott is only thirty-five years of age, and is serving his first term as Clerk of the Court of Chancery. The Prosecutors to be appointed are in Bergen, Burlington, Hunterdon, Ocean, Passaic, Salem, Union and Warren counties; the Law Judges in Camden, Essex, Hunterdon, Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth, Passaic, Somerset and Sussex counties.

SECOND CONVENTION

Of the Y. M. C. A. of the Fourth District of New Jersey.

The second annual convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations of the Fourth District of New Jersey, will be held at Rahway, between October 18 and 20. The associations included in the District are Asbury Park, New Brunswick, Plainfield, Rutgers College, Rutgers Grammar School, Elizabethport and Long Branch. The district includes the counties of Middlesex, Union and Monmouth. Following is the programme:

FRIDAY EVENING.

At the Second Presbyterian church, 7:45 P. M., Service of Song, James Dunn, Rahway. 8 P. M., Opening Exercises. 8:15 P. M., Opening Address, Merrill E. Gates, LL. D., President of Rutgers College.

SATURDAY FORENOON.

At the Second Presbyterian church, 9 A. M., Devotional Exercises. 9:45 A. M., "Educational Work.—Its Importance and Improvement," Prof. Chas. Jacobus, New Brunswick. 10:30 A. M., "How to lead Associate Members into Active Christian Work," W. D. Murray, Plainfield. 11:15 A. M., "How can we conduct our Young Men's Meetings to secure the best Results," A. E. Hines, General Secretary, New Brunswick.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

At the Second Presbyterian church, 2 P. M., Devotional Exercises. 2:30 P. M., "The Financial Problem," Walter Hughson, Orange. 3:15 P. M., "Boy's Work," R. G. Leypoldt, New York City. 4 P. M. "The Workers' Training Class," Sample Class from Plainfield.

SATURDAY EVENING.

At the First Presbyterian church, 7:45 P. M., Service of Song, James Dunn, Rahway. 8 P. M., Short Addresses, by C. T. [illegible], of Plainfield; and W. R. Janeway, of New Brunswick.

SUNDAY, OCT. 20.

9 A. M., Consecration Service, led by Frank B. Hoagland, of Newark. 4 P. M., Men's Mass Meeting, Mercey Williams, Esq., of New York City. 4 P. M., Boy's Meeting, R. G. Leypoldt, New York. 4 P. M., Women's Meeting, State Secretary D. F. More.

EVENING.

8 o'clock P. M., Platform Meetings. 9 P. M., Farewell Meeting, 3d Presbyterian church, D. F. More, Presiding.

—Leal's school football team, defeated the Pingry school team of Elizabeth on Saturday morning, 18 to 12.

When the hair shows signs of falling, begin at once to use Ayer's Hair Vigor. This preparation strengthens the scalp, promotes the growth of new hair, restores the natural color to gray and faded hair, and renders it soft, pliant and glossy.

So They Are Here.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Rahway is making a strong effort to raise funds for the erection of a handsome building. Several thousand dollars have already been subscribed.

The Place and the Monument.

The members of the G. A. R., of this city, who are to raise $5,000 for the erection of a Soldier's Monument in Plainfield in commemoration of the Nation's dead heroes, will make a mistake by placing such monument in Hillside Cemetery, so far from daily sight.

Let it be erected in some such prominent spot as the junction of Broadway and Crescent avenue; and let it not be in the form of a gloomy tombstone. What's the matter with putting up a magnificent fountain?

THIRD ANNIVERSARY

The third anniversary exercises of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church of Dunellen, took place in the church, last Thursday, and the exercises were of a very interesting nature. The singing of Miss Benton and Miss Blair was particularly pleasing. The attendance was large, including a score or more persons from this city. Following is the

PROGRAMME:

Service of Song	Society
Prayer	Rev. D. W. Skellenger
Scripture Reading	By President
President's Report
Solo and Echo	"Some Sweet Day"
Secretary and Treasurer's Reports.
Chorus	"Coming To-day"
"Tools of Christian Endeavor"	Address by Frank B. Everitt, State Secretary
Solo and Quartette	"In the Morning"
Address	Rev. J. A. Davis, of Newark
Chorus	"The Numberless Host"
Christian Endeavor Benediction.

The Central New Jersey Baptists.

(From the Elizabeth Journal.)

The sixty-first session of the Central New Jersey Baptist association was recently held at Clinton. The ministerial conference of the association held their half-yearly meeting at the same place, on the same day. Reports from the churches, mission work, with much time given to Sunday school and higher education by schools and colleges, was the main order of business. There are six associations of Baptist churches in the State, of which this is the smallest. Last year 4,013 members were reported in the following churches, which compose this body: Belvidere, Berean at Stockton, Bethlehem, Calvary at Hopewell, Central of Elizabeth, Central of Junction, Cherryville, Clinton, Croton, Flemington, Frenchtown, George's Road, Kingwood, Lambertville, Mansfield, Montana, New Brunswick (First, Second and Third), Ringoes, Sandy Ridge, Somerville, South River, Washington, Wertsville. Several of these reported quite an increase from the several revival meetings held in the earlier months of the year.

The reports for the year 1888 showed 290 Baptist churches in the State, with a membership of about 39,000, and this year there will be more churches reported and a much larger membership throughout the State. The State convention, composed of delegates from all the churches, will meet at Salem, about the first of November.

Plainfield Homers Break the Ocean Record.

The Fanciers' Journal of Philadelphia, contains the following very interesting account of some marvellous flights by Plainfield homing pigeons:

Editor Fanciers' Journal:

Ocean flying is becoming so popular among many of the fancy, so I thought your readers would be interested in an account of one which has resulted in the World's ocean record being broken.

The Scripps League Expedition sailed for Paris on July 24, taking with them six birds, four from my brother's and two from my own loft. The agent (Mr Ridenour) suggested that four be liberated on the morning of the first day and two on the second morning out.

We objected at first, thinking it too much risk to liberate the two birds on the second morning. Finally, however, we decided to run the risk. If the distance from shore proved too long for the "homers," two weary birds at night must sink beneath the waves. If they reach the land in safety the World's ocean record will have been broken.

At 5:40 A. M., on July 25, four birds were let go from the deck of the City of Rome, 230 miles from home. On Friday, July 26, 9:10 A. M., two birds arrived home, Leander and Hermes, both alighting together. On one of Hermes' tail feathers was lashed a message, written very finely on a piece of thin paper, two and one-half by four inches. It was wired immediately to Mr Ridenour and was sent by him to several Western papers for which the Scripps League are agents.

A few days later we received word from a gentleman in Riverdale-on-Hudson, telling of a winged stranger coming in upon them while the family was at lunch. One leg was broken and every flight feather was gone from one wing, the result of an encounter with a bird of prey. Had he not met with his enemy he also would have brought a message the same day, as did Hermes.

This bird proved to be the Ancient Mariner, No. 549. He has flown many times from the ocean. His second "toss" was from the steamer Cherokee, 200 miles from Plainfield, "going South." He also has a 500 mile land record. The Mariner is now at home nesting and cooing with his old mate Albatross.

Later my brother received word from a lady in Stamford, Conn., saying that one of his birds, No. 2878, had flown to her house. *She had the bird several days be*fore she discovered my brother's name upon its wing and a message upon its tail feather. The bird was let go and came directly home. It will now be seen that all four of the first day birds were heard from, two of them bringing messages.

On July 31 we received from Mr. Ridenour a clipping from the New York World telling of two carrier pigeons being picked up by an incoming English steamer (Othello), with a message from the Scripps League Expedition.

These, of course, were the two birds let go on the second morning out, when about 750 miles from home. We sent a messenger to the ship, but the sailor having the birds in charge would not give them up nor release them unless we paid an exhorbitant price. We offered to give him other birds or to pay him liberally. He refused to show but one bird, Ariel, D—80. Before leaving the ship, however, the young man succeeded in securing a copy of the message on D—80. The Captain, when approached, said if we could not pay the price he would "take the birdies 'ome to the wee ones." So I suppose the two birds, after breaking the World's record, have been taken by these unsportsmanlike pigeon thieves to a strange country, instead of being allowed to fly freely to their homes they love so well. If the law in New York was as it is in New Jersey we would have put them "behind the bars."

These birds, you will see, made a wonderful fly; perhaps on the wing all night Friday, or else perched on the topmast of some incoming steamer; in the morning making airline for Plainfield, until exhausted, they dropped on the deck of the Othello.

A new device for carrying messages has been brought about by a Plainfield fancier. When it is patented and put in use no more messages need be lost, as it protects from rain and storm, and even if the bird is out a week the message can be read distinctly.

J. HARVEY DOANE.
Plainfield, N. J., Sept. 28.

New Bridges for Westfield.

At Westfield, Tuesday, Oct. 8, the Committee of the Board of Freeholders awarded contracts for building three new beam bridges one of which is on Mountain avenue near the Springfield road. The cost of the three will be $1,500.

Fire at Dog Corners.

A house belonging to Daniel Cole, near DeCamp's Hotel at Dog Corners, was burned to the ground at 1 o'clock on Wednesday morning. It was occupied, but the contents were saved.

A barn and outhouse were also burned. The former was rented by Johnson, the well-driver, and contained his tools to the value of $300, all of which were consumed.

The Registry List.

Following is the total registration in the various wards Tuesday:

First Ward	510
Second Ward	506
Third Ward	371
Fourth Ward—1st Dist	314
" " —2d Dist	284
Total	1,985

Firemen's Fair.

Amoskeag Council, No. 25, Order of American Firemen, will hold a grand fair in Dunlap's Hall, on West Front street, from October 21st to the 26th instant inclusive. An agreeable feature of the fair will be the absence of the book contest nuisance. The Committee of Arrangements consists of Messrs A. Saltzman, chairman; J. A. Hubbard, treasurer; J. B. Gable, secretary; J. B. Heath, J. E. Crater and C. R. Hope.

Movements in Borough Realty.

The transfers of real estate over the brook, as recorded last week, were:

Oct. 1—F. W Kird et ux to Jeannette Dell, property in North Plainfield, $3,250. Wm White et ux to W. H. Larrabee, property in North Plainfield, $450. W. H. Larrabee to H. M. Estil, same property, $1. H. M. Estil to Letitia B. Larrabee, same property, $1.

Oct. 3—J. H. Jackson, S. M., to Herman Schwed, property in North Plainfield, $500.

Died in Illinois.

(From the Elizabeth Journal.)

Mr. Platt Drake died at his home at Topeka, Ill., on Friday, and was buried Tuesday. He was born near Plainfield, and removed to the West many years ago. At one time he resided near Rahway. His widow has many relatives and friends in this city. Mr. Drake was quite advanced in years, and was a brother of Mrs. Jas. Drake, whose death occurred in this city eight weeks ago. Mr Drake was the last but one of a family of twelve children.

W. C. T. U. and Kindergarten Meetings.

Bear in mind the meetings of the W. C. T. U. this week, to all of which you are welcome: The Loyal Legion Wednesday at 4 P. M. Mothers' meeting Thursday at 3 P. M., (note the change of hour for the Winter). The Saturday night service of song and prayer at 7:30. Sunday morning at 9:15 and Sunday afternoon at 4. Come to them all, if you can, they'll surely do you good.

On Mondays and Tuesdays at 4 P. M. the Kitchen Garden classes are held in the same rooms, to which admission by card may be had by applying to the teacher, Miss Alice Smith, 32 West Second street.

Plainfield Prisoners Arraigned.

The General Court of Sessions convened at Elizabeth, at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Judges McCormick, Hyer and Wiley on the bench. The attendance of spectators was large. The following persons of this city, of whom indictments had been returned, were arraigned and plead:

Joseph E. Sullivan, disorderly house, selling liquor without a license, plead not guilty. Trial October 31.

Thomas Flynn, John Shannon and James Donovan, petty larceny, stealing five bushels of apples, plead guilty. Sentence to be imposed November 9.

Henry Forrest, breaking and entering (four counts) and theft of goods of the value of $32, plead not guilty. Trial set down for November 1. Committed in default of $300 bail.

Alonzo Randolph, (colored), larceny of watch of the value of $15, not guilty. Trial November 1.

Charles VanDeever's Wagon Wheel

That He Has Ridden 4,000 Miles.

THE PRESS readers have often noticed the colored gentleman who rides through Plainfield's streets on a wagon wheel, and have felt some curiosity to know something about him and it.

His name is Charles VanDeever, he is of this city, and himself gives the following account of the inception and production of his wheel.

He says: "Being a poor boy and not having the cash to purchase a high grade bicycle, I thought I would try and see what I could do toward making one. I wanted a bicycle badly, and one day while standing under a shed I saw an old wagon wheel, and I asked the owner if he would not give it to me, as I wanted to make a bicycle. The owner of the wheel told me that I could not make a bicycle, but I said 'If you will let me have the wheel I will try mighty hard,' and so he gave it to me. After I got the wheel I went to work on the forks. I found a fine piece of hickory behind the barn, and with an axe I chopped out two pieces of wood 1x2 inches. The backbone I got from a blacksmith; it is solid. The tools I had to work with were an axe, a draw knife, and some old bits for boring. I made it in Somerville, N. J., and I was about five days in its construction. When I first rode it the people in that place were very much interested, and the wheel attracted a good deal of attention. I have ridden the wheel some 4,000 miles in all."

A description of this unique machine appeared in the Hartford Times, under the head "Not a Racing Wheel." We clip the following from that paper:

"The United States Express Company received this morning from Plainfield, N. J., a bicycle as is a bicycle. Compared with the racing wheel of Champion Rowe, it is somewhat heavy, but compared with a twenty-ton pulley wheel it would prob*ably rank first in point of lightness. It* is home-made from the word go. The big wheel is an ordinary carriage wheel, while the rear wheel is a round disk 18 inches in diameter, cut out of an oak plank an inch thick, bored full of holes to make it lighter, and having a thick iron tire. The fork is of carriage lumber, heavy and cumbersome. The backbone is not hollow, oh no, it is of solid iron, hammered into shape while red hot, and rather rough at the fork for the rear wheel. The handle bar is of iron, with a heavy block of wood in the middle and movable wooden handles at the ends. Then there is a step on the backbone above the small wheel and a seat, a little beauty stuffed with straw and covered with a boot leg, and a leg guard to keep the muddy wheel from the trousers of the rider. The pedals are not exactly ball bearing, but square blocks of wood with small holes for oiling. Everything is complete; all the details are worked out. The machine weighs nearly 100 pounds, and was probably made in a blacksmith's shop."

Valvular Disease of Heart.

DR. FLINT'S REMEDY, in cases of chronic valvular disease of the heart, should be used to relieve the [illegible] and whether the pain which is felt with or without [illegible] [illegible]. Descriptive treatise with each bottle; or address Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

A Horse Dies of the Rabies.

A horse belonging to Mr. James E. Totten, of Pruden's alley, was found wedged in between the fence and outhouse in the rear of Henry Liefke's bakery, on West Front street, about midnight, on Oct. 8, by Nightwatchman Wright. He notified Officer Giesse and the latter with the assistance of one of Mr. Liefke's bakers got the animal on his pins and walked him up and down Front street for a time. Mr. Totten was aroused and he took charge of the horse. Towards morning the animal snapped and frothed at the mouth, and the next morning the horse died in great agony.

A veterinary surgeon, who was called in, pronounced it a genuine case of the rabies. The horse is supposed to have been bitten by a dog, as there was an ugly flesh wound on one of the fore legs.

KNIGHTS OF HONOR.

The twelfth annual session of the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Honor met in Plainfield, Oct. 9, at Reform Hall and the following officers were elected:

L. L. Burk, P. G. D.; S. W. Hartshorn, G. D.; R. C. Jones, G. V. D.; G. W. Small, G. A. D.; J. M. Mayhew, G. R.; J. Mariott, Treas.; J. Winstanley, G. Guide; A. Miller, G. Guardian; W. H. Karr, G. S.; H. W. Leland, Trustee; L. L. Burke, S. R. 2 years; G. G. Hardy, S. R. 1 year; John Otto, S. R. alternate 2 years; J. N. Carpenter, S. R. alternate, 1 year; W. J. Cadmus, State Medical Examiner.

There were present 125 representatives and 27 P. D.'s were created. The present membership of the K. of H. in the State of New Jersey number 4,180, showing an increase since last session of 417. They paid to widows and orphans $101,000, on the death of 54 members, who during their membership only paid in $8,636.35, and in addition to this $3,091.70 was expended for the relief of members and $10,000 by the order in general contributed to the Johnstown sufferers.

The committee of arrangements were: F. P. Haffner, of Dunellen and C. J. Feytel of North Plainfield, who secured Reform Hall and made arrangements for dinner at Force's Hotel.

The order is a beneficial one in every respect and is represented in Plainfield by Wetumpka Lodge, 3,401 which at their last regular meeting passed a resolution declaring a sick benefit fund of $5 per week to disabled members. The next annual session of the Grand Lodge will be held at Newark, N. J.

Gen'l Negley's Daughter, Grace, Becomes Mrs. Enoch S. Farson.

Grace Negley, eldest daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Negley, was married to Enoch S. Farson, of Philadelphia, at noon, of Oct. 9. The ceremony was performed in the library of Gen. Negley's new home on West Seventh street, by the Rev. James Y. Ashton, grandfather of the bride. The Reverend gentleman is in the 80th year of his age, and Chaplain of the Moyamensing Prison.

The bride was attired in a beautiful traveling costume of brown cloth, richly trimmed in velvet and passementerie. She entered with her father, and the groom with Mrs. Negley. The ceremony was most impressive.

The wedding breakfast was furnished by the celebrated caterer, Mazetti, of New York, and was very elaborate. The house was decorated with a great variety of choice plants and flowers, and brightly illuminated. The happy couple departed in the afternoon for Washington and the South, and upon their return will go to their home in Philadelphia. Invitations were only to members of the immediate families.

Mrs. Negley was attired in black silk, over petticoat of cream colored satin and black lace. Her ornaments were diamonds.

Mrs. E. S. Farson, mother of the groom, was in black silk.

Miss Edith Negley, sister of the bride, in beautiful grey costume.

Miss Mabel Negley, sister of the bride, in pretty light silk, with velvet trimmings.

Mrs. Davis, sister of the groom, wore black satin and point lace.

Miss Martha Farson, another sister, was in handsome black lace.

Mrs. Ashton, grandmother of the bride, wore rich black silk and tulle; and Miss Ashton, aunt of the bride, handsome black lace.

The other guests were: Mrs. Geo. Grace, Gen. and Mrs. S. K. Schwenk, Dr. J. L. Hatch, Miss Pauline Kneass, Mr. and Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Elizabeth Roop, Mr. F. A. Bates, Miss May Sackett, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Grace.

There were over one hundred presents, that included sets of silver for all purposes, many rare works of art, bric-a-brac and useful articles for the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Enoch S. Farson.

PLAINFIELD LODGE OF RED MEN

Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order of Red Men, was instituted on Oct. 9, at the K. of P. Hall, by the following named officers of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey: Great Prophet Thos H. Sprague, of Burlington; Great Sachem William J. Stetson, of Gloucester City; Great Senior Sagamore Edward S. Hance, of Port Oram; Great Junior Sagamore Thomas McDonough, of Trenton; Great Chief of Records Daniel M. Stevens, of Camden; Great Sannap Fred. Wahl, of Camden; Great Guard of the Forest Thomas M. Kenworthy, of Newark, assisted by visiting members from other Tribes.

That the Tribe has made a successful start on its onward career, is settled beyond a doubt by the fact that there was 64 persons present as charter members. Owing to the popularity of the Order throughout the different States, the Tribe now started in this city, will be within a short time one of the largest in the State. It may be well said that the Orders throughout the State as well as this city, may be proud of so representative a body of men as those who compose the charter members of Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118.

The following officers were installed after the Tribe was instituted:

Prophet—[illegible] C. Magee.
Sachem—James B. Clarkson.
Senior Sagamore—Benj I. Allaband.
Junior Sagamore—Joel Botterlie.
Chief of Records—John Sylvester.
Keeper of Wampum—Geo. W. McGuinness.
1st Sannap—Lewis E. Blackford.
2d " —Francis Whitely.
1st Warrior—Charles Palmer.
2d " —Frank Hale.
3d " —D. A. Shirreff.
4th " —Chas. Quarfort.
1st Brave—Chas. Newman.
2d " —B. York.
3d " —E. Wolrester.
4th " —Chas. Wyhuskey.
Guard of Wigwam—Thos. Osborn.
Guard of Forest—Wm Donaldson.

After the installation of the above, the Tribe adjourned to the rooms of Charles Book, on Second street, where a fine collation was served, for which he has the thanks of the visiting brothers, as well as the individual members.

The Order was instituted in Newark in 1850, but very little progress was made up to 1870, since which time it has spread all over New Jersey, and now numbers nearly 11,000 members. Sixty-three Tribes have been instituted in the past six years. In Paterson there are nine Tribes and 1,400 members. In Camden nine Tribes and 3,600 members—one Tribe alone with over 700 members.

—The second annual Fall games of the Plainfield Bicycle Club, will be held in The Crescent, Thursday evening, Nov. 21.

A Poser!

Why will you suffer with indigestion torpid liver and sick headache, when a few cents will buy HAMBURG FIGS enough to relieve your distress at once and effect a cure in a few days? 25 cents. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

Plainfield's Bowlers.

From these columns, the New York Sun of Saturday reprints the following:

"A lively time in bowling sports is promised at Plainfield during the Winter. The games will be played at Elizabeth, Westfield and Plainfield. Twenty games for the Plainfields are scheduled so far. Jas Davis, an expert bowler, is captain of the team, and has picked out the following men to fight for the league championship: Messrs VanEmburgh, Kleb, Reed, Teel, Ulrich, Rogers, Thiers, Emerson, VanWinkle, Baker and H. Teel. The new alleys on East Second street will be ready for use in a few days, and will prove attractive quarters for the games."

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

KASKINE
(THE NEW QUININE.)
No Bad Effect.
No Headache.
No Nausea.
No Ringing Ears.
Cures Quickly.
Pleasant, Pure.
A POWERFUL TONIC.
A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.
THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.
Mr. [illegible] Hoernbeck, [illegible] U. S. Ship [illegible], writes that he [illegible] people almost daily who have used or are using Kaskine, and who affirm from experience that it is superior to quinine in its [illegible] and curative properties, and produces no subsequent bad effects.
Mr. [illegible], Scarborough, Selma, N. C., writes: "I got malaria in the Southern army, and for [illegible] years suffered from its debilitating effects. I was terribly run down when I heard of Kaskine, the new quinine. It helped me once. I gained 3[illegible] pounds."
Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.
KASKINE CO., 166 Duane St., New York.

FIREMEN'S FAIR
Amoskeag Council No. 25, Order of American Firemen,
Will hold a GRAND FAIR in DUNLAP'S HALL, Front and Grove streets, Plainfield, N. J., from OCT. 21 to 26—one week.
GREAT BEAN CONTEST!
Every person entering the Fair will be given a ticket entitling them to a prize, worth from one cent to $5, to be given out on the last night of the Fair. All prizes to be numbered and given out according to numbers of tickets. NO BOOK CONTESTS IN THIS FAIR.
Committee of Arrangements—A. Saltzman, Chairman; J. A. Hubbard, Treasurer; J. B. Gable, Secretary; J. B. Heath, J. E. Crater, C. R. Hope. 10-17

PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

CITY OF PLAINFIELD.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a warrant issued by William M. Stillman, [illegible], City Judge of the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union, to make the unpaid taxes assessed on lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate, in the said city of Plainfield in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-seven, the subscriber, the officer nominated and appointed by the Common Council for that purpose, will on Wednesday the 20th day of November next, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, at his office, 51 Park avenue, in the City of Plainfield, sell the lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate hereunder described, at public vendue, for the shortest time for which any person or persons will agree to take the same and pay such taxes, together with interest thereon, and all costs, fees, charges and expenses.

Allen, Samuel C., h and b and 60 a, E. Front st., below Richmond ave	52 00
Ager, Johnson, Clinton ave	[illegible]
Boice, est. of Cornelius, h and l, 73 E. Front st	126 00
Boice, " " lot, Dunellen ave., Evona	[illegible]
Boff, [illegible] 3 lots, Netherwood ave, Nos. 14, 20 and [illegible]	3 [illegible]
Boiler, William	1 [illegible]
Brennan, James, h and l, Rose st	5 [illegible]
Craig, James, h and l, Dunellen ave., near Jefferson ave	27 00
Craig, James, h and 7 ½ a, North and Dunellen aves	105 00
Craig, James, h and l, Front st., near Dunellen ave	10 00
Craig, James, h and l, Front st., near Dunellen ave	10 00
Craig, William, 2 h and l, Dunellen ave	54 00
Craig, William, 7 ½ a, Dunellen ave	25 20
Campbell, Mrs John O., h and l, 51 E. 5th st	40 50
Chase, Winfield S., h and l, 1 Jacques Block, W. Front st	[illegible]
Conway, est. of Daniel, h and l, 126 W. Fourth st	[illegible]
Cole, William A., 3 lots, 118 W. Eighth st	[illegible]
Cole, Jacob, est. of Sarah, h and 18 a, E. Front st. and Terrill road	68 00
Cole, Ellis, h and l, 1 ¼ a, South and Leland aves	27 00
Cole, [illegible], h and l, [illegible] W. [illegible] st	27 00
Cole, Ellis, h and b and 60 a, E. Front st	150 00
Cameron, John, h and l, Madison ave	30 00
Cowen, Margaret, lot, Kensington ave	4 50
Cowen, " " hotel, Eighth st. and Park ave	180 00
Dunham, Hannah C., h and l, Fifth st., and Madison ave	21 60
Dunn, Solomon P., h and l, 63 Park ave	30 60
[illegible], est. of Patrick or Mary, h and l, 75 W. Third st	[illegible]
Frazee, Ann, h and l, 16 Peace st	22 [illegible]
Force, James M., lot, E. Second st	[illegible]
Flynn, Ann, h and l, W. Third st., below Liberty st	5 40
Fisher, est. of Abram, h and l, 75 W. Third st	3 40
Flanagan, P. J., lot, Evona	1 80
Fritz, Adam, h and l, Exchange alley	5 40
Gladden, Edward, lot, Lane tract	[illegible]
Gable, John E., h and l, 25 Cottage place	10 80
Harriott, Randolph H., lot 3 a, E. Front st	45 00
Harding, William H., h and l, 77 W. Third st	5 40
Hall, Mary E., or Geo. F. Randolph, lot, George st	1 80
Jones, Mrs Emma A 7 lots Carlton ave	16 [illegible]
" " " h & 3 l, Kensington ave and Lagrande	46 00
Jimmerson, Aaron L h & 7 a, Leland ave	27 00
Ketchum, Charles E h & 2 l Kensington ave	36 00
Kane, John h & l 6 W 3d st	3 15
[illegible], John G h & l 108 W 5th st	10 80
Lane, Mrs Mary M 6 l Lane tract	10 80
[illegible] 11 a Plainfield & Sherman ave	29 70
Leonard, Mrs Elizabeth h and l Union st	27 00
Leonard, Mrs Elizabeth double h and l 98 W Front st	18 00
Leonard, Mrs Elizabeth 11 a Plainfield and Sherman aves	29 70
Lee, Thomas h and l 5 B[illegible] st	18 00
Lillienstern, Mary h and l E Front st	21 15
Lawrence, John C 2 l North ave and Terrill rd	5 40
Manley, [illegible] 3d st h and l	[illegible]
" " h and l New st adj above	[illegible]
Manley, Caroline T l W 5th st adj ab	6 30
Manley, Caroline T h and l 13 New st 1 det [illegible] E 3d st	14 40
Marsh, Randolph h and l [illegible] Plainfield av	15 [illegible]
Marsh, Lucy A h and lot 16 W 5th st	[illegible]
Marsh, Mrs Elizabeth 6 h and l 91 Madison ave	45 00
Manning, W H h and l 151 W 4th st	7 20
McCarthy, Chas l h and l 2 and 38 Plainfield ave	16 20
McLaughlin, W F 8 lots 17 to 26, 5th near Lexington	1 80
Moore, [illegible] h and l Broadway and 5th st	48 60
Moore, Thomas [illegible] l 2 & 3 Richmond st	5 40
Moe, Rupert [illegible] h and l [illegible] W 5th st	32 40
Martine, Anna M executrix h, barn and l 4 Broadway and Cedar Brook	45 00
Martine, Anna M executrix h and l 9th st near Park ave	48 60
Martine, Anna M estate D farm 116 a Broadway and Prospect ave	164 00
Martine, James E h and l Park ave near Mayer st	4 50
Martine, Anna M brick h Broadway & Kensington ave	45 00
Meyer, Sigmund C l 200 ft Front st near Clinton ave	7 20
Murray, Joseph or Dean estate l Prospect ave	[illegible]
Murray, Joseph or Dean estate Ravine ave	10 80
Murray, Joseph or Dean estate l [illegible] Dunellen and Clinton ave	[illegible]
Noel, Charles [illegible]	[illegible]
Noel, Charles [illegible] and Netherwood ave	7 20
Ohl, Catherine J 6 a and 6 l Pemberton, Plainfield Elizabeth sts	37 80
Pound, Daniel h and l North ave, Evona	[illegible]
Perrine, Jas B h and l 29 La Grande ave	27 00
Pike, [illegible] W h and l 130 E Front st	72 00
Rose, Richard l 6th and Union sts	3 60
Roll, Cornelius [illegible] l 9 [illegible] st	36 00
Reed, [illegible] or Mattie Colborn l E 3d st	[illegible]
Reed, [illegible] l E 3d st	3 60
Richardson, Maggie h and l 21 E 9th st	32 40
Stewart, David h and l [illegible]	4 00
Smith, Mary [illegible]	3 60
Smith, Jas h and l 16 Elm st	[illegible]
[illegible], Lydia [illegible] George st	3 60
Saltzman, [illegible] h and l 167 Central ave	97 20
Smalley, heirs of John 40 a Randolph rd	54 00
Smalley, Mary B h and 3¼ a Woodland ave	18 00
Sage, Emily E l Lake st	10 80
Stevens, [illegible] h and l [illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible], est. of [illegible], h and l, 25 W. Second st	[illegible]
Thomas, James E 4½ a Broadway	8 10
Thompson, estate of Daniel 29 l bought of Bert Charlton	[illegible]
Taylor, Henry l W 4th st	1 80
Trumbull, Julius [illegible] and Clinton av	[illegible]
Ulrich, estate of [illegible] h & l 58 W 5th st	18 00
Vermeule, Sarah A h & l 6 Prince street	18 00
Van Winkle, Jeremiah h & l Central av	27 00
Vail, estate of Stephen 30 a Broadway & Hillside	27 00
Vail, Catherine h and l 35 W 3d street	[illegible]
Vail, Waldo M h and l 4 a Clinton ave and Dunellen ave	14 40
Whitehead, Frederick and lots W Front st	[illegible]
White, Wm E [illegible] street	[illegible]
[illegible], John h and l 72 W 2d street	[illegible]
Wells, Wm H l Clinton and 6th streets	[illegible]
Wylie, Franklin E 12 a Front street and Terrill Road	60 00
Willis, Lorenzo W h and l 90 W 6th st	36 00

Witness my hand this 20th day of July, A. D., 1889.
VINCENT W. NASH,
Special Policeman and Collector of Delinquent Taxes.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

—A forerunner of the Salvation Army was in Plainfield, last week, trying to lease a meeting place for the Winter.

The very [illegible] medical writers claim that the successful treatment of nasal catarrh [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

MISCELLANEOUS. | MISCELLANEOUS.

THE FALL OF 1889
BRINGS WITH IT many new styles, and much that is novel and handsome in the line of man's attire. We are exceedingly particular how our clothes are cut and made. The very best Custom Cutters only can secure positions in our employ. While we go in for appearances to the fullest extent, we are ever mindful of quality. If you will call and inspect our Fall Suits and Overcoats for Men and Boys you will note the extreme neatness and evident durability of every Coat, Vest and Pair of Trousers THROUGH THE WHOLE STOCK. We stake our reputation on the thoroughness of our work. You can get a suit for $8, $10, $12, $15 or $18, or an Overcoat, light or medium weight, all shades, silk facings and linings, for $10 or $12. We wish to convince you that our house deserves your custom. It does?
J. MARSHALL & BALL,
CLOTHIERS,
807, 809, 811, 813 BROAD STREET
10-10-3m

PIANOS. PIANOS.
S. D. LAUTER CO.,
Steinway.
(The Standard Piano of the World,)
Emerson.
S. G. Chickering.
Sterling.
And all Standard Makes of
Pianos and Parlor Organs.
Sole Agent for New Jersey for the GABLER Patent Metal Action Frame UPRIGHT PIANOS, the most popular Piano made. Musicians like it, Singers like it, the PEOPLE like it, EVERYBODY likes it.
A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at the lowest prices ever given in Newark.
A FIRST-CLASS UPRIGHT PIANO for $260 CASH, or $290 ON INSTALLMENTS. $10 MONTHLY until paid for. TELEPHONE 708.
S. D. LAUTER CO.,
657 AND 659 BROAD STREET, NEWARK, N. J.
12-14-y

SPECIAL NOTICE.
New Store! New Goods! New Firm
BARKALEW & DUNN,
Fancy and Staple Grocers,
NO. 18 NORTH AVENUE
We sell for Cash and will give Special Inducements
7819

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT!
Boston, 4 months, over 175,000 persons; New York, 7 months, over 230,000 persons; Philadelphia, 12 weeks, over 110,000 persons. The most Marvelous, Refined, Interesting and Instructive Exhibition of the Age, and the ONLY ONE OF THE KIND IN THE WORLD.
Prof. George Bartholomew
And his famous and unequalled
24 Educated Horses!
They Do everything but talk. Directed entirely by spoken language.
MUSIC HALL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.,
Week Oct. 28. 6 Evenings
Wednesday, Saturday Afternoons, 2.30.
SPECIAL PRICES:
Balcony, Adults, 25c. Children, 15c.
First Floor, " 35c. " 25c.
All Reserved Seats, 50c. For sale on and after Friday, Oct. 25, for all the performances, at the Drug Stores of L. W. Randolph and J. G. Miller. 10-17-2w

Parlor Stoves
Othello Ranges,
Steam and Hot Water Heating,
Hot Air Heating,
Hardware,
Plumbing,
Tinning,
And House Furnishings.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11-1-tf

Don't spoil your Feet with Cheap Shoes!
WEAR THE BURT & PACKARD
"Korrect Shape."
KORRECT SHAPE
Don't allow your dealer to palm off any substitute, as we have arranged to supply the "Korrect Shape" Shoes in any style for Gent's, Boys or Youths, and prepay all delivery charges where they are not sold.
You can only find them in Plainfield, N. J., at DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S, 22 W. FRONT ST.
Made in four grades, HAND-MADE, HAND-WELT, BURTWELT and MACHINE SEWED, which is stamped on the sole in addition to the trade-mark above.
PACKARD & FIELD.
Successors to Burt & Packard,
Brockton, Mass.

Dancing and Aesthetics.
PROF. SEGARDO'S SCHOOL will open in [illegible] Building, 17 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J., on Thursday Afternoon, Oct. 17, at 3 o'clock.
Classes will meet every Thursday for Young Ladies and Children, 3:30 to 5 o'clock P. M.
For terms, etc., send for a catalogue. Address
L. F. SEGARDO,
32 West Park street, Newark, N. J.
10-10-tw

DEATHS.

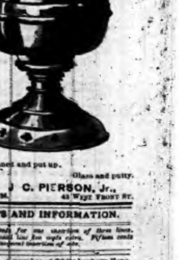
CAMPBELL.—Suddenly, Oct. 13, 1889, of heart disease, Harriet Campbell, in her 58th year.

M. N. TERRILL & CO.,
UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,
No. 29 E. FRONT STREET.
M. N. TERRILL.— GEO. W. COOK.
Practical Embalmer, and assistant, for the late firm of Ford & Stiles. 8-17-tf

A. M. RUNYON & SON,
UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS,
60 PARK AVENUE.
Telephone Call 40.
RESIDENCE—48 MADISON AVENUE.
Telephone Call 31.
"Office of Hillside Cemetery."

P. CASEY & SON,
UNDERTAKERS.
OFFICE—No. 1 Somerset St.
Residence, No. 11 Third street, corner New, Plainfield, N. J. Everything pertaining to the business always on hand, and lower than any other firm in the State. All Calls Promptly Answered Day or Night.

Stoves. Lamps.
Elegant! Cheap!



Stoves cleaned and put up.
Glass and putty.
J. C. PIERSON, Jr.,
Telephone 136. 43 WEST FRONT ST.

WANTS AND INFORMATION.

Paragraphs Only for one insertion of three lines, each additional line [illegible] extra. Fifteen cents for each subsequent insertion of ads.

WANTED—A number of White Leghorn Hens. Box 32, Westfield, N. J. 10-10-3

FOR SALE at a Bargain—A W. W. Greener Trap Gun 10 bore, 1 W. W. Richard's Field Gun, 1 Bellis Bush Gun. Enquire at No. 27 Grant avenue, Plainfield, N. J. 9-26-tf

STORAGE—FIRST-CLASS ACCOMMODATIONS in newly constructed rooms. Absolutely cleaned and free from vermin. Separate rooms if desired. Apply at BOSTON hat store, or of owner M. YEREMILE. Two buggies for sale cheap.—6m

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST. Ask for them.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - City Editor.

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF MAILS.

NEW YORK MAILS.

[illegible]

W. L. FORCE, Postmaster.

—Oh, for a Y. M. C. A. building.

—Keep a lookout for counterfeit two-dollar notes. They are numbered B [illegible], and bear the portrait of General Hancock.

—A severe thunderstorm passed over the city on Saturday evening, but no damage is reported resulting from the lightning.

—In New Brunswick they advertise egg, stove and nut coal at $4 per ton and sell a "No. 2 nut" at [illegible] a ton delivered.

—Leaves are falling from trees much earlier than usual, and the extremely wet weather during the season is thought to be accountable for it.

—A most entertaining sight will be the ball of Cypress Commandery of colored Knights Templar, at The Crescent, Thursday evening of this week.

—A chest of tools belonging to Mr W. C. Bodine of North Plainfield, was broken open during Sunday night and about ten dollars worth of tools were stolen.

—Contractor James Hardy is making a big hole in the job he has before him, in converting the old [illegible] on East Second street into the Crescent Bowling Alley.

—The ball of the season will be that of the colored Knights Templar, in The Crescent, Thursday evening. It will be enjoyable even to [illegible] participate in it.

—The public schools of Somerville and Raritan have adopted a systematic course of instruction in vocal music under the weekly direction of Mr. T. K. Hazell of this city.

—Postmaster Force has recommended the advancement of the mail carriers from third to second class grade. This will increase their salary from $600 to $800 a year.

—To take an advertisement out of the paper during the so-called dull season is about as bad as to stop feeding the horse because the weather is unsuitable for using him.

—On Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock Mrs. Hall will lecture on "The Kindergarten," in Seminary Hall. All those interested in the work are cordially invited to be present.

—"The Kindergarten" will be discussed by Mrs. Hall, at the Seminary on Friday, October 18, at 3:30 P. M. All those interested in the Kindergarten work, are invited to attend.

—Mr. John Collins, of West Third street, was severely bitten in the thigh by a dog belonging to Michael Spillane on Sunday. The animal was shot on the following day.

—Mr Carl Kaerth accepts as correct THE PRESS account of the recent runaway of his team, and [illegible] it to deny the usual misstatements contained in the news report of the occurrence.

—The Woman's Home Missionary Society will hold its regular meeting for sewing, Friday, at 2 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Newhall, No. [illegible] East Seventh street. All the ladies are invited.

—A tramp with a [illegible] jumper and minus a coat, was about town Saturday night looking for a lodging place. At one of the hotels he made a demand to be kept over night, but it was not complied with.

—The Board of Directors of the Middlesex Gun Club will meet in a few days to report on the receipts and expenditures of the recent tournament. The tournament was a success, financially, and the club will realize a handsome sum from it.

—The encampment of "Troop A," National Guard, of New York, which was to have begun at Mr. John I. Holly's Park avenue farm on the 15th instant, has been indefinitely postponed. The postponement was made necessary on account of the recent wet weather.

—The members of the Young Men's Catholic Associations of Morristown and Elizabeth, about 200 strong, will visit this city on the 24th instant, on a target excursion. The shooting will take place at Keller's Grove, and the visitors will then dine at Casper's Hotel.

—If the members of the amateur minstrel combination who rehearse with banjo, bones and tambourine in the Park avenue store, every night, will lower the rear window in the [illegible] and do less stamping on the floor, they will gain the everlasting gratitude of THE PRESS.

—On Saturday last, the foot ball eleven of the Princeton preparatory school, played Leal's team, of this city, on the grounds of the Crescent League. The home team had just returned from a hard fought victory at Elizabeth, and being rather tired were defeated by the visitors.

—Craig A. Marsh, Counsel for G. Warren Watson, asked for the trial of the [illegible] case, in the Elizabeth Court, Monday morning. The Judge refused and stated that no cases, but those without juries, would be tried during this term except the Pearce-Lee case set down for Wednesday.

—There will be more people thrown into jail this Fall, in this State, for violating the game laws than ever before. Two lads hunting near Edgewood were chased by a game constable on Thursday and were compelled to wade a brook up to their arm pits to get away, but they thereby escaped jail, a fine, and probable confiscation of their shooting irons.

The Reform Club Meeting.

A very interesting meeting was held in Reform Hall, Sunday night. President Harper presided, Frederick Vanderbeek led the music, and Mr. Sampson conducted the devotional services, Bible reading and prayer.

The speakers were as announced, Mr. Wm. H. Sampson and Captain Wm. B. Ostrom, both members of the Reform Club. The address of Mr. Sampson was of a religious tenor and forcibly voiced the saving principles of Christianity. He conveyed to the audience much valuable instruction and commanded close attention.

Captain Ostrom recounted in his usual happy manner several incidents connected with a recent extended visit to the Western Lakes, and from them drew moral lessons of great practical worth. Both gentlemen in the course of their remarks ably advocated the all important cause of total abstinence from intoxicating liquors of every kind.

President Harper gave notice that next Sunday evening the platform would most likely be occupied by our fellow citizen Aaron M. Powell, who has just returned from a visit to Europe.

After a few earnest words from Mr. Sampson on behalf of pledge signing, the assemblage dispersed.

Personals.

Attorney-General J. P. Stockton will speak in Plainfield, Friday evening of this week.

The Rev. Chas. H. Mitchell leads the young men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A., Monday next.

Miss Lola Tyler of New York city, is the guest of Miss Maggie Manning of Franklin place.

Mrs. F. H. Martin of East Fifth street, is visiting her brother, Mr. F. A. Leggett, at Asbury Park.

Mr Charles Hyde, Jr., of this city, is to be married during February next, to Miss Godfrey of New York.

Mrs. M. E. Edgerton is at home on Front street, East, after a Summer at Wentworth Hall, Jackson, N. H.

Mr. J. Harding Page Wharton, of Pittsburg, Pa., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Dingee, of East Fifth street.

Mr "Wallie" Smith, of New Haven, Conn., spent Sunday with his aunt, Mrs. E. C. Fisher of Mt. Pleasant.

The August number of Sun and Shade, contained a full-page portrait of Miss Hart of this city, labelled "Sunshine."

Miss Florence Titsworth, a scholar in the Pennington Seminary, spent Sunday with her parents on Madison avenue.

Mr. Wilbur Chamberlin of the Jersey City Argus, son of Mr. O. E. Chamberlin of this city, is seriously sick with typhoid fever.

Mr. "Tee" Weir, otherwise known as the "Belfast Spider," of prize fighting fame, was in the city on Saturday evening.

Miss Nellie Shepard is quite ill with a low fever and nervous prostration. The services of a trained nurse have been engaged.

Mr. John I. Holly and family who have been Summering on their Park avenue farm, returned to New York, for the Winter, on Tuesday.

Mr. R. J. Swackhammer, of Dunellen, Superintendent of bridges of the New Jersey Central Railroad company, has gone to Illinois for a month.

Mr. Peter V. Weaver has just completed, very tastefully, the exterior decorations of Mr. Chas. Smith's fine residence on Craig place.

Major Rufus K. Case took a party of Plainfield school teachers, members of the History Class, on a very enjoyable trip up the Hudson, Saturday.

Mr. D. D. Schenck has returned from a few weeks absence among the farms of Ohio. He has all the higher opinion of New Jersey now by comparison.

Mr. Harry Thorne, Jr., of East Ninth street, has returned from a lengthened visit in the Adirondacks, thoroughly recovered in good health and vigor.

Mr. James Cahill, a resident of this city, died in the Newark Hospital, Thursday. Undertaker Casey went to Newark, that evening and took charge of the remains.

Mr. Frank W. Vermeule, of Peace street, has enlisted in the U. S. Cavalry, and is now at Jefferson Barracks, Miss., where there are 600 soldiers in camp for training.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pickford, of Halifax, Nova Scotia, are stopping at Mr. S. D. Doane's residence on East Fourth street, on their way to Europe and the Holy Land.

Abraham King was one of the many visitors from this city to the Somerset County Fair, Oct. 9. While in the crowd on the Somerville platform, his watch was stolen.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Mitchell will celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary at the residence, No. 32 Liberty street, on Tuesday evening, October 22, from 7:30 to 12 o'clock.

Mr. Clarence E. Teel, who was formerly employed in the capacity of shipping clerk at the Pond Tool Works, has accepted a lucrative position as bookkeeper for Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro.

At the home of the bride in White House, Wednesday, evening, took place the wedding of Miss Minnie Bonnell, and Mr. Dilts, brother of the Rev. Asa Reed Dilts of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Reed, of Craig place, are being envied and congratulated on their possession of a little daughter, and the Hon. Alvah Clark is the proudest grandfather in Somerset county.

Lewis Schutt, the young son of Mr Wm. Schutt, of Duer street, shot a blue heron on the mountain, yesterday, that was four feet high and measured 6 feet 4 inches from tip to tip of wings.

At the Convention of New Jersey Democratic Clubs, held at the Newark Academy of Music, Thursday, W. K. McClure, Esq., was chosen as the member from Union County of the Committee on Resolutions.

Mr. John E. Beerbower, proprietor of the City Hotel, has secured the right to sell the Numan lawn pump and fire extinguisher in the counties of Union, Somerset, Essex, Passaic, Mercer and Bergen.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Brittin desire THE PRESS to extend their thanks to the host of kind friends who have so heartily in many ways shown their sincere sympathy with them in the sad death of Louie de Castro.

Luis Castellanos, son of the delegate from San Salvador, Central America, to the Congress of American Nations now being held in this country, is a student at the Harned Academy, on Park avenue. He will remain until he has mastered the American language.

A surprise party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. William A. Wilson, at their home, No. 90 Somerset street, evening Oct. 9. A large number of young people of this city, North Plainfield and vicinity, were present. Dancing and other attractions were indulged in until an early hour next morning.

Miss Maud Bowers returned Monday, Oct. 7, to the Boston school of oratory where she is studying. A number of friends saw her off at the Grand Central depot, among whom was a bashful young man who only seen through tear dimmed eyes, just escaped being kissed in mistake by the ladies, in the hurry of leave taking.

Mr. George Vincent is in the city for a few days and will attend the wedding of Miss Jackson, Thursday evening. Bishop Vincent who it was hoped would officiate, finds it impossible because of numerous official engagements, to be present. The Rev. A. H. Tuttle, of Baltimore, a former pastor of the M. E. church here, will perform the ceremony.

The Elizabeth Herald says: "Miss Dolly Kent, a pupil of Francis Fisher Power of Brooklyn, has recently achieved the distinction of becoming a member of his quartet. Miss Kent has for some time past occupied the position of soloist in the choir of the First Presbyterian church at Plainfield, and will shortly be heard prominently in this city."

The boy is very sweet and modest when at home in Plainfield, but a few nights ago he was seen outside the stage door of a New Haven theatre waiting and watching for the exit of the dizzy blondes of the Rentz-Santley combination and, some paint, some yellow wigs and some all the dazzling beauty that had fired the fickle fancy of this scion of a noble stock now "away from home at college."

A Plainfielder who attended the Rev. Mr. Hermond's church, in Tarrytown, N. Y., tells of a startling incident that caused the entire congregation to laugh aloud on Sunday, a week ago. The pastor intended to open his sermon with the assertion—"Moses, was a great man." He had got no further than "Moses!" when the colored sexton of that name roused himself from a nap and answered most audibly, "Here, sah!"

Mr. W. C. Hubbard, '90, is spending the week in Boston attending the 43d annual convention of the Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Frank Campbell, who died suddenly on Sunday night, took place from the late home of the deceased on Liberty street, Wednesday at ten o'clock.

Mrs. E. Landis, of Newark, and Miss Anna Yost, of Norristown, Pa., returned home on Monday after a few days stay at Maier's Park Hotel, Dunellen, much pleased with their visit.

The death occurred Tuesday morning at her home on West Sixth street, of Mrs. Elizabeth Regan, mother of Mrs. Walter L. Hetfield. The remains were taken to Worcester, Mass., for interment.

A young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pope of West Fourth street, gave a birthday party, on Monday evening. About thirty young people were present and spent the evening in playing games, etc.

The entitled address of Mr. Aaron M. Powell, editor of the National Temperance Advocate, in Reform Hall, next Sunday evening, will be: "The Temperance Outlook in Europe" All who possibly can should go and hear him. He is a chaste and able speaker and master of any subject he takes in hand.

Among all the portraits of prominent citizens of Poughkeepsie, that adorn the really magnificent souvenir edition of the Eagle of that city, just issued, the best and handsomest face of all is that of the Rev. James M. Taylor, D. D., President of Vassar College, and a younger brother of Mr. Morgan S. Taylor, of Washington Park, North Plainfield.

Somerset Street's New Bridge.

The joint committees of the Union and Somerset counties' Boards of Freeholders, Friday awarded a contract to the New Jersey Steel & Iron Company for a girder bridge over Green Brook at Somerset street, cost to be $2,150.

An Asphyxiated Prayer Meeting.

The electric lights refused to shine on a church prayer meeting, Wednesday last week, and the gas was lighted instead. In turning it up just before the meeting began, the sexton turned it out and the escaping gas drove the congregation away and adjourned the meeting.

Major Anderson Post Meeting.

A regular meeting of Major Anderson Post, No. 109, G. A. R. was held Thursday night, with Senior Vice Commander Chas. Randolph in the chair.

There were present visiting comrades from Winfield Scott Post, 73, of this city, and Wadsworth Post, 75, of Somerville. Amos B. Stiles was mustered in as a comrade, increasing the Post roll to 53.

Election of Deacons and Elders.

At the congregational meeting held in Trinity Reformed church, last evening, the following persons were elected to serve as elders and deacons for the term of two years each:

Elders—R. R. Field, G. Q. Doliver and O. W. Dunham.

Deacons—E. E. Anthony, T. E. Hazell and A. L. Force.

Mr. James K. Arnold was also elected deacon for the term of one year.

Funeral of Mrs. VanDyke.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary E. VanDyke, wife of Lewis M. VanDyke, took place Thursday afternoon at her late residence 76 West Second street. There was a large attendance of immediate relatives and friends, and the services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Ketcham.

Mrs. VanDyke was never in robust health, and for the past two years she has been a wearied but patient sufferer from consumption. She was a woman of fervent Christian spirit, kindly disposition, and gentle nature. She, was a devoted wife and mother whose loss in her family is irreparable. She leaves a husband and six children, the youngest only about two years old.

Messrs Stevens and Smith Win the Cup and the Medal.

The members of the Dunellen Bowling Green Club met in contest on the lawn of Mr. Christian Schepflin, Thursday afternoon, for the Schepflin Cup and the Stevens Medal. There was a large number of competitors and the games were close and interesting.

The Cup is a handsome silver trophy elaborately engraved with the name of the donor, Mr. C. Schepflin, and the time of its presentation, Sept. 1886. It was won in '86 by James Longwill, in '87 by Julius C. Haynes, and in '88 by James Stevens. Yesterday Stevens won it again for the second year in succession, after an exciting contest in the finals against such expert bowlers as Andrew Love, Christian Shepflin, James Smith, and Henry and Andrew McKnight.

In the contest for the Stevens Medal, Messrs Schepflin, H. and A. McKnight, Love, Stevens and Smith rolled the finals. The result was a victory for Mr. James Smith.

An Exciting Runaway.

A team of grey horses belonging to Mr. Carl Kaerth, the mineral water dealer of East Second street, ran away on Front street at one o'clock Friday, and created great excitement. The horses were hitched to a heavy delivery wagon, and the latter was filled with bottles containing mineral water of various brands.

Turning into Park avenue the wagon struck the curb, and the horses were thrown on the sidewalk but a few feet from the door leading into Stelle's drug store. Here the runaway team was captured.

At the time of the runaway, a little girl who was on her way to school, had reached the corner of Front street and Park avenue but an instant before the horses fell, and Manager Charles Runyon of the Telephone office, seeing her danger, heroically went to her rescue. He picked up the child and tossed her into the doorway just as the crash came. The girl escaped injury.

One of the horses was seriously cut on the legs, and the wagon was badly wrecked. Dozens of mineral water bottles were broken and the contents poured into the gutter. The team started from the corner of Front street and Washington avenue.

PLAINFIELD CHORAL SOCIETY.

The people who remember with much pleasure the past entertainments of the defunct local Vocal Society, would have recognized the faces of every man and woman who gathered together in Vincent chapel, Thursday night, to consider the organization of another choral union, in response to a call published exclusively in these columns.

There was much enthusiasm displayed in the meeting, and the unanimous expression of speakers and voters was in favor of the project. Messrs H. O. Newman, D. E. Davis and D. E. Titsworth were appointed a Committee on Constitution which they subsequently presented for adoption. It provided that the name of the organization be the Plainfield Choral Society.

An election of officers resulted in the choice of the following:

President—W. W. Rowland.
Vice President—C. W. McCutchen.
Secretary—E. W. Runyon.
Treasurer—W. T. [illegible].
Directors—H. O. Newman, D. E. Davis and H. A. [illegible].

The matter of engaging a leader was left in the hands of the directors. The society will hereafter meet for rehearsal every Monday evening in Vincent chapel.

—Use Dr. Dam's Remedy for the blood.

An Exciting Runaway.

Mr. Edward Apgar, the genial clerk at the City Hotel, had a thrilling experience near Mt. Bethel a little before three o'clock Sunday afternoon. Mr. Apgar was driving a mustang at the time, and a young lady was sitting beside him in a covered buggy.

The mustang became frightened and ran away. Mr. Apgar pluckily held the reins and guided the animal in the roadway. Just as he was approaching a steep incline, a flock of chickens ran out from a hedge, and again frightened the mustang. The animal made a plunge into a stone heap, upsetting the buggy and throwing the occupants out, but still the driver held fast to the reins and was dragged fully one hundred and fifty feet, when his head came in contact with a large stone, and he was forced to relinquish his hold.

Rushing back, Mr. Apgar found the young lady lying unconscious on a heap of stones. He carried her to a physician's office some distance away, where the wounds were found to consist principally of cuts on the forehead and bruises about the body. After the wounds were dressed she was taken home in a carriage. Mr. Apgar was badly bruised on the forehead. The entire top and seat of the buggy were torn off, and the mustang was cut on the front legs. The animal was captured at Mt. Bethel.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY

Of Trinity Reformed Church—Interesting Exercises—The Reports of the Committees, and Addresses by Rev. Messrs Kerr of Elizabeth and Shellinger of Dunellen.

The members of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of Trinity Reformed church, celebrated the fourth anniversary of the society's organization in the church Friday night. The attendance was large, delegates being present from Metuchen, Elizabeth and Dunellen.

The exercises opened with an organ voluntary by Mr. A. L. Titsworth, followed by prayer by the pastor and singing by the congregation. The pastor and congregation read responsively the 148th Psalm, after which Mr. J. R. Dunn, Secretary of the Society read the following excellent reports:

After the most pleasing success of the year previous, our Society—trusting in the Almighty God for our strength and guidance—went to work with renewed zeal and vigor to do the Masters will, and although a few misfortunes have befallen us, we have indeed, reason to be truly thankful to the God we love and serve for the success that has attended our efforts during the past year. The officers who have served the Society during the past year were as follows, with the exception of the President and Recording Secretary whose business duties necessitated their removal from the city. Their places were filled by others: President—Mr. Fred. Lucas, later Mr. F. S. Dunn; 1st Vice President—Mr. C. D. Wheeler; 2d Vice President—Miss E. U. King; Cor. Secretary—Miss E. G. Benedict; Rec. Secretary—Mr. J. G. Connolly, later Mr. J. R. Dunn; Treasurer—Miss Susie B. VanWinkle.

Among the most noticable events that have transpired during the year were the adoption by the Society of the Model Constitution and the refurnishing of the meeting rooms. Also one of our members—Mr. G. A. Luckenbill—was admitted to Rutgers Theological Seminary, where he will prepare himself for the ministry. Just here we might add that our hearts have been saddened by the heavy hand of death which took two of our most esteemed and active members from our midst, the first being Miss Alice Tallman and the next Mrs. John H. Van Winkle. Although we sincerely mourn our loss we can not help but feel most greatful indeed, that the Lord has spared our lives for still further use in this good work.

The report of the Lookout Committee showed a total membership of 104 active members and 36 associate members. The report of the Devotional Committee was most encouraging. It showed an average attendance for October, November and December 1888, of 98, 66, and 71. The average attendance this year was as follows: January, 133; Febuary, 93; March, 99; April, 77; May, 84; June, 85; July, 91; August, 116; September, 118. The Secretary's report went on to say:

To much cannot be said of the faithful manner in which the duties of the Flower Committee have been performed. Since they took upon themselves the responsibility of furnishing the flowers for the church their duties have been largely increased. They have gone to no end of trouble to provide flowers for the sick and friends of the deceased as well as for the Muhlenberg Hospital. For their labor they deserve the hearty thanks of the Society. Miss Lillian A. Force is chairman of this Committee.

The Social Committee have been in the habit of alternating with the Womans' Christian Work Society connected with this church in the matter of holding our sociables. During the last Winter several interesting and successful socials were held in the room below.

We have now three other committees namely the Sunday School, Music and Reception Committees. These have not been in the habit of sending in monthly reports, but the many duties of each have been faithfully performed, and the result is very satisfactory.

The treasurer's report:

Total receipts for the year.......... $49 [illegible]
Total expenditures for the year.......... 30 [illegible]
Leaving a balance in the treasury of $19 [illegible]

MISS SUSIE B. VANWINKLE,
Treasurer.

The committees were selected with much care and thought and reflect great credit on our former President Mr. Fred. Lucas who appointed them. They have worked together faithfully and in perfect harmony which has aided materially in the general success of their aims.

In bringing this report to a close let me say that our meetings have been marked for the uniform zeal and earnestness displayed in the cause of Christ, and our earnest prayer is that the Saviour who has prospered and guided us in all our affairs in the past will continue to do so more abundantly in the future.

Respectfully submitted,
J. R. DUNN,
Rec. Secretary.

Mr. B. F. LaVere followed with a beautiful cornet solo, and Rev. J. T. Kerr, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church of Elizabeth, who in appearance resembles the late Dr. E. W. South, was then introduced. The reverend gentleman clearly and forcibly portrayed the "Constancy in Christian Endeavor." He illustrated the result of inactivity on the part of Christians, and stated that true Christian Endeavor was a desire to manifest itself to the world.

Rev. Mr. Shellinger of Dunellen was the next speaker. The true Christian, he said, must be built after the statue of the perfect man—Jesus Christ. The most beautiful agency of the church today is the Christian Endeavor.

Rev. Mr. Schenck, the pastor, made a few timely remarks, and after a hymn was sung and the Lord's prayer repeated, the audience was dispersed with the benediction.

Mr. F. S. Dunn, president of the society, presided at the service. The platform decorations were rich and modest, and consisted principally of cut flowers and Autumn leaves.

—There is not room enough as it is for the 30 cars a day assigned to this city that are unloaded with so much delay and inconvenience in the present freight yard. Plainfield has outgrown the freight depot, and is ashamed of its unsightliness, too. Remove it.

A New Place of Worship.

The new place of worship furnished the Unitarians by Mayor Maie, at No. 4 Second place, was filled at the first service held there Sunday. The acting pastor, Rev. W. P. Tilden, preached a very instructive sermon on "The Bible Ode of Creation."

A Sudden Death.

Mrs. Frank Campbell, the wife of the Liberty street caterer, fell dead in her husband's restaurant, Sunday night with heart disease. Mrs. Campbell was taken ill on the street, but she managed to reach home but a few minutes before her death occurred.

Mr. Murray Will Lead.

The subject for Bible Study at the Young People's meeting at Bethel chapel, Friday evening, will be—"Christian Work; what is it? The Worker, who is he? Why should he work?" The leader will be Mr Wm D. Murray. All are invited and are requested to bring their own Bibles.

Rev. Mr. Clark Will Speak.

Rev. Francis E. Clark, of Boston, and Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D. D., of this city, will address the young people at the First Presbyterian church, Thursday, Oct. 17, at 4:45 P. M. An informal reception will be held in the church parlors from 7 o'clock, where Dr. Clark will be pleased to meet all Christian workers.

Interesting Services at Holy Cross.

There were very large congregations at both morning and afternoon services in the Church of the Holy Cross, Sunday. In the morning the Rev. Dr. Perkins, of Louisville, Ky., preached an excellent sermon. A missionary service for children was held in the afternoon. They were addressed by the Rev. Mr. Blanchet, who has spent ten years in Japan as a missionary.

Sprained His Ankle But Saved His Life.

Mr. Charles VanWinkle, son of ex-City Treasurer VanWinkle, slipped on the rail and fell in front of the incoming seven A. M. train Monday, at the station. Although his ankle was badly sprained and the train was almost on him, yet he succeeded in rolling out of danger and the locomotive passed in safety a few inches from him. He was taken to his home and the doctor sent for.

To Represent Plainfield.

The following gentlemen will represent the Plainfield Y. M. C. A., at the District Convention to be held at Rahway, beginning Friday of this week: W. D. Murray, E. St. John, Stephen Cahoone, C. T. Kissam, E. L. Suffern, J. A. Robinson, A. C. LaBoyteaux, R. E. Pease, Thomas Mair, Charles Brown and John Lindsay. The Youths Department will be represented by Chas P. Geithaar, Walter Dobbins and Lynn Edsall.

That Dam Question.

It is true as stated in Saturday's PRESS, that the preliminary order has been vacated by the Vice Chancellor, and an injunction refused restraining P. M. French from rebuilding Tier's dam against the wishes of Charles Hyde, but the matter is not finally settled.

Mr. French can go on and build the dam, but the case will go on also—be argued, and testimony presented—then if it be decided in favor of Mr. Hyde, down must come the dam.

Miss Cleaver's Taffy Pull.

Miss Eleanore Cleaver gave a "Taffy Pull" to a few of her friends on Saturday evening, the occasion being the fifth anniversary of her birthday. The prize for the whitest candy was won by Miss Maud French, while the "Booby" prize fell to the sad lot of another young Miss of that name.

After the distribution of these prizes, refreshments were served and the young people dispersed, wishing their little hostess many happy returns of the day.

Addresses by Rev's Clark and Hurlbut.

The programme for the young people's meeting at the First Presbyterian church, this evening at 7:45 o'clock, will be as follows:

Organ Voluntary
Jubilate Deo..........Dudley Buck
Choir
Responsive Reading
Prayer
Hymn
Address..........Rev. Francis E. Clark
Sing, O Heavens..........Tours
Choir
Address..........Rev. J. L. Hurlbut
Hymn
Benediction

Particularly Pleasing Place for the Ladies.

Many Plainfield ladies with a few hours to spare after a morning's shopping in New York, stop in at the American Institute Fair, 3d avenue and 64th street, and view the thousand and one things displayed of interest and beauty to them. From unique and labor saving household utensils and food products, to the furniture and art exhibits, there are hundreds of wonderful inventions and new means of elaborate decoration, that are each worth the small price of admission. A whole day can be spent in the building with profit and entertainment, and at the cocoa, coffee, bouillon, griddle-cake, muffin and mince meat exhibits, a palatable lunch is freely offered.

The Strange Actions of Four Formerly Respectable Citizens.

Not wishing to depress the value of real estate in the vicinity, THE PRESS will merely state that it was somewhere about Central avenue and Eighth street, that great excitement was occasioned, on Saturday, by the sudden stopping of all the grandfather clocks in the neighborhood, and the automatic ringing of the alarm bells. Everybody rushed to their windows in anxiety, fearing some terrible cyclonic or electrical disturbance, but the sight that met their eyes changed their anxious feelings to thoughts only of self-protection. Windows were at once closed and bolted, doors locked and skylights fastened. Even the chickens fled to roosts out of reach, and the sun stood still in wonder and diversion.

Summoned by telephone, a special policeman, thirteen firemen, a PRESS reporter and a yellow dog hastened to the scene. The cause of the neighborhood's consternation was apparent, but there was no need of terror. In a vacant lot were to be seen four old folks conducting themselves in a very strange manner. They were clad in arctic overshoes, base ball belts, and other juvenile paraphernalia, and engaged in losing innumerable small balls by knocking them over one another's heads out of sight.

At the sight of the special policeman, some of the adjacent residents summoned enough courage to raise a window an inch or two and suggest in a frightened voice that the men be seized, and gagged, and carried to Morris Plains at once. But as the four were otherwise respectable, and had previously been supposed to be in possession of all their senses and the esteem of the community, no arrests were made.

For the sake of their families their names might be omitted, but that the community may be on the watch for other possible outbreaks, THE PRESS deems it a duty to warn all to keep an eye on Charles W. [illegible], a certain New York tea broker; George A. Chapman, a speculator in cotton; Alex. Gilbert, bank cashier; and John W. Murray, Vice-President of a to-be-gilted insurance company. The quartette are old enough to know better, and have always been considered heretofore as real nice men. In fact, previous to the sad occurrence as above, Mr. Murray had been spoken of as Plainfield's next Mayor.

Mr. Burdick's [illegible].

Music Hall has been engaged by the ladies of the W. C. T. U., for Gospel temperance meetings, led by Mr. Burdick, during the evenings of November, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 16, 17, 18, 20, [illegible] and 23, commencing Sunday afternoon at four o'clock of Nov. 10.

Only a Wheel Off.

One of the hind wheels of Mrs. Aldrich's wagon came off in front of the post office, last Tuesday. The lady herself was driving but the horse did not get away. Another wheel was procured from a neighboring carriage shop, and the journey continued to Mrs. Aldrich's home at Grant and Sherman avenues.

To Work the Amplified Degree.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P. of this city, are arranging for a big time on this Friday evening, at which time the amplified degree will be worked upon two of the members by Grant Lodge of Jersey City. The visiting lodge, including the Grand Lodge officers will arrive on a special train, and after conferring the rank of Knight in amplified form, the visitors will be tendered a collation.

True Christianity.

The good wife of Freeholder Vanderbeek set a Christian example Thursday afternoon. She is a teacher in the Mt. Olive (colored) Baptist church Sunday school of this city. Her class numbers 50 women, 45 of whom yesterday accepted her invitation to "Tea" from 4 to 6 o'clock. After the singing of Christian hymns was indulged in, and before leaving for home, Street Commissioner Anglemann, who was also there, asked God's blessing on all present.

By the Merry Four.

One of the many pleasant sociables given during the Fall and Winter by the Merry Four, was held Tuesday, at the residence of Mr. Peter G. Kline, Summit avenue, North Plainfield. There were many young people present. Dancing was indulged in until an early hour this morning. The Merry Four is composed of the following young gentlemen of this city and North Plainfield: Messrs Horace G. Adams, Harry C. Ackerman, Henry Adams and Charles VanMiddlesworth.

Base Ball.

The Young Americans of Dunellen, were defeated by a picked nine of this city, on the Evona grounds, Saturday morning, by a score of 12 to 16. The picked nine won the game on Holland's poor pitching.

The batting for the picked nine was done by M. Melin, E. Leonard, C. and M. Sutphen; and for the Young Americans by Holland and Richerts. The batteries were Leonard and Melin for the picked nine; Richerts and Holland for the Young Americans. Umpire—Burke.

A Remarkable Exhibition to be Given in Music Hall.

Commencing Monday evening, Oct. 28, for one week, with entertainments Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, there will be given at Music Hall a remarkable display of horse sense, under the direction of Prof. Geo. Bartholomew.

The school consists of 24, and they appear all at one time without bridle or halter, and are directed entirely by spoken language. The horses reproduce scenes in school; know figures, height, width, depth, curves and circles; drill equal to pretentious military companies; fight a battle; reproduce a court scene, and 12 of them play with bells "The Last Rose of Summer."

This extraordinary indoor entertainment appears only in the largest cities, but through a misunderstanding about a week at the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, they will appear here, and there is no doubt they will be favored with very large and fashionable audiences. The entertainment is endorsed by the leading humane societies and clergymen, and is in every particular worthy the patronage of a discriminating public. Manager Mishler today inspected the stage of Music Hall and says it is just right for their performance, and that he was agreeably surprised to find such a complete and cosy theatre.

How Ernest Gabriel, a Cavalier From Switzerland, Was on the Eve of Bigamy When His Wife Made Herself Known.

Considerable scandal has been created in the hamlets of Union Village and Stirling, by the escapade of a young man who worked in the former place, and who was paying assiduous attention to a young lady resident of the latter.

Gabriel Ernest, as he called himself, a native of Berne, Switzerland, came to this country a few years ago to seek work at his trade of brass-finishing and surgical instrument making. After arriving in Plainfield he found employment with Mr. Charles Castle, maker of surgical instruments, of Union Village. Being an expert mechanic Gabriel secured good wages, and being of a social disposition and quite a singer, he had no trouble in forming a vocal society, which met weekly at Stirling under his leadership. Salary and position thus made him a favorite in township society, and quite a catch in the eyes of the maidens.

Gabriel soon formed the acquaintance of a respectable young lady to whom he became engaged to be married, the only stipulation being that he should wait a year or two, as the parents were not willing to part so soon with their daughter. To this Gabriel consented.

One day last week an acquaintance of this cavalier received a letter from an attorney in Berne asking for information of "Ernest Gabriel." The letter stated that Gabriel's wife was anxiously waiting for news from him. Enclosed was a note from Ernest to his wife, telling her he was sick in a hospital, and that that was the reason he did not remit any money to her.

The attorney wanted to know if Ernest was still sick or dead, as no word had come from him in some time. The man who received the letter went to Stirling to make inquiries, and there found the true state of affairs. When the contents of the letter became publicly known, on Saturday the 5th, Ernest drew his wages at noon and went to spend Sunday at Stirling. He received so unusually warm a reception, however, that he subsequently disappeared. It is supposed he has gone to New York.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST.

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and is always reliable, wholesome, uniform, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, Presidents of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

CLEVELAND BROTHERS, ALBANY, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., 106 Wall street, New York.—[illegible] 9-7-1y

A $30 A Day Man!

A VOICE from Ohio. Here is a portrait of Mr. [illegible]

[illegible]

Shall we start YOU in this business, reader?

[illegible]

Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., AUGUSTA, MAINE

2-8-1y

Catarrh

IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

CARNEY BROS.,

11 SOMERSET ST.

TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.

PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stov s can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas Fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.

Tinware Made to Order.

Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces.

SANITARY PLUMBING.

Railroad Crossing!

Look Out for Fast Excursion Trains,

VIA THE

ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS AND MANITOBA R'WY.

TO

MONTANA,
MINNESOTA,
NORTH DAKOTA,
SOUTH DAKOTA,

TUESDAY, AUG. [illegible], 1889;
TUESDAY, AUG. [illegible], 1889;
TUESDAY, SEPT. [illegible], 1889;
TUESDAY, SEPT. [illegible], 1889;
TUESDAY, OCT. 8, 1889.

THROUGH THE

GREAT RESERVATION and MILK RIVER VALLEY

Great Falls, Helena, Butte,

And all important intermediate points. including

Fargo, Moorhead, Huron, Watertown, Ellendale, Aberdeen, Grand Forks, Grafton, Casselton, Sioux Falls, Wahpeton, Fergus Falls, Devils Lake, Etc.

VERY LOW RATES.

Through Tickets on sale at principal stations.

For further information ask your home or nearest coupon ticket agent, or write to

F. I. WHITNEY, Gen. Pass. & Tkt. Agt.,

ST. PAUL, MINN.

4-13-y

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

PECK'S CORNER.

U SELDOM C

A LARGER VARIETY OF

FALL GOODS!

THAN ARE NOW OFFERED

AT PECK'S!

Poetically Speaking.

" Take your savings from your sock,
And just 'hoof it' for our block;
Leave the folks that pick your pocket
In the lurch,

" For we have the largest stock,
All our prices are bed-rock,
And competitors we knock THEM
Off the perch "

Thus talks a Western poet and merchant to his patrons. We quote it because its good advice and true of us. Besides being poetry, its absolutely true when connected with ourselves. Most of you know that to be so. But the truth has to be stated again and again.

The sentiment embodied above is truer perhaps this season than ever before. Prices are indeed down to bed-rock. They certainly can't be lower. Our assortment of Clothing is complete in every department. We have tried to make the stock this present season more attractive to purchasers than ever, and we have succeeded. You'll find nothing to equal what we offer in this town, and you'll not beat it out. You may find a few places where there's more money spent in costly mirrors and carpets. But you don't buy them, although you pay for them in the extra price of what you buy—see! We put our full value into the garment that you carry away with you. And it tells. Each season trade increases, and more and more pleased customers find their way to our store. It begins to look as if this will be the most successful season yet.

McGregor &Co., 850 and 852 Broad St
NEWARK, N. J.

A. VANDERBEEK,

(CHAUTAUQUA BUILDING.)

NO. 33 PARK AVENUE, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

HAVING DISPOSED OF THE MUSICAL AND SPORTING Goods Department I am now prepared to devote my entire time to the sale and renting of

—PIANOS AND ORGANS—

Having many years of experience in the Piano Trade I am prepared to furnish first-class Instruments as reasonable as they can be had in New York city. Pianos tune. Give me a call before purchasing

PRICE LIST OF THE

EMPIRE STEAM CARPET CLEANING

Feather and Mattress Renovating Works.

Office and Works, 32 East Front Street.

HUGO WEIGMANN, Prop.

Ingrain and 3-Ply,	3c. per yd.		Feather Pillows,	50c. per pair
Tapestry and Brussels,	4c.	"	Feather Bolsters,	50c. each
Wilton, Velvet, Moquette and Axminster,	5c.	"	Large Feather Bed,	$1.50 each
			Hair steamed and picked,	5c. per lb

GUNNERS' SUPPLIES!

The "Club" Shell Loaded by the U. M. C. Co.

—LOOK AT THE PRICES.—

10 ga 4 or 4 1-4 drs Powder, $1.85 pr 100
12 " 3, 3 1-4 or 3 1-2 " " $1.75 " "

American Wood, Schultze and Dead-shot Powder; Shells Loaded to Order.

Guns of all Grades and Sizes.

Look at Our $1.00 Hunting Coat.

A. M. Vanderbeek & Co.,

33 PARK AVENUE.

Chautauqua Building. PLAINFIELD, N. J.

HARRIS' PATENT
ODORLESS EXCAVATOR
CESSPOOLS, VAULTS

John Brown,

(Successor to John Burke.)

Cesspools, Vaults, Etc. Etc.

CLEANED.

Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at CARNEY BROS., No. 11 Somerset street, or addressed to P O Box 118, will receive prompt attention.

A LAW SCHOOL FOR WOMEN.

Mme. Emily Kempin Who Will Train Modern Portias.

One of the Three Women Jurists of Europe Who Has Come to New York to Open a School Where Ladies Can Imbibe Legal Lore.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

Her name is Mme. Emily Kempin; she is an LL.D. from the University of Zurich, Switzerland; she has three bright children and a husband who is a Presbyterian minister, and eleven students have applied already for admission to the law school for women which she will open in East Fifty-ninth street, New York, on the 7th of October.

The small brown turban which lies on top of the big [illegible] and the closely folded silk umbrella with a gold knob which stands in the corner, is another article of her belongings. She wears an autumn walking-dress of brown wool, with brown gloves [illegible]. Her eyes are blue, her complexion blonde and her hair light brown; she may be a trifle above middle height, is of slender figure and [illegible] well poised in her straight-backed chair. She has a face of sweetness and intelligence, and commands a better English vocabulary than most native-born Americans, though her accent is [illegible] foreign. She is presiding at a paper-strewn desk in her law office on Broadway, an office which differs in no essential particular, save the presence of two small brown gloves and the turban, from other suites in the heavy [illegible] office-building whose inhabitants are exclusively masculine.

Only three women in all Europe have graduated in law. One is lecturing in the University of Bologna, Italy; one is the daughter of a Belgian judge and her application for admission to the bar of her own country is now under consideration; the third is the quiet Mme. Kempin. Since women are nowhere allowed to practice law on the Continent her study of law and choice of the profession is interesting.

She was a writer for the Swiss press, but had received only a high school education. "Suppose," said her husband, "you attend the University lectures."

One day she drifted accidentally into a lecture on the history of law. Every abstruse point of it was clear to her and what she had secretly wished for years, but never had dared to put into words, came upon her irresistibly. "Yes," said her husband, "you would make a good lawyer, if you wish it, suppose you study for the bar."

"But," said Mme. Kempin, "there are the children"—the youngest was only two years old—"and I cannot pass the entrance examinations."

"I will fit you," said this Swiss husband, and he tutored her in mathematics and Latin.

Mme. Kempin studied at Zurich three years and a half. She graduated with the first honors of her class, and a prominent lawyer of Zurich, who believed, she says, "that such a novelty might advertise his office," engaged her as managing clerk. She doesn't know whether or not she brought him business, but when the two were invited to [illegible] suppers and parties he declared that he had never had such a clerk, and when she decided at the end of a year that she couldn't be content to be a lawyer's clerk forever, he offered to double her salary if she would remain. She applied for admission to the bar, but her sex had closed the doors against her, and when an assistant Professorship in the University was offered her, she was refused the Government license to teach, also on the ground that she was petticoat instead of the trousered sex.

Her plan in the beginning had been simply to fit herself to advise her husband's parishioners, who often came to the pastor with questions they could ill-afford to carry to a lawyer, but with study her ambition had grown. "Suppose," said her husband, "we go to America."

To familiarize herself with American law Mme. Kempin applied for admission to Columbia College Law School. Some of the trustees were out of town, and it was four months before she was definitely refused. Meanwhile she had been quietly attending the lectures. From Columbia she went to New York University, and here, as a mark of courtesy to the University of Zurich, but with a distinct understanding that no precedent was created, she was received. Since beginning an independent practice she has become counsel for the Swiss Legation in Washington and superintendent of the New York Arbitration Society, and says that the idea of opening a law school came to her only when repeatedly questioned by ladies owning property who wanted information about their own business matters, about contracts, guardianships, wills and inheritances.

"Suppose," said her husband, "you lecture to women to qualify them for the management of their affairs or the supervision of their agents."

Somewhat to Mme. Kempin's surprise no ladies have yet applied for those partial or special courses for property owners or business women, but eleven young women desire to become full-fledged lawyers. Three of these budding Portias are New Yorkers, two from Brooklyn, one each from Washington, Connecticut and Canada and the rest from the interior of New York State. All of them are full of enthusiasm for the bar. One Brooklyn woman declares that she has waited four years for a chance to study law and one country girl who is afraid her parents will interpose a veto protests that "people are so stupid in our village."

For two years now women have been eligible to practice at the bar of New York, and the new law school will give them a two years' course based rather on foreign university methods than on American models. Each year will be divided into two terms and degrees will be conferred on those who pass the examinations, which will be conducted by prominent lawyers. Mme. Kempin has received promises of assistance from experienced members of the New York bar, who will lecture on the law of procedure, slander and libel, criminal law, and other special features of jurisprudence.

When families are fairly back from the country and married women and widows who intend only to take courses of lectures for the sake of getting legal knowledge on some special subjects begin to apply, she means to give a series of talks on the law of family relations, the law of real estate, mortgages and leases, landlord and tenant, the law of contracts, the drawing of wills and such matters as may enable women who own property to handle it without getting cheated, and women who earn their own livings to fit themselves for places of trust and responsibility.

"And what future is there," I asked her, "for your graduates at the bar?"

"A bright one. The younger lawyers are quite liberal. Why, Mr. —— here," and she turned with a bright smile to a [illegible] sprig of the law who was admitted last week and who was her vis-a-vis at the office desk, "Mr. —— would esteem it a privilege to practice with a lady lawyer." Mr. —— looks embarrassed. "Am I mistaken?" This with a frank, [illegible] smiling appeal. Mr. —— blushes [illegible], but stammers:

"Certainly, I believe in lady lawyers."

"Some of the young women who will enter the law school come from the families of lawyers. They mean when they graduate to enter the offices of father, brother, husband or uncle as clerks in charge, where their feminine patience and methodical habits, joined with a legal education, will make them invaluable. Others, of course, mean to set up offices of their own, and as the number of women lawyers increases and they cease to be objects of curiosity, their chances will improve for making good incomes. There are four women lawyers in Boston now, and every one of them does better, so I am told, than Lelia J. Robinson, who was the pioneer, did when she had the field all alone. Women doctors had the same experience. Practice grew as their numbers multiplied."

"But people even of liberal views do not believe there is any such need of women lawyers as of women physicians."

"Let me tell you a story. While I was a lawyer's clerk in Zurich a woman asked me to [illegible] her a lawyer. I sent her to my employer but he sent her back in a short time to me. He would not listen to the story she had to tell. She wanted a divorce, and the details of the treatment she had suffered were such that she found it absolutely impossible to relate them to a man, and the man found it impossible to question her at length. I could not myself discuss the case with her. It was too bad to be talked about even between two women. I took such facts as she could bring herself to utter, and drew up the plea. As I was not admitted to the bar, I gave the plea to my employer and he read it in court exactly as I had written it. Before he had finished the manuscript two white-haired judges left the room in tears. They could not hear it through. The woman won her divorce, and as it was known that it was really my case, it was considered a great triumph for a lady lawyer.

"Cases of that sort ought to convince people that women lawyers have a really [illegible] there are horrible things that must be said [illegible] make the speaking plain and [illegible] anything blunt or shocking. Many cases come up in court which ought to be [illegible] by men above the age of 70 or by women."

"Do you believe that women will become general lawyers?"

"Certainly; enterprising women will like [illegible] field. As for their getting clients, suppose it was known in any neighborhood that such and such a woman was a lawyer and a clever one, and suppose that there was a woman to be defended, don't you suppose that she would go to the lady lawyer?"

"Will women succeed with juries?"

"Why not? They have a good deal of intuitive knowledge of human nature and are supposed to have much experience in feeling the motives which will appeal to average men. Women are always addressing judge and jury all in one in the home circle."

"Do you expect ever to see women on the bench?"

"They may wear the ermine in the twentieth century, but whether they will some day is a different question. I expect at least to see the number of women at the bar increase rapidly."

"What sort of business will come to women lawyers?"

"There are great corporation cases [illegible] at least for many years. There Mr. ——," and she nodded in mock serious fashion to the young sprig of the law, "there we will give all to you. But cases in which women are parties involving questions between landlord and tenant, guardianship and real estate, contract cases, will cases, and, of course, divorces. There will be business, too, in managing the estates of widows. For my own part, I have not [illegible] here long, and I can scarcely speak the language, and yet I have [illegible] with the bread and butter end of my business."

"How do your legal brethren receive you?"

"I have met with much kindness; see here [illegible]," and there was produced a package of letters from gentlemen of the legal profession full of good wishes for the school. "I am going to be an American citizen. One of the first things my husband said to me in New York was, 'Suppose we see about our first papers.'"

"You must have an exceptional husband."

"I should like to present him." And from a chair and a newspaper in a far corner there rose the most unexpectedly [illegible]-looking and warm clergyman, who looked down on his blue-eyed [illegible] the wife and the interview came to an end.

ELIZA PUTNAM HEATON.

A SPORT-LOVING FAMILY.

Ex-Secretary Bayard's Daughters Fond of Base-Ball and Tennis.

Probably the most ardent patrons of outdoor sports in Wilmington are the daughters of ex-Secretary of State Thomas F. Bayard, writes a Chicago Inter Ocean correspondent. The Misses Bayard are four in number—Nannie, Florence, Louise and Nellie—each of whom can be justly classed as an accomplished equestrienne. The [illegible] way in which the daughters of Delaware's statesman handle the prancing animals is noted by their legions of friends. So [illegible] are they that generally the family coachman is compelled to literally take a back seat and surrender the reins to one of the young ladies. The ex-Secretary rarely thinks of holding the reins when out for a drive with the girls. To say that the Bayard family could easily dispense with the services of the old family coachman and not be [illegible] inconvenienced is not putting it too strongly. The family is especially a [illegible] lover of horse flesh, and as a proof of the discriminating judicial eye in this [illegible] a glance at any one of the thoroughbreds will suffice. Mr. Bayard's stable is within fifty yards of the mansion, and it is a pleasure to him to see that it is kept in attractive shape by the grooms.

While the Misses Bayard are devout admirers of the most useful of quadrupeds, they are regular patrons of nearly all outdoor sports, especially base-ball and lawn tennis. The Wilmington Baseball Club's grounds are within four hundred yards of the Bayard mansion, and it is unusual to start a game without first seeing that the fair daughters of ex-President Cleveland's premier have arrived. They are generally on hand long before the time for the game to begin, and the hearty manner in which they [illegible] applaud the good plays on both sides is worthy of emulation. Their presence always serves to encourage the players.

Miss Florence Bayard is the champion lady lawn tennis player of Delaware, she being an active member of the Delaware Field Club and a regular participant at all of the club's tennis tournaments. Miss Florence is also the champion lady tennis player of the District of Columbia, a distinction which she won during the Cabinet incumbency of her father. The members of the Delaware Field Club would not [illegible] to have Miss Florence Bayard represent their organization at almost any of the tennis tournaments. Her sisters are also [illegible] players, but they can not wield the racket with the proficiency that has been attained by the lady champion.

Ex-Secretary Bayard has three sons—James, Thomas F., Jr., and Philip. They are all athletically inclined, especially the [illegible], who is an all-round athlete of no mean ability. Thomas F., Jr., is a Yale student and he and his father often engage in [illegible] but active bouts with the gloves. The ex-Secretary is accomplished in the art of self-defense and he considers it excellent exercise.

Altogether, the Bayard family can be ranked as a sport-loving people, and they are [illegible] the leaders of legitimate sport in Wilmington.

SALTED SILVER MINES.

How Joe Hubbell Was Sold by a Clever Bunco Miner.

Ex-Congressman J. A. Hubbell, of Michigan, a millionaire mine owner, has a keen perception of the humorous. Recently a New York Mail and Express reporter had a conversation with him at the Fifth Avenue Hotel about salt and the attempt to form a salt trust not long ago.

"I have never dabbled in a salt mine, but I have in a mine salted," he said with rather striking [illegible].

"Do you mean to say that the old trick was played on you?"

"Yes, sir. It was a silver mine. The specimens were the finest I ever saw. I became interested and went to work with an expert to examine the mine. We found rich specimens, and it appeared to be the beginning of another Comstock lode. I was satisfied, and never once suspected that a trick was being played. A number of us bought the shrewd proprietor out, each of us giving him $[illegible]. I induced James G. Blaine to put in $[illegible] on the strength of my report. Very soon after work began we discovered that the mine had been salted most skillfully. I went to Mr. Blaine and told him the mine had been salted and that our money was lost. He took it very philosophically."

"Have you been taken in since?"

"No; that experience taught me a lesson. I found out that salting mines and preparing specimens is a fine art. Why, those scoundrels that manipulate salted mines can put fine quartz specimens in so cleverly that it looks like the work of nature. To make upon a solid rock a gold or silver surface they shoot the metal from a pistol. I never go into any mining venture unless I do some careful investigation beforehand."

"Is there as much mine salting now as in times past?"

"No, and not as much made by mines as formerly. Men who buy mines now are conservative and do not go in with their eyes shut. Recently so many have been [illegible] with salted mines that it is difficult to work it over and over again. Instead of doing the salting trick the wildcat speculators have new methods and form large companies that deceive the unwary. It is getting more and more difficult to swindle even by the wild-cat method because the newspapers have so thoroughly exposed it. In fact mining is beginning to assume a normal, business-like character and the chances for bunco miners are growing [illegible] less."

Not Necessary to Be a Crank.

Many seem to be possessed with the idea that a man can not take care of his health without worrying about it and making himself constantly unhappy for fear that he [illegible] something he ought not to do. Never was there a more erroneous opinion. A person who takes rational care of his body does not necessarily become a crank or so [illegible] that it makes every one uncomfortable [illegible] with him, but just the reverse. He should become more interesting, more intelligent and inspired by higher ideas and be a more delightful companion.

A Careful German Official.

A new road was about to be made in a certain parish in the Böhmerwald. The surveyor [illegible] took his observation, and with [illegible] care and exertion staked out the road. When this part of the work was [illegible] he went to the mayor of the parish and said: "[illegible] over Sunday." Monday [illegible] the surveyor came back. [illegible] the stakes had gone. The mayor had locked them up for safety in the town hall.

Sad, But True.

[illegible]

A MODERN SOLOMON.

How He Won the Undying Love of Womanhood.

Rough-and-Ready Decisions Handed Down by a Philadelphia Justice of the Peace—A Woman's Right to "Sass" Her Lesser Half.

"A woman has a right to 'sass' her husband."

"A man who has lived for six years with a woman who has a tongue like a bell-clapper has had a full share of punishment."

The Solomon who utters these decisions, which have a smattering of common sense if not of law, is the bluff Magistrate Bob Smith. His correct name, says the Philadelphia Record, is Robert E. Smith, but he is addressed by his full name only by utter strangers. From one end of the city to the other he is known as "Bob."

"Bob doesn't care so much for the law, but he goes in for justice. The place for him is in the common pleas or in the Supreme Court. We want less law and more justice these days, and that's where he's strong," said one of the habitues of police headquarters.

This opinion is shared by all the frequenters of Fifth and Chestnut, and each year adds to the luster which the upright justice's decisions have given to the Central station [illegible]. He has been holding court there on and off for nearly fifteen years, and previous to that time he dispensed even-handed justice as an alderman. No magistrate is so well known in Philadelphia, and the fame of his decisions and judicial utterances has been carried to distant States. The Magistrate is of sturdy frame, with a ruddy face and bright eyes, and he speaks in a sharp, off-hand way that carries terror to the evil-doer. He has passed the half-century mark by several years, but carries his age with a careless, easy grace, and still delights in red neckties and button-hole bouquets.

The especial antipathy of the judge is a wife-beater or a husband who has in other ways been remiss in his marital relations. His language to such offenders is severe. "You big, hulking brute," he said to one of these creatures awhile ago, "it's a pity the whipping-post was ever abolished. Fellows like you ought to be tied up and lashed."

The judge is an ardent advocate of the restoration of the whipping-post for certain offenses committed by men, and it has been said that he also favors a return to the ducking-stool as a method of punishment for women of unruly tongue. He looks upon a common scold as being almost as bad as a wife-beater.

"Now shut up and get out of here, all of you!" he has been heard to say when a lot of wrangling women got to squabbling and bandying words in the sacred precincts of his court. "I've heard all I want to from you. Stop now, or I'll put you under bail."

But the most recent decisions of the magistrate have won for him the undying love of womanhood. He has decided that it is a woman's right to "sass" her husband. The occasion of this queer decision arose from a suit brought by an up-town woman against her husband.

"He beat me until I was black and blue," the woman testified.

"What did you do that for, you brute?" said the justice.

"She sassed me," replied the husband.

"Well, a woman has a right to sass her husband," retorted Justice Smith. "Find $1,000 bail. Madame, you go home and leave this fellow to me."

The ink had scarcely dried on the decision in this case when another attracted the attention of the justice. A woman with a rather lively tongue appeared against a man she called her husband. The fellow was as meek as Moses, and about twenty-five years older than the woman. She started off with her story at a 180-words-a-minute gait.

"Hold on!" cried the magistrate.

"He's a beast," said the woman.

"How long have you been married to that tongue?" asked the justice.

"Six years," replied his meekness in the dock.

"You've been punished enough. Open the gate and let him go," said Smith.

If there is one point more than another upon which the justice prides himself it is his memory of the faces of criminals and others who have stood before him at the bar of justice.

"How long since you served time?" he thunders at a culprit whom he thinks he has seen before in his court.

"Why, judge, I never served time," the trembling wretch answers, in all probability.

"Hold up your 'forks'" (the criminals' slang for hands).

Taken by surprise, the prisoner often holds up his hands, showing conclusively that he understands the jargon, and is in all probability a criminal. The crooked class all fear the justice, and would sooner meet a caged lion. He can address hundreds of them by their first names, and when he does not know it he frequently pretends that he does in a spirit of pleasantry.

Beginning life as a machinist, Judge Smith in these latter years has turned his attention to agriculture, and is famous as a gentleman farmer at North Wales, on the North Penn railroad. He carries into farming the same direct methods that have distinguished him as a justice, and sometimes uses his knowledge of farming with great effect in his court.

"So you are a farm hand, are you?" he has been known to say to some unfortunate brought before him at Fifth and Chestnut streets, and who has given that as his occupation. "Well, now, how would you irrigate a field of rutabagas?"

This generally has the effect of breaking up the supposed farm hand, and the judge smiles triumphantly at his unmasking of such deception.

WORK AND WORKERS.

TEXAS negroes own 1,000,000 acres and $20,000,000.

CIGARETTE girls get $1 per 1,000; some make 1,500 in a day.

THE Texas Federation of Labor has indorsed Henry George.

NEW YORK Central Labor Union will put up legislative candidates.

BLACKLISTING is an offense against the North Dakota constitution.

ST. PAUL salesmen are inducing labor unions to not buy after 6:30.

THE South's first bale of cotton of '89 brought 11 [illegible] cents per pound.

ABOUT 400 of our Belgium and English glass-workers go home each summer.

NEW HAMPSHIRE compels working children of from 14 to 16 years to go to school three months of the year.

A PROPOSED Chicago ordinance will compel the payment of $1.75 to laborers by the city and contractors on city work.

ENGLAND allows children of thirteen to work if they attend school half the day. No one under eighteen and no women can work over sixty hours per week.

THE Lynn Lasters' Protective Union paid $22,000 for ground for a hall, to contain a lecture-room, library, billiard hall, etc. The protective union has 10,000 members.

A RAILROAD in the Northwest built 1,000 miles of line in half as many days, and had at one time 20,000 men at work, nearly as many as Napoleon had in battle at Marengo.

THE labor congress at Paris represented fourteen nationalities. The Poles are not allowed to organize openly. The meeting demanded eight hours; no night work; double pay for overtime, the same to be not over four hours per day; no work for employes under fourteen years of age; one holiday per week; no work on fete days; convict labor to be employed on great public works; equal pay for women and men.

AT EXPRESS SPEED.

How It Feels to Ride at a Record Pace on the Homestretch.

William Hayward is the oldest jockey on the turf. His experiences would fill a book. "How does it feel to ride at a record pace?" repeated he to a question asked him by a reporter of the Denver (Col.) Horse. "Well, if you know how to ride, it's very exhilarating; but if you don't know how, it is any thing but pleasant. If you ride with your head down, that is to say, bent slightly, so that the wind does not beat right on your face, you can breathe easily, but you hold your mouth wide open and let the air beat right in your face, and then you will have great difficulty in breathing, and if the race is a long one you will become exhausted by the end of the ride. A mile race on a good horse is run in about one minute and forty seconds—that is the record made in a race. It has been made in 1:39¼, but that was on a prepared track. A mile in 1:40 is at the rate of 36 miles an hour; so, you see, a race horse travels at express speed. If you want to see how it feels to go through the air at race-horse speed, just hang your head out of a railroad carriage window, turning your face toward the way the train is traveling. At the same time imagine that you are sitting in a saddle and have to hold on to your horse and guide him on to victory, if possible keeping him from being run down or interfered with. It is no easy task to ride a horse in a race. The jockey must have his wits about him. He does not have much time to think how he feels. When riding in a neck-and-neck race down the homestretch I forget every thing except that I must strain every nerve to pass the other horses, so [illegible] the plaudits from the grand stand."

Indians in Pennsylvania.

A remnant of the Seneca tribe of Indians still remains in Warren County, Pa. It numbers about 1,000.

A STARTLING THEORY.

Prof. Thickstun Pronounces the Earth a Huge Bomb.

Is There a Probability That We May All Be Blown Into Eternity by a Natural Gas Explosion?—An Explanation of the Problem.

Apropos of a recent interview with Prof. L. W. Thickstun, of Metuchen, N. J., concerning the possibility of an upheaval of the earth caused by a natural gas explosion, a New York Herald correspondent secured from Mr. Thickstun an explanation of his ideas, which is as startling as it is important.

"Natural gas in Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and in some other parts of the country," said he, "is one of the things the public is thinking about with some degree of apprehension. Capital in large amounts has been invested in its production, or rather in its capture, and in its application as a heater and as an illuminator. Millions of dollars find profitable employment in this manner all over the extensive territory known as the oil regions.

"In Pittsburgh alone enough natural gas is consumed daily to give sufficient amount of light for the needs of the largest city in the world. North of Pittsburgh one hundred and twenty miles, at Erie, and all the way between the two places, natural gas is found in nearly every neighborhood where proper tests have been made. In all other directions from this busy and prosperous manufacturing center gas has been found in quantities apparently inexhaustible.

"A reservoir of vast proportions, or many reservoirs, must have been provided for by nature to contain what gas has already escaped from wells and what is yet stored away in the bowels of the earth. Extensive deposits have also been found in the western counties of our State as well as in Pennsylvania and Ohio. How far the openings extend below the earth's surface is not known, but the subterranean cavern or caverns where gas abounds must be of great magnitude.

"Gas began to appear in large quantities soon after the first wells on Oil creek were finished. Colonel Drake drilled the first oil well near Titusville, Pa., during the summer of 1859, and at a depth of sixty-nine feet he struck oil. That was a pumping and not a flowing well. From it a small amount of gas escaped, as is the case with most pumping wells. Subsequently many other wells were opened—thousands and tens of thousands of them, some pumping and some flowing.

"All flowing wells are gas as well as oil wells. In flowing wells oil is thrown out by escaping gas. Big 'spouters' began to appear eight or ten miles below Titusville along 'the creek' early in 1860. Since then they have been opened in hundreds of other localities from the source to the mouth of the Allegheny river, and along many of its tributaries.

"Among the most noted and the most profitable of all flowing wells was the Noble well, seven miles below Titusville, struck on the 23d of May, 1863. It began as a 1,500-gallon well. It was a 'boomer' of the first order. Gas and oil came from a crevice in the sandrock, 140 feet below the bed of Oil creek. Twenty rods lower down the stream was the Caldwell well. It was a good 700-barrel well. Oil was reached in it at about the same depth as in the Noble well. By the 28th of May the production of the Noble well ran up to 1,800 barrels, and the Caldwell had fallen off to 400 barrels a day. Before the middle of June the latter was so nearly exhausted that it flowed not more than seven or eight barrels, and the former was pouring out a flood of 2,300 barrels of petroleum every twenty-four hours.

"The Noble well did nobly, ran about twenty-two months, produced over five hundred thousand barrels of oil, an immense amount of gas—wasted on Oilcreek air—and then it, too, was a worthless hole in the ground. Water fills the place the gas and oil occupied and no one fears danger from that quarter.

"Not very far from the Noble well there is another kind of a blower. This has no water or oil in it, and that comes out at such a rate that you might hear it pulsating and fairly pounding a mile or two away on a still, summer evening. This, like other wells, was sunk for oil, and this is the kind in which danger lurks. This well never fills up with water, and probably never will. There are hundreds and thousands scattered over the oil regions just like it. We are anxious to know what sort of a place is under our country where this treacherous substance comes from.

"If the Noble well threw out 500,000 barrels of oil and as much gas besides in less than two years what are those purely gas wells doing? What have they been doing a score or more years? Will some one rise to his feet and explain?

"Thinking people are growing uneasy about it. Where does the enormous production come from, anyway? Where is the vast gas storehouse or storehouses located? Do these subterranean reservoirs fill up as rapidly as they are emptied? Does our atmosphere rush in to take the places vacated, or is gas forming constantly to keep the leaking tanks full? Will too much of our atmosphere move from the outside to the inside of the earth to the injury or extinction of animal and vegetable life?

"Worst of all, will the air mingle with the gas under our feet and thereby enable it to ignite and explode? If an explosion comes will it blow up all the oil regions from the great lakes to old Virginia, and will the Allegheny mountains stand between us and all harm? Do oceans of natural gas extend from Titusville to the mountains, and from the mountains to New York, and is it possible for these lakes—as unmanageable and unsafe as dynamite—is it possible for them to be set on fire at the same instant?

"Some of these interrogatories may seem absurd and not worth the ink it takes to print them or the time it requires to read them; but, then, again, suppose they are all pertinent. Suppose the last one turns out to be a fact as well as a question, what then?

"Might not an explosion occur which would be simply terrific? Instead of a torn-up and devastated oil field beyond the mountains, we might have a ruined and fragmentary planet. No wonder people grow nervous and wish the owners would plug up every gas well on earth."

FOR SHORT PEOPLE.

An Ingenious Device That Adds Several Inches to Their Height.

Hollow cheeks and wrinkles are awkward things, writes Miss Mantalini in the Pall Mall Budget. Ladies do their best to prevent their appearance. The clever ones seem to be able to ward off the wrinkles, but hollow cheeks completely baffle their skill. A gentleman who lives at Islington is providing ladies whose cheeks are hollow with small pads. These pads are attached to natural or artificial teeth by means of tiny gold springs. The price of a face pad is a trifle heavy, like every thing else guaranteed to improve the personal appearance. A pair of pads costs something like £5. The maker of the face pad said that gentlemen as well as ladies are wearing them. One gentleman had never looked any thing but cadaverous until he took to the pad. Now his cheeks are rounded like a cherub's, and he looks ten years younger. The curious thing about the face pad is its inflexibility. It is made of the same material as the case of a set of artificial teeth.

There is no need for the small person to be overlooked on account of want of stature. It is possible to add as much as four inches on to your stature by the Cremerian boot, designed for the elevation of the lowly. The invention is an odd and ingenious one. Instead of tacking six inches on to a person's heels, a pair of entirely false feet made of cork are put into the shoes. When the wearer gets into them he or she is raised according to the inches of cork. Of course, in this invention the original foot is made to combine with the cork one under the leather in such a manner that the line of demarkation is not perceptible. The size of the foot is sacrificed, it is true, and a larger boot is necessary with the cork "elevator" than would be the case naturally; but fancy having four inches added to your height!

Of course, even with those who are most ambitious to increase their height, it is impossible that they should add several inches in a day. So they are advised by Mr. Cremer to grow half an inch at a time. Even this would be sure to occasion a little surprise, for some of your acquaintances are bound to notice such untoward growth. But the invention offers a large field for speculation. You can take off your shoes with these "elevators" and no one be any the wiser, for the cork additions to the feet are hidden in the stockings. The principle is applied to the clubfooted with great ingenuity. Instead of a huge, ugly cork sole a cork foot is made, on the top of which the deformed foot rests. So when the trousers or the skirt falls over the concealed foot the cork one, clothed in the same size as the perfect foot and the two balanced with pads and springs, does not betray itself. People with flat feet may have their insteps raised, and those who only desire a slight elevation can have it put in the heels of their shoes, only, instead of being put outside, the cork is put inside the heel.

What She Wanted.

Undertaker—"And what will you have on the headstone, Mrs. Slifkins? I suppose something regarding the true qualities of Mr. Slifkins as a husband and father?" Widow—"Yes; but nothing very [illegible]. [illegible]"

Two Souls That Beat as One.

The man who shoots his girl to make her love him, and the girl who throws vitriol in her lover's face for the same purpose, would marry and have [illegible] with one another.

EAT AND BE MERRY.

Views of Doctors on When to Eat and What to Eat.

The Evils of Hasty Eating—"Bolting" Rather Than the Kind of Food Responsible for Indigestion—A Liberal Diet the Proper Thing.

What to eat is a question that troubles every one more or less. Several doctors who have been talked to on the subject of eating lately agree that a man ought to be able to eat any thing that he fancies. One doctor said that a man's digestive organs ought to be in such a condition that he could eat shingle nails. They attribute dyspepsia not so much to eating wrong kinds of food as from eating too hurriedly and paying too little attention to their meals when they are eating, and letting their mind wander away to business and other subjects of the day.

Dr. Alexander Lambert, house surgeon at Bellevue Hospital, of New York, has given some attention to the subject of eating. He said to a Philadelphia Press reporter:

"I think the trouble with people in this country is that they overeat. They don't eat so often as the Frenchman or the Englishman, but when they do eat they usually partake of a large variety of food, and eat it as hurriedly as they possibly can, in order that they may to be [illegible] from their business as little a while as possible. In this way they overeat. If they haven't time to sit down and eat an elaborate dinner slowly and carefully, then the best thing they can do is to eat a small, plain meal, which they could easily do in the time that they devote to their elaborate dinners, and from which they would derive a great deal more benefit.

"I think that the best time for one to take breakfast is between seven and eight o'clock in the morning. Dinner should be had at about one o'clock, if possible; that is, if time can be spared at one o'clock to eat the meal properly. If not, a light luncheon should be had at one o'clock and the meal of the day at about six o'clock. Another light meal might be had at about nine or ten o'clock at night if one is hungry. I usually find that an orange or a cracker is all that I want to eat at that time. I think as a rule families of the better class eat very sensibly. They usually eat plain, substantial food, which is prepared in a simple way, and not spoiled by being made up into fancy dishes and highly seasoned. I think, though, that they make a mistake in not drinking enough water with their meals. A man who leads a literary life and one who is occupied at his desk and in his office all day should be careful what kind of a breakfast he eats. It should not be too heavy.

"Such a man should eat very little oatmeal, as oatmeal is heating. He might eat lightly of steak, chops, weak coffee, milk and fruit. A laborer, or one who is engaged in physical and manual labor, can eat heartily of oatmeal, bread and butter, meat, eggs, coffee and almost any thing that is strengthening. In the middle of the day the laboring man should have his dinner. The busy man who is down town must take time to have a light lunch. The habit of rushing out and getting something to eat perhaps while standing at the buffet, may not seem to do any harm just now; but by and by the effect will be very serious. When this man has got through with his day's work and his mind is at rest, he should eat his heaviest meal of the day, his dinner. He should eat it carefully and slowly, and pay attention to what he is eating and to his meal generally. It is a mistake for men to attempt to eat any meal and to read at the same time.

"Don't go to bed hungry. If you have been to the theater or out late, eat a light meal before you retire. Highly seasoned foods ought to be generally avoided. Sweets should not be eaten as much as they are. They hurt the digestion and spoil the appetite. Fruits and salads should not be taken too frequently. Eat more vegetables and less meats."

A lady physician thinks that every thing that is eatable ought to be eaten. She said recently:

"I am in favor of a liberal diet, and believe that one should eat just what his stomach is strong enough to digest, and that should be in such a condition that he could take shingle nails without much trouble. I think Americans eat the right kind of food. Americans are great fruit eaters. In this they are highly commended. Good ripe fruit is always beneficial; and a particularly good time to eat fruit is before breakfast in the morning."

Dr. John T. Nagle, of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, New York, is in favor of a pretty liberal diet. He attributes a great deal of the dyspepsia and nervousness, though, to Americans eating too highly seasoned food. Another physician agrees with the view that the American people habitually eat too quickly. He says:

"Indigestible foods are hard to be specified, because what some people digest easily others can not. An indigestible article of food is boiled cabbage. This takes four hours to digest, while kohl-slaw only takes one hour. Tripe is hard to digest. Fried meats are always indigestible. Always have the meat broiled. Bread fresh and hot should be avoided. Bread one day old is best. Highly seasoned foods are not generally good, although some people must have them seasoned. What agrees with one will not agree with another. I think Americans eat too many sweets; but they are a sweet-eating people."

"FASHIONS" IN FUNERALS.

Mourners Who Are Ruled Like Slaves by Tyrannical Customs.

A fashionable undertaker in Philadelphia is responsible for the following: "As a rule, at least one funeral results from every large one."

He was speaking of the growing tendency toward more simple and common sense methods of burying the dead. "It really begins to look as if advice, persuasion and ridicule on this point had finally had its effect and that the swell funeral was coming to be a thing of the past. In what goes by the name of society, there are but few recognized leaders, and until these authorities speak or act, the great, uncertain, timorous mass will throw away its money in needless expense, make itself uncomfortable and stamp out its own best judgment. When fashion orders a costly casket and banks the house and the church with flowers, the people who dare not choose for themselves must provide as best they may. When fashion decrees voluminous mourning, delicate women shorten their lives under the folds of poisonous crape."

The degrees of fashion, regardless of convenience, comfort and cost, are nowhere more tyrannical than in the matter of a funeral, and the slavish acceptance of dismal and unhealthful mourning garments has been carried to the last degree of absurdity and extravagance. A fashionable wedding, a magnificent and costly feast have something of a consistency of themselves to recommend them. These are legitimate occasions for display, but the getting even with one's neighbors over the dead body of a relative is a sorry spectacle. We get farthermost away from savagery when we do not need to proclaim our merits with war paint or a scalp-belt. The wife of a Sioux chief would feel humiliated beyond expression were she to find her best doeskin gown had but half the elk teeth, porcupine quills and bead ornaments of a common camp squaw.

The pride which animates the leader of fashionable Sioux society is precisely of the quality that has converted what should be in civilized life a quiet, modest, sacred ceremony into a gorgeous and stupid show. The civilized idea is of barbarous origin. Death is still the occasion of great display among savage tribes, but the ostentatious funeral of a Sioux is accorded in honor of the dead. It is not an advertisement for the living. Now that fashionable people are reaching a plane of good taste and common sense in such matters, plainer people may feel free to lay their beloved away without warring with their head and heart and purse over the details.

A DISTINGUISHING MARK.

A Black Stripe Down the Back When Negro Blood Exists.

"In several instances I saw slave children sold whose veins contained so much of their master's blood that their skins were without a tinge of the African color except in the invariable stripe down the spinal column. Such things as that were so plainly and horribly wrong that I needed no teaching in order to know it. Between selling human beings who were partly white and those entirely black I somehow couldn't find any line where the wrong ended and the right began.

"What do I mean by the stripe down the spinal column? Why, I supposed you know the presence of African blood in any person, no matter how slight the proportion, can be instantly detected by a dark line along the spine. Even an octoroon, with complexion and features pure Caucasian, invariably has this line of dark. It is a never-failing proof of mixed blood. The mark is not always black, but is always considerably darker than the rest of the surface of the body.

"Since you didn't know that, perhaps you don't know that a negro child at its birth is as light-colored as a white one. You wouldn't notice any difference in the color at all. In three or four hours after birth the skin begins to turn dark, and in a short time becomes as black as the child is destined to be during its life."

A Question of Bowing.

A man applied to a judge at Odessa, in Southern Russia, for a writ to compel his daughter to leave the house, because when she saluted her parents she did not bow to them. He said that he would withdraw his application if she would ask pardon and make the regular obeisance. The girl agreed. She asked pardon, but when she bowed the father cried: "Lower down with your head—down below the girdle!" She replied: "I won't bend as low as that, not if I have to leave the house." The judge thereupon ordered her to leave, but she gave in finally and bowed her head to the girdle.

Difference in Sharks.

The report that a "two-ton man-eating shark" had been caught at Santa Cruz, Cal., leads an old fisherman to write to a San Francisco newspaper that the shark was not a man-eater, but a basking or ground shark. The man-eater seldom weighs over 1,500 pounds; but the ground shark often weighs as much as fifteen tons, as the old fisherman says, and sometimes its liver weighs two tons. They are the slowest fish that swim the seas. "No one," writes the fisherman, "need have any fear of them or any thing else that carries a liver that weighs one sixth of its body."

The Whirligig of Time.

Two Hebrews own the site of ancient Babylon, where their ancestors were captives and slaves.

RAILROADS.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA.
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after Sep. 30, 1889, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

8:30 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule Parlor and sleeping cars, dining car from Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Cleveland and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:04 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars and dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:12 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—[illegible]

For Philadelphia—[illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

1:30 P. M. (Through car,) week-days. For Cape May, 1:30 P. M., week-days.

For Trenton—[illegible]

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7.39 A. M.; 1.30, 2.44 and 5.48 P. M.

For Flemington—7.39 A. M.; 2.44 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car Accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.
Station in New York—Foot of Liberty Street.

Time Table in Effect June 30, 1889.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave New York from foot of Liberty Street, [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Newark—[illegible]

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Somerville [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Easton [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 8.07, a. m., 5.19, p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD

5.12 a. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. Sundays—5.12 a. m. for Easton.

8.07 a. m. for Flemington, Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk.

9.37 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

2.04 p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4.34 p. m.—For Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Drifton, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

5.04 and 5.19 p. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton.

6.04 p. m.—For Flemington.

6.37 p. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. On Sunday at 5.38 p. m.

For Atlantic City—At [illegible] a. m., [illegible] p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

For Perth Amboy—[illegible]

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, [illegible]

For Baltimore and Washington at [illegible]

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA

Ninth and Green streets, [illegible]

From 24th and Chestnut—[illegible]

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker streets, [illegible]

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, Gen. Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

INSURANCE.

FIRE INSURANCE!
The undersigned having been appointed agent for the
Star and Merchants
Fire Insurance Co's of the City of New York,
are prepared to furnish substantial indemnity against loss by Fire and solicit application from the citizens of Plainfield and vicinity.
NATHAN HARPER.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

J. C. Pope & Co.,
GENERAL AGENTS OF THE
German American Ins. Co.,
of New York.
Also represents other first-class Fire Insurance Companies. Agents of the Inman Steamship Line. Drafts on Ireland for sale. First and City National Bank Stock Bought and Sold. Also
BUILDING LOTS
And Other Real Estate for Sale.
OFFICE:
6 E. FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD.
JAMES C. POPE. ELIAS R. POPE.

PEERLESS ([illegible]

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE. AUGUST 26th, 1889.

Estate of Hannah L. [illegible], Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executor of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

[illegible] MARSH, Executor.
8-29-10w

NOTICE. JUNE 26TH, 1889.

Estate of John Simonson, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, administrator of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased, within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

ROBERT B. D. SIMONSON, Administrator.

It is requested that all claims be presented at the office of [illegible] & Durand, Counsellors-at-Law, Rahway, New Jersey. 7-11-10w

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, administrator, with the will annexed, of Edmund V. Shotwell, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday the eleventh day of September next.

Dated July 9th, 1889.

WILLIAM H. SHOTWELL.
7-11-10w

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To Thomas Spicer.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Frederick A. Kinch is complainant, and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of the said complainant, on or before the eleventh day of November next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Nancy [illegible] and you to Samuel M. Foster, dated July 1st, 1874, on lands in the township of Westfield, Union county, New Jersey, and you are made defendant because you claim an estate as tenant by the curtesy initiate or some other interest in said lands.

Yours, &c.,
JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Solicitors for Complainant, 23 Park avenue, Plainfield, New Jersey.
Dated Sept. 9, 1889.

MASTER'S SALE.—In Chancery of New Jersey—Between William [illegible], complainant, and Isaac Bartle, et ux and et al., defendant. On bill for partition.

By virtue of a decree of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made in the above stated cause and bearing date the 27th day of August, 1889, I, John D. Bartine, one of the Special Masters of the said Court will expose for sale at public vendue, on between the hours of 12 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, that is to say at 2 o'clock p. m., on the premises, all that certain tract or parcel of land and premises hereafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the township of Westfield (now Fanwood) in the county of Union and State of New Jersey.

SATURDAY, THE TWENTY-SIXTH DAY OF OCTOBER NEXT,

Beginning at a stake at the side of the road leading from the mountains to Rahway, being the south corner of the parsonage; thence running along its northeast line five chains and six links to a stake in said parsonage line being a corner of a two-acre lot belonging to John Derby; thence along his line southeast one chain and seventy-three links to a stake in said Derby's line, being a corner of Levi Craney's lot; thence along said Craney's line southwest five chains and six links to a stake by the side of the highway aforesaid; thence [illegible] direct course up said road northwest one chain and seventy-three links to a stake in the corner of the parsonage lot at the place of beginning, containing seven-eighths of an acre, be the same more or less. Bounded northwest by said parsonage, northeasterly by said John Derby, southeast by said Crane, and southwesterly by said road, including the estate and interest in inchoate dower of the defendant Ann Bartle, Mary Bartle and Sarah Bartle in said premises, together with all and singular the hereditaments and appurtenances to the said premises belonging or in any wise appertaining.

J. D. BARTINE,
Special Master in Chancery.
JOHN H. VANWINKLE, Sol'r. 9-26-5w

1889.
TAXES!

Notice is hereby to the taxpayers of
THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD,
That the Taxes assessed in said city for the year 1889, are now due and payable, and that
If the said Taxes be not paid by the 2[illegible]th day of December Next,
the names of the defaulters, with their respective Taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution.

The Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council chamber on the FOURTH TUESDAY IN NOVEMBER NEXT (the 26th), and sit from 1 o'clock P. M. until 5 o'clock P. M., or longer if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.
Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 2, 1889. 10-3-1aw

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors.

SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

Estate of George W. Towsley, Deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the twenty-seventh day of September, A. D. 1889, on the application of William H. Shotwell, as Administrator of George W. Towsley, deceased; an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of George W. Towsley, deceased, to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent, under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said Administrator within nine months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor should be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said Administrator.

[illegible] T. HUFF, Surrogate.
10-3-9w

AN ORDINANCE

Providing for the repairing and permanent improvement of certain portions of the roadbed of East Fourth street, and certain other streets in the City of Plainfield.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That the roadbeds of East Fourth street, from the north side of Broadway to the angle in same where it adjoins the roadbed of the Central railroad and from the south line of Broadway to the north line of Park avenue; of West Fourth street from the south line of Central avenue to the centre line of Liberty street; of Richmond street, from East Front street to North avenue, and of Madison avenue, from the east line of West Second street to a point about five hundred feet beyond the east line of West [illegible] street, be forthwith repaired and spread with broken stone for a width of from six to eight feet each side of the centre line of said streets as circumstances may require, and for a depth varying from two to six inches, as circumstances may require, under the direction of the Street Commissioner, at the general expense of the city, to be paid for out of the moneys raised by tax for the improvement of streets as provided by the act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to authorize cities to make permanent improvements in the roadbeds of their streets at the general expense." Approved May 1[illegible], 1888.

Adopted by the Common Council Oct. 7, 1889.
Approved by the Mayor Oct. 8, 1889.
JOHN [illegible], Mayor.
Attest: O. B. Leonard, City Clerk.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

OLIVER B. LEONARD, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., October 7, 1889.

AN ORDINANCE.

for the repairing and permanent improvement of Elm Place.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That the road bed of Elm Place for its entire length be forthwith repaired and spread with broken stone for a width of from six to eight feet each side of the center line thereof and for a depth varying from two to six inches, as circumstances may require, at the general expense of the city to be paid for out of the money raised by tax for the improvement of streets, as provided by the act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to authorize cities to make permanent improvements in the road bed of their streets at the general expense," Approved, May 1[illegible], 1888.

MISCELLANEOUS.

R. R. FAIRCHILD,
Furniture & Bedding,
21 EAST FRONT STREET.
A Large Assortment of
Parlor Suites,
Bedroom Suites,
Lounges,
Tables
AND
Chairs.
The Largest Stock and the Lowest Prices.
Call and See for Yourselves.
3 DOORS BELOW P. O.

MISCELLANEOUS MISCELLANEOUS.

INDISPUTABLE FACTS
For PURCHASERS at this Season of the Year
FOR Carpets & Furniture!

First, I wish to make an apology to my customers and purchasers at the [illegible]arrangement of my stock and the condition of the store, now being occupied by the carpenter and mason during my immense alterations, but low prices will repay anyone for the inconvenience of showing goods and [illegible]arrangement of stock.

Out of 100 Antique Oak Bedroom Suits I have left in stock about 12 suits, regular price $37.50. Will close them out at $27.50.

10 Parlor Suits in Plush, regular price $50, reduced to $37.50.

My stock of Carpets, Sideboards, Lounges, Refrigerators, Children's Carriages, Matting, Etc.,

All at low prices during the present alterations.

Credit if Desired. Goods Delivered Free.

AMOS H. VAN HORN,
72 Market Street,
Near Court House, NEWARK, N. J.
4-13-mt

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion. Without injurious medication.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 182 Fulton Street, N. Y.

7-18-2y

A MAN
UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

MONT.
DAKOTA
WISCONSIN
ILLINOIS
MISSOURI
GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE.

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MAGNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels furnishing meals at seasonable hours west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake, and Sioux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, General Manager. CHICAGO, ILL. JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass. Agent.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXII. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1889. No. 43.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

The Constitutionalist,

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

E. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.

AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.

TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
[illegible]

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
[illegible]

DR. CHARLES R. [illegible]
Dentist,
[illegible]

H. HARD,
Auctioneer,
[illegible]

OSCAR S. TEALE,
Architect,
[illegible]

J. R. FOSTER,
Veterinary Surgeon.
[illegible]

F. A. DUNHAM,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor.
[illegible]

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale, PIANO TUNER.
[illegible]

JOHN CHANDLER,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
[illegible]

LUTKINS & HUMMER,
Dealers in
Butter, Eggs & Produce.
Meats of all Kinds.
[illegible]
A. LUTKINS. L. A. HUMMER.

Plainfield District Telegraph and Fire Alarm Co.
Prompt Messenger Service Furnished.
Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co.
LOW RATES. QUICK SERVICE. MONEY TRANSFERRED BY TELEGRAPH. COMMUTATION STAMPS FOR SALE.
OFFICE—8 PARK AVENUE.
W. S. SUTTER, Manager.

TO THE PUBLIC!
We wish to inform our customers and the public generally that we have on hand the best quality of
LEHIGH COAL,
Fresh from the Mines.
It is under cover and well protected from the weather. We are prepared to deliver it well screened and in good order promptly. We are also prepared to furnish all kinds of Seasoned Lumber and Masons' Materials at short notice.
A. D. COOK & BRO.

J. Hervey Doane,
6 PARK AVENUE.
Watches, Clocks And Jewelry.
Repairing neatly and promptly done.

Steam Marble Granite Works.
AND
Monuments & Headstones, Fencing for Cemetery Plots
Large assortment of Slate Mantels.
A large variety of Granite Monuments
[illegible]
L. MANNING.
[illegible]

Geo. A. Moore,
[illegible]
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE,
[illegible]

Alex. Willett,
DEALER IN
BOOTS & SHOES,
No. 5 PARK AVENUE.
[illegible]

HOTELS AND SALOONS.

TURF EXCHANGE HOTEL.
73 Courtlandt street,
CORNER WASHINGTON, NEW YORK CITY
FRED. W. BALLARD, - - Proprietor,
Formerly of Jersey City, is now conducting the [illegible] corner Washington and Courtlandt streets, New York, formerly kept by the late James Van [illegible]
FINE WINES, LIQUORS AND SEGARS.

SOMERSET HOTEL,
Cor. Somerset & Emily Sts., North Plainfield, N. J.
Permanent and Transient Board, at fair rates.
First-class Supplies and Stock attached.
Horses at all [illegible]

C. E. JOHNSON,
[illegible]
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
[illegible]

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
[illegible]
Goods received on consignment.

Dime Savings Institution
OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest, at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.
JOHN W. MURRAY, President,
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice "
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS, BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

MICHAEL UHDAL, CONTRACTOR AND LANDSCAPE GARDENER!
Residence:
NETHERWOOD, NEW JERSEY.
P. O. BOX 787, PLAINFIELD.

GO TO
DICKINSON & CLAWSON,
JEWELERS, 13 Park Avenue,
For your
Fine Gold Watches,
CLOCKS, JEWELRY, and SILVERWARE.
Sole agents for KING'S SPECTACLES and EYE-GLASSES, the BEST MADE, and CHEAPEST in the end.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc., Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class, sanitary and workmanlike manner.
Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business at all times, and in all cases.
D. W. LITTELL.
No. 7 NORTH AVE. [illegible] Plainfield, N. J.

CATARRH ELY'S CREAM BALM

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CATARRH
HAY FEVER
COLD

Cleanses the Nasal Passages,
Allays Pain and Inflammation,
Heals the Sores,
Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell.
HAY-FEVER TRY THE CURE.
A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at Druggists; by mail, registered, 60 cents. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren street, New York.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
[illegible]
RIDING OR LIVERY.
[illegible]
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 98.

Livery Stables!
Mr. O. S. ROBERTS
Has Removed to His New Building on
NORTH AVENUE,
[illegible]

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
FOURTH STREET,
[illegible]

EDUCATIONAL.

Mr. FEININGER
Has resumed
His Lessons in Plainfield.
For terms, address
C. FEININGER,
Steinway Hall, N. Y.

Mr. T. E. HAZELL,
TEACHER OF MUSIC.
Instruction given in Singing, Harmony, or upon the Violin. Director of Choral Classes. The Art of Reading Vocal Music a specialty.
Residence—[illegible] DUER ST., NORTH PLAINFIELD.

MR. LEAL'S
School for Boys!
99 WEST FRONT STREET.
Prepares for College and Business.
Has entered boys at College every year since it was established. This year eight boys were sent. The next year's class is still larger.
Boys from 10 years old and upwards.
The eighth year begins
MONDAY, SEPT. 16, 1889.
For circulars and information, address the Principal.
JOHN LEAL.

DODWORTH'S
CLASSES FOR
Dancing & Deportment,
SEMINARY HALL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.,
Commencing Wednesday, Oct. 30, '89,
From [illegible] P. M.
Circulars may be obtained of Miss E. E. Kenyon, at the Seminary.
THOS. J. DODWORTH.
Residence—1,[illegible] Fulton ave., N. Y. City.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

A. B. WOOLSTON. J. F. BUCKLE.
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTER'S SUPPLIES. [illegible] NORTH AVENUE

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mme. J. BERNARD,
ASTROLOGIST,
Residence—Harmony street, North Plainfield, fourth house from Somerset street, left hand side. Information imparted as regards present and future events, likewise marriages, journeys, lawsuits, etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. She converses
in English, German and French.
My husband is a first-class Cooper, and repairs tubs, pails, barrels, etc., cheap for cash.

Low Pressure Steam Heat
Introduced into Churches, Schools, Dwellings, Offices, Stores, etc.
STEAM FITTING, and STEAM FITTERS' SUPPLIES for sale.
Estimates cheerfully furnished for Heating and Ventilation.
JOHN N. SCHENCK.
Box 1361. [illegible], North Plainfield.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Carey.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—[illegible] W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box [illegible].
Piano moving a specialty.

G. W. FORCE,
11 West Front street.
Opening of
SPRING AND SUMMER STOCK
Boots and Shoes at Low Prices
A FINE GRADE OF GOODS TO SELECT FROM.
11 West Front street,
G. W. FORCE.

R. R. FAIRCHILD,
Furniture & Bedding,
21 EAST FRONT STREET.
A Large Assortment of
Parlor Suites,
Bedroom Suites,
Lounges,
Tables
AND
Chairs.
The Largest Stock and the Lowest Prices.
Call and See for Yourselves.
3 DOORS BELOW P. O.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The best cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana.
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobaccos, always on hand.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in HAVANA & DOMESTIC
SEGARS!!
[illegible] PARK AVE., (near corner of SECOND ST.) PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials, of every description.
The celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco, with other popular brands constantly on hand.

Organized 1881. —THE— Incorporated 1883.
ELECTRIC CONSTRUCTION AND SUPPLY COMPANY.
F. E. KINSMAN, Gen'l Manager.
[illegible] Liberty St., N. Y.
Oldest, Most Reliable, Most Enterprising.
Largest facilities for New work or Repairs.
Plainfield Office, No. 20 NORTH AVENUE, near depot. Represented by F. S. DUNN.

JAMES K. ARNOLD,
GROCER,
cor. Somerset and Chatham Sts., North Plainfield.

A. I. SMALLEY. N. R. SMALLEY.
Smalley Bros.,
DEALERS IN
Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, Etc.
15 SOMERSET STREET, NORTH PLAINFIELD.
Orders called for and delivered. A share of the public patronage is solicited.

Benj. F. Moore,
(Late of Moore Bros.)
BUTCHER,
And dealer in FRESH AND SALT MEATS, POULTRY, etc., corner Park avenue and Second street, will be open and ready for business WEDNESDAY, MARCH 20th. Orders called for and promptly delivered. Telephone Call 111.

R. B. MAYNARD
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 20 PARK AVENUE,
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, &c. satisfactorily performed.

Fresh Garden Seeds,
Garden Tools,
Ranges, Laundry Stoves,
CUTLERY, &c.
N. H. & J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 15 SOMERSET ST.

Permit Not the Hair to Fall.
The use of Quinine and Glycerine Hair Tonic, compounded with the utmost skill and care, has produced the most beneficial preparation that has ever been put before the public. It will cleanse the Scalp from all Dandruff, nourishes the roots of the hair, stops the falling out, imparting strength and vigor.
Many warm praises have been unsolicitedly given.
Bottled in half pints at Fifty cents.
Obtainable only at the City Pharmacy.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
(Successor to FIELD & RANDOLPH.)

School Books,
New and Second-hand.
School Supplies,
Large Assortment, Lowest Prices, at
ALLEN'S,
THE STATIONER,
23 East Front Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE.
Hugo Weigman,
[illegible] EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

TWENTY
Years experience in the business.
SECOND STREET, 2 doors above Peace street

M. JOHN H. STEVENS, Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to Shoeing Trotting, Road, [illegible] and Interfering Horses. [illegible] in an [illegible] manner by experienced workmen.

Accommodation Express.
PETER SICKERT, Proprietor.
Office—Vanderbeck's [illegible], Park avenue.
The Accommodation Express will attend to the [illegible] business of the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the Depot, or from place to place. Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and dispatch. Prompt attention given to Orders.

AGENTS $1,000 Per Year and Expenses is what we are paying. We want live men [illegible] Salary and Expenses, or Liberal Commission from start. A Rare Opportunity for any man wanting a position as Local, Traveling or General Agent for a reliable Nursery that guarantees its stock. Address at once,
R. D. LUETCHFORD & CO.,
Nurserymen, Rochester, N. Y.
Mention this paper.

ISAACS DID NOBLY.

They Performed in Spite of the Most Pugnacious Opposition.

The Chicago Mail's club man tells the following amusing jury story: A German had got into a row with a quarrelsome Irishman, who had long been a terror in his neighborhood, and the Irishman had been left stone dead on the field. A young and inexperienced lawyer undertook the defense of the German, and just before the case was to be tried he found, to his dismay, that the jury was composed of eleven combative-looking countrymen of the murdered man, the twelfth man being a German Jew. This, of course, would never do. A "defense fund" was immediately raised and the Jew was approached with all due caution and the promise that if he managed to get the accused off with a verdict of manslaughter it would be worth a thousand dollars to him; all he had to do was to stick to that one word "manslaughter." Well, the verdict came in "manslaughter" in great shape and the joyful attorney for the defense couldn't get the thousand dollars into the Jew's hands too quick. Shaking hands with him after the money was placed he slapped him on the back and said:

"You did nobly; you must have had an awful time making those Irishmen agree to simple manslaughter."

"Vell, I should say so," replied his Isaacs, "dey was all for acquittal!"

SUNDAY WITH SPURGEON.

An American's Visit to the Greatest Pulpit Orator in the World.

In the Temple at Newington—A Vast and Miscellaneous Audience—Silks and Satins, Diamonds and Simple Homely Dresses and Babies in Arms.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

A sunshiny morning in London. There is an air of quietness and peace over the old city on the Thames. It is Sunday morning. The church bells are chiming out merrily. There are crowds on Westminster and London Bridge and no end of pleasure boats on the Thames beneath them. The omnibuses are filled with people and scores of hansoms are flying from the city proper to the neighborhood of Newington.

There is a crowd of men, women and children in front of the Tabernacle that Charles Haddon Spurgeon has made famous in all the lands where religion is known. It is not an imposing-looking structure. Like most of the buildings of London it is soot-colored. But it is a theme in itself, so full of interest and remarkable incident that a long and instructive newspaper article might be written out of the circumstances attending its origin, growth, completion and opening free from debt. A high iron railing keeps the church clear of the crowd in the street. The building is situated perhaps twenty feet back from the curbstone and is reached by a short flight of a half dozen steps. Architecturally it is an imposing structure in the Gothic style. A half dozen big stone columns support an arch, which gives the front of the edifice a rather picturesque appearance. There are plenty of windows through which the sunlight is streaming, and at either end of the stoop is a big gas-lamp which, in the evening, sheds it rays upon the worshippers.

SPURGEON'S TEMPLE.

It is easy enough to gain an entrance if the visitor has taken the precaution to ask, a day or two in advance, for tickets of admission. I had done this and found no difficulty in passing in at a side door. Seen through American eyes for the first time the interior of Spurgeon's church is hardly what one would suppose it to be. It is not attractive in any way. The window-panes are not over-clean; the walls are grimy, the seats are narrow and the backs straight and stiff. In some of the pews there are cushions, but in the majority just a plain board seat. There is a slight incline to the floor, so that worshippers in the rear get a fairly good view of what is going on in the immediate front of the house. The aisles are narrow and arranged with patent seats, so that every available inch of room on the ground floor is occupied. A gallery runs around the church except in the direct rear of the pulpit. At a rough guess it would be safe to say that 7,000 persons could be accommodated. You look in vain for an organ or for a choir-loft for singers. But there is a big clock that ticks in a tired sort of a way in the gallery.

It is just five minutes of eleven o'clock. A few of the regular pewholders are in their seats. There is a loud ringing of the church bells and a dozen men throw open the gates leading to the Tabernacle and all the doors. In less than five minutes every seat and every inch of standing room is taken. The rule of first come first served is observed. The old women who open the doors of the pews and who seat visitors have their hands full for a moment. There is very little noise with it all and a quick glance at the people shows that it is, perhaps, the most miscellaneous congregation in the world. There are flashes of diamonds, marvelous gowns, the brightest of bonnets, and there are the plainest of women with nothing but an old shawl about them, wearing frayed dresses and looking almost out of place opposite their wealthy sisters. It is not hard to see that the thick-set, well-dressed, mutton-chopped-whiskered banker of London is at home here side by side with his clerk or his workman in his Sunday clothes. There are a plenty of youngsters from the Sunday-school and a score or more of babes in arms.

The first thing that strikes the American visitor as strange is that there are two platforms at the extreme end of the church. That on the ground floor is occupied by the orphans from the Stockwell Orphanage. The other directly above it, but back a few dozen feet is for the preacher. It contains a table on which there is a pitcher of water, a big bunch of homely English roses, a bible and a hymn book. There is an old-fashioned easy chair near it and a lounge. All eyes are turned to this platform, for at this moment there emerges from the room just back of it a short, thick-set, bearded Englishman, who is the reverse of brainy looking and far from handsome. His grayish hair is combed loosely from his forehead. His beard is also tinged with gray. His frock coat is a good deal longer than the fashionable tailors of London would recommend and it flaps loosely about him. The sleeves are long and entirely hide his cuffs. He wears a turn-over collar and an old-fashioned black necktie. He would never be suspected of being a great man. He is followed from the anti-room by half a dozen gentlemen who comprise the official board of the Tabernacle. They take their seats just back of the platform.

C. H. Spurgeon

Every eye is on the preacher. The most famous pulpit orator in the world stands at the side of his table for a moment, then glances carelessly around his church. He sees that every seat is occupied. He knows that there are 2,000 men, women and children in the street waiting for admission. He advances a step or two to the railing of the platform, raises his right hand and calls upon the ushers to admit all who can be accommodated in the aisles of pewholders who have not yet arrived.

"We cannot keep out those who want to come in," he says. "Open the doors. Pewholders who are late cannot expect to find their seats here. Crowd close together, brethren and sisters. Make room for everybody. It is a glorious Sunday morning. Let us have a day that will be memorable to us as long as we live. I want the ushers to open all the windows. Let in the sunlight and the fresh air."

At this moment the crying of a child attracts attention. There is a craning of necks and a twisting around to see in what direction the noise comes from.

"Never mind the noise," says the preacher. "It's only a child. Let it cry, if it wants to. It wont disturb me and I am sure it ought not to disturb you."

He takes his seat in the easy chair, puts on a pair of steel-rimmed spectacles, opens his bible, finds his place, reads the verses or chapter over and then falls on his knees in prayer. While he is praying a score of cleanly-dressed, well-behaved boys from the orphanage take their places on the platform below him. They are rosy-cheeked little fellows, bright of eye and strong of limb, not dressed alike but all wearing big white sailor collars. They bow their heads reverently in prayer and then turn their backs to the audience, their faces so that they can see the preacher. By this time every seat in the church is taken. Even the lobbies and the aisles are crowded. Wherever there is sufficient room to put a camp chair this is done.

I notice in one corner of the gallery, so near to the preacher that they are almost within touching distance, a score of old women plainly dressed, but clean and intelligent-looking, who are holding trumpets to their ears to enable them to catch every word that falls from the preacher's lips. They are the unfortunate deaf ones of the parish and the seats they occupy are set aside for them regularly by the trustees, who are thoughtful enough to know that these old people appreciate a good sermon.

As the preacher rises from his knees, the bell of the church tolls three times, the signal that service is about to begin and also that there are no vacant seats. The church doors are closed. An usher stands guard at each. The crowd in the street turns away sadly. There is an air of eager expectation on the faces of those within.

The preacher opens his hymn book, turns to Psalm CXXII and in a marvelously clear and melodious voice begins:

"How did my heart rejoice to hear my friends devoutly say:
"In Zion let us all appear and keep the solemn day."

His voice is heard in every corner of the big church and I know at once the secret—or one of the secrets—of his great popularity. The old women in the gallery lean forward with their trumpets in their ears. The congregation listens attentively and the rosy-cheeked boys from the orphanage open their hymn books and follow the great preacher as he utters every word. I get a better look at this marvelous man. His face is long and far from pre-possessing. His chin is very prominent and hardly covered by his iron-grey whiskers. His lips are full. His nose is thick and not well proportioned. His eyes seem small as they look out from under his bushy eyebrows; but the forehead is broad and commanding. His shoulders are round and he has an immensity of girth that, if it does not tell of good living, tells of insufficient exercise. His clothing is ill-fitting, but when he speaks all these defects disappear. His voice is melodious: it is as sweet as the babbling of a brook in June; it rises and falls in perfect rhythm; it is a voice that captivates and holds the hearer spellbound. There is not a trace of English accent in it although its owner is an Englishman, as were his father and grandfathers before him. As he finishes reading the last line of the hymn, he advances a step or two and in a quiet, familiar way, tells his audience that he wished everybody to sing; that there are no strangers in God's house and that while some of them present may not be Nilssons or Marios yet it is their duty to praise God.

At this moment a grey-haired man of fifty steps nimbly forward opposite the preacher. He takes an old-fashioned tuning-fork from his pocket, taps it gently on the rail of the platform, puts it to his ear until he gets the proper note and then in a cracked and far from pleasant voice leads the vast congregation in singing. This is perhaps the most novel feature of the great church. The orphan boys on the platform below ably sustain the precentor. Their sweet, childish and musical voices very quickly drown the leader's harsh notes and in an instant the thousands in the congregation take up the hymn and sing it with a will, until the very rafters shake and through the open windows the song may be heard two blocks away.

Mr. Spurgeon leans on the rail of the platform familiarly. He looks lovingly at the boys beneath him, smiles fondly at those whom he recognizes in the congregation and then sings a line or two as we can easily tell by the movement of his lips.

The singing ceases. The last notes have died away. The great preacher bows his head to pray and almost the entire audience follows him. He gives the prayer in a clear, distinct voice. It is a simple plea for mercy. There is nothing theatrical in his manner or his method. His language is so plain that even the tiniest of the orphan boys understand him and his voice is marvelously sweet. The little fellows listen attentively to every word. There are fervid amens from every corner. The great preacher remains in the same position, with his arms extended, until he comes to the last sentence: "May nothing disturb the childlike simplicity of our faith that makes us look up heavenward and say trustingly, 'Our Father.'" I see that his eyes are resting lovingly on the little waifs beneath him.

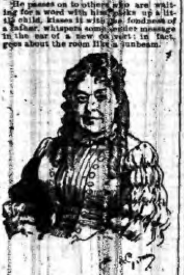
There is another hymn and the old fellow with the tuning fork leads in the singing as before. Then Mr. Spurgeon steps forward and reads the morning notices. After this he reads his text in a clear, ringing voice and begins his sermon. The text is from Joshua and the sermon describes the march of the children of Israel over Jordan. The great orator describes, in a glowing pen picture, the travels of the chosen ones of the Lord: but it is all so simple and plain that the most uneducated in the audience can follow him. He occupies thirty-five minutes in his discourse, talking about 140 words per minute, and is listened to with marked attention. The sermon is interspersed with bits of descriptive incident and anecdote. It is all told in such a plain, fatherly and simple way that it carries conviction to the heart and it is easy enough to see that one source of the great preacher's success is the simplicity of his manner of preaching.

I have listened to many orators on both sides of the Atlantic, have heard all the famous preachers, but I know of none who parallels this real bishop of London in his earnestness, his eloquence and his simplicity. If I were asked to name a man who preached to the next largest and enthusiastic audiences, I would say that that man is Dr. T. De Witt Talmage of Brooklyn, New York.

The service ends by the singing of another hymn and the benediction. The great audience passes out through the various doors and the preacher retires to one of the anti-rooms. As quickly as they can reach him a couple of hundred strangers and friends join him there. For an hour he is kept busy handshaking and giving words of encouragement and cheer to those whom he knows and those who come to him for advice. I find myself in this anti-room with the others. I tell the great preacher that I am an American and a newspaper writer and he greets me in the most cordial way.

"It is a little odd," he goes on, "but you are the tenth person who within the last ten minutes has told me that they came from across the sea. It is nothing unusual for me to have among my audience visitors from India, Australia, China, Japan and from America, and I am always glad to see my friends. Give my love to those who are working earnestly for the cause of Christ across the ocean. Tell them to be of good faith. Christianity is making great progress, but it needs new soldiers for its army. I wish it were possible for me to go to America and see some of the dear friends there; but that can never be. I must devote my time and attention to my own dear people here in London."

He passes on to others who are waiting for a word with him, picks up a little child, kisses it with the fondness of a father, whispers some tender message in the ear of a new convert; in fact, goes about the room like a sunbeam.



SUSIE SPURGEON.

It would not be possible in the space of a newspaper article to tell who this wonderful man is nor to outline the work he has performed. I may say, however, that everything he has undertaken has prospered; whether it be an orphanage, a magazine or a college, it has grown magnificently under his care.

It may interest you to know that he is one of the most voluminous and popular authors of the day. He is the head of a theological college which has sent out a thousand students into the ministry. He is the founder and maintainer of an orphanage in which 500 orphans find a comfortable home. He is director of a colportage association, the editor of a magazine and the author of countless pamphlets on all sorts of secular and religious subjects. He preaches to the largest audience of any minister in the world. His sermons are scattered in all lands and have been translated into every language. Some of them have reached an edition of 150,000 copies. For twenty-five years he has issued weekly the sermons preached on the preceding Sunday morning. He has never missed a week, except during extreme illness. These sermons, bound together, compose a library of fifty volumes. He has published many talks to young men and all his lectures have been in pamphlet form. There is hardly a subject of interest to the human race that this great man has not touched upon and said something that has added to its interest and influence. His writings would make a complete library. He is one of the great men of the world.

The graduates of his preacher's college are doing yeoman service in many lands. He takes these young men almost into his family, treats them like sons, instructs them, lectures to them and fits them for the ministry. There is not a subject from theology to the culture of the voice that he has not lectured to them upon. For all this there is no charge. The college is supported by voluntary contributions. Nearly a thousand graduates have passed through the institution since it was organized. Of the orphanage it is sufficient to say that it has saved many children from early graves and is a very bright spot in a very dreary city.

Mr. Spurgeon has been heard all over England, Ireland and Scotland, and often preaches to a congregation of from fifteen to twenty thousand people. He is very fond of out-door preaching and is the only man who was ever invited to deliver a religious discourse at the Crystal Palace. He frequently exchanges pulpits, and often asks his congregation, including the pewholders, to stay at home for a Sabbath and permit visitors and strangers and others who cannot afford to buy pews to take their places for a day in the church.

That he is a busy man you may well guess, when I tell you that he employs five stenographers and keeps them all going. With the exception of Mr. Gladstone, he receives the largest mail of any man in the three kingdoms. A great many of his letters from sailors, from soldiers, from poor fellows, whom he has managed to help out of the gutter, are simply addressed, Spurgeon, England. To these he replies cheerfully, and is always ready to give advice. Nor is this all. He gives freely of his money. In fact he is a poor man. If it were not for the kindness of his congregation, he would be penniless. A few years ago they purchased a house for him, the house that he now occupies at Westwood, the southern ridge of the wooded heights of Sydenham. Upon the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his pastorate of the church, his congregation presented him with a large sum of money as a token of its esteem. It was intended that he should pay off a mortgage on his house and take the remainder for a holiday. He did nothing of the kind; he divided the large sum equally between the pastor's college and the orphanage. If it were not for the prudence of some of his friends who insisted that it was his duty to keep his house free, he would to-day be living in hired apartments. I may add, however, that his charity is not indiscriminate. His money is only given to those who deserve it.

He has declined as many as a score of invitations to lecture throughout Europe and America at fabulous prices, because, as he explained, he is not a lecturer and he didn't want the money and he preferred to work in his own way among his own people in London. When an American Lecture Agency offered him recently $1,000, for every lecture and to pay all the expenses of himself and his wife and a secretary from London to America on a great lecture tour and held out the tempting offer that he could make $50,000, Mr. Spurgeon declined it. He said he could do better. He would stay in London and try to save fifty souls.

Of his personal habits it may interest you to know that his sermons are prepared after six o'clock on Saturday evening. He does not memorize them. He simply selects his text, makes a few notes, takes an hour in his study thinking over the subject and goes into the pulpit next day prepared to deliver a sermon that will stand for all time as a model of simplicity, clearness and eloquence. An old and tried shorthand reporter takes his sermons verbatim and on Monday the great preacher revises them. Monday is a day of rest and of seeing visitors or rather, personal friends. On Tuesday and Wednesday he is generally away somewhere preaching. He devotes some portion of each day to literary work editing his magazines or preparing his lectures for his college students. Thursday morning he devotes to the orphanage, and Thursday is what is known as "service night," generally preceded by an inquiry meeting, when he talks with those about to join the church. Friday morning is entirely devoted to the preacher's college and Friday afternoon to visiting the sick and needy of his parish whom he wishes to see for himself. Saturday morning he attends to correspondence and the afternoon is devoted to a reception for visitors. Of course one day differeth from another. There are calls upon the sick and the dying. There are great public meetings to be attended. There are special lectures to be prepared and a vast amount of other work.

His home in Westwood is a delightful spot. All is so peaceful and still that the house and the grounds might be fifty miles from town instead of being but three-quarters of an hour's drive from the Tabernacle. It is a plain, old-fashioned house, with plenty of room, tastefully laid out grounds, well kept lawns and shrubberies in good order. There are cosy chairs under the trees and a splendid tennis court not far away. There are any number of beehives, for Mr. Spurgeon is a great apiarian. The grounds are aglow with pinks and other homely English flowers. The stables and out-houses are big and roomy. The stable is protected by an enormous horse shoe, weighing 300 pounds, the gift of a friend who deemed it an invaluable specific against evil spirits. In another part of the garden is a fountain with gold fish. Within the house is bright and airy. The entrance hall is small. The dining-room opens to the right and Mr. Spurgeon's study to the left. In this study Mr. Spurgeon keeps three private secretaries constantly busy. Big shelves loaded with books on all sorts of subjects and the great room is strewn with papers, magazines and other evidences of a literary worker. Mr. Spurgeon works, or rather did the day I was with him, in a light alpaca garden coat and wore on his head a white felt wide-awake hat. He chatted pleasantly about men and things and drew my attention particularly to a wide collection of caricatures, which he has preserved through his career as a London preacher. For, be it known that his sailing has not al*ways been smooth and that he has often* found himself on the side of a question that brought dispute and heated argument. As I rise to go, Mrs. Spurgeon appears. She is a pleasant-faced woman, a fit help-meet for the great preacher, who has taken upon herself a large portion of the work of the Tabernacle, and in her home has a room set apart for distributing books, tracts, etc. She is a ministering angel among the poor of London and is one of the most popular of women in the big city. All her children, or rather her three sons, are ministers, and her only daughter is married to a minister and is herself a speaker of no mean ability. It is a typical English home.

Spurgeon dines in the middle of the day and after an early tea there are prayers and then Mrs. Spurgeon seats herself at the parlor organ and in a sweet voice, joined by her, husband, her sons and the visitors, they sing for an hour or two some of the old-fashioned melodies that sound sweeter to-day because they are so seldom heard.

Spurgeon's active career in the pulpit is well nigh ended. Bodily infirmities, long threatened, seem at last to have overtaken him and he is frequently a prisoner in his room at the pleasant home in Westwood. He himself has expressed the fear that his last appear*ance in the Tabernacle will soon have* been made, for he is now often so afflicted that he cannot be moved without suffering pain. His congregation, it is hardly necessary to say, feel keenly for their beloved pastor. Indeed, it would be impossible to estimate the good accomplished by the Spurgeon family, and if the men and women, whom they have helped would stand shoulder to shoulder they would make an army that would circle Great Britain.

DAVID WECHSLER.

FLIRTATIONS AT SEA.

There is a Quality in Ocean Air that is Conducive to Flirtation.

The Per Contra of Short Passages—The Beauties of Seasickness—Woman's Helplessness a Charm—A Comedy in One Act—Moonlight Nights.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

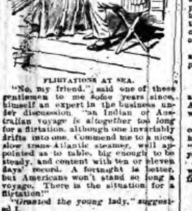
The great labor-saving movements of the world have generally been marked by vehement protest on the part of laborers. Spinners and weavers smashed Arkwright's machines and nearly smashed him; the Nottingham lace-weavers were regarded by the pillow-workers whom they superceded as a good deal worse than anarchists; and it has taken all the "power" of steam to make its way against brute strength whether in man or beast.

Are you glancing back at the heading of this paper? Be patient; we shall "get there" in a moment; and I will bridge the chasm with a proverb or two, such as, "No great gain without some small loss;" "One man's meat is another man's bane;" "The greatest good of the greatest number," etc., etc.

Are we across the bridge? Well, then, let me say that the determined efforts of the great steam-ship companies to shorten the passage across the Atlantic is by no means a source of satisfaction to a large class of summer passengers; and this is the flirting class, wherein I count many friends, although myself too busy or too indolent to belong to it. On land there is so much to do, and at sea it is not worth while to do anything, even so little as flirting, my own usual occupation on board ship being what an anxious stewardess once described as "laying back on your steamer-chair an' being blowed around the world."

But I have been on deck of a moonlight night, and I have put on my go-ashore clothes and sauntered round among the groups performing tender adieux in the lee of the smoke-stack, or the extreme tip of the bowsprit, or some other of the extraordinary solitudes a deux to which tender couples are compelled on board ship. I have eyes, and I have ears, and I have appreciation, and, moreover, I have many friends of both sexes who have made wholesome confession in moments of returning sanity as to freaks of midsummer madness besetting them at sea.

Judging from the data thus gained, I conclude that there is something in the quality of sea air strongly conducive to flirtation, and that about a fortnight is the proper time to fully experience its effects. I have talked with several East Indian voyagers, both men and women, and these generally agree that the ninety days, more or less, of the old Indian service, was quite too much of a good thing; it became either stale or dangerous, sometimes both. A flirtation is by its own limitations a brief matter, and like a pyrotechnic display, should be as brilliant as brief. A chronic St. Katherine's Wheel would be an intolerable nuisance, and a flirtation of two or three months is a monstrosity when the parties are compelled to associate every day and all day long. Either they will find out all each other's foibles, sharp corners and stupidities, and grow heartily tired of each other, or the affair will become serious, involving marriage, money and broken hearts, the whole category of interests too deep for summer pastime.



FLIRTATIONS AT SEA.

"No, my friend," said one of these gentlemen to me some years since, himself an expert in the business under discussion, "an Indian or Australian voyage is altogether too long for a flirtation, although one invariably drifts into one. Commend me to a nice, slow trans-Atlantic steamer, well appointed as to table, big enough to be steady, and content with ten or eleven days' record. A fortnight is better, but Americans won't stand so long a voyage. There is the situation for a flirtation!"

"Granted the young lady," suggested I.

"Madame, any woman is adorable when she will remain in the field of vision long enough to be appreciated," was the reply. "And it is only at sea that she is sure to do so."

Well, a few days since I met my friend again, just off the "fastest record" yet made, something short of six days. I believe, and a more disgusted creature I never saw. I believe he really felt himself defrauded of his rights, and yet confessed the absurdity of complaint when every one else was shouting paeans of praise.

"Then you had no flirtations?" inquired I, surmising the true inwardness of the matter.

"Flirtations!" shouted my friend. "One might as well expect to get up a flirtation in falling from the top of Trinity steeple to the pavement. We shot out of Liverpool as if we were discharged from a mortar, and in half an hour everybody of any delicacy of feeling was prostrate, and the rest of us had all we could do to hang on to the rigging. I didn't have my feet square under my head one minute unless while I was in my berth. As for the ladies, it was just five berth-days in succession, poor dears!"

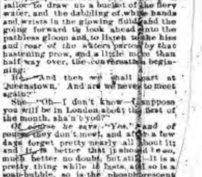
The joke wasn't original, but I didn't tell my friend so; it was evidently a case of the "ministering angel" necessity, and I ministered a good big dose of flattery which he swallowed whole and felt better.

No, the short voyages act dreadfully to that episode of summer travel, which so many ingenuous young friends of mine have ranked above all other of their experiences. "The Coliseum and St. Mark's and Paris and Florence are all very nice, of course," remarked one of these dear girls in a moment of artless confidence. "But, then, pictures and books and other people give you a very good idea of these, if you greatly care for that sort of thing; but, dear me, nobody can give anybody else an idea of how charming a nice flirtation is; now, can they?"

"Try. Tell me, so that [illegible] can just what it is, and [illegible] me see if it's anything worth going on deck for."

So the darling tried, but I think some other accounts I have received were even more lucid, so I will generalize a bit and give the "rationale" of this doomed delight of the slow passages already passing into antiquity.

The two persons destined to figure in this comedy of one act may of course be already acquainted when they embark, but this is hardly desirable, as it forestalls some of the first scenes. It is better that, as the lady bids a more or less tearful farewell to the friends who have come to see her off, she should notice a cavalier who, without starting, is attentively regarding her, and if he has a friend with him, is evidently confiding a most flattering opinion concerning her to said friend. This is the opening scene. The next is the pointing out the beauties of New York Harbor to mamma, or some member of the young lady's party; perhaps the steward is bribed to give convenient seats at table; perhaps the purser or captain gives an introduction; at any rate, before the shades of night and the fiend of seasickness end this scene, a sort of acquaintanceship should be established. A day, perhaps two, now elapse, and the next setting is a tilting deck, settees, couches, steamer-chairs and cosy ruglined nests in various sheltered nooks. The heroine, pale, tottering, fragile but cheerful, appears on deck and makes toward a chair; the hero starts forward, with uplifted cap, and an "Allow me!" to which the lady responds with a glance, a smile, a murmur of thanks



"ALLOW ME."

She is arranged in the chair, and a very pretty bit of business with rugs, sunshade, wraps, etc., ensues, ending in the hero fetching a stool and seating himself beside the chair. Lunch is announced, and the invalid in charming horror refuses to move, and disdains all thoughts of nourishment. Perhaps papa comes along, or half-grown brother, and receiving a decidedly negative reply to all overtures of "sending you something," casts scrutinizing glances at the hero, who receives them with modest self-respect, and goes on to his own repast.

The hero now asserts himself, secures a waiter, fees him handsomely, suggests an esthetic and attractive little lunch, has it brought, and by judicious coaxing and the force of good example persuades the heroine to accept the morsel he proffers, and which she presently gratefully declares has "really done her good."

If the good soon becomes evil and he notices a greenish pallor overspreading the pretty face he so attentively contemplates, the hero rapidly effaces himself and sends a stewardess, well aware that nothing he can do or say will be as acceptable just now as his absence.

By the next day this stage of convalescence has passed into that where "a little exercise" is to be recommended, and the hero and heroine, arm in arm, blithely promenade the deck, she laughing gayly as the heave of the sea sends her staggering down against him, and he, with a grand air of protection exclaiming:

"Cling close to me! You won't fall; I'll take good care of that."

Then comes a little rest in the steamer-chair, and a game of cards, or chess, or halma, or something else; the name of the game doesn't matter, for the real game is always the same. And then moonlight promenades, and the necessity of being on deck dark nights to see the phosphorescence, and bribing a sailor to draw up a bucket of the fiery water, and the dabbling of white hands and wrists in the glowing fluid, and the going forward to look ahead into the pathless gloom and to listen to the hiss and roar of the waters parted by that hastening prow, and a little more than half way over, the conversation beginning:

He—"And then we shall part at Queenstown, and are we never to meet again?"

She—"Oh—I don't know—I suppose you will be in London about the first of the month, sha'n't you?"

Of course he says, "Yes," and of course they don't meet, and after a few days forget pretty nearly all about it; and it is better that it should be so, much better no doubt, but still—it is a pretty thing while it lasts, and so is a soap-bubble, so is the phosphorescent fire of mid-Atlantic seas; but, alas! the bubble bursts, the phosphorescence dims, the short passages will soon be the rule and leave no time for even the brief dreams of a trans-Atlantic Flirtation.

MRS. FRANK LESLIE.

STILL ON THE GO.

Looking for a State Where One Can Live Without Hard Work.

A gentleman riding over the Western prairies met a dilapidated "prairie schooner" drawn by a pair of bony and hollow-eyed oxen. A ragged, uncouth man, and a woman of equally unattractive appearance, with a fretful and untidy baby in her arms, occupied the front seat, while the rear part of the wagon did not seem to contain any thing but ragged, dirty children of all ages and sizes.

The man brought the oxen to a standstill and thus, according to the Youth's Companion, accosted the traveler:

"Got any terbacker, mister?"

"No, I never use it."

"You don't! Well, I wonder how in creation a feller kin git along 'thout terbacker. Are you travelin', or jist goin' somewhere?"

The traveler, not unwilling to have a little conversation with this queer specimen of humanity, had reined in his horse and said: "I am going to the next town. Where are you bound?"

"Well, I don't 'zactly knows just where we will settle down. Where'd you come from?"

"From Kansas."

"How's times out there?"

"Very good."

"Any chance for a feller to make a livin'?"

"Oh, yes; plenty of chance."

"What at?" asked the man, eagerly.

"At hard work."

This reply evidently dampened the man's ardor.

"Some kin stand hard work," he said, "and some can't. I don't b'lieve in a feller makin' a slave o' hisself. That's why I left Ioway and Ohio and Illinoy."

"What do you want to do for a living."

"Well, I don't 'zactly know."

"And you've no idea where you will locate?"

"No, dunno as I have; but I'm willing to stop in any place where times is good an' I kin git along."

He is probably wandering still, he and his family, adding to that great and widely-scattered army of people who never "git along" in any country.

Not in His Case.

Moneybags—Advertising, my dear boy, always pays.

Youngblood—It hasn't paid me.

"What do you mean?"

"Nothing, except that father advertised me in the papers awhile ago, and I haven't been able to get tick anywhere since."

"With Constabulary Duties to Be Done."

The London police are now ordered to wear India rubber or noiseless boots at night always.

Rates of Advertising.

SPACE	WEEKS 1	2	3	MONTHS 1	2	3	6	12
1 in.	$1.00	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	$15.00
2 in.	1.50	2.00	3.00	4.00	5.50	[illegible]	12.00	20.00
3 in.	2.50	3.00	4.00	5.00	8.00	[illegible]	18.00	25.00
4 in.	3.00	3.50	5.00	6.00	9.00	[illegible]	[illegible]	30.00
5 in.	3.50	4.50	6.00	8.00	12.50	[illegible]	25.00	37.00
¼ col.	4.50	6.00	8.00	10.00	15.00	[illegible]	30.00	40.00
½ col.	7.00	10.00	[illegible]	15.00	24.00	32.00	54.00	80.00
1 col.	12.00	18.00	20.00	25.00	35.00	50.00	[illegible]	[illegible]

All Electro's must be solid metal.

"Little of Everything" column, 5 cts. per line.

Double cols. 30 per ct. advance of above rates.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, | A. L. FORCE,
Editors and Proprietors.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR,

LEON ABBETT,

OF HUDSON.

Somerset County Nominations.

FOR ASSEMBLY,
JACOB KLOTZ.
FOR SHERIFF,
L. M. CODINGTON.

Third Assembly District Democratic Convention.

[illegible]

Rahway—
1st ward	[illegible]
2d ward	[illegible]
3d ward	[illegible]
4th ward	[illegible]
Clark	[illegible]
Fanwood	[illegible]
Westfield	[illegible]
Plainfield—
1st ward	[illegible]
2d ward	[illegible]
3d ward	[illegible]
4th ward	[illegible]

[illegible]
Chairman of last Convention.
Plainfield, Oct. 21, 1889.

LEON ABBETT.

To fill aright the very important position of Chief Magistrate, statesmanlike ability and practical business intelligence are indispensable requisites.

Gubernatorial duties, properly discharged, demand not only the possession of those specifically named qualifications, but the constant observance of [illegible].

Courtesy, uniform and sincere, is not merely an accomplishment, but an official qualification, too often ignored, we regret to say, by men clothed with high public authority.

To greet every person, great or humble, rich or poor, with affability, and not in a coarse or boorish manner, marks the true gentleman, and to respectfully hear what constituents have to say and becomingly to respond, denotes both official worth and duty.

Of such material should the Governors of New Jersey ever be made, ability to originate, honesty to execute and affability to behave.

Our candidate is such a man.

His name is LEON ABBETT.

MONEY IN ELECTIONS.

The profligate expenditure of money in elections has increased so enormously, and assumed such a defiant attitude, that it threatens to not only subvert public morality, but undermine the foundations of our representative system of government.

No observing and truth-respecting man can deny its existence as a far-reaching and ruin-freighted evil.

It is a malignant political tumor, and the sooner it is effectually cut out by the knife of popular surgery, safer will be the welfare and liberties of the people.

The thought of having important National and State elections, or even minor local elections, corruptly influenced by money, handled by venal politicians, and largely contributed by high professors of respectability and by men of mercenary [illegible]; and furthermore, the thought of candidates for responsible elective positions securing nominations solely because of their financial strength and willingness to appropriate it for depraved electioneering purposes, is amply sufficient to fire with determined indignation every true-hearted American citizen, no matter to what partisan faith he may claim allegiance.

Our hostility is against political corruption of every hue and entirely irrespective of party.

It is a disgraceful and blighting public injury, especially in a country like ours, where political virtue was designed to be a reality and popular sovereignty to be unpurchased and unpurchasable [illegible].

A halcyon day will indeed dawn when honor and honesty shall control political action in all its ramifications, when differences between political parties shall be based upon clearly defined principles and measures, and when practical ability and personal integrity shall be the [illegible] accepted qualifications for official place, instead of as now so prevalent, [illegible] character and unscrupulous partisanship.

The early coming of such a glorious day ought to inspire the earnest efforts of every patriotic citizen.

Constitutional freedom and political purity are one and inseparable. To sever them is to wound unto death the Republic of Washington and Jefferson, of Franklin and Adams.

Temperance Councilmen the Liquor Sellers' Friends.

What the people want this Fall [illegible] is a Common Sense Ticket with [illegible] of common sense nominated on it. [illegible] a ticket would be elected entire [illegible] possibly in the Third Ward. Not [illegible] what Messrs March and Dunham [illegible] good Councilmen, and possess good [illegible] but they and the other intemperate "temperance men," smother their good judgment with sentiment, and legislate [illegible] free rum by following a policy on the [illegible] excise question that is directly responsible for the Sixty-three unlicensed saloons now open days, nights and Sundays in Plainfield.

If saloons cannot be suppressed entirely in Plainfield—and the past few months have emphatically proven that they cannot—do the next best thing—control them. THE PRESS is for as few saloons as possible, and high license has always accomplished just that desideratum. Those who have advocated and voted against all license, are proven to have [illegible] free rum and brought about [illegible] unrestricted sale of liquor in [illegible] "dives" and illicit "holes." Who [illegible] the more effective fight against the [illegible] of liquor in Plainfield—THE PRESS or the "temperance Councilmen!"

—The Hon. John R. McPherson, U. S. Senator from this State, will speak in this city Wednesday evening of next week.

—Messrs C. Potter, Jr., & Co., the Plainfield press builders, have become interested in the patents of Messrs [illegible] [illegible] and will manufacture and sell the [illegible] and the necessary outfits for using it. The process has been thoroughly tested and found to be a success.

Their Silver Wedding.

The Rev. J. W. Mitchell, pastor of Mount Olive Baptist church, and his hospitable wife, entertained a gathering of seventy-five friends at their home on Liberty street, last Tuesday. The occasion was the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. There were a number of costly presents from a host of well wishers, and the entire affair was most enjoyable to the guests and gratifying to Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell. The collation was by Mr. E. B. Maynard, and the heavily laden table was a work of art and good taste.

Among those present were the Rev. Dr. Yerkes, Mr. A. M. Vanderbeek, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Douglas, Miss Knapp, Miss Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Maynard, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson and Mr. Walker; Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Walley, of Fanwood; Mr. and Mrs. Middlesworth, of Orange; Mrs. Pierson and Miss Mitchell, of New Market.

Chief Carey Has Better Call off His Dog.

According to our shabby contemporary, the ragged sore, Chief Carey thinks "he might as well resign" if he can't have everybody he chooses to arrest convicted whether there is a case against the accused or not.

Carey's organ goes on to say with its usual disregard for grammar, that "he don't propose to be made a fool of or to be a party to such a farce as Justice is as at present administered, corrupted by our Democratic rulers acting in collusion with the saloons."

THE PRESS and other admirers of Judge Stillman, will wonder how even the news is permitted to accuse the City Court of administering justice that is corrupted and in collusion with the saloons.

Chief Carey still possesses the respect of a number of Plainfield's citizens, but much of such barking will drive the rest of these away from his support. Call off the dog!

Compendium's the Thing.

THE PRESS exclusively published Tuesday, accounts of:

Miss VanDoren's $50,000 suit against the P. & R. R. railroad company;

Treasurer Osborne's misappropriation of the funds of Cypress Commandery;

Dr. Ketcham's preaching to the Synod of New Jersey;

The record of the Young Crescents and their success for the past season;

The new magazine that is being established in Plainfield;

Death of the Rev. Mr. Sykes, late pastor of All Saints church of Scotch Plains;

Mr. Walter G. Runyon's runaway;

Mr. Mason's discovery of a burglar on a stoop;

How Louis Heynance killed a flat-headed adder;

The return of Mr. John Campbell after an absence of eight years in Europe;

The intended departure of Mr. Leo Daft for the Adirondacks;

The birth of young Master Simmonds;

The death of Mrs. E. S. Honeyman;

And a score of other interesting items occurring in Plainfield.

Read the DAILY PRESS—Plainfield's only newspaper.

UNDERPAID SCHOOL TEACHERS.

The announcement that Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler is to read a paper at the December meeting of the State Council of Education on the topic, "The Irregular Way in Which Teachers are Appointed in this State," will be read with interest not only by the profession of teachers, but also by those parents who are, by the force of having their children in the public schools, interested in the schools and their development. There is a general desire for progressiveness, and for the employment of teachers who have the art of imparting information readily and effectively. That there is room for improvement in other cities, though not in Plainfield, the title of Dr. Butler's coming paper implies.

To get at the condition of existing affairs with respect to this matter, Superintendent Chapman was seen recently by a Trenton True American reporter. He was asked:

"Are there other normal schools besides the State Normal School in New Jersey?"

"There is a City Normal School in Newark and a training department in the Plainfield High School, in both of which those who wish to become teachers receive special instruction in pedagogy; the students being required to take some practice in the actual work of teaching before they are certificated. Their certificates, of course, are good only in their respective cities. Some of the pupils turned out from these schools make excellent teachers."

"From the title of the paper which Dr. Butler is to read before the Council of Education at its next meeting it may be inferred that there is an irregularity in the method of appointing teachers throughout the State. Is this the case?"

"It is very difficult to answer you in a few words. I presume that Dr. Butler's view is, that sufficient care is not taken by School Boards to select well trained and well equipped teachers. That has always been true; but it is not true to the same extent today as it has been in the past. There are several good reasons why well trained teachers are not always employed. Pedagogy is comparatively a new science, involving not only a thorough knowledge of the human mind, of the order and processes of development of its many faculties, but also a thorough mastery of the methods by which this development may be best secured. A teacher then, must not only master the theories, but must become expert in practice. The work of so fitting a teacher, of course, is greater than that which is undertaken in any of the other professional schools. In other words, it requires more work, takes more time and greater labor to become a good teacher than to become a good lawyer or a good doctor. Notwithstanding this fact, the young man who devotes three years in preparation for the legal or medical professions, expects to secure an annual income, which he names in thousands, while the teacher, who spends as many years in preparation, is fortunate if he gets as many hundreds.

"These are the two great obstacles to the securing of such teachers as we would like to secure. First, the difficulty in making such teachers, and second, our inability to pay and hold them after they are made. The law of a year ago last Winter, raising the State tax from $4 to $5 per child, was intended to raise the teachers' salaries throughout the State, and it did, in fact, effect a considerable increase. Before that time a teacher who was exceptionally successful was soon offered inducements to go elsewhere, and we were continually losing our best teachers. We are a little better able to hold them now, but it is not an uncommon thing to find a teacher working for less than $1,000 per year, who, with the same degree of ability in another profession, could earn $5,000 or $10,000.

"Our Normal schools throughout the country have been largely academic, but efforts are being made to make them more and more professional. In our examinations, too, for certificates in New Jersey, while we are exacting no lower grade of scholarship, we have lately adopted the professional subjects of Psychology, History of Pedagogy, and Theory and Practice, the last involving methods as well as theories.

"Dr. Butler is an enthusiastic student and professor of pedagogy, who has done much to put the work of the teacher upon a professional plane. His paper, I have no doubt, will be in a direct line with his other work, and will perhaps do much good in awakening public opinion to the dangers of employing unskilled teachers."

More Than Freight House.

Now that the freight and coal trains are run on the outside tracks, only one line of rails is left on which to drill the fifty cars that are each day received and unloaded at the freight house opposite the station.

No corps of men except Station Manager Haynes and his assistants, could accomplish the work in the time and space attainable. The city has outgrown the present freight house, and is also ashamed of its unsightliness. It should be removed nearer the outskirts of the city, and the old yard laid out as a park.

Censuring Our Freeholders Attention.

There is considerable grumbling among those who of late have had occasion to drive over the Union county roads now being paved at an expense of $130,000, because of the alleged bad condition in which the highways have been left.

Especial objection is made concerning the thoroughfares near Westfield, where, in spite of deep excavations which, it is said, have wrecked carriage springs and pitched occupants of vehicles out into mud puddles, no signals warn travelers by either day or night, of their danger.

Trotting on Saturday.

There were three trotting events at the track of the Gentlemen's Driving Park Association, on Saturday afternoon, as follows: First, between Mr. N. Robbin's "Doctor" and Mr. M. Quinn's "Lucy." Each won a heat, "Doctor" the first in 2.55, and "Lucy" the second in 2.58½.

John Chandler's "Rambo" trotted two one-mile heats with John Hayes' "Andy," and won the first in 2.44. "Andy" won the second heat in 2.46½.

Mr. Churchill's "Selim" and John Osborne's "Marcaneer" completed the racing for the day. Each won a heat in 2.50½ and 2.49 respectively.

In the New Church.

A PRESS reporter was present at the morning service of the Unitarians, Sunday, and with the large and fashionable audience that filled the room, listened to the Rev. Mr. Tilden's remarkable sermon "The Picture Galleries of the Bible." The discourse was in itself a faultless flow of mind familiar with the avenues of Scripture and monuments of the ages, whose living characters were the morals of the preacher's subject.

An interesting feature of this new society is the Bible class, led by the pastor, who yesterday made the time interesting by the way he moulded Scripture truth to the Unitarian mind. A stranger feels welcome among the patrons of this new church.

"CAREY TALKS OF RESIGNING."

(From The World.)

Joseph Sullivan was tried at Plainfield yesterday for illegal liquor selling. There was great indignation among the temperance people when it became known that six of the jury stood for acquittal to six for conviction. Chief of Police Carey talks of resigning. Temperance men threaten to smash the Common Council for failing to back the Chief.

The town has been having farcical prohibition several months. The saloons are closed, but plenty of dives are open in the worst parts of the city. The saloons of North Plainfield, which is under another government, are licensed and are doing a big business. The breweries have established agencies in the city, and any amount of liquor can be bought by the quart.

Several temperance men say they would prefer a return to high license, if only for the satisfaction of seeing liquor sold honestly and openly instead of the underhanded manner in which the business is now conducted. Chief Carey has been indefatigable in persecuting the liquor sellers, but the Common Council refuses to give him money to hire detectives to gather direct and unimpeachable evidence.

$50,000 DAMAGES DEMANDED.

Messrs Clark & Reed, of this city, recently brought suit in the Supreme Court against the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, for $50,000 damages. The circumstances of the case are of more than usual interest.

Abbie VanDoren, the plaintiff in the action, is a daughter of Abram VanDoren, of Bound Brook. She was a girl of more than ordinary beauty both in form and features, and a great favorite. On Sunday, June 9, last, while on her way to Sunday school with her sister, she crossed the track of the P. and R. R. Company, in Bound Brook, and in doing so passed an engine which stood upon the track close to the crossing.

Just as the girl stepped off of the track, a horse driven by a man named Washburn, and which was crossing the track immediately behind the girls, became frightened by a sudden escape of steam from the engine and ran against Abbie, knocking her down and trampling upon her, and inflicting injuries which have ever since confined the girl to her bed, and, it is feared, maimed her for life.

It is claimed by the plaintiff that the Railroad Company is liable for negligence; that the engine was carelessly run too near the crossing and left standing there while the engineer visited some friends. It is also against the law of the State to run trains on Sundays, yet the engine was waiting to take a fast express to Philadelphia.

HIGHLY FAVORED PLAINFIELD

The serious illness of Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., prevented her fulfillment of the dates booked for her in the principal theatres of New York and other large cities, where she was to appear under the direction of Mr. Dan'l Frohman, of the Lyceum Theatre. This somewhat disarranged the booking of other of Mr. Frohman's attractions, and as "Our Flat," in consequence, is to be brought out this evening at the Lyceum, Mr. E. H. Sothern's engagement as "Lord Chumley" at that theatre, is closed a week before his engagements in other cities begin.

Good to Plainfield, has this ill wind blown. Mr. Sothern will apear at Music Hall, this city, to-morrow evening, with his company entire that has so ably assisted in the success of "Lord Chumley" in New York and elsewhere. Kittie Wilson will play Meg, that "Angel of the Attic;" Rowland Buckstone will fill the late Mr. Bishop's part of Adam Butterworth; Charlotte Tittell and Alice King Hamilton, will play Eleanor and Jessie Deane; and all the rest of the original favorites will favor us.

Those who have seen Mr. Sothern's Lord Chumley, will be at Music Hall, Friday evening. Those who have not, THE PRESS would earnestly urge to go. The second act alone combines the cleverest of character acting ever seen, with the most charming of comedy and most affecting of pathos.

—The Classis of New Brunswick has arranged for the installation of Rev. Mr. Blauvelt, at Franklin Park; Allan Campbell, at the Fourth church, New Brunswick, and J. T. Shack, at Bound Brook.

—Wife—"I'll take the $20 you gave me and buy my bonnet this morning, dear, so you want what's left to get your hat." Husband—"All right, dearest, I'll go down at once and order a 50 cent hat for myself."

Sleeplessness.

DR. FLINT'S REMEDY is the best remedy known for insomnia, or sleeplessness, which afflicts so many persons, and which leads to so many serious nervous diseases, particularly to insanity. Descriptive treatise with each bottle; or address Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

The Last Day of Registry.

Every voter should bear in mind the fact that unless their names are properly registered in their respective wards, that on election day which occurs two weeks from yesterday, they will be debarred from casting a vote. The last day of registry will be Thursday, Oct. 31.

A Very Faithful Priest.

St. John the Evangelist's parish, at Dunellen, is now attended by the Rev. Father Bogaard, pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Somerville. The church at Millstone which had been attended by Father Bogaard will hereafter be in charge of the clergy of St. Peter's church, New Brunswick. During the thirteen years which Father Bogaard had attended Millstone he missed celebrating mass only three Sundays. Besides making many improvements in the church he paid off its debt of $1,000.—New Brunswick Times.

STILL A MYSTERY.

It will be three years next March since the body of the murdered girl was found on the highway at Rahway, and the mystery is still fresh in the minds of our readers.

Mrs. Agnes Space of Deckertown, who expected a sister from Scotland, identified the body as that of her sister, Mary Dorman. A letter was received from Mrs. Space yesterday. Neither she nor her mother, who is still in Scotland, has since heard from the girl. Her brother-in-law, Kirkwood, who at the time of the murder lived in Jersey City, and who was suspected by many of having committed it, is now in New Zealand. His wife is now in a lunatic asylum in Scotland. Mrs. Space's identification of the body was the only complete one. She is satisfied that if her sister is alive the family would have had some tidings of her.—Newark Press-Register.

Arrested for Arson, but Released for Want of Evidence.

A farmer named Johnson went before Justice Nash Monday and made an affidavit charging a colored man, William Wallace Bellis, with setting fire to Daniel Cole's dwelling house at Dog Corners, on the morning of Wednesday, Oct. 16, thereby involving a loss of about $2,000 on the buildings and contents. Johnson lived in the house adjoining the one burned and he lost about three hundred dollars worth of tools, which he had stored in the barn. The colored man's strange actions and conversation on the night of the fire led Mr. Johnson to believe that Bellis was guilty of the crime, so he made an affidavit to that effect.

Justice Nash, accompanied by Chief Doane and Manager Sitter of the District Messenger office, drove out to Dog Corners Monday afternoon and found the colored man husking corn for a farmer named VanNest. The accused was arrested and brought to this city, but on account of insufficient evidence Justice Nash Tuesday ordered his release.

Rutgers Defeats Leal's Football Team by Only One Point.

The football game on the LaGrande avenue grounds, Saturday afternoon, showed the home team of Leal students to be the superior players in every way, but the Rutgers Grammar school eleven excelled in weight.

The first half of the game resulted in a score of 11 to 0 in favor of the Leal team. Wyckoff made a beautiful run that secured a touchdown, and Cox kicked the goal, inside of ten minutes. This was followed later by one of the finest kicks from the field for a goal by Cox, that was ever seen.

The last half of the game, however, resulted in two touchdowns and two goals for Rutgers. Such result was brought about by the visitors' greater weight, and the power to shove the whole crowd inch by inch towards their goal. Although Stewart, Murray, McGee and all the others played their hardest, time was called and the game closed with the score standing: Rutgers, 12; Leals, 11.

STIRLING'S "GRAND JUBILEE."

(From our own Correspondent.)

Cole & Knett, Stirling's new owners, gave their employees and friends a big treat last Saturday night. It was the grandest time Stirling ever had.

Two months ago Stirling, it was thought, would be a deserted town in a short time. But it does not look much like it now. In the new building that has just been erected by C. B. Moffett, for Cole & Knett, the great silk manufacturers of Paterson, N. J., the jubilee was held. There were about 700 people present and not one of them was intoxicated at eleven o'clock, the time for closing. The new owners of the silk mill with their wives, were present, and enjoyed a waltz with a number from the neighboring towns.

Everything was free, and all everybody could eat and drink was set on tables decorated with flowers and attended to by waiters. One end of the building—which is 100 feet long—was used for dancing. The music was by Prof. Melee. There were six pieces. There was also a brass band that played between the dances.

The Rev. A. C. Dill, of the Stirling chapel, gave an address, and while he was delivering it one could hear a pin drop, and when he had finished it one could not have heard an earth quake so great was the applause. The Stirling German Singing club, sang a piece in German which was well applauded. The employes of Cole & Knett made up about $40, and bought a horseshoe of roses with the words "Cole & Knett" in the center, and presented it to them. At eleven o'clock it closed and everybody went home feeling that Stirling was not the place it had had the name of so long.

An Eloquent Address by Prof. Samuel Dickie of Michigan.

The members of the Prohibition League of this city held a ratification meeting in Reform Hall, last Tuesday, but unfortunately for the league, the attendance was small. Mr. Geo. H. Fountain presided and led the singing. He also offered prayer, and after a few preliminary remarks he introduced Prof. Samuel Dickie, of Michigan, Chairman of the National Prohibition Committee.

The learned speaker prefaced his remarks by stating that he would feel more like consuming the time if he had a larger audience. He openly confessed that the Prohibitionists did not expect to elect their ticket this time. Prof. Dickie discussed "Is it wise, expedient, necessary and patriotic to organize and sustain the Prohibition party." He thought that the temperance question was of vastly more importance to the people than all the other great issues combined; financially considered, he said, it is larger than the tariff revenues. The money spent in the grog shops in one year will rebuild all the educational halls in the country, and in fifteen months' time the money gathered in by the brewers and liquor dealers would wipe out the National debt, interest and all. The speaker said he was sure that Prohibition would not prohibit, unless there was a dominant political party which believes in the doctrines of a prohibitory law.

The speaker occupied nearly an hour and a-half in delivering his address and he was frequently interrupted with applause. At the close Prof. Dickie hastened to the depot and boarded a train for Jersey City.

The next speaker introduced was Mr. E. L. Massett, the Third Assembly District (Union county) Prohibition nominee, who made a short address.

Success in life is the result of push and energy. If the blood is impure and sluggish, both body and mind lack vigor. To cleanse and vitalize the blood and impart new life to the system, nothing else has such a marvelous effect as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

A Bridge Abandoned.

The Board of Freeholders held a meeting at South Plainfield on Monday to consider what should be done about a bridge which was recently swept away near there. The bridge spans a small stream which issues from the mill pond, and it was the overflow from this pond during the recent freshets that swept it away. The Board decided to abandon the bridge. There remains yet to be settled the dispute as to who shall repair the washout on the road near the bridge, the county, township, or the owner of the mill. This matter is to be settled in the courts.

Church Choir Entertainment.

An entertainment will be given by the choir of the Church of the Holy Cross, in the Sunday School building, on Thursday evening, October 31. A most attractive programme will be presented consisting chiefly of tableaux, with Roger's groups of statuary for their subjects, interspersed with music, vocal and instrumental. The price of admission will be fifty cents and tickets may be obtained from any of the young men of the choir.

Opening the Firemen's Fair.

The bazaar and fair which is to be held in Dunlap's Hall all of this week, under the auspices of Amoskeag Council, No. 25, Order of American Firemen, opened on Monday. The display of goods placed on exhibition by the home merchants includes:

Furniture—Garret Q. Packer.

Druggists' supplies—L. W. Randolph.

Dry and house furnishing goods—Van Emburgh & White.

Boots and shoes—Doane & VanArsdale.

Jewelry—J. Hervey Doane.

Hardware—J. P. Laire & Co.

Gents' furnishing goods—U. B. Crane.

Tobacconist—J. E. Vosher.

Wall paper—Edward Love.

The following ladies are in attendance at the several tables:

Refreshment—Mrs J. B. Gable, Miss Etta Connett.

Candy—Miss May Crater.

Fancy—Miss Lillie Garretson, Miss Grace Meeker.

Dry and fancy goods—Miss Della Randolph.

Lemonade booth—Miss Anna Crater.

New features will be added each evening.

Dr. Carroll's Work.

THE PRESS a few days ago published the letter of Supt. Porter announcing the appointment of Mr. H. K. Carroll, of this city, to gather the religious statistics of the coming census report. Yesterday a reporter met Mr. Carroll and quotes him as saying:

"There is no doubt but that the announcement that church statistics will be included in the special inquiries to be made for the eleventh census will be well received by all denominations. The work will be most carefully and conscientiously done. It is a strange fact that the numerical strength of the various religious denominations should be largely a matter of conjecture. The statistics I intend securing will be of the most accurate and reliable kind. I am now engaged in preparing plans for such a division of the territory of each denomination as will make it comparatively easy for those to whom inquiries will be addressed to give a prompt response. The inquiry will be broad enough in its scope to embrace every religious body of whatever name or creed, however few or many its churches and members."

SCANDAL AMONG THE COLORED MASONS.

Most Eminent Treasurer William Osborne, of Cypress Commandery, Colored Knights Templar, of this city, is accused by his brother Free Masons of making off with a large sum of money, to wit, seventy-one dollars and forty cents, the same being the undivided profits accruing from the recent Reception and Ball at The Crescent.

The said William Osborn is further charged to have absconded with the sum afore mentioned, and in company with a colored lady, by name Mag Henry of Dunellen, to have flown to the foreign shores of Scotch Plains and therein to have squandered the said sum in riotous living, including poker, and booze, and wantonness.

A PRESS reporter in an interview with members of Cypress Commandery Tuesday morning, found them all feeling very deeply the disgrace brought upon them by their comrade. The colored Knights Templar of this city, including such estimable men as William Douglas, Abraham Wesley Brown, Benjamin Johnson, Israel Jones and others, have always stood high in honor, and will yet. The community will not judge any of them by the fault of another.

The accused Treasurer, who has a wife and childred to share the disgrace, has made a clear confession it is said. He has a contrite heart left and nine dollars of the funds. After paying all the expenses of the Ball, its music, refreshments, rent of the building, etc—the sum of $71.40 was left in the Treasurer's hands, and that money he is accused of misappropriating as outlined above. He says he was robbed of it.

What the Rev. Mr. Mitchell Has to Say of and to His Parishioners.

The first number of The Visitor since the return of the Rev. Mr. Mitchell from Europe, was issued today. It is published by the pastor of the M. E. church for free distribution among his people. A few items of general interest from the current number, are given below:

At the residence of Trustee Pangborn, Tuesday evening, October 8, Charles Pangborn Lyman, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lyman, was baptised by the pastor.

Mr. Chas. E. Cokefair and family have returned to Plainfield and will soon occupy their new home at 9 Crescent avenue, which is undergoing extensive repairs.

Miss Clara Burt is again at Wellesly College, and her many friends rejoice over her excellent standing in her large class, the Sophomores.

Mr. Geo. W. Davis and family have moved to East Orange for the Winter, and identified themselves with the church activities of that place.

Mr. Clifford McGee with his violin gives great help in the music of the Juniors' class. How wonderful that so strong a fellow on the foot-ball ground can handle a bow so deftly, and draw from that most delicate of all musical instruments such strains of sweetest music.

George Angleman, Jr., who went to Kansas last June to take charge of the Methodist Episcopal church at Rosedale, has met with good success, and is very happy in his work.

The Misses Emma and Adelaide McGee have recently returned from a Summer trip to Alaska. Miss Emma will give a talk on Alaska before the Epworth League, Friday evening, Nov. 1.

Dr. Carroll has been much in demand this Fall. He has preached in many prominent pulpits, and temporarily supplied the Twenty-Fourth street Methodist Episcopal church, New York City.

The marble baptismal font, which has been placed within the chancel, was purchased in Florence, Italy, by the pastor, and presented to the church as a token of the appreciation of the long vacation granted him during the past Summer.

Dangerous Trifling.

It is not only foolish, but dangerous to trifle with indigestion or liver derangement. Take the proper remedy as soon as possible, and avoid all danger incident to delay. HAMBURG FIGS are a specific for these affections. 25c. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

To Tea Drinkers.

To enjoy a refreshing cup of tea, prepare it in an earthen or china pot, have the water fresh and boiling before steeping, and use Blend's cut leaf teas. They are specially selected by expert tasters of China, India and Japan, and are sold in the original ½ pound and larger packages unopened as imported. Messrs Barkalew & Dunn, 18 North avenue, are offering these teas at 50 cents a pound to introduce them into Plainfield's families.

A Sad Wreck.

The son of one of Plainfield's most estimable citizens was a prisoner Friday morning at police headquarters in Elizabeth, he having been arrested in that city Thursday while under the influence of drink.

When brought before Justice Hetfield he was shaking like a leaf, and begged so hard to be allowed to go to his home that the justice could not resist his appeal and permitted him to go, after imposing a fine of $2 and costs.

A Dunellen Man Robbed at Elizabeth.

About half-past ten o'clock on Monday evening, Officer Walsh, of Elizabeth, was informed that a man had snatched a two dollar bill from the hand of Jonn R. Severs, a resident of Dunellen, who was on the the station platform in Elizabeth. The officer found the accused at Union street, and arrested him, taking Severs to police headquarters also as complainant. The prisoner gave the name of John M. Gaffney and said he lived in Boston. Severs refused to make a complaint and Gaffney was discharged. He denied his guilt.—Elizabeth Journal.

Got off Easy.

Mr. John Adams, coachman for Mr. William Palmer Smith of Belvidere avenue, Netherwood, was thrown out of a low phaeton by a runaway horse on Front street, Saturday, and cut in the head just above the left eye.

The horse was one of a pair of big banged-tailed cobs recently purchased by Mr. Smith on Long Island. Mrs. Smith proposed riding to town with the coachman this morning, but he thought it would be safer to go alone as the horse had not been out in a week. Coming through Park avenue the girth broke and the shafts jumping up and down each side of the horse's head frightened him.

The animal swung the light vehicle behind him into Front street and up against a milk wagon standing at the corner of Somerset. Adams was hanging back his whole weight and strength on the lines, but he might as well have been pulling at a telegraph pole. When the phaeton struck the wagon, the former went out from under the coachman and he dropped gently in the road.

The horse ran up on the sidewalk of Yetterlein's market, turned the carriage completely over, tore himself loose and started for Rogers' fish stand. But the doors were shut in the animal's face and he was seized before he had tramped over the scores of pedestrians always on Front street at ten o'clock of Saturday mornings.

Concerning the Late David L. Runyon.

In referring to the death of the late David L. Runyon, as told in THE PRESS of Friday, the Newark Daily Advertiser of the 18th instant says:

"Mr. David L. Runyon, aged fifty-six years, and employed as a clerk by the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, at No. 752 Broad street, died of apoplexy at 8:30 o'clock this morning. He arrived at the office at the usual time, 8 o'clock, and had not been at his desk long before he complained of feeling ill. He laid down on a sofa that was in the room, and as he grew rapidly worse, Dr. Dennis was summoned. He did everything possible; but in fifteen minutes after he had been stricken Mr. Runyon was dead. The body was taken soon after to his home, at the corner of Halsey and Linden streets, where it was received by his griefstricken wife and two daughters. Mr. Runyon had not been feeling well for several days. He had just returned from a short vacation, he having taken his outings this Summer a few days at a time. He has been employed in the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company for several years.

"Mr. Runyon was one of the twelve children of Squire Runyon, of Plainfield, and was born at the old homestead, near Washington Rock, back of Plainfield. He has been employed in the insurance business since 1870. Two of his brothers have died this year; Mr. J. C. Runyon, his elder brother, died on February 28th, in nearly the same way, and Judge Runyon died in March."

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P. Entertained About Three Hundred Visiting Knights.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., of this city, entertained in an agreeable manner at Reform Hall, Friday evening, about three hundred visiting Knights, representing Grant Lodge, of Jersey City, Goodwill Lodge, No. 101, of Scotch Plains, Somerset Lodge, No. 56, of Bound Brook, Lodge of the Castle, No. 82, of Somerville, Harmony, Olive Branch and Volunteer Lodges, of Elizabeth, and Unity Lodge No. 102, of this city. The visiting Knights arrived in town about 8:30 o'clock and preceded by the Plainfield Cornet Band they were escorted to Reform Hall, where the exercises and supper took place.

Chancellor Commander John C. VanDyke, of Perseverance Lodge presided, and Assemblyman Ulrich delivered the address of welcome. Past Grand Chancellor Moses Badgley, of Newark, made a short address, after which the members of Grant Lodge, worked the Amplified Degree on one member of Perseverance Lodge, in excellent form.

Following the working of the degree Mr Wm. Chilvers, of Perseverance Lodge, rendered some vocal selections and Mr. B. R. Foord, a member of the same lodge, gave a recitation, thus bringing the secret session to a close.

The Knights then adjourned to the basement of Reform Hall, where boniface John E. Beerbower, proprietor of the City Hotel and a member of Perseverance Lodge, had set a bountiful repast for them. After supper the visitors were escorted to the lodge room where several hours were spent in speech-making, singing, etc

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, was organized nineteen years ago last Spring with charter members as follows: John R. McCall, John C. VanDyke, Jacob Wagner, Jules Canterwitz, (now of Philadelphia,) F. C. Gibbs, Eugene V. Lorton, (who for the past ten or twelve years has held the office of Keeper of Records and Seals of the Grand Lodge and who is also a member of the Supreme Lodge), Dunham Emery, Forrester Chandler, (now of Harlem), and L. B. Boolston. The lodge now has a membership of 148. During the nineteen years the lodge has only lost three members by death, and one of those, the late A. Foote, was a member but six weeks. So far as deaths are concerned, this lodge has been the most fortunate of any in the history of the Order. Three of the charter members have never drawn a cent for sick benefits. Financially, the lodge has $2,000 in the bank drawing interest, and about $800 to the credit of the benefit fund. During the coming Winter Perseverance Lodge will occupy the new home in the Hand building now being erected on East Second street.

Ayer's Pills, being convenient, efficacious, and safe, are the best cathartic, whether on land or sea, in city or country. For sick headache, indigestion, and torpid liver, they never fail. Try a box of them; they are sugar-coated.

Death of Rev. Mr. Sykes.

Rev. Mr. Sykes, formerly rector of All Saints Episcopal church of Scotch Plains, died suddenly at his home in that place Monday morning. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Saturday's Trotting Card.

Among the races already arranged for Saturday next at the Gentlemen's Driving Park Track is one between Mr. M. Quinn's "Lucy" and Nate Robbin's "Doctor;" also between Mr. Churchill's "Selim" and John Osborne's "Marcaneer." Other races will also take place on the track at that time.

An Auspicious Beginning.

Under the direction of Mr. E. J. Fitzhugh, a chorus of 100 voices forming the Plainfield Choral Society, rehearsed in Vincent Chapel Monday. The voices present promised better music even than past vocal societies. There were especially more and better tenors than ever before, and in other details the first rehearsal of the new organization was most satisfactory.

Malicious Business.

Some time during Friday night the cover of the fire-well at the corner of Fourth and New streets was lifted off by some person or persons unknown, and replaced in such a position as to make it extremely dangerous for horses treading on it. A lady informed Mr. William Wright on Saturday of the dangerous condition of the cover, and he notified Chief Doane of the Fire Department. The Chief properly adjusted it.

Runaway on Park Avenue.

Mr. Walter G. Runyon, the carpenter of East Front street, was tying his horse to a wooden beam which supports the awning in front of Justice Nash's store on Park avenue on Monday, when a passing train frightened the animal and caused a runaway. The horse made a circuit of the D. J. Boice estate lumber yard, wrecking the shafts and a wheel on the business wagon, and the animal was subsequently caught near the freight house.

Trial Postponed.

The case of the City against Patrick Newell and wife charged with keeping a disorderly house, was adjourned Wednesday, by Judge Stillman, on motion of Counsellor Fay, of Elizabeth, who appeared for the defence.

Mr. Fay requested the dismissal of the complaint so far as Mrs. Newell was concerned, holding that a married woman could not be held for trial for such an offence, as her husband was alone responsible. Judge Stillman said he would hear argument on the point when the Corporation Counsel could be present. The trial was set down for Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Hurlbut Circle Meeting.

The 102d meeting of the Hurlbut Circle, C. L. S. C., was held at the home of Miss Hasbrouck, 9 East Fifth street, last Monday evening at 7.45 o'clock. The programme prepared was as follows:

Preview to Roman History.........Mr. Larabee
Geography of Italy.........Mr. Runyon.
Earlier Inhabitants of Italy.........Mrs. Emerson
Recess.
Music.
Reading from Byron-Rome.
(Childe Harold Canto IV, Stan. 78-92.
Mrs. Gorton
How to judge a picture—
Color—Harmony.........Miss Mooney
October Chautauquan. First 20 questions on political economy. Original views, as well as mechanical answers, required.

The permanent meeting place for the season will be at the "Y" rooms, corner of North avenue and Peace street.

Who'll Pay the Jury?

After being out some hours, Monday afternoon, the jury in the Sullivan case failed to agree, being equally divided as to the guilt of the defendant charged with selling liquor on Sunday. Shortly after the result was announced, Sullivan was taken very ill, and Dr. Carman was called to attend him. The release from the strain the defendant was under during the deliberations of the jury, is supposed to be the cause of the attack.

Mr. Charles Reed was Sullivan's counsel, and having saved his client from conviction, justly refuses to pay the jury fees or any other costs. Officer Lynch was the one who "summoned the panel," and the jurymen are looking to him for their pay. But he declines also.

A Double Quartette Will Sing.

The twenty-second anniversary exercises of the Young Men's Christian Association, will be held in the First Presbyterian church, this evening at 8 o'clock. An address will be delivered by Merrill E. Gates, LL. D., President of Rutgers College; and a report of the work of the year will be given by President W. D. Murray.

The programme in full is as below. The vocal selections will be by a double quartette consisting of: Miss Addie McGee and Mrs. David Titsworth, sopranos; Miss Alice Holmes and Miss Annie Petrie, contraltos; Mr. L. H. Bigelow, Jr., and Mr. M. C. VanArsdale, tenors; Mr B. T. Barnes and Mr. Francis Runyon, bassos.

PROGRAMME:

Organ Voluntary
Anthem—"Praise the Lord".........Marsh
Scripture Reading
Prayer
Hymn No. 418
President's Report
Hymn No. 4[illegible]
Address..Merrill E. Gates, LL. D., President of Rutgers College
Offertory—"Hark, Hark My Soul".........Buck
Hymn No. 3[illegible]
Benediction

A Plainfielder Has Invented an Arc Lamp Without a Dangerous Current.

Mr. Frank E. Kinsman of Sherman avenue, has invented an arc lamp that will burn on an incandescent electric circuit. Absolute safety is thereby insured. Since the current has been turned off the death-dealing arc light wires in New York, the Sun of that city has given the Kinsman Lamp a trial, and speaks out its approval in this way:

"The electric plant in THE SUN building was intended for incandescent lighting only. The current is supplied from Thomson-Houston dynamos and its average intensity is about 77 volts. A few days ago, when many men, who know better, or ought to, were declaring that a high-tension current was necessary for successful arc lighting, THE SUN set about making a practical demonstration of the truth which the whole town could see and understand.

"The Electric Construction and Supply Company of 18 Cortlandt street, makes an arc lamp especially designed for use on low-tension currents. On a few hours' notice, General Manager E. B. Corey placed eight of these lamps in position in front of THE SUN building, and connected them with the same circuit which operates the incandescent lamps inside the building.

"The arc lamps were lighted on Monday evening, and they have broken the gloom in Franklin Square and City Hall Park every night since. No electric light company in town can supply a better light than these lamps give. In fact their light is a little clearer, a little whiter, and a little softer, while quite as brilliant as the light of an ordinary arc lamp."

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THE most medical writers claim that the successful remedy for nasal catarrh must be non-irritating, easy of application, and one that will reach all the remote sores and ulcerated surfaces. The history of the efforts to treat catarrh during the past obliges us to admit that only one remedy has met these conditions, and that is Ely's Cream Balm. This pleasant remedy has mastered catarrh as nothing else has ever done, and both physicians and patients freely concede this fact. The more distressing symptoms yield to it.

Was It a Burglar?

Mr. H. S. Mason, who resides at the east corner of Sixth and Washington streets, notified the police about 9:30 o'clock Monday night, that while certain members of his family were returning home during the evening they discovered a strange man lying on his stomach on the veranda of the unoccupied house on the opposite corner. The unoccupied house is owned by Mr. J. G. Cadmus, and that gentleman was also notified.

It is not known whether the man was a tramp seeking shelter or whether he was watching for an opportunity to rob a dwelling in the immediate vicinity.

—While chasing a prisoner on Sunday night, Officer Flanagan had the misfortune to badly sprain one of his ankles. The injury has since confined him to the house.

MISCELLANEOUS.

KASKINE,

THE NEW QUININE.

No Bad Effect.
No Headache.
No Nausea.
No Ringing Ears.
Cures Quickly.
Pleasant, Pure.

A POWERFUL TONIC.

A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

Mr. Louis Hoornbeek, of the U. S. Ship Kearsarge, writes that he sees a people almost daily who have used or are using Kaskine, and who claim from experience that it is superior to quinine in tonic and curative properties, and produces no subsequent bad effects.

Mr. John C. Scarborough, Selma, N. C., writes: I got malaria in the Southern army, and for a dozen years suffered from its debilitating effects. I was terribly run down when I heard of Kaskine, the new quinine. It helped me at once. I gained 35 pounds."

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

KASKINE CO., 168 Duane St., New York.
2-5-5

PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

CITY OF PLAINFIELD.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a warrant issued by William M. Stillman, esq., City Judge of the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union, to collect the unpaid taxes assessed on lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate, in the said city of Plainfield in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-[illegible], the subscriber, the officer nominated and appointed by the Common Council for that purpose, will on Wednesday, the 20th day of November next, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, at his [illegible] 35 Park avenue, in the City of Plainfield, sell the lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate hereinafter described, at public vendue, for the shortest time for which any person or persons will agree to take the same and pay such taxes, together with interest thereon, and all costs, fees, charges and expenses.

[illegible], Samuel C., h and l and 40 a, E. Front st., below Raymond ave.	63 00
[illegible], James, lot, Clinton ave	1 80
[illegible], est. of Cornelius, h and l, 75 E. Front st	126 00
" " lot, Dunellen ave., [illegible]	3 60
[illegible], Selina E., 3 lots, Netherwood ave, Nos. [illegible] and 24	5 40
[illegible], William	1 80
[illegible], James, h and l, Rose st	5 40
[illegible], James, h and l, Dunellen ave., near [illegible] ave	27 00
[illegible], James, 2 h and 1 28 a, North and Dunellen aves	108 00
[illegible], James, h and l, Front st., near Dunellen ave	10 80
[illegible], James, h and l, Front st., near Dunellen ave	10 80
[illegible], William, 2 h and l, Dunellen ave	34 00
[illegible], William, f 18 a, Dunellen ave	25 20
[illegible], Mrs. John O., h and l, 57 E. 5th st	40 50
[illegible], Winfield S., h and l, 1 Jacques Block, Front st	3 60
Conway, est. of Daniel, h and l, 129 W. Fourth st	9 80
[illegible], William A., 2 lots, 156 W. Eighth st	28 35
[illegible], Jacob, est. of Sarah, h and 18 a, E. Front st., near Terrill road	63 00
[illegible], Eliza, h and l, 1-½ a, South and Leland aves	27 00
[illegible], Eliza, h and l, 22 and 24 W. Second st	27 00
[illegible], Eliza, h and 5 and 68 a, E. Front st	180 00
[illegible], John, h and l, Madison ave	50 40
[illegible], Margaret, lot, Kensington ave	4 50
[illegible] " hotel, Eighth st. and Park ave	180 00
[illegible], Uriah C., h and l, Fifth st., and Madison ave	21 60
[illegible], Solomon F., h and l, 62 Park ave	30 60
[illegible], est. of Patrick or Mary, h and l, 78 W. [illegible] st	16 20
[illegible], Aur., h and l, 19 Peace st	23 40
[illegible], James H., lot, E. Second st	90
[illegible], Ann, 2 h and l, W. Third st., below Liberty st	3 06
[illegible], est. of Abram, h and l, 75 W. Third st	5 40
[illegible], P. J., lot, Evona	1 80
[illegible], Adam, h and l, Exchange alley	9 00
[illegible] Edward, lot, Lane tract	3 60
[illegible], John R., h and l, 26 Cottage place	10 80
[illegible], Randolph R., lot 5 a, E. Front st	45 00
[illegible], William H., h and l, 77 W. Third st	5 40
[illegible], Mary J., or Geo. F. Randolph, lot, [illegible]	1 80
[illegible] Mrs Emma A 7 lots Carlton ave	18 40
" " " h & 5 a, Kensington ave and LaGrande	45 00
[illegible], Aaron L h & l a, Leland ave	27 00
[illegible], Charles E h & l Kensington ave	36 00
[illegible], John h & l 84 W 3d st	3 15
O'[illegible], John O h & l 105 W 5th st	10 80
[illegible] Mrs Mary M 8 l Lane tract	10 80
[illegible], Wm J 11 a Plainfield & Sherman ave	29 70
[illegible] Mrs Elizabeth h and l Union st	27 00
[illegible] Mrs Elizabeth double h and l [illegible] Front st	18 00
[illegible] Mrs Elizabeth 11 a Plainfield and Sherman aves	29 70
Lee, [illegible] h and l 5 S 2nd st	18 00
[illegible], Mary h and l E Front st	21 15
[illegible], John C [illegible] l North ave and [illegible]	5 40
[illegible] M F 64 W 2d st h and l	9 90
" h and l New st adj above	4 60
[illegible] Caroline T l W 5th st adj 43	6 30
[illegible] Caroline T h and lot 13 New st	14 40
" 1 adj 88 E 2d st	3 60
[illegible] Randolph h and l 54 Plainfield av	16 [illegible]
[illegible] Lucy A h and lot 15 W 5th st	23 40
[illegible] Mrs Elizabeth S h and l 25 Madison ave	45 90
[illegible], Wm H h and l 112 W 4th st	7 20
[illegible], Chas 2 h and l 33 and 35 Plainfield ave	16 20
[illegible], W F S lots 17 to 25, 5th [illegible] Lexington	1 80
[illegible], Amasa B h and l Broadway and [illegible]	48 60
[illegible], Thomas 2 l 2 & 3 Richmond st	5 40
[illegible] h and l 51 [illegible] 5th st	32 40
[illegible] Anna M executrix, barn and l Broadway and Cedar Brook	45 00
[illegible] Anna M executrix h and l 9th st near Park ave	48 60
[illegible] Anna M estate D farm 110 a Broadway and Prospect ave	154 80
[illegible], James S h and l Park ave near [illegible]	4 80
[illegible] Anna M brick h Broadway & Kensington ave	45 00
[illegible], Sigmund C l 200 ft Front st near Clinton ave	7 20
[illegible], Joseph or Dean estate l Prospect ave	5 40
[illegible], Joseph or Dean estate Ravine [illegible]	10 80
[illegible], Joseph or Dean estate l s for [illegible] and Clinton aves	3 60
[illegible] Charles J 4 h and l South ave near [illegible] ave, balance	4 77
[illegible] Charles J l 34x307 Midway and [illegible] aves	7 20
[illegible] Caroline J 33 a and 6 l Pemberton, [illegible] and Elizabeth sts	37 80
[illegible], Daniel 2 h and l North ave, [illegible]	12 60
[illegible] Jas R h and l 29 La Grande ave	37 60
[illegible] Josephine W h and l 120 E Front [illegible]	72 00
[illegible], Richard A l 6th and Union sts	3 40
[illegible] h and l 9 Peace st	36 00
[illegible], David or Hattie Colburn l E 3d st	[illegible]
[illegible], O l E 3d st	5 40
[illegible], Maggie h and l 51 E [illegible] st	32 [illegible]
[illegible] David F h and l J [illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible] Henry W l Richmond ave	3 60
[illegible], Jas F h and l 16 Elm st	19 80
[illegible], Lydia l George st	3 60
[illegible], Elias h and l 149 Central ave	97 20
[illegible], heirs of John 30 a Randolph rd	54 00
[illegible], Mary S h and 1¼ a Woodland [illegible]	8 00
[illegible] Emily S l Lake st	10 80
[illegible], Richard 2 h and l South av	[illegible]
[illegible], est. of J. C., h and l, 25 W. Second st	36 00
[illegible], James H 4¼ a Broadway	8 10
[illegible], estate of Daniel 30 l bought of [illegible] Charity	80 40
[illegible], Henry l W 4th st	1 80
[illegible], Judah L h 7th and Clinton av	[illegible]
[illegible] estate of Henry h & l 30 W 6th st	19 80
[illegible] Sarah A h & l 5 Peace street	18 00
[illegible], Jeremiah h & l 2 Central av	27 00
[illegible] estate of Stephen 25 a Broadway & [illegible]	27 00
[illegible] Catherine 8 h and l 73 E 3d street	27 00
[illegible] M h, h and 4 a Clinton ave and Dunellen ave	14 40
[illegible], Frances 2 h and l 106 W Front st, balance	17 00
[illegible], Wm l E 3d street	2 70
[illegible], Jane h and l 73 W 3d street	3 15
[illegible] Wm H l Clinton and 6th street	8 10
[illegible], Franklin h, 12 a Front street and Terrill Road	63 00
[illegible] Lucretia H h and l 50 W 6th st	36 00

Witness my hand this 29th day of July, A. D., 1889.
VINCENT W. NASH,
Special Policeman and Collector of Delinquent Taxes

DEATHS.

BROWN—In this city, Oct. 19, Harry Macy, only son of Edwin E. and Anna L. Brown, aged 7 years, [illegible] months, 8 days.

COIT—Oct. 22, 1889, Mrs Gurdon S. Coit, in the [illegible] year of her age.
Funeral at her late residence, 26 LaGrande avenue, Friday, at 4 P. M. Interment at Greenwood, Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

SYKES—On Monday morning, 21st inst., at his residence in Scotch Plains, the Rev. Chas. L. Sykes, suddenly, of heart disease.

WANTS AND INFORMATION.

Twenty-five Cents for one insertion of three lines, Each additional line five cents extra. Fifteen cents for each subsequent insertion of ads.

FOR SALE at a Bargain—A W. W. Greener Twelve-bore Hammerless Gun, 1 W. W. Richards's Field Gun, [illegible] Bush Gun. Enquire at No. 27 [illegible], Plainfield, N. J. 8-21-tf

STORAGE—FIRST-CLASS ACCOMMODATIONS in [illegible] partitioned rooms. All thoroughly cleaned and free from vermin. Separate rooms if desired. Apply at BOSTON hat store, or of owner, [illegible]. Two buggies for sale cheap. [illegible]

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best. [illegible]
3-6

MISCELLANEOUS.

FIREMEN'S FAIR.

Amoskeag Council No. 25, Order American Firemen,

Will hold a GRAND FAIR in DUNLAP HALL, Front and Grove streets, Plainfield, N. J., from OCT. 21 to 26—one week.

GREAT BEAN CONTEST!

Every person holding an admission ticket will be given a ticket entitling them to a prize, worth from one cent to $50, to be given out on the last night of the Fair. All prizes to be numbered and given out according to numbers of tickets. NO BOOK CONTESTS IN THIS FAIR.

Committee of Arrangements—A. Saltzman, Chairman, J. A. Hubbard, Treasurer, J. B. Gable, Secretary, J. B. Heath, J. E. Crater, R. Hope. 10-17

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT!

Boston, 4 months, over 175,000 persons; New York, 7 months, over 250,000 persons; Philadelphia, 13 weeks, over 150,000 persons. The most "Marvelous, Refined, Interesting and Instructive Exhibition of the Age, and the ONLY ONE OF THE KIND IN THE WORLD."

Prof. George Bartholomew

And his famous and unequalled

24 Educated Horses!

Do everything but talk. Directed entirely by spoken language.

MUSIC HALL,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.,

Week Oct. 28. 6 Evenings.
Wednesday, Saturday Afternoons, 2.30.

SPECIAL PRICES:

Balcony, Adults, 25c. Children, 15c.
First Floor, " 35c. " 25c.

All Reserved Seats, 50c. For sale on and after Saturday, Oct. 26, for all the 9 performances, at the Drug Stores of L. W. Randolph and J. G. Miller. 10-17

Parlor Stoves

Othello Ranges,

Steam and Hot Water Heating

Hot Air Heating.

Hardware,
Plumbing,
Tinning,
And House Furnishings.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 East Front Street.

TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11-1-tf

Don't spoil your Feet with Cheap Shoes!

WEAR THE

BURT & PACKARD

See that every pair is stamped
"Korrect Shape."
BURT & PACKARD
KORRECT SHAPE

Don't allow your dealer to palm off any substitute, as we have arranged to supply the "Korrect Shape" Shoes in any style for Gent's, Boys or Youths, and prepay all delivery charges where they are not sold.

You can only find them in Plainfield, N. J., at DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S, 22 WEST FRONT ST.

Made in four grades, HAND-MADE, HAND-WELT, BURTWELT and MACHINE SEWED, which is stamped on the sole in addition to the trade-mark above.

PACKARD & FIELD.
(Successors to Burt & Packard)
Brockton, Mass.
9-12-3md

Stoves. Lamps.

Elegant! Cheap!

Stoves cleaned and put up.

Glass and putty.

J. C. PIERSON, Jr.,

Telephone 126. 42 WEST FRONT ST.

M. N. TERRILL & CO.,
UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,
No. 29 E. FRONT STREET.

M. N. TERRILL.— GEO. W. COLE.
Practical Embalmer, and assistant to the late firm of Ford & Stiles. 8-17-tf

A. M. RUNYON & SON,
UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS,
60 PARK AVENUE.
Telephone Call 40,
RESIDENCE—48 MADISON AVENUE.
Telephone Call 27,
"Office of Hillside Cemetery."

P. CASEY & SON,
UNDERTAKERS.
OFFICE—No. 1 Somerset St.

Residence, No. 12 Third street, corner New, Plainfield, N. J. Everything pertaining to the business always on hand, and lower than any other firm in the State. All Calls Promptly Answered Day or Night.—d1y1

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - City Editor.

—Oh, for a Y. M. C. A. building.

—It is said that potatoes are going to be high this Winter. What's the matter with laying in a stock of ladders?

—In the midst of the snow storm of Wednesday, a bunch of pear blossoms were picked and laid on the writer's desk.

—The Newark Advertiser says yesterday: "The editor of the Plainfield News classed among [illegible] wedding gifts a baptismal font."

—Election day is coming along lively and every effort will be put forth to corner the independent voter and get him to vote the straight ticket.

—Mr. Charles [illegible] resumed work on his new building on West Second street, yesterday, and the work will be pushed rapidly forward to completion.

—Special Officer Hope on Saturday afternoon dispersed a crowd of overgrown boys on East Fourth street, who were watching two of their number engage in a fight.

—Mr. J. G. Miller, the druggist, has a display of very handsome Knight Templar badges in his show window on East Front street, which attracts considerable attention.

—Telephone poles have again been erected on Liberty street, where they were cut down by order of the property owner, during so much excitement, some months ago.

—The telephone Company yesterday erected a large sixty foot pole at the intersection of Park and North avenues, to replace the smaller pole which was first located there.

—There was a continuous discharge of musketry in North Plainfield to the north of the city, between nine and ten o'clock, Monday night, but the cause could not be ascertained.

—Louis Hermann, a young man living at Netherwood, killed a flat headed adder snake on the mountain Saturday. The snake measured four feet in length and showed fight.

—A seventy-five foot iron smokestack has been placed in position at the Oil Cloth Works. The stack arrived from New York on a truck, and two men were sent out to erect it.

—People are beginning to think of the holidays and consider what they will buy for presents. Consult our advertising columns; trade with those who advertise and you will be happy.

—A 400 light Edison incandescent electric plant is being placed in the Scott Printing Machine Works, to light the office and the upper stories where all the fine lathe work is now done.

—The Somerset county fair committee met at Somerville on Friday and audited the various claims contracted during the recent fair. The committee reported that about $700 would be realized from the fair.

—The date of the Fall games of the Plainfield Bicycle Club has been necessarily changed from Nov. 21, to Thursday, Nov. 14, on account of the appearance of a grand English Concert Company in Music Hall on Nov. 21.

—A party of Insurance men from New York, came to Plainfield, Monday, and were driven out to [illegible] Corners, where they viewed the debris from the recent fire which destroyed [illegible] Cole's farm house, barn and other buildings.

—Central Engine No. [illegible] attached to the Somerville way train, due here at 2:20 o'clock, burned the [illegible] chest on the fireman's side, when near this city Monday. Engineer "Pony" McClarren started out for Somerville, a few minutes late.

—The subject for Bible study, at the Young People's meeting at the Crescent Avenue church, Friday evening, will be—"Promised Blessings, Promised Rewards." The leader will be Mr. F. H. Andrews. All are invited, and are requested to bring their own Bibles.

—Mr. Frank McInerney, a brother of little Maggie McInerney, who was killed on the railroad in front of her home on Thursday evening, requests us to state that the child was not sent out to pick up chips, but was playing on the track when she met her death.

—James M. Dunn, the grocer of Park avenue, advertises sweet cider at 20 cts. a gallon. The boys in The Press office can attest its excellence through the generosity of Mr. Dunn, and anyone in need of a first-class article is requested to call at 20 Park avenue.

—The citizens of Plainfield have a rich treat in store for them in the address to be delivered by Dr. M. E. Gates, President of Rutgers College, at the 22d anniversary of the Y. M. C. A., to be held in the First Presbyterian church, Thursday of this week, at 8 o'clock.

—It has been ascertained that the horse belonging to Mr. W. H. Totten of Pruden's alley, which died with the rabies a few days ago, was bitten by a dog at Fanwood, several weeks ago, and at the time a number of cows died in that vicinity from the effect of a dog's bite.

—The first grand ball under the auspices of the Park Avenue and Oriental Social Clubs, will be held at The Crescent, Thanksgiving Eve., Wednesday evening, November 27. The music will be furnished by Prof. Boswald of New York. Tickets 25 cents, can be had of the members.

—The Committee on Constitution and By-Laws for the co-operative grocery store that is being formed in this city, met at Miller's Hotel, Thursday, and adopted a set of rules to govern the association, which the members will be called together in a few days to consider and adopt.

—If the party of four couples of young people who made the [illegible] the vicinity of Park avenue and Second Street, Monday, and later tested their lungs on the Washington avenue bridge, will send their names and address to this office they will each be presented with a chromo, and no questions asked.

—In spite of so strong a competitor as electricity, the business of the Plainfield Gas Light Company at present is larger than ever before. There has been a steady and increased private consumption for the past many months, and even where electricity has been introduced, there has been no decrease in the use of gas except in one or two cases only.

—At the regular meeting of the Park Avenue Social Club, held in their rooms on East Front street, last evening, the semi-annual election of officers took place which resulted in the election of the following with the exception of Vice President: President—[illegible] C. Searing; Vice President—L. C. [illegible]; Secretary—J. C. [illegible]; Treasurer—J. C. Martin; Sergeant-at-arms—[illegible] Martin.

A Delicate Operation.

Harry, the seven-year-old son of Mr. Edward Brown, of North avenue, is lying dangerously ill with membranous croup. The child's condition became so critical Saturday that in order to prolong his life it was found to be necessary to try a last resort. Accordingly, Dr. Endicott, assisted by Drs. Long and Murray, that morning performed the delicate and difficult operation of opening the child's windpipe from the outside of the throat and inserting a silver tube in the opening. The little sufferer died about midnight of the above day.

Personals.

Mrs. J. E. Pierson and two sons of Clinton avenue, will this week remove to Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Bass, Jr., are visiting at the home of Mr. Bass' parents, on West Eighth street.

The body of the late David L. Runyon, who died at Newark, on Friday, was interred in this city, Monday.

Mr. F. E. Kiteman of this city, was this week granted a patent for an electrically operated ice cutting machine.

Mr. W. A. Coddington is again at his post of duty, after a month's absence, spent pleasantly in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. S. B. Hope of Third and Richmond streets, is confined to the house with an attack bordering on pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kirkner will tomorrow take up their residence on 72d street, New York city, for the Winter.

The family of Mr. Henry C. Squires has returned to Plainfield after an absence of five months, and is again at home on Broadway.

Mr. Andrew Huff has gone to Upper New York State, where he will take charge of certain Railroad work, for Mr. John Cameron of this city.

Miss Florence V. Bird, who has been lying dangerously ill at her home, on West Second street, is so far recovered as to be able to go out again.

Ex-Councilman S. H. T. Wilbur of East Third street, has been confined to the house for the past two weeks, suffering from an attack of diphtheria.

Miss Fanny Wiley, of 26 Manning avenue, North Plainfield, has returned from a three months' trip to New York State and the Adirondack mountains.

Mrs. Geo. L. VanEmburgh of this city, and Miss M. Colwell of Long Island, returned on Saturday from Greenwood Lake, after an absence of over two weeks.

The New York Tribune Tuesday says:—"Mr. J. Wesley Johnson will give an illustrated lecture this evening on 'Ireland and Scotland,' in the East 61st Street M. E. church."

Miss Ewing of New York has been engaged as drawing teacher in the public schools, to succeed Miss Burt, who has been obliged to give up her position on account of ill health.

"Mr. Aaron C. Martin informs us," says the Bound Brook Chronicle, "that his brother Joshua is lying very low at his home in Plainfield. The sick one is an old resident of this vicinity."

At the residence of the bride on East Second street, Thursday Oct. 31, at four P. M., will occur the marriage of Mr. John Furnass, of Wahsville, Ohio, and Miss Ella D. Clifton, of this city.

The funeral of little Maggie McInerney, who was killed by the cars on Thursday, took place in St. Mary's church, Sunday afternoon, and was largely attended. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

David M. Runyon, brother of the late Judge E. W. Runyon, and the late J. C. Runyon, of the Central Press, died suddenly on Friday in Newark. He is the third out of five brothers that have died since March of this year.

Twin boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. George Whiteley, of North avenue, on Thursday morning. Everybody is doing well, and The Press unites with the other tenants of North avenue in commendation of the honor thrust upon us all.

At the Broadway Theatre, New York city, Sunday night, Mr. Geo. Thatcher of this city gave "a few minutes talk on [illegible] matters." The occasion was a testimonial concert and presentation of pennant to the New York base ball club.

Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Craig, accompanied by Miss Mattie Boston of Stoney Point, N. Y., are visiting at the residence of Mrs. I. H. Hall, on East Front street. The latter, who is the mother of Mrs. Craig, celebrated the 76th anniversary of her birthday, Friday.

At the convention of the New Jersey Republican League held at Elizabeth, recently, Charles A. Reed, Esq., and Dr H. B. Carroll of North Plainfield, were chosen among the delegates to the national convention of the Leagues to be held in Chattanooga, next Spring.

Mrs. Dr. T. H. Tomlinson of this city, addressed a meeting in Temperance Hall, New Brunswick, Sunday afternoon. The Fredonian of that place says: "Mrs. Tomlinson is an able and eloquent lecturer, and draws large audiences wherever it is known that she is to speak."

At 1 o'clock Tuesday morning another little boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Simmonds, of Ninth street and Broadway. The youngest of the Miss Simmonds anxiously asked: "Are you going to keep it, Papa?" and was much pleased by an affirmative answer.

It is stated upon good authority that all of the Republican candidates for the Assembly convention have withdrawn and unanimously insist upon the renomination of Assemblyman Ulrich of this city. Whether or not Mr. Ulrich will accept the nomination is not known.

At an extensive public exhibition that is being held in Santa Barbara, Cal., the first prize for portraits in oil was awarded Miss Ella V. Thorn, daughter of Mr. M. M. Thorn, of this city. Her picture of a "Dog's Head," painted from "Mack" who all Plainfield knows, was given Honorable mention.

Mrs. E. S. Honeyman, widow of Dr. John Honeyman and the mother of editor A. V. D. Honeyman, of Somerville, died at her home in New Germantown on the 13th inst., from the effects of a fall about three weeks ago. She was an aged lady—73 years old—and blind, and in trying to move about from one place to another stepped off a porch.

Miss Alice Burt, the school teacher, whose many misfortunes have been told in these columns, was placed on a stretcher Friday afternoon and started by the 3.51 train for New York. Dr. T. S. Davis accompanied the patient to the Albany boat, in which city she will be cared for by a cousin, the nearest relative the unfortunate woman possesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown, of North avenue, have the sympathy of a host of friends and acquaintances in the loss of their seven-year-old son, Harry, which occurred at his parent's residence on Saturday evening at a little after eleven o'clock, of membranous croup. The operation successfully performed on the child's throat on Saturday, only prolonged his life for a day.

Mr. E. H. Morey, for so many years the Manager of the Park House, this city, during its most successful seasons, is now living on St. James place, one of Brooklyn's aristocratic neighborhoods on the Hill, where he has recently purchased a handsome house. Mr. and Mrs. Morey's many friends in Plainfield will be glad to hear of the prosperity of him and his charming and hospitable wife.

After an absence of eight years in London, Eng., Mr. John Campbell, formerly of this city, returned to Plainfield on Saturday to visit his aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fitman Campbell of North Plainfield. Mr. Campbell will return to Europe after settling up some business transactions here. He will be remembered as the patentee of the gutta percha wagon body, dash-board and blinders for horses.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Daft and their young son, will leave in a few days for the Adirondacks where Mr. Daft will find needed rest and seek days of entire freedom from professional and business cares. The venison still enjoying active life in the neighborhood where he will locate, had better hustle. They don't know what kind of an electric dynamite under load of buck shot will be started on a journey through their interiors.

Mrs. Henry VanMiddlesworth, of 3 Elmwood place, is sojourning at Jersey City and Harlem for two weeks.

An evening sociable was held at the residence of Mr. V. Randolph, at New Market, last Tuesday. Invitations were sent out and accepted by many friends in this city.

Mr Wm H. Egbert, formerly of this city, and for years past a prominent cowboy in the far West, is in Plainfield again after having been searched for months ago in vain, and given up as dead.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Temperance Aid Society, announced to take place in Reform Hall, Tuesday afternoon, was postponed for one week, on account of the small attendance. On Tuesday next officers will be elected and other important business transacted.

Miss Susie Varney, of Boston, Mass., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. E. C. Varney, of 29 Somerset street. Although Miss Varney is a resident of ultra cultured Boston, she is most expressive and sincere in her admiration of Plainfield, and thinks as all others do, that it is one of the garden spots of America.

Just before ten o'clock Wednesday, the death occurred at her home on La Grande avenue, of Mrs. Gurdon S. Coit, in her 75th year. She had been seriously ill for some time, but the cause of death was old age. The funeral will be held at 23 LaGrande avenue, Friday afternoon, at four o'clock. Interment at Greenwood, Saturday morning, at eleven o'clock. Mrs. Coit is a sister of Mr. Charles S. Guion.

Merrill Edwards Gates, who will speak at the First Presbyterian church, Thursday night, at the Y. M. C. A., Anniversary, is a gentleman of unusual ability. Since he was called to the presidency of Rutgers a few years ago, that college has grown rapidly in wealth and members. Dr. Gates is still a young man, but he has a wide reputation not only as an educator but as a writer and a speaker of unusual force and brilliancy.

Invitation Sociable.

The members of the Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein gave an invitation sociable at their hall on Somerset street, on Monday. A large representation of the members and their friends were present and enjoyed the evening in dancing, etc. Refreshments were also served.

Raising the Telephone Wires.

The N. Y. & N. J. Telephone Co., has a force of nine men at work in this city substituting telephone poles, ranging in height from 50 to 65 feet, in place of the ones now in use. The company's object is to raise the wires above the trees so that the service will not be interfered with.

The Tramp Nuisance.

The cool weather has brought around again the usual number of tramps, and people are being accosted by them for alms much to their annoyance. There should be some action taken to rid the city of this growing evil as some of the nomads are desperate characters and would do almost anything for money.

DR. KETCHAM HER SPONSOR.

To the Editor of The Press:—I observe in your edition of yesterday the name of Mrs. Chandor brought before the public in a somewhat unpleasant light. I therefore beg leave, as much less a stranger in Plainfield than Mrs. Chandor, to say to the Plainfield people through you—that while I know nothing of Mr. Chandor, or of Mrs. Chandor's relations to him, I do know that many of our noblest women have been infelicitously married, and I also know that Mrs. Chandor is an American, and a member of one of the most honorable and refined families in the city of New York, whose acquaintance and friendship I esteem it a privilege to enjoy.

Mrs. Chandor is my tenant, and since I ceased keeping house two years ago, has with her unusually bright and interesting children lived in my house in Fifth street; and during that time both I and my daughter have seen much of Mrs. Chandor as a tenant, and neighbor and friend, and know her to be a true, just, refined Christian woman. I write this without any consultation with Mrs. Chandor and the more freely because she is an Episcopalian and not a Presbyterian.

K. P. KETCHAM,
Pastor First Presbyterian church.
Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 17, 1889.

New Location of Street Letter Boxes.

CITY.

Front street—at Richmond, Peace, Somerset, Madison avenue, and Plainfield avenue.

Second street—at Washington street, Park avenue, and Central avenue; Second street, (South)—at Liberty street, and Muhlenberg place.

North avenue—at Station and Park avenue.

Fifth street—at Franklyn place, Peace street, Park avenue and Central avenue.

Liberty street—between 5th and 6th.

Seventh street—at Franklyn place, Sycamore street, Madison avenue and Plainfield avenue.

Eighth street—at Park avenue and Central avenue.

Ninth street—at Second place.

Broadway—at Ninth street and Carlton avenue.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Somerset St.—at Chatham and Grand-View.

Manning avenue—at Westervelt and Warren.

Washington avenue—at RockView and Willow avenues.

Duer and Emily streets.

Mercer avenue—at Grove street and Sycamore avenue.

COLLECTIONS.

First collection is made at 5.30 A. M. Two collections made after that to go on 1.45 and 5.30 P. M. mails. Sunday collection is made by 3 o'clock P. M.

THE COMING FAIR.

At a meeting of the officers of the Crescent Avenue church—when the matter of raising fifteen thousand dollars for the new Sunday school building was talked over—as no one had any faith that the whole amount could be raised at once, it was suggested that part of the amount be raised by means of a fair or entertainment of some kind.

As the choir had been very successful five years ago in raising twelve hundred dollars toward the new organ, and as they seemed the most tangible body, it was suggested that the matter be brought before them. They reluctantly consented and in addition to individual subscriptions by each member, pledged themselves to raise fifteen hundred dollars expecting the hearty cooperation of the congregation.

The statement was made that the whole amount was raised, and from that time a misunderstanding has arisen and the choir have been much embarrassed in their work, being met by the remark that the whole amount was raised, and if the choir pledged themselves to give fifteen hundred dollars why did they not do it, and not call on others to assist them?

At the teachers' quarterly meeting last evening, the matter was brought up, and as the Sunday school was the body most interested, and should as a body take an active part in providing for the chapel, it was voted that the choir receive the cooperation of the whole school in the fair which it was hoped would be held in the new chapel early in December. As there has been delay with the lumber it may have to be postponed, but in the meantime, committees will be formed and the whole matter be gotten in running order.

"AUTUMNAL SERVICES."

Autumnal services were held in many of the churches, Sunday, that were most appropriate to the season as well as a means of pointing impressive lessons.

The Rev. Mr. Schenck took as his text a part of the sixth verse of the 64 chapter of Isaiah: "We all do fade as a leaf." The sermon was a particularly fine one. During all of it the pastor held in his hand a beautifully tinted maple leaf. Mrs. Seitz, of the Reformed church of Easton, was the soprano of the occasion. Her voice could not but give satisfaction to all who heard her.

The Rev. Charles Bayard Mitchell, of the Methodist Episcopal church, also conducted a special service appropriate to coming of the Fall season. There was responsive reading and singing by the congregation from a printed souvenir programme, on one page of which was tied with red ribbon, a bunch of Autumn leaves. Beneath them was the scriptural quotation, "We all do fade as the leaf."

Young People's Meeting.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the First Presbyterian church, celebrated its part of the dedication exercises of the church, which was postponed at the time of the dedication services for various reasons, Thursday. The attendance was large, and an interesting programme was rendered. Mr. E. St. John presided and made a few explanatory remarks. He also introduced the speakers.

The exercises opened with an organ voluntary by Dr. E. W. Hodges, followed by a Jubilate Deo, of Dudley Buck's, by the choir, and responsive reading. The announced speaker for the evening was Rev. Francis E. Clark, otherwise known as Father Endeavor Clark, and that learned divine delivered an interesting and able address on the advantages of the Christian Endeavor. Such an address as that delivered by Rev. Mr. Clark that evening, is a guarantee of the flourishing condition of the Christian Endeavor.

Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut also delivered an interesting address on Sunday School work, a subject upon which the Doctor is always "at home." The Doctor's remarks were calculated to strengthen and stimulate those interested in the work. He also offered prayer at the close of his remarks.

A special feature of the exercises was the singing by the double quartette composed of the following: Miss Alice Holmes, the Misses Petrie, Mrs. David Titsworth, Messrs Lucius H. Biglow, Jr., M. C. VanArsdale, Frank Runyon and David Titsworth. The part song "Sing, O Heavens," by the choir, was exceedingly good.

AUTUMN NUPTIALS.

The Wharton-Jackson Wedding, Its Bridal Party and the Gowns.

There took place in the Methodist Episcopal church, Thursday even'g, one of the most thoroughly admirable weddings Plainfield's best people have ever witnessed. The entire ceremony was essentially English in form and completely charming in its environments; while the wedding party was a beautifully arranged setting to the handsome principals—Carrie Louise Jackson, only daughter of James Wesley Jackson, Esq., of the Crescent, and Clifton Wharton, Jr., of Pittsburgh.

Although admission to the church was only available upon presentation of an engraved card of invitation, long before six o'clock, the hour of the ceremony, the auditorium and gallery were crowded by the families of the city's highest circles. The altar rail was wound with smilax, while inside it, and grouped upon the pulpit and its steps, were tiers of exotics making a mass of deep green of graceful palm and other artistic leaves, brightened in a few places with the pure white lilies of the calla only.

Hidden behind all this was the keyboard of the organ where Henry Eyre Browne—organist of Dr. Talmage's Tabernacle—rendered a choice selection of classical music. Just before the ceremony, a pathway of pure white cloth was spread from the canopy to the satin cushion at the lower step of the altar where the couple knelt for the minister's blessing and benediction.

The bridal party was headed by the ushers in conventional evening costume including white vests and pearl colored undressed kid gloves. White roses from the bride's boquet adorned the lappels of their coats. They were followed by four of the handsomest gowned bridesmaids ever looked upon—Miss Carrie Streuli and Miss Caroline Knowland, of this city, Miss Etta Wharton, sister of the groom, and Miss Minerva Handen, of Brooklyn. They wore frocks of pale Nile green crepe de chine over silk, trimmed with knotted fringe, and deep collars of white point d' alencon lace; white gloves and satin slippers to match their frocks.

Next in the bridal procession was the Maid de Honor, Miss Minnie French, niece of the bride, in white mousseline de soie, over white silk. She carried a handsome boquet of white roses, as did the bridesmaids. The bride followed on the arm of her father. Her gown was unusually rich, even for a bride. It was of the heaviest corded silk trimmed with quantities of point lace and orange blossoms. The brilliancy of it all was added to by the diamonds she wore, the gifts of the groom.

Awaiting the bride at the altar steps, were the groom and his brother, Mr. J. Harding Page Wharton. The ushers were: Messrs James DeGraff, Andrew McKinney and Marion Ackerman, of this city; Edward McKnight and Benjamin Campbell Bakewell, of Pittsburgh; and E. Reynolds Blagden, of New York. The Episcopal ceremony was used, and the Rev. A. H. Tuttle, formerly of this city, and now of Baltimore, officiated. It was all very impressive and the responses were particularly distinct and fervent.

The bride's mother who sat, of course, at the left of the aisle, wore black velvet and brocade, en traine. The groom's mother wore heavy black satin trimmed with cut steel passamenterie. Following the ceremonies, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, to the immediate families and friends only, of Mr. and Mrs. Wharton, Jr. One of the most extensive and costly suppers was spread by Clark, New York's celebrated caterer. The bride and groom took a late train bound East.

Those present at the ceremonies included guests from Pittsburgh, Grand Rapids, Philadelphia, Brooklyn and New York. The Rev. Dr. Hurlbut and Mrs. Hurlbut, were present; also the Rev. Dr. Ketcham and Miss Ketcham; the Rev. James R. Bryan, of Tottenville, formerly of this city; the Rev. Wm. M. Day, now of Newark; and Mr. George Vincent, and his mother the wife of Bishop John H. Vincent, of Buffalo.

The groom occupies a confidential and very lucrative position in the New York office of the National Tube Works Co., a wealthy corporation of Pittsburgh. The bride's father is one of Plainfield's wealthiest citizens, and an executor of the late Jesse Hoyt, of New York. Upon their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Jr., will reside with Mrs. Wharton's parents. Previous to the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Wharton, senior, and the Misses Wharton, were the guests of Mrs. J. W. Jackson; Messrs Bakewell, McKnight, Blagden and J. H. P. Wharton, were the guests of Mrs. R. C. Dingee, of East Fifth street, and the Rev. Mr. Bryan, was the guest of Mrs. Edward Winter.

—Oh please move that unsightly freight house, its overcrowded tracks and inconvenient yard, to the other end of town.

President Gates Will Speak Here.

The twenty-second anniversary of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city will be held in the First Presbyterian church, Thursday evening of this week, at 8 o'clock. Merrill E. Gates, LL. D., President of Rutgers College, has been secured to deliver the address.

Broke His Arm.

Mario Ferrer, of Colombia, South America, fell from a horizontal bar, Wednesday, in the Harned Academy Gymnasium, on Park avenue, where he is a student. His arm was broken above the elbow, but it is knitting most satisfactorily and he will soon be able to use it again.

$25 and Costs.

The sentence of George Sanders, of North Plainfield, in the Somerset County Court Friday, was a fine of $25 and costs. Judge Bartine also severely reprimanded him. A petition for mercy signed by twelve members of the Grand Jury that indicted Sanders, had been presented the Court.

To Tell the Children No [illegible] the Bell.

The clapper of the Crescent Avenue church bell fell out Sunday, but was put back again in time to be rung for morning service. It was probably cracked in falling, however, and broke in the afternoon, so it was only possible to summon the children to school by tolling.

Burglars Around.

The police were summoned by telephone to Mr. John Cuthbert's residence on West Seventh street, late Thursday, by the sole occupant of the house, a woman, who declared that men were prowling around the premises. Officers Lynch and Flanagan responded to the call, but when they arrived at the place they found everything about the house intact. Special Officer Mattox remained at the house over night.

With Gold Medals to Winners.

The second annual Fall games of the Plainfield Bicycle Club, will be held at The Crescent, Thursday evening, November 14. The events will include a quarter-mile run between members of Leal's and the High School; a sack race, quarter-mile handicap, three-legged race, running high jump and consolation race, to members of the Club only; and a 70-yard dash, one-mile race on safety bicycles, hurdle race and half-mile run, open to everybody.

Choked to Death by Small Boys.

Under the above caption, the New York Tribune Thursday last said, which is news to the people living in the immediate vicinity:

"James Kelly, a lad thirteen years old, who lived at Oak Tree, three miles from Plainfield, with three companions went into the woods near Plainfield on Tuesday to gather nuts. Kelly was gathering them up when other lads about Kelly's age appeared and attacked him. During the struggle Kelly was thrown to the ground and a chestnut burr was forced into his mouth. He began to choke and strangle. His assailants became alarmed and ran away, leaving him lying on the ground unconscious and bleeding from the nose and mouth. Kelly was conveyed to his home by his companions, but he died without regaining consciousness. The identity of the boys who attacked Kelly has not been established. The authorities are making an investigation."

KILLED ON THE RAIL.

Maggie McInerney, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. John McInerney of No. 111 South Second street, was struck and instantly killed by the East bound Philadelphia express train which is due in this city at 5:30 o'clock P. M., last evening.

The child was on the track in front of her home, picking chips, when the locomotive struck her, hurling her twenty feet in the air. When picked up and carried into the house by her brothers, it was found that the skull had been fractured, and that the right arm and leg were broken. The face was recognizable, and bore only a few slight scratches. Death was instantaneous.

Morgue-keeper Casey took charge of the remains, and notified County Physician Westrott. The latter gave a permit in accordance with the facts.

The funeral took place from St. Mary's church on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock.

KNIGHTS OF HONOR.

Wetumpka Lodge, 3,401, Knights of Honor, of this city, met Thursday, with Brother John H. Doane in the chair. An agreeable and pleasant entertainment was provided by the Entertainment Committee, and a large number of friends and members were present.

Miss Hall, from Brooklyn, recited quite a number of selections; while Miss D. Tillwager's vocal solos and Mrs. B. Lowrssen's piano performance, were greatly enjoyed. Instrumental music was furnished by Messrs Rogers and Conde.

Brother P. D., Haffner, in a very neat speech, presented Brother P. D., C. J. Feytel, with a handsome gold badge in the name of his friends of Wetumpka for his services since the organization of the Lodge. At the close of the entertainment there was dancing and a very satisfactory evening was spent. Wetumpka Lodge, 3,401, is a growing Lodge.

REFORM HALL.

An address of great interest was delivered by Aaron M. Powell, Esq., in Reform Hall, Sunday night, before a good sized audience. He commenced by detailing the enormous cost of the drink habit in England and on the Continent of Europe, and both the mighty power wielded and the terrible results produced by the manufacture, sale and use of alcoholic beverages. Then going onward with his chosen subject he enumerated many working agencies in England for advancing the cause of temperance, making special allusion to one society presided over by the Bishop of London, an outspoken and consistent total abstainer, and to others of like significance, as well as to the actual experience of an English Temperance Hospital and a Life Insurance Company, both of which proved beyond dispute the grand benefits attained through the practical prohibition of intoxicants. Mr. Powell was listened to with close attention.

President Harper was at his post of duty, as were likewise Mr. Vanderbeek and a full choir. Mr. Eden Boice offered prayer.

Young People's League.

Following are the topics for the meetings of the Young People's League of the First Baptist church for the months of October, November and December, together with a list of the officers of the League:

OCTOBER.

20—"The Only Way," John 14, 6; Acts 4, 12; 27—"The Believers' Security," Psalm 46.

NOVEMBER.

3—"The Pearl of Great Price," Prov. 3, 13-17; 10—"The Golden Rule," Matt. 7, 12; Rom. 13, 8; 17—"Slippery Places," Psalm 1, 1; Prov. 4, 14-19; 24—"Come," Matt. 11, 28; 25, 34; Luke 5, 32.

DECEMBER.

1—Experience Meeting; 8—"Prayer," 15—"Saved or Lost—Which?" Luke 19, 1-10; 22—"The Bible—Our Guide," Psalm 119, 9-32; 29—"Rest," Hebrews 4.

The Executive Committee consists of the President, S. B. Joseph; Chairman of Prayer Meeting Committee, W. C. Dobbins; Chairman of Reception Committee, Geo. F. Brown; Chairman of Visitation Committee, Rev. D. J. Yerkes; Chairman of Social Committee, Edward Wilson; Secretary and Treasurer, Miss Grace Yerkes; Chairman of Lookout Committee, Harold Serrell.

Willie Hamilton Made Comfortable for the Winter.

With the money subscribed through The Press, an easy chair for Willie Hamilton and a pretty table for his books and toys, have been purchased and sent him. The patient little lad was much affected and could hardly express his thanks upon receiving the gifts.

Wouldn't Wear the Uniform.

(From the Somerville Gazette.)

On Saturday last the Central Railroad Company sent a tailor from Wanamaker & Brown's establishment along the road to measure the employees for uniforms. He was accompanied by chief clerk Tull of Supt. Peddle's office. Geo. W. Abbott, Jr., ticket clerk at this station, refused to be measured, or wear a uniform, and forwarded his resignation to the Superintendent.

An Array of Clergymen.

The services at the Church of the Holy Cross, Sunday, were very interesting. At the morning service, the Rev. C. W. Camp, a former rector of the church, and now of Lockport, N. Y., and the Rev. Addison M. Sherman, of Batavia, N. Y., together with the rector, took part in the service.

The Rev. John Franklin Spalding, D. D., Bishop of Colorado, preached the sermon. The congregation filled the church. The surpliced choir of thirty-six voices rendered their part of the service in a most creditable manner.

A Chance to Win a Suit.

McGregor & Co., the Newark clothiers, have invented a scheme whereby the gubernatorial election will be made a more interesting event than that merely aroused by the issues of the contest. They are offering to all comers two grand prizes. The first is the choice of the most expensive garment that is made by the company to the person who guesses the nearest to the majority of the successful candidate. A $15 suit or overcoat goes to the person making the second nearest guess. It is expected that everybody will enter into the guessing match.

The Most Successful of Its Kind.

At the meeting of the Home Building and Loan Association, Monday night, the Secretary gave a condensed report of the business of the last six months showing:

Outstanding loans on bond and mortgage........ $72,[illegible]
On stock........ [illegible]

The net earning for six months were.... [illegible]47
The value of shares as follows:
1st series $18, paid value........ $19[illegible]
2d series $12, paid value........ 12[illegible]
3d series $6, paid value........ 6[illegible]

The fourth series was opened with subscriptions for 334 shares by 49 new subscribers. This record of the past and present is excelled by no other like association, and equalled by but a very few.

The officers of the Home, are: Isaac W. Rushmore President; Stephen R. Struthers, Secretary; William F. Arnold, Treasurer; Wm. M. Stillman, Attorney.

Not Wanted in Plainfield.

Under the above heading the Newark Advertiser of Saturday, said:

"The Solicitor of the Treasury has given an opinion that a woman now detained in New York on arrival from Scotland as being unable to support herself and two children, cannot be sent back because one of the children was born in this country when the mother was living in New Jersey about two years ago, and is therefore an American-born citizen, for whom, in the absence of her husband, who has deserted her, she is the natural guardian.

"The woman, whose name is Mrs. Nellie McKenzie, arrived in this country first about three years ago and lived with her husband at Plainfield. Their home was burned some time after they had taken up their residence there, and the family was thus thrown upon the charity of the town. At their own request they were sent back to Edinburgh, Scotland. The husband deserted her three months ago, and she, believing that he had come to the United States, followed him, arriving at Castle Garden about four weeks ago. Her passage was furnished by the Women's Protective Society of Edinburgh. As soon as the people of Plainfield heard of her contemplated return to this country they wrote to Secretary Jackson, of Castle Garden, calling attention to the fact that she was formerly a burden upon the people of Plainfield and would very likely be the same if she was permitted to land again. She is thirty years of age and carries with her the picture of her husband."

OCEAN GROVE'S FINANCES.

Friday the Ocean Grove association finished its twentieth annual session in the association building at that place. All the old officers were re-elected, making the twenty-first election of Dr. E. H. Stokes to the position of president of the association.

President Stokes' annual report dealt mainly with the improvements that have been made during the past year. He stated that over 2,000 feet of sewer mains were laid thus making the entire system twelve and one-half miles in length, the total expenditure being $29,290. The income from the mains during the year was $3,862 50. The association put down nearly 16,000 feet of concrete walks, and private individuals laid 47,600 feet, making a total of seven miles of these walks. During this year thirteen artesian wells yielded 49,391,000 gallons of water, and 3,200 feet of water mains were laid. The total cost of the water system thus far has been $43,885. There are now nearly twelve miles of water mains through the Grove. The rental receipts were $5,1[illegible], and the running expenses $1,390.77. The tolls over Wesley lake bridges amounted to $3,413.[illegible] for four months. The total rentals amounted to $12,000.

The electric lighting system includes 648 lamps of 35 and 40 candle power. For general improvements there was spent $20,455 and the indebtedness has been reduced $2,[illegible]. The amount of the general inventory, which does not include lots, is $222,290. About 750,000 pieces of mail matter passed through the post office during the year, and the postmaster received $5[illegible] for his work. During the camp meeting 537 persons professed conversion. The twentieth anniversary of the association's organization will be celebrated on Dec. 23.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR
BAKING POWDER
THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

CLEVELAND BROTHERS, ALBANY, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, New York.—mv21v1 2-7 1y

A $20 A Day Man!

A VOICE from Ohio. Here is a portrait of Mr. Garrison, of Salem, Ohio [illegible]

[illegible] W. H. GARRISON.

Shall we start YOU in this business, reader? [illegible]

Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., AUGUSTA, MAINE. 2-5-1y

Catarrh

IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

CARNEY BROS,
11 SOMERSET ST.

TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.

PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stove s can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and
Portable Furnaces.

SANITARY PLUMBING.

Railroad Crossing!
Look Out for Fast
Excursion Trains

VIA THE
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS, AND MANITOBA R'WY.
TO MONTANA,
MINNESOTA,
NORTH DAKOTA,
SOUTH DAKOTA,
TUESDAY, AUG. 6, 1889;
TUESDAY, AUG. 20, 1889;
TUESDAY, SEPT. 10, 1889;
TUESDAY, SEPT. 24, 1889;
TUESDAY, OCT. 8, 1889.
THROUGH THE GREAT RESERVATION and MILK RIVER VALLEY
Great Falls, Helena, Butte,
And all important intermediate points.
Including
Fargo, Moorhead, Huron,
Watertown, Ellendale,
Aberdeen, Grand Forks,
Grafton, [illegible]
Sioux Falls, Wahpeton,
Fergus Falls, Devil's Lake, Etc.
VERY LOW RATES.
Through Tickets on sale at all principal stations.
For further information ask your home or nearest coupon ticket agent, or write to
WM. ALEXANDER, Gen. Traffic Mgr.,
F. I. WHITNEY, Gen. Pass. & Tkt. Agt.,
ST. PAUL, MINN. 4-15y

PEERLESS DYES [illegible]

PECK'S CORNER.

If You Don't Buy Your
FALL GOODS!
UNTIL YOU CAN BEAT PECK'S PRICES!
YOU ARE IN FOR A LIFE-LONG WAIT.

AN ELECTION OFFER!
OPEN TO ALL.
Read It and Try. It Beats Betting!

To render the interesting event of the election of Governor for this State still more interesting, we have decided to make the following very liberal offer, open to all comers and without any conditions:

PRIZE NO. 1—To the party who guesses the nearest to the majority of the successful candidate for Governor we will give the choice of any Suit or Overcoat in our entire stock, up to the most expensive garment we make.

PRIZE NO 2—To the party who makes the second nearest guess, we will give the choice of any $15 Suit or Overcoat we have in stock.

You'll find this a good deal better than Ab—bett, and, if successful, you won't have to Grubb around for your Winter clothes.

In this connection it may not be out of place to call attention to what we have in the way of Suits and Overcoats.

We have an unmatchable assortment of Men's Suits from $1 to $24. You'll find the style and fit now almost perfect, experience having taught us much in the manufacturing art.

Overcoats we have from $5 to $28, of every material suitable for an outer garment. Our $15 Overcoat, such as we offer for one of the prizes, is a garment the like of which you would have to pay nearly double for at any merchant tailors, and we'll guarantee to fit you with equal perfection.

Send in your guesses any time before the polls close, and as soon as the official figures declare the majority, come around and secure your prize. Don't bet this time—Guess.

McGregor &Co., 850 and 852 Broad St NEWARK, N. J.

A. VANDERBEEK,
(CHAUTAUQUA BUILDING.)
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

HAVING DISPOSED OF THE MUSICAL AND SPORTING Goods Department I am now prepared to devote my entire time to the sale and renting o

—PIANOS AND ORGANS—

Having many years of experience in the Piano Trade I am prepared to furnish first-class Instruments as reasonable as they can be had in New York city. Pianos tune. Give me a call before purchasing

PRICE LIST OF THE
EMPIRE STEAM CARPET CLEANING
Feather and Mattress Renovating Works.
Office and Works, 32 East Front Street.
HUGO WEIGMANN, Prop.

Ingrain and 3-Ply,	3c. per yd.	Feather Pillows,	50c. per pair
Tapestry and Brussels,	4c. "	Feather Bolsters,	50c. each
Wilton, Velvet, Moquette and Axminster,	5c. "	Large Feather Bed,	$1.50 each
		Hair steamed and picked,	5c. per lb

GUNNERS' SUPPLIES!
The "Club" Shell Loaded by the U. M. C. Co.
—LOOK AT THE PRICES:—
10 ga 4 or 4 1-4 drs Powder, $1.85 pr 100
12 " 3, 3 1-4 or 3 1-2 " " $1.75 " "
American Wood, Schultze and Dead-shot Powder Shells Loaded to Order.
Guns of all Grades and Sizes.
Look at Our $1.00 Hunting Coat.
A. M. Vanderbeek & Co.,
33 PARK AVENUE,
Chautauqua Building, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

John Brown,
(Successor to John Burke.)
Cesspools, Vaults,
Etc., Etc.,
CLEANED.
Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at CARNEY BROS., No. 1 Somerset street, or addressed to P. O. Box 718, will receive prompt attention.

HATERS OF WOMEN.

A Physician Relates His Experience with Misogynists.

[illegible] of the Fair Sex Pronounced a Disease [illegible] Cases Illustrating the Truth of This Plausible Theory.

"Women-haters? Plenty of them!"

A reporter for the New York World had met a well-known physician in a popular cafe and interrupted a conversation that the doctor was holding with a friend over a cigar and a bottle of claret. He spoke easily and with confidence that he knew his subject.

To hate a woman, especially one of the [illegible] kind, upon whose glances [illegible], or for whose kindly glances men would sacrifice their souls, seemed incredible. [illegible] the visitor's mind brought back recollections of cases in which men had sworn they hated women, only to be captured and put in bondage by a pair of bright eyes.

The physician struck a fresh match and watched the smoke from his cigar roll lazily upward as he related a few strange incidents that had come under his observation professionally.

"One case that I recall," said the doctor, "was that of a clergyman, a member of all the [illegible] societies, who late in life acquired and betrayed an intense hatred of all women. He had been happily married, and no one suspected him of this new feeling that began to creep over him and destroy the love he had for his wife and the respect for his mother.

"He struggled against it and fought it, but it was no use, and the disease, if such it may be called, began to show itself to his family and friends, and an instant estrangement from his wife was the result. He ran away from his home and was finally committed hopelessly insane.

[illegible]

"Yes," concluded the doctor, [illegible] "I think that designing mothers are responsible for many of the woman-haters, as they frequently prevent their daughters from marrying the men of their choice, and when a girl [illegible] the man she loves and marries another it is very apt to do [illegible] injury to the first."

"FIGURES WON'T LIE."

A Jerseyman Anxious to Find the Man That Made That Claim.

"I'm lookin' for the feller that started the story that figures won't lie," said a red-faced man with dust all over his boots and a [illegible] cigar-stump in one corner of his mouth, to a New York Sun reporter. "I'm from Oakville, N. J., and I'm just [illegible] for that man. [illegible]

[illegible]

"I didn't say which I'd do, but I want [illegible]

[illegible] was that I made up my mind to quit raisin' rye.

"'This rum power don't git no more rye of me for [illegible] a bushel,' I says, 'but I [illegible]'

[illegible]

"'Stranger,' I says, 'what do you think o' figures? Do you think they'll lie?'

"'These figures won't,' he says, takin' a paper from his pocket. 'These figgers say [illegible] agin you [illegible] the sheriff, and I want the money or the [illegible].'

"Well, the sheriff has got the shebang [illegible] all I want is to find the man who [illegible] the story that figures won't lie [illegible]."

THE DOINGS OF WOMEN FOLK

Who Are Heading Down for the Winter After Vacation Days.

Victoria Vokes is not like Rosina in [illegible], but the coincidences are even [illegible] similar in their mannerisms. [illegible]

[illegible]

K. P. H.

[illegible]

[illegible] Turkish Empire was established [illegible] under Othman I., in 1299.

[illegible] drum was used by the Egyptians and brought by the Moors into Spain.

[illegible] is said to have originated with Saul, 1093 B. C.

ENERGY OF STORMS.

Some of the Laws and Theories of Meteorological Phenomena.

H. A. Hazen, in discussing the subject in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, states that the theory was advanced by Espy in 1836 that the energy of all storms and tornadoes was entirely due to the latent heat set free in the condensation of the aqueous vapor in the air. He supposed that a primary impulse was given to an ascending current by the heat of the sun falling upon a certain limited portion of the earth, and that saturated air in this ascending current, through expansion and cooling, lost its moisture [illegible]. This condensation liberated the latent heat stored up through the process of evaporation, and this in turn heated up the air, producing a rarefaction and an increased upward motion. The longer this process went on the more intense the action became, the more heat was evolved, and thus more and more force was evolved. Prof. Ferrel adopted this view in part, and said that without the action of some constant force the primary impulse would rapidly lose its intensity through friction, and thus the disturbance would quickly come to an end. This constant force he maintained was the heating of the air through condensation, etc., as set forth by Espy. Prof. Mohn, one of the most prominent meteorologists of Europe, has gone still further, and has computed the amount of energy brought out in developing a single Cuban hurricane during October 5, 6, 7, 1844. He says: "The Cuban hurricane, in moving the in-flowing air, developed at least 473,500,000 horse-power in these three days—that is, at least [illegible] times as much energy as comes from all wind-mills, water wheels, steam engines, locomotives, man and animal power of the whole earth at the same time." He states that all this power needed in the storm generation came from the latent heat set free in the process of condensation.

This, then, must be considered the chief corner-stone of theories in regard to storm formation. It seems exceedingly probable, however, that this enormous development of energy is purely and highly imaginary, and that it is an attempt to make something out of next to nothing. While undoubtedly latent heat will be evolved if vapor be condensed, yet this evolution would seem to bring certain death to the very process of condensation. Suppose we have a mass of air and could condense its moisture without altering its temperature, the latent heat set free would make just enough sensible heat to again evaporate the moisture, and there would be no rain, but every thing would remain in statu quo. Suppose, however, we take away enough heat to cool the air 10 degrees for each cubic foot, this would amount to the heat necessary to evaporate one-seventh of a grain of moisture and must be taken in part at least from the surrounding air. If we cool the air 1 degree it will condense a certain amount of moisture, depending upon the temperature, and this will liberate exactly the same amount of heat that was used in the original evaporation. In order to absorb this heat it is necessary to cool the condensing air, and this can only be done by imparting still more heat to the surrounding air, so that we have increased the temperature of the environment in two ways, and thus have put a stop to all further development.

For example, let us cool a cubic foot of saturated air from 80 to 79 degrees, and let us suppose that the heat imparted to the surrounding air is all concentrated in a single cubic foot close by the first. We now have 1 cubic foot of saturated air at 79 degrees and another of unsaturated air at about 81 degrees. The cooling to 79 degrees has condensed one-third grain of moisture, and this has liberated latent heat which can be disposed of only by heating the adjacent cubic foot to 2.3 degrees. We have, then, if there is no flaw in the reasoning, one-third grain of moisture as rainfall, 1 cubic foot of saturated air at 79 degrees and another of unsaturated air at 82.3. Suppose we mix these, we shall have 2 cubic feet of air at about 81 degrees and unsaturated, hence no further rainfall can occur till this is again cooled, and it can not be cooled except at the expense of the surrounding air. It is plain that this will be the effect even with the most infinitesimal cooling and condensation, hence we must conclude that no appreciable rainfall can occur by these processes, and the enormous energy developed is a figment of the imagination, or else that the heat evolved has been changed to electricity or radiated into space or disposed of in some other way. The processes here set forth seem to be exactly analogous to those taking place when two masses of saturated air of widely-differing temperature are mixed together, in which case all meteorologists are agreed there can be no appreciable rainfall, and, of course, no development of energy.

This seems a very startling result, and some will ask: What can we substitute as a cause of storms? It is believed by a great many intelligent people that meteorology has not yet taken the first step toward a satisfactory solution of its profoundest problems, and there has been scarcely a well-authenticated principle established even in the simpler problems. We may well conclude that the principal reason for this has been the extreme proneness to adopt doubtful hypothesis, which has greatly hampered investigation. One of the first steps is to disprove these theories before we can lay the foundation of a better structure. The only possible way in which we can hope to learn the formation of our storms and the laws governing their movement is to investigate them in the open air, where, as it is now admitted by all, their power lies. This knowledge, it will be readily admitted, would be of incalculable benefit to all classes of people, but especially to those living in tornado districts, to seafaring men and to farmers. It is to be hoped that those interested will turn their attention to this subject, but if not, in this evening of the nineteenth century there will undoubtedly soon be a demand from many classes of people that the investigation be undertaken. With our modern appliances this may be made at very slight expense and with entire safety to the investigator.

MISS SMITH'S FISH.

They Eat Ice-Cream, Beans, Tissue Paper and Ginger Snaps.

Nobody visits Lake Pennesseewassee the prettiest point in Oxford County, without going to see Miss Emma Smith's natural aquarium, writes a New York Sun correspondent: The young lady is the possessor of Tanglewood, a picturesque cottage on the western shore of the pond, one of many built in recent years on the shores and islands, where merry parties from adjacent towns find summer recreation. She spends the season at Tanglewood cottage, and takes pleasure in entertaining the girls of her circle and in cultivating this rather remarkable aquarium.

The aquarium had a small beginning, but it has become great. This is the third season of her cottage life, and she noticed at the beginning that the sunfish, chubs and brook trout liked to loaf around the little dock. They were carefully encouraged to come by liberal donations of crumbs and fish scraps, until this year the number attracted to the landing reaches up into the hundreds. After every meal Miss Smith and her guests have half an hour's fun feeding the fish. They swim up to the wharf with an amount of splashing worthy of a lot of sharks, and scramble for the crumbs like a lot of small boys after coppers. Nearly all will eat from the hand. Two or three have been educated to eat from a spoon, and these favored ones get luxuries. Two or three more have become sufficiently reckless to allow themselves to be picked up by the fair hands of Miss Maud Allen, a fearless young lady of Boston, who rewards each one by feeding it with beans from a spoon. The latest experiment tried on the fish was to test their taste for ice-cream. They fought to get at the tempting spoonfuls after a couple of tastes. Chocolate cream seems to hit a [illegible] trout right where he lives.

A horned trout's greatest joy is found to be in eating ginger snaps. He doesn't nibble, he bites. When small Miss Virgie Sargent, the seven-year-old belle of the cottage, pokes a ginger snap into the water the trout will take a bite out of it equal to any thing Miss Virgie could do in the same line.

While feeling tender toward beans, ice-cream and ginger-snaps, the trout are not particular. They will open their wide mouths at any thing. One young man who saw them perform recently filled them up full with wads of tissue paper artfully rolled up, and was properly denounced for doing it. The fish didn't mind.

The trout are in the majority in the collection, chubs come next, and sunfish last in order of numbers and boldness. Some of the chubs are a foot long, and this is the average length of the trout. The latter are getting horribly obese and roll around weightily. They occasionally try to go off with a pink finger belonging to one of their hosts, and slide away, looking up reproachfully from the clear depths when they learn that it can't be had.

The lordly black bass and pickerel, with which the pond is stocked, refuse to be beguiled into accepting this profuse hospitality. They are all invited.

How He Weighed the Dog.

A lady who has a splendid great dog, sent the animal out to the stables the other day to be weighed. She confided him for this purpose to the hands of a new servant, a good-natured but not wholly brilliant individual, who regarded the dog with much awe and apparently with not a little attention.

The man was gone some time, but at length he reappeared with the dog and announced that the animal weighed 120 pounds.

"One hundred and twenty pounds," repeated his mistress. "Are you sure you weighed him right? He must weigh more than that."

"Oh, yes'm, sure I weighed him right, but I couldn't get him all on the scale."

THE QUEEN OF UTAH.

Past, Present and Future of Lovely Salt Lake City.

Mormonism on the Decline All Over the Territory—Polygamy's Hateful Creed Being Driven Out by the March of Civilization.

"What a pity that such a beautiful city, with such splendid possibilities, should be held back from the magnificent proportions it will some day assume simply by the religious and social differences." Such was the exclamation of Congressman Burrows, of Michigan, after we had driven around the environs of the once famous, but now extinct, Brigham Young.

After spending two days in Salt Lake City with the leading Mormons and gentiles, and seeing every part of the city, with its vast interests, and talking with the members of the Utah Commission and with Bishop Cannon—the latter the head of the Mormon church—I have come to the conclusion that polygamy has received its death-blow, and that the Mormon church is on its last legs, says a Salt Lake correspondent to the Philadelphia Press. If the church did not depend upon recruits from Europe it would make an assignment within two years. About every three months a missionary or elder arrives from Europe with a small band of benighted individuals, mostly an extremely ignorant and unattractive people, who have been proselyted and captured for the church. These are distributed around the Territory, and go to fill up the links made vacant by the operation of the Edmunds law. Very few are dropped here.

The tithing system is entirely broken up by the law, so far as can be seen, although it is supposed that it is carried on to a limited degree under the guise of "voluntary contributions." The Federal Government confiscated the valuable property belonging to the Mormon church and occupied by the Deseret News as a tithing office. It is an immense square, partly covered by a building for the publication office and offices for the clerks. There is an abundance of room where the poor, ignorant people dumped the fourth of every thing they produced, and which was sold to regular customers, the same as a general merchandising house. Every fourth load of wood, grain or wool, or other produce of the farm or factory was brought here and given over to the church. Some other buildings belonging to the church organization, and used for business purposes, were confiscated, placed in the hands of a receiver, and they are now rented to the church; but they are not used for the purposes they were once. Nothing tending to the teachings of the polygamous branch of the Mormon faith is permitted.

The Federal officers, at the outset of the Edmunds law five years ago, took charge of the great temple, which the Mormons began to construct forty years ago, which has cost $3,000,000 and is to cost as much more and be the finest religious edifice in the United States, but it was soon found that it could not be confiscated. It was church property, and, although the business concerns of the church could be taken, the edifice could not. When I asked the superintendent of construction when the temple would be completed he smiled softly and in his good Mormon regulation way said:

"We do not know. You see, sir, the church was cut off from its regular and honest tithing by the Edmunds law, which gave it a backset in money matters. It may be a quarter of a century yet. It is to be used not as a place of worship, but as a place of ceremonies, marriage and other rites, ordinations and so forth, and there is no hurry about it."

It is my honest opinion that the temple will never be finished by the Mormon Church organization, for I believe the church will fast decay. It was once as powerful, tyrannical and ambitious, in its way, as was Rome under the Caesars, but it will be remembered that the Roman empire fell. The building of railroads here was the first black eye to Mormonism. If they could have been kept out a quarter of a century longer no one knows what trouble or what loss of life and property would have been necessary to dislodge the Mormons, for they originally intended an organization and entrenchment which would have been invincible except to the Invisible. Brigham Young opposed mining, because it would tend to bring in strangers not converted to his practices. He advocated agriculture, that being for him more productive of both people and tithes. The railroads brought in those who exposed him.

While the sound of the ox-driver pulling around the great marble blocks for the temple is heard, the music from the wonderful organ in the tabernacle is wafted out through the city, the soft low notes of the choir in the assembly hall penetrate the boiling sunlight, the old tithing house stands, the tomb of Brigham Young is viewed by every passer-by, and the immense banking and mercantile houses founded by the Mormons bear their original signs and have their original customers, Mormonism has lost its grip.

With Mormonism and its blightings out of the way, Salt Lake City will become powerful, and is a splendid field for the real-estate speculator. Property is rapidly doubling up, and it will continue to grow rapidly in value.

As soon as the gentiles get control of a Utah city Eastern men come in and real estate speculation goes wild. So confident are the gentiles of success that many of them, and some of the shrewdest Mormons, are quietly buying real-estate. Now Eastern money will not come here on any security. Salt Lake's plot is most liberal. Her blocks are 140 rods on the sides, without alleys, and the streets 132 feet from curb to curb, level, clean and beautiful. There are street-car lines, electric lights, valuable buildings, and a charming mountain scene in the distance, turn as you will.

PEOPLE WHO ARE POPULAR.

Lord Tennyson recently remarked that one of his greatest regrets was that he had never visited this country.

Mr. Gladstone has an unconquerable aversion to smoking. It is recorded that once he was offered and accepted a cigarette from the Prince of Wales. He did not find the result encouraging, and has never been induced to repeat the experiment.

Rev. Robert Collyer has presented Cornell College with an old factory bell which has an interesting history. It was the bell that rung him to work every morning in his young days and fixed the time the day's toil was over. The bell will be used at Cornell for summoning the students to their classes.

Madame Carnot, the wife of the President of the French Republic, personally superintends the education of her children. With the Italian governess she speaks Italian, and English with the English governess. She reads the best literature, watches over the music exercises and keeps well informed of the movements of the outer world.

Prince Bismarck speaks all the most important languages, including even Russian, which is by far the most difficult to acquire of the European tongues. Though it is not as a linguist or an orator that the German Chancellor is chiefly distinguished, his knowledge of languages and his power over an audience are no small addition to his fame.

Joaquin Miller, who, after he went into Wall street and lost his little pile, used to rail at the rich and revile leading New York capitalists, has become a capitalist himself. Some years ago he bought two hundred acres of land near San Francisco, and now they have become valuable for town lots. The poet says that he shall spend the remainder of his days on the Pacific slope.

Spurgeon, the eminent Baptist preacher, never makes any preparation for a sermon. It is his habit to choose some text on Saturday evening to be used on the morrow. Thirty minutes, and no longer, he devotes to looking up references. Of these references he jots down a few notes, and with nothing else at hand he steps into the pulpit on Sunday morning without manuscript or thought of his text other than that given it during the half-hour's study of the previous evening.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich, says a New York correspondent, is a lucky journalist, and has never been forced by circumstances to work for a living. He likes to entertain his friends, and is perfectly competent and able to entertain every body he receives, no matter what their station in life. He is [illegible] as an editor, and has strong ideas about style. He has a penchant for set phrases, and he has a prepared list of [illegible] words and phrases which, if found in a manuscript, almost invariably ensure that it will never be put in type in Mr. Aldrich's establishment.

The people of Paris, who have been impressed with the conviction that Edison was the inventor of the telegraph, the telephone, the electric light and the phonograph, and possibly some of electricity itself, will probably think him more nearly a demigod than ever since the gift of [illegible] for the benefit of the poor of Paris. Mr. Edison is claimed to have received the greatest ovation in Paris ever accorded to a foreigner. M. Jules Claretie even declares that it may be said of Edison, as it was of Humboldt, that [illegible] by the [illegible] his country in the world.

SENSIBLE SAVINGS.

In managing others patience is the quality most needed.

Precipitancy ruins the best contrived plans; patience ripens the most difficult.

Whatever we enjoy any bit in life depends upon the disposition we carry into it.

It isn't wise to say always all that you think; but it is wise always to think carefully over every thing you say.

Happiness depends mainly on temperament, especially upon a disposition to be cheerful, complaisant and obliging.

When we sum up the miseries of life, the grief bestowed on trifles makes a great part of the account; trifles which neglected are nothing.

One of the finest qualities in a human being is that nice sense of delicacy which renders it impossible for him to be an intruder or a bore.

The most profitable revenge, the most rational and the most pleasant, is to make it the interest of the person who injures you not to hurt you again.

Misery and affliction are not less natural than snow and hail, and it were as reasonable to hope for a year without winter as for a life without trouble.

Doing nothing for others is the undoing of one's self. We must be purposely kind and generous or we miss the best part of existence. The heart that goes out of itself gets large and full of joy. We do ourselves the most good by doing something for others.

Without some degree of self-restraint in society a man is found almost insufferable. For want of self-restraint many men are engaged in fighting with difficulties of their own making and rendering success impossible, while others, perhaps less gifted, make their way and achieve success by simple patience, equanimity and self-control.

To deny ourselves momentary indulgencies is to save, in the aggregate, a great deal more than any one who has never given the matter attention is apt to think, and there is an object in such self-denial of more importance than the money it enables one to save; it gives a man the habit of self-control, than which nothing is more important to success of any kind.

ELECTRICAL EXTRACTS.

A Moscow foundry fuses metal by electricity. The glare is greater than the sun, and employes work two hours per day.

The English are just beginning to awaken to a realizing sense of the advantages to be derived from lighting their river steamboats with electricity.

The Philadelphia electricity exhibit at the centennial exposition of 1876 was very small. To-day $[illegible] is invested in the 2,000,000 lamps and 102 railways.

An electric spark has been photographed by means of a special camera, in which the sensitive plate rotated at, it is said, a velocity of 2,500 revolutions per minute.

An electrical attachment has been devised which may be applied to an ordinary clock for awakening a sleeper at any given time, the contrivance thus taking the place of the ordinary alarm clock.

Ten men with drills operated by electricity, it is said, can take out as much ore and tunnel as far as one hundred men with picks, shovels and blasting material; besides which, the buildings can be lighted and a great saving on insurance and oil made thereby.

"Volt" means the inducing caused by an electrical current, bearing the same relation to electricity that "pounds pressure to the square inch" does to steam or "head" to water. "Ohm" is the unit of resistance by a wire or other conductor to the passage of an electric current.

HUMAN FLESH EATERS.

Horrible Practices of Certain British Columbia Indians.

Emotional Cannibalism Practiced by the Kwagutl Tribe—An Aristocratic Tribe Whose Members Can Bite Whoever Displeases Them.

The British Columbia Indians have been suspected of eating human flesh, but they have hitherto concealed their practices so carefully that no reliable white man is able to give personal testimony of the fact, writes a Victoria (B. C.) correspondent of the New York Herald. Mr. H. R. A. Pocock has been spending a great deal of time among them, and although he is not able to give personal testimony of their cannibalistic rites, yet he has collected a great deal of evidence from natives of the prevalence of the practice.

The Kwagutls, a tribe dwelling in the central part of the province, have a belief that if a man meets a certain spirit on the mountains he has a right thereafter during the winter dances, lasting two months of the year, to bite whoever displeases him. The spirit is called Ha-mad-tsi, and the cannibals who earn their horrible distinction by seeing him are known as Ha-mad-tsis. They belong to what may be called an exclusive and aristocratic caste. Only members of certain families may become Ha-mad-tsis, and these when they come to the years of discretion go up into the mountains, where they may meet the spirit. Having encountered this unlovely sprite, they come back to the villages snapping and biting at every body and making themselves generally very undesirable neighbors. Their sole purpose is to show the tribe that they are different from ordinary men, and do not care what they eat or what they suffer. In olden times a captive or a slave was killed and presented to the initiated, who ate the corpse in the presence of a general assemblage of the people. More recently, although slavery is not wholly extinct, the Indians have become afraid to kill, so they are reduced to the stealing of corpses. Usually these have been drying for a long time, being "buried" among the branches of a tree, and are quite flavorless, the brains alone being considered a luxury.

Up to the time of eating a corpse in public the acolyte, whenever he appears from the woods, bites indiscriminately, women being, however, generally exempt, whether from native gallantry or not does not appear. Formerly the faces were bitten, noses and ears especially, but now the cannibal merely lifts the flesh of a man's arm with his teeth, which is sliced off with a knife by a bystander while the half insane savage retains his grip of it and finally swallows it. The father of the biter pays every body who has suffered from his progeny's enthusiasm from two to ten blankets. There are few men in the Kwagutl tribes who do not bear the scars of this extraordinary mania. The Ha-mad-tsi, during the progress of the winter dances, is stark naked, a heavy plaited rope of cedar bark adorned with tassels being carried, however, on the shoulders. There are from three to twenty Ha-mad-tsis, and each of them will perhaps eat of four or five corpses in a life-time. Mr. Pocock has not actually witnessed the ceremony, but he collected a considerable amount of testimony from what he considers reliable native witnesses. He says:

"My interpreter said that when he was a lad he remembers his mother saving two slaves from being killed and eaten. The winter or Ha-mad-tsi dance was performed at Alert bay eighteen months ago, goats' flesh being eaten from human bones at midnight and the tribe deceived. Deer or goat flesh is often tied to the human bones and devoured in the dusk so that the onlookers are all deceived. Apparently two bodies were devoured at Klawatis that same season. Three and a half years ago a white man was taken by his Indian woman to the winter dance, and turned out of doors, because, as the woman told him, a corpse was to be eaten. He saw a woman's body taken into the house by three naked men, and went round to the back, where, through a hole, he saw the Ha-mad-tsis holding the body in their arms and biting pieces out. From the long black hair, hanging from what seemed to be the head, he supposed this was the body of a woman. If this was not human flesh both he and the whole audience were deceived.

"A Fort Rupert half-breed woman of excellent character told me she was fully convinced that in many cases no deception was practiced. No half-breeds or Indians, except my interpreter, expressed any doubt. A Kanaka, a man of very good report, indeed, told me that at the head of Knight inlet he was admitted to a winter dance, and saw three Ha-mad-tsis eat a corpse in presence of the tribe. This evidence appears to me to be very strong on account of the witness' character and the clearness and reasonable manner of his statements. He told me his story briefly, and as one surprised at the existence of a doubt, but tired of the subject. His wife, a member of a Ha-mad-tsi family, furnished the evidence that convinced my interpreter that the Ha-mad-tsi is not a sham.

"After describing the origin of the rite in her family she said that some years ago, on Knight inlet, at the winter feasts, she was invited to a feast of berries for women. They were interrupted by the Ha-mad-tsis bringing a human corpse into the house. They were six in number and all naked, and her brother was one of them. Attendants cut off strips of flesh from the corpse, which were devoured by the Ha-mad-tsis. This witness, although given to potlaching, another heathen and semi-religious orgy, bore otherwise a good character. I was told a number of most horrible stories of self-torture practiced out of bravado during these ceremonies."

Mr. Pocock's revelations have produced a powerful feeling among Christian people throughout Canada, and the Government is being called upon to take efficient means of suppressing these unspeakably disgusting practices.

Artificially-Made Silk.

A French chemist has produced an artificial silk by the chemical treatment of cellulose. He obtains a thread which resembles silk very closely, and is equally strong and elastic. It is not attacked by water, cold or warm, nor by the acids and alkalies moderately concentrated. A great drawback to this silk is that it is extremely inflammable, but it is possible that by a [illegible] of treatment it may be rendered incombustible. If this is done the new textile fabric will be of the greatest value.

FACTS OF FRESH INTEREST.

A slot machine gives you proper sized spectacles.

Chicago has now 6,000 miles of buried electric wires.

The biggest gas well in the world has been discovered in Ohio.

Since 1860 more than a billion of dollars has been expended in pensions by the United States.

Chicago has the largest Common Council of any city in the world. With the recent additions the Common Council numbers sixty-eight.

As iron expands with the heat, the Eiffel tower is said to be five inches taller when the temperature is high than it is in the cool of the day.

We are now to have the Eiffel tower in paper-weight, inkstand, thermometer and letter scale, all from a celebrated Paris bronze worker's place.

A Mrs. Fanny Venter claims that she holds the title deeds for the entire ground on which Minneapolis is built and has begun suit for possession.

Queen Victoria has spoken into one of Edison's phonographs, as a compliment to him. He will probably hand it down as an heirloom in his family.

Premier Crispi, of Italy, has sent his check for a thousand francs for the Columbus monument fund which the Italians in New York are raising.

A most patient research has revealed the fact that our language can boast of no less than 827 different terms, all of which express the state of being in love.

North Dakota will be the first State, as a State, to make provision for a system of manual training. Forty thousand acres of land are set apart for that purpose.

Fayetteville, N. C., is preparing to celebrate the centennial of North Carolina's ratification of the Federal constitution, which took place there November 21, 1789.

There are ruins near Gallup, Cal.; the foundation walls of which can be traced for two miles, indicating the existence of a large town in the locality in bygone times.

The White Cross University of Science has decorated George W. Childs, James Gordon Bennett, Thomas A. Edison, John W. Mackay, Cyrus W. Field and William W. Hubbell.

The old double log cabin long ago occupied by Andrew Jackson, near Nashville, Tenn., has been repaired and preserved for another century at least by the enterprise of a local association of ladies.

There are several good reasons for the attempt to train swallows for military messages, instead of carrier pigeons. The swallows are swifter and more difficult marks to shoot at. The experiment so far promises well.

There is a secret organization in Baltimore, Md., the object of which is to protect its members from unfortunate marriages. When one of the club feels that he is falling in love he confesses to his fellow-members and they appoint a committee to investigate the matter and advise him therein.

Ludwig Pietsch, the celebrated German critic and author, has written long articles to the periodicals of his native land in praise of the exhibition of American artists in the Paris exposition. Herr Pietsch is surprised at the general excellence of the paintings and considers them equal to any in the exhibition.

A body of five female sanitary police is now established in Chicago, under the appointment of the Commissioner of Health, according to an ordinance of the City Council. The duty of the new female sanitary police is to inspect factories and tenements for the protection of the health of working women.

A portrait statue of General McClellan is to be erected on the south front of the Philadelphia City Hall. The figure will be of bronze, and with the pedestal will stand thirty feet high. The designs are furnished by Paul J. Pelz and Henry J. Ellicott, and the cost of execution will be about $30,000. The anniversary of the battle of Antietam, September 17, 1890, is the date fixed for the unveiling of the statue.

RELATED OF GREAT WRITERS.

Picard, the comic writer, composed all of his pieces in bed.

It is said that Schiller, before composing, put his feet in cold water.

Dickens and the Earl of Beaconsfield were fops of the first water.

The famous Bossuet worked in a cold room, with his head warmly enveloped.

Montesquieu could compose only in a post-chaise, with the horses at a rapid trot.

Voltaire always fancied elegant toilets, and adorned himself in a striking manner.

Jouy wrote most of his tragedies in an alley, at each end of which was a bench, and on each bench paper and pencils, ready for use.

The great romancer, Balzac, after a frugal dinner at six or seven o'clock, had his servant call him at midnight, when he took a cup of extremely strong coffee, and worked till noon.

The productive capacity of Le Sage, author of "Gil Blas," depended upon the sun. He awoke at sunrise, and the higher it rose in the heavens and the clearer it shone, the richer was the flow of his thought.

The English poet, Alexander Pope, dressed like a dandy, and his monstrous bag of hair, his elegant sword, his tight velvet hose and his excessively wide ruffles, gave to his little, crooked figure a comical appearance.

Charles Etienne, the dramatist, when the inspiration for writing seized him, sent wife, children and servants away from home, locked doors and window shutters, laid himself in bed and composed his verses in quiet and darkness.

Thomas Hobbes, the English author, fell into a condition resembling insanity if at night the light was taken even for a few minutes from the room, but regained his composure immediately when the light was brought back to the room.

The learned Dr. Johnson had a special dislike of stepping over a threshold with the left foot foremost, and he was often seen to make a great circuit in order to avoid a certain alley in Leicester Fields, which he believed to be fatal to him.

Young wrote his "Night Thoughts" having a skull lying on the table before him, which served him also as a candlestick. Sometimes he walked among the graves of a church-yard at midnight in order to excite grave and solemn thoughts in his mind.

Goldsmith was addicted to fine clothes and startling effects. "He was fond," says one of his contemporaries, "of exhibiting his muscular little person in the gayest apparel of the day, to which was added a bag-wig and a sword." Thus arrayed, he would figure about in the sunshine in the Temple Gardens, much to his own satisfaction, but to the amusement of his acquaintances.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE. August 26th, 1889.

Estate of Huldah L. Allen, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executor of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

HEZEKIAH HAND, Executor.

8-29-10w

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To Thomas Spicer.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Frederick A. Kinch is complainant and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of the said complainant, on or before the eleventh day of November next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Nancy Spicer and you to Samuel M. Foster, dated July 1st, 1874, on lands in the township of Westfield, Union county New Jersey, and you are made defendant because you claim an estate as tenant by the curtesy initiate or some other interest in said lands.

Yours, &c.,

JACKSON & CODINGTON,

Solicitors for Complainant, 21 Park avenue, Plainfield, New Jersey.

Dated Sept. 6, 1889. 9-26-6w

MASTER'S SALE—In Chancery of New Jersey—Between William Bartle, complainant, and Isaac Bartle, et ux and et al, defendant. On bill for partition.

By virtue of a decree of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey made in the above stated cause and bearing date the 27th day of August, 1889, I, John D. Bartine, one of the Special Masters of the said Court will expose for sale at public vendue, on between the hours of 12 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, that is to say at 2 o'clock p. m., on the premises, all that certain tract or parcel of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the Township of Westfield, (now Fanwood) in the county of Union and State of New Jersey.

SATURDAY, THE TWENTY-SIXTH DAY OF OCTOBER NEXT,

Beginning at a stake at the side of the road leading from the mountains to Rahway, being the south corner of the parsonage; thence running along its northeast line five chains and six links to a stake in said parsonage line, being a corner of a two acre lot belonging to John Darby; thence along his line southeast one chain and seventy-three links to a stake in said Darby's line, being a corner of Levi Crabey's lot; thence along said Crabey's line southwest five chains and six links to a stake by the side of the highway aforesaid, from thence a direct course up said road northwest one chain and seventy-three links to a stake in the corner of the parsonage lot at the place of beginning, containing seven-eighths of an acre, be the same more or less; bounded northwesterly by said parsonage, northeasterly by said John Darby, southeast by said Crabey, and southwesterly by said road, including the estate and interest in inchoate dower of the defendant Ann Bartle, Mary Bartle and Sarah Bartle in said premises, together with all and singular the hereditaments and appurtenances to the said premises belonging or in any wise appertaining.

J. D. BARTINE,
Special Master in Chancery.

JOHN H. VANWINKLE, Sol'r. 9-26-5w

LEGAL NOTICES.

1889.

TAXES!

Notice is hereby to the Taxpayers of

THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD,

That the Taxes assessed in said city for the year 1889, are now due and payable, and that

If the said Taxes be not paid by the 2-th day of December Next,

the names of the defaulters, with their respective Taxes will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution.

The Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council chamber on the FOURTH TUESDAY IN NOVEMBER NEXT (the 26th), and sit from 2 o'clock P. M. until 5 o'clock P. M., or longer if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1, 1889. 10-3-lrw

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors.

SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

Estate of George W. Townley, Deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the twenty-seventh day of September, A. D. 1889, on the application of William H. Stilwell, as administrator of George W. Townley, deceased, an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of George W. Townley, deceased, to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent, under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said Administrator within NINE months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor should be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said Administrator.

AB'M T. HUFF, Surrogate.

10-3-9w

RAILROADS.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA

PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE

Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after Sep. 30, 1889, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

[illegible] A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, dining car from Philadelphia, daily for Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Cleveland and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

[illegible] P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars and dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

[illegible] P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—[illegible]

For Philadelphia—[illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

[illegible] P. M. (Through car,) week-days. For Cape May, [illegible] week-days.

For Trenton—[illegible]

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—[illegible]

For Flemington—[illegible]

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.

J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York—Foot of Liberty Street.

Time Table in Effect June 30, 1889.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave New York from foot of Liberty Street, [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Newark [illegible]

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Somerville [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Easton [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS

LEAVE PLAINFIELD

[illegible] a. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. [illegible]

[illegible]

For Atlantic City—At [illegible] a. m., 1.06 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

[illegible]

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, [illegible]

For Baltimore and Washington at [illegible]

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA

Ninth and Green streets, [illegible]

From 24th and Chestnut—[illegible]

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker streets, [illegible]

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, Gen'l Sup't.

H. P. BALDWIN, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

INSURANCE.

FIRE INSURANCE!

The undersigned having been appointed agent for the

Star and Merchants

Fire Insurance Co's of the

City of New York,

is prepared to write [illegible]

NATHAN HARPER

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,

FIRE AND LIFE

INSURANCE AGENT,

Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.

MONEY TO LOAN

On Approved Security.

J. C. Pope & Co.,

GENERAL AGENTS OF THE

German American Ins. Co.,

of New York.

Also represent other first-class Fire Insurance Companies. Agents of the Inman Steamship Line. Drafts on Ireland for sale. First and City National Bank Stock Bought and Sold. Also

BUILDING LOTS

And Other Real Estate for sale.

OFFICE:

6 E. FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD.

JAMES C. POPE. ELIAS R. POPE.

PEERLESS (YES [illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS | MISCELLANEOUS.

THE FALL OF 1889

BRINGS WITH IT many new styles, and much that is novel and handsome in the line of man's attire. We are exceedingly particular how our clothes are cut and made. The very best Custom Cutters only can secure positions in our employ. While we go in for appearances to the fullest extent, we are ever mindful of quality. If you will call and inspect our Fall Suits and Overcoats for Men and Boys you will note the extreme neatness and evident durability of every Coat, Vest and Pair of Trousers THROUGH THE WHOLE STOCK. We stake our reputation on the thoroughness of our work. You can get a suit for $8, $10, $12, $15 or $18, or an Overcoat, light or medium weight, all shades, silk facings and linings, for $10 or $12. We wish to convince you that our house deserves your custom. It does!

J. MARSHALL & BALL,

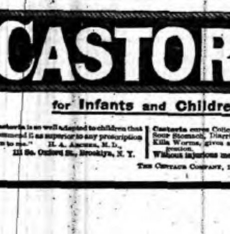
CLOTHIERS,

807, 809, 811, 813 BROAD STREET

10-10-3m

PIANOS. PIANOS.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,



Steinway,

(The Standard Piano of the World,)

Emerson,

S. G. Chickering,

Sterling.

And all Standard Makes of

Pianos and Parlor Organs.

Sole Agent for New Jersey for the GABLER Patent Metal Action Frame UPRIGHT PIANOS, the most popular Piano made. Musicians like it, singers like it, the PEOPLE like it, EVERYBODY likes it.

Large assortment of second-hand Pianos at the lowest prices ever given in Newark. FIRST-CLASS UPRIGHT PIANO for $260 CASH, or $290 ON INSTALLMENTS, $10 MONTHLY until paid for. TELEPHONE 798.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,

657, AND 659 BROAD STREET, NEWARK, N. J.

12-14-y

SPECIAL NOTICE.

New Store! New Goods! New Firm

BARKALEW & DUNN,

Fancy and Staple Grocers,

NO. 18 NORTH AVENUE

We sell for Cash and will give Special Inducements

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion. Without injurious medication.

The Centaur Company, 182 Fulton Street, N. Y.

7-18-ly

A MAN

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

MONT.
DAKOTA
WISCONSIN
ILLINOIS
MISSOURI
N. M.
ARK.
GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE.

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MAGNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels (furnishing meals at seasonable hours) west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake, and Sioux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, General Manager.

CHICAGO, ILL.

JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass. Agent.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXII. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1889. No. 44.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
W. L. FORCE & L. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
[illegible]
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON, Counsellors-at-Law, Commissioners of Deeds, Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.

GEORGE W. HAY, General Auctioneer. Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box [illegible], Dunellen, N. J., or address [illegible]. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES H. [illegible], Dentist. [illegible] West Front street. A new local anaesthetic for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.

H. [illegible], Auctioneer. P. O. Address, Lock Box [illegible], Somerville, N. J. Orders left at T. J. Carey's [illegible], West Front street, Plainfield, N. J., will receive prompt attention.

OSCAR S. TEALE, Architect, 317 Broadway, New York city. Rooms [illegible] (Importers' and Traders' Bank Building). Residence, Plainfield, N. J.

J. [illegible], Veterinary Surgeon. [illegible]

F. A. DUNHAM, Civil Engineer and Surveyor. No. 1 Park avenue, [illegible] Residence, 11 West Fifth street.

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale, PIANO TUNER. [illegible]

JOHN CHANDLER, CARPENTER AND BUILDER, PLAINFIELD, N. J. Residence—No. 26 [illegible] St. Jobbing promptly attended to.

LUTKINS & HUMMER, Dealers in Butter, Eggs & Produce. Meats of all Kinds. FRUITS and VEGETABLES IN THEIR SEASON. No. 18 PARK AVENUE, Plainfield, New Jersey. Goods delivered to any part of the city. A. LUTKINS. L. L. HUMMER.

Plainfield District Telegraph and Fire Alarm Co. Prompt Messenger Service Furnished. Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co. LOW RATES. QUICK SERVICE. MONEY TRANSFERRED BY TELEGRAPH. REVENUE STAMPS FOR SALE. OFFICE—4 PARK AVENUE. W. S. SLITER, Manager.

TO THE PUBLIC! We wish to inform our customers and the public generally that we have on hand the best quality of LEHIGH COAL, Fresh from the Mines. It is under cover and well protected from the weather. We are prepared to deliver it well screened and in good order promptly. We are also prepared to furnish all kinds of [illegible] Lumber and Masons' Materials at short notice. A. D. COOK & BRO.

J. Hervey Doane, 6 PARK AVENUE. (Formerly Clark's) Watches, Clocks And Jewelry. Repairing neatly and promptly done.

Steam Marble Granite Works. AND Monuments & Headstones. Fencing for Cemetery Plots. Large assortment of Slate Mantels. A large variety of Granite Monuments. [illegible]

Geo. A. Moore, (of the late firm of Moore Bros.) Is now the sole proprietor of the [illegible] at NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE, Where he will continue to supply patrons with the finest grades of Fresh and Salt Meats, Fish of all kinds, Oysters, Clams, [illegible] lowest market prices. [illegible]

Alex. Willett, DEALER IN BOOTS & SHOES, No. 3 PARK AVENUE. A full assortment of [illegible] at low figures.

HOTELS AND SALOONS.

FORCE'S HOTEL, NORTH AVENUE, (Near C. R. R. Station.) JAS. H. FORCE, Prop'r. A FIRST CLASS FAMILY HOTEL. Steam Heat. First-class Plumbing. Transient guests at reasonable rates.

TURF EXCHANGE HOTEL. 73 Courtlandt street, CORNER WASHINGTON, NEW YORK CITY. FRED. W. BALLARD, - - Proprietor. (formerly of Jersey City), is now conducting the business corner Washington and Courtlandt streets, New York, formerly kept by the late James Van Pelt, and by Wm. [illegible]. PURE WINES, LIQUORS AND SEGARS.

SOMERSET HOTEL, Cor. Somerset & Chatham Sts. North Plainfield N. J. Permanent and Transient Board, at fair rates. First-class [illegible]

C. E. JOHNSON, (of the firm of Howard, Johnson & Dobson,) CARPENTER AND BUILDER. Office—No. 27 Central avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Residence—[illegible] East Second street. Jobbing a specialty.

T. J. GILLIES, Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent. SALESROOM—Madison Avenue and Front St., Plainfield, N. J. Goods received on consignment.

Dime Savings Institution OF PLAINFIELD, N. J. Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually. JOHN W. MURRAY, President. WILLIAM WHITE, Vice " NATHAN HARPER, " ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Jas. M. Dunn, Dealer in GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, Vegetables, Fruits, etc. No. 36 Park Ave. OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE. THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS, BEST IN THE WORLD. ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

MICHAEL UHDAL, CONTRACTOR AND LANDSCAPE GARDENER! Residence: NETHERWOOD, NEW JERSEY. P. O. BOX 787, PLAINFIELD. P. O. Box 5, Netherwood, N. J.

GO TO DICKINSON & CLAWSON, JEWELERS, 13 Park Avenue, For your Fine Gold Watches, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, and SILVERWARE. Sole Agents for KING'S SPECTACLES and EYE-GLASSES, the BEST MADE, and CHEAPEST in the end.

SANITARY PLUMBING, Brick and Portable Furnaces, GAS FITTING, TIN ROOFING, Etc., Etc. I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class, sanitary and workmanlike manner. [illegible] D. W. LITTELL, No. 8 NORTH AVE. Plainfield, N. J.

ELY'S CATARRH CREAM BALM. Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. HAY-FEVER TRY THE CURE. A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at Druggists; by mail, registered, 60 cents. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren Street, New York.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE, (Successor to John W. Laing) Laing's Hotel Stables. Front street, opposite Madison avenue. [illegible] RIDING OR LIVERY. [illegible] TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 98.

Livery Stables! Mr. D. S. ROBERTS Has Removed to His New Building on NORTH AVENUE, Adjoining Force's Hotel. [illegible]

EDUCATIONAL.

Mr. FEININGER Has resumed His Lessons in Plainfield. For terms, address C. FEININGER, Steinway Hall, N. Y.

Mr. T. E. HAZELL, TEACHER OF MUSIC. Instruction given in Singing, Harmony, or upon the Violin. Director of Choral Classes. The art of Singing Vocal Music a specialty. Residence—18 Duer St., North Plainfield.

MR. LEAL'S School for Boys! 99 WEST FRONT STREET. Prepares for College and Business. Has entered boys at College every year since it was established. This year eight boys were sent. The next year's class is still larger. Boys from 10 years old and upwards. The eighth year begins MONDAY, SEPT. 16, 1889. For circulars and information, address the Principal, JOHN LEAL.

DODWORTH'S CLASSES FOR Dancing & Deportment, SEMINARY HALL, PLAINFIELD, N. J., Commencing Wednesday, Oct. 30, '89. From 3½ to 5½ P. M. Circulars may be obtained of Miss E. E. Kenyon, at the Seminary. THOS. J. DODWORTH. Residence—1,181 Fulton ave., N. Y. City.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES.

Paints, Varnishes, Glass. WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES. WALL PAPERS! PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY. A. SWALM, No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. B. WOOLSTON. J. P. BUCKLE. Woolston & Buckle, PAINTERS, Wall Papers, PAINTER'S SUPPLIES. 20 NORTH AVENUE.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mme. J. BERNARD, ASTROLOGIST, Residence—Harmony street, North Plainfield. [illegible] In English, German and French. My husband is a first-class Cooper, and repairs tubs, pails, barrels, etc., cheap for cash.

Low Pressure Steam Heat Introduced into Churches, Schools, Dwellings, Offices, Stores, etc. STEAM FITTING, and STEAM FITTERS' SUPPLIES for sale. Estimates cheerfully furnished for Heating and Ventilation. JOHN N. SCHENCK, Box 1661. Race St., North Plainfield.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON, (Successor to T. J. Carey.) Furniture and Freight Express! OFFICE—34 W. FRONT ST. Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box [illegible]. Piano moving a specialty.

G. W. FORCE, 11 West Front street, Opening of FALL AND WINTER STOCK Boots and Shoes at Low Prices. A FINE GRADE OF GOODS TO SELECT FROM. 11 West Front street, G. W. FORCE.

R. R. FAIRCHILD, Furniture & Bedding, 21 EAST FRONT STREET. A Large Assortment of Parlor Suites, Bedroom Suites, Lounges, Tables AND Chairs. The Largest Stock and the Lowest Prices. Call and See for Yourselves. 3 DOORS BELOW P. O.

ALBERT HEDDEN, Livery and Boarding Stables, FOURTH STREET. [illegible]

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING, No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J. Manufacturer of the Celebrated C. O. D. CIGAR. The best 5 cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY. A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobaccos, always on hand. Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE, Dealer in HAVANA & DOMESTIC —SEGARS!!— 24 PARK AVE., (near corner of SECOND ST.) PLAINFIELD, N. J. Tobacco and Smoker's Materials, of every description. The celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco, with other popular brands constantly on hand.

Organized 1881. —THE— Incorporated 1882. ELECTRIC CONSTRUCTION AND SUPPLY COMPANY. F. E. KINSMAN, Gen'l Manager. 87 Liberty St., N. Y. Oldest, Most Reliable, Most Enterprising. Largest facilities for New work or Repairs. Plainfield Office, No. 20 NORTH AVENUE, near depot. Represented by F. S. DUNN.

JAMES K. ARNOLD, GROCER, [illegible] Somerset and [illegible]ham Sts. North Plainfield.

A. I. SMALLEY, F. E. SMALLEY. Smalley Bros., DEALERS IN Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, Etc. 22 SOMERSET STREET, NORTH PLAINFIELD. Orders called for and delivered. A share of the public patronage is solicited.

Benj. F. Moore, (Late of Moore Bros.) BUTCHER, And dealer in FRESH AND SALT MEATS, POULTRY, etc., corner Park avenue and Second street, will be open and ready for business Wednesday, March 20th. Orders called for and promptly delivered. Telephone Call 111.

E. B. MAYNARD PRACTICAL BARBER AND Artistic Hair Dresser, No. 26 PARK AVENUE, Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, &c., satisfactorily performed.

Fresh Garden Seeds, Garden Tools, Ranges, Laundry Stoves, CUTLERY, &c. N. H. & J. J. HEIDELOFF, No. 18 SOMERSET ST.

Permit Not the Hair to Fall. The use of Quinine and Glycerine Hair Tonic, compounded with the utmost skill and care, has produced the most beneficial preparation that has ever been put before the public. It will cleanse the scalp from all Dandruff, nourishes the roots of the hair, stops the falling out, imparting strength and vigor. Many warm praises have been unsolicitedly given. Bottled in half pints at Fifty cents. Obtainable only at the City Pharmacy. L. W. RANDOLPH, (Successor to FIELD & RANDOLPH.)

School Books, New and Second-hand. School Supplies, Large Assortment, Lowest Prices, at ALLEN'S, THE STATIONER, 23 East Front Street, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

CANOPIES For Weddings, Parties, Etc., TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE. Hugo Weigman, [illegible] EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

TWENTY Years experience in the business. SECOND STREET. [illegible] Mr. JOHN H. STEVENS, Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to shoeing [illegible] Horses. [illegible]

Accommodation Express. PETER RICKERT, Proprietor. [illegible] Prompt attention given to Orders.

AGENTS $1,000 Per Year and Expenses is what we are paying. [illegible] R. D. LUETCHFORD & CO., Nurserymen, Rochester, N. Y. Mention this paper.

Autumn Leaves.

The melancholy days have come
Of which the poets sings,
Of wailing winds and naked woods,
And other cheerful things.

The robin from the glen has flown,
And there Matilda J.
Now roams in quest of autumn leaves
To press and put away.

These in the sere, to school-girls dear,
Are found where'er one looks,
On hill, in vale, in wood, in field—
But mostly in my books.

If I take up the Unabridged
Some curious word to scan,
Rare leaves are sped of green and red,
Or maybe black and tan.

And, too, from doll, on every shelf—
From pictures on the wall,
Autumnal leaves descend in sheaves—
With them 'tis always fall.

O! autumn leaves, rare autumn leaves!
Not rare, alas! indoors—
The wild wood strew all seasons through,
But not all parlor floors!

For now I know a solemn truth
I did suspect before—
These leaves that autumn branches bear
Are an Autumnal bore.

—John Paul.

TOILETS FRESH AND FAIR.

The Fine Feathers Which Will Shortly Make Fine Birds.

Dress at the Dressmakers'—Embroidered Satins and Marvelous Silks for Which Limitless Prices Can Be Paid—The Glories of the October Openings.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

There is an odor of heliotrope at the openings. Last Spring we shopped in an atmosphere of orchid flowers. The season before that it was white rose. Now, with the revival of the purples and the lavenders, we go about morning after morning breathing a drygoods air heavy with heliotrope perfume. Fashion this month spells magnificence and shopping becomes a passion, an ecstasy. Our ears drink in greedily the tinkling of jet, our eyes are dilated with gazing on the flowered gorgeousness of the brocades, our fingers long for the touch of the wonderful embroideries, and our senses to be lapped in luxury by the rich warmth of the furs. Color wraps us round and round. We are lost in a tropic delight in the sumptuous, the florid in material which consoles us for the straightness and scantness, the simplicity of cut of the gowns. To think of a winter costume is to think of a queen's robe. To choose a costume is, for the novice giddy with her foretaste of the season's pleasures, to wander from superb brocade to velvet and point lace and back again to gold spangled gauze and crepe de chine. To wear a gown is to sip the sensuous pleasure of a winter of smiles and revelry.

BODICE FOR A DEBUTANTE.

Tea gown for a tall blonde maid with classic fillet and knot of hair; China silk of a coppery sunset color with full vest of white mull edged with gold lace, overgown of blue crepe de chine, shirred at the waist line in the back, and with full flowing Athenian draperies, either tossed back from the shoulders or covering the arms and sweeping the floor. These are clasped with cameos set in coppery bronze on the shoulders where they touch the loose sleeves with undersleeves of mull.

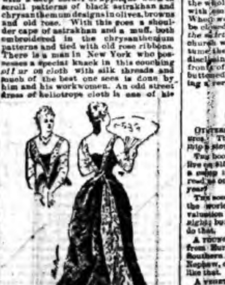
Robe for a matron in her forties who looks best when most adorned. Old royal purple velvet is the material made with a redingote edged down the fronts and about the bottom with narrow gold galloon. A wide and heavy cord embroidery of the same rich substance is laid about the bodice to simulate a jacket form. The cuffs, collar and deep border of the skirt front glitter with gold.

Evening dress for a rosy blonde who should be married, rich and young. Gold satin composes it, draped in front with a white gauze embroidered with Empire flower sprays in gold and crystal beads and sparkling with gold spangles. At the bottom, the gauze is caught up in round shallow scallops edged with loops of gold and crystal beads and fastened by gold and crystal butterflies. The train is gold and white brocade of an all-over pattern, and the low cut bodice is edged with gauze and beads and has butterfly spangles on the shoulders.

Gown may be for a chestnut-haired debutante's wear at an afternoon's tea. A pale blue crepe de chine is cut in simple round-waisted, straight-skirted Empire fashion with a long gold buckle gathering the loose bodice folds at the waist line.

Dancing dress for a pretty girl with a clear skin in her second or third season. A gold-colored silk makes the undergown edged at the bottom by a band of grayish blue velvet. Two broad sash ends of gray-blue silk cover the front partially and are embroidered at the bottom with gold thread scrolls. A blue brocade forms the overgown and draperies flowered with daisies in gold.

Street gown for some good walker whose color comes when the wind blows her curls around. A dull terra cotta cloth is embroidered about the bottom with a deep border of applique work in scroll patterns of black astrakhan and chrysanthemum designs in olives, browns and old rose. With this goes a shoulder cape of astrakhan and a muff, both embroidered in the chrysanthemum patterns and tied with old rose ribbons. There is a man in New York who possesses a special knack in this couching off or on cloth with silk threads and much of the best one sees is done by him and his workwomen. An odd street dress of heliotrope cloth is one of his latest designs. The gown has a simulated jacket front embroidered with old rose silk in conventional designs. This appears to open over a vest of black Persian astrakhan which is prolonged on the front of the skirt in half a dozen unique figure-like projections, irregularly notched like fern fronds and reaching the hem. All this is fastened down by button-hole stitching in old rose. About the bottom is a border of conventional embroidery in shades of lavender, purple and old rose.



GOWN OF VELVET AND BROCADE.

Evening toilet for brown eyes, slim figure and dark hair. Pink crepe de chine forms the dancing skirt hung with white mull lavishly embroidered with tiny rosebuds in pale pinks and greens. Over this is worn a polonaise with an embroidered mull yoke, veiling the neck and shoulders, to which is gathered a loose-fronted corsage shirred to a point and clasped by a sash of narrow pink ribbon fastened with a bow and long ends between the shoulder blades behind and drawn downward, under the arms to tie in a bow and hang in front with more ends. The mull sleeves are gathered very full and reach to the elbow on the lower side of the arm, coming above but a few inches below the shoulder.

House dress for a clear, light, perhaps rather pale complexion. Round waist of pale crepe shirred at the throat into a standing collar of plum-colored silk reaching only half way around, like a Venetian ruff modified. At the waist it is gathered into a plum-colored silk belt feather-stitched with [illegible]. The long, straight plum-colored skirt has not a suspicion of tournure and drapery. It hangs scant and clinging. The silk sleeves have flat epaulets and wide cuffs of blue.

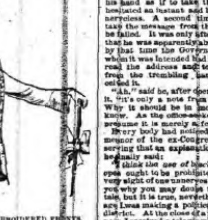
Evening gown of one of those new and regal brocades which make one think of courts and tiaras of diamonds. The ground of it is green and on this are spread large flower sprays in crimson and a pale yellowish flame. The redingote has revers and sleeves of deep maroon velvet and opens over a velvet skirt, which shows dimly between two broad sash ends or hanging panels of green silk, ending in long shawl fringe shading through green, crimson and flame. At the throat is a Marie Antoinette fichu of gold and flame crepe and the same crisp ruching is gathered into the sleeves. A companion gown is of heavy olive velvet with front of pink brocade showing leaf sprays of considerable size in olive and brown. Gold tinsel passementerie forms a border ten inches deep about the bottom, and there is a brocaded court train.

Opera cloak for a piquant Red Riding Hood of a girl. Fine scarlet cloth is the fabric and it has the modified peasant shape with two capes gathered to a collar.

Opera cloak for a young yellow haired chaperone. Yellow green velvet makes it, and it has sleeves like the Egyptian "abaya," long and flowing, and is edged about with black cocks' plumes.

Visiting gown for a call of high state and dignity. Mink fur borders the polonaise of heliotrope cloth both in front and about the bottom. The fur in its turn is edged on both sides with narrow jet trimming. Large jet passementerie ornaments loop the draperies and disclose the undergown of heliotrope armure.

Two gowns for the dowager on whom, alas, the golden gates of youth have closed forever. One is a dinner dress composed of a brocade of flowers in old rose and olive on a shaded ground. There are side panels of brown velvet partially covered with white point lace and a train of uncut velvet also in brown. The bodice is trimmed lavishly with point lace, and there is, instead of the youthful and inevitable sash, a double row of brown-silk cord passementerie, which is carried round the figure, making a classic girdle. The sleeves of uncut velvet are close from waist to elbow with a puff on the shoulder caught in the middle by a slender band of the galloon.



JACKET WITH EMBROIDERED FRONTS.

The other is also a dinner dress and shows a brocade of roses on shaded greenish black with front of green silk draped with shaded pink gauze, this in turn subdued by a drapery of black lace, giving richness without too much color ostentation.

Pretty little conceits in breakfast caps and French fans in gauze and feathers are among the strongest temptation which the season offers to lovers of dainty trifles. The most beautiful and costly of these are shown framed in glass cases in the dry goods stores. There are no boas with the winter furs. Instead, the collars of the jackets are rolled with fur, and the collar ends edge the waist-coat coming to a point at the waist line. Fur shoulder capes abound. Dame Fashion is prodigal in her winter display. Nothing previously shown has ever equalled the grace of design, the fineness of fabric and the sumptuousness of the importations from every quarter of the globe. Plain rich corded silks of superb lustre, brocades of unheard of splendor of tinting and design, armures royale, figured with odd-looking splinters in silver and gold or deep copper, soft beautiful crepe-de-chine fabrics, peau de soie and fleur de cygne are used for the construction of these gorgeous costumes. The most costly passementeries, hand embroideries and tinsels are used for garniture. Belts, girdles, antique collars and cuffs, revers, peplum fronts and panels are covered with this intricate tracery. In spite of all this splendor, street dresses will continue severely plain in cut, though composed of magnificent promenade fabrics, the whims of antique and mediæval drapery being confined to the drawing room and boudoir.

One of the most unique of the fall walking suits forms two gowns in one. The skirt is a light tan-colored armure silk, embroidered in front and on the sides in leaves and wooded sprays in purple silk and gold cord. The overdress is of fine purple cloth close-fitting in the back, the skirt reaching the ground, the front cut in loose jacket shape and separated below the waist line leaving the jacket front effect decided. The skirt front, as well as the whole front of the jacket is lined with embroidered silk like the skirt. When worn in the street the coat may be closed so that only a small part of the skirt is seen. But for a concert, church wedding, theater or calling costume the jacket fronts are rolled back disclosing an embroidered vest, the fronts of the skirt are thrown back and buttoned behind at the waist line, making a very elaborate and dressy costume.

ELLEN OSBORN.

PRESS PLUNDER.

OYSTERS are very self-possessed creatures. They never turn red when they get into a stew.

THE book that tells how a person may live on $150 a year was probably meant for a camp in the back woods, or it may be read as one of the thrilling romances of the year.

THE sons of Adam have always wanted the world to take them at their own valuation and pay them every Saturday night; but the world has always declined to do that.

A YOUNG woman who had just returned from Europe says that while she was in Southern France she visited a town called Nephew, or Cousin, or Niece, or something like that.

A VEGETARIAN crank in Columbus refuses ever to eat vegetables that have been in the same refrigerator with meat, but the same fellow was once caught kissing a butcher's daughter.

THEY say they have discovered a wonderful salt lake in the interior of Africa. This is good news. They can now pack some of the stories they send from there and possibly they won't spoil before they reach us.

ONE day recently, not having any thing particular to do, the captain of a schooner lying in Tampa bay counted the number of sharks in sight, and he made the figures 700. As he is cross-eyed and near-sighted he allows that some of the fish must have got away while he was counting, and are to be averaged in at about fifty.

AT the foot of Sand mountain, Ala., there is a large box bearing the inscription: "Drop a coin in the slot and draw out whisky at the rate of two dollars a gallon." This automatic bar is known as a "blind tiger." The man who was arrested for running the box bar-room escaped conviction as it was impossible to prove his ownership.

OUT in Ohio they want "style" even in housework, as the following letter received lately by the Castle Garden superintendent from Youngstown, O., will show: "M. Superintendence Castle Garden—Dear Sir: I would ask this favor of you. Air they any girls there that would like to get a good place to live in a family of 3 grown persons [illegible] house work? I would rather be one with some style and not under forty years old and one that the [illegible] trusted on all times. We have not got a girl. Nothen but nise and good [illegible] one will Sis' he bil. Please answer."

A LETTER just received from London says that the other day a thief broke into a mansion in Belgravia early in the morning and found himself in a music-room. Hearing footsteps approaching he hid behind a screen. From 7 to 8 o'clock the eldest daughter had a lesson on the piano. From 8 to 9 o'clock the second daughter took a singing lesson. From 9 to 10 o'clock the eldest son had a violin lesson. From 10 to 11 o'clock the other son took a lesson on the flute. At 11 all the brothers and sisters assembled and studied the ear-splitting piece for piano, violin, flute and voice. The thief staggered out from behind the screen at 11:30, and, falling at their feet, cried out: "For heaven's sake, have me took to the station, but cheese that bloomin' band!"

A QUEER MYSTERY.

The Message That Caused a Father's Hair to Turn White.

How a Politician Was Notified of His Son's Approaching End—An Inexplicable Message Delivered by a Supernatural Messenger.

That was a strange story told by an ex-Congressman the other day, and the circumstances under which it was related, writes the Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, were somewhat peculiar. The story was evidently the literal truth, and there can be no reason whatever for doubting its author's veracity, as there is for denying that he is one of the brightest and most honorable men in public life. He is yet a young man, but his hair is as white as if silvered with age. How it came to be white is a part of the story.

It was a few evenings ago that the ex-Congressman sat with a couple of newspaper correspondents and a Government official in the latter's room in a big hotel. They were discussing politics and the ex-Congressman was talking when he was interrupted by a knock at the door. In response to an invitation the door was opened and a messenger-boy stood at the entrance. In his hand was an envelope with a heavy black border. It was such as those used to inclose a death message or to indicate deep mourning. The boy paused for a moment, evidently speculating in his mind as to the proper person to receive the letter. Finally he tendered it to the ex-Congressman, who was nearest the door. That individual turned pale and trembled, but extended his hand as if to take the message. He hesitated an instant and his hand dropped nerveless. A second time he essayed to take the message from the boy, and again he failed. It was only after the third effort that he was apparently able to reach it, and by that time the Government official for whom it was intended had come to the door, read the address and took the message from the trembling hand that had received it.

"Ah," said he, after opening and reading it, "it's only a note from an office seeker. Why it should be in mourning I don't know. As the office-seeker is a woman, I presume it is merely a feminine freak."

Every body had noticed the strange demeanor of the ex-Congressman, and, observing that an explanation was expected, he finally said:

"I think the use of black-bordered envelopes ought to be prohibited by law. The very sight of one unnerves me. When I tell you why you may doubt the truth of the tale, but it is true, nevertheless. Ten years ago I was making a political canvass in my district. At the close of a speech one afternoon I received a telegram from home stating that my boy, the idol of my life, was dying, and that if I wished to see him alive I must come at once. I went immediately to the hotel, took my satchel and started for the depot. There was no passenger train due for some hours, but a freight was pulling out, and I jumped aboard. It was late when I reached the little town on the river where I could take a boat for home. I hurried to the wharf and found that the steamer would not pass until after midnight, and that I would thus be delayed many hours. I was undecided whether to wait for the steamer or hire a boat and leave at once. While I stood on the wharf hesitating a messenger boy suddenly appeared before me. Before I could say any thing he thrust into my hand a white envelope with a heavy black border. A strange feeling came over me, and it was only by the greatest effort that I was able to open the letter. The apprehension I felt in the few moments was awful, for I knew that it must contain dread news. When finally I looked at the letter there appeared in a strange hand the single sentence:

"'You must come quick.'

"There was no signature and nothing to indicate the origin of the letter, and when I turned to inquire of the messenger he had disappeared as completely as if swallowed by the earth. I knew that the message referred to my boy, although I was entirely ignorant of its source. I knew that I must hurry if I would see him alive. The message decided me, and at once I sought a boatman, and, securing his services, started down the river. I reached home some hours ahead of the steamboat upon which I had originally intended to come. I rushed to the house and was ushered into the presence of my dying boy. As I approached the bedside he recognized me with a smile, and then said:

"'Papa, I've been waiting for you.'

"Those were his last words, and in a moment he was dead. I then knew that the message I had received had come from him, and that he had been waiting for me. None of my family or friends had seen the message, nor did they know any thing about it. Afterward I made the most searching inquiries at the town where I waited for the boat; but nobody had seen the messenger, or ever heard of him. Not the slightest trace of him was to be found, and I was led to the inevitable conclusion that the messenger had never appeared to any one but me, and that I alone had seen the message.

"You can understand now why a black-bordered envelope always fills me with the greatest dread and apprehension, and why it was that I turned pale and trembled when the messenger-boy who just appeared in the door tendered me the ominous-looking message intended for you.

"You will observe that my hair is white, although I am yet a young man. Before that eventful night my hair was as black as a raven's wing.

"After I received the black-bordered letter from the mysterious messenger who came to me at the boat-landing that night, a feeling came over me such as I never knew before nor have known since. The awful agony of that trip down the river will remain fresh in my memory until death ends all. When I reached home and stood at the bedside of my boy my hair was as white as snow. It has darkened some in the years that have since passed, but it will never be black again."

TOLD OF THE TITLED.

EX-QUEEN ISABELLA, of Spain, recently won forty thousand francs on a horse-race.

THE King of Italy recently visited the tomb of Garibaldi and placed upon it a wreath.

WHEN the Czar of Russia visits his father-in-law, the King of Denmark, he pays all the expenses.

THE King and Queen of Greece have seven children, the youngest a year old. The Princess Alexandra is a very pretty girl of nineteen.

MR. LABOUCHERE says that if the Prince of Wales were to appear in petticoats the streets of London would soon be filled with men in the same garments.

LITTLE KING ALEXANDER, of Servia, is much impressed with a sense of his own dignity. He can scarcely write three lines on any topic without using the expression "I, the King."

DOM PEDRO has ordered the Brazilian Minister at Washington to keep him informed about the World's Fair of 1892. The Emperor will attend the fair if he is alive and well at the time.

QUEEN VICTORIA has a great fondness for pearls, and has taken especial care that all her daughters shall have fine pearl necklaces for their adornment. One of her first purchases after the birth of each was two or three pearls, and every year until their marriage she has added a pearl or two to her stock, until the necklace she required was ready.

THE Court of Austria has not yet recovered from the sensation caused by the Shah of Persia. He was considered at Vienna a thorough barbarian. He paid no attention to his royal hosts and snubbed them in the most brutal fashion. On three different occasions he missed appointments to visit public institutions in Vienna, and Archdukes and Ministers assembled to receive him, but he came not. His manners at the table were horrible, and he seemed to take delight in shocking the [illegible].

THE Queen of Corea belongs to one of the greatest families of the country and it is an open secret that she has at times her voice in the councils of the King. She has an establishment of her own inside the palace grounds, and the King, the Crown Prince and the Queen have each their separate households. The Queen dresses, of course, in Corean costume. She wears fine silks and she has beautiful diamonds. She carries a chatelaine watch, which is diamond-studded, and she smokes American cigarettes by the thousand.

THE Princess of Wales has been very stern and particular in the education of her daughters. She has had good material to work upon, as her girls are clever by nature. The Princess has taken great pride in their accomplishments and feels that her discipline has been extremely beneficial. The Prince of Wales has sometimes pleaded with her in vain to give her daughters a holiday. She has often answered that, as they were to hold high social positions, they had no time to waste while acquiring social graces.

THE royal family of England is not walking well at present. The Queen's knee-joint is still swollen and she can not walk without a stick. The Prince of Wales still suffers from a varicose vein and limps perceptibly. An affection of the instep causes the Princess of Wales to limp a trifle. Prince Albert Victor, who may rule over England some day, recently met with an accident while stalking deer in Scotland. In leaping from one bowlder to another he fell and sprained his ankle. He still goes about with his leg bandaged and walks lame. Royalty halts, so to speak.

THE King of Italy has a taste for precious stones that once seemed likely to develop into monomania. He used to carry handfuls of them in his pockets, and offered them on occasion, as old gentlemen used to offer a pinch of snuff. The crown jewels of Italy were always splendid. Victor Emanuel added largely to them, and Humbert has increased them with some marvelous gems. The famous Savoy necklace of pearls, which Queen Margherita loves to wear, consists of row upon row of magnificent pearls, which go round the neck and hang down over the corsage. The value of the necklace is considerably over half a million of dollars.

ELIXIRS OF ALL TIMES.

How Men Have Always Sought to Seize Immortality.

The Notorious Cagliostro and His Youth-Preserving Mixture—Ponce de Leon's Historic Search for the Fountain of Eternal Youth.

Dr. Brown-Sequard has in the course of ages had several predecessors in the same fascinating school of research, says the New York Mail and Express. Not all of the men who, in the course of time, have claimed to discover a conservator of youth have been as honest in their work as he. The notorious Count Cagliostro, whose name is still synonymous with fraud, was enabled to carry on his swindles by pretending, among other things, that he had discovered an "elixir of immortal youth."

Cagliostro, who flourished in the latter part of the eighteenth century, did a lively business in the "elixir" that was especially popular with the ladies. Cagliostro assured his dupes that by virtue of the specific he had already attained his 150th year, and his charming wife, his accomplice in the swindle, often talked affectionately of her son as an "officer in the Dutch navy."

He and his wife conducted a triumphant tour through Europe until they struck the court of St. Petersburg, where the Empress Catharine and her Scotch physician, Rogerson, who were skeptical concerning elixirs, saw through their deception and they disappeared. They came up again in another part of Europe, and carried on their scheme of fraud with varying success until Cagliostro was put in jail in Rome for Free Masonry. In spite of the virtues of his "elixir of immortal youth," he died in the fortress of San Leone, in his fifty-second year. His wife ended her days in a convent.

Albertus Magnus, who was born in the latter part of the twelfth century, gained so extensive a knowledge of chemistry that he was commonly reputed to be a sorcerer, and many legends of wonder have come down attached to his name.

Roger Bacon, who was one of the earliest scientific inquirers in the realm of the mysterious, flourished in the thirteenth century, though his mind was so remarkably able and his intuitions so clear that he is regarded as having lived four centuries before his time. He was for all practical purposes a modern thinker, whose conception of science was just and clear. He completed his studies at Oxford, though very little is known of his life there. He went over to Paris and took the degree of doctor of theology, and in 1250 was back in Oxford. He was full of vim and aggressive in controversy. Of course he got into trouble on account of his books, and spent fourteen years in prison. He wrote an enormous number of works, though his best-known was his "Opus Majus."

He was a firm believer in astrology and the philosopher's stone, and is reported to have said that he knew the circle had been squared.

Paracelsus was another mysterious genius of the past, who with a great mind groped in the gloomy chambers of knowledge, and, of course, often went astray. He gave up all the studies of the schools and set out through the world, traveling like a journeyman scholar, and studying as he said from nature herself. He spent years studying all the phenomena of mines and the diseases that affected miners. Of course, he acquired a good deal of knowledge that other people did not possess, and his belief in himself was so complete that by sheer force of self-confidence he forced others to listen and have faith in him.

He had his own theories concerning the make-up and the moods of nature. His eagerness to understand the relationship of man to the universe led him to the Kabbalis, where these mysteries, as he taught, are explained, and from these unsubstantial materials he constructed a visionary philosophy.

Defective as they may have been and unfounded on fact, his Kabbalistic doctrines led him to trace the dependence of the human body upon outer nature for its sustenance and cure. The doctrine of signatures, the connection of every part of the little world of man with a corresponding part of the great world of nature, was a painful and false exaggeration of this doctrine, but the idea carried in its train that of specifics. Paracelsus had seen how bodies were purified and intensified by chemical operations and he thought if plants and minerals could be made to yield their active principles it would surely be better to employ these than the crude and unprepared originals. He had, besides, by some kind of intuition, arrived at the conclusion that the operations of the body were of a chemical character, and that when disordered they were to be put right by counter oppositions of the same kind. Technically he was not a chemist. He did not concern himself, either, with the composition of his compounds or with an explanation of what occurred in their making. If he could get potent drugs to cure disease he was content, and he worked very hard in an empirical way to make them. He was probably a believer, too, in the philosopher's stone, the fetish of his age.

Ponce de Leon, though he was no chemist, had an abiding faith that an elixir of youth flowed in a fountain somewhere in the world. He became convinced at one time that the well was situated in the newly-discovered land of America, and came out here to seek it. He didn't find the fountain, but he did discover Florida, the land of flowers. He kept up his search for the fountain of happy immortality until he died, when it is to be hoped he found it.

From his day to this there have been scores of people as earnest as he in their belief in the existence of an elixir of life. Some of them simple searchers in the world of affairs and others grave savants delving into the depths of scientific knowledge.

Gulls and Their Young.

Every bird watches over and cares for her own nest, though the numbers are so great and the tumult so excessive that it is difficult to conceive how each gull can distinguish her own spotted eggs, placed in the midst of so many others, exactly similar in size, shape and color; and when at length the young are hatched and are swimming about on the loch or crowded together on some grassy point, the old birds, as they come home from a distance with food, by rapidly amid thousands of young ones exactly similar to their own, without even looking at them, until they find their own offspring, which, recognizing their parents among all the other birds, receive the morsel without any of the hungry little creatures around attempting to dispute the prize, each waiting patiently for its own parent, in perfect confidence that its turn will come in due season.

Rates of Advertising.

Space	WEEKS 1	2	3	MONTHS 1	2	3	6	12
1 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
2 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
3 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
4 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
5 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
¼ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
½ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
1 col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

All Electro's must be solid metal.
"Little of Everything" column, [illegible]
Double cols. 30 per ct. advance of above rates.

THE FUR BUSINESS.

Busy Craftsmen in the Old French Quarter of New York.

Cutter, Sewer, Blocker and Finisher Can Turn Out Three Dozen Muffs in a Day—Summer Work for Winter's Use.

Furs in summer! Yes, they're not so uncommon as to attract undue attention, but these are not worn over fair shoulders clad in lawn. They are, says the New York Star, heaped in various shapes of manufacture in the shop of a furrier down in the French quarter. At least one thousand men and women in New York are busied in making fur garments. There are factories employing many scores of workmen, and there are dingy little shops where a few journeymen work together, with small capital, low rent and moderate profits. In this particular shop there are only four men at work—just the number required to finish a garment under the division of labor usual in the fur business. One man stands at a counter with a pile of muskrat skins at his left hand, and in his right a keen little knife, shaped almost exactly like the outstretched wing of a bird. The skin of the fur has been dampened so that it is pliant. The cutter, as he is called, seizes a skin, turns the fur down and rapidly cuts out defects with his bird's-wing knife. Scarcely one skin in a hundred is perfect. There are shot holes, scars from bites and scratches, tears and other damage, the result of careless curing. By the time all defects have been cut out it may have been necessary to divide the skin into twenty strips and squares. About twenty per cent. of the fur is lost in the process of cutting; though the smallest pieces, even those not more than an inch square, are carefully saved, so long as they are well covered with hair.

As the knife slips through the leather you notice that the under side of the fur is a rich, golden brown, while the outer surface is black. The fur has been dyed, but the dye has not penetrated to the skin. The dyeing and curing are done elsewhere at factories which receive the raw skins by the thousand from the West and South. They come turned wrong side out and looking like great Japanese slippers from having been stretched and dried by the trapper on pointed shingles.

From the cutter's table the skins go to the sewer. He sits in a corner and works a strong sewing-machine, whose needle is easily driven through the skin. Ordinary, stout thread is used, and the sewer manages to piece together the various scraps in such a way that no seam shows on the hairy side. The seams on the under side appear like straight ridges or cords. The skin comes from the sewer a patchwork of leather almost as strongly held together as an uncut pelt.

From the sewer the material goes to the blocker. In this instance it is a muff that they are making. The "block" is in seven pieces that fit together and form an implement that looks almost exactly like a big wheel hub. The skin, which has been sewn end to end so as to form a hollow cylinder, is placed on the block form. It extends a little beyond the block, and a little wooden disk is placed on each end of the latter. To these disks the ends of the skin are nailed, and the whole thing is then placed in the window to dry.

When the skin is partly dried it is removed from the block and turned over to the finisher. He puts in wadding and lining and sews on the cord and tassels if the muff is thus to be ornamented. Finally the fur is carefully brushed until it is smooth and glossy. Then it is put into a round pasteboard box ready to be shipped to the merchant, through whom it is distributed to the retail dealers here and elsewhere.

Four men working together thus ten hours a day can make three dozen muffs. Cutters earn from $15 to $18 a week, and blockers and finishers from $10 to $12 a week. Women are sometimes employed as finishers at about the same wages. The busy season is from June to December. September, October and November are perhaps the most active months of the season. In the spring and winter business is dull, and the few men employed are at work upon inferior material, which can not be worked profitably in the busy season.

Fashion in furs changes slightly from year to year, and the growing taste for summer furs now has to be taken into account. The cheapest and most abundant skin is that of the hare; the costliest are those of the beaver, sable, seal, black fox and ermine. The last named is extremely rare. The despised polecat contributes fur to the comfort and ornamentation of beauty, and nobody turns up their nose at him. His unpleasant characteristics disappear in the curing. Pretty boas are made of the hare's skin, and costly capes of lynx, sable and beaver fur. Some of the costliest furs are imported, but the great mass of fur garments are made from native skins.

Foreigners have been pioneers in the fancy fur business of New York, and there are still many Frenchmen, Germans and Italians employed in the work; but native Americans are taking to the trade more and more. It requires from one to five years to become an expert cutter, but other branches of the trade are more quickly learned. The costliest furs are made up in large factories, because it takes considerable capital to keep a stock of raw material on hand. The business is rather dirty, but it is not specially unwholesome.

THE WIDOW CABOCHARD.

Something Unique in the Line of Successful Advertising.

It is well known, says Sampson's "History of Advertising," that at the Pere la Chaise cemetery, near Paris, there stands in a conspicuous position a splendid monument to Pierre Cabochard, grocer, with a pathetic inscription, which closes thus:

"His inconsolable widow dedicates this monument to his memory, and continues the same business at the old shop, 137 Rue Mouffetard."

Now a Parisian paper relates that a short time ago a gentleman, who had noticed the above inscription, was led by curiosity to call at the address indicated. Having expressed his desire to see the Widow Cabochard, he was immediately ushered into the presence of a fashionably-dressed and full-bearded man, who asked him what was the object of his visit.

"I came to see the Widow Cabochard, sir."

"Well, sir, here she is."

"I beg pardon, but I wish to see the lady in person."

"Sir, I am the Widow Cabochard."

"I don't exactly understand you. I allude to the relict of the late Pierre Cabochard, whose monument I saw yesterday at the Pere la Chaise."

"I see, I see," was the smiling rejoinder. "Allow me to inform you that Pierre Cabochard is a myth, and therefore never had a wife. The tomb you admired cost me a good deal of money, and although no one is buried there it proves a first-rate advertisement, and I have no cause to regret the expense. Now, sir, what can I sell you in the way of groceries?"

New York City Voters.

Of the 300,000 qualified voters in New York City only 14,000 pay taxes on property.

FRANKLIN'S PHILOSOPHY.

DRIVE thy business, let that not drive thee.

KEEP thy shop and thy shop will keep thee.

CREDITORS have better memories than debtors.

SLOTH makes all things difficult, industry all easy.

WHEN the well is dry they know the worth of water.

WHAT maintains one vice would bring up two children.

THE eye of the master will do more than both his hands.

IF you would have your business done, go; if not, send.

IF you would know the value of money, try to borrow some.

NOT to oversee workmen is to leave them your purse open.

WANT of care does more damage than want of knowledge.

BY diligence and perseverance the mouse eats the cable in two.

NOW I HAVE a sheep and a cow, every body bids me good-morrow.

EXPERIENCE keeps a dear school, but fools will learn in no other.

INDUSTRY need not wish; and he that lives upon hope will die fasting.

FOR age and want save while you may; no morning sun lasts all the day.

LYING rides upon debt's back; it is hard for an empty bag to stand upright.

WORK to-day, for you know not how much you may be hindered to-morrow.

WOMEN and wine, game and deceit, make the wealth small and the want great.

ALWAYS taking out of the meal-tub and never putting in, soon comes to the bottom.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE. | A. L. FORCE,
Editors and Proprietors.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR,
LEON ABBETT,
OF HUDSON.

Somerset County Nominations.

FOR ASSEMBLY,
JACOB KLOTZ.
FOR SHERIFF,
L. M. CODINGTON.

LEON ABBETT.

Some of the extreme political opponents of the Democratic candidate for Governor have been foolishly endeavoring to impeach his proven fidelity to equitable taxation and the practical interests of labor.

Such an effort is an absurd waste of partisan ammunition, for the official record of Leon Abbett, both as State Senator and Governor, attests beyond doubtful controversy his zealous and unflagging championship of popular rights against the exactions of monopoly.

The record cannot be expunged.

Unguarded opposition will secure to him a multitude of additional votes, because the people, the wage-earning masses, well know and appreciate the fact that he has ever been and remains to be their sincere friend.

He is a positive Democrat.

No man dare question his right to be.

The people like positive political character, when linked to undoubted personal ability and integrity, for the well-known reason, that such men can always be found acting squarely up to profession.

Our candidate for Governor is of that stamp.

No false colors hide him from view.

No partisan misrepresentation can impair his statesman popularity.

VOTE FOR LEON ABBETT.

NEEDED PROTECTION.

The grand prerogative of American citizenship is the elective franchise, the free exercise of popular sovereignty through the ballot box.

That is a privilege both honorable and responsible.

No man loyal to the principles of representative government, and alive to the duties they impose, however poor he may be as to worldly possessions, would barter his voting right for any possible consideration, and if so approached by a political corruptionist of any grade or shade, he ought to resent it as an unpardonable insult.

Treachery to freedom's regard for the issue is deep-dyed treason.

Yet men, trusted with citizenship, so criminate themselves by selling their votes. Lowering the dignity of manhood. Exchanging a priceless heritage for a mess of pottage.

Depraved as are such offenders, others of darker infamy abound. They are the plotters and traffickers, the unprincipled politicians who provide means and employ agents to carry out plans for the attainment of dishonest partisan ends. The men who actually create temptation, and, consequently, stand four-fold more culpable than the tempted.

Let us have Ballot Reform, so strongly framed and thoroughly effective, that it will sweep out of existence and forever the entire brood of political vultures, who, to gratify a vicious appetite for power and plunder, would desecrate even the temple of liberty.

Nothing so urgently needs protection as the ballot box.

ABBETT AND THE G. A. R.

The Splendid Tribute Paid to Him at the Last New Jersey Encampment.

The first testimonial by the Grand Army of the Republic to any Governor of New Jersey was given to ex-Governor Abbett at the twenty-second annual encampment of the Department of New Jersey held at Trenton last February.

A quotation from the printed official proceedings will show what the sentiment thought of the Democratic Gubernatorial candidate.

Commander Cole, Past Department Commander, in offering a resolution of thanks to ex-Governor Abbett, spoke as follows:

Commander, graduate in the [illegible] of civilized men: I move you, and I ask the unanimous consent, that the Assistant Adjutant General be directed to telegraph the [illegible] invitation of this encampment to ex-Governor Leon Abbett to attend our [illegible] this evening. I would say there has [illegible] a man in the State of New Jersey [illegible] filled the executive's chair—who was [illegible] full of the interests of the old soldier than Leon Abbett. He gave our comrades in the State of Maine, for use at the national encampment at Portland, the use of the tents belonging to the State. He assisted Past Commander [illegible] very largely in reducing the debt that [illegible] under when he became commander, and it [illegible] to me that we can do no less than [illegible] for his services and invite him to [illegible] this evening. I move the adoption of the [illegible].

Comrade [illegible], commander, said: In seconding this motion, I do it most heartily and gladly. Though I may think and feel on [illegible] questions differently from the ex-Governor, I think there has been no Governor who has been a stronger friend to the Grand Army than Governor Abbett.

The motion was thereupon put and carried.

A Possible Speaker.

Assemblyman Ulrich is just now confined to his home with a very severe cold, but he will probably be able to be out during Tuesday night of next week to receive the customary news of his election for another term. If the Legislature should be captured by the Republicans what's the matter with Mr. Ulrich for Speaker? It is due him for every reason, and he can fill the chair with dignity and ability.

But Chief Carey's Funds.

It is said that the temperance people of this city have promised to back Chief Carey in his fight against the Plainfield liquor sellers, to the amount of $[illegible] if necessary.

As such statement is made by the Press it is undoubtedly untrue. But, unless Chief Carey is given some such financial backing, he can do nothing. THE PRESS is told—and believes it—that Chief Carey has already spent about $200 out of his own pocket, yet he finds it impossible to make a case strong enough to convince a jury of honest minded men.

The Chief seems to be doing all he can, but lacks backing. He has plenty of sand, but needs [illegible].

—The people want the freight depot moved away. Whether it goes to Netherwood or Grant avenue station doesn't matter, so long as it is moved.

COUNCILMAN MOFFETT ANSWERS.

He Says Truthfully, the G. A. R. Has No Politics.

(From Sunday's World.)

The following correspondence which passed between the President of the Veteran State League and the Commander of a Grand Army Post in Plainfield is both timely and significant:

HEADQUARTERS
VETERAN STATE LEAGUE OF N. J.,
CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 11, 1889.

Mr. [illegible], Plainfield, N. J.

DEAR SIR: We solicit your co-operation with the [illegible] printed matter in the interest of Gen. Edward Burd Grubb, our candidate for Governor of New Jersey.

We want to send you something for the [illegible] of your locality to read. We want them to know the manner of man our candidate is, and we ask you, as a comrade of 1861-65, to see that our old commander, Edward Burd Grubb, in the coming fight, can count on those whom it has always been his pleasure to serve.

We appeal to you, by the memories of the weary march, bivouac and battle to honor and support a soldier and an honored son of New Jersey by work and voice on the day of election, Nov. 5, 1889.

We want you to use your best efforts in this fight, as we are in to win. We want you to see every man who wore the blue within your reach. See that he stands right and, with those drums of [illegible], colors flying, to the column advanced to victory.

Let me know by return mail if you will help us elect Edward Burd Grubb Governor of New Jersey.

With every regard, I am,
Yours very truly,
H. L. HARTSHORN,
President.

GEO. BARRETT, Secretary.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 14, 1889.

H. L. Hartshorn, Esq.

DEAR SIR: On the 13th inst., I received a circular letter, purporting to be issued by the Veteran State League, asking me to help elect E. Burd Grubb Governor of this State, stating that he was our candidate, and signed by you as President. It seems to me you must have made some mistake, as I never heard of his receiving any other nomination than the Republican, and is the Veteran State League composed solely of Republicans. If so, I have been misinformed. If not, I do not think you have any right to call him our candidate, as the Grand Army of the Republic is no association in which there are politics.

I would be most happy to further the interests of Gen. E. B. Grubb, but as a Democrat I cannot support or help elect him Governor of the State.

Respectfully yours,
E. D. MOFFETT.

A little over a year ago Gen. Grubb was chosen as elector on the Republican ticket. He declined to serve and gave as his reason that the Grand Army was not a political organization, and, being Commander, he could not accept the honor. It would be interesting to know whether his position on this point has changed. He must be aware that the officers of the League are trying to use the Grand Army to assist the Republican candidate, and he himself has encouraged the idea in his speeches. I fear it will strike many people that the General has placed himself in the unenviable light of one who would subvert the principles of a great organization only when he may be personally benefited thereby. One may pardon much in a candidate who is extremely anxious to be elected, but whether his anxiety can be considered sufficient excuse for involving an association whose mainstay is its non-partisanship, in a purely partisan contest, is a very grave question.

Other post commanders who have received this letter will do well to consider seriously the propositions advanced by Mr. Moffett before engaging thoughtlessly in work which could not fail to estrange many of their old comrades in arms.

BUT ONE QUESTION AND ONE ANSWER.

(From the Central Times.)

We are surprised to find our "get up and get there" breezy little daily, the Press, showing so much opposition to the wishes of the mass of temperance people in Plainfield to banish the dram shops from the town. It says in its last reference to the subject, "Prohibition has been tried in Plainfield and found wanting." We think that paper will find it difficult to show when prohibition has been "tried" in Plainfield, in any fair interpretation of that word. The Press perhaps refers to the anomalous condition of affairs this year when the license council has refused to grant licenses because of the baby play of certain democratic members, who would not vote for any licenses for the reason that the license republicans of the council would not vote for all licenses.

In a sense, to be sure, that dead lock among license members of the council resulted in the prohibition of the liquor traffic, and the city has presented the spectacle of having sent a license majority to the council who have, by the silly attitude of the democrats of that body, refused to do the bidding of the majority of the voters. In other words, the city has technical prohibition when the people, as indicated by their votes, declared against prohibition.

Now, no one who wishes to be perfectly fair in his statements will say that under such circumstances prohibition can have a genuine trial in any community. The majority whose will has been disregarded by the council, will naturally wink at any attempt of the liquor seller to violate the law, and the dram seller, in turn, knowing that the majority of voters has sanctioned his traffic, will not feel under much compulsion to rigidly keep the law, as, we understand, is the fact in Plainfield today.

If licenses had been refused because the people had risen up and elected an anti-license council, then prohibition would be fairly on trial, for it would then have behind it the moral force of the majority of voters who would be active in their endeavors to have their will, as expressed at the ballot box, properly respected by the dram seller. Then we should have a test of the success or failure of prohibition that would be worth something, provided that the test was continued long enough.

One year, however, under the best tests, would not be sufficient time to prove the success of prohibition in Plainfield. For a hundred years the liquor traffic has been licensed here, and it is not possible that it should be completely overthrown by prohibition in one year or two years. But give Plainfield five consecutive years of prohibition, and dram selling will never be known again in this community after that time.

We hope the Press will reconsider its decision to oppose prohibition in our fair city, and throw its influence on the side of those who wish to banish the saloon and the bar room from the place.

[Even after reading the above which would impel anyone to despair of ever pulling the blinders of fanaticism off the eyes of the Times, we will make yet another effort to help our contemporary see straight.

[The Times, we understand, is in favor of as few saloons in Plainfield as is possible. So is THE PRESS. But the Times accuses us of opposing such a result because we cry go back to high license and thirteen saloons, while our contemporary is in favor of continuing as the city now is—with no license and sixty-three saloons.

[Is such a policy banishing the saloon and the barroom from the place? The article we quote above is 18 inches long, yet it doesn't contain an able bodied argument or reason, nor a leg to stand on that isn't suffering from paralysis. There is only one question in this matter, and it has only one answer. Do we have less liquor-selling under high license, or under no license? Ed.]

As a family medicine, Ayer's Pills excel all others. They are suited to every age, and, being sugar-coated, are easy to take. Though searching and thorough in effect, they are mild and pleasant in action, and their use is attended with no injurious results.

Who'll Pay the Damage.

The contractors engaged in building the county roads say they are not required to hang out lights by night where they have made dangerous excavations. In consequence many a horse's legs and its driver's neck, run the risk of being broken by a sudden upset. In such an event should suit be brought against the Freeholders for damages?

PLAINFIELD STREET RAILWAY.

Books have been opened for subscriptions to the stock and bonds of the Plainfield Electric Street Railway company. A few figures in relation thereto will be interesting and instructive.

The cost of the plant for the route shown on the map published exclusively in THE PRESS a few weeks ago, is estimated as follows:

Cost of track	[illegible]
Cost of seven cars, equipped with motors and storage batteries	[illegible]
Real estate	1,200
Building	1,500
Dynamo	3,500
Wiring from station	700
Preliminary expenses	500
Legal expenses	1,000
	$84,[illegible]

It is proposed to capitalize the company at $70,000, divided into 1,400 shares of $50 each, and to bond the road in like amount in 5 per cent. bearing bonds of $500 each, each purchaser of a $500 bond to be entitled to five shares of stock, thus leaving 700 shares of stock in the Treasury, when all the bonds shall have been sold, to be disposed of as the Directors may see fit.

The estimated patronage of the road, based upon comparison with a large number of similar instances, is 1,200 passengers per diem, $60, and deducting the estimated expenses, as follows:

DAILY EXPENSES.

Power	$ 5 00
Conductors and drivers, 8 at $1.75	14 00
2 tenders at car house	3 00
Superintendent	3 00
Oil, waste, etc.	1 50
Repairs	2 00
	$[illegible]
10 per cent. depreciation on rolling stock $2,800, or per day	7 67
5 per cent. depreciation and repairs on track, $1,450, or per day	3 [illegible]

RECEIPTS.

1,200 passengers at 5c	$60 00
Expenses	45 97
Earnings	$14 03

or 1.2 per cent. on capital stock.

The daily earnings would be $14 03, or $5,120 65 per annum, which would pay the bond interest of 5 per cent., and enable the company to declare a dividend on the stock at the rate of 2 3 per cent. per annum.

METHOD OF OPERATING.

The track will be nearly four miles long, and it is proposed to keep four cars running, so as to ensure a ten minute schedule from 6 A. M. to 8 P. M.; after which two cars will be withdrawn and the intervals increased to twenty minutes until 11 P. M., when the service ceases.

The other three cars are for relays and to obviate the necessity for frequently transferring the batteries. The cars are thoroughly lighted by electric lights and warmed in Winter.

Mr. Leo Daft says in relation to certain reports that have been circulated: "Rumors of threatened injunctions to restrain the company from the use of the storage batteries, having been freely circulated by a few hostile persons who seem to lack the courage to let their names appear, it should be added that the batteries it is proposed to use are in daily service in almost all the important cities of the Union and are sold with an ample guarantee by entirely responsible parties against loss or interference in their use. There are cars in commercial operation every day using these batteries exclusively, and they are not enjoined simply because there is no ground for an injunction. Any further threats of this kind will be traced to their source and promptly disposed of as the law provides."

A Plainfielder Electrical Engineer Praises a Plainfield Inventor's Lamps.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—With your kind permission I would like, through the columns of your paper, to add a few remarks to what has already been said to your readers in regard to the all-absorbing topic of electric lighting, and the dangers attached thereto.

Whether or not—as Mr. Edison says—"the high tension must go," one thing is certain, and that is, a good deal of it ought to "go," and the sooner the better. An experience of nearly eight years of every-day service in running low tension electric dynamos for electric lighting and for the transmission of power, places me in a position—as I believe—to safely "observe" that I believe that it is almost (if not altogether) criminal to use the deadly high-tension current where the low tension will answer the same purpose; and no manufactory, business house or place of amusement of any kind whatever, should have within its walls an electric light plant of high tension current for the purpose of furnishing either incandescent or arc lights. It is dangerous and absolutely unnecessary.

"Low tension" arc lights are now budding out all over the country, and are, of course, to a certain extent, taking the place of the high tension system. The New York Sun, with pardonable pride, as told in THE PRESS, announced to the public that they have erected eight "low tension" arc lights in front of the Sun building, the current of which is furnished by their own plant, which also furnishes current for their incandescent lamps. The brilliant arc lamps in front of the theatres of H. C. Miner, Esq., in New York, are of the low tension character, and manufactured by Mr. Kinsman of your city. The current for them as well as for 1,400 incandescent lamps, is furnished by Mr. Miner's own Edison plant, which is considered by many persons eminent in their profession, who have traveled extensively throughout the United States and Canada, and who have inspected the plant, its machinery and its wonderful scenic effects—flooding the stage in an instant with any color of the rainbow—as the most complete and best working electric light plant in the United States.

One dynamo of the plant is used exclusively for furnishing the 800 incandescent lamps for the People's Theatre. The other (there are two in the plant) furnishes all the current necessary for the Bowery Theatre as well as for the two arc lamps in front of "The Bowery," and the three in front of "The People's." As to the condition of the last named dynamo, it may be of interest to state that although it has been running 5 "arcs" and 450 "incandescents" for nearly a year, the "wear" of the commutators is absolutely imperceptible, no "turning off" or filing being necessary, the "brushes" have not worn one-sixteenth of an inch, and such a thing as a spark of electric current is not allowed to appear.

I mention this to show the practicability of running arc and incandescent lights from the same dynamo and from the same wires, and a dozen more "arcs" may be added to the five spoken of with an equally satisfactory result. "Exciters" are unknown with the system; neither are "converters" necessary; and such a thing as a man being "converted" into a corpse with the system, is unknown.

As an old Plainfielder I have been prompted to trespass on your valuable space—perhaps too much—from reading the articles which have lately appeared in THE PRESS bearing upon the subject of electric lighting, and from the fact that many thoughtful people have arrived at the conclusion that any electric current which admits of the probability or possibility of roasting a man to death in mid-air should "go."

PAUL SYMONS,
Chief Engineer H. C. Miner's Edison Electric Light Plant, New York.

THE TEACHER WHIPS A SCHOLAR

Quite an excitement exists as to the action of the Principal of the New Market school in administering punishment to a boy for disobedience. The parent threatens a prosecution. It is well known that corporal punishment is against the law and it is never inflicted unless with express authority of the parent. But had no such authority been given in the case in point, the fact of a teacher being attacked by a scholar would warrant defense in any case.

That order must be maintained in a public school and that the teacher must have control over her pupils is a conceded fact, and the Trustees are determined to thus control the school if it becomes necessary to expel a number of refractory scholars. The parents should aid and not oppose such efforts in behalf of good order and discipline.

Speaks Well for Father Freeman.

Rev. N. M. Freeman, who has lately been relieved of the charge of attending to the parish of St. John the Evangelist's church, Dunellen, in order that he may devote more time to St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, gave the following gratifying report, with his farewell address to the catholics of Dunellen, Sunday, Oct. 20.

Father Freeman leaves this mission with a small surplus in the treasury, although one year ago when he took charge it had over five hundred dollars of debt.

Rev. Father Bogaard of Somerville who will succeed Father Freeman, was the first pastor of Dunellen to which he now returns and will no doubt be received with joy by his old friends there. In future Father Freeman will have two masses in St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, every Sunday, as announced to his people on Sunday last, the first at 8 A. M., the second at 10:30 A. M., Sunday school at 3 P. M., and Vespers at 8 P. M.

Financial report of St. John's church of Dunellen, from Jan. 1, 1889, to Oct. 20, 1889:

RECEIPTS.

Cash on hand Jan. 1, 1889	$ 74 92
Pew rents	204 [illegible]
Collections	444 54
Picnic	91 15
Extras	208 84
Total	$1,0[illegible]

EXPENDITURES.

Rector's salary	$600 00
Debt paid	400 07
Diocesan purposes	30 02
Church expenses	66 00
Balance in treasury	9 15
	$1,0[illegible]

REV. NICHOLAS M. FREEMAN, Rector.

Consumption Kills Firebug Jackson Just Before His Pardon Was Expected.

John M. Jackson, the Plainfield incendiary, died of consumption in the State Prison at Trenton, Monday, after a lingering illness. His wife, who still lives in this city, with a family of two boys and three girls, all under ten years of age, had been hoping that when the Board of Pardons met next Monday, the efforts of those interested would secure her husband's release, as his health was such the Prison physician had given up all hope of saving his life. Death came, however, a week before the Board met, and Jackson died within the walls of his jail.

Mrs. Jackson will receive $108 from an insurance company in which she had a policy on her husband's life, taken since he was committed. The funeral services are not yet arranged. Of the five children left, an infant boy and girl are twins.

Jackson was captured almost in the act of setting fire to a house on Union ave., just after midnight, Sunday morning, August 28, 1887, by Councilman Carey, now Chief of Police, of this city. He was found guilty in the County Court on three charges of incendiarism—although supposed to be guilty of many other like acts from which Plainfield had suffered for a number of years—and sentenced by Judge McCormick on November 30, 1887, to fifteen years in State Prison.

Of that time he had served less than two years when he died. The development of consumption in his case had been very speedy, and his death has been expected every day for a few weeks past, by the prison doctors.

Statistics That Dr. Carroll Will Gather for the 11th Census.

Work has already commenced in the office located in this city of the 6th Division, 11th Census of the United States—or, in other words, the Bureau of Statistics of Religious Bodies. Henry K. Carroll, LL. D., of North Plainfield, editor of the New York Independent, is the Special Agent in charge of the work of the Division. He was appointed by Robert P. Porter, Superintendent of the United States Census. Something over $6,000,000 has been appropriated for the work, and it is intended if possible to complete it by the close of 1891.

Dr. Carroll is preeminently fitted in very many ways to organize, direct, and also to personally assist in the important work of securing complete and accurate statistics of the one hundred and seventy-eight thousand congregations and their churches, and the many thousands of ecclesiastical divisions within the length and breadth of the nation. He is known already throughout the country, and so universally and personally esteemed, that a request from him will be met at once with a satisfactory response that another solicitor might plead for in vain for months.

There has never before been a systematic work carried on in the direction of procuring possibly the most interesting and probably the most important of statistics—that concerning religious bodies. Dr. Carroll will spread his correspondence from ocean to ocean, and into the remotest corners of every State and Territory. He will seek out every knot of worshipers who have reached the form of a denomination, no matter what they worship or what they believe. All he asks is their numbers, and information regarding their organizations or societies, church edifices, seating capacity, and value of church property if they have any.

The Chief Clerk of the office here is Mr. Charles E. Buell, a gentleman possessed of enough experience in census methods to supply a score of clerks. He was first the auditor of the reports of railway corporations in the Census of 1880, and afterwards appointed to gather the statistics of telegraph and telephone companies. He will begin for Dr. Carroll the long search that, in the latter's own words, "will be broad enough in scope to embrace every religious body of whatever name or creed, however few or many its churches and members." All will receive the same attention and the same solicitous care, that entire truth and justice may be done all alike. Whether Reformed Mormons, Latter Day Saints, just Plain Mormons or any other kind of Mormons; whether Millerites or Seventh Day Adventists; whether Roman Catholics or Armenians; Greeks, Methodists, Hebrews, Baptists, Mohammedans, Presbyterians or nothing at all except in name; each will be found set forth as honestly and prominently as the other, in Dr. Carroll's report when printed by order of the United States Government.

—Business is booming at the Scott Printing Press Works. Casts are now made every day, whereas four weeks ago they were made only every other day, or three times a week. New men are also being taken on, to "rush" the work.

The first successful blood-purifier ever offered to the public was Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Imitators have had their day, but soon abandoned the field, while the demand for this incomparable medicine increases year by year, and was never so great as at present.

Officers of the Temperance Aid Society.

At the annual meeting of the Woman's Temperance Aid Society held in Reform Hall, Tuesday afternoon, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. F. M. French
1st Vice President—Mrs. Geo. Opdyke
2d " —Mrs. J. D. Titsworth
3d " —Mrs. J. E. Stewart
Secretary—Mrs. Cory
Treasurer—Mrs. F. E. Dunham

Democratic Delegates.

The Democrats of the city held primaries Tuesday, for the election of delegates to the Assembly Convention at Westfield today, with the following results:

First ward—Chairman, John Rafferty; Secretary, John J. Kenney; Delegates, S. E. Flower, John Rafferty and Daniel Livingston.

Second ward—Chairman, James Martine; Secretary, John Mortimer; Delegates, Charles B. VanWinkle and Louis H. Brown.

Third ward—Chairman, Levi Kline; Secretary, W. K. McClure; Delegate, James T. Scott.

Fourth ward—Chairman, V. L. France; Secretary, W. H. Warner; Delegates, E. D. Moffett, W. H. Warner, E. C. Searing, J. C. Blimm and Joseph Hawkins.

Where Does the Money Come From?

Not one person out of fifty that attends the races nowadays goes for the love of the sport, through the desire to see highly organized and well trained thoroughbreds struggle for the mastery. The cold truth is that the whole business has simmered down to the question how to win on the different contests.

Everybody is after the money. The racing associations offer liberal purses, the bookmakers pay big sums for betting privileges, and the public studies form and tries to pick the winner, and they must do it with varying success, judging from the throngs that are to be found at the tracks on race days. Where does the money come from? Perhaps several merchants and salesmen who are worrying through temporary financial embarrassments could tell.

Collision on the Ferry.

Travelers to Plainfield were delayed Sunday evening, by a collision on the Jersey City ferry. It occurred at 6.05 o'clock on the North River, just outside the Cortlandt street ferry, between the big Albany tug Victoria and the ferryboat New Jersey. The ferryboat had come across from Jersey City and was entering the slip. The Victoria was running up the river leading a long tow. The tide was coming in rapidly and there was a strong current. The wind was on the opposite side of the ferryboat and probably threw her down, for the tug boat appeared to have struck her on the starboard quarter. She came with such force that she crushed in the guard rail from the wheel aft, and tore the rudder out of place. The tug continued her course and was only slightly scratched in the bow. The New Jersey was laid up, being unfit for service.

Death of a Former Plainfielder.

(From the Elizabeth Journal.)

Mr. Piatt Drake died at his home near Topeka, Ill., October 11, aged 68 years and 6 months. Mr. Drake was born in Warren township, Somerset county, N. J., April 9, 1821. He was the eleventh child of a family of twelve, the only survivor now being an aged brother living near Delaware, Ill., and who was present at the funeral.

Mr. Drake was converted in early life and united with the First Baptist church in Plainfield. He married Miss Julia C. Brant, of the same place in 1845. They moved to Illinois in 1852 and settled in Quiver, Havana township. Thus Mr Drake lived over half his life in that community. He was the father of sixteen children, nine of whom are living and were all present at his funeral but one son, who is in Nebraska, and was detained by sickness. Mr. Drake was a man of strict integrity, and lived and died in peace with all. He suffered much at times during his illness of three weeks of nervous prostration in connection with palsied limbs of six years standing.

Mr. Burdick is Coming

And from the testimonials of his wonderful success in other places, (one of which is given below) it is hoped that much good may result to Plainfield from his labors here. A mass meeting will be held in Music Hall, on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, on November 10.

From the Malone, (N. Y.) Palladium: "The temperance meetings at Malone, under the leadership of P. A. Burdick, are developing even a larger and intenser interest than was anticipated. They have been held nightly, and occasionally in the afternoon besides. A choral service of song, conducted by a considerable number of singers, precedes them. Mr. Burdick proves to be a speaker of great power before a mixed audience, and evinces rare capacity for continuous discussion of his subject without repeating himself. New anecdotes and presentation of his case in different phases occur at each meeting. He is tremendously in earnest, and, though extreme in many things, impresses his hearers, on the whole, as a fair and temperate advocate. There is no ranting, no irrelevant or alienating matter in what he says, and no conduct such as often weakens temperance revivals under injudicious leadership. The audiences are limited only by the capacity of the hall, and at more than one meeting scores have gone away because they could not find even standing room. Nearly a thousand signatures to a cast-iron total abstinence pledge have already been secured."

He Hears the Bell Ring, but Doesn't Know Where the Clapper Hangs.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Mr. Ulrich objects to being called a temperance man. What does he mean? Is it a disgrace for a Republican candidate, or any party candidate, to be called a "temperance man?" Here is Judge Ulrich's objection as I find it over his own signature. It should be reprinted for the benefit of the public, for it means something:

In the article in last evening's paper about me, you stated that I am "regarded as a strong temperance man." I fear the statement is open to misconstruction, and that I may be falsely placed before my constituency as posing as a Prohibitionist. I would much prefer to be spoken of as a Republican, as the people know what that means and what the Grand Old Party has accomplished upon all questions of temperance and moral reform.

JOHN ULRICH.

Mr. Editor, if this is not a bid for the rum vote of our district, I don't know what is. I don't think that Sheridan Shook, or any brewer, distiller or saloon keeper in the country, would raise so foolish an objection. Can it be possible that there is a temperance man in any part of our country that wants such a man to represent them in any National or State reform?

About all the defeats of reforms in our country in the past have come through just such candidates. For one I cannot throw away my vote for such weakness.

TEMPERANCE.

[Our correspondent is certainly making much ado about nothing. Mr. Ulrich undoubtedly only objects to being called a "temperance man," because nowadays those so called—like our correspondent, for instance—are the most intemperate men in the world in most every way. They are cross-eyed in their political principles, knock-kneed in their political professions, and hump-backed in their political preachings. They are not fit politically to represent a common sense community, and Mr. Ulrich naturally objects to being so labelled.—ED.]

IN FAVOR OF THE PLAINTIFFS.

The jury in the Frazee Lee will case who went out at H[illegible] o'clock Wednesday, came in same afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, with a verdict in favor of the heirs and against the Scotch Plains Baptist church.

A Lucky Escape.

A workman in the employ of Mr. Chas. Graves, the slate roofer, while at work on Justice T. R. Crossley's house on Duer street, at noon Monday, had an ugly fall, but fortunately he escaped without serious injury.

He "Got."

Justice Hardy, of North Plainfield, had three tramps before him on Monday, charged with begging from house to house in the Borough. He gave one ten days and another thirty days in Somerville jail. The third was given twenty minutes to "git up and git." He got.

A Plainfielder in Bad Company Comes to Grief.

(From the Elizabeth Herald.)

George Green, of Plainfield, and a Mrs. Keehe, of this city, who is looked upon by the police as a woman of disreputable character, was arraigned this morning before Justice Hetfield charged with acting in a disorderly manner at 2:30 o'clock this morning on Broadway, between First and Second streets, where they were arrested by Officer O'Loughlin. The man hung his head in shame but the woman seemed to have no shame and looked defiantly at those about her.

The Justice disposed of her by committing her to jail for thirty days in default of a fine of $20 and costs, and the man for the same period in default of a fine of $10.

Green begged hard to be permitted to go, saying that he had simply met the woman and was talking to her, he had never seen her before and had no desire to ever set eyes upon her again.

"I have no doubt of that, Mr. Green," replied the Justice, "but then her character is too well known, and there is no excuse at all for you, a married man, being seen in such disreputable company at such an early hour in the morning. No sir, you will have to suffer, it would have been better for you, had you staid in Plainfield."

The Rev. Mr. Mitchell Away From Home.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather a large number attended the service of the First Presbyterian church, Sunday morning, to hear the Rev Charles B Mitchell who exchanged with the pastor, Dr. Ketcham.

Mr. Mitchell's sermon was not confined to the exclusive privilege and work of his hearers, but to the general work of the entire Christian community. The text—Heb. X: 24—he made the base of a broad scope for united effort in the cause of Christ. The preacher illustrated the abundance of life God came to give, by the life of a rose-plant which must develope in the beauty and fragrance of a blooming flower if permitted to live—otherwise it would die. Excellency in work and love for fellow man is the privilege of all Christians. The field is the World; plans may be denominational, but it was one cause, one church, one end; a flower in the Celestial Kingdom, or death.

During his discourse Mr. Mitchell paid a merited compliment to the fortunate possessors of the new edifice, saying that he felt quite at home, not because the builder and architect were of his own people, but he was surrounded with the beautiful and in his Father's house.

A Young Woman the Victim of an Engineer's Disobedience.

Mrs. Anna Higgins, of Bayonne, only twenty-three years of age, left her home and sleeping babe, Wednesday, Oct. 23, shortly after noon, to do some shopping in New York, one of the objects of her mission being the purchase of a wedding present for her sister, whose nuptials had been announced to take place in a week. Together with others, she waited at Bayonne station for a scheduled train, and together with them started towards the train which had just come to a standstill on the East-bound track.

Mrs. Higgins was accompanied by a friend, Miss Maria Logan, and was looking at a photograph which the lady was showing her. The two ladies had just started to cross the West-bound track, when Miss Logan, who was slightly in the rear, was horrified to see a locomotive bearing directly down upon her friend. She made a frantic effort to pull her out of the way, but on the instant the engine struck the lady, hurling her many feet. Bystanders and train men picked up the inanimate and disfigured body, while others ran hastily for a physician, but the lady gasped her last just as the bearers reached the top step of the station.

It is against the most stringent rules of the N. J. Central Railroad Company for any locomotive or train to pass between a station and a standing passenger train. The locomotive that killed the young woman was one of the P. & R., and was running without any cars behind it. It kept right on after striking its victim, without stopping anywhere, and dashed through Plainfield shortly after. When it reached its destination the engineer disappeared and has not been seen since. If caught he can be convicted of manslaughter.

Matters Before the Board of Education.

The Board of Education having just received a bill from the City for over $300 as their proportion of the cost of assessing and collecting the city's taxes, have referred the matter to School Trustees Murray and Wadsworth with instruction that legal advice be procured as to whether the Board can be required, in the future, to pay any part of the salaries of the City's Assessor and Collector, or any of the costs of the delinquent tax collections.

At the same meeting when such action was taken—Saturday evening last—it was suggested that inquiry be made to discover if the Board was receiving its share of the $6,000 that has been collected of back taxes by Justice Nash. THE PRESS is told by Collector Johnson, that one-fifth of the amount was set apart for the Board.

Mrs. Thyng has been appointed teacher of drawing in place of Miss Burt who has been so ill and is now being cared for in Albany hospital, by her relatives. Miss Thyng is a specialist in the system of instruction that Miss Bulkley particularly favors, and Acting Principal Lincoln B. Goodrich reports to the Board that she thoroughly fills the place in every respect.

The matter of evening schools has been taken in hand by the Board, under a resolution adopted to the effect that the evening schools for both men and women shall during this term be under the exclusive control of the Board of Education, with the teachers now employed by them. Dr. Hurlbut questioned whether the Board had the right to establish schools for those beyond the age prescribed by law. President Kirkner did not believe that such a charge would be brought against the Board when the schools were such a benefit to the city intellectually and morally. The expense will be limited, as the teachers are the regular ones.

The Committee on Teachers—Trustees Kirkner, Babcock and Hurlbut—were given entire charge of the details. They were empowered by resolution to employ what teachers they deemed necessary, to decide on the dates of beginning and to fix the evenings of the week that the schools will be open.

Like Old Times, Again.

A correspondent writes: "Last evening the regular Reform Club meeting was a reminder of the first meetings when the spirit of reform flowed at its highest ebb. Short and spirited speeches interchanged with the sweet voice of Mrs. King, made the old Hall a place of pleasure and a prophet of the future."

Broke One of His Ribs.

Jacob Myer, of Elizabeth, while at work cutting down a tree on the old Bronck property in Grove street, met with a painful accident Thursday afternoon. When the tree fell one of the limbs struck Mr. Myer on the side, fracturing a rib. The injured man was taken to his home in Elizabeth.

Inspected by the Grand King.

Grand King of the Grand Chapter, M. C. Dodd, of Newark, paid a fraternal visit to Jerusalem Chapter of this city, on Oct. 24. He made a pleasing address, as did also Companion J. B. Probasco.

A collation was served subsequently in the banquet room, and thoroughly enjoyed by all because High Priest Joseph G. Miller was the caterer.

Another Team Scared.

Mr. Wm. B. Wadsworth's team hitched to a light buggy in which were the owner and his brother, turned the corner of Park and North avenues Thursday afternoon, just as a fast train rushed across the bridge. The startled animals turned so short that one fell and dragged the other down. The pole was broken, but otherwise there was no damage as the Messrs Wadsworth jumped out and the horses were seized at once.

Spilled Milk.

A horse attached to a milk wagon belonging to Wm. Rudman, started off just as the owner was getting in the wagon on Friday. Mr. Rutman caught hold of the lines and was thrown to the ground, the hind wheel passing over him. The horse ran down Manning avenue to Somerset street, up that thoroughfare to Johnston Drive, and then to the summit of the mountain, where he was caught by Mr. Charles Willis. The milk was all spilled by the time the horse was caught.

Wedding at Westfield.

Wednesday evening Miss Lulu May Flemming, stepdaughter of L. M. Whittaker, of Westfield, was married to N. Carroll Downs, Secretary of Historian Bancroft. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents. Rev. Dr. Downs, a brother of the groom, officiated, assisted by the Rev. J. Owens, of the Methodist church. There was a large gathering of friends and the wedding was quite a brilliant affair. After a repast and reception the young couple started for Boston.—Elizabeth Journal.

Fine Music.

An enjoyable feature of the programme Thursday, in the First Presbyterian church, was the singing by a double quartette consisting of: Miss Addie McGee and Mrs. David Titsworth, sopranos; Miss Alice Holmes and Miss Annie Petrie, contraltos; Mr. L. H. Bigelow, Jr., and Mr. M. C. VanArsdale, tenors; Mr. B. T. Barnes and Mr. Francis Runyon, bassos.

The selections were an anthem by Marsh, "Praise the Lord"; and Dudley Buck's "Hark! Hark! My Soul." Miss McGee's solos parts were charmingly rendered. The absence of Mr E. W. Hedges from the organ, was regretted.

Rev. Chas. L. Sykes Funeral.

The funeral services of the late Rev. Chas. L. Sykes of Scotch Plains, took place on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Church of All Saints. The following clergymen were present and took part in the services; The Rector, Rev. Mr. Riley, and Revs. Marion F. McAllister, of Trinity church, Elizabeth; Erskine M. Rodman, of Grace church, this city; T. Logan Murphy, of Holy Cross church, North Plainfield; J. F. Taylor, of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Evona; A. R. Taylor, of Grace church, Westfield, and Wm. B. Earle. After the service at the church the body was interred in the Baptist burying ground at Scotch Plains. A goodly representation of the citizens of the place attended the funeral. The bells of the churches tolled during the burial service in the churchyard.

For many years Mr Sykes was Rector of the Episcopal parish in Scotch Plains. For several years past he has been in very poor health and finally resigned his charge, but continued to reside there. His death, however, was quite sudden, and resulted from heart disease on last Monday morning. His family has the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

A NEW PLAN.

Next month New Jersey will see a religious movement of a somewhat novel character. Missionary meetings of some kind are as old as the century; but the Presbyterian Synod proposes a series of meetings for the week, Nov. 3-9, with several new features. The plan is in the hands of a large central committee, a co-operating committee in each of the eight Presbyteries, aided by a body of laymen formed by the appointment of one Elder in each of the three hundred churches of the Synod. This carefully selected and well distributed band of workers has arranged for special services in every village, town and city in the State where there is a Presbyterian church.

On Sunday there will be sermons in the morning, and popular addresses in the evening. For the Sunday school a uniform order of exercises has been printed and will be distributed to all the schools in the Synod. Then, on a day locally convenient there will be a popular meeting, with special speakers appointed by the Presbytery or invited by the church. The central committee is preparing pamphlets for the exclusive use of the speakers. These meetings will vary in size, doubtless; but all will have one purpose, and will be held in one and the same week.

It is expected that women's missionary societies, mission bands, young people's associations, will arrange for special meetings in connection with the larger meetings, and thus make the seven days a season of united and earnest effort for the deepening of interest in the work to which the church is called by Him who said: "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel." This novel plan of simultaneous meetings has no denominational purpose. There will be no collections. Members of all denominations are invited to share in the services; for all are alike responsible for sending the Gospel to the heathen world.

—Mr. M. M. Thorn, the real estate broker and insurance agent, encountered and treed a large opossum on West Fourth street a few nights since. The animal climbed a tree and escaped in the darkness.

Diabetes.

DR. FLINT'S REMEDY, when taken in cases of diabetes, will show its curative effects in the restoration of a normal appetite, and in the banishment of pain. Descriptive treatise with each bottle; or address Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

What is a cold in the head? Medical authorities say it is due to uneven clothing of the body, rapid cooling when in a perspiration, &c. The important point is, that a cold in the head is an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nose, which, when unchecked, is certain to produce a catarrhal condition—for catarrh is essentially a "cold" which nature is no longer able to "resolve" or throw off. Ely's Cream Balm has proved its superiority, and sufferers should resort to it before that common ailment becomes seated and ends in obstinate catarrh.

Plainfield Cyclers at a "Smoker."

Owing to the inclemency of the weather the lantern parade that was to have been given by the Elizabeth wheelmen, Saturday evening last, had to be postponed, but in place of it a "Smoker" was given in their club house, to which the Plainfield Bicycle Club was invited, and which they attended in a body. About 150 wheelmen were present, representing nearly all the New Jersey clubs. All had a royal good time.

—The Seventh Day Baptists of Dunellen are about forming a Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor among themselves. This is a new departure for their denomination.

Bad Habits.

Dangerous and painful affections may be cured by the use of HAMBURG FIGS, a fruit laxative which even children like. 25c. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

MISCELLANEOUS.

KASKINE,
(THE NEW QUININE.)

No Bad Effect.
No Headache
No Nausea.
No RingingEars
Cures Quickly.
Pleasant, Pure.

A POWERFUL TONIC.
A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

Mr. Lode Hoornbeck, of the U. S. Ship Kearsarge, writes that he meets people almost daily who have used or are using Kaskine, and who affirm from experience that it is superior to quinine in tonic and curative properties, and produces no subsequent bad effects.

Mr. John C. Scarborough, Selma, N. C., writes: "I got malaria in the Southern army, and for a dozen years suffered from its debilitating effects. I was terribly run down when I heard of Kaskine, the new quinine. It helped me at once. I gained 35 pounds."

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

KASKINE CO., 168 Duane St., New York.

PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

CITY OF PLAINFIELD.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a warrant issued by William M. Stillman, esq. City Judge of the city of Plainfield, in the County of Union, to make the unpaid taxes assessed on lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate, in the said city of Plainfield in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-seven, the subscriber, the officer nominated and appointed by the Common Council for that purpose, will on Wednesday, the 20th day of November next, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, at his office, 53 Park avenue, in the City of Plainfield, sell the lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate hereunder described, at public vendue, for the shortest time for which any person or persons will agree to take the same and pay such taxes, together with interest thereon, and all costs, fees, charges and expenses.

[illegible], Samuel C., h and l and 40 a, E. Front st., below Raymond ave	63 00
[illegible], James, lot, Clinton ave	1 80
[illegible], Est. of Cornelius, h and l, 73 E. Front st	126 00
[illegible] " " lot, Dunellen ave., Evona	3 60
[illegible], Selina E., 3 lots, Netherwood ave, Nos. 18, 20 and 24	5 40
[illegible], William	1 80
[illegible], James, h and l, Rose st	5 40
[illegible], James, h and l, Dunellen ave., near [illegible]	27 00
[illegible], James, 2 h and 1 29 a, North and Dunellen aves	108 00
[illegible], James, h and l, Front st., near Dunellen ave	18 80
[illegible], James, h and l, Front st., near Dunellen ave	16 80
[illegible], William, 2 h and l, Dunellen ave	54 00
[illegible], William, 7 1/8 a, Dunellen ave	25 0
Campbell, Mrs. John O., h and l, 57 E. 5th st	40 50
[illegible], Winfield S., h and l, 1 Jacques Block, W. Front st	3 60
[illegible], est. of Daniel, h and l, 128 W. Fourth st	9 00
[illegible], William A., 3 lots, 156 W. Eighth st	28 35
[illegible], Jacob, est. of Sarah, h and 14 a, E. Front st., near Terrill road	63 00
[illegible], Elias, h and l, 1 1/2 a, South and Leland aves	27 00
[illegible], Elias, h and l, 22 and 24 W. Second st	97 00
[illegible], Elias, h and l and 68 a, E. Front st	180 00
[illegible], John, h and l, Madison ave	50 40
[illegible], Margaret, lot, Kensington ave	4 50
[illegible] " hotel, Eighth st. and Park ave	180 00
[illegible], Beulah C., h and l, Fifth st., and Madison ave	21 60
[illegible], Solomon F., h and l, 92 Park ave	36 00
[illegible], est. of Patrick or Mary, h and l, 79 W. Third st	16 20
[illegible], Aug., h and l, 10 Peace st	23 40
[illegible], James H., lot, E. Second st	90
[illegible], Ann, 2 h and l, W. Third st., below Liberty st	3 60
[illegible], est. of Abram, h and l, 75 W. Third st	5 40
[illegible], P. J., lot, Evona	1 80
[illegible], Adam, h and l, Exchange alley	9 00
[illegible], Edward, lot, Lane tract	3 60
[illegible], John S., h and l, 95 Cottage place	10 80
[illegible], Randolph R., lot 5 a, E. Front st	45 00
[illegible], William H., h and l, 77 W. Third st	5 40
[illegible], Mary J., or Geo. F. Randolph, lot, George st	1 80
[illegible], Mrs Emma A 7 lots Carlton ave	18 0
" " h & 5 a, Kensington ave and LaGrande	45 00
[illegible], Aaron L h & 7 a, Leland ave	27 00
[illegible], Charles E h & l Kensington ave	36 00
[illegible], John h & l 24 W 2d st	3 15
[illegible], John O h & l 103 W 5th st	10 80
[illegible], Mrs Mary M s l Lane tract	10 80
Leonard, Wm J 11 a Plainfield & Sherman ave	29 70
Leonard, Mrs Elizabeth h and l Union [illegible]	27 00
Leonard, Mrs Elizabeth double h and l [illegible] W Front st	30 00
Leonard, Mrs Elizabeth 11 a Plainfield & Sherman aves	29 70
Lee, Thomas h and l 3 S 2nd St	18 00
[illegible], Mary h and l E Front st	21 15
Lawrence, John C s l North ave and Terrill rd	8 40
[illegible], May M F 66 W 2d st h and l	9 90
" h and l New st adj above	4 60
[illegible], Caroline T l W 5th st adj 43	6 30
[illegible], Caroline T h and l 13 New st	14 40
l adj [illegible] E 2d st	3 60
Marsh, Randolph h and l 54 Plainfield av	16 10
Marsh, Lucy A h and lot 13 W 5th st	23 40
Marsh, Mrs Elizabeth s h and l 91 Madison ave	45 00
Manning, Wm H h and l 113 W 4th st	7 20
McCarthy, Chas [illegible] Plainfield ave	16 20
McLaughlin, W F S lots 17 to 25, 5th near Lexington	1 80
[illegible], [illegible] E h and l Broadway and 4th st	48 60
Moore, Thomas 3 l 2 a W Richmond st	5 40
[illegible], Experience h and l 51 W 5th st	32 40
Martine, Anna M executrix h, barn and l Broadway and Cedar Brook	45 00
Martine, Anna M executrix h and l 9th st near Park ave	48 60
Martine, Anna M estate D farm 1 6 a Broadway and Prospect ave	154 80
Martine, James E h and l Park ave near Myer's	4 60
Martine, Anna M brick h Broadway & Kensington ave	45 00
Meyer, Sigmund C l 200 ft Front st near Clinton ave	7 20
Murray, Joseph or Dean estate l Prospect ave	5 40
Murray, Joseph or Dean estate Ravine [illegible]	10 80
Murray, Joseph or Dean estate l [illegible] cor Dunellen and Clinton aves	3 60
Noe, Charles J [illegible] h and l South ave near Spooner ave, balance	4 77
Noe, Charles J l 94x307 Midway and Netherwood aves	7 20
[illegible], Caroline J 33 a and 6 l Pemberton, Field and Elizabeth sts	27 00
[illegible], Daniel s h and l North ave, [illegible]	12 60
[illegible], Jas R h and l 29 La Grande ave	27 00
[illegible], Josephine W h and l 120 E Front st	72 00
[illegible], Richard A l 6th and Union sts	3 60
[illegible] h and l 7 Peace st	36 00
[illegible], David or Hattie Colburn l E 2d st	5 40
[illegible], O B l E 2d st	5 40
Richardson, Maggie h and l 51 E 4th st	32 40
[illegible], David F h and l John st bal	4 00
Smith, Henry W l Raymond ave	3 60
Smith, Jas F h and l 10 Elm st	19 80
[illegible], Lydia S l George st	3 60
[illegible], Ellen h and l 149 Central ave	97 20
[illegible], heirs of John 40 a Randolph rd	54 00
[illegible], Mary B h and 3½ a Woodland ave	18 00
[illegible], Emily S l Lake st	10 80
[illegible], Richard 2 h and l South av	25 20
[illegible], est. of J. C., h and l, 35 W. Second st	36 00
[illegible], James H [illegible] Broadway	9 10
[illegible], estate of Daniel 20 l bought of Art Charity	50 40
Taylor, Henry l W 4th st	1 80
[illegible], Judiah L h 7th and Clinton av	81 00
[illegible], estate of Henr h & l 86 W 6th st	19 00
[illegible], Sarah A h & l 3 Peace street	10 00
[illegible], Jeremiah h & l 2 Central av	27 00
Vail, estate of Stephen 25 a Broadway & Hillside	27 00
Vail, Catherine s h and l 73 E 2d street	27 00
Vail, Hulda M h, l and 4 a Clinton ave and Dunellen ave	14 40
[illegible], Frances h and l 108 W Front st, balance	17 00
[illegible], Wm l E 3d street	3 70
[illegible], Jane h and l 73 W 3d street	3 15
[illegible], Wm H l Clinton and 6th street	8 10
[illegible], Franklin h, 12 a Front street and Terrill Road	63 00
[illegible], Lucretia H h and l 30 W 6th st	36 00

Witness my hand this 29th day of July, A. D., 1889.
VINCENT W. NASH,
Special Policeman and Collector of Delinquent Taxes.

DEATHS.

JACKSON—At Trenton, N. J., Monday, Oct. 28, 1889, of consumption, John M. Jackson, formerly of this city, in the 38th year of his age.

Funeral services will be held at No. 28 North avenue, on Friday afternoon, Nov. 1, at half-past two o'clock, to which friends and relatives are invited.

MERRITT—Suddenly, on Tuesday, October 29, Mary E., wife of James Merritt.

Funeral services on Friday, November 1, at 2:30 P. M., from her late residence, 61 Kensington avenue.

NITCH—At Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 28, Mrs. Helen Nitch (Catharine Owens.)

WANTS AND INFORMATION.

[illegible] for each insertion of three lines, [illegible] additional line for each extra. [illegible] for each subsequent insertion of ads.

STORAGE—FIRST-CLASS ACCOMMODATIONS in newly-partitioned rooms. All thoroughly [illegible] from vermin. Separate rooms if desired. Apply at Hosford [illegible] store, or of [illegible]. Two buggies for sale.

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Dancing and Aesthetics.

PROF. SEGADLO'S SCHOOL, 17 East Front street, Plainfield.

Class for new beginners meets every THURSDAY AFTERNOON, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Class for advanced meets every WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

For terms, &c., address 21 WEST PARK ST., Newark, N. J. 10-31-1w

Statement of the Board of Education, School District No. 1, Plainfield, N. J., for the year ending August 31, 1889.

DISBURSEMENTS.

Teachers' Salaries	$22,[illegible]
Janitors' "	2,657 43
Clerk "	150
Book and Stationery Supplies	265 20
Fuel	1,394 26
Gas	59 20
			$26,041 28
EVENING SCHOOL EXPENSES.
Repairs			1,163 84
Furniture			164 67
Insurance, 3 years premium			471 45
Printing			104 45
Incidentals			611 20
Library account			279 31
City of Plainfield, assessing and collection of taxes			672 29
Taking census for 1889			138 70
Return loan			710 00
Paid bonds		4 000 00
Paid interest on bonds		3,677 50
			7,677 50
BUILDING ACCOUNT, IRVING SCHOOL, MONROE AVENUE.
Mason and carpenter	26 900 00
Lot	1,000 00
surveying	98 50
Search, legal fees for real estate and mortgages	292 1[illegible]
Grading	350 00
Pump	102 00
Plumbing	290 00
Flagging	510 98
Painting	1,483 00
Heating	3,725 00
Architect	1,509 00
Furniture	1,119 00
Piano	325 00
			37,366 53
			77,397 40
Balance in City National Bank		3,533 83
Balance in First National Bank		2,666 35
			6,200 18
			$83,597 58

RECEIPTS.

1888, Sept. 1, Balance on hand			489 56
Rec. from Dist. Taxes 1877	30 70
1878	27 10
1879	25 26
1880	26 88
1881	8 55
1882	14 62
1883	15 26
1884	9 31
1885	13 18
1886	205 55
1887	643 72
1888	21,806 34
		22,823 87
Interest		275 69
State app'n	687 41
State Tax	11,705 0[illegible]
State Tax, 10 per cent.	1,300 55
		13,692 96	46,792 52
Library acc't.
Proceeds from concerts, etc.			180 50
Tuition			1,212 00
Mutual Life Insurance Co. mortgage on Irving building, Monroe avenue			35,000 00
			83,597 58

J. KIRKNER, President.
L. P. WADSWORTH, Sec'y.

L. P. WADSWORTH,
J. W. MURRAY,
Auditing Committee.

LIABILITIES UNDER CONTRACT.

Steam Heating, Stillman building	2,800 00
Extra furniture, Franklin and other buildings	275 00
Painting, Franklin & Bryant buildings	325 00
Repairs, mason, carpenter and flagging	620 00
Due to Library account	225 00
		4,245 00

Parlor Stoves
Othello Ranges,
Steam and Hot Water Heating,
Hot Air Heating,
Hardware,
Plumbing,
Tinning,
And House Furnishings.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11-1-tf

Don't spoil your Feet with Cheap Shoes!
WEAR THE
BURT & PACKARD

See that every pair is stamped
"Korrect Shape."
KORRECT SHAPE
BURT & PACKARD
J. W.
& CO.

Don't allow your dealer to palm off any substitute, as we have arranged to supply the "Korrect Shape" Shoes in any style for Gent's, Boys or Youths, and prepay all delivery charges where they are not sold.

You can only find them in Plainfield, N. J., at DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S, 22 WEST FRONT ST.

Made in four grades, HAND-MADE, HAND-WELT, BURTWELT and MACHINE SEWED, which is stamped on the sole in addition to the trade-mark above.

PACKARD & FIELD,
(Successors to Burt & Packard)
Brockton, Mass.
9-12-3mo

CATCH ON?
Special Sale!
From November 1 to 15
15 PER CENT OFF of regular prices for SPOT CASH!

STOVES, LAMPS, TINWARE,
CUTLERY, GRANITEWARE,
MACHINIST and CARPENTER TOOLS,
HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, &c.
J. C. PIERSON, Jr.,
Telephone 123. 42 WEST FRONT ST.

M. N. TERRILL & CO.,
UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,
No. 29 E. FRONT STREET.
M. N. TERRILL,— GEO. W. COLE.
Practical Embalmer, and assistant to the late firm of Ford & Stiles. 8-17-tf

A. M. RUNYON & SON,
UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS,
60 PARK AVENUE.
Telephone Call 40.
RESIDENCE—48 MADISON AVENUE.
Telephone Call 27.
"Office of Hillside Cemetery."

P. CASEY & SON,
UNDERTAKERS.
OFFICE—No. 1 Somerset St.

Residence, No. 11 Third street, corner New, Plainfield, N. J. Everything pertaining to the business always on hand, and lower than any other firm in the State. All Calls Promptly Answered Day or Night.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - City Editor.

—Oh, for a Y. M. C. A. building.

—The employees of the Pond Tool Works are contemplating the starting of a sick and funeral benefit society.

—Two women known as "Kate Kinney" and "Meg" Clark were arrested in Frazee's alley, on Saturday night for quarreling and fighting.

—"Guns are down," is the announcement made by A. M. Vanderbeek & Co., of 33 Park avenue. They are also selling 100 loaded shells for $1.75, and a good hunting coat for $1.00.

—Black and fox squirrels may be killed in this State during the last four months of the year, but there is a penalty of $20 for each gray squirrel killed, except between November 1st and December 15th.

—After the present green two-cent postage stamps are used up, the public will be given another issue of a carmine color and different design. There will be less for the money, but they'll go just as far.

—Tickets can now be purchased at the station here, for Boston, via., Fall River and Stonington lines, at $5.60, on which baggage can be checked direct from Plainfield without any further care by the passenger.

—The largest [illegible] who came to this city from Morristown and Elizabeth, Thursday, devoured 200 pounds of turkey and a hind quarter of beef at Casper's Hotel, where they had dinner, yet the proprietor never said a word.

—The clergymen of the diocese of Trenton, to which Plainfield belongs, are making arrangements to celebrate the eighth anniversary of Bishop O'Farrell's consecration to the bishopric on Friday next, at the Cathedral in Trenton.

—One of the finest audiences ever gathered in Plainfield filled the parquet and dress circle of Music Hall, Friday evening. All the society were there, and Mr. Sothern showed his appreciation by playing Lord Chumley to the best of his ability.

—You may not have missed them, but the swallows have gone. They quietly took their leave when you were not thinking of them. The blackbirds, robins and other migratory birds are now holding meetings, preparatory to their flight to Southward.

—The body of John Emmons, a young man, was found on Saturday on a road leading to Englishtown. He lay beside his buggy and the horse stood quietly by. Nothing in the buggy was disturbed and the cause of the young man's death is still wrapped in mystery.

—One of the hind wheels on Mr. Halsey Compton's two-seated phaeton refused to perform its duty in front of THE PRESS office, Thursday afternoon, and it became necessary to oil the axle, before the ladies who occupied the vehicle could proceed on their journey.

—The Plainfield Crescent League expect to open their Club House on East Second street, Monday evening, Nov. 4. Applications for admission to the Association are being presented almost every day, and probably in another month the membership will reach 100.

—A large quantity of extra fine Early Rose potatoes, has just been received by R. W. Rice & Co., the leading grocers, corner of Emily and [illegible] streets, North Plainfield. Although a choice and selected lot, yet they are offered at 80 cents a bushel, or in greater quantities at 75 cts.

—A stage load of young people, representing the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of Trinity Reformed church, went to Metuchen, Thursday, and participated in the second anniversary exercises of the Young People's Society of the Presbyterian church of that place.

Water Power Again.

It is just three decades ago today that Plainfield was "cut through the heart by a great flood of water." French Bros' raceway across Somerset street, has been repaired, the dam rebuilt, and this afternoon they expect to turn the water on their mill wheels again.

A Little Lad Saved His Playmate's Life.

Roy Radford, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Radford, tripped and fell at full length in a bonfire of leaves near his home at [illegible] Park avenue. The little lad was rescued from threatened death, by one of his companions, a young son of ex-Councilman G. T. Waring.

Probably Not So.

A report was current on Front street at 10:30 o'clock on Tuesday, that the police had all resigned. Officers McCue and Lynch, however, were found at their accustomed posts of duty, and both denied the rumor. But up to the hour of publication, THE PRESS has been unable to interview Chief Carey on the subject.

Cheap Tin.

Beginning to-morrow and until the 15th of the coming month, you can buy anything you want in the way of stoves, lamps, cutlery, tin ware, granite ware, machinists' and carpenters' tools, house furnishing goods, etc., at the regular prices with fifteen per cent. off besides for spot cash. Just think of it! And J. C. Pierson, Jr., at [illegible] West Front street, makes the offer.

The Potter [illegible] Society.

The annual meeting for the election of officers of the Potter Press Works Mutual Aid Society, took place on Saturday night in Democratic Hall, Front street, with the following result:

President—Thomas Chamberlain.
Secretary—John L. [illegible].
Treasurer—Geo. B. [illegible].

Reports read showed the Society to be in a healthy financial condition. Over $1,000 in sick benefits have been paid since it started some years ago. It is exclusively for the workmen, most of whom belong to it, and who, by a monthly payment of 25cts, they get a weekly benefit of five dollars as long as their sickness continues.

STATE PRISON YAWNS FOR HIM.

The New Brunswick Home News says: "The authorities are searching for Edwin S. Worsley, of Plainfield, who is wanted on serious charges. Worsley is the man who two years ago figured prominently as Edward J. Murphy, the 'firebug detective.' After securing the conviction for long terms of John M. [illegible] and Horace and Louis VanNest, he collected money from the city authorities and disappeared. Securing employment with a railroad agency at Paterson, he was retained two weeks, and then was suddenly discharged on suspicion of having heaped railroad ties on the track in front of an express train for the purpose of 'discovering' the danger and receiving a reward.

"He then, it is alleged, proceeded to make necessary his employment as night watchman, and at this time the aristocratic neighborhood of Broadway and Straight street, Paterson, began to win notoriety for strange fires, pistol shots and attempted burglaries after midnight. The result was that Worsley secured wholesale employment, and was subsequently made a special officer.

"The disturbances continued, however, despite his presence, and many petty burglaries were committed. A policeman reported that Worsley himself was the principal cause of all the trouble. Formal complaints were made and he was to be arrested, but he disappeared. He is thought to be hiding in Plainfield."

Personals.

Mr. Wm. A. Lord has returned after a two months' trip to Europe.

Mr. W. U. Moody, janitor of the Fifth street school, is confined to the house by pneumonia.

Mr. Harry Yarnall has returned from Wisconsin and is spending a few days with friends here.

Mr. Walter C. Dobbins began Monday a collegiate course at the Peddie Institute, Hightstown, N. J.

Master Irving Smith of Grant avenue shot a large brown eagle near his home on Monday of last week.

Mr. E. B. Rogers, of West Second street, is the latest happy dad. Its a boy, born Thursday morning.

Miss Massett of Crescent avenue, gave a reception to a select few of her most intimate friends, Thursday evening.

Mr. Thomas Armstrong, of Reynolds' pharmacy, has been confined to his home for the past week with a severe cold.

Mr. George B. Tilsworth of the Potter Press Works, is confined to his home suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Stanton Clark of Westerly, R. I., returned home on Friday, after an enjoyable stay with her brother, Mr. Wm. H. Williams.

Mr. John Taylor Johnston and family, with their household servants, left their country seat, Saturday, and are now in their Fifth Avenue residence for the Winter.

Mrs. Joseph Brown and infant of West Third street, sailed Saturday morning on the Steamer "Devonia" for her home in Ayrshire, Scotland, where she will spend the Winter.

The Chautauqua Union of New York city, gave a reception to Dr. Jesse Lyman Hurlbut, of this city, at the Church of the Disciples, New York, on Thursday evening of last week.

Captain George M. Phillips has recovered from his recent serious attack of heart trouble. His hosts of friends will be glad to grasp his cordial hand and see his genial face again.

Councilman Francis E. Marsh has been summoned to Denver, Col., by the alarming illness of his wife. If possible Mrs. Marsh will be brought to her home in this city, by easy stages.

Mrs. Irving Manson and Mrs. Bert Manson, of Westerly, R. I., have been visiting their mother, Mrs. Thomas Randolph, at her home on Central avenue. They married brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Knight have given up their home on East Ninth street, and will remove to Brooklyn. Mrs. Knight has just lost her mother who was buried in Baltimore, a few days ago.

If newspapers like THE PRESS told half of all they know, a social revolution would ensue in short order. It is what is kept out of such papers, not what goes in, that keeps the world running smoothly.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Robbins, of New Germantown, N. J., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. Q. Doliver, of Manning avenue. Mr. Robbins is Principal of the Public School at New Germantown.

Mr. A. J. Winckler, the contractor, has purchased of the heirs of Jacob Adams, deceased, the very desirable plot of ground corner of Somerset street and Linden avenue, and will build two or more houses on it at once.

Joshua Martin, formerly of Somerset county, where he was a politician and a candidate for the office of Sheriff, some years ago, died at his home on West Fourth street, shortly after seven o'clock, evening of Oct. 23.

A surprise sociable was tendered to Miss Annie Kingston, at her residence East Second street, Friday evening, Oct. 25. A most enjoyable time was spent. The committee consisted of F. Kasseiring, A. Adams, S. C. Terry, Jr.

Judge John D. Bartine, as special master, sold the Bartle property at Scotch Plains, Saturday afternoon, to Mr. Thos. Cleaver, of that place. The price paid was $4,275. Mr. Cleaver is a brother of Mr. J. R. Cleaver, of this city.

The Rev. W. R. Richards, of this city, exchanged pulpits with the Rev. E. B. Cobb of Elizabeth, Sunday. The congregation of the Crescent Avenue church were much pleased with the morning and evening sermons preached them by the latter.

At the residence of the groom's sister, Mrs. Annie Weigel, East 69th street, New York city, by Rev. J. F. Elder, on Monday, Oct. 21, occurred the marriage of Mr. Bartley Cahill of New York and Miss Jennie Watts of this city. A reception followed.

Rev. A. V. V. Raymond of Albany, N. Y., formerly pastor of the Trinity Reformed church in this city, called at THE PRESS office. The report recently circulated to the effect that Mr. Raymond had been troubled with his head, is denied by that gentleman.

The second of the Seminary Lectures will be delivered on the evening of Nov. 8, by John Ward Stimson, of this city, founder and Gen'l Superintendent of the New York Institute of Artist-Artisans. Mr. Stimson's subject will be: "General Art Principles."

Messrs Randolph Stelle, Halstead Compton and Lebeus Manning, left Plainfield Monday for Perry county, Pa. They took with them a pointer, a setter, lots of ammunition and fishing tackle. Deer and wild turkey are their special game. They will be gone at least two weeks.

Mr. J. Fred MacDonald has been expending a great deal of money lately in the improvement of his property at Front and Peace streets. Steam heat has been carried all through the house and store, and other costly appurtenances of modern home comforts have been added.

A Trenton paper says of a well-known Plainfielder: "T. Keller, who shoots under the name of 'Tee Kay,' is the trap-shoot correspondent of the New York Sun and Times. He usually hits the mark, whether with the pen or shot gun. He has attended every big shoot this season East of Chicago."

The address of Dr. Merrill Gates, President of Rutgers College, at the 22d anniversary of the Y. M. C. A., of this city, Thursday, was a masterpiece of common sense and good logic. His arguments in favor of the Associations of this country, were endorsed by Mr. Murray's report of the work done for the young men of this city.

Ex-Councilman E. L. Morris, of this city, who made the speech at Rahway, last week, nominating the Hon. John Ulrich for a third term in the New Jersey Legislature, is the New York sales agent for both the Davis Coal and Coke Co., and the coal department of the West Virginia Central and Pittsburg Railway company. Mr. Morris places hundreds of thousands of tons of coal a year.

An evening sociable was held at the residence of Mr. H. C. Reynolds, 19 Linden avenue, North Plainfield, October 25. There were a large number of young and old people present. Dancing and other attractions were indulged in, refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening was had by all present. The committee consisted of: Messrs William Pangborn, William Sharp and Joseph Wilycoff. The music was furnished by Prof. O'Reilley.

Mr. Edward Milliken, the elder son of Samuel Milliken, Esq., of Central avenue, will spend the Winter at the house of his parents in this city. Young Milliken and his brother Foster, comprise the firm of Milliken Bros., iron merchants of New York, who furnished the trusses and girders for the roof of the Central railroad station at Communipaw at a cost of $90,000, and are now turning out the iron work for the new million-dollar World building.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Jr., are at home on Crescent avenue.

Mr. J. P. Laire is quite ill and confined to his rooms in Force's hotel.

Mr. John A. Kriney of Bronx, has been confined to the house the past week, suffering from a severe cold.

Ferdinand Fish and family have taken up their Winter residence at 12[illegible] West Ninety-third street, New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Wright, of "Road Ending," are at 546 Lexington avenue, New York city, for the Winter.

The marriage of Miss Maggie Manning and Mr. Drayton, is to take place in Grace church, on Wednesday, Nov. 20.

During his stay in this city, Senator McPherson was the guest of Gen'l and Mrs. Wm. H. Sterling, at their home on First place.

Miss Lizzie Colony, one of the Public School teachers, has been compelled by continued sickness to give up her position and return home.

Gen'l D. T. VanBuren was elected President of the Plainfield Tariff Reform Club, Tuesday, and Mr. Charles B. VanWinkle, Treasurer.

Miss Anna Petrie and Mr. Charles Hutchinson are to be married on Tuesday, Nov 5, at the home of the bride on West Sixth street. The affair will be a quiet one.

The latest addition to Plainfield's corps of physicians, is Mr. Jere A. Allis, a young M. D., who has just graduated with high honor, and swings a shingle from 24 West Fifth street.

Mr. Wilson Fiske and family have taken up a Winter residence at 51 Kensington avenue. Mr. Fiske is the owner of some of the most valuable setter dogs by blood and training, in the State.

At the "Smoker" held in the Elizabeth Wheelmen's club rooms, Saturday evening, Mr. W. H. Simmonds, of the Plainfield Bicycle club, recited "Patsy and the Owl," greatly to the entertainment of the congenial party assembled.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. VanNeste, of East Second street, returned to their home on Tuesday, after an absence of three weeks. Mrs. VanNeste has been visiting her home at Louisville, Ky., and Mr. VanNeste has been on a business trip West.

Mrs. Harriett C. Monson, aged 58 years, died Tuesday, at 7.30 o'clock, of apoplexy after an illness of only twelve hours. Death occurred at the home of Mrs. Ellen O Disbrough, 60 East Front street. Mrs. Monson is a sister of Miss C. E. Clarke.

District Deputy Grand Master, Jacob Shepard, visited Jerusalem Lodge, of this city, at its regular communication on Tuesday, and there was a fraternal good time in general. Caterer Joseph G. Miller served creamed oysters on toast, that were "regardless."

The ridiculous statement in the News that the funeral of John M. Jackson will be held in Trinity church, is of course false. It will take place Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the building 29 North avenue, where his family live. Jackson was in the 38th year of his age.

Mr. Herbert B. Ayers, of Broadway and Sixth street, is confined to his home with a very bad eye. He is an employee of the Central Railroad Company. While chipping a bar of steel recently, a piece of the metal flew in his face and cut through the lid into the ball of the eye.

There was a reception given at the home of Mr. L. L. Manning, on Tuesday, in honor of his daughter now Mrs. Phillip MacIntyre. A number of invited guests were present. The supper was a bountiful one, and Messrs Rogers and Conde furnished instrumental music for dancing.

Mary E. Merritt, wife of James Merritt, Esq., died suddenly of apoplexy at her home on Kensington Avenue, Tuesday. She has been for a great many years past a resident of this city. A husband and one son, ex-City Clerk Richard Merritt, survive her. The funeral will take place from the house Friday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

Cards of invitation are out for the wedding ceremony of Miss Bertha Taylor, daughter of the late ex-Councilman Wm. Taylor, of East Fifth street, and Mr. Clement Webster, of Philadelphia. The marriage will take place at ten o'clock of the morning of Tuesday, Nov. 12, in the Friends meeting house on Sixth street, Philadelphia.

Wanted.

Plainfield now wants a Common Sense Ticket of municipal officers, and the freight house moved away.

Eloquent Silence.

The World says: "The campaign has been 'on' now over a month and it is a simple matter of fact that no Republican journal or orator has yet designated a solitary unworthy act of Leon Abbett while Governor of the State for three years. Such silence is more than significant—it is eloquent.

The People Are Getting Very Tired.

The News also says that the Plainfield police love Chief Carey so much, that they work night and day for him and don't charge a cent.

The next arrest Carey makes, should be the News. If he doesn't arrest that mouth-organ of his, he may have to resign.

Harris—Graves.

George B. Harris, of the firm of George W. Harris & Sons, of Allston, Mass., and Miss F. Adelaide Graves, youngest daughter of Edmund S. Graves, of Brooklyn, were married at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 134 Reid avenue, afternoon Oct. 23. The ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, Rev. L. O. Grenelle, of Dunellen, N. J. Only relatives of the family and intimate friends of the bride were present. Mr. and Mrs. Harris will reside in the suburbs of Boston.

Refunded.

Wm. Osborne, who misappropriated the funds of Cypress Commandery, as told exclusively in THE PRESS, refunded most of the money to the officers of the society evening of Oct. 23.

The Henry girl who was seen in his company just before his disappearance, says she did leave the city with him. Osborne expresses himself as very sorry that her name has been published in connection with the affair, but he has not yet said anything about being sorry for his wife.

Transfers of Real Estate.

Real estate has changed hands in North Plainfield Township during the present month as follows:

Oct. 9—J. H. Henshaw to Ida A. Avery, property in North Plainfield, $2,250.

Oct. 10—Mary Ann and Alexander Thorn to Levi Hetfield, property in North Plainfield, $1.

Levi Hetfield to Alexander Thorn, same property, $1.

Oct. 15—J. V. P. Ryerson et ux to Alexander Thorn, property in North Plainfield, $400.

Rev. Mr. Ditts' Brother Married.

The Raritan correspondent to the Somerville Messenger, in last week's issue, writes as follows:

"George A. Ditts, of Ditts Bros., was married Thursday afternoon to Miss Marion V. Bonnell, of White House Station. Rev. Asa R. Ditts, Jr., of Plainfield, a brother of the groom, performed the ceremony at the house of the bride's brother, John Bonnell. The bride and groom went to Philadelphia on their wedding trip. This is the first wedding among four sons, that A. R. Ditts, Sr., the father, has had the pleasure of attending. The ceremony was private, none but relatives being present.

Full Ten More Coming.

The Choral Society at its second rehearsal in Vincent chapel, Monday night, continued the practice of the two part-songs already commenced and started another. The chorus is already an unusually full and fine one, yet a number of new applicants for membership had their voices tried last evening.

Mr. Kaufman's Big Score.

The Olympia alleys are leased on Monday evenings by a select coterie of well known society people, consisting of Messrs H. G. Runkle, George Wharton Edwards, Pliny Fisk, Wm. B. Wadsworth, Charles E. Brooks, Dewitt C. Ivins, William Bloodgood, Charles E. Fisk, Wm. T. Kaufman, Charles D. Wadsworth with their wives, and Mr. Dexter O. Tiffany.

During their bowling of Monday night, some very commendable scores were rolled. Mr. Kaufman was the highest with 200, and Mr. Bloodgood's total was 185.

Death of "Catherine Owens."

In her little cottage home situated in the midst of an orchard now stripped of its leaves and with the Autumn winds soughing through its bare branches, occurred the death shortly after 9 o'clock, Monday night, of Mrs. Helen Alice Nitsch, known throughout the literary World as "Catherine Owens."

The cause of death was consumption from which she has been sick and suffering for many weeks. She was 45 years old, and leaves a daughter. Funeral services were held at the house, 13 Orchard place, North Plainfield, Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock.

Mrs. Nitsch's best known works were: "Ten Dollars Enough," "Gentle Breadwinners," "Progressive Housekeeping," and "Choice Cookery."

Target Excursion.

A fine looking body of men representing the John Campbell Catholic Young Men's Literary Union, of Elizabeth, and the St. Mary's Young Men's Catholic Association, of Morristown, arrived in town this morning on a target excursion. The visitors formed a line on North avenue and preceded by Drake's Band of Elizabeth, made a short street parade, after which they went direct to Keller's Grove, in North Plainfield, where they engaged in rifle practice.

In the procession there were about two hundred men, besides the members of Drake's and Voss' bands. Fathers Smyth and Stafford accompanied the excursionists in the parade. The following members of the local Union escorted the visitors to the grove: Messrs E. B. Daly, M. Whalen, G. Tobin, and J. Hibbitts.

During the afternoon the visitors sat down to a sumptuous collation at Casper's Hotel on East Front street.

PLAINFIELD'S CHORAL SOCIETY.

The following circular letter which is being sent all over the city, speaks for itself, and should meet with the response desired.

The Plainfield Choral Society, composed of one hundred of our best vocalists, with Mr. E. J. Fitzhugh as conductor, has been organized and confidently appeals to lovers of music for support. The chorus will contain many new voices; and if sufficient encouragement is offered, the society will endeavor to give such musical entertainments as will merit the approval of its subscribers.

It is proposed to give three subscription concerts during the present season, at each of which the chorus will be assisted by eminent soloists. Subscribing members, upon the payment of ten dollars, are entitled to four reserved seats at each concert and free admission to rehearsals.

No tickets of admission will be sold, and only those holding members' tickets will be admitted to concerts. The number of subscribers must necessarily be limited to one hundred and seventy-five. Your name having been mentioned as one interested in music, you are requested, if agreeable, to sign the enclosed subscribing member's slip, inserting the amount of your subscription, and to mail the same at once to Mr. Wm. T. Kaufman, Treasurer, No. 65 West Seventh street, Plainfield.

By the character of the music to be rendered, and the assiduous work of the members, the managers hope to make the coming season a notable one in the musical annals of our community. W. W. Howland, President; C. W. McCutchen, Wm. T. Kaufman, Nelson Runyon, H. A. McGee, D. E. Davis, H. O. Newman, Trustees.

A Former Resident of This City Stricken With Apoplexy.

All the old residents of this city remember genial "Ike" Overton who almost twenty years ago lived on Park avenue, then Cherry street, in the house now occupied by Mr. Morgan Bird. He was then connected with the Central Railroad but left its employ in 1873, said good bye to his friends here, and moved with his family to Colorado. From there he went to Omaha in 1877; subsequently to St. Louis, and then to Newark where the family lived until moving to Holden, Mo., in March 1888, where his sudden death occurred on Sunday the 12th inst.

The Holden Herald says: "Mr. Isaac L. Overton, General Foreman of the Bridge Department of the Western Division of the Missouri Pacific, was the perfect picture of health and physical strength Sunday morning. His friends who saw him transacting his usual business, sending dispatches, etc., detected nothing wrong, and it was not until Dr. Jones was called that anything of a serious nature was suspected. Mr. Overton had, we are told, suspected for years that he would be a victim of apoplexy, and when a symptom of approaching danger was felt a physician was summoned. About 10 o'clock Mr. Overton felt faint, and started home. Before reaching home he became unable to walk without assistance. Dr. Jones was summoned and reached his patient in time to assist him to his bed. While ministering to the fast sinking man, he looked up in the face of the physician with a look that betokened a full realization that the end was near, and whispered: 'Doctor I know what all this means.' In a few moments his two daughters who were at Sunday school returned, and approached the bed side of their dying father. Noticing the grief on their countenances, he mustered sufficient strength to say, while the tears came to his eyes: 'Daughters you could always make me weep.' These were the last words that escaped his lips, and in a few moments the man who a few hours before gave promise of a long existence was rigid in death. The family's grief was uncontrollable. The husband and father's life had flickered and gone out before the very eyes of his family without scarcely a note of warning.

"Isaac Lafever Overton, was born in Morris county, New Jersey, March 4, 1825, and died very suddenly of apoplexy, Oct., 13, 1889, at his home in North Holden, Mo. On Oct. 19, 1843, he was married to Miss Martha B. Clark, who became a very efficient helpmate. To them six children have been born, two sons and four daughters. The oldest daughter died at 13 years of age. The other five are living and were present at their father's funeral."

Mr. S. H. Overton, the oldest son, is passenger conductor on the U. P. C. R. R., between Sioux City, Iowa, and Lincoln, Neb.

Mr. E. B. Overton, the other son, is express messenger on the same run.

The daughters, Misses Emma and Bell, and Mrs. Ida Fowler, were living with their parents.

A Job for the Pound Keeper.

The shabby News says now that Officer Lynch is going to resign. If Chief Carey and Officer Lynch don't muzzle their friend on Somerset street, they will be made the laughing stock of the community.

Reform Hall.

Considering the unfavorable weather the attendance in Reform Hall Sunday night was good. President Harper occupied the chair, and Mr. Vanderbeek and a full choir discoursed music in their usual superior manner. Mr. Neis read the XIXth Psalm and offered prayer.

The speakers were Messrs Neis, Harper and Angleman, each of whom recounted the fearful ravages wrought by intoxicating liquor, in the way of broken hearts and desolated homes, and urged battling for its total extinguishment to be an imperative duty on behalf of God and Humanity.

O'EN CAMP FIRE.

Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., of this city, held an open camp fire, Tuesday, and rations of bean soup and hard tack was served out to all who answered the roll call, including a number of ladies who had got past the pickets.

The principal guest of the evening was Gen. Negley, of West Seventh street, who had first seen service in the Mexican War under Winfield Scott in honor of whom the Post was named. The General made a rousing speech, as did also ex-Mayor L. V. F. Randolph. Commander Brokaw, Past Commander Atwood, and other comrades also spoke. There were recitations by Mr. John Carney and songs by Mr. W. C. Smith, that received hearty applause. Mrs. John Dodge presided at the organ.

The "Camp Fire" was a glowing success, and similar convivial gatherings will be held on every Fifth Tuesday of the month, during the Winter. They will occur in December and April.

President Wm. D. Murray's Address to a Large Audience of Friends of the Y. M. C. A.

A large, intelligent and representative audience gathered Thursday, in the new First Presbyterian church, to show their interest in the Young Men's Christian Association of this city. After the preliminary exercises of good singing by a double quartette, Scripture reading and prayer by the Rev. Dr. Ketcham they listened to the annual report of President Murray and an address by Merrill E. Gates of Rutgers College.

President Murray's report was eloquent with facts and figures more powerful indeed than mere words or glowing generalities. It showed clearly and plainly what the Young Men's Christian Association is doing in Plainfield. In opening, he referred to the fact that the Association is 22 years old this month, and that he saw before him many of the men who helped to organize it, that the Association has, during all the years of its existence, enjoyed the sympathy and support of the people of Plainfield, and that the Associa*tion was more fortunate than many Asso*ciations of neighboring towns, in that the people of the city recognized it as a public institution worthy of support, and while thanking the people for their gener*osity he assured them that the Associa*tion did not appear before them as suppliants for charity, but as fellow laborers in the Master's vineyard. The fiscal year of the Association ends with May of each year. For the year ending May, 1889, the expenses were $2,517.33, and the income $2,925.44. For the current year ending May, 1890, the expenses and income are estimated to be about $2,450.

The membership at present is over 500 of whom only about 180 are Sustaining members—that is paying $10 annually. He observed that the revenue of the Association is derived entirely from member*ship dues, and thought that to carry on* the aggressive work of the Association the number of sustaining members should be materially increased.

He illustrated the value of the work of the Association by giving the conversation of two of the wealthiest citizens of Boston after listening to an address from Horace Mann in which he said that all the money spent for reformatory institu*tions and so forth was well spent if it re*sulted in the saving of one young man. "Do you believe that?" said one to the other. "Yes, I do if it was my boy," was the reply. Following this came the tell*ing facts and figures*, 15,000 visits to the rooms during the year, 2,200 attended the Young Men's meetings, an average of 44, and 33 were benefited by the Workers' Training classes and meetings were held held each week at two outposts. Four young men went to Mr. Moody's school at Northfield, last June, and four boys attended the Boys camp at Lake Wawayanda.

Thirteen receptions and popular talks were given on travel, astronomy, postage stamps and ranch life.

The Building fund amounts to $29,560, not including the bequest of $2,000 by *Mrs. Latimer. Six sets of plans have al*ready been made by six competing architects, one of which will be selected for the building, some changes will, however, need to be made on account of *the removal of the Chautauqua head*quarters to Buffalo. It was expected that they would occupy a portion of the building. The Association now occupies four rented rooms, parlor, game room, reading room and hall, which are used to the best possible advantage, although inadequate to the needs of the work.

There are three Educational classes in Mechanical Drawing and talks will be given during the Fall and Winter.

The great work of the Association is the religious work and it is prosperous—large and interesting meetings being held every Monday evening. President Murray read a stranger's letter to the effect "that he wrote to us inasmuch as the Young Men's Christian Association was the only institution of which he could think to write concerning information about boarding houses under good moral influences and other matters of interest to his son who was about to make his home in this city."

It is needless to say that the young man was cared for. Another instance was given of a father in the West Indies who wrote concerning a son who, before the first letter was received was cared for by the Association here, and upon his *removal to New Brunswick the Associa*tion being notified, exercised its good offices in his behalf. In closing Mr. Murray urged a deeper and more abiding consecration on the part of those en*gaged in the work of leading young men* from the kingdom of darkness to the kingdom of peace.

After more singing President Gates of Rutgers College delivered an inspiring ad*dress. He emphasized at the outset that* the work of the Associations was that of Christian young men for non-Christian young men. He dwelt upon the idea of co-operation so greatly developed in busi*ness operations of the day as being taken* hold of by Christian young men in the religious sphere. He eulogized the Training class work of Associations and illustrated the practical result of it. He spoke of conviction of the truth of God's word which Association men held as like to that of the locomotive engineer in the expansive power of steam, of the telegraph operator in a current of electricity to carry a message, or of a farmer that there is life in seed. Their faith is confirmed by the evidence of the power of the word of God in the regeneration of men. He referred to the inauguration of the great work for young men of India and Japan undertaken by the Associations of America and under the direction of the International Committee. Altogether it was a most instructive and interesting address.

Deserted the House.

On Sunday morning, October 20, Mr. Chas. J. Reeve, living on the Feltville road, went to church and left a hired man named Frank Doll in charge of his house. Mr. Reeve probably had not gone far when the man conceived the idea to go "through" the house. In his search he found a roll of bills amounting to eighty dollars, and a very fine suit of clothes belonging to another employee of Mr. Reeve, but who was off for a few days on a vacation. With these Mr. Doll put out and has not been heard from. This Doll came from Block's Intelligence office on Greenwich street, New York city, and had been in the employ of Mr. Reeve about one week.

Over the Bound Brook Dam.

Four men in a row boat went over the dam in the Raritan River, a mile below Bound Brook, on Tuesday, Oct. 22. One of them reached the shore safely unaided, but the three others were tossed helplessly about in the foaming waters amid the jagged rocks. Their boat was dashed to pieces, and they themselves were well nigh exhausted when two men rescued them with a rope.

An hour later Ayres Coddington, of Bound Brook, was fishing from a scow below the dam when his craft was drawn under the falls and was swamped. He was roughly beaten by the waters, and was with difficulty dragged into a boat. He was all but drowned, and the villagers toiled over him an hour before he was wholly resuscitated.

A Warning to Gunners.

Gunners are warned not to violate the game laws by shooting game out of season. Section one of the supplement to an act entitled "An act to consolidate the several acts relating to game and fish in this State," reads as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That hereafter it shall not be lawful for any person or persons to capture, kill, or have unlawfully in possession after the same has been taken or killed, any quail, commonly called partridge, or any ruffed grouse, commonly called pheasant, or any rabbit, except only between the last day of Oct., and the 16th day of December in any year, under a penalty of twenty dollars for each quail, grouse or rabbit so taken, killed or had unlawfully in possession.

SHOT IN THE DARK.

Engine No. 320, attached to a train of empty coal cars, went through this city bound East about 2 30 Saturday morning. Just after passing Somerville and while running through what is known as the "VanDerveer Cut," the report of a pistol or gun was heard and the fireman on the engine felt a sharp pain through his arm.

Examination showed he had been shot. It would have been impossible in the dark to discover who fired, so no effort was made to capture the miscreant. The train proceeded on its way, and the victim received surgical attention as soon as it could be procured.

It is supposed that some tramp, who had been put off of that or another train on which he had been stealing a ride, fired the shot in revenge. He will probably never be apprehended.

A Mission in Grace Church.

The Rev. G. A. Carstensen, the General Missioner of the Parochial Missions Society proposes to conduct a mission in Grace church, beginning on Nov. 17 and and continuing until the 24th inclusive.

Seats will be free, and a cordial welcome is extended to Christians of every name. The services will be: Sundays—An early celebration of the Holy Communion, at 7:30 A. M. Morning Prayer, etc., at 10:30 A. M. Children's Service, at 4:30 P. M. Evening Prayer, at 8 o'clock, for men only.

Other days—Morning Prayer, at 10 A. M. Instruction in the Christian Life, 10:30 A. M. Evening Prayer at 4 o'clock. Mission Service—Sermon and "after Meeting," at 7:45 P. M. Thursday Morning—Holy Communion. Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 18 and 19, Question Box, at 4 P. M.

The Union County Roads.

The Committee on County Roads, inspected the roads a few days ago. In a recent interview with Freeholder James T. Pierson, concerning the character of the work, the latter said the committee was well pleased with it, as it was being done in a thorough manner. He further said that the roads which are being constructed by the Freeholders will, when complete, be models. The officers, after examining the roads, organized, so that at least one Freeholder will make an examination of the work every day until it is completed. Freeholder Pierson said the Board feels the responsibility resting upon them, and will not neglect the important work with the oversight of which they have been entrusted. They invite all citizens to visit the road under construction, and see for themselves how their money is being spent, and also to get a practical knowledge of road making. He wisely suggests that our road overseers especially should avail themselves of the opportunity for getting points.

A Clever Young Manager.

Mr. Erwin M. Young, for so many years a resident of this city, and whose wife is the daughter of Mr. Calvin Neighbor, of East Front street, recently returned from Europe where he has been looking after the interests at the Paris Exposition of a Western sewing machine company with which he is connected as New York Manager.

That he served his employers well is shown by the following extract from a New York paper:

"Mr. E. M. Young has just got back from Paris to the New York headquarters on Union Square. He was yesterday seen by a reporter of this paper, and in answer to various questions said that his company had maintained a regular branch in Paris for three years past, and that they were doing by far the largest business of any American sewing machine company in France. The company have also a branch in London, and do a big business among the English people, in spite of their conservative ways. The London office is headquarters for all European trade of the company. Mr. Young also says that the prospects for the company's business, both at home and abroad, could hardly be better than they are."

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?

Do its Manufacturers Publish all the Ingredients Used?

IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?

As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the bread material.

Protection to consumers of food compounds lies in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but [illegible]

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER.

This powder is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, and bicarbonate of soda, [illegible] flour to preserve it. [illegible] official analyses of [illegible] chemists, and physicians [illegible] Boards of Health throughout the country.

CLEVELAND BROTHERS, ALBANY, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, New York.

A $20 A Day Man! A VOICE

[illegible]

Shall we start YOU in this business. [illegible]

Sick Headache

IS a complaint from which many suffer and few are entirely free. Its cause is indigestion and a sluggish liver, the cure for which is readily found in the use of Ayer's Pills.

"I have found that for sick headache, caused by a disordered condition of the stomach, Ayer's Pills are the most reliable remedy."—Samuel C. Bradburn, Worthington, Mass.

"After the use of Ayer's Pills for many years, in my practice and family, I am justified in saying that they are an excellent cathartic and liver medicine—sustaining all the claims made for them."—W. A. Westfall, M. D., V. P. Austin & N. W. Railway Co., Burnet, Texas.

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered stomach and liver. I suffered for over three years from headache, indigestion, and constipation. I had no appetite and was weak and nervous most of the time. By using three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured."—Philip Lockwood, Topeka, Kansas.

"I was troubled for years with indigestion, constipation, and headache. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills, used in small daily doses, restored me to health. They are prompt and effective."—W. H. Strout, Meadville, Pa.

Ayer's Pills,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine.

CARNEY BROS.,

11 SOMERSET ST.

TINNERS,

PLUMBERS

GAS FITTERS.

PARLOR STOVES,

COOK STOVES,

HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas Fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.

Tinware Made to Order.

Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces.

SANITARY PLUMBING.

HOW CAN THE LONG BE THE SHORT?

[illegible] the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has over 3,000 miles of road magnificently equipped and managed, it is one of the greatest railway systems of this country; for the same reasons it is the traveler's favorite to all points in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana. [illegible] Write to F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A., St. Paul, Minn., for maps, books and guides. [illegible]

HAND OF FORTUNE!

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

PECK'S CORNER.

It Will Make You Feel Warm

JUST TO LOOK

AT PECK'S!

WINTER GOODS!

AN ELECTION OFFER!

OPEN TO ALL.

Read It and Try. It Beats Betting!

To render the interesting event of the election of Governor for this State still more interesting, we have decided to make the following very liberal offer, open to all comers and without any conditions:

PRIZE NO. 1—To the party who guesses the nearest to the majority of the successful candidate for Governor we will give the choice of any Suit or Overcoat in our entire stock, up to the most expensive garment we make.

PRIZE NO 2—To the party who makes the second nearest guess we will give the choice of any $15 Suit or Overcoat we have in stock.

You'll find this a good deal better than Ab—bett, and, if successful, you won't have to Grubb around for your Winter clothes.

In this connection it may not be out of place to call attention to what we have in the way of Suits and Overcoats.

We have an unmatchable assortment of Men's Suits from $10 to $24. You'll find the style and fit now almost perfect, experience having taught us much in the manufacturing art.

Overcoats we have from $5 to $28, of every material suitable for an outer garment. Our $15 Overcoat, such as we offer for one of the prizes, is a garment the like of which you would have to pay nearly double for at any merchant tailors, and we'll guarantee to fit you with equal perfection.

☞ Send in your guesses any time before the polls close, and as soon as the official figures declare the majority, come around and secure your prize. Don't bet this time—Guess.

McGregor & Co., 850 and 852 Broad St NEWARK, N. J.

A. VANDERBEEK,

(CHAUTAUQUA BUILDING.)

NO. 33 PARK AVENUE, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

HAVING DISPOSED OF THE MUSICAL AND SPORTING Goods Department I am now prepared to devote my entire time to the sale and renting of

—PIANOS AND ORGANS—

Having many years of experience in the Piano Trade I am prepared to furnish first-class Instruments as reasonable as they can be had in New York city. Pianos tune. Give me a call before purchasing

PRICE LIST OF THE

EMPIRE STEAM CARPET CLEANING

Feather and Mattress Renovating Works.

Office and Works, 32 East Front Street.

HUGO WEIGMANN, Prop.

Ingrain and 3-Ply,	3c. per yd	Feather Pillows,	50c. per pair
Tapestry and Brussels,	4c. "	Feather Bolsters,	50c. each
Wilton, Velvet, Moquette and Axminster,	5c. "	Large Feather Bed,	$1.50 each
		Hair steamed and picked,	5c. per lb

GUNNERS' SUPPLIES!

The "Club" Shell Loaded by the U. M. C. Co.

—LOOK AT THE PRICES:—

10 ga 4 or 4 1-4 drs Powder, $1.85 pr 100
12 " 3, 3 1-4 or 3 1-2 " " $1.75 " "

American Wood, Schultze and Dead-shot Powder Shells Loaded to Order.

Guns of all Grades and Sizes.

Look at Our $1.00 Hunting Coat.

A. M. Vanderbeek & Co.,

33 PARK AVENUE.

Chautauqua Building, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

HARRIS'S PATENT
ODORLESS EXCAVATOR
CESSPOOLS, VAULTS

John Brown,

(Successor to John Burke.)

Cesspools, Vaults, Etc., Etc.,

CLEANED.

Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at CARNEY BROS., No. 1 Park avenue, or addressed to P. O. Box 718, will receive prompt attention.

TRAVELING IN INDIA.

Hotel and Railway Life in Victoria's Eastern Empire.

A Country Where Nothing Is Done for Hotel Guests Unless They Are Willing to Pay for "Extras"—Description of an Eastern Railway Car.

Your train stops at a station where [illegible]

[illegible]

STRANGE AND STRIKING.

[illegible]

Our Duty to the Indian.

According to the Carlisle (Pa.) Red Man, the highest duty of the Nation to the Indian requires that the Nation shall create [illegible]

DOWN THROUGH THE ICE.

Horrible Fate of Three Horse-Thieves and Their Slayer.

The Mysterious Disappearance of a Nebraska Man Explained After Thirty-Five Years—Startling Confession of a Dying Man.

The following narration, which was fully vouched for by Rev. Mr. Gassman, was written for the San Francisco Examiner from facts furnished by him.

In 1854, in Brownville, Neb., a man named George Tract, who was a commission merchant on a small scale, mysteriously disappeared.

There was no clew whatever as to his fate, and the idea was general that he was in some way disposed of at the same time that three horse-thieves were put out of the way by a vigilance committee.

His wife stated that he had gone out that evening at seven o'clock, saying that he might not return until late. This was the last ever seen of him.

Another queer circumstance was the fact that the three horse-thieves who were taken from the jail the same night that Tract disappeared were never heard of again. It was an old custom in Nebraska to string such people up to a tree, with a placard attached to their persons, but in this occasion all trace of them was wiped out. The sheriff said a gang of masked men had taken them from the jail, and that was the last of his knowledge of them. It was not customary for a sheriff to follow lynching parties in Nebraska in those lawless days.

The disappearance of Tract was a source of wonderment for years, but the secret of his death appeared to have perished with him.

Residents of Brownville, Neb., will, on reading this article, realize for the first time what became of Tract, and several parties who were with him on that fatal night and saw him die will recognize the truth of this narrative. Lest some of them might feel troubled at the revelations made here, they can feel assured that while the facts are given truthfully the names of the parties who knew all about Tract's death are in the possession now of no living person. The truth of the story is as follows:

The night of December 2, 1854, three horse-thieves were taken from the rude log jail at Brownville, Neb., and put to death under peculiar circumstances. They were thrust through a hole in the ice by a party of masked men, some of whom are yet alive. One of the men who was drowned was a murderer, and the other two were horse-thieves and regular desperadoes. A parishioner of Rev. Lawrence Gassman made the following statement on his death-bed:

"I helped to drown them, and it was such an awful thing that it has haunted me ever since. We took them handcuffed from the jail at Brownville, at about two o'clock in the morning led them to the river. It was winter, and the ice was a foot thick and full of air-holes.

"The poor fellows never suspected the awful fate in store for them until we reached a place in the middle of the river, where there was an air-hole about ten feet across.

"We [illegible] down alongside the hole, and then, for the first time, they realized what they were there for.

"We told them to kneel by the brink and pray, if they wanted to. One knelt and the other two began to struggle, but it was no use; they were bound and handcuffed, and we dragged them to the edge where the other was kneeling. He clasped his manacled hands at the edge of the ice, and then, lifting them above his head, asked the curse of Heaven on us all.

"Around him stood a determined group, and below the dark, rushing water, where the swift, awaiting currents of the river sped beneath us.

"Some of the crowd began to weaken, but the majority were determined, and, as the poor fellow was kneeling [illegible] the curse upon us, some one hit him alongside the head with the butt of a revolver, and he fell on his side stunned. They pushed him in, and he disappeared in a second.

"The other two men were then pushed struggling over the edge of the ice. They fought as desperately as men can who were handcuffed. One of them got his teeth in one of his captor's clothes, and when they wrenched his head away two teeth came out.

"They were pushed into the water, but they held on to the edge of the ice with their manacled hands, cursing and blaspheming horribly.

"One man stamped on those hands with the heel of his boot until he mashed the fingers to pieces, and, while he was doing it, the other man, still in the water, suddenly caught his foot, and, before any one knew what was being done, his other foot slipped and he was in the hole.

"Both men let go the ice then and grabbed him. A dozen hands were stretched over the hole to rescue the poor fellow, but the others held him with their teeth and manacled hands. Before this they were trying to keep their bodies as far out of the water as possible to keep from the relentless current, but the instant they got their victim they sank as far as they could.

"It was a terrible scene. We beat on their faces with our revolvers to make them let go, but they had the death grip, and the current, which was roaring like a mill-race, sucked the three struggling men under and we had to let go to save ourselves.

"Two or three hands that held the man we were trying to rescue let go, and the additional weight was too much for the rest, and they had to loosen their grip also, and the three disappeared together.

"The name of the man we tried to rescue was George Tract. It was easy to investigate the antecedents of the men taken from the jail, but the disappearance of the other man was the talk of the town for a long time.

"It was a terrible mystery, and those who knew never breathed a word.

"I am dying and want to tell some one before I go that the mystery surrounding the disappearance of George Tract may be cleared up. He had no friends outside of his relatives to mourn his loss, and was so brutal in [illegible] poor fellows' hands that it seemed like justice to have him die with the others."

JOCUND JOTTINGS.

In a good speech there are two important things. One is the beginning and the other is the end. The nearer the beginning is to the end, as a general thing, the better and more satisfactory the speech.

"Say, mister, is there a circus here to-day?" "No; what made you think so?" "Ain't them clowns [illegible] on the street?" [illegible]

[illegible]

MUSICAL MATTERS.

[illegible]

HUMOROUS YARNS.

When Wilberforce was a candidate for Parliament his brilliant sister offered a new gown to the wife of every freeman who would vote for her brother, on which a cry was raised: "Miss Wilberforce for ever." She replied: "I thank you, gentlemen, but I can not agree with you. I do not wish to be Miss Wilberforce for ever."

Drs. Parr, Homer and Abthorpe once met at old Frank Smith's coffee-house, in Garrick Fair lane, Cambridge. Homer on the occasion was in a very grumpy and retiring mood. At length Parr broke out with: "Homer's old, I see" (Odyssey). Abthorpe quickly followed with: "Homer's ill, I add" (Iliad). Homer grumpily observed: "That's above par" (Parr).

Dr. A. T. Pierson, in some pithy practical hints on pulpit oratory, says that to be winning is to be wise, but it must not be overdone. He has a friend, an evangelist, who got into the habit of calling his audience "dear souls." Inadvertently he would say, as he passed from place to place, "dear Belfast souls," "dear Dublin souls"—and before he knew it he was saying, "dear Cork souls!" which convulsed his Irish audience.

There is a story told of a lady who one day went to call on Fuseli, a painter, who, when there was need for it, could express himself with emphasis. Her conscious chatter did not allow him to get in even a word edgeways. At last a pause to take breath gave him time to say: "We had boiled mutton and turnips for dinner to-day." "What a strange observation, Mr. Fuseli!" exclaimed the lady. "Why," he said, "it is as good as any thing you have been saying for the last two hours."

Handel's most faithful friend and admirer of his music was George II, who more than once advanced him sums of one thousand pounds sterling to carry on his unfortunate undertakings. An habitue met Lord Chesterfield coming out of Covent Garden Theater one evening in the middle of a performance. "What, my Lord," said the dilettante, "is there not an oratorio?" "Yes," replied his Lordship; "they are now performing, but I thought it best to retire lest I should disturb the King in his privacy."

Daniel Purcell, the Hibernian punster, happening to pass when a great mob of spectators were assembled to see a culprit on his way to his execution at Tyburn, asked a gentleman who was standing in the crowd what was the name of the person about to be hanged? He answered: "One Vowel." "Ah!" said Purcell. "Do you know which of them it is, for there are several of that name?" "No," returned the other, "I do not." "Well," said the wag, "this, however, is certain, and I am very glad of it, that it is neither U nor I."

A story is told about one of the members of the Flint Union Hose while the Michigan state troops were in camp. The story is also vouched for for its veracity. One of the members of the F. U. H.'s was doing guard duty, and while at his post a gentleman came along, and the boys along the line did their best at saluting the passer-by. Noticing that the Flint youth gave no salute, the man asked him why he did not salute as the other soldiers had done. "Didn't have to," came the unsatisfactory reply. "But you saw your comrades did?" "Well, I don't salute every gol darned farmer that passes along these parts, sir, if they do," came the reply. "Do you know whom you are addressing that way? I am Governor Luce." "Eh! oh! gosh! Excuse me, Governor, just once."

ADMIRABLE ADVICE.

To avoid confusion and secure efficiency, do but one thing at a time.

Be patient. An impatient man breaks the boughs to gather the fruit before it is ripe.

Don't judge a man by the house he lives in, for the lizard and the rat often inhabit the largest structures.

When worried ask yourself: What is there in this thing that it should so disturb my peace and tranquility?

Be moderate in your pleasures, that your relish for them may continue. Always to indulge our appetites is to extinguish them.

Fight vice before it gets within your trenches by avoiding thoughts leading to it, and your victory will then be comparatively easy.

Never neglect an opportunity to be of service to others, even in a small way, for a time may come when they may be of service to you.

Whatever your work, concentrate your faculties on it. The weakest living creature by concentrating his powers can accomplish something.

Limit your wants; make them few and inexpensive. To do this requires but little effort; it is mostly a matter of habit. We require more or are satisfied with less just as we have accustomed ourselves to one or the other.

Be diligent, or love your work. Unlike pleasure, work never palls on us. No man can follow pleasure long continually. When he strives to do so, he turns pleasure into business and works at that. It is labor only which gives relish to pleasure.

Do every thing well. Be accurate in observation; be accurate in speech; be accurate in the transaction of affairs. What is done in business must be done well, for it is better to accomplish a small amount of work than to half do ten times as much. With character, good conduct and ability in every other respect, the man who is habitually inaccurate can not be trusted. His work has to be gone over again and he thus causes annoyance, vexation and trouble.

THE TIDE OF EVENTS.

A Leadville (Col.) man has invented a device which, he claims, will do away wholly with buttons and buttonholes.

A canal two hundred and fifty miles long is to be built for navigating purposes in New Mexico. It will be thirty feet wide.

A curious wedding, where the groom was eighty and the bride thirty-five years old, astonished a quiet Connecticut village recently.

North Dakota will be the first State, as a State, to make provision for a system of manual training. Forty thousand acres of land are set apart for that purpose.

Trains will soon be running to the summit of Pike's Peak if the winter is not too severe. Contracts have been signed for building a cog-wheel road up the mountain.

A West Virginian got a marriage license the other day and gave the lady's last name wrong. When notified of his mistake he said he really didn't know what her name was.

Two men recently completed their long horseback ride across the continent. They reached San Francisco four months and about four days from the time they left New York.

A St. Louis coal company recently mined at Danville, Ill., a lump of coal that weighed 37,000 pounds. It was shipped to Chicago, and the timbers in the mine had to be taken down for its removal.

A young woman of Southport, Me., the other day committed the most deliberate suicide on record. She walked into the water and sat down. After awhile she lay down, and the tide rose and carried her off.

GOING THE ROUNDS.

An Atchison, Kan., farmer recently offered to trade a barrel of sorghum for a wife.

Salt Lake in Utah is reported to be eight and one-half feet lower than it was two years ago.

There are wild lands in Southwest Missouri that can be bought for fourteen dollars a quarter section.

A walking-stick, the crutch-handle of which is an ear-trumpet, is the latest convenience for deaf men.

It is said that President Lincoln's private papers are still lying in a vault of the First National Bank in Bloomington, Ill.

Exiles from Florida are longing to return to their native land, and are moving nearer and nearer as the frost belt moves South. They will find many sad changes in the sunny land.

Mr. Edison says that "in a few years the world will be just like one big ear; it will be unsafe to speak in a house until one has examined the walls and furniture for concealed phonographs."

Two New Yorkers who rode across the continent to San Francisco on horseback are reported to have said that a stack of gold bars as high as the Sierras would not induce them to make the return trip in the same manner.

Cracksmen now open safes by applying a powerful machine that pulls out the knob of the combination lock. They do this easily and quickly, and the old battle between safe-builders and thieves must now be fought all over again.

A dilapidated safe stood outdoors in Adrian, Mich., several years ago, and recently it was sold for old iron. On breaking it up a set of account books and a good gold watch were found inside, and no one knows who the watch belongs to.

A party of United States surveyors who have been engaged on the coast of Oregon the past summer say that there are hundreds of fertile valleys unsettled and several good harbors unused, and only awaiting the advent of commerce to create another world of activity.

"Put two nickels in the slot and get a bottle of whisky," is the sign on a slot machine which has appeared in Kansas City. The "bottle" is a small one containing about a gill of stuff fiery enough to tickle the throat of the most grizzled cowboy. The machine is intended to defeat the Sunday-closing law.

The Scott exclusion act does not seem to keep the Chinese out of the country. After an intermission of a few months Chinese immigration is assuming its old proportions at San Francisco. A steamer which arrived a few days ago brought 186 Chinese, the men classed as "merchants" and the women as "wives." The local papers say that they evidently belong to the laboring class.

Lieutenant Schwatka estimates the number of living cliff dwellers he has discovered in Southern Chihuahua at from 8,000 to 10,000. They are very wild and shy, and upon the approach of white people fly to their caves or cliffs by notched sticks placed against the face of the cliffs if too steep, although they ascend vertical stone faces if there are the slightest crevices for the fingers and toes.

The United States Government has perfected measures for the preservation of the Casa Grande ruins in Arizona. For miles around the Casa Grande many great mounds, now hardly distinguishable from the desert sands, bear indisputable evidence of having been, at some far remote period, the abode of busy industries. The most ancient of the traditions of the Pimas and Papagoes, who yet live where their fathers have lived for centuries, allude to them as "The Ruins."

The voice of the cowboy is heard in Cheyenne uttering this plaintive wail over the departure of the good old days: "In the fall now Cheyenne is only a nice, lively town with plenty of business. There's no more racin' up and down street on horseback; no more shootin' when you feel like makin' a noise; no more lightin' [illegible] away from them. The town is all the time about half full of tenderfeet who think a cowboy is the only proper tiger 'looks funny.' Why, the gamblin' games are all on the square now, and the whisky is so much better than it used to be that you can't hardly taste it, but let's go and get some of it anyhow."

NOTES FOR NATURALISTS.

There is a pond in New Jersey where the sacred lotus of the East has become established and proved itself hardy, although in the winter the surface of the water is frozen over.

Titmice, especially great-tits, are held in great horror by many bee-keepers who declare that they are their greatest enemies, and accuse them of tapping at the entrance to the hives and snapping up the bees as they come out to discover what is amiss.

The skin of the whale is from two inches to two feet thick, that of a large specimen weighing thirty tons. The rhinoceros is the thickest skinned quadruped, with a hide so tough as to resist the claws of the lion or tiger, the sword or the balls of the old-fashioned musket.

A plant has been discovered in the forests of India which possesses in a high degree astonishing magnetic power. The hand breaking off a leaf receives a shock, and a magnetic needle is affected by it at the distance of six meters from the trunk.

At a recent meeting of the Linnean Society in England a most extraordinary fruit was exhibited, the so-called "miraculous berry" of West Africa belonging to the Sapotaceæ. Covered externally with a soft, sweet pulp, it imparts to the palate a sensation which renders it possible to partake of sour substances and even of tartaric acid, lime-juice, vinegar, and to give them a flavor of absolute sweetness.

Just as the peregrine is the largest, so the merlin is the smallest of British resident falcons. Although not much larger than a thrush, this handsome little bird is full of dash and fire, and commonly attacks birds more than double its weight. It has been known to pull down a partridge, and it is sometimes terribly destructive to young grouse. While nearly all of the diurnal British birds of prey build on rocks or trees, the merlin nests on the ground.

One thing that never fails to interest all who see it when it is found on the mountain heights of the Sierras is the snow plant, known to botanists as the sarcodes sanguinea, meaning blooded flesh. No flesh or blood could be so exquisitely beautiful. Imagine a rosy and snow-tinted, crowned hyacinth, from eight to twenty inches in height, every miniature bell wound about by a rosy and frosted silver ribbon, all topped by a huge head of asparagus in hoar-frost and silver.

There is a little yellow bee in Honduras that is very much like the little yellow flies found about corn silks. The bees are without stings, and the most industrious little insects imaginable. They build in hollows in trees and wherever they can find a lodgment, and they gather a double handful of honey of delicious flavor in these nests of rough comb. So plentiful are they that a person can take a hatchet and cut into the knot-hole in the trees and soon collect all the honey he wants without the danger of being stung by the bees.

RACE PECULIARITIES.

A striking salutation of the South Sea Islands is to fling a jar of water over the head of a friend.

It is death to any person in Siam to mention the King's name. This is a custom that many other tribes rigidly adhere to.

At a marriage ceremony in Japan neither the bride nor the groom wears any clothing of a purple color lest their marriage should be soon dissolved, purple being a color most liable to fade.

The Burmese believe that the ruby ripens like fruit. They say that a ruby in its crude state is colorless, and, as it matures, changes first to yellow, then to green, then to blue, and lastly to a brilliant red, its highest state of perfection and ripeness.

The Maoris of New Zealand, while at war with the English, invariably sent a notice when they were going to make an attack, as if they were coming on a friendly visit and desired things to be ready for them. They thought it very strange that the English did not give them similar notice.

We are informed by an English journalist that in Paraguay "the lady of the house, as she comes, clothed in soft raiment and flashing gems, to meet the stranger traveler with mouth upheld for the formal kiss of greeting, removes from her cheek the quid she spends her days in chewing."

One who has been strolling about the streets of Honolulu writes of the native Sandwich islanders that they have the brown skin of the Indian—not the black of the negro—bright, intelligent faces, and straight, black hair; generally with good forms, easy gait, and graceful in movement. The men have generally adopted the usual English style of dress. The wahines, or women, dress with the loose holoku, or, as it would be called in this country, the Mother Hubbard, but close-fitting around the throat. They generally prefer light colors in dress and wear flowers in profusion.

The Indians of British Guiana have a game which resembles the civilized college rush or an old-time "hold-in." It was witnessed by the author of "Canoe and Camp Life." In the afternoon the youths and boys of the place played a game over which they made a good deal of noise, and which they evidently enjoyed, as boys of any race do. They formed a line across one of the wide approaches to the village, while one of the strongest of the number made an effort to break through, by rushing against it at his greatest speed. Any man who approached the village had likewise to break through before he could enter the place.

According to the customs of Chinese society, the wife of the Chinese Minister to this country will comb her hair up from her forehead to show that she is married. Her tresses reach to her feet, and so difficult is the task of dressing them that one arrangement lasts several days. For the preservation of the coiffure she lies while asleep on a willow pillow as finely woven as an imported bonnet, shaped like a loaf of baker's bread. The maids dress their back hair in a cue and arrange a bang one and a half inches deep from ear to ear. A bit of coquetry is displayed by allowing a single lock to float loosely in front of the face and over the shoulder. The hair of the Chinese girl is never cut, and as a result of the splendid care bestowed it grows luxuriantly.

PERSONALITIES OF WRITERS.

Emile Zola is one year this side of fifty. Short as to stature, thick-set as to build and parched as to face, he wears eye-glasses and a painfully sheepish expression before strangers.

George Ebers, the Egyptologist and novelist, is said to be a hopeless invalid. He is paralyzed and very rarely moves out of his rolling chair. His spirits, however, never flag and he still continues to work.

Miss Katharine Tynan, the Irish poetess, whose work is familiar to American readers, is described as a blonde of medium height, with an exquisite complexion, and abundance of golden hair, and small, beautiful hands.

Edgar Fawcett, the novelist, is a small, clean-shaven man, with a large head and a deprecatory, almost phlegmatic manner. He is high priest of the Union Club, is pathetic on the subject of growing fat and parts his hair in the middle.

The poet and critic, Richard Henry Stoddard, is no longer the robust man of a few years ago. Few men of equal age have of late years done so much continuous work. The announcement is made that Stoddard will shortly lay aside the critic's scalpel.

Miss Grace King, the clever New Orleans novelist, is a stately woman, twenty-seven years old, with brown hair and eyes and striking features. Miss King, although having an English name, belongs to a proud old creole family on her mother's side—a family that was by no means pleased with Cable's description of creole life in New Orleans.

Mrs. Arthur Stannard, who is better known by her nom de plume of "John Strange Winter," is thirty-three years old, tall and handsome, with dark, brilliant eyes; her hair is also dark and curls closely all over her head. She dresses elegantly, richly, heavy velvets and handsome silks being her favorites. She is very fond of society and attends all the fashionable receptions during the London season.

THE DREAM WOMAN.

How She Saved a Dying Traveler from Certain Death.

A Romantic Story Full of Love and Mystery—How a Virginia Woman Rescued the Man Whom Destiny Had Set Apart for Her.

I was the victim of the Brazilian fever and every one had given me up, writes an imaginative story-teller in the Chicago Mail. I heard the priest say at my bedside that I would not live till morning. I was sinking into a heavy stupor when the door opened and a golden-haired woman in a white gown glided in. She carried in her hand a curious porcelain bowl of water.

"Drink," she said in a sweet voice, holding it to my lips.

"The doctor forbids it," I murmured.

"Drink and fear nothing," she said.

I obeyed and drained the vessel she held toward me. "Good night and sweet dreams," she added, and glided away as mysteriously as she had entered.

The next morning I awoke refreshed and invigorated. I asked to see the lady who had waited upon me in the night, but they smiled and said it was a delirious dream. In time I recovered my health and returned to Virginia. It was ten years after this illness that, in riding past a fine old country house, I saw a lady walk down the path who paused to pick a rose. Her figure was tall, her hair golden, her eyes black. Her motions were graceful. With a little exclamation of astonishment I recognized the lady of my dream, if dream it were. She looked a little older—nay, a good ten years older—but otherwise was unaltered.

I know not in what words I communicated this fact to my friend, but I know I ended by saying:

"I must speak to her. She will remember."

My friend uttered an imperative negative.

"She would think you a madman," he said. "Come on. You may get yourself shot for staring at another man's wife. They do such things prompt at the South. I will find out who she is if you like."

I assented eagerly. We rode on.

"Talk to me as much as you like," he said, "but never expose yourself to strangers. It is possible this lady was in Brazil in 18—, and brought you something to drink when you were left alone. In that case a doubt that troubles you will be satisfied. You can with all propriety call on her and thank her."

But, though he spoke in this way, I knew he did not imagine it could be so. That evening we smoked our cigars in Colonel L——'s company, and my friend diplomatically introduced the subject.

"That beautiful house with the large garden," he said, "is quite a feature of the place. Who owns it?"

"A lone woman, widow of Mr. V——," said the Colonel. "She was a belle in her girlhood. She might still be one if she chose."

"Perhaps we saw her in the garden," said my friend, beginning a minute description.

"Exactly. It was no one else," said the Colonel.

My friend paused a moment and then said:

"She reminded B. of someone he met in Brazil. In fact, he almost believes her the same person."

"No, no," said the old Colonel. "Mrs. V. has never left Virginia. We have known the family since she was two years old. It is only the other day that we spoke of that, and she lamented that she had not traveled more."

I felt a pang of disappointment, but found courage to say: "I should greatly like to be introduced to her."

The old Colonel instantly offered to introduce me.

"But remember," said my friend, as we parted, "never tell her of your fancy. It would spoil your chances with her, and I see it is a case of love at first sight."

He was right, and I was very fortunate—very happy. I won this beautiful woman's heart.

Her fortune I did not want, but it was large. I had sufficient means and could not be suspected of mercenary motives. We were married, after a long and ardent wooing on my part.

She loved me, but a second marriage seemed wrong to her, and it was not until she realized that she had irretrievably given me her heart that she would give me her hand.

Neither of us had ever visited Europe. We decided to cross the ocean during our honeymoon. Before we went she showed me her beautiful home and all her possessions. Among them was a store of old china.

Suddenly she turned to the shelves of her cabinet and took down a china bowl—transparent, covered with flowers and butterflies of quaint conventional form.

As she held it toward me I saw again the long, low-hung, whitewashed Brazilian room, the crowd of men playing cards at an improvised table, the figure of the woman advancing toward me. It was her attitude that my wife had assumed. I uttered a cry.

"Are you thirsty?" she asked.

"It is true, then," I cried. "You are the woman who saved my life when I lay perishing of fever in Brazil."

She began to tremble. Setting the bowl aside she threw herself into my arms.

"Long ago," she panted—"ten years ago—I thought I held that bowl in my hand and asked you that. It was night. I do not know whether I dreamt or whether I was mad. In the dead of night I thought a voice called to me: 'Save the man whom destiny has set apart for you.' Then I arose and asked: 'How?'

"There is on our plantation a spring, the water of which is magical in its power to cure fevers. I dreamt or thought that some unseen thing led me to this spring. I carried this bowl in my hand. I filled it. Then I stood in a strange room; long, low, white; and you—you—you lay on a pallet, hot with fever. And I said: 'Are you thirsty?' and gave you to drink.

"The next morning I could have thought it was all a dream but that the bowl, still wet, stood at my bedside. Now I have told you this, do you think me mad or superstitious? I have longed so often to tell you, but I dared not."

But I also had my tale to tell—the one I have told you.

We ask each other often: "What was it? What did it mean? How is it to be explained?" But no answer comes to us.

Whatever it may have been, it brought us together, and I bless it from my soul, for we are happy as few lovers are, my darling wife and I. And whatever it was, it came from Heaven. Nothing unholy had any hand in it.

ITEMIZED INTELLIGENCE.

Tennis teaching is now opening a new branch of employment for women.

One Johnstown girl has counted thirty-two relatives who perished in the flood.

There are 1,000 central electric light stations in various parts of this country.

Gum chewers' paralysis is the latest form of professional neurosis recorded in medical literature.

Lenawee County, Mich., is at present paying out something like twelve dollars a day in bounties on dead sparrows.

There are sixty paper towns in Southern California, comprising 79,350 town lots, and the whole sixty have only 225 inhabitants.

It is said that the great oil fields of New York and Pennsylvania are rapidly becoming exhausted. The supply has fallen from 100,000 to 45,000 barrels per day. Search is being made for new fields.

The railroad car on which Lincoln rode to Washington at the time of his first inauguration is now used as a smoking car on the New York Central railroad and runs between Wellsboro and Antrim, Pa.

A new gem, the pierre Tonguinoise, is in the market. When cut like diamonds it is said to be very beautiful. Its color is a dark blue, more brilliant than sapphire, though some varieties have a purple or red tinge.

The great mining enterprise of uncovering the bed of Feather River, in California, at Big Bend, has proved a failure. The stream was successfully diverted, but the gold expected to be found at the bottom was not there. It is said $2,000,000 was expended on the project.

The longest uninterrupted debate on record was brought to a close by the New Zealand House of Representatives the other day. It had caused a continuous sitting of seventy-six hours, entirely given up to the discussion of a representation bill. Yet the debate was not finished.

The female clerks who have obtained positions in the Treasury Department within four or five years are mostly young women who have just passed through the normal schools and have entered the Government service through the civil service examination test. They are a bright lot of young women.

A Chinese banking house is soon to be opened in New York City, and it will be the first of its kind in the United States. A small rate of interest is to be paid to each regular depositor, and the money is to be let out on a larger interest to legitimate business houses in Mott street, where the present rate of interest is between ten and fifteen per cent. for small loans on good security. This banking scheme indicates that the Chinese population is increasing rapidly.

The largest drawbridge in the world is across the Thames at New London, Conn., and the draw was swung for the first time recently. It shut into place exactly, the double-rail tracks fitting as perfectly as if they had always been doing that sort of thing. The draw had, of course, been built up and down stream, and this was the first opportunity to discover whether any errors had been made. The draw is [illegible] feet long and weighs 2,300,000 pounds.

A block of coal weighing five tons, ten hundredweight, was cut at the Abercarne Coal Company's Abercarne colliery and sent to the Paris Exposition as a specimen of Welsh mining industry. The block, which was cut from the nine-foot black-vein seam, measures seven feet six inches high, five feet six inches wide and three feet six inches deep. It had to be hauled about a mile in the workings to the pit's shaft, where it was found necessary to trim it before it could be sent up to the bank.

HINTS ABOUT HORSES.

Do not be in too much of a hurry to break and work the colt. Give the animal a chance to develop.

Halter-break the colt early. It is a good deal less trouble to manage a little thing than a big one, unless the little thing is a wasp.

The imperfections, blemishes and diseases of many young animals, which induce their owners to ask for medical treatment to remove, will often disappear with the growth of the animal.

Give more attention to the feet of your horses. If your shoer is not an intelligent man find one that is. There is much more to shoeing a horse than simply fitting and nailing a shoe to the foot.

Overfed horses means sick horses sooner or later. There is no sense in overfeeding any animal, but there would seem to be less in overfeeding the horse than in overfeeding any other animal on the farm.

It is the duty of every farmer, the Auburn (N. Y.) Gazette claims, to keep one horse that is safe for the women folks to handle. If farmers would teach their wives and daughters how to manage a horse there would not be so many accidents.

A writer on equine subjects gives what he says is an Arab test: "Observe your horse when he is drinking out of a brook; if, in bringing down his head, he remains square, without bending his limbs, he possesses sterling qualities and all parts of his body are built symmetrically."

Never whip a horse when he is frightened or nervous, or try to force him up to the object that has caused the alarm; draw in on the reins, suddenly speak out with assurance that you are not afraid, then turn the animal a little way from the unpleasant sight and bid it go. A blow of a whip upon a frightened horse gives it double cause for violent action.

PICTURES AND PAINTERS.

Alma Tadema is described as the least imposing object in his studio. He looks and is a little over fifty. He is short and strongly built, and most energetic in his movements.

A small picture was recently sold at the Hotel Drouot, in Paris, for 100 francs, which, on being verified as the work by M. Meissonier, was immediately resold for 18,000 francs.

Rosa Bonheur, who is over seventy years of age, is making studies of Buffalo Bill's Indians and ponies for a large painting. Parisian art is willing to give the wild West a show.

A picture painted over a thousand years ago (A. D. 859) by Kanaoka, the father of Japanese pictorial art, is reported to have been discovered in a pawnshop in Tokio. It is said to be a masterpiece, and in a wonderful state of preservation. It is a figure about two feet high, representing a priest.

At a sale in London the other day an early work of Mlle. Rosa Bonheur, painted in 1847, and formerly belonging to the famous engineer Brunel, was bought in at 2,500 guineas, the last bid being from Messrs. Agnew at 2,400 guineas. The picture measured seventy inches by fifty inches and is a landscape with a group of six red Breton oxen.

M. J. Tissot, the French artist, is engaged upon a series of water colors representing the Life of Christ. They will number three hundred, of which a third are already finished. The painter, who has made two journeys to Palestine for local color, reckons that they will all be off his hands in two years' time. The series will be published in a sumptuous volume. Each drawing is about eighteen by twelve inches.

PEOPLE POINTED OUT.

The only stimulant now indulged in by Prince Bismarck is tea.

Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, is the finest linguist in Congress.

Mrs. Henry S. Kimball, of West Philadelphia, is receiving the credit of originating Memorial Day.

Nasr Eddin Shah of Persia, was so pleased with Mrs. Alice Shaw, the lady whistler, that he gravely proposed to buy her and take her with him to Persia on his return.

The owner of the finest collection of watches in the world is Sir Julian Goldschmid, a wealthy Englishman, whose riches are said to nearly equal those of the Rothschilds.

Edison counts his minutes and picks his company. The lord mayor of London invited him to meet fifty scientific people at luncheon. Edison telegraphed him he couldn't attend.

Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain is said to be the most popular woman the United States has yet sent to England. It is said that her "manners are perfect and her bearing is like that of a Duchess."

Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth, whose blood-curdling novels thrilled our grandmothers, is still living in undiminished vigor at Yonkers, N. Y., and is now writing a novel which, it is said, will surpass all her previous works.

P. T. Barnum gave a farewell family dinner at his Bridgeport residence prior to his early departure for Europe. The party, consisting of his children and grandchildren, with their husbands and wives and three great-grandchildren, numbered seventeen.

Every one in Paris has been surprised at the youthfulness of Mr. Gladstone. Being asked by some one how many lines of the "Iliad" he still remembered, he replied, after a moment's hesitation: "If some one would give me the first line of any page I think I could repeat what follows to the bottom of that page."

Colonel W. M. Fuller, of Perryopolis, Pa., is said to bear such a striking resemblance to ex-President Cleveland that he is often mistaken for him. In Baltimore three years ago Colonel Fuller was serenaded by a brass band, which played "Hail to the Chief" while the Pennsylvanian lay in his bed at midnight. At another time a play was stopped in a Washington theater to give the audience a chance to applaud Cleveland's double as he walked modestly to a seat in the orchestra.

Somebody says that Mrs. Frank Leslie sleeps in black silk sheets, the top one hemstitched and run with coral ribbons to match her beautiful night-robe of ebony silk. The pillows are cased in black silk and over the couch pendant the chandelier hangs a cluster of Spanish rosaries carved from fragrant wood and joined with bits of jade. Her bath is a study in custard-colored tiling. The trimmings are done in plated silver, all the plumbing is open, the tub is coffin-shaped, and pictures ornament the walls.

SOME SIZABLE SUBJECTS.

A lady at Wallula, W. T., has a rose bush that stands seventeen feet high.

A Swiss cheese which was received by an Atchison grocery firm the other day weighed 700 pounds.

Fifteen potatoes that weighed twenty-one pounds were raised by a farmer in Wetzel County, W. Va.

The largest steam engine in the world is the one recently constructed for the new Italian cruiser Sardegna.

Lyons, France, is completing the world's biggest dam, begun a century ago. It is 1,000 feet long and 175 feet high, and the foundations are 100 feet deep.

The largest piece of machinery exhibited at Paris is a large English lathe weighing 200 tons and long enough to swing a piece seventy feet long between centers and ten feet in diameter.

A single sheet of paper six feet wide and seven and three-fourths miles in length was recently made at the Watertown, N. Y., paper works. It weighed 2,207 pounds, and was made and rolled entirely without a single break.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE. August 26th, 1889.

Estate of Huldah L. Allen, Deceased. Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executor of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

[illegible], Executor.
8-29-10w

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To [illegible]. By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein [illegible] is complainant and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant, on or before the [illegible] day of November next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by [illegible], dated July 1st, 1874, on lands in the township of [illegible], Union county, New Jersey, and you are made defendant because you claim an estate or interest [illegible]

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Solicitors for Complainant, [illegible] Park avenue,
Plainfield, New Jersey.
Dated Sept. 3, 1889.

LEGAL NOTICES.

1889.

TAXES!

Notice is hereby to the Taxpayers of
THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD,

That the Taxes assessed in said city for the year 1889, are now due and payable, and that

If the said Taxes be not paid by the 20th day of December Next,

the names of the delinquents, with their respective Taxes will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution.

The Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council chamber on the FOURTH TUESDAY IN NOVEMBER NEXT (the 26th), and sit from 2 o'clock P. M. until 5 o'clock P. M., or longer if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.
Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1, 1889. 10-3-1rw

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors.

SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

Estate of George W. Townley, Deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the twenty-seventh day of September, A. D. 1889, on the application of William H. Shotwell, as Administrator of George W. Townley, deceased, an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of George W. Townley, deceased, to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent, under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said Administrator within NINE months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor should be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said Administrator.

ABM. T. HUFF, Surrogate.
10-3-9w

RAILROADS.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after Sep. 29, 1889, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:39 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, dining car from Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Cleveland and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:09 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars and dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—[illegible]

For Philadelphia [illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

1:39 P. M. (Through car,) week-days. For Cape May, 1:39 P. M., week-days.

For Trenton [illegible]

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—[illegible]

For Flemington—[illegible]

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey
Station in New York—Foot Liberty Street.

Time Table in Effect June 30, 1889.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave New York from foot of Liberty Street, [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Newark—[illegible]

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Somerville [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Easton [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 9:07, a. m., 2:10, p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS
LEAVE PLAINFIELD

5:12, a. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. Sunday—[illegible] a. m. for Easton.

8:07 a. m. for Flemington, Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9:37 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

2:04, p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

[illegible] p. m.—For Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Drifton, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

[illegible] p. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, [illegible]

6:04, p. m.—For Flemington.

[illegible], p. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. On Sunday at 6:35 p. m.

For Atlantic City—At [illegible] a. m., 1:06 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

For Perth Amboy—[illegible]

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, [illegible]

For Baltimore and Washington at [illegible]

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA:

Ninth and Green streets, [illegible]

From 24th and Chestnut—[illegible]

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker streets, [illegible]

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, Gen'l Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

INSURANCE.

FIRE INSURANCE!

The undersigned having been appointed agent for the

Star and Merchants
Fire Insurance Co's of the City of New York,

are prepared to furnish substantial indemnity against loss by Fire and solicit application from the citizens of Plainfield and vicinity.

NATHAN HARPER

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

J. C. Pope & Co.,
GENERAL AGENTS OF THE
German American Ins. Co.,
of New York.

Also represents other first-class Fire Insurance Companies. Agents of the Inman Steamship Line. Drafts on Ireland for sale. First and City National Bank Stock Bought and Sold. Also,

BUILDING LOTS
And Other Real Estate for sale.
OFFICE:
6 E. FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD.
JAMES C. POPE. ELIAS R. POPE

PEERLESS [illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS | MISCELLANEOUS.

THE FALL OF 1889

BRINGS WITH IT many new styles, and much that is novel and handsome in the line of man's attire. We are exceedingly particular how our clothes are cut and made. The very best Custom Cutters only can secure positions in our employ. While we go in for appearances to the fullest extent, we are ever mindful of quality. If you will call and inspect our Fall Suits and Overcoats for Men and Boys you will note the extreme neatness and evident durability of every Coat, Vest and Pair of Trousers THROUGH THE WHOLE STOCK. We stake our reputation on the thoroughness of our work. You can get a suit for $8, $10, $12, $15 or $18, or an Overcoat, light or medium weight, all shades, silk facings and linings, for $10 or $12. We wish to convince you that our house deserves your custom. It does!

J. MARSHALL & BALL,
CLOTHIERS,
807, 809, 811, 813 BROAD STREET
10-10-3m

PIANOS. PIANOS.
S. D. LAUTER CO.,
Steinway.
(The Standard Piano of the World,)
Emerson.
S. G. Chickering.
Sterling.
And all Standard Makes of
Pianos and Parlor Organs.

Sole Agent for New Jersey for the CABLER Patent Metal Action Frame UPRIGHT PIANOS, the most popular Piano made. Musicians like it, singers like it, the PEOPLE like it, EVERYBODY likes it.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at the lowest prices ever given in Newark. FIRST-CLASS UPRIGHT PIANO for $200 Cash, or $250 on Installments. $10 Monthly [illegible] paid for.
TELEPHONE 708.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,
657 AND 659 BROAD STREET, NEWARK, N. J.
12-14-y

SPECIAL NOTICE.
New Store! New Goods! New Firm
BARKALEW & DUNN,
Fancy and Staple Grocers,
NO. 18 NORTH AVENUE
We Sell for Cash and will give Special Inducements

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion, Without injurious medication.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, [illegible] Fulton Street, N. Y.

7-18-2y

A MAN

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

DAKOTA
WISCONSIN
ILLINOIS
MISSOURI
GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE.

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MAGNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels furnishing meals at seasonable hours west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake, and Sioux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, General Manager.
CHICAGO, ILL.
JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass. Agent.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXII. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1889. No. 45.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
W. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

J[illegible] Counsellors-at-Law, [illegible]

GEORGE W. DAY, General Auctioneer. Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box [illegible], Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of Constitutionalist. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES E. [illegible], Dentist. [illegible] West Front street. [illegible]

H. [illegible], Auctioneer, [illegible] Plainfield, N. J. [illegible]

OSCAR S. TEALE, Architect. [illegible] Broadway, New York city, [illegible] Plainfield, N. J.

J. S. FORSTER, Veterinary Surgeon. [illegible]

F. A. DUNHAM, Civil Engineer and Surveyor. No. 7 Park avenue, Coward's Building. [illegible]

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale, PIANO TUNER. [illegible]

JOHN CHANDLER, CARPENTER AND BUILDER, PLAINFIELD, N. J. Residence and Shop No. 36 East 3d St. Jobbing promptly attended to.

LUTKINS & HUMMER, Dealers in Butter, Eggs & Produce. Meats of all Kinds. [illegible] PARK AVENUE, Plainfield, New Jersey. Goods delivered to any part of the city. A. LUTKINS. L. A. HUMMER.

Plainfield District Telegraph and Fire Alarm Co. Prompt Messenger Service Furnished. Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co. LOW RATES. QUICK SERVICE. MONEY TRANSFERRED BY TELEGRAPH. COMMUTATION STAMPS FOR SALE. OFFICE—4 PARK AVENUE. W. S. SLITER, Manager.

TO THE PUBLIC! We wish to inform our customers and the public generally that we have on hand the best quality of LEHIGH COAL, Fresh from the Mines. [illegible] A. D. COOK & BRO.

J. Hervey Doane, 6 PARK AVENUE. (Formerly [illegible]) Watches, Clocks And Jewelry. Repairing neatly and promptly done.

Steam Marble Granite Works. AND Monuments & Headstones. Fencing for Cemetery Plots. Large assortment of Slate Mantels. A large variety of Granite Monuments. [illegible] MANNING, FRONT ST., next to M. E. Ch., PLAINFIELD, N. J. Monuments erected in Greenwood Cemetery, N. Y.

Geo. A. Moore, (Of the late firm of Moore Bros.) Is now the sole proprietor of the old established market at NO. 13 NORTH AVENUE, Where he will continue to supply patrons with the finest grades of Fresh and Salt meats, [illegible]

Alex. Willett, DEALER IN BOOTS & SHOES. No. 3 PARK AVENUE. A full assortment of [illegible]

HOTELS AND SALOONS.

FORCE'S HOTEL, NORTH AVENUE, (Near C. R. R. Station.) JAS. H. FORCE, Prop'r. First Class Family Hotel. Steam Heat. [illegible] Transient guests at reasonable rates.

TURF EXCHANGE HOTEL. 73 Courtlandt street, CORNER WASHINGTON, NEW YORK CITY. FRED. W. BALLARD, Proprietor. Formerly of Jersey City, is now conducting the [illegible] Washington and Courtlandt streets, New York, [illegible] PURE WINES, LIQUORS AND SEGARS.

SOMERSET HOTEL, Cor. Somerset & Emily Sts., North Plainfield, N. J. Permanent and Transient Board, at fair rates. First-class Stables and Sheds attached. Meals at all reasonable hours.

C. E. JOHNSON, (Late firm of Shepherd, Johnson & Dodson,) CARPENTER AND BUILDER. Office—No. 27 Central avenue, Plainfield, N. J. [illegible] Jobbing a specialty.

T. J. GILLIES, Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent. Salesroom—[illegible] Plainfield, N. J. Goods received on consignment.

Dime Savings Institution OF PLAINFIELD, N. J. Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually. JOHN W. MURRAY, President. WILLIAM WHITE, Vice " NATHAN HARPER, " " ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Jas. M. Dunn, Dealer in GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, Vegetables, Fruits, etc. No. 36 Park Ave. OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE. THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS, BEST IN THE WORLD. ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

MICHAEL UHDAL, CONTRACTOR AND LANDSCAPE GARDENER! Residence: NETHERWOOD, NEW JERSEY. P. O. BOX 787, PLAINFIELD. P. O. Box [illegible], Netherwood, N. J.

GO TO DICKINSON & CLAWSON, JEWELERS, 13 Park Avenue, For your Fine Gold Watches, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, and SILVERWARE. SOLE AGENTS for KING'S SPECTACLES and EYE-GLASSES, the BEST MADE, and CHEAPEST in the end.

SANITARY PLUMBING, Brick and Portable Furnaces, GAS FITTING, TIN ROOFING, Etc. Etc. I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a strictly first-class, sanitary and workmanlike manner. Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics [illegible]. I believe in every man running his own business [illegible] D. W. LITTELL, No. 8 NORTH AVE. [illegible] Plainfield, N. J.

CATARRH ELY'S CREAM BALM

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CATARRH
CURES COLD IN HEAD
HAY FEVER
ELY BRO'S

Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. HAY-FEVER TRY THE CURE. A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at Druggists; by mail, registered, 60 cents. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren street, New York.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE, (Successor to John W. Laing.) Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue. Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Calls. Light carriages of all description for [illegible] RIDING OR LIVERY. [illegible] TELEPHONE CALL NO. 26.

Livery Stables! Mr. D. S. ROBERTS Has Removed to His New Building on NORTH AVENUE, Adjoining Force's Hotel. [illegible]

EDUCATIONAL.

Mr. FEININGER Has resumed His Lessons in Plainfield. For terms, address C. FEININGER, Steinway Hall, N. Y.

Mr. T. E. HAZELL, TEACHER OF MUSIC. Instruction given in Singing, Harmony, or upon the Violin. Director of Choral Classes. The art of Reading Vocal Music a specialty. Residence—16 Duer St., North Plainfield.

MR. LEAL'S School for Boys! 99 WEST FRONT STREET. Prepares for College and Business. Has entered boys at College every year since it was established. This year eight boys were sent. The next year's class is still larger. Boys from 10 years old and upwards. The eighth year begins MONDAY, SEPT. 16, 1889. For circulars and information, address the Principal. JOHN LEAL.

DODWORTH'S CLASSES FOR Dancing & Deportment, SEMINARY HALL, PLAINFIELD, N. J., Commencing Wednesday, Oct. 30, '89, From 3½ to 5½ P. M. Circulars may be obtained of Miss E. E. Kenyon, at the Seminary. THOS. J. DODWORTH. Residence—1,190 Fulton ave., N. Y. City.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES. Paints, Varnishes, Glass, WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES. WALL PAPERS! PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY. A. SWALM, No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. B. WOOLSTON, J. F. BUCKLE. Woolston & Buckle, PAINTERS, Wall Papers, PAINTER'S SUPPLIES. 10 NORTH AVENUE.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mme. J. BERNARD, ASTROLOGIST, Residence—Harmony street, North Plainfield, fourth house from Somerset street, left hand side. Information imparted as regards present and future events, likewise marriages, journeys, lawsuits, etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. She converses In English, German and French. My husband is a first-class Cooper, and repairs tubs, pails, barrels, etc., cheap for cash.

Low Pressure Steam Heat Introduced into Churches, Schools, Dwellings, Offices, Stores, etc. STEAM FITTING, and STEAM FITTERS' SUPPLIES for sale. Estimates cheerfully furnished for Heating and Ventilation. JOHN N. SCHENCK. Box 1661. Race St., North Plainfield.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON, [Successor to T. J. Carey,] Furniture and Freight Express! OFFICE—24 W. FRONT ST. Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 329. Piano moving a specialty.

G. W. FORCE, 11 West Front street. Opening of FALL AND WINTER STOCK Boots and Shoes at Low Prices A FINE GRADE OF GOODS TO SELECT FROM 11 West Front street, G. W. FORCE.

R. R. FAIRCHILD, Furniture & Bedding, 21 EAST FRONT STREET. A Large Assortment of Parlor Suites, Bedroom Suites, Lounges, Tables AND Chairs. The Largest Stock and the Lowest Prices. Call and See for Yourselves. 2 DOORS BELOW P. O.

ALBERT HEDDEN, Livery and Boarding Stables FOURTH STREET, Between Peace street and Park avenue, Plainfield. [illegible]

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING, No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J. Manufacturer of the celebrated C. O. D. CIGAR. The best 5-cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY. A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobaccos, always on hand. Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE, Dealer in HAVANA & DOMESTIC —SEGARS!!— 5 PARK AVE., (near corner of SECOND ST.) PLAINFIELD, N. J. Tobacco and Smoker's Materials, of every description. The celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco, with other popular brands, constantly on hand.

EXPERIENCE MAKES PERFECT! What does inexperience make? A pretender!! What does the house owner get? He gets the results!!! What are they likely to be? Value for the Money on one hand; a chance of a fire or ruin on the other; good intentions prevent neither. MORAL.—(Organized 1881. Incorporated 1886.) [illegible] The Electric Construction and Supply Co., Telephone Building, Cortlandt St., N. Y. Plainfield office—25 North Avenue.

JAMES K. ARNOLD, GROCER, Cor. of Somerset and [illegible] Sts., North Plainfield.

A. I. SMALLEY. N. E. SMALLEY. Smalley Bros., DEALERS IN Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, Etc. SOMERSET STREET, NORTH PLAINFIELD. Orders called for and delivered. A share of the public patronage is solicited.

Benj. F. Moore, [Late of Moore Bros.] BUTCHER. And dealer in FRESH AND SALT MEATS, POULTRY, etc., corner Park avenue and Second street, will be open and ready for business Wednesday, March 20th. Orders called for and promptly delivered. Telephone Call 111.

E. B. MAYNARD PRACTICAL BARBER AND Artistic Hair Dresser, No. 26 PARK AVENUE, Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, &c. satisfactorily performed.

Fresh Garden Seeds, Garden Tools, Ranges. Laundry Stoves. CUTLERY, &c. N. H. & J. J. HEIDELOFF, No. 12 SOMERSET ST.

Permit Not the Hair to Fall. The use of Quinine and Glycerine Hair Tonic, compounded with the utmost skill and care, has produced the most beneficial preparation that has ever been put before the public. It will cleanse the Scalp from all Dandruff, nourishes the roots of the hair, stops the falling out, imparting strength and vigor. Many warm praises have been unsolicitedly given. Bottled in half pints at fifty cents. Obtainable only at the City Pharmacy. L. W. RANDOLPH, (Successor to Field & Randolph.)

School Books, New and Second-hand. School Supplies, Large Assortment, Lowest Prices, at ALLEN'S, THE STATIONER, 23 East Front Street, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

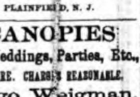
CANOPIES For Weddings, Parties, Etc., TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE. Hugo Weigman, 9 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

TWENTY Years experience in the business. SECOND STREET, 3 doors above Peace street.



Mr. JOHN E. STEVENS, Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to Shoeing, Forging, Stumbling and Interfering Horses. Speedy Cutters stopped in an incredible short space of time. Horses with diseased feet treated in a particular manner by experienced workmen.

Accommodation Express. PETER BICKERT, Proprietor. Office—[illegible], Park avenue. The Accommodation Express will attend to the [illegible] of the city, delivering goods or Baggage to and from the Depot [illegible] Orders [illegible]

AGENTS Wanted For Your [illegible] R. D. LUETCHFORD & CO., [illegible] N. Y. Mention this paper.

[illegible] shopping.

She bade the weary clerk take down
The silks and satins rare;
Methought she fain would buy a gown
Of price beyond compare.

Rare stuffs from India's distant shore
She ordered to appear,
With cloth of gold from Singapore
And shawls from far Cashmere.

The laces of France she bade them seek
For flimsy silken hose;
And laces that were all antique
She caused them to disclose.

She looked at these two hours or more;
Then shook her pretty head,
Meandered to another store
And bought a spool of thread.
—George Leroy, in America.

Growing Old.

They call it "going down the hill" when we are growing old,
And speak with mournful accents when our tale is nearly told;
They sigh when talking of the past, the days that used to be,
As if the future were not bright with immortality.

But it is not going down—'tis climbing high and higher,
Until we almost see the mountains that our souls desire;
For if the natural eye grows dim, it is but dim to earth,
While the eye of faith grows keener to discern the Saviour's worth.

Who would exchange for shooting blade, the waving golden grain?
Or when the corn is fully ripe, would wish it green again?
And who would wish the hoary head, found in the way of truth,
To be again encircled with the sunny locks of youth?

For, though in truth the outward man must perish and decay,
The inward man shall be renewed by grace from day to day;
Those who are planted by the Lord, unshaken in their root,
Shall in their old age flourish and bring forth their choicest fruit.

It is not years that make men old; the spirit may be young,
Though fully three score years and ten the wheels of life have run;
God has Himself recorded, in His blessed Word of Truth,
That they who wait upon the Lord, they shall e'en renew their youth.

And when the eyes now dim shall open to behold the King,
And ears now dull with age shall hear the harps of Heaven ring—
And on the head now hoary shall be placed the crown of gold,
Then shall be known the lasting joy of never growing old.
—Christian At Work.

Ladies and Women.

The saleslady shines in silken attire,
The price of scant comfort and long-hoarded hire;
The chamber-maid lady in garments of white
And ribbons of scarlet appeals to the sight;
The bluest of plushes the cook-lady shows,
And fills up the sidewalk wherever she goes;
And even the wash-lady proudly steps by
In velveteen ruffles that startle the eye;
While the woman they wait upon goes about town
In a plain little, brown little, tailor-made gown.
—Mrs. George Archibald, in Judge.

GRIEVING FOR GRETCHEN

Some Are Born Girl Hunters, Some Achieve Girl Hunting,

And Many, Alas, Have the Search for a Servant Thrust Upon Them—In the Wake of a "Want Ad."—The Great Domestic Servant Problem.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

One windy day not many weeks ago an inconspicuous "Want ad." might have been observed by an attentive reader of a daily paper snugly nestling in the middle of a column among 975 of its fellows:

HOUSEWORK.—Wanted a thoroughly competent housewoman. Must be a good cook. To a capable woman good wages will be paid. Call, with references, etc., etc.

When "the girl comes, with brown locks curled, crying, 'Oh, what a beautiful world,'" then shall we hear no more of the servant girl problem; meanwhile some women are born girl hunters, a few achieve girl hunting and many of us have the sport (an' ye will) of girl hunting thrust upon us.

Eight hundred girls looking for situations, one hundred and seventy-five situations looking for girls. A painful interest attaches to "small ads" in certain moods of mine. Between the Scylla of the "girl lately landed, who is willing to learn" and the Charybdis of the "refined and educated young lady who will assume light household duties and give music lessons," what shall one choose? Is there any balm in Gilead in the shape of the "respectable woman to do general household or mind children;" the "tidy English young person" whose ambition is to go into "a fine family;" the working housekeeper whose ideal is a "widower's small family" where she can feel at home and take an interest; the "well-recommended" girl who is "willing and obliging, no cards;" the "Russian maid who speaks a little English;" or must one pin one's hopes of a breakfast to the "Southern lady who has met with sudden reverses of fortune, owns a typewriter, and would not object to assist with fine sewing?"

I had in my time hired out as a second girl and tried to hire out as governess in a spirit of wanton, if professional, curiosity, and now what avenging spirit would guide the footsteps of those unknown shes who should enter on a tour of inspection of me.

It was with becoming humility that I entered the room where sat the first individual who rang the front door bell and offered to fill the yawning kitchen void. She was Scotch, squarely build, strong looking, with a colorless complexion, dark hair and a rather heavy but sufficient amiable and intelligent face; which reminded me somewhat of Jennie Deans. I may as well call her Jennie, for I had not the presence of mind to ask her name. No amount of practice in interviewing is of much assistance in a real emergency. In fact, I may confess that I waited in some trepidation for her to interview me. A long course of servant girl and mother-in-law and plumber jokes has an unbalancing effect on the judgment.

Jennie, I ascertained, by awkward approaches, had never lived out in this country. She had a seven years' reference from a Glasgow family, but she had left it in West Hoboken. Finding her not formidable I consulted privily a list of questions half drawn from my pocket and asked if she was a good bread baker. She told me that in Glasgow her fame spread far and wide as an expert on stones, but bread baking was an unknown science not there pursued. She was sure, however, that she could learn. Perceiving with relief that I was not afraid of Jennie, I asked her to send for her reference and call on me again. It is well to say that I had been advised by an experienced housekeeper to engage at least seven to pay me a second visit after their "characters" had been duly investigated, with the assurance that not more than one in seven would come. Jenny fulfilled the prediction by staying away. And yet I cherish her memory. She did not ask me if I used electric lights instead of gas, or whether the laundry tubs were porcelain or soapstone, or whether I interfered in the kitchen or allowed followers. She was neatly dressed, looked wholesome and had a pleasant voice. I hope she is having her afternoon out this sunny Thursday, alternating week and week with the upstairs girl.

My second caller gave me a cold chill. Her graceful, slender figure, pretty, piquant face and jaunty little turban were unmistakably American. Had I fallen into the hands of the "lady of culture, who would fill any position not too menial?" My list of inquiries which I had this time laid openly on the table prepared to write down the answers I hastily concealed under the cover of a magazine.

Mrs. Nellie Richards, or a name of home growth equally obvious, was the title of my visitor. Her story was a common one, but it interested me. She had helped her mother run a boarding house until about sixteen months ago. Then her mother had died and she had married a telegraph operator. The time she had spent in wedlock seemed to her a thousand years. First her husband lost his place and they went to live with her father in a little town on the edge of New Jersey. Then she became dissatisfied with her husband's readiness to depend on the bounty of her relatives. She urged him to look for work. They had occasional quarrels and she had fits of jealousy. Finally she decided that if they separated for a couple of years, she maintaining herself until he regained his foothold, they might both gain wisdom. She looked for a situation as copyist and thought of taking in sewing. Then she came to the conclusion that her most sensible course was to do the work she was best used to, that of the kitchen. She had felt the subtle attraction which I had hoped might inhere in my modest four lines, and although an American girl and of good common school education, had come from Jersey expressly to see me. She had relatives of whom I was at liberty to inquire concerning her, but I must be cautious in my questions, for her aunt kept three servants and she preferred that the fact that she was going to live out should be broken gently to her. There seemed to be no cause for very serious or prolonged trouble between Nellie and her husband, and I felt constrained to urge her to go home, but I felt some respect for the common sense of the woman who could choose domestic service in spite of genteel precedent.

Number three was Irish Mary, bright-cheeked, big, rawboned, awkward, honest, with immense feet and a dreadful voice, but good humor shining in her gray-blue eyes. Mary had lived four years in one family. She had nursed two children belonging to it through scarlet fever and a maiden aunt through typhoid. She was devoted to them, but the children were growing up and they had no further use for a hired girl. She couldn't cook much because there were ten in the household and her hands had been full with the scrubbing and dish-washing and cleaning. Besides the maiden aunt liked to cook and didn't want to be interfered with. She wanted the privilege of going to mass before breakfast Sundays, but if she felt free to go in case she chose, she shouldn't choose very often. Her mistress whom I saw afterward said that she had not been to early mass once in four years, that her temper was perfect and that in case I should inherit a fortune I could trust her with my diamonds. Mary was an excellent girl for the place she was good for, but alas, she was not for me. She appeared to have a faculty for epigram that would confound the itinerant peddler and show up like a Brush light in the dim intellectual glimmer of the average drawing room.

Let me pass hastily over number four. She was an American, young, good-looking, with unexceptional references as to character and abilities, but she was a widow who couldn't come unless permitted to bring a child of three years. Number five was almost her duplicate; Irish-American, strikingly handsome, with an 18-months-old baby and a letter from a well-known clergyman. The world, and I as part of it, was hard on both of them. They couldn't get places because they couldn't leave their incumbrances.

Number six brought an interpreter. The interpreter was a fat, untidy and jolly young German woman, who looked as if she had been snatched from a mardi gras procession. She wore a wide, flaring hat of cheap felt flaming with primary colors, the tendency of her heels was oblique in the extreme, her ensemble was chaotic and heterogeneous, with dress skirt of one color, waist of a second and jacket, which wouldn't button, of a third. Her hands were large and her face wore a lazy, good natured expression. With her was a small, pale girl whose face and hair were all of a color and who looked wild and shy. This was Minna who spoke no English, but who could, so the interpreter said, understand any remarks that I might address to her in that language. A little experiment established the fact that Minna was dazed equally by my English and German, and the antics of a small boy who accompanied the party and informed me that "this is the way to dance," with appropriate illustrations, broke a silence that was becoming painful. Minna had lived some years with a German family, was paid $17 a month and guaranteed expert in German cookery. She would take $15 if her linguistic deficiencies could be borne with.

Number seven was the servant girl of the newspapers, a bona fide but solitary specimen. She was broad-shouldered, and her nose and chin expressed pugnacity. Her hair was heavy and dark, and it needed only a glance to tell me that she possessed more—well, call it resolution of character—than I. I had latterly neglected to tremble, but in this awful presence I breathed a prayer that I might not be found worthy to be employed. I was not. On the contrary I was treated with thinly veiled scorn. The ogre—I hope I am doing an able woman no injustice—informed me that she was a good "plain cook." In an evil moment I asked her to define plain cookery. As I spoke I felt her eyes fix themselves on mine.

"Don't ye know what is plain cookin'?"

I responded meekly that I did not know just where to draw the line.

"Plain cookin' is meats an' vegetables an' bread; I give satisfaction in them, but I never make no pastry, nor no puddens, nor fixin's of any kind. Maybe I could if I tried, but I ain't never been asked to. No girl that goes out to general housework ever expects to. 'Tain't any part of her business."

The ogre expected from $14 to $17 for her plain cooking according to the size of the family; but my ignorance had sunk me so low in her esteem that she did not insist on being engaged.

There was a Norwegian, too. She did not come to Mahomet, but Mahomet went to the mountain. It was clear at the top of it that she lived up six flights of the darkest stairs that ever mortal climbed. The tenement house covered its entire lot and the one which backed up against it did the same. The staircase, therefore, was unlighted, save by malodorous kerosene lamps, though it was midday. Slatternly figures peered out of doorways, and it was only a spirit of adventure, not unmixed with something like terror, which led me to persevere. In a dingy, but to my surprise, perfectly neat room under the sky, I found a young countrywoman of Ibsen, whose white teeth and fascinating name, she was called Otilla, were sufficient reward for the climb. She spoke a piquant broken English which would have made the fortune of a dialect story writer.

Otilla could bake and doubtless she could brew.

Otilla could broil a steak,
She could roast a fowl,
She could make soups.
She knew how to take care of hard wood floors.

Why was not Otilla the coming woman? Because a housewife who knew a good thing when she saw it looked up the fascinating Norse's reference in the brownstone front which she had formerly graced with her presence and hurried back to secure her before I arrived. She is doubtless distilling at this hour a flavor of Scandinavian romance, $16 worth per month, in the housewife's kitchen.

For several days I had an interesting call. There were several employment agencies which kept on hand first-class servants of all nationalities, also colored, and which noticing my advertisement begged leave to acquaint me with their facilities for supplying the same. Most of them appeared to act also as agents of the steamship lines. There was one newspaper of which I received a marked copy, from which I could observe that it was trying to build up a "small ad" page and accordingly inserted "wants" free. There were women in the country who would, if I thought they would suit me, come to town and call. There was a young woman in town who wanted a chance to fill a vacancy temporarily until she could earn enough to buy a gown in which she would appear well enough to take a place which had been offered her behind the glove counter of a dry goods store, and who, when permitted to do some scrubbing and scouring, came before breakfast and was followed at short intervals by her mother and small brother who also ate heartily, sent out to buy pickles with money advanced them and partook frequently of tea and pickles throughout the day. The young woman knew nothing of scouring and imported her mother to show her how. The mother knew less apparently and they left behind them an uncleaned establishment and a depleted larder. This slack-twisted shop girl had a coiffure that was radiant with lovelocks and apparel brilliant as a peacock somewhat bedrabbled. Not a professed servant approached me who was not plainly her superior.

This narrative is written down unvarnished. Sufficient time has not elapsed for the application of any retouching fluid. In spite of the failure of the domestic commons and house of Lords to elect a kitchen sovereign, the impression which I received of her royal highness, Bridget, was not on the whole unfavorable. She was well mannered. She appeared to answer with some candor as to what she could or could not do. I could not blame the yellow-haired Gretchen who left her last place because she had to sleep in the front basement and was not provided with any comfortable room. Nor could I help observing that the woman who changes servants monthly possesses very commonly some characteristic which would make it to the servant's advantage to leave. Questions which were put to me as to whether I required a girl to leave her door always open, whether she would have to sleep with another woman, whether I would allow her sister to call on her, gave me some insight into the servant's point of view. My girls appeared to be what domestic service had made them, good material enough, but untrained. And until we women treat domestic service as a profession to be respected we'll not get much polish on our rough stones. As soon as they're out they try a more highly thought of setting. And, meanwhile, the headless parliament?

There will yet appear, mayhap, the coming woman.

ELIZA PUTNAM HEATON.

LOUISE LAWSON SCULPTOR

An Artist Whose Work Shows Growing Power.

An Ohio Woman Who Studied in Paris Under Rhodin and Whose Marbles Stand Beside Those of Harriet Hosmer and Anne Whitney.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

Women sculptors can be counted on the fingers of one hand. Vinnie Ream's abortive statues did not advance their reputation, but Harriet Hosmer's work has strength, if at times it lacks freedom, and Anne Whitney's model for the Sumner statue in Boston, which now belongs to the Union League Club's collection, and the controversy about which has been revived recently in the newspapers, was undoubtedly the best one offered to the committee and was rejected because designed by a woman. To these two names must be added that of Louise Lawson, whose studio is in East Fifty-ninth Street, New York, whose work has won for her the friendship of Story and of Sir Frederick Leighton, and whose figures bear the distinct impress of originality and imagination.

Miss Lawson is an Ohio woman. She modelled figures in clay in her play hours instead of making mud pies like other children; she entered the Cincinnati Art School with the clearly defined purpose of bending all her efforts in the direction of sculpture; she studied in New York and Boston, and then she went to Paris and became a pupil of Rhodin. From Paris she went to Italy, and in Rome and the Etruscan city, Perugia, she studied and worked three years. Then she returned to America and for a year and a half, or thereabouts, her studio, with its warm-colored Roman hangings, has been the resort of artists and connoisseurs.

The sculptor herself is a piquant figure of a woman standing just five feet high. Her face is strongly and clearly, indeed nobly, modelled, but made gracefully feminine by curly brown hair. Like Rosa Bonheur she finds the feminine burden of skirts an incumbrance about her daily occupations, and wears when climbing about a life size statue, a fencing costume of blouse, long stockings, knee trousers and short skirt, not quite reaching the knees. This is for modelling in clay. When finishing the marble she wears simple, flowing white gowns.

Sculpture is somewhat arduous work for a woman, but Miss Lawson sets up the iron for the clay figure and trusts less of the marble work to mechanics than is usual, doing in some cases most even of the rougher work, the pointing out of her statues. She works from life always and finds good models very hard to procure.

Her method of finishing flesh is decidedly original. Instead of the smooth polish given to the surface by so many Italian workers in marble, Miss Lawson does a rasp, which gives a lifelike texture not unlike the skin. Her knowledge of the proportions of the human figure is excellent and her study of anatomy, as shown in the poise and vigor of her figures and the workings of the muscles throughout. Her work is clean and straightforward without side issues or meretricious tricks of drapery to distract attention from the figures.

The "Rhodian Boy," which was shown at Tiffany's a year or two ago, is an excellent example of her delicacy of conception and artistic workmanship. It excited much attention while on exhibition. The slim, boyish figure is that of a "swallow lad" of the City of Roses in the days of its splendor, 3,000 years ago, when Rhodes was the greatest capital of the world and the Rhodian harvest festival a revel not unlike the Carnival of Rome. It was celebrated by gangs of roistering boys who went from one rich house to another, singing songs, bearing festoons of roses, the emblem of the island, and carrying swallows, whose twittering they mimicked, and in whose name they demanded bread and wine, fruit and wheat, just as New York and Brooklyn gamins, blowing horns and wearing masks and fantastic clothes, go about in begging bands on Thanksgiving day. The swallows were to the Rhodians birds of good omen, and the statue is an infinitably graceful figure of a beautiful boy with a swallow on his hand, waiting with a wistful look for the opening of the rich man's door. The tender curves of childhood passing into the young vigor of the lad have seldom had such a portrayal. The pedestal completes the idea of the statue. It is carved in low relief with dancing boys twined with rose garlands.

Miss Lawson has a special gift for setting forth the grace of childhood. A recent commission is a large bas relief for Stephen B. Elkins' new house. It is to be set in the wall and shows the heads of his four boys, Stephen, Blaine and two other little fellows, charming in plaster, whose names I have forgotten. It is to be cast, I believe, in bronze, and makes a spirited composition. Two of the most attractive things in the studio, beautiful with an idyllic charm, are heads of children, one the bust of a curly-haired girl the other that of a boy.

"Ayacanora" is regarded by many critics as the best work Miss Lawson has yet done. It is a woman's figure, of the Diana type, full of the deep-bosomed strength and abounding maidenly vigor of the antique models. Ayacanora is the heroine of Canon Kingsley's "Westward Ho," and the statue was undertaken at the suggestion of some of Kingsley's English admirers and friends. It was modeled at Perugia, and on its completion the oldest academy of fine arts in Italy, founded by Perugino and the early school at Raphael conferred on her a medal and a diploma of honor and placed her portrait in its gallery. Ayacanora is represented in the story as a Spanish girl, daughter of one of the early explorers, who was carried off in babyhood by a tribe of Indians and became their queen. The figure shows her at the moment when she is surprised by the English adventurers under Amyas Leigh, while she is fishing on the banks of the Meta, and when, "quick as light, she caught up from the ground a bow and held it fiercely toward them." The face is a strong Spanish type full of defiance and surprise. Heavy braids of hair fall upon the shoulders, a quiver with arrows is slung behind and the lithe figure instinct with determined energy is in the attitude which Mme. Bols the ballet dancer, called the most graceful possible to a woman, that of the archer just discharging an arrow. The flesh finish of this statute is noteworthy. The marble itself when struck is as musical as a bell. The block from which the statue was cut cost $800 before a flake had been chipped from it, and was taken from the little Seravezza quarry which was discovered by Michael Angelo. Ayacanora stands on a pedestal representing two dormant tigers.

"Why do the tigers sleep, Signorina?" asked a little Italian boy who wandered in one day.

"It would be a sorry day if they waked for Ayacanora," was the laughing reply.

The boldest flight of the sculptor's imagination is a figure called "The Origin of the Harp," which is intended to realize in marble Tom Moore's ideal in his ode of that name. The allegory is that of a sea maiden transformed to a harp, and the statue tries to seize on the passion of disappointed love which caused the metamorphosis. The siren's head and bosom are those of a beautiful woman. The heavy strands of her hair are changing to the chords of the harp, the form of which already appears. The lower part of the body is that of a mermaid. The conception is a bold one and it is not possible to say that the realization is wholly satisfactory. The theme demands mystical handling which it is difficult to suggest in so clean cut and definite a material as marble. The figure, however, is beautiful in detail and not without its charm. So many tumbles result from losing the cautious grip on mother earth that it is much to say of this daring flight that its results are at least creditable and interesting. The pedestal is a beautiful piece of workmanship carved in the form of dolphins.

Miss Lawson is probably the only modern sculpter who has gone to the antique for that form of the portrait bust which the Latins called Terminus and the Greeks Hermes. The Greeks used boundary posts to mark the junction of highways which took the shape of heads of Hermes or Mercury on the top of quadrangular stone pillars. At a later date rich Romans often gave commissions to sculptors to execute busts in the same style for the decoration of their halls or libraries. Miss Lawson has employed the Hermes for the bust of a relative, and it has certainly this advantage that it obviates entirely the sculptor's difficulties with modern costume.

One of her latest pieces of work is a panel to be cast in bronze showing in relief the profile of a Shoshone Indian maiden. This is still in clay and so lifelike that it recalls Thorwaldson's saying: "Clay is life, plaster is death, marble is resurrection." Only those who have been much about a sculptor's workshop quite appreciate this dictum. The Indian is a favorite subject with Miss Lawson. She is now busy with a life size statute of a fencer which promises to be as spirited a portrayal of the masculine figure as "Ayacanora" is of the feminine. Her model is a young Hebrew who is a splendid specimen of athletic development. After the usual sculptor's practice she sets up her clay figure nude to bring out the muscles and then puts on the clay clothes. The head is left as bald as Bill Nye's for a season, but at a later date it gets its growth of hair. The sculptor is herself a clever fencer and enters upon her subject con amore.

In reply to a question she said that she could not understand the life of a woman who had not some absorbing object, some work to which all her energies were devoted. For herself there had never been any hesitation, any groping in the dark to find what she could do. As a child she wished to be a sculptor, and when she opened her own studio in Rome she had been studying fourteen years. This is a different preparation from that of Vinnie Ream, who drifted into a sculptor's studio, looked around, said "I guess I can do that," and proceeded to cast a hand and stick it on a Lincoln. The first thing Miss Lawson did in Rome was to sign a petition circulated by Story for the removal of the tariff from the works of foreign artists, and she gives her influence to the same cause now that she is at home. She believes in dress reform, and thinks that the day of more convenient attire for women is at hand. She believes in the future of women artists, and that the woman's vivid imagination when aided by proper training will carry her far. She impresses one first and foremost as a thoroughly happy woman, to whom the world through her devotion to her art has turned a sunshiny side.

ELIZA PUTNAM HEATON.

THE DOINGS OF WOMEN FOLK

In Crisp October, When the Winds Blow and the Leaves Fall.

The two [illegible] who have been running the [illegible] "Independent" have given up their journalistic venture. It is a pity because they showed themselves possessed of genuine business energy. They bought out the paper when one of them had a year and the other had two years more to remain in school, and when the sheet was on its last legs, being the property of a man who got it out regularly for a few months at a time until he had eaten and drank up the cash subscriptions, when he allowed it to lapse until he had a fresh spasm of energy and could get a fresh lot of people to subscribe. They conducted it from Vassar, and the one who sooner received her degree made haste to sit on the editorial tripod in person to deliver the oracles until the other should arrive. They put up a substantial brick building, bought improved presses, ran their own engine and made practical printers of themselves, improving the paper so materially that the report spread among the Higlanders that there was plenty of money backing the girl editors and that it wouldn't be of the least use for anybody to start in opposition. In reality Miss Ella S. Leonard and Miss Caroline T. Lingle had no support but their own enterprise. This, however, served them in good stead, even when it came to doing battle with so redoubtable a body as the Association for the Advancement of Women. This excellent organization has some unbusinesslike members, and one of these happened two or three years ago to be chairman of a committee on printing the papers read at the preceding annual Congress. The work was offered to the job office of the college girls in Jersey, but not a line of copy was furnished until a month after the date on which it had been stipulated the bulky published volumes should be ready for distribution. Nevertheless, the chairman, in apologizing in convention for the delay in its issue, saw fit to throw the blame on the printers and to make a virtue of having placed the commission with "a struggling firm of women." Miss Leonard happened to be one of the chairman's auditors and much to that lady's surprise very quietly but firmly vindicated the business reputation of Leonard & Lingle. The "Independent" flourished and was expected to graduate in a year or two from a weekly into a daily, at least during the summer season. But Miss Lingle's health has been poor of late; she was quite ill and was obliged to take a long vacation during the summer, and it seemed best that the partnership should be dissolved. It is a pity. When so many women are teaching and type-writing for next to nothing a successful venture in another field was a wholesome example.

Some one was saying the other day that the reason why Harriet Hosmer, who is now in this country, has produced nothing noteworthy in sculpture for a long time past is that she has given herself over for years to the pursuit of something perilously like that ignis fatuous, perpetual motion. She devoted herself while in England, at the house of Lady Ashburton, to the invention or some mechanical contrivance which always was to be perfect in the course of the next week or two. Meeting Story, the sculptor, one afternoon she told him that in a fortnight her machine would be ready for exhibition. The time passed, but her mechanic had disappointed her, something was not quite as it should be. Most of her fortune, this informant surmised, was eaten up by the machine. When Miss Hosmer came to America her machine was to follow by the next steamer. It did not come and she took ship again and went back after it to England. What has become of it since was a point not elucidated. Miss Hosmer has been staying much with Mrs. Carr, of Boston, who is a daughter of the rich Mr. Crow, of St. Louis, another of whose daughters now has Charlotte Cushman's villa.

Would it not have been funny if John Lawrence Sullivan had been made a drawing-room attraction by the elite of Beacon Hill and the Back Bay? That same wealthy and eccentric social leader whose religious enthusiasm caused her to do penance last Lent by driving to church, going down on her knees and scrubbing the steps and then driving home, has been using her best efforts to pare the lion's claws, draw his teeth and put him through his tricks in a parlor. It seems that on one occasion, memorable to the lady, John L.'s carriage stopped the way. The street was crowded with admirers pressing for a sight of the champion, and her carriage was caught in the block and could not proceed. When Sullivan heard that he was inconveniencing a lady he left his triumphal car, came to her horses' heads and forced a passage by main strength through the throng. The lady's fancy was captured by this bit of chivalry, and being rich enough to do as one pleases without question she sent forthwith an invitation to her house to the big fellow. Sullivan was puzzled as to his line of action. Perhaps he felt as equal to a drawing room as to the halls of Congress, but Boyle O'Reilly told him not to go and he stayed away. If instead he had accepted and the blue blood of Boston had been asked to meet him it would have been decidedly an interesting occasion.

The Woman's Medical College of the New York Infirmary has a larger entering class than usual, no fewer than thirty-five. This is the school which was founded by Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, the first regularly graduated woman physician in the country, and of which her sister, Dr. Emily Blackwell, is now Dean. One of the students is a woman who lives up the Hudson at Newburgh and gets up long before daylight, leaving twin children 2 years old, to pursue her studies. Many of the women who go in for medicine nowadays graduate first as trained nurses. At Bellevue they receive $10 a month the first year for their services and $14 for the rest of the course. This supports them while they are acquiring a business which will pay from $20 to $30 weekly, wages out of which they can lay by money to enter a medical college in a third the time it would take if, for instance, they were teaching. The knowledge they gain is of direct use in the new profession, and in some schools, notably that at Ann Arbor, the diploma takes a year off the time required for the medical course.

To all appearances we are going to have an Ibsen craze this winter. The Tolstoi craze of last season in a sense paved the way for enthusiasm over the Swedish realist, and Ibsen classes and possibly Ibsen clubs will shortly be the order of the day. Ibsen's plays have not been put on the stage in New York yet in an English dress, so that no such controversy has been awakened as arose among the critics last winter in London, but they are being played in German at the Amberg, and that small-sized house of amusement is crowded every evening. An Ibsen drama is by no means exciting. It has no situations. It introduces only three or four characters and nothing much ever happens to any of them. They simply talk and talk garrulously like Howell's people, if only Howells were a Swede. They are a new style of realistic drama, totally unlike anything that has been staged before, and while the taste for them would seem to be an acquired one like that for olives it is the fashion to praise them and there is already a small but growing Ibsen school composed mostly, it is needless to say, of women who foster every literary fad and are ready to pet an author who deals with social problems and has his doubts about marriage.

This is dressmaking season, and it is not to be supposed that all women, even those who have millions in their own right, have all their gowns made by expensive dressmakers. Mrs. Goldbug has her own economies. She does not, indeed, instruct her coachman to pull up at a second or third-rate modiste's door, but she takes, for instance, a defunct dinner robe that in its heyday of youth served her well. The lady's-maid—useful functionary—is instructed to rip out the lining carefully without pulling or stretching the seams, and on this well-fitting foundation a new toilet is constructed, rising phoenix-like from the ruins of the old, a home-made dress thus getting the benefit of a Parisian foundation. It is a great mistake to suppose, however, that all dressmakers who charge $100 or $200 for their services invariably send home well-fitting gowns. No long time ago I assisted in the lamentations of a pretty girl who was in a state of great disgust over an evening dress which she was putting on for the first time and which was cut too low in the back and wrinkled in an ugly manner. Eternal vigilance is the price of pretty toilets, and the heretical opinion must here be ventured that it is not worth the paying. Shades of generations of women, do not avenge!

H. P. H.

THE latest developments in trusts is the English syndicate that is trying to corner the enameled and patent leather trade of all America. There are in the United States twenty-six factories. Their total capital is about $5,000,000. They employ about 4,000 men.

THE original English buyers of American breweries, certain London companies, have made actual purchases of twenty-nine establishments in the United States, and stand ready to make further purchases of any concerns that can show a net profit of ten per cent. on the price they ask.

CHAUTAUQUA'S prosperity, it is said, is measured daily by the amount of eggs eaten within its limits. When fifteen hundred dozen eggs a week are eaten, for instance, it is estimated that six thousand persons have been living on the grounds, and that there have been one thousand transient tourists a day for that week.

IN one respect the Paris Exhibition excels all others, for there has never been collected together so fine a display of electrical mechanism of every conceivable kind. There is at present an unparalleled impulse in Europe toward electrical engineering and the desire to extend the use of electricity to all branches of manufactures.

OUR fashion in furs next winter may be confidently expected to lean chiefly to the skin of the Bokharan caracal, a kind of lynx, about the size of a fox and of a uniform brown color, but with long and black ears. At the great fair of Nijni Novgorod this fur was in the greatest demand, and the entire lot offered, 700,000 skins, was bought for the American market.

THE vicissitudes of trade in leather manufactures is very markedly shown in the counties of Durham and Northumberland. Within thirty years twenty tanneries have been closed in these counties, and between forty and fifty currying works; the latter extended to eighteen towns; in five towns currying is still carried on, but to a greater reduced extent, while in thirteen towns the industry has entirely disappeared.

IN reply to a question put to him by a reporter in Paris whether he had almost perfected a far seeing machine, Edison replied that he is at work upon an invention which will enable a "man in Wall street not only to telephone to a friend near Central Park, but actually to see that friend while conversing with him." This, Mr. Edison thinks, would be a practical and useful invention, and he can see no reason why is should not become a reality.

THE electric motor is going everywhere, but it is a genuine surprise to find that it is making its way into churches, not simply lighting them at night, but operating the organs at half the usual cost of the gas engine or the water power, and with equal efficiency. Eight of the largest church organs in New York are now pumped by electricity, and the pumping of organs in all churches where the electric current can be reached is simply a question of time.

THE centenary of the birth of George Simon Ohm, which takes place on the 16th of next March, is to be celebrated by the erection of a statue of him in Munich, the capital of his native state. To Ohm is due the discovery of two of the most fruitful principles in mathematical physics—the law of the relation between the strength of an electric current and the electro-motive force acting in the conductor, and the law as to the way in which complex musical sounds are perceived by the ear.

THE book of Job and the Proverbs of Solomon contain allusions to the pearl. Amongst the Jews the pearl was the emblem of things especially rare and pure. In the beautiful parable we read that a merchant, hearing of a pearl of great price, sold all that he had in order that he might become the owner of this pearl. The twelve gates of the celestial city were twelve pearls. We can easily understand why the disciple, in picturing a city into which nothing impure or unholy could ever enter, should have selected the type of purity to represent the gates of entrance—"every several gate was one pearl."

AN artesian well in Cordelle, Ia., is a wonder. After going down into the earth for about four hundred and fifty feet the contractors struck what was seemingly a strata rock of quicksand. Leaving the pipes all in the well over night they found the next morning that all the piping was heavily charged with magnetism. A small nail laid on the side of the pipe will not fall off. The needle on a surveyor's compass is attracted by this current at least ten feet from the mouth of the well. The magnetic current is so strong that the power of the engine, together with all the price they have been able to put on the piping, will not draw it from the well.

Rates of Advertising.

Space	Weeks 1	Weeks 2	Weeks 3	Months 1	Months 2	Months 3	Months 6	Months 12
1 in.	$1.00	$1.50	$2.00	$2.50	$4.00	$5.00	[illegible]	$15.00
2 in.	1.50	2.00	3.00	4.00	5.50	8.00	12.00	20.00
3 in.	2.00	3.00	4.00	5.00	8.00	12.00	18.00	25.00
4 in.	3.00	3.50	5.00	6.00	9.00	16.00	20.00	32.00
5 in.	3.50	4.50	6.00	8.00	12.00	18.00	25.00	37.00
¼ col.	4.50	6.00	8.00	10.00	15.00	20.00	30.00	40.00
½ col.	7.00	10.00	12.00	15.00	24.00	32.00	54.00	80.00
1 col.	12.00	[illegible]	20.00	25.00	35.00	50.00	85.00	140.00

All Electro's must be solid metal.

"Little of Everything" column, 5 cts. per line.

Double cols. 30 per ct. advance of above rates.

The Constitutionalist.
W. L. FORCE, | A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

POLITICAL DUTIES.

There are political duties which every citizen owes to the community at large and to himself individually.

Duties far nobler and of greater importance than the struggle for mere partisan ascendancy and the attendant patronage and power.

They are born of patriotism, a virtue often lauded, but, unfortunately, often discarded.

Patriotism is the love of country, which under our blessed system of government means the real welfare of the people, not a favored portion, not of any organized party, but of the whole people, irrespective of class, condition or vocation.

Every American citizen, be he rich or poor, is by ordained right a sovereign, and should vigilantly and tenaciously exercise the authority so conferred.

How can he best discharge such duty?

Legislation must of course be the work of representative bodies chosen for the purpose of enacting laws. Legislators are supposed to voice the wishes of the people, and as each constituent is empowered and can exert, if he will, honest and an effective influence upon the official representatives of popular sentiment, is he not in duty bound to do it?

Most assuredly he is!

The duty of citizenship does not end with the formality of voting. The elector must watch and see that the elected faithfully performs his sworn obligation.

Coming down to matters of local State interest, the approaching Legislature of New Jersey will be expected to consider and mature a law which, in both letter and spirit, will guarantee to legally qualified voters perfect franchise protection, guarding it from every species of corrupt interference, and providing sure and adequate punishment for all offenders.

Such a law is a public necessity, and it becomes the duty of each and every popular sovereign to prevent, if possible, the passage of any half-way, milk and water measure, falsely entitled Ballot Reform.

Patriotism demands a genuine article.

* * *

[illegible]

The Journalist, a New York paper devoted exclusively to newspapers and newspaper men, puts The Press circulation at only 100 more than the News. Undoubtedly the writer of the article was afraid to tell the truth that the paid circulation of the News is probably less than half that of The Press.

* * *

ONE YEAR [illegible]

About sundown of Sunday night, four drunken men fighting on the front lawn of one of the handsomest residences of Front street, was hardly a creditable Sunday picture for Prohibition Plainfield.

When a restricted number of saloons were licensed at high figures in this city, the police could locate and keep an eye on them all. These saloons could not afford to risk the loss of the $[illegible] fee, and were therefore on their good behavior—closing every night at eleven o'clock and all day of Sundays.

Now that anybody can sell without restriction and without fee, they don't close. All night long and all day of Sunday it is the same, as the terrible business is carried on behind doors and windows closed to the police, and, probably, in some places they know not of.

And yet the Central Times imagines Plainfield wants another year of no license.

* * *

From Our [illegible] Contemporaries.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

There is no doubt whatever, among the leaders, that the Republicans will carry the legislature. This much seems to be admitted by the Democrats, and if the Republican vote is brought out we'll [illegible] the Governor up a big majority.

(Somerville Unionist-Gazette.)

We believe he (Mr. Abbett) will be beaten, and beaten so badly, that he will wonder just where he has been hit. He [illegible] a man cannot have a second term in this State.

(An Unknown Exchange.)

The Camden Daily Telegram, formerly a Democratic paper, later independent in politics, has come out boldly for Gen. Grubb, and predicts his election by a large majority. They are "coming on" like sheep over a wall.

(Last Thursday's Shabby "News.")

Senator McPherson was escorted to the depot by the band, and took the 11.12 train for his beautiful farm, at [illegible], where he can sleep until after election, and then awake a wiser, if not sadder man, when the people have overthrown the saloon power now seeking not only to control our Legislature, but also our Judiciary.

* * *

TRUSTEE DAY TALKS

To the Editor of The Press:—In your issue of the 1st, commenting upon the school trouble, you say in relating what a school trustee told you: "But although no such authority was given in the case in point." Now, this is precisely the opposite to what I communicated, and the quotation as first published in The Press is correct: "But had no such authority been given in the case in point, the fact of a teacher being attacked by a scholar would warrant defense in any case."

I repeat emphatically that Mrs. Roantree did personally authorize the chastisement of her boy in case of disobedience, he having been the source of annoyance on more than one occasion. As to the statement that the boy did not attack the teacher, the evidence proves that he did, and the mother's reiteration of the boy's denial only, does not alter the fact.

Miss Carpenter states she was not aware of the personal difficulty between her sister and Mrs. Roantree at the time of the occurrence, and I will give her credit in believing if she had, it would have had no influence upon her action in this or any matter appertaining to her school position.

Having personally investigated the matter, I believe the castigation was fully deserved and warranted under the circumstances.

But in the face of the law against such punishment in schools, I am inclined to believe that were I a teacher I would not become the deputy of a parent to do what is the parents' prerogative. I would in similar instances, immediately suspend a pupil, and unless the parent returned with him or her and promised compliance with the rules, I should apply for such pupil to be expelled.

No illegal act of any teacher would ever be endorsed by me during my term of office, nor would I under any circumstances permit the [illegible] of any being poor to enter into the question of the rights of a scholar in relation to the justice due to the rich and poor alike.

Yours very sincerely,
STANLEY DAY.

* * *

—The total number of names registered in the city was 1,[illegible], and the total number of votes cast Tuesday was 1,761. Thus it will be seen that [illegible] of the voters in the city did not cast their ballot.

VICTORY!

Democratic Hosts Marching On.

HEAR YE THEIR TRAMP!

New Jersey at the Front!

Tuesday's elections throughout the Union show a tidal wave of Democratic victories. East, West and South the banner of Democracy floats in triumph, evidencing that popular sentiment is rallying with determined might in support of the time-tested and prospering principles of Jefferson.

The Democratic party is in fighting trim.
Hear Ye That!

The result in New Jersey, although not unexpected, is exceedingly gratifying, because, in addition to gaining a decided Democratic majority on joint-ballot in the Legislature, it calls again to the Chief Magistracy a citizen pre-eminently fitted to discharge every incumbent duty of the position with honor to him-self and benefit to the people.

LEON ABBETT, IS THE GOVERNOR-ELECT.

With confidence we re-assert that no man bearing allegiance to the State of New Jersey can be found better qualified on the score of personal ability or more practically conversant with public requirements than Leon Abbett, and furthermore, like Andrew Jackson, the combined power of all the moneyed corporations and monopolists in the land cannot budge him an inch from the solid rock of equal and exact justice and the rights of the toiling masses.

LEON ABBETT
will be Governor in fact, not merely in name.
Hear Ye That!

* * *

THE RESULT IN THIS CITY.

The election in this city Tuesday passed off very quietly, little or no interest being manifested throughout the day. The total number of votes cast was 1,761 against 2,219 in 1888. The total Prohibition vote in the city was 38. Annexed is the result in detail:

	Vote.	Grubb.	Abbett.	LaMonte.
1st Ward	437	250	179	7
2d Ward	401	259	132	8
3d Ward	329	225	89	12
4th Ward (1st Dist)	312	171	131	8
(2d Dist)	282	107	173	3
Totals	1761	1012	704	38
Plurality—308

	Ulrich.	Coddington.	M[illegible].
1st Ward	255	172	7
2d Ward	260	137	4
3d Ward	228	86	12
4th Ward (1st Dist)	160	141	8
(2d Dist)	103	173	2
Totals	1006	709	33
Plurality—297.

THIS YEAR'S DEMOCRATIC GAINS

Majorities—	1888.	1889.
1st Ward, Ulrich	61	75
2d "	163	119
3d "	154	130
4th Ward, Johnson	10
" Coddington		60
Ulrich's majorities	368	264

Complete returns giving Abbett's majority in Union county, and Ulrich's majority in the district, are not yet all in.

THE NORTH PLAINFIELD VOTE.

The vote in North Plainfield Tuesday was light, only 729 votes being polled in the two districts. Following is the result:

	1st Dist.	2d Dist.
FOR GOVERNOR.
Grubb, R.	208	180
Abbett, D.	164	152
LaMonte, P.	13	13
FOR ASSEMBLY.
Garretson, R.	209	180
Kline, D.	160	151
Voorhees, P.	13	13
FOR SHERIFF.
Rittenhouse, R.	208	173
Coddington, D.	169	158
Sperling, P.	13	13

Somerset county gives Coddington for sheriff the majority and Klotz for Assembly 130 majority.

NEW MARKET.

The election was very quiet, the entire Republican ticket being elected by big odds, as follows:

FOR GOVERNOR.
Grubb	[illegible]
Abbett	[illegible]
FOR COUNTY CLERK.
Cooper, R.	[illegible]
Convery, D.	[illegible]
FOR ASSEMBLY.
Egbert, R.	[illegible]
Tappen, D.	[illegible]

* * *

SOLID JERSEY.

Abbett's Plurality Over Eleven Thousand.

Later returns from New Jersey run Leon Abbett's plurality for Governor up to 11,971. The Democrats have 14 majority in the House of Assembly and the Republicans 3 in the Senate. Up to late Wednesday night the State Democratic Committee hoped that the party would control the Senate as well as the Assembly, but they were disappointed. The result hinged upon Atlantic county, and a despatch received at 11.30 P. M. gives Gardner, Rep., 307 plurality there. Mercer county, usually Republican by 1,200, gave Grubb 90 majority.

From the latest and most reliable data obtainable Union county gives Abbett a plurality of 726. Voorhees, Rep., has 154 plurality in the First District, Marsh, Dem., 309 in the Second District, and Ulrich, Rep., 349 in the Third. Elizabeth gives Abbett 1,851 plurality; Rahway 33 for Abbett. The Prohibition vote in the county was only 226.

Following are the successful candidates who were elected to represent the several counties in the State at the next Legislature:

SENATE.

Atlantic—John J. Gardner, *R.
Bergen—Henry D. Winton, D.
Burlington—Wm. H. Carter, R.
Camden—George Pfeiffer, D.
Cape May—Walter S. Leaming, R.
Cumberland—Samuel B. Fowler, R.
Essex—A. F. R. Martin, R.
Gloucester—Joseph B. Roe, R.
Hudson—Edward F. McDonald, D.
Hunterdon—Moses K. Everitt, D
Mercer—John D. Rue, R.
Middlesex—Robert Adrain, D.
Monmouth—Henry M. Nevius, R.
Morris—Geo. T. Werts, *D.
Ocean—Geo. T. Cranmer, *R.
Passaic—John Mallon, D.
Salem—Wm. Newell, D.
Somerset—Lewis A. Thompson, R.
Sussex—Peter D. Smith, D.
Union—James L. Miller, R.
Warren—Martin Wyckoff, D.
Republicans, 11; Democrats, 10.
*Re-elected.

ASSEMBLY.

Atlantic—S. S. Hudson, R.
Bergen—G. [illegible], D., Alex. De Ronde, D.
Burlington—R. C. Hutchinson, R., Albert Howell, R., Lewis L. Sharp, R.
Camden—F. C. [illegible], R., John Harris, R., Alonzo Nash, D.
Cape May—[illegible] C. Cole, R.
Cumberland—John [illegible] Glaspell, R., Reuben Cheeseman, R.
Essex—George Rubenstein, D., Reuben Trier, D., Thomas H. Pollock, R., Thos. Smith, D., Leonard F. Kalisch, D., R. A. Price, R., Charles Trefz, D., John H. Bertram, D., Edward H. Snyder, D., E. W. Jackson, R.
Gloucester—James West, R.
Hudson—Michael Mullone, D., Henry Byrnes, D., James Murphy, D., W. D. Heppenheimer, D., J. Herbert Potts, R., John Erwin, R., John F. Kelly, D., Andrew J. Boyle, D., Lawrence Fagan, D., Thos B. Usher, D.
Hunterdon—W. H. Martin, D., L. H. Trimmer, D.
Mercer—Jacob Wyckoff, R., Howell C. Stull, D., John Schroth, D.
Middlesex—L. H. Tappen, D., John Mulvery, D. C. H. Manahan, D.
Monmouth—A. E. Johnson, D., W. D. Campbell, D., Chas. H. Ivins, D.
Morris—James F. Albright, D., John Norris, R., W. S. Naughtright, D.
Ocean—Adolph Ernst, R.
Passaic—Robert Williams, R., James Parker, R., Thos. McCran, R., James Keys, D.
Salem—J. C. Ward, R.
Somerset—Jacob Klotz, D.
Sussex—Andrew J. Bale, D.
Union—Foster M. Voorhees, R., Fred C. Marsh, D., John Ulrich, R.
Warren—E. Hoover, D., D. W. Hagerty, D.
Democrats, 36; Republicans, 24.

THE VOTE ON GOVERNOR.

	Abbett.	Grubb.
Atlantic	....	482
Bergen	810	....
Burlington	....	1700
Camden	....	2793
Cape May	....	362
Cumberland	....	902
Essex	1132	....
Gloucester	....	431
Hudson	11,000	....
Hunterdon	1900	....
Mercer	....	261
Middlesex	1000	....
Monmouth	1600	....
Morris	130	....
Ocean	....	575
Passaic	....	1660
Salem	....	181
Somerset	362	....
Sussex	900	....
Union	600	....
Warren	1600	....
Totals	20,934	8963

Abbett's plurality, 11,971.
Green's plurality in 1886, 8,020.

SWINDLER AND CONFIDENCE MAN.

A clever swindler, sneak thief and confidence man has been operating among the residents of this city and Dunellen, during the past few days. The man is about twenty-six years of age, dresses well and is a good conversationalist. He travels under the name of "William Charnas," and his residence is variously given as New York, Brooklyn or Philadelphia, as the case may be.

The fellow began his exploits here on Friday last, when he engaged board at Dr. Griffen's on East Second street. He spent one night at the doctor's and left in the morning with a night key in his possession. On Saturday he engaged an office over Mr. Edward Love's wall paper and stationery store at North avenue and Peace street, and presented a spurious check for the first month's pay, receiving $11 cash in change.

The man gave the name of "Horace S Ely" of No. 22 Pine street, New York, as his reference, and claimed that he represented the Globe and Equity Insurance Companies. He took measurements of the room and told Mr Love, that he would open an office there on Monday.

The fellow then went to Dunellen and engaged board with Mr. C. W. Johnson for $25 a week, but as Mr. Johnson could not accommodate him before Monday he secured temporary board with Mrs. Emily Apgar where he remained over Sunday, telling Mrs. Apgar that his mother and sister would join him on the following day. Early Monday morning, while the other inmates of the house were absent or at breakfast, "Charnas" ransacked their sleeping apartments and stole a handsome set of diamond earrings and wedding ring belonging to the wife of Conductor M. L. Barick, of the New Jersey Central Railroad, a silver watch, a plain gold ring and a silver-headed umbrella. The thief then quietly left the house, and has not since returned. The authorities are endeavoring to trace the criminal.

* * *

THE CRESCENT LEAGUE.

An Auspicious Opening of Their New Club House.

About fifty of the members of the Plainfield Crescent League and a host of their friends, gathered at 13 East Second street, Monday evening, to join in the opening of their new club house that had just been completed.

The interior of the building had undergone a thorough renovation, and was pronounced to be one of the most charming and convenient club houses in the State. The members at a former meeting had put their hands in their pockets and generously contributed about one thousand dollars, which Trustees C. C. Burnet, J. T. Fritts, A. W. Waldron, Jr., F. M. Slater, R. M. Stelle, C. F. Leggett and J. K. Arnold, had used in a most judicious manner.

Down stairs are located four of the finest bowling alleys in the State, in a lofty room that is equalled nowhere else in New Jersey. Upstairs are a suite of handsomely furnished rooms for reading, smoking, and business meetings. The building is lighted throughout by electricity, and well-fitted toilet and coat rooms are also among the comforts and conveniences.

At precisely eight o'clock, President E. C. Kieb stood at the head of alley No. 1, and addressed the groups of representative citizens gathered about the room. He said: "Gentlemen, at the eleventh hour I am called upon to make a speech in reference to this occasion of our first occupancy of these handsome rooms. I am a very poor speech-maker but a better bowler. So I will op n the alleys with a 'strike' and hope every member of this club will do likewise." Mr. Kieb then bowled the first ball that had ever rolled over the alleys, and swept down every pin, amid loud applause.

All present enjoyed the occasion thoroughly, and overflowed with admiration of the new building and praise of the work of the Trustees in accomplishing it all. A large number of applications for membership were handed in during the evening, by the guests.

The League was incorporated last month, and opened its Club House with the following membership of 78:

E. C. Kieb,
H. S Tool,
J. A. Haynes,
J. W. Davis,
J. T. Fritts, M. D.,
A. W. Waldron, Jr.,
C. F. Leggett,
R. M. Stelle,
J. K. Arnold,
F. M. Slater,
C. C. Burnet,
C E. Tool,
J. A. Smith,
J. B. Kline,
H. Deane,
A. V. Kline,
G. L. Hallock,
T. L. Graham,
T. J. Carey,
G. W. Rockfellow,
D. C. Adams,
Chas. A. Reed,
J. V. A. Craighead,
C. E. Vail,
J. H. Deane,
R. A. Meeker,
M. C. VanArsdale,
J. Ulrich,
P. Schultz,
M. A. Hayes,
O. L. Jenkins, M. D.,
[illegible] Smith,
W. B. Codington,
F. A. Dunham,
C. F. Rogers,
H. L. Emmons,
W. G. Hockridge,
V. W. Baker,
W. V. Steel,
T. S. Miller,
W. K. McClure,
W. G. Brett,
C. D. Boice,
H. VanEmburgh,
H. W. Emmons,
H. H. Moore,
R. J. Jackson,
A. C. Morton,
S. Marsh,
W. A. Coddington,
G. W. Endicott, M. D.,
E. E. Runyon,
L. M. Daniel,
J. J. Kenney,
L. W. Randolph,
W. S. Lowry,
H. M. Estil,
G. F. White,
R. F. R. Huntsman,
T. H. Keller,
C. R. Thiers,
C. H. Lyman,
L. W. French,
D. S. Roberts,
C. B. VanWinkle,
G. W. Hillman,
J. C. Pearson, Jr.,
J. A. Demarest,
L. A. Hummer,
M. M. Truman,
W. H. McClurg,
J. H. Tier, Jr.,
C. W. L. Martine,
S. H. Andrews,
W. Lee,
J. MacLaughlin,
A. W. Demarest,
J. F. McMurray.

Special About Mechanical Drawing.

Owing to Tuesday being a holiday, the regular lessons of the Y. M. C. A., Drawing Classes will be postponed one week. All members of the new class who have missed any lessons by absence, and any others desiring to join the classes are requested to be present on Tuesday evening; the teacher will be glad to help them bring their work up to date, and give any other assistance desired.

* * *

[illegible]

Persons having books, papers or magazines which they are willing to part with for the use and benefit of the inmates of the county jail at Elizabeth, are requested to leave such books, papers or magazines at the drug store of Mr. H. H. Reynolds or with Mrs. C. A. Marsh, 16 Third place. They will be distributed under the supervision of the Union County Branch of the State Charities Aid Association.

* * *

[illegible] Church Notices Now.

Among other items in the shabby News of Saturday stolen from The Press of the day before, the accounts of John M. Jackson's funeral, the opening of the night schools and how George Smith lost his eye, were copied almost verbatim.

But exceeding even such daily specimens of dishonest journalism, is the cool nerve displayed by Saturday's News in robbing three columns of a week before of a number of church notices sent exclusively to The Press.

* * *

A Disgraceful Scene.

About dusk, Sunday night, four men named Thomas King, Wm. Keys, John Moody and John Slayon, engaged in a free fight on East Front street, near Richmond. The police were summoned to the spot by telephone, but when they arrived the men had departed.

Chief Carey and Officer Lynch later captured two of the men on East Second street, and Officers Grant and Hope apprehended the other two near Farragut avenue. All four were locked up, and next morning Mayor Male fined them $10 each.

* * *

CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

A Short Session and But Little Business Transacted.

President Dumont rapped the City Council to order in regular session at 8.10 o'clock, Monday evening. The other members present were: Messrs Dunham, Erickson, Gallup, Jenkins, Marsh, Newhall and Squires. The minutes of the October meeting were read and approved.

Mr. E. H. Holmes petitioned the Council for permission to erect a frame sign 12 feet high and not to exceed 100 feet on the ground. Referred with power, and subsequently granted.

From Jacob Schneider, a communication in the shape of a claim for $50 damages for loss of time and expenses incurred by reason of a dog's bite. Tabled.

From S. A Ginna calling attention to the unsightly condition of the sidewalk and gutter on the South side of Broadway between Cedar Brook and Richmond street. Referred to Street Committee with power.

Claims were presented and referred as follows:

Fire Department—A. M. Griffen, $[illegible]; E. C. Morse, 10 55; J. E. Flannery, [illegible]; J. J. Sharp, 13 25; Plainfield Gas Light Co., 12 25; Geo. Conover, 41 66; John Worth, 33 25; Engine Co., No. 2, 25; Jos. Cooney, 26 66; Hiram K. Voorhees, [illegible]; Jno. B. Gable, 18 75; Ellis Handville, [illegible].

Streets—Geo. M. Angleman, $188 75; H. Angleman, 33 75; Wm. Hand, 18 75; Jno. Wierenga, 10; B. Vandervoer, 24 7[illegible]; Robt. Randolph, 42; Jno. Washington, 4 50; H. Robinson, 19 50; Peter McBlany, 11 25; M. Burke, 31 50; M. Walsh, 46; W. Mahaffee, 36; P. Moran, 10 50; J. Connelly, 49 50; Jno Adams, 27 75; Thos. Flynn, 33; Jno. Kelly, 48; Jno. Young, 21 75; Jno. Hefferan, 32 62; M. Burney, 27; W. Anson, 7 50; S. Jones, 7 50; Jno. Barry, 12 37; J. F. Scott, 16 50; [illegible] Shannon, 3; Thos. Burke, 108 50; P. T. Nevius, 300 97; and 471 58; Jas. Bryans, 49 50; Jno. Keef, 6 38; Thos Dowd, 48 [illegible].

Police—T. J. Carey, $92; Chas. Fields, 60; T McCue, 60; P. Lynch, 60; [illegible], 60; Grant, 60; P. J. Flanagan, 60; A. Hope, 7 50; Seguine, 15; W. H & J. J. Hetfield, 3 50; Jos. Cooney, 6; W. S Sliter, 4[illegible].

Printing—W. L. Force & Bro., $[illegible]; F. W. Morrison, 13 50; Times Printing and Publishing Co., 71 25; L. H. Bigelow, Co., 15 37.

Salaries—V. W. Nash, $76 76; [illegible] Hubbard, 810 75; Geo. M. Angleman, [illegible]; C. A. Marsh, 187 50; Jno. Johnson, 12[illegible]; O. B. Leonard, 63 40.

Miscellaneous—Plainfield Gas Co., $[illegible]; Schwed Bros., 18 75; Rudolph Hering, 500; Electric Light Co., 674 69; Chas. A. Lehman, 25; J. M. Leonard, 9.

The monthly reports of the Treasurer and Collector were received and filed. The latter showed a total of $9,120 7[illegible] collected during October, $2,227 55 of which has been deposited to the credit of the Board of Education.

The quarterly report of the City Physician was received and filed.

The Treasurer gave notice of certain notes falling due this month, and provision was made for the payment of the same, at a later stage in the proceedings.

Corporation Counsel Marsh submitted his semi-annual report, which was filed.

The Fire and Building Committee, through Mr. Erickson, reported the granting of the petitions of P. Lynch and the D. J. Boice estate, presented at a former meeting.

Mr. Squires presented a resolution authorizing the Corporation Counsel to draw up a renewal of the street lighting contract; provided, however, the Electric Light Company will give the Council the privilege of again renewing the contract for another or second year upon the same terms as heretofore. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Marsh, from the Street Committee, reported that the work of macadamizing Madison avenue and Fourth street, East of Broadway, had been completed, and that repairs are now being made on South avenue. The committee was granted an extra appropriation of $1,000 for street work.

Mr. Jenkins called to its third reading the ordinance providing for the permanent repair of Elm place. It was adopted on its third reading.

The Mayor and Treasurer, were, upon resolution adopted, authorized to execute a three months' note for $4,500 in anticipation of taxes for 1889. The Treasurer was directed to pay a note of $750 on the poor fund falling due this month, and to borrow $900 for three months in anticipation of the 1889 taxes.

Crosswalks were ordered laid at the intersection of Front street and Elmwood place and at East Ninth street and Broadway.

The Treasurer was directed to pay off the two fire department notes falling due this month, and to discount at the City National Bank a three months note for $1,500 in anticipation of taxes.

Mr. Dunham called attention to the vacancy in the Board of Commissioners of Appeal, caused by the death of the late Rudolphus MacDonald, and Mr. J. F. MacDonald was elected to fill the vacancy.

The Auditing Committee reported on the claims sent in during the evening and the Council adjourned.

* * *

—The numerous and handsome gold and silver medals to be won at the coming Bicycle Club Tournament, are on exhibition in the window of Randolph's pharmacy.

* * *

It was once supposed that scrofula could not be eradicated from the system; but the marvelous results produced by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla disprove this theory. The reason is, this medicine is the most powerful blood-purifier ever discovered.

Lessen the Mounted Carrier's Labors.

Patrons along the mounted mail carrier's route would facilitate the delivery of their mail and lessen the labor of the carrier, by the erection of small mail boxes in front of their residences, in which the carrier could deposit their mail. Such boxes can be procured at a small cost at Griffen's hardware store.

* * *

Simply a Matter of Expense.

The testimony in the case of the damage done by the recent washout at South Plainfield, to determine whether the county or township is involved in the expense of the necessary repairs, and which was to have been heard on Saturday before Commissioner Boice, was further postponed until saturday next, owing to the non-appearance of the township representatives.

* * *

The Trinity Choir.

The Consistory of Trinity Reformed church met Tuesday evening, and decided upon a permanent choir for the ensuing Winter. The result was the engagement of Miss Emma Ward, of Newark, who had proven the most satisfactory of the candidates for the position of leading soloist.

Miss Ward possesses a fine mezzo-soprano voice. She is also a singer of much experience in church music. The choir will consist of Miss Emma Ward, soprano; Mrs. E. H. Bird, contralto; Mr. Robert Gorton, basso, and Mr. D. J. Randall, tenor.

* * *

Entertainment and Fair.

An entertainment and fair was given by the Ladies Aid and the Helping Hand societies of the Dunellen M. E. church on Thursday evening last. Notwithstanding the fact that the night was stormy, the attendance was very large, and about $200 was realized from the fair.

The entertainment consisted of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, tableaux and dialogues, and great credit is accorded Mrs Davis for her delightful soprano solos, Miss Seran for her skillful piano selections, and Miss Apgar for her able recitations.

During the fair Messrs F. H. Gise and Jacob Fisher contested for a handsome chair. The latter won, having collected $145.

* * *

An Artistic Job.

Mr F. S. Dunn, Manager in this city for the Electrical Construction and Supply Company, has just completed wiring for incandescent lighting, Mr. Charles Potter's handsome residence on West Seventh street. The gas fixtures throughout the house have been re-wired in an artistic and skillful manner, so that the house can now be lighted either by gas or electricity. An electric gas lighting manual has also been placed in the building, thus adding efficiency to the service.

* * *

Vindicating Willie VanNest.

Emma Jane Day, the female incendiary from Summit, who was re-committed to the county jail at Elizabeth, last week, after a few days' freedom, seems to be reconciled to her fate. The girl has become utterly depraved by the association of criminals. She left Summit about four weeks ago after attending the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Henry Ardell. The other sister, Henrietta, has three years more to serve in the Reform School.

Officer Kelly of Summit, says that young Willie VanNest is not guilty of the crime of setting fire to Drake's laundry in this city, and for which he is now serving time in the Reform School, as he is certain that Henrietta Day is the guilty one.

* * *

ALONZO GETS 10 DAYS MORE

The Court of Sessions met at Elizabeth Saturday morning at 10:30 with Judges McCormick, Wiley and Hyer on the bench.

Alonzo Randolph (colored) of this city who had plead guilty to a charge of petit larceny in stealing a watch valued at $15, in consideration of the fact that he has already been confined over two months, was sentenced to ten days in the county jail.

Frank and Butch Miller and John Jennings who recently raided the houses of Mrs. Dr. Crouthers and Mrs. Rose at Elizabeth were brought up for sentence. On the indictment for entering without breaking, each received a sentence of five years in the State Prison with a fine of $100 and costs of prosecution. On a second indictment for larceny, Frank and Butch Miller were given an additional penalty of five years, a fine of $300 and costs of court.

* * *

The [illegible] Week.

Prof. George Bartholomew's Equine Paradox did the largest week's business ever done by an indoor entertainment in Plainfield. It gave eight performances without a change of programme. Three times there was "standing room only," and two-days it rained very hard.

Many hundreds from the surrounding towns and country came to see it and the horse show was the leading topic of conversation in all classes of society. It happened that the entertainment deserved the extraordinary patronage it received. Negotiations are pending for another visit of a week in April next. The following is the week's business:

Monday evening, [illegible] persons	$166 50
Tuesday evening [illegible] persons	206 [illegible]
Wednesday matinee [illegible] persons	249 25
Wednesday evening [illegible] persons	247 50
Thursday evening [illegible] persons (rain)	[illegible]
Friday evening, 1,1[illegible] persons	[illegible]
Saturday matinee, 1,147 persons (rain)	[illegible]
Saturday evening, [illegible] persons (rain)	[illegible]

Manager Mishler, Saturday evening, made a liberal present to Mr. W. R. [illegible] and his son Aaron the stage manager, for courtesies shown during the week. It was in every particular an engagement that will linger pleasantly in the memory of all who saw it, and its financial success cheered the Music Hall treasury. The summary is eight performances, 6,685 persons, and $2,143.50.

* * *

Westfield Bowlers Lose Their First Match.

The bowling season has fairly opened, and the first of the teams in this vicinity to roll a match was the Nameless of Westfield.

On Friday evening last they went to Newark and met their old adversaries, the Pin Knights. Although the Westfield bowlers passed their opponents on the second frame they were unable to hold the lead, and were beaten by the superb bowling of Messrs Balding and Manners. [illegible] Worth acted as umpire. The score was as follows

NAMELESS.

	S.	S.	B.	Pins.
[illegible]	3	6	2	172
[illegible]	1	3	6	138
[illegible]	4	4	2	171
[illegible]	2	3	5	145
[illegible]	4	2	3	173
[illegible]	4	3	3	170
[illegible]	3	4	3	160
[illegible]	1	4	5	142
[illegible]	3	4	4	146
[illegible]	4	2	4	162
Totals	27	36	37	1579

PIN KNIGHTS.

	S.	S.	B.	Pins.
[illegible]	2	6	2	[illegible]
[illegible]	3	3	4	[illegible]
[illegible]	4	2	4	159
[illegible]	4	4	2	[illegible]
[illegible]	1	[illegible]	4	148
[illegible]	7	1	2	[illegible]
[illegible]	2	1	6	[illegible]
[illegible]	1	2	7	121
[illegible]	4	6	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	3	4	[illegible]
Totals	[illegible]	[illegible]	37	[illegible]

FRAMES.

[illegible]

* * *

[illegible] of having a remedy [illegible] for croup, pneumonia, sore throat [illegible] sudden colds, is very appealing to a [illegible]. With a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, one feels, in such [illegible] a sense of security nothing else [illegible].

Reform Hall.

A moderate sized audience was in Reform Hall Sunday night. President Harper occupied the chair, and Mr. Vanderbeck's full choir discoursed music. The devotional services were conducted by Mr. Eden Boice.

The regularly invited speaker for the evening being absent on account of other pressing engagements, remarks were consequently confined to members of the club. Messrs Harper, Boice and Angleman each in a few pointed words advocated the cause of total abstinence from all intoxicating liquor.

* * *

A Big Safe.

Walter Scott & Co., last week, had placed in their office one of the Marvin Safe Co's celebrated "Bankers' Fire and Burglar Proof Safes." It is 66 inches high, 60 inches wide, 33 inches deep, with two Bankers' chests in the bottom, with double-time locks, which cannot be unlocked until the time arrives at which the clocks are set. The safe is also equipped with outside combination locks of the latest improved system. Verily the World and the press business move on. Mr. W. R. Northup transferred the safe from the car to its place in the office in four hours. It weighs six tons.

* * *

A FIRST VOTER'S REPLY

His Conscientiousness Puts to Shame Mr. Ackerman's Dishonesty.

To the Editor of The Press:—In the issue of the Central Times, bearing date of October 30, appears a letter signed Ernest R. Ackerman. Mr. Ackerman seeks to impress upon young men the importance of their first vote. He urges that if they choose between the parties of their own free will and judgment, they inquire into the history of those parties and decide for themselves. He says that they must not consider election day merely a holiday; they must study political questions and must examine the records of parties and ascertain the qualifications of candidates in order to vote conscientiously and wisely.

If Mr. Ackerman had said nothing more, he would have done well. But he proceeds to point out the excellencies of the Republican party over the Democratic party. Some of his statements are true, some of them are "taffy," but no fault can be found with them from a Republican standpoint when they are taken alone. But taken in connection with what he has already said, they inculcate the falsest and most pernicious of political principles. Not what the parties have done, but what they are doing and what they promise to do on the leading questions of the hour, should be the considerations which young voters should take into account. The great issues of 1860 and 1870 upon which Mr. Ackerman dwells so lovingly, were dead and buried long ago and in their place have sprung up new issues and new questions to be settled.

I claim that there is not a single voter of average intelligence in this country who has the moral right to choose his party before his principles, which is what Mr. Ackerman and politicians generally ask us to do. Am I a free trader? I must join the Democratic party. Am I a protectionist? Then I must join the Republicans. But never must I be a free trader because I am a Democrat, nor a protectionist because I am a Republican.

Again, Mr. Ackerman attempts to drag national issues into State politics. I think Mr. Ackerman is a very intelligent young man and he must know that the three issues in this State campaign are: Local Option or High License, Ballot Reform and Taxation. Any voter who casts his ballot on these three questions for the candidate of the party with which he is most in sympathy on national issues, does an act that is foolish and wrong. I hope Mr. Ackerman will not, though I know that a lot of people are in accord with his false construction of what makes and constitutes honest and conscientious voting.
FIRST VOTER, THIRD WARD.

* * *

BOROUGH COUNCIL MEETING.

The Borough Council met in regular session, Friday night, with Mayor Cooley in the chair. All the other Councilmen were present except Mr. Emmons. After the preliminary opening a petition was presented and referred, asking for two street lamps, one at Rock View and Cedar avenues, and the other at Maple and West End avenues.

Warren Engine Company also communicated to Council the fact that Mr. Ira Riker was desirous of becoming a member of the department. The matter was laid over.

Sundry license applications were presented, referred and granted.

These claims were read, referred and ordered paid, together with a $5 claim of Thos. McDonald, for janitor's services: Powlison & Jones, $1.90; Wm. Sharkey, $2; Wm. Gleason, $2.25; A. D. Cook & Bro., $25 90; Wm. Pangborn, $5; Thos. McDonald, $31.50.

Mr. McGee submitted the fire department by-laws, together with some slight amendments, all of which were adopted. As a member of the Fire, Water and Lamps Committee, he reported the committee's recommendation to renew the street lighting contract; also the engagement of the fire department engineer as janitor. The report was filed.

The Street Committee, through Mr. Smalley, reported verbally that all the work authorized at the last meeting had been completed at a cost of about $90.

Mr. Bettman again called attention to the hole in the gutter in front of his residence on Willow Avenue which he said he had filled in at his own expense, and which the Street Commissioner had dug out and sold for the latter's personal benefit. Some discussion followed, and again Mr. Bettman's request to have the hole refilled was ignored.

An ordinance amending the peace and moral ordinance, relating to street obstructions, was read for the third time and adopted.

Mr. McGee presented a resolution which prevailed, requesting the Fire, Water and Lamps Committee to submit a proposition for street lighting, at the next meeting.

A long and spirited discussion followed on the subject of compelling Mr. James Merritt to lay a 600 foot board walk along his vacant and unimproved property on the Westerly side of Westervelt avenue, extending from Grand View to Mountain avenue, so as to accommodate a half-dozen or so of persons who live in the vicinity of the old camp meeting grounds.

Mr. Smalley, Chairman of the Street Committee, said that if a resolution was introduced and passed authorizing the Street Committee to proceed with the work the committee would do so, whereupon Mayor Cooley remarked that it was eminently proper for the Street Committee to introduce a resolution to that effect.

Mr. McGee, "spoke out in meeting" claiming that it was unjust to put such a heavy expense upon one man just to satisfy personal malice, and to benefit a very few, when there are lots of places on Somerset street, the borough's main thoroughfare, where there are no sidewalks at all; neither, he said, has there been any effort made to compel the property owners on Somerset street to lay walks.

A resolution by Mr. Smalley to the effect that 30 days' notice be given Mr. Merritt to proceed with the work, and in case he refused to comply with the notice then the borough will proceed to lay the walk, was adopted.

The matter of using the Council Chamber for lounging purposes was brought up by Mr. [illegible], but no definite action was taken.

Upon resolution adopted Patrick [illegible] was appointed janitor of the Council Chamber, services to begin on Nov. 1, Mr. Smalley voting "no."

Council then adjourned.

Not in Favor of What is Possible.

The Times says it is "not in favor of as few saloons in Plainfield as is possible," but that it is "in favor of no saloons whatever." Thus it confesses that "no saloons whatever" is impossible.

* * *

A Shooting Match.

J Frank Kleinitz of Philadelphia, the champion wing shot of Pennsylvania, with R. E. Irwin, of the same city, will shoot a match at fifty live birds at John Erb's Park, on Bloomfield avenue, against Phil Daley, Jr., of Long Branch, with Frank Class as a partner. The match has been made and $200 forfeit placed in the hands of Ed. Updergrove, the President of the Mercer Gun Club, and $200 a side under the Hurlingham rules. All of the above shooters are well known here, and most of them have contested on the Middlesex Gun Club grounds at Dunellen.

* * *

A Female Firebug Returned to Jail.

The youthful firebug, Emma Jane Day, at one time a resident here, who, with her sister Henrietta, was convicted of firing a building in Summit and was sentenced to six months in the county jail, was returned to that institution Oct. 30, after being at liberty only two weeks. She was committed by Justice Hatfield of Elizabeth for vagrancy. The girl has no home and seems to have become a hardened character since her previous incarceration. Her sister is in the State Reform school. Emma says no one will give her employment on account of what she did, and she has become so despondent that she threatened to put an end to her life unless the authorities sent her back to prison. She is eighteen years old.

* * *

A Catholic Centennial.

A Catholic Congress is to be held in Baltimore in November from the 10th to the 13th. A number from this city will attend and many subjects of interest for Catholics will be discussed. In connection with this congress there will be a commemoration of the establishment of the Catholic hierarchy, 100 years ago.

Preparations for its celebration have been making for several months, and it will be one of the most brilliant church celebrations that has ever taken place in the United States. Cardinal Gibbons has received acceptances of the invitation to attend from eighty Bishops and others of his rank, including Cardinal Taschereau of Canada, and Archbishops and Bishops from Mexico. The Most Rev. Francis Satolli, Archbishop of Lepanto, will arrive in Baltimore next week as the special representative of the Pope at the celebration.

* * *

"BUZZ."

The new monthly magazine to be devoted to New Jersey literature and published at Plainfield, to which The Press has already referred, will be copyrighted under the title of "Buzz," and the first issue will be ready in December. While New Jersey writings and New Jersey writers will be given prime attention, a sufficiently high literary standard will be maintained to insure the publication a welcome in and support from all homes. New Jersey has already produced men and women who have achieved laurels in the world of letters, and "Buzz" will not only give space to new stories, sketches and verses from these, but will bring to the light new genius and talent.

Besides the literary features of the forthcoming number, the public will be interested in the prize contests announced in the publisher's department. Four prizes will be offered for stories and sketches concerning "The Jersey Schoolmarm," "The Jersey Schoolmaster," "The Jersey Editor" and "The Jersey Lawyer." Literary contributions coming within the scope of the magazine will be welcome from all.

Among the celebrated Jerseymen who will furnish material for early numbers are Julian Hawthorne, author of "Sinfire" and other masterly creations, and Frank R. Stockton, whose "The Lady or the Tiger?" "The Casting Away of Mrs. Lecks and Mrs. Aleshine," "The Dusantes," "The Merry Chanter," and other tales, have become so popular. Will Carleton, famous for "Over the Hill to the Poor House," "Betsy and I Are Out," "Farmer Stebbins at Ocean Grove," and other notable poems, will write for some number of the first volume a characteristic string of verses, whose scene is located in New Jersey. Everything published in "Buzz" will be original, and the public is expected to take a State as well as a literary pride, in the new venture.

* * *

FLOGGED TILL THE BLOOD RAN.

[From The Daily Press, Nov. 1.]

Mrs Roantree accuses Miss Carpenter, Principal of the New Market Public School, of flogging her thirteen-year old son until the blood ran, and she also says that School Trustee Davis furnished the gad.

Last Tuesday's Press exclusively published a report of the affair which took place the day before. As it is against the law to administer corporal punishment except upon the expressed wish of the parent, the news of Miss Carpenter's action created much excitement in the little village, which was increased by the information that the boy's widowed mother would prosecute the teacher.

One of the School Trustees—not Mr. Davis, however—told a Press reporter: "It is well-known that corporal punishment is against the law and it is never inflicted unless with authority of the parent. But although no such authority was given in the case in point, the fact of a teacher being attacked by a scholar would warrant defense in any case. That order must be maintained in a public school and that the teacher must have control over her pupils is a conceded fact, and the Trustees are determined to thus control the school if it becomes necessary to expel a number of refractory scholars. The parents should aid and not oppose such efforts in behalf of good order and discipline."

But Mrs. Roantree denies that her boy attacked the teacher. She was interviewed by a representative of The Press this morning, and related the following story: "I am a poor woman whose husband died recently, leaving me to support by day's work a family of children. Some time ago while working for the sister of Miss Carpenter, I had some words with the latter and ever since she has persecuted my boy Theodore, that I was compelled to keep him out of school.

"Last Monday I sent him again for the first time in three weeks. She kept him in for another boy's fault, but I sent her word that if Theodore had been doing wrong I would punish him. She paid no attention but sent some message to Mr. Davis, one of the Trustees. He did not come himself but sent a big whip with which Miss Carpenter flogged Theodore so terribly that there were deep cuts in his hips from which the blood ran.

"I took the boy to Mr. Davis' house but he would not see me. I showed his wife the cuts and also showed Mrs. Storms the wife of another Trustee, and a lady that was visiting her. They all said it was a shame. Mr. Storms is a Justice of the Peace and I tried to make a complaint before him, but he said he had to 'go away' and would not be home until to-night. They all know I am poor and are trying to make so much trouble for me that I cannot afford to go to law for redress."

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

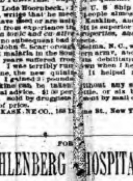
What is a cold in the head? Medical authorities say it is due to uneven clothing of the body, rapid cooling when in a perspiration, &c. The important point is, that a cold in the head is an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nose, which, when unchecked, is certain to produce a catarrhal condition—for catarrh is essentially a "cold" which nature is no longer able to "resolve" or throw off. Ely's Cream Balm has proven its superiority, and sufferers should resort to it before that common ailment becomes seated and ends in obstinate catarrh.

An Exquisite Engraving.

A very costly and elegant steel plate engraving has just been executed in the highest style of the art, copies of which from a limited supply are now ready for delivery, and will be sent to any part of the World on receipt of 25 cents each, in stamps or coin. The noble grandeur of the "Entrance" to the "Garden of the Gods" is the favorite theme of poet and painter. The outer ramparts are of pure white, while the interior columns spring boldly from the plain to a height of 350 feet—the whole suggesting the ruins of a vast temple. The towering walls form a majestic frame work for the snow-capped summit of Pike's Peak which reveals itself among the clouds in the far distance. To secure an early copy of this admirable work of art address John Sebastian, General Ticket and Passenger Agent, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway, enclosing the price, 25 cents.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

KASKINE,
(THE NEW QUININE.)



No Bad Effect.
No Headache
No Nausea.
No Ringing Ears
Cures Quickly.
Pleasant, Pure.

A POWERFUL TONIC.
A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

Mr. Lode Hoornbeck, of the U. S. Ship Kearsarge, writes that he meets people almost daily who have used or are using Kaskine, and who affirm from experience that it is superior to quinine in tonic and curative properties, and produces no subsequent bad effects.

Mr. John C. Scarborough, Selma, N. C., writes: "I got malaria in the Southern army, and for a dozen years suffered from its debilitating effects. I was terribly run down when I heard of Kaskine, the new quinine. It helped me at once. I gained 35 pounds."

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of price.
KASKINE CO., 180 Duane St., New York.
2-5-y

FOR MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL!
LECTURE BY
George Kennan,
The Siberian Traveller.
SUBJECT:—An [illegible] Siberia Convict Mine.
Music Hall, Tuesday Nov 19, 1889,
At Eight o'clock.
Reserved Seats 50c, 75c, and $1.00. For sale at Randolph's, and Miller's Drug Stores.
11-7-2w

WHITENACK'S
New Jersey Real Estate Agency,
No. 171 Broadway,
Room 15, NEW YORK.
Correspondence solicited,
P. DUMONT WHITENACK, REAL ESTATE AGENT.
11-7-4

FINE
CLOTHING.
A large assortment of Fall and Winter Goods.

Ready-Made Department—Suits, Overcoats and Ulsters for Men and Boys in all sizes, made of the best materials and in the best manner possible.

Custom Department.—A heavy stock of Woollens, this Season's importation. Fashionable goods in plain and fancy Woollens for Fall and Winter wear. Goods fit and finish the very best.

Men's Furnishing Department.—Shirts ready made or to order as desired. Smoking Jackets and Dressing Gowns ready made or to order. Imported Silk, also All-Wool Underwear. English Mackintosh Coats. French Flannels. Everything to clothe the body except Hats and Shoes. Self-measurement blanks furnished on application, also samples.

TREDWELL, SLOTE & COMPANY,
273, 275, 277 BROADWAY, N. Y.,
Cor. Broadway and Chambers St.
11-7-2m

AN ORDINANCE.

for the repairing and permanent improvement of Elm Place.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the road of Elm Place for its entire length be forthwith [illegible] and spread with broken stone for a width of from six to eight feet on each side of the center [illegible] thereof and for a depth varying from two to six inches, as circumstances may require, at the general expense of the city so be paid for out of the money raised by tax for the improvement of streets as provided by the act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to authorize cities to make permanent improvements in the road bed of the streets at the general expense." Approved, May 15, 1889.

Adopted by the Common Council, Nov. 4, 1889.
Approved by the Mayor, Nov. 6, 1889.
JOHN B. MALE, Mayor.
Attest:—O. B. LEONARD, City Clerk.

Corporation Notice

Notice is hereby given that the following ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed, preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.
OLIVER B. LEONARD, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., November [illegible], 1889.

AN ORDINANCE

For changing the name of Putnam street.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

Section 1.—That the name of the street now known as Putnam Street be changed so as to be known and designated hereafter by the name of Putnam Avenue.

Don't spoil your Feet with Cheap Shoes!
WEAR THE
BURT & PACKARD
"Korrect Shape."

KORRECT SHAPE
BURT & PACKARD

Don't allow your dealer to palm off any substitute, as we have arranged to supply the "Korrect Shape" Shoes in any style for Gent's, Boys or Youths, and prepay all delivery charges where they are not sold.

You can only find them in Plainfield, N. J., at DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S, 23 WEST FRONT ST.

Made in four grades. HAND-MADE, HAND-WELT, BURTWELT and MACHINE SEWED, which is stamped on the sole in addition to the trade-mark above.

PACKARD & FIELD,
(Successors to Burt & Packard)
Brockton, Mass.
9-13-3mo

M. N. TERRILL & CO.,
UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,
No. 29 E. FRONT STREET.
M. N. TERRILL— Practical Embalmer, and assistant to the late firm of Ford & [illegible]. GEO. W. COLE.
9-17-tf

A. M. RUNYON & SON,
UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS,
60 PARK AVENUE.
Telephone Call 40.
RESIDENCE—48 MADISON AVENUE.
Telephone Call [illegible].
"Office of Hillside Cemetery."

P. CASEY & SON,
UNDERTAKERS,
Office—No. 7 Somerset St.
Residence, No. 11 Third street, corner New, Plainfield, N. J. Everything pertaining to the business always on hand, and lower than any other firm in the State. All Calls Promptly Answered Day or Night.—[illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS.

Parlor Stoves
Othello Ranges,
Steam and Hot Water Heating.
Hot Air Heating.
Hardware,
Plumbing,
Tinning,
And House Furnishings.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
Telephone Call, 6. 11-1-tf

PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE,

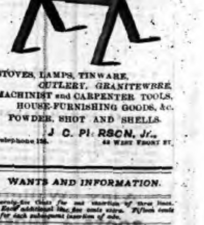
CITY OF PLAINFIELD.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a warrant issued by William M. Stillman, esq., City Judge of the city of Plainfield, in the County of Union, to make the unpaid taxes assessed on lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate, in the said city of Plainfield in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-seven; the subscriber, the officer nominated and appointed by the Common Council for that purpose, will on Wednesday the 20th day of November next, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, at his office, 53 Park avenue, in the City of Plainfield, sell the lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate hereinafter described, at public vendue, for the shortest time for which any person or persons will agree to take the same and pay such taxes, together with interest thereon, and all costs, fees, charges and expenses.

Allen, Samuel C., h and l and 40 a, E. Front st., below [illegible] ave	62 50
Acre, James, lot, Clinton ave	1 80
Boice, Est. of Cornelius, h and l, 75 E. Front st	126 00
Boice, " " lot, Dunellen ave., Evona	3 60
Bond, Selina E., 3 lots, Netherwood ave, Nos. 18, 20 and 4	3 40
Beiter, William	1 80
Brannan, James, h and l, Rose st	3 40
Craig, James, h and l, Dunellen ave., near Jefferson ave	27 00
Craig, James, 2 h and 1 28 a, North and Dunellen aves	108 00
Craig, James, h and l, Front st., near Dunellen ave	10 80
Craig, James, h and 2 Front st., near Dunellen ave	16 80
Craig, William, 2 h and l, Dunellen ave	54 00
Craig, William, 7 18 a, Dunellen ave	25 20
Campbell, Mrs. John O., h and l, 57 E. 5th st	40 50
Chase, Winfield S., h and l, 1 Jacques Block, W. Front st	3 60
Conway, est. of Daniel, h and l, 128 W. Fourth st	9 00
Cole, William A., 3 lots, 158 W. Eighth st	28 35
Cole, Jacob, est. or Sarah, h and 78 a, E. Front st., near Terrill road	63 00
Cole, Eliza, h and l, 1 ¾ a, South and Leland aves	27 00
Cole, Eliza, h and l, 22 and 24 W. Second st	27 00
Cole, Eliza, h and l and 66 a, E. Front st	156 00
Cameron, John, h and l, Madison ave	60 00
Cowen, Margaret, lot, Kensington ave	4 50
Cowen, " hotel, Eighth st. and Park ave	150 00
Dunham, Hemah C., h and l, Fifth st., and Madison ave	21 60
Dunn, Solomon F., h and l, 62 Park ave	30 60
Dady, est. of Patrick or Mary, h and l, 78 W. Third st	16 20
Frase, Aug., h and l, 10 Peace st	23 40
Force, James H., lot, E. Second st	90
Flynn, Ann, 2 h and l, W. Third st., below Liberty st	3 60
Fisher, est. of Abram, h and l, 73 W. Third st	5 40
Flannigan, P. J., lot, Evona	1 80
Fritz, Adam, h and l, Exchange alley	9 00
Glacken, Edward, lot, Lane tract	3 60
Gable, John B., h and l, 26 Cottage place	10 80
Harriott, Randolph R., lot 5 a, E. Front st	45 00
Harding, William H., h and l, 77 W. Third st	5 40
Hall, Mary J., or Geo. F. Randolph, lot, George st	1 80
Jones, Mrs Emma A 7 lots Carlton ave	18 00
" " " h & 5 a, Kensington ave and LaGrande	45 00
Jimmerson, Aaron L h & 7 a, Leland ave	27 00
Ketchum, Charles E h & l Kensington ave	36 00
Kane, John h & l [illegible] W 3d st	3 15
O'Keefe, John O h & l 108 W 5th st	10 80
Lane, Mrs Mary M & l Lane tract	10 80
Leonard, Wm J 11 a Plainfield & Sherman ave	39 70
Leonard, Mrs Elizabeth h and l, Union st	27 00
Leonard, Mrs Elizabeth double h and l, 98 W Front st	18 00
Leonard, Mrs Elizabeth 11 a Plainfield and Sherman aves	59 70
Lee, Thomas h and l 5 S 2nd St	18 00
Lillienstern, Mary h and l E Front st	21 15
Lawrence, John C 3 l North ave and Terrill rd	5 40
Marclay M F 66 W 2d st h and l	9 90
" " h and l New st adj above	4 60
Marclay Caroline T l W 5th st adj 43	6 30
Marclay, Caroline T h and l 1 12 New st	34 40
" 1 adj 98 E 2d st	3 60
Marsh, Randolph h and l 54 Plainfield av	16 [illegible]
Marsh, Lucy A h and lot 15 W 5th st	23 40
Marsh, Mrs Elizabeth S h and l 71 Madison ave	45 00
Manning, Wm H h and l 113 W 4th st	7 20
McCarthy, Chas F h and l 33 and 35 Plainfield ave	36 00
McLaughlin, W F S lots 17 to 25, 5th near Lexington	1 80
Moore, Anna M h and l Broadway and 5th st	48 60
Moore, Thomas 3 l 2 & 3 Richmond st	5 40
Moe, [illegible] h and l 51 W 5th st	32 40
Martine, Anna M executrix h, barn and l a Broadway and Cedar Brook	45 00
Martine, Anna M executrix h and l 9th st near Park ave	48 60
Martine, Anna M estate D'farm 1 6 a Broadway and Prospect ave	154 80
Martine, James E h and l park ave near Mayer's	4 60
Martine, Anna M brick h Broadway & Kensington ave	45 00
Meyer, Sigmund C l 200 ft Front st near Clinton ave	7 20
Murray, Joseph or Dean estate l Prospect ave	5 40
Murray, Joseph or Dean estate Ravine ave	70 80
Murray, Joseph or Dean estate 1 8 cor Dunellen and Clinton aves	3 60
Noel, Charles J 4 h and l South ave near Spooner ave., balance	4 77
Noel, Charles J 1 84x200 Midway and Netherwood aves	7 20
Ohl Caroline J 38 a and 6 l Pemberton, Field and Elizabeth sts	37 80
Pound, Daniel S h and l North ave, Evona	12 60
Perrine, Jas K h and l 29 La Grande ave	87 60
Fike, Josephine W h and l 130 E Front st	72 00
Ross, Richard A l 8th and Union sts	3 60
Roll, Chancellor h and l 9 Peace st	36 00
Reed, David or Hattie Colburn l E 2d st	5 40
Reed, O B l E 2d st	5 40
Richardson, Maggie h and l 51 E 4th st	32 40
Stewart, David F h and l [illegible] st bel	4 60
Smith, Henry W l Raymond ave	3 60
Smith, Jas F h and l 20 Elm st	10 80
Stiger, Lydia S l George st	3 60
Saltzman, Elise h and l 149 Central ave	97 20
Smalley, heirs of John 30 a Randolph rd	54 00
Smalley, Mary B h and 3½ a Woodland ave	18 00
Sage, Emily S l Lake st	10 80
Stevens, Richard 2 h and l South av	25 20
Sutphen, est. of J. C., h and l, 23 W. Second street	36 00
Thomas, James H 4½ a Broadway	8 10
Thompson, estate of Daniel 26 l bought of Hart Charity	59 40
Taylor, Henry l W 4th st	1 80
Truman, Judiah l, 7th and Clinton av	81 00
Ulrich, estate of Henr h & l 4 W 6th st	18 00
Vermeule, Sarah A h & l 8 Peace street	16 00
Van Winkle, Jeremiah h & l 2 Central av	27 00
Vail, estate of Stephen 30 a Broadway & Hillside	27 00
Vail, Catherine S h and l 73 E 2d street	27 00
Vail, Hulda M h, h and l & a Clinton ave and Dunellen ave	14 40
Whitehead, Frances 2 h and l 106 W Front st., balance	17 00
White, Wm l E 2d street	[illegible]
Wyckoff, Jane h and l 3 W 3d street	3 15
Wells, Wm H l Clinton and 6th street	8 10
Wylie, Franklin h 12 a Front street and Terrill Road	81 00
Willis, Lucretia H h and l 30 W 4th st	36 00

Witness my hand this 25th day of July, A. D., 1889.
VINCENT W. NASH,
Special Policeman and Collector of Delinquent Taxes.

CATCH ON?
Special Sale!
From November 1 to 15
15 PER CENT OFF of regular prices for SPOT CASH!



STOVES, LAMPS, TINWARE,
CUTLERY, GRANITEWARE.
MACHINIST and CARPENTER TOOLS.
HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, &c.
POWDER, SHOT AND SHELLS.
J. C. PIERSON, Jr.,
Telephone 136. 44 WEST FRONT ST.

WANTS AND INFORMATION.

Twenty-five Cents for one insertion of three lines. Each additional line five cents extra. Fifteen cents for each subsequent insertion of ads.

STORAGE—FIRST-CLASS ACCOMMODATIONS in newly-partitioned rooms. All thoroughly cleaned and free from vermin. Separate rooms if desired. Apply at Runyon's hat store, or of owner, M. Vermeule. Two buggies for sale cheap.—[illegible]

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - City Editor.

—On, for a Y. M. C. A. building.

—"Listen to my tale of whoa," is the familiar air of our delivery clerks in [illegible].

—The case of the City vs. Joseph Sullivan for [illegible] selling, has been indefinitely postponed.

—The good health of THE PRESS is shown by the [illegible] in the advertising columns. There is nothing that is dead, nor sickly, nor sleepy there.

—It was communion Sunday at the Crescent Avenue church, yesterday, and eight new members were admitted—seven by letter and one by confession of faith.

—On Thanksgiving Day the Father Mathew T. A. B. Society, of Elizabeth, will visit this city on a target excursion. The society is arranging for a grand time.

—A party of hunters from this city spent Friday in the vicinity of White House station on the New Jersey Central Railroad, returning home last evening with about forty cotton tails.

—A number of the members of the Algonquin Wheelmen, of Newark, will attend the athletic games that will be held by the Plainfield Bicycle Club on Nov. 14. One of them will contest in the races.

—John M. McGrath, proprietor of the Spring Lake Hotel, has presented a silver cup to be shot for at Somerset, on Thanksgiving Day, between members of the [illegible] club from this city and the Somerset Lyceum.

—The regular meetings of Miantonomo Tribe, No. 116, Improved Order of Red Men, will hereafter be held in Odd Fellows' Hall on Friday evenings, at eight o'clock. So says John Sylvester, Chief of Records.

—The members of Mizpah Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Ladies, of this city, will hold a grand bazaar and fair in Turner Hall, during the first week in December, of which due notice will be given later on.

—A beautiful American flag 10x20 feet in dimensions and containing forty-two stars, will be floated from a flag staff on the roof of the North Plainfield public school, as soon as the flag staff can be placed in position.

—People who have money to spend read THE PRESS, and only those of decidedly bad taste read any other daily. Consequently a patronage of these columns brings one hundred times the returns of an advertisement anywhere else.

—The storm on Saturday was the cause of disabling the telephone in the High school. It was reported that the instrument had been burned out and the woodwork set on fire by the crossing of wires, but Manager Runyon assures us that little or no damage was done.

—The shifting of freight cars at the freight depot in this city, is growing more and more dangerous each day. Scarcely a day passes that one or another of the numerous truckmen who frequent the freight yard, barely escapes with his life, in spite of the carefulness of the railroad [illegible] on the drill engine.

Electric Light in the Public Schools.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education, Monday evening, Secretary Wadsworth and Treasurer Murray were appointed a committee to secure an estimate for fitting the Irving school for the purposes of electric lighting.

Befriended in the Street.

Officer Flannagan found a poorly-clad woman drunk and leaning against a post on North avenue, about three o'clock on Saturday morning. The woman was young and good looking. She said she came from New York, and was without hat and shoes. She was provided with shelter for the night, and next morning she was given a hat and pair of shoes.

Two Photographic Exhibitions.

The Camera Club at a regular meeting, Monday evening, decided to hold another exhibition of their work, shortly after the Christmas holidays. The Club is also arranging for a public exhibition of microscopic photographs, of which Mr. James E. [illegible], of West Front street, owns a large and valuable collection. An effort is being made to persuade Dr. B. H. [illegible] to act as exhibitor.

The Latimer Will Contest.

The will of the late Sarah M. Latimer was admitted to probate at Elizabeth, Wednesday, and the immense estate is now in the hands of the executors, Messrs. W. H. [illegible], N. Runyon and J. F. MacDonald.

Messrs. J. F. Hubbard and E. R. Pope, yesterday, appraised the estate, which consists principally of stocks and bonds. The estate is estimated at about three-quarters of a million dollars.

Boy's Night School.

All former pupils of the public night school for boys, and any others desiring to enter the classes that will begin next Tuesday evening, are requested to be present at the High School building, tomorrow evening, from 7:30 till 9 o'clock, for the purpose of classification. They can then be assigned to their proper grades, and be already to commence study when the school opens.

The teachers selected are Miss Gilbert, Miss [illegible], Miss Dean, Miss Clark and Miss Frazee; and Mr. Townsend Rushmore will teach book-keeping again this year.

Next Thursday's Tournament.

It is hoped that the public will show their appreciation of the Bicycle Club and its interesting series of athletic contests, and as is advertised for the 14th by a large attendance at The Crescent, on that night.

Realizing that long distance events become tiresome as well to the spectator as to the contestant, the Club has made up a programme of short and interesting races, varied during the evening by an exhibition of fancy bicycle riding, as good as any ever given in the city, and by three three-minute bouts of a tug-of-war.

The management have gone to great expense in having ten gold and ten silver medals made for prizes, in addition to a handsome silver shaving mug and brush for the winner of the consolation race. These prizes are all on exhibition in L. W. Randolph's window, and seats can be secured of him or R. J. Shaw.

[illegible] Called Home.

A letter was received last Monday morning by Joseph F. Sheppard, of this city, bearing the sad intelligence of the death of his uncle in Phillipsburg, Dr. Joseph F. Sheppard. The Doctor was a native of Flemington and removed to Phillipsburg many years ago, building up a large practice. He was a candidate at the Warren County Democratic caucus a few days ago for Surrogate, but was defeated by Wm. O'Neil.

He then announced himself as an independent candidate and was making an active canvass when stricken down by death. It is thought that he over-exerted himself in the canvass. He had complained of a severe cold on Friday night, but was able to sit up until a late hour entertaining company. The next morning he was found dead in bed. Dr. Sheppard was a man of intelligence and of good standing in his community. Mr. Sheppard of this city is his namesake.

Personals.

Miss E. C. King, of West Second street, is visiting friends at Jersey City Heights.

Councilman and Mrs. F. B. Marsh of Madison avenue, arrived home Saturday.

Miss Edith Hickling of Brooklyn, is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. B. Brooks, of West Seventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Winter have returned from Europe and are at the New York House, New York city.

Mr. A. W. Stephen, of Brooklyn, N. Y., spent Sunday with relatives and friends in this city and North Plainfield.

Mr. Gifford Mayer and family, of Park avenue, have removed for the Winter to No. 153 West 44th street, New York city.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mowrey, aged 29 years, died at her home on East Front street, at four o'clock Friday, A. M., from pneumonia.

A soft pink light glows from the bright red electric lamp that Dr. M. B. Long has had placed outside his office door on Park avenue.

Mr Fred Lucas of Poughkeepsie, formerly connected with the establishment of Mr. E. Love, is in Plainfield visiting old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Samelson of Newburg, N. Y., visited their son in this city, Friday, on their way home from a trip to California.

Mr. D. F. Knight and family, of East Ninth street, have taken up their permanent residence at No. 115 Congress street, Boston, Mass.

Major A. D. Godown, of this city, left on Wednesday last for Montreal, Canada, where he has accepted a lucrative position for the Winter.

"Miss Susie C. Emerson, '89" of this city, says the Alfred University, "is studying music, vocal and instrumental, and elocution, in New York."

Rev. D. W. Morehouse of New York city, delivered an able and interesting discourse before the Unitarians of this city, Sunday morning.

Mrs. Alexander Snedeker, formerly of New Market, N. J., but now of Illinois, has been visiting her relatives in this vicinity for the past week.

Mrs. George R. Rockafellow and daughter, Miss Minnie, of West Front street, have gone to Elizabeth and Rahway to spend a week with relatives and friends.

Messrs R. Steile and L. L. Manning are back from Perry county, Pa., where they found sport much duller than usual. "Halse" stayed awhile longer, and will hunt further.

A necktie and apron surprise was tendered to Miss Emma Minch of Manning avenue, in the Borough, last Thursday. The guests met at the residence of Miss Kittie Ackerman.

Mr. T. Bond, of East Front street, is erecting a handsome dwelling house on the North corner of Front and Richmond streets. A new barn will also be erected on the premises.

Invitations have been issued for a reception to be tendered the friends of Dr. and Mrs. Henry H. Lowrie upon the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding, Saturday, Nov. 16.

Mr. Fred W. Yates, son of the Hon. Joseph W. Yates, is now a student at Yale College, but is yet undecided as to his ultimate profession. His home for the Winter is at 213 York street, New Haven, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Pearson, of Second place, and their sister Miss Annie Bunting, are traveling as far West as California, where, if the country and climate suit, they will make a permanent residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Manning announce the wedding of their daughter Margaret and John R. Drayton, to take place at the Crescent Avenue church, Wednesday evening, the 20th inst., at six o'clock.

The friends of Dr. C. M. Field and Mr. Frank P. Searles, will be glad to know that the ship "Reba," on which they sailed for Sydney, Australia, arrived at that place on Monday, making the voyage in one hundred days.

The funeral of the late John M. Jackson, who died at Trenton a few days ago, took place at No. 28 North avenue, on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. C. Schenck officiated and interment was made in the Methodist cemetery.

Miss Mamie French of West Front street, gave a Halloween party to her friends on Thursday evening. Dancing was the principle feature of the evening's festivities. The guests departed for their homes about 2 a. m.—good morning.

The members of the Hitormissit tennis club of North Plainfield, gave a fancy dress masquerade party at the residence of Miss Capitola Conover on Jackson avenue, on Thursday. About thirty young people enjoyed the dancing and supper which followed.

Miss Lillie Fritts and Miss Belle Butler, sailed from Europe for home, on October 30. They left Plainfield with Miss Bulkley, Miss Yates and the Misses Kirkner, on July 10. The younger of the Misses Kirkner was seriously ill in Berlin, but has now thoroughly recovered.

Mr. Ernest Marx, the expert photographer, of this city, has received a letter from the Education Commissioners of France, requesting him to donate his exhibit of photography now at the Paris Exposition, to the public schools of that city. Mr. Marx sent an affirmative response at once.

Mr. William Mattox is the efficient stage carpenter at Music Hall, who deserves and receives so much credit for the effect of his work at stage setting for the varied shows that come to Plainfield. Secretary Marsh, of the Board of Managers, made him a handsome present upon the close of the Equine Paradox engagement.

The funeral of the late Elizabeth Mowrey, who died at an early hour on Friday morning, took place from the deceased's late residence on East Front street, on Monday. The remains were taken to Little Washington, N. J., for burial, from which place Mr. and Mrs. Mowrey and five small children removed to Plainfield about a year ago.

Miss Ida Angleman, of this city, one of Miss Kimball's associates in the office here of the General Secretary of the C. L. S. C., has accepted the management of the Epworth League department of the Methodist Book concern in New York. The C. L. S. C., at their new office in Buffalo, will have much difficulty in filling Miss Angleman's place.

Mr. F. C. Knowland of this city, accompanied by Mr. C. O. Levison of Brooklyn, who holds the medal for accurate fly casting, and Mr. Chas. Rook also of Brooklyn, started for Lake Hopatcong on Monday, where they will complete the contract of clearing the lake of bass. Some excellent fish stories, embodying heroic escapes, etc., may be looked for upon their return.

At the home of the bride's parents on West Seventh street, the wedding took place at one o'clock, Saturday afternoon, of Miss Grace F. Randolph and George E. Rogers. The Rev. D. J. Yerkes officiated. Only the relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers left immediately after the ceremony, for Philadelphia. Upon their return they will reside in this city.

Charles Milligan, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Milligan, whose Summer residence is in Washington Valley, died of consumption at the residence of his wife's parents, 1,267 Fulton street, Brooklyn, N. Y., on Saturday last, after a lingering illness. Mr. Milligan was a promising young man and had many friends. His bereaved parents and family have the heartfelt sympathy of a host of friends in their bereavement.

A Word to the Wise.

Complaint is made by the merchants of this city against the milkmen from the surrounding country, who drive into town early in the day, and after supplying milk to their customers, leave their rigs hitched in front of the business places until nearly noon, so that other customers cannot drive up to the curb. Officer Lynch has been requested to ask these milkmen to "move on" and "tie up" in more secluded places.

Good Work Well Done.

Manager Charles Runyon of the Telephone office said Thursday that the extra force of men which have been substituting new and substantial poles for the ones recently in use here, expect to complete their work. In all about sixty new poles have been raised, and an entire new line has been built along South avenue from the Scott Press Works to Netherwood. Mr. Runyon has completed the work in less time than it was thought possible.

Through the Wilds of Pennsylvania.

The members of the Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein are already looking forward in happy anticipation to a trip through the wilds of Pennsylvania. The trip which is to be made early in the coming year, by the members of the Singing section of this city and the Aurora Society of New Brunswick, will occupy about one week. Messrs Geo. Bremer, Chas. Dressell and Henry Haurand have been appointed a Committee from the local society to arrange and carry out the details of the proposed trip.

Upset on the County Road.

Mr Chas. VanWinkle, the able assistant in Messrs Jackson & Codington's law offices, had a narrow escape from serious injury, a few evenings since. Mr. Van Winkle was returning from Westfield, where he had been serving subpoenaes. While passing along one of the county roads, now in course of construction, his buggy was upset and he was thrown out on the macadam pavement, sustaining slight injuries to one of his wrists.

Fortunately he prevented the animal from running away, and the only damage resulting to the buggy was a broken shaft.

NIGHT SCHOOLS.

The Plainfield public night schools will this Winter be entirely under the control of the Board of Education.

The Committee in charge of the details, consisting of Trustees Kirkner, Babcock and Hurlbut, have decided that the class for men will begin Tuesday evening, Nov. 12, and the class for women will begin Monday evening, Dec. 2. The men's classes will be held every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and the women's every Monday and Friday, in the High School Building. The teachers to be appointed from the regular ones, have not yet been selected.

A Contrast to Mr. Ackerman.

In another column is a reply to Mr. Ackerman's entirely prejudiced view of how a first voter should cast his ballot. The communication is written by a young man who voted for the first time at the late election. His letter is so conscientious and unbiassed that it is impossible to judge from it what party's candidate will be honored with this honest young man's maiden vote.

THE PRESS only knows, in this relation, that the writer's family is Republican through and through. His brother was for years the editor of one of the blackest Republican daily papers in the country, and the writer of the communication is naturally—and very justly, too—a great admirer of his brother.

Muzzled His Coon.

A Mr. Johnson, living near New Providence, this county, has a colored boy in his charge whose penchant for fresh milk he controls by a novel feature.

For quite a while Mr Johnson thought it strange that some of his cows did not give as much milk as they should under the good care they received. So he watched the cows one day and found that the little darkey—instead of toiling his sweet life away in the broiling sun among potatoe patches, or down in the corn field hard by—he would quench his thirst from the udders of the fairest Jerseys and Durhams, and fold his dark hands beneath his head under the old elm tree, and sleep the sunny day away.

Mr. Johnson came to Plainfield, bought a muzzle which being altered somewhat was made to fit the boy, and the little coon wears it now constantly, except while around the house.

ADDITIONAL MAIL FACILITIES.

Saturday began the labors of additional letter carrier recently allowed Postmaster Force, to do service within the below prescribed limits, which heretofore have been unable to enjoy the benefits of free delivery service in consequence of the distance from the postoffice. The bounds are from the county line and Grant avenue at Front street to Clinton avenue; through Clinton avenue to Sherman avenue; thence to Plainfield avenue; thence to Fourth street; thence to Clinton avenue, taking in all the territory lying within the limits above described.

The service will be performed by substitute carrier Edward T. Dunn, during the illness of carrier Solomon Flaig, who was originally assigned to the route. Mr. Dunn is a veteran of the long past civil war, having served as a brave soldier in the 15th N. J. Vols. Three new letter boxes will be located along the new route as soon as furnished. There will be two deliveries a day and two collections. The carrier will deliver mail matter with a horse and wagon. Substitute carrier John Neighbor has been promoted to carrier and assigned to the route formerly served by Mr. Flaig.

A Lecture That Realized Their Expectations.

The Somerset County Teachers' Association held a meeting at Somerville on Saturday. Although the weather was discouraging, a fair number were present, as a rare treat was in expectation. Prof. A. C. Apgar, teacher of Natural Science in the Normal School at Trenton, was to tell the teachers about "Our Enemies and Friends among Insects."

For two hours Prof. Apgar held the close attention of all those present, as he related how often through ignorance we hated and killed our best friends and admired and protected our enemies; that in all this world of destroying bugs, worms, locusts, mosquitoes, etc., there was always an antidote in some bug or worm that destroyed them, our enemies.

The greatest destruction came where an enemy was brought into a country and the corresponding friend left behind. As an illustration the apple crop of California is partially destroyed by the enemies, and the people are seeking far and wide to find friends to destroy the insects that are killing the trees. The two lectures were very interesting and valuable.

After intermission the Association convened at 1:30 and listened to a practical paper by Mr. T. E. [illegible], of North Plainfield, on "Music for Schools." At the close of the paper he conducted a short singing exercise, with the teachers present. Thus closed another very pleasant association for Somerset County.

A Difficulty Surmounted.

It is often very difficult to tell what kind of a laxative to give to a very young child who is suffering. The only medicine which is at the same time perfectly safe, effective and pleasant to take, is HAMBURG FIGS. 25c. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

Special Notice.

Will any who are willing to serve in a volunteer choir for Mr. Burdick's meetings which are to commence with a mass meeting at 4 P. M., next Sunday, please meet at Music Hall, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Hymeneal.

A quiet wedding took place on Monday afternoon at the Church of the Holy Cross. The Rector, the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, united in holy wedlock William Erickson VanNorden and Agnes Henrietta Smith, all of Brooklyn. Miss Smith formerly resided in Plainfield.

A Surprise Party

Was tendered to Miss Annie Collins at her home, corner of Third and New streets, last evening. Prof. Frazee furnished the music for dancing, which was indulged in by a large number of young people until an early hour this morning. The committee of arrangements consisted of Miss Nora Casey, Miss Annie Collins and Miss Maggie Casey. Supper was also served during the evening.

A Plainfielder Gets Six Years.

Charles C. Cleveland, a painter by trade, and a former resident of this city, was arrested at Asbury Park last July for an alleged attempted criminal assault upon little Lavinia Fowler, the ten-year-old daughter of Mr. Geo. Fowler, of that city. Cleveland was indicted by the Monmouth County Grand Jury at the September term of Court.

Last week he was tried, convicted, and sentenced to six years in State Prison.

By the Holy Cross Choir.

There was a large gathering in the school room of the Church of the Holy Cross, Thursday, and all were much pleased with the entertainment presented by the Choir under the auspices of the Guild for the benefit of the organ fund.

Want of space alone prevents an extended a notice of the programme as it deserves. The tableaux were especially fine; Mr. George Taggart's "Original Eccentricity" was encored; Mr. C. F. Dencklau, Jr's solo was very pleasing, and the instrumental performances of Messrs W. E. MacClymont, Edward Hasselman and Joseph Battels were good.

Dumped in the Mud in Their Party Clothes.

The servants of Mrs. E. J. Waring of Washington Park, gave a party and dance in which a number of their colored friends took part, Thursday, in the spacious laundry of Mrs. Waring's residence.

Four of the youngest and most popular of the belles were returning just before midnight packed in a carriage together while their escorts walked. Turning a corner too suddenly they were all upset and dragged through the mud. One gown of blue velvet and yellow satin was entirely ruined, and the dresses of the other young women were also much damaged. No lives were lost.

Married by Friends' Ceremony.

At the residence of the bride No. 168 East Second street, at four o'clock Thursday afternoon, occurred the marriage of Mr. John D. Furnas of Waynesville, Ohio, and Miss Ella D., youngest daughter of Mrs. Sarah Clifton of this city. The ceremony was according to the prescribed rites of the Society of Friends, and was performed by the bride and groom themselves, in the presence of a number of witnesses including the members of the immediate families and a few near friends of the bride. The usual hand-shaking followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Furnas will remain in this city for an indefinite period, after which they will permanently locate in Ohio. The bride is a sister of Mr. Chas. B. Clifton of this city.

The "Bachelors'" Halloween.

Thursday at their rooms, the Bachelors Club entertained and banquetted about forty members and friends. A bountiful repast was served at ten o'clock by the club's caterer, and after toasts and speeches segars were served and the party adjourned to the parlors of the club and passed the hours in pleasant conversation, story telling and singing.

The company is still awaiting the "Story that was not told." It was rumored that a West Front street real estate speculator knew and could recite "Casey at the Bat," but he was unable to prove the rumor true and it was said his brother had something to do with his failure to respond.

After congratulations and many good wishes for the club's welfare, the party dispersed in the "wee sma'" hours well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Will Destroy His Sight.

Geo Smith, aged 18 years, of North Plainfield, a young man who is learning the sash and blind trade at Spicer & Hubbard's planing mill, met with an accident while at work Thursday afternoon which will probably deprive him permanently of the use of his right eye.

The young man was working with a large chisel when in some unexplained manner the chisel flew up, the keen edge striking and cutting through the ball of the eye. The patient was taken to Reynolds' drug store where he fell unconscious on the floor. Later he was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, where the entire hospital staff labored in the hope of saving the boy's sight.

The patient was subsequently taken to his home in North Plainfield, and today his condition is reported as little improved.

Accident at the Electric Light Station.

At 10:05 o'clock Friday night an accident at the Electric Light station on Madison avenue caused by blowing out a cylinder head resulted in extinguishing all the electric lights in the city. The accident was due to the carelessness on the part of a green fireman, who had only been in the company's employ for about a month past. The fireman turned the water into the boiler, and evidently neglected his duty, for the water overflowed into the engine, thus blowing out a cylinder head. Consternation prevailed about the station, until Manager Moore arrived on the spot, when he and the engineer restored everything to its normal condition. The accident caused a delay of about ten minutes only.

About midnight the fireman mysteriously left the station, and has not yet returned.

The Novel Fair the Crescent Avenue Presbyterians are Arranging.

The new chapel and Sunday school rooms that are being added to the Crescent Avenue church, have now got the roof on and their first coat of paint. It is intended to hold within these new walls a Household Bazaar during the afternoons and evenings of December 12, 13 and 14, that is to eclipse in novelty and financial results all previous efforts.

The booths will be designated, supplied and furnished as near as possible in accordance with each day of the week. Monday, wash day; Wednesday, sewing day; Friday, visiting day with five o'clock tea, etc. Miss Kate Martine will be chairman of Monday's Committee, the Choir will have charge of Tuesday's booth, and Mrs. VanNest Talmadge, Mrs. Charles Wadsworth, Mrs. Charles Hunter and Mrs. H. B. Newhall will preside over the corps of fair women who will serve for the other days of the week respectively. Mrs I. C. Pearson, will be chairman of the Refreshment Committee.

[illegible]

DR. FLINT'S REMEDY, in catalepsy and epilepsy, at once causes the spasms to vanish, and when taken as directed, prevents the recurrence of others. Descriptive treatise with each bottle; or address Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

A Wedding of Friends.

As announced in THE PRESS some days ago, the wedding of the daughter of the late ex-Councilman William Taylor will take place in the North Meeting house, corner of Sixth and Noble streets, Philadelphia, Tuesday morning of next week, at ten o'clock. The steel engraved invitations read as follows:

SALLIE J. TAYLOR requests your presence at the marriage of her daughter,
BERTHA,
to
CLEMENT BIDDLE WEBSTER.
Third day morning, Eleventh month twelfth.

Miss Taylor is now at the home of her grandfather in Philadelphia. After the wedding a reception will be held at the bride's uncle's, 130 North Eighteenth street, from one to three o'clock.

CHEAP ENOUGH.

The Court Deals Gently With Newell.

Judge Stillman, on Thursday, fined Patrick Newell, of West Third street, who was convicted day before of keeping a disorderly house, $25 without costs. Annie Newell, also convicted of the same charge, was discharged.

So light a penalty is satisfactory only to the convicted. There are scores of illicit rum holes and disorderly houses all about the city, that Chief Carey is endeavoring to break up. But such small penalties will only encourage more.

If Newell was guilty, and the jury so found, he should have been fined $100. And if it was right to convict his wife also, she should have been punished as well.

But then, again, if the Court had made the penalty greater, the convicted would have appealed the case and paid nothing. Twenty-five dollars for a six-months' license, is cheap enough.

Can the Court of Errors Rule Two Ways?

A peculiar state of the Frazee Lee will case is that Chancellor McGill, as published exclusively in THE PRESS the day his decision was rendered, would admit the will to probate, and thus secure to the church $80,000 of Frazee Lee's personal property, unless his decision is overturned by the Court of Errors, to which an appeal has been taken.

But the judgment of the jury at Elizabeth, Wednesday, was that the testator was incapable of making a will and did not know what he was doing. An appeal has been taken on that also to the Court of Errors.

Now is it possible for the court to pursue the apparently contradictory course of sustaining both the judgment of the jury in giving $120,000 worth of real estate to the contestants, and the decision of Chancellor McGill giving the $80,000 of personal property to the church?

Little Christian Helpers.

The "Earnest Workers," a class of twenty-four little ones of Trinity Reformed church, gave an entertainment and parlor sale at their teacher's home, 59 East Fifth street, during Tuesday evening and Thursday afternoon of last week.

The programme consisted of charades, songs, recitations and tableaux in which latter Annie Slater, Nellie Arnold, Sadie Addis, Jennie Smith, Josie Banks and Carrie Smith, took part. The entire affair was a success in every way.

The aim of the class has been to raise money enough for a share, which is $10, in the church debt, and hereby to get one of the certificates given for each payment of that amount. By the entertainment described above, not only was money raised sufficient for, the purpose mentioned, but there was a surplus over which will be given to the Sunday-school. The class wish to thank all the kind friends who helped them.

Entered Into Rest.

Monday night of last week, between 9 and 10 o'clock, Helen Alice Nitsch (Catherine Owen), went quietly and peacefully to sleep in death, her frail body and brave spirit worn out by sufferings both physical and mental.

Her warm sympathy, the kindly interest and helpfulness she was always ready to extend to others, no matter how racked by pain was the slight frame which held her bright courageous spirit, endeared her to many friends who have brightened the last hours of her painful illness by their loving ministrations. Even death itself had no power to chill the love in the hearts of her friends. They gathered close around and with reverent hands adorned and beautified the room in which lay the mortal remains of her they delighted to honor.

Brave, loving, self-sacrificing mother! energetic woman! thoughtful, helpful friend! God grant to you the rest and peace you have never known here.

Of the long line of carriages which followed Mrs. Nitsch's body to its last home, not one was hired. Those of her friends who were deterred from going themselves, sent their carriages for the benefit of those who had none of their own.

The following gentlemen, at their own request, acted as pall-bearers: James McGee, Charles W. Cass, Henry McGee, Augustus Vandeventer, Chas. E. Horne, Edward Waring, John L. Anderson, David L. Thompson.

Frazee Lee's Will Not Yet Admitted to Probate.

Considerable misapprehension seems to be felt as to the effect of the verdict of the jury in the Frazee Lee will case. The egregiously incorrect statements published in most papers, and the wild accounts in all of what has happened, call upon THE PRESS to set people straight. The true facts are these:

The case decided at Elizabeth Wednesday, was brought to recover the farm on which Frazee Lee lived, consisting of about sixty acres of land. The right to bring such a suit is based upon the fact that the probate of a will is not conclusive evidence of its validity until the lapse of seven years from the date of probate, after which it may not be questioned. But the order of the Chancellor admitting the will of Frazee Lee to probate has been appealed from, and therefore the will is not yet admitted to probate, and if the Court of Errors and Appeals should reverse the decision of the Chancellor, the result will be that the will will be absolutely void. Should his decision be sustained, however, the will will be admitted to probate and the Church will be entitled to the personal property devised by it, out of which the legacies must be first paid, and all the costs and allowances incident to the suit.

The verdict of the jury, however, does affect the whole of the real estate of which Frazee Lee died seized, for the reason that the verdict of a jury, in one suit between parties, is conclusive in any other suit involving the same questions, between the same parties. An appeal in the ejectment suit would be upon questions of law arising in the case, and if the Court of Errors should hold that the law, as stated by the trial judge was correct, the verdict will be sustained. If it should be held otherwise, the result would merely be a new trial.

A formal suit will have to be instituted by the heirs to recover all the other lands, but the verdict in the present case will control that as well. No proceedings for appealing the case have as yet been taken, but it is probable that they will be instituted very soon.

—At the Borough Council meeting on Friday, serious charges were preferred against certain borough officials, which, if investigated, and found to be true, will in all probability summarily "bounce" the alleged offenders.

The Frazee Lee Ejectment Suit.

The jury in the suit brought by the heirs of Frazee Lee to recover the homestead farm of which he died seized, which has been on trial in the Union Circuit Court at Elizabeth for the past fourteen days, after being out five hours, at 4.30 o'clock afternoon of Oct. 30, returned a verdict for the plaintiffs, notwithstanding Judge VanSyckel charged them strongly in favor of the defendants, and Chancellor McGill had previously made a decree in favor of the will, leaving the property to the Scotch Plains Baptist church. A strong feeling has prevailed all along against the provisions of the will cutting off the relatives and leaving so much to a little village church.

Ex-Chancellor Runyon will at once give notice of application for a new trial on the ground that the verdict was contrary to the weight of evidence in the case, which application will in a few days be argued before Judge VanSyckel. This verdict does not affect the decree of Chancellor McGill giving the personal property to the church, but if not set aside by the Court will give the 40 acres at Two Bridges to the heirs. Other suits—perhaps separate ones—for the 20 odd other pieces of real estate, will likely be brought by the heirs.

Items of Interest to Our Readers in the Valley.

Mr. Francis Bartells has received the contract to paint the two large bridges recently built near Scotch Plains.

Mrs. John Madden of Chicago, is making a visit among her former schoolmates and friends in the Valley. She is at present visiting Mrs. Harrison Coddington.

While Edward Sage was grooming a young horse recently the latter suddenly bit him in the face. Fortunately the wound was not serious, though somewhat painful.

The wedding bells will soon be chiming again in Washingtonville. The happy couple who are this time candidates for matrimonial honors are Mr. Wm. James and Miss Amy Deal.

Mr. George Stewart of Elizabeth, recently purchased a fine piece of property from Mr. Wm. F. Spencer, on which he contemplates building a handsome residence. Mr. Daniel Acker has the contract to complete the building before Spring.

Mrs. Thomas Stead, who is hale and hearty, and who has lived in the country for nearly ninety-four years, is now thinking of removing to the city, as she is under the impression that she would live longer in the latter place, the country being too quiet for her.

A New Printing Machine.

(From the Inland Printer.)

The printing press works of Walter Scott & Co., at Plainfield, N. J., contain many new and useful things in their line, and our representative, who visited the works a short time since, noted especially a flat bed perfecting press, which we deem worthy of mention in our columns. The press is made to be fed either by hand, as usual on any cylinder press, or from a roll of paper, at will, delivering the sheets in front, printed on one or both sides (if on one side, printed side up), by means of a new front delivery. The sheet-cutting device is arranged to cut from the web any length of sheet from 19 to 36 inches, and any width up to 52 inches. The inking apparatus, which is double, is made with table distribution, four form rollers with vibrators and riders. The forms and rollers are easily accessible from both sides and both ends. The delivery is without the usual complication of tapes, delivering the sheets by means of a gripper bar traveling in a horizontal plane, and making one revolution to each sheet delivered. It is very simple in construction, and delivers the sheets in perfect order, as if cut on the edges by a cutting machine, at a speed of 1,640 per hour. The machine is substantially constructed, has all the modern improvements, including register racks, trip of impression cylinders, geared sliders, improved roller frames, and will weigh about 15 tons. The machine is provided with an automatic arrangement to prevent "off set."

This machine is specially designed for bookwork or illustrated magazines, and can have a folder attached without interference in any way with the fly. The impression cylinders are both accessible on top, which will greatly facilitate making ready, overlaying, etc., on illustrated work.

They are also constructing a similar press with two form rollers, which will run at a speed of 2,400 per hour, delivering the papers folded or flat. It also has the "off-set" arrangement and will do as good work as any two-roller press.

Read What Watson & Co., the Celebrated Newark Clothiers, Have to Say About OVERCOATS.

When you start to buy an Overcoat take plenty of time to see what different firms can show you, as haste in buying may cause future regrets, and often 20 or 30 per cent can be saved by being well posted before you buy.

WATSON & CO. make a specialty of fine Overcoats, and get up the handsomest garments for their fine city trade that can be produced, and carry a stock large enough to give a perfect fit to every customer.

This season they are having a great demand for SMOOTH-FACED KERSEYS, in solid colors, and the new bronze shades. They make a very handsome and genteel garment as Watson & Co. get them up, with flat folded facings and all custom extras.

SOFT KNOT CHINCHILLAS AND ROUGH FUR BEAVERS

are also very popular, and sell from $12 to $18, the same as the Kerseys, but blue is the favorite color in these goods.

Shop all around, get posted on styles and prices, but don't let any salesman talk you into buying an overcoat until you see the matchless stock that are now finishing daily, each garment cut by hand, the same as if made to your special order.

WATSON & CO.

BOY'S OVERCOATS, ULSTERS AND STORM COATS

are now ready at twenty per cent below usual rates, and their Suit and Pantaloon department are fully stocked with all the choice patterns you see in merchant tailors' windows. $12 will buy you a handsome SILK MIXED SUIT, and for $5 you can take your pick of a thousand styles of handsome cassimere Pantaloons.

Remember that their only place of business is NO. 795 BROAD STREET, EX*TENDING THROUGH TO NOS.* 186 and 188 MARKET STREET, and that it will pay you to see the handsome garments that GEO. WATSON & CO. finish daily if you wish to improve your dress appearance, and get the very low*est prices*, with the LARGEST STOCK IN THE CITY to choose from. So take plenty of time to get posted before you spend your money for an Overcoat, as many new styles are out this Fall.—Newark Press.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, members of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

CLEVELAND BROTHERS, ALBANY, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, New York.

Rheumatism,

BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:—

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. R. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th st., New York.

"One year ago I was taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."—Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

A $20 A Day Man!

A VOICE from Ohio. Here is a portrait of Mr. Garrison, of Salem, Ohio. He writes: "Was at work on a farm for $20 a month; I now have an agency for E. C. Allen & Co's albums and publications and often make $20 a day." (Signed) W. H. GARRISON.

William Kline, Harrisburg, Pa., writes: "I have never known anything to sell like your album. Yesterday I took orders enough to pay me over $25." W. J. [illegible], Bangor, Me., writes: "I take an order for your album at almost every house I visit. My profit is often as much as $20 for a single day's work." Others are doing quite as well; we have not space to give extracts from their letters. Every one who takes hold of this grand business piles up grand profits.

Shall we start YOU in this business, reader? [illegible] 125,000 ten dollar Photograph Albums [illegible] Family Bibles, Books and Periodicals. After you know all, should you conclude to go no further, why no harm is done.

Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., AUGUSTA, MAINE.

2-5-1y

CARNEY BROS.,

11 SOMERSET ST.

TINNERS,

PLUMBERS,

GAS FITTERS.

PARLOR STOVES,

COOK STOVES,

HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.

Tinware Made to Order.

Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces.

SANITARY PLUMBING.

HOW CAN THE LONG

BE THE SHORT

?

A line may be a very long one and yet be the shortest between given points. For instance, the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has over 3,000 miles of road; magnificently equipped and managed, it is one of the greatest railway systems of this country; for the same reasons it is the traveler's favorite to all points in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana. It is the only line to Great Falls, the future manufacturing center of the Northwest; to the fertile free lands of the Milk River Valley; and offers a choice of three routes to the Coast. Still it is the shortest line between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Fargo, Winnepeg, Crookston, Moorhead, Casselton, Grafton, Fergus Falls, Wahpeton, Devils Lake, and Butte City. It is the best route to Alaska, China and Japan; and the journey to the Pacific coast Vancouver, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco will be remembered as the delight of a life-time once made through the wonderful scenery of the Manitoba-Pacific route. To fish and hunt; to view the magnificence of nature; to revive the spirit; restore the body; to realize the dream of the home seeker, the gold-seeker, the toiler, or the capitalist, visit the country reached by the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway. Write to F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A., St. Paul, Minn., for maps, books and guides. If you want a free farm in a lovely land, write for the "Great Reservation," read it and resolve to accept the golden

HAND OF FORTUNE!

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

PECK'S CORNER.

How are You Fixed for WINTER?

IN THE WAY OF

Hosiery & Underwear.

Come to Peck's.

CLOTHING!

Our Election Offer was taken advantage of by over 5,000 people in this and neighboring States. As soon as the official vote has been declared we will announce the fortunate guesser in these columns. In the meantime our bid for the patronage of the people in and around this section of the country is such that it cannot fail to attract the intelligent buyers of Clothing. What is it? Well, in brief, it embraces every inducement offered to the customer that can possibly be offered by any clothing house in the country. Our daily and constant aim is to improve the character of our stock.

We deal liberally and squarely with all of our patrons, allowing none to leave our store unsatisfied if we know it. We show an assortment of goods that cannot be equalled by any store in town. Our styles are our own and they are as near perfection as time, money and the best artistic skill can produce. Our prices are low for the character of goods we offer, which as a rule, are a little better than can be found elsewhere. These, and many other reasons which space forbids us to mention at the present time, are what have led many hundreds of our fellow townspeople to award us the contract for clothing them.

The large number of people we clothe enable us to lessen considerably the cost of the article we sell to the individual consumer. We shall be glad to have you call and examine what we offer for the present season and compare our bid for your patronage with that of others, confident that the superiority of our goods and our methods will be so apparent to you that you will become an immediate and permanent patrons of our firm.

McGregor &Co., 850 and 852 Broad St NEWARK, N. J.

A. VANDERBEEK,

(CHAUTAUQUA BUILDING.)

NO. 33 PARK AVENUE, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

HAVING DISPOSED OF THE MUSICAL AND SPORTING Goods Department I am now prepared to devote my entire time to the sale and renting o

—PIANOS AND ORGANS—

Having many years of experience in the Piano Trade I am prepared to furnish first-class Instruments as reasonable as they can be had in New York city. Pianos tune. Give me a call before purchasing

PRICE LIST OF THE

EMPIRE STEAM CARPET CLEANING

Feather and Mattress Renovating Works,

Office and Works, 32 East Front Street.

HUGO WEIGMANN, Prop.

Ingrain and 3-Ply,	3c. per yd.		Feather Pillows,	50c. per pair
Tapestry and Brussels,	4c. "		Feather Bolsters,	50c. each
Wilton, Velvet, Moquette and Axminster,	5c. "		Large Feather Bed,	$1.50 each
			Hair steamed and picked,	5c. per lb

GUNNERS' SUPPLIES!

The "Club" Shell Loaded by the U. M. C. Co.

—LOOK AT THE PRICES:—

10 ga. 4 or 4 1-4 drs Powder, $1.85 pr 100
12 " 3, 3 1-4 or 3 1-2 " " $1.75 " "

American Wood, Schultze and Dead-shot Powder Shells Loaded to Order.

Guns of all Grades and Sizes.

Look at Our $1.00 Hunting Coat.

A. M. Vanderbeek & Co.,

33 PARK AVENUE,

Chautauqua Building, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

ODORLESS EXCAVATOR
CESSPOOLS VAULTS

John Brown,

(Successor to John Burke.)

Cesspools, Vaults, Etc., Etc.,

CLEANED.

Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at CARNEY BROS., No. 11 Somerset-street, or addressed to P. O. Box 718, will receive prompt attention.

FACTS ABOUT RUGS.

Where and How the Best and Costliest Are Made.

According to a Chicago Importer [illegible] Are Being Discarded by Wealthy People for Oriental Rugs—[illegible].

"It is only a question of time," said one of Chicago's most extensive importers to a Times reporter, "when carpets will be discarded by all people of means and their place taken by rugs. Rugs combine the combination of elegance and durability to so much greater an extent than carpets," he continued, "that they recommend themselves to all who have money to buy handsome and desirable appointments. A good rug not only lasts for generations, but is always far more artistic and effective on the floor, but it can at any time be gathered up, carried out of doors, and shaken. A carpet, however fine, wears out in a few years at most. When it is once stretched on the floor it must lay there until the [illegible] of each dread house-cleaning epoch.

"Rugs in the greatest demand are, of course, the oriental, made chiefly in Turkey or Russia. They are [illegible] woven. The [illegible] of rug-making is an important industry in those countries, is followed by both men and women. Certain patterns and designs have been handed down in families from parent to child from a time back of reckoning. The [illegible] of the rug is due in great measure to the dyeing of the material from which it is manufactured. No destroying [illegible] are used in the preparation of the [illegible], coloring substances being all vegetable. To use aniline dyes is, in Persia, a criminal offense, and a man or woman [illegible] for this crime with as little compunction as if guilty of atrocious murder.

"Rugs take their trade names from the province in which they are made. There's the Afghan, [illegible], [illegible] and the Mirzapore, which, by the way, is made of a sea fiber, so soft and pliable and closely resembling wool that [illegible] an expert can detect the difference. It is almost indestructible, and wear [illegible] a stone [illegible]. There are the Kurdish, Persian, [illegible], [illegible] and Cabul, all valuable rugs, with a [illegible] place in the market. The [illegible] is a low-priced rug, but it is now very scarce.

"There are excellent rugs of American manufacture, made in imitation of the Oriental, but they do not possess the wearing qualities of the latter, which are dyed with vegetable coloring and hand-[illegible]. [illegible] rugs range in price from [illegible] to $1,500. They are used not only for the floor, but also for divans and [illegible] and hangings. Very fine and [illegible] are now placed in [illegible] frames and hung the same as pictures.

"The silk 'Afghan' is a particularly handsome rug. It is not made of silk, but of the finest wool, possessing the gloss of silk. It will last for generations, and the longer it is used the more beautiful it becomes. The peculiar sheen of the much-sought [illegible] rug is the result of long usage. The [illegible] who are engaged in the rug [illegible] are always on the lookout for some Moslem who has become sufficiently degenerate or impoverished to commit the sacrilege of selling his prayer rug to the unbeliever. Prayer rugs find their way [illegible] means, too, out of the mosques into the hands of the dealers.

"Only long experience in handling rugs enables a person to judge of their value and decide where they are made. [illegible] against imposition and deception in the rug trade than the use of judgment. Unlike carpet manufacturers, oriental rug makers are [illegible]. The workers of the East manufacture the rugs in their own homes, either according [illegible]. [illegible] Newly made and inferior rugs [illegible] sold to the inexperienced purchaser [illegible] and of great value.

"The genuine oriental rug, [illegible] usage has imparted the [illegible] that only comes by age and service, commands a high price. It is [illegible]. It is impossible to find one of a wide width. None but narrow rugs come from the [illegible] looms. The people of the Orient laid them only in the center of the apartment. Upon either side [illegible] narrower rugs, similar in [illegible] to our stair strips. At the head of the room always sat the host. The guests were seated down the length of the middle rug. At the foot the servants [illegible] waiting for orders. When serving the guests they passed up and down both of them on the narrow rugs. [illegible] The one [illegible] ground down by the feet of the servants who patiently awaited the commands of the master.

"Those who are replacing carpets by rugs are storing up a legacy for their [illegible] of the fourth and fifth generation and far beyond that. There are rugs in existence that were woven in the far East a thousand years ago. The modern [illegible] manufactured in the same manner as [illegible] with those in texture, pattern and coloring, with the exception that the [illegible] some ancient specimens have been [illegible] as wonderful softness of tint as the [illegible] have passed them by. A thousand or [illegible] or even 1,500 years from now the [illegible] United States may have place in the [illegible] of the land or be [illegible] descendants of their present [illegible] will proudly reckon a long line of [illegible] American ancestry."

FASHION'S FAVORS.

[illegible] of the Season that Will [illegible] Women Folk.

The sealskin cloak is still the [illegible] of elegance in winter [illegible] garments, and this season there are [illegible] new features which especially [illegible] to the shopper who seeks comfort [illegible] protection from wintry blasts, combined with rich and handsome appearance.

All sealskin garments are [illegible] to follow the lines of the figure [illegible] are not tight-fitting.

Liberty's silks are firmer than India silks, more like India pongee, and [illegible] effectively with lace or velvet.

The Directoire [illegible] are [illegible] this season for misses and children, but the Empire fashions still remain in high favor.

[illegible] of sealskin are in [illegible] lengthened casque, reaching [illegible] four or six inches of the floor.

[illegible]

The better class of sealskin garments [illegible].

Bands of velvet, straight at the [illegible].

The notched or coat collar [illegible].

[illegible]

The accepted high collar [illegible].

Tortoise-shell combs are now made [illegible].

[illegible]

Sealskin jackets are [illegible].

The new fans are somewhat smaller [illegible].

A few sealskin wraps are shown [illegible].

The large lace aprons [illegible].

The number of long slender pins [illegible].

A new idea is to attach the fans [illegible].

The seal sleighing cape is a [illegible] which will diminish that favor with those for whom it is intended. It is a shoulder cape with the addition of a broad collar of Persiana or other contrasting fur, which is carried across the back of the neck and tapers thence to the lower edge of the cape. The fur of the cape proper is extended to form the lining of the collar, which may be turned up and fastened by a single loop in front, forming a perfect protection for the back of the head and the ears—a fact which every one fond of sleighing will appreciate—and at the same time producing a jaunty and becoming effect.

Party dresses for little girls are made of Liberty's silks in [illegible].

Many plaid [illegible] for misses and children are cut entirely on the bias, with pleasing effect.

Dress skirts for misses just in their teens should extend to within two inches of the boot tops.

A charming novelty in sealskin garments is an open roll jacket, twenty-four to twenty-six inches in length, which is worn over a vest of the same or a contrasting fur. The jacket [illegible] has a rolling collar, which is extended to the lower edge of the garment in front, somewhat in the fashion of a gentleman's light overcoat, and is faced with Persiana or other fur. The sleeves are finished with cuffs of the trimming fur. The jacket is provided with a single loop and olive, and when extra protection is required it may be drawn together and fastened, completely changing the effect, the result being a cutaway jacket with roll collar.

A jaunty article of headgear, of Parisian origin, shown at a recent opening in Boston was a cap of black velvet, with large, soft, puffed crown, and [illegible] turban-like brim, the latter caught to a point at the left side, the crown drooping over the front somewhat after the manner of a Tam o' Shanter. A band of brilliant jet and dagger-like ornaments completed this really effective bit of millinery.

Nature's Scent of Flowers.

The modest looking mignonette flower, as is well known, is one of the most deliciously fragrant, with a fragrance of that class that is not overpowering, and that few can be found to object to. The same is true of the sweet briar, lemon verbena and its class. With the old white lily, lily of the valley and Cape jasmine, this is not so. The scent of either of these readily becomes [illegible], and, in some cases, causes sickness, but the [illegible] probably rarely. It may not be known of the three former that the fragrance is so persistent and continuous that a [illegible] plucked and put in the pocket with a handkerchief, or among the clothes, like the lavender of our grandmother's days, will leave a pleasant fragrance for many days. The next time you pass a bed of mignonette, try it. Pluck half a dozen heads and put in the pocket [illegible] the handkerchief, and our word for it, the delightful scent will be there for some time.

TIPS ON VARIOUS TOPICS.

In order to make the quick time that the [illegible] steamers are now making across the Atlantic four hundred tons of coal per day are required.

There are now four medical colleges for women in the United States. They are located at Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Few people know that the Government issues a stamp of the denomination of sixty dollars. Such stamps are used on second-class mail matter and are rarely seen by the general public.

The "[illegible]" were a sect professing to adhere to the letter of the Gospel, about three hundred and ten, who refused to work, quoting this passage: "Labor not for the food that perisheth."

The highest structure of masonry in the world is the National Museum recently completed at Turin. The gilt statue on the top of the spire stands five hundred and thirty-eight feet from the ground.

Next to England [illegible] Holland is the greatest colonial power in the world. The Dutch colonies have an area of nearly eight hundred thousand square miles, which includes some of the finest [illegible] in the world.

The salaries of British governors are very high. New Zealand pays £7,500 a year; Bermuda, [illegible]; Jamaica, [illegible]; [illegible], and British Guiana, [illegible]. The entire [illegible] revenue is only [illegible]. There is only a handful of whites there.

The popular down-East Yankee pronunciation, according to a writer in Notes and Queries, must have come from Essex. The same twang is observed in the speech there as in New England, such words as [illegible] being pronounced [illegible], with a double a.

A simple bow is all the courtesy required after an introduction. Shaking hands is optional, and it should rest with the older or superior in social standing to make the advance. It is quite customary nowadays to say at such times: "Happy to meet you!" in which case the usual reply is: "It gives me equal pleasure."

A. N. [illegible], of Georgia, while a member of Congress in [illegible], originated the phrase "too thin," according to the Pittsburgh Dispatch. "Mr. Speaker," he said, "the gentleman's arguments are [illegible] made up of [illegible] cloth. And cloth, sir, so [illegible] that it will not hold water. It is entirely too thin, sir."

Columbus was twice married. His first wife was Felipa, the daughter of [illegible], an Italian cavalier. [illegible] Beatrice Enriquez, by whom he had a son, Ferdinand, born in 1487, who became the biographer of his father. Diego Columbus was his son by his first marriage, and Bartholomew Columbus was the elder brother of the discoverer of America.

During times of peace all vacancies in the line officers of the navy are filled by graduates of Annapolis, [illegible]. In the army, however, citizens may be appointed to the grade of Second Lieutenant without preliminary training at West Point, but not to any of the higher ranks. As in the former case, privates may rise from the ranks in war time and attain the high grades.

Thomas Willett was the first mayor of New York, being appointed to that position in June, [illegible], in accordance with an arrangement previously made for a municipal government under English laws. [illegible] Dutch. Willett proved very popular. He [illegible] terms—from [illegible] to 1666 and [illegible], and was succeeded, at the expiration of his first term, by Thomas Delavall, who was elected to the office three times between the years [illegible] and 1673.

General Anthony Wayne was nicknamed "Mad Anthony" because of his fearless courage and dash [illegible]. One of the most brilliant achievements of the revolutionary war was Wayne's capture of Stony Point on the night of July 15, 1779. He was by birth a Pennsylvanian; Easttown, Chester County, claiming the honor. According to his request, he was buried under the flagstaff of Fort Presque Isle (now Erie, Pa.). In 1809 his body was removed to Radnor churchyard, Delaware County, Pa., and over it, in the same year, the Pennsylvania Society of the Cincinnati erected a marble monument with suitable inscriptions.

IN SPORTIVE SPIRIT.

There is unconscious humor in the remark of a Berlin correspondent that "the Czar of Russia is rather [illegible]."

[illegible]

"In what light," asked the teacher, "did the Emperor Nero regard the Christians at Rome?" And the smart bad boy thought it was a torch-light.

Wife—"Am I, dear, never to have my own way?" Husband—"Certainly, my dovey; when we are both agreed you can have your way, and when we differ I'll have mine."

Mary—"[illegible] I'm very poor, mum, but in me day I've broken a great many hearts." Mistress—"Well, Mary, if you handled hearts the way you do my best china, I believe you."

Police Judge—"State how the trouble originated." Accused—"It was bein' a [illegible], and I said I had the floor, and he called me a liar." Judge—"What followed?" Accused—"[illegible] were arrested we both had the floor."

"Raise your right hand," said the judge. "Do you solemnly swear to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so—" "Hold on, Judge," interrupted the witness, "can't you make that somewhat less of a [illegible]? You know I've been in politics for a good long while."

"I love you, Emeline, with all the fervor of my soul," he said. "Yes, George," she [illegible], "I know it, and yet I wish that you told me of your love in some other terms. [illegible] too many times, and I so wish something to [illegible] something."

[illegible]

A [illegible]

A FUND OF INFORMATION.

There are in the United States 30,000 Indians enrolled as church members.

Postal-cards were first used here in 1873. Now there are [illegible] per year used.

The word "[illegible]" is derived from an old French word "[illegible]"—to tie together.

Lotteries are said to have originated in Florence about 1530, and to have been legalized in France in 1539.

There are four statues to Christopher Columbus in the United States—one in Baltimore, one in New York, one in Boston and one in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia.

London was first lighted in 1414 with private lanterns. In 1736 they were increased from 1,000 to 5,000. In 1744 the first Lighting Act passed. In 1820 gas was generally substituted for oil.

Gunpowder was used by the Chinese in the year 80 of the Christian era, but they have left no record of the name of the original discoverer. Berthold Schwartz, a monk, is generally credited with discovering the process of granulating this explosive, in 1320. A great deal of doubt exists concerning the origin of gunpowder, but the above are the commonly-accepted data.

The phrase "getting into a scrape" probably came down to us from the days when England was still full of forests, and the deer running wild in the woods cut sharp gullies between the trees, called "deer scrapes," which it was easier to fall into than to climb out of. Another suggested derivation takes the phrase from the driving of a ball at the game of golf into a rabbit burrow or "scrape."

Eliot's translation of the Bible into the Indian tongue, issued in 1663, was the first publication of the Scriptures in America. The first literary work produced in America was a translation into English of Ovid's "Metamorphoses," by George Sandys, Treasurer of Virginia, in 1624, and published with illustrations in London in 1626. Mrs. Anne Bradstreet, a daughter of Governor Dudley, of Massachusetts, published in 1640 a volume of poems, the first original work issued in New England.

There is no positive knowledge regarding the origin of the American Indian, because their own traditions vary widely, and the researches made into the matter have not proved as satisfactory as could be wished, a great deal depending on conjecture. One of the most plausible theories is that they originated with two great Asiatic races; the more northern tribes on our continent from the Tartar Mongolians, who crossed at Behring's Strait, and the more southerly ones, in California, Central and South America, from the darker Malays, who also peopled Polynesia, in the South Pacific, and finally made their way to the western continent, gradually spreading over it from one great ocean to the other. This theory is not based on any similarity of languages with those of the Asiatics, but the traditions of the Indians, their implements and their modes of life point to a close relationship.

INGENIOUS INVENTIONS.

An Austrian railway official has invented a portable telephone for speaking from a railway train at any point stopping to the nearest station.

A Swiss inventor has perfected a method of making artificial boards, and is advocating their use in building. They are made of a mixture of plaster of paris and reeds pressed into shape by hydraulic process. The material has the advantage of incombustibility and lightness, and will resist the warping action of atmospheric changes.

Still another application of the "nickel in the slot" principle is reported from England. It is proposed there to utilize this method for giving the general public the benefit of the telephone at street corners and railway stations. With a nicely-fitting earpiece and a tube to speak into, the telephone may thus be available for all comers at a penny a time.

An electric fire-engine, which can be tapped for service whenever wanted, is the latest invention. The advantages claimed are that it can be started at full speed; that it is much lighter than a steam fire-engine of equal power; that it costs one-third less; that it is noiseless in its operation, makes no smoke or ashes, and that it is safer and more economical.

A Portland (Me.) man has invented and constructed a bicycle locomotive, which is to be given a trial on the track of the Coney Island railroad. The engine has two cylinders, one drive wheel, and two wheels under the tender. The engine and cars are to be supported on their single track by wooden guiding beams supported fifteen feet above the track by a skeleton frame arching the track. The design is to make an ordinary track serve as a double track for the bicycle system.

A London shoemaker has invented a boot to make small people appear tall. The invention is an old and ingenious one. Instead of tacking six inches on to a person's heel, a pair of entirely false feet made of cork is put into the shoes. When the wearer gets into them he or she is raised according to the inches of cork. Of course in this invention the original foot is made to combine with the cork one under the leather in such a manner that the line of demarcation is not perceptible. The size of the foot is sacrificed, it is true, and a larger boot is necessary with the cork "elevator" than would be the case naturally.

THEATRICAL TOPICS.

"Grandma Sarah" is what they call the Bernhardt in Paris.

Edwin S. Connor, an aged actor of Philadelphia, has acted Richelieu 1,012 times, but has never once [illegible].

In the section of the Paris Exposition devoted to the Histoire du Theatre there is a collection of wax models of feet of noted ballet dancers.

A number of treasurers of the New York theaters have formed an organization to protect themselves against the free pass "fiend." They propose to get a list of all the theatrical deadbeats and warn each other against their methods.

[illegible], the comedian, began his career as a page in Congress. He was fortunate in serving at the time when such men as Webster, Clay and Calhoun were in the House, and he has many interesting reminiscences to tell of those distinguished men.

Mrs. Kendal explains why she and her husband have always acted together by the statement that it was because of a vow made to her father. Mrs. Kendal's father, when his daughter wanted to marry an actor, insisted that they should always act together.

Mary Anderson is responsible for the popularity of English shoes among American women. Mary's feet are not small, but she had the courage to abandon French footgear for shoes in which she could walk comfortably. Her example has been widely followed.

Sol Smith Russell's wife is a small intellectual-looking woman with a Bostonese face. She is the daughter of Mr. Adams, known to fame as "Oliver Optic." Mr. Russell is the owner of several fine buildings in Minneapolis, besides his handsome residence. He takes care of his money.

PEOPLE OF DISTINCTION.

Sunset Cox died at the hour at which he had made arrangements to lecture on "Wonderland," meaning the new West, which he recently visited.

Cardinal Manning's habits of life are said to be conducted with a regularity that rivals the exactness of a railway time-table. His chief meal is in the middle of the day, when he takes one chop.

Mrs. "Stonewall" Jackson is engaged upon a biography of her husband, which will contain many facts not printed in previous memoirs. She is not the only "blue stocking" of her family. Her sister, Mrs. Irwin, of Charlotte, is even better known than she as a writer.

Jesse Grant, a son of the late ex-President, is said to be growing rich in California, where he is farming on a large scale. He is apparently satisfied with his choice of a career, for he says he has very little interest in politics, and never expects to be any thing but a farmer.

President Harrison and Secretary Blaine, says a writer in the Washington Post, are strikingly alike in the matter of complexion, the peculiar pallor of which defies sunburn, tan or freckles, no matter how prolonged the exposure to the sun to which they may be subjected.

[illegible] of Mexico is one of the [illegible]

[illegible]

Walt Whitman is said to be very much bothered by would-be poets, who ask him to read and criticise their productions. [illegible] "No, I thank you," said the latter; "I have [illegible]."

[illegible]

mer home on his island in the St. Lawrence river, near Alexandria Bay, George M. Pullman, of Chicago, has provided for the perfect preservation of the room, in rough structure of the early days in which General Grant slept while Mr. Pullman's guest. The cottage is to be built around the room, but the dead soldier's old quarters will remain unchanged in every particular, including the furniture.

Robert J. Burdette, the professional humorist, has been acting as pastor in the Lower Merion Baptist Church, Philadelphia, during the past summer. On Sunday evening he preached his farewell sermon, prior to setting out on a lecture tour. He recently remarked: "I think I shall some day give up lecturing and settle down in a little country parsonage. This is my ideal life, and if I had known enough of theology I might be a preacher now."

JEST AND JOLLITY.

A New Yorker, on returning from a two months' trip to the West, was glowingly describing the fertility of the soil and the beauty of the country. "How about the water?" asked a friend. "I neglected to try it," responded the traveler.

At a railway book-stall—Fashionable couple are searching for something to read during the approaching journey. She—"'Last days of Pompeii'—what did he die of?" He—"Don't know exactly, but believe it was some sort of eruption."

Fond Mother—"See the baby, Henry. He's holding out his hand to you. What do you suppose 'ittle tootsy wants?" Fond Father—"I don't know; but as every body says he takes after you, I suppose 'ittle tootsy wants some pin money."

Editor of fresh air fund (to hotel bookkeeper)—"How much did that summer sanitarium racket net us last year?" Hotel book-keeper—"Oh, about $—." Editor of fresh air fund—"Very good. We must do something for the little children this year. It seems to pay."

A wealthy citizen of Denver, Col., gave an elegant residence to a newly-married daughter. Two lots adjoining it are his property. The younger daughter of the gentleman, upon being spoken to about the fine present to her sister, remarked: "Yes, and we are going to put a sign on the two adjoining lots with these words on it: 'These lots go with the other girl.'"

ASTRONOMICAL ATOMS.

A patient figurer has found that in [illegible] years the sun will be as dense as the earth.

An English lady has left £30,000 to be devoted to photographing the stars, planets and nebulae.

The phases of the moon are caused by the different direction of the sun's rays with respect to the moon's surface.

Recent discoveries made by the use of the spectroscope show that all the heavenly bodies appear to be composed of the same chemical elements.

Numerous observations made in France show that on meeting an insulated metallic or carbon conductor the solar rays communicate to it a positive charge; that the amplitude of this charge increases with the intensity of the rays and decreases with the hygrometric state of the air.

According to the best astronomers of modern times, "nothing but the wildest desolation prevails on the surface of the moon, and that mountains exist of 130 miles in diameter, the peaks of which rise often from 7,000 to 16,000 feet in altitude," thus precluding all possibility of our satellite being inhabited.

AGRICULTURAL AXIOMS.

No man ever reaped [illegible] wheat from [illegible] ground and clean seed.

When prices are low is just the time to improve your farm animals.

If there were more drains on the farm there would be fewer druggists in the village.

Make easy and short the way to the pasture of the animal that has learned to break fences.

Pay cash, if you have to borrow money to do it. The banker will charge you less than the merchant for credit.

On an average the man with the fewest clods in the field in the fall has the most wheat in the field the next summer.

Good farming consists as much in overcoming adverse circumstances as in improving fully favorable opportunities.

You can not increase your products without increasing your expenses; but production increases at a faster rate than expense increases. Herein is the greatest profit of good farming.

FRAGMENTS FROM ABROAD.

South Australia is becoming a wine-producing country.

The annual returns show that 78,684 persons emigrated from Ireland during the past year.

The electric light on the Eiffel tower, Paris, is reported to be visible at Orleans, sixty-nine and a-half miles distant.

More than 50,000 acres have been bought in the Bahamas by British American capitalists, to be devoted to raising sisal hemp.

There are over twenty thousand young women in Great Britain studying music with the idea of some day blossoming into stars.

There is a spot in Siberia about the size of a square where the ground has not thawed out for the last 100 years, and where it is frozen to a depth of sixty feet.

A bronze statue of General Gordon, lately unveiled in London, weighs two tons, and it took two hours to hoist it into place by means of a huge three-legged crane.

There are thirty oyster beds in Tangier sound, whose united area is 17,576 square nautical miles, with twice as much additional bottom where oysters are occasionally secured.

Cardinal Gibbons has started a movement for the erection of a memorial to Cecilius Calvert, second Lord Baltimore, the pioneer of civil and religious liberty in America.

"Never before," says the Paris correspondent of the London Telegraph, "has work been so abundant and so well remunerated in the city as during the exhibition season."

A syndicate has offered £4,400,000 for the fortification wall surrounding Paris and the ground attached to it. The wall cost £4,700,000. The French War Office has recommended the demolition of the circular wall.

The sole panacea for every ailment in China is a plaster. So great is the national predilection for this method of treatment that the Chinese have not inaptly been described as a plaster-and-blister-loving people.

Mr. Eiffel, the builder of the tall tower of Paris, is expected in Quebec shortly, to build a $5,000,000 bridge across the St. Lawrence, which would make a continuous roadway from ocean to ocean on Canadian soil.

A movement is on foot in St. Petersburg for observing Sunday as it is understood in the United States and Great Britain. It is said that 1,200 St. Petersburg merchants lately declared themselves willing to keep their places of business closed on the first day of the week.

An English paper states that some days ago there was terminated at Warsaw a lawsuit which lasted four centuries. The suit was over a forty-acre piece of uncultivated land. It was commenced in 1489, and was, curiously enough, brought to an end by amicable arbitration.

Italy has been almost devastated by the Abyssinian Embassy bearing presents to King Humbert. The King of Abyssinia's brother headed the delegation, and several dignitaries accompanied him. Their appetites are enormous. Ten of them ate thirty-seven steaks at one sitting.

The Germans are distinguished for their love of titles. The climax in this direction was reached recently in Darmstadt, when the Grand Duke created a man "Court Sauer-Kraut Cutter." Hereafter he must be addressed according to custom as "Mr. Court Sauer-Kraut Cutter," and he will be offended unless the title is used.

The German Government has issued regulations for the management of public dances organized for the diversion of children on national holidays. Dancing is not to be [illegible] after noon and in no case to be [illegible] after [illegible] o'clock p. m. [illegible] of confirmation are absolutely forbidden to indulge in terpsichorean festivities. Waltzes, polkas, quadrilles and cotillions are forbidden. Other amusement than dancing is [illegible] for children of tender years.

GARDEN GLEANINGS.

[illegible] plants are those which grow [illegible].

To have a plentiful supply of early greens next season, sow turnip seeds and allow the turnips to grow and remain in the ground during the winter. A slight covering of straw will protect them.

The proper way to control the growth of [illegible] is to pinch back their growth [illegible].

Biennials are [illegible].

In propagating honeysuckles, cuttings of wood, when nearly ripe, will strike, if [illegible] in a shady border in the autumn and daily watered. Perhaps the most successful mode of propagating is by layers pegged in moist soil in the autumn when the leaves commence falling.

General preparation should really begin in the fall. Gardens, as a rule, contain more weeds than any other part of the farm. They should be mowed down, raked off and burned. The plot should then be plowed, to remain in the rough condition for the frost to penetrate. It will render the cultivation easier in the spring.

Perennials are those that live in the ground for several years. These are collected very early in the spring before growth starts; or in summer after the seed ripens, and not while the leaves are growing. Large roots must be cut crosswise and dried quickly; to avoid turning dark or molding, expose direct to the sun's rays.

BITS ABOUT BIVALVES.

Oysters will quickly freeze in cold weather.

Oysters can not be fed by any artificial means.

What people call the eye of the oyster is scientifically known as the adductor muscle.

In analyzing the contents of the stomach of an oyster nothing but vegetable matter has ever been found.

The food of an oyster consists of such microscopic organisms and organic particles as float freely in the water.

The eggs of the female oyster, one authority says, "number [illegible], but Prof. [illegible] said that [illegible] was as many as he cared to estimate.

Opinions differ as to whether rocky bottoms are best for oyster beds. Many experienced oystermen believe that soft sandy loam is the most fruitful.

Oysters should be piled up or arranged in a heap, with the bottom shell or left valve at the bottom, as the deep shell holds the liquid on which the animal lives. Good stock, if packed this way, will keep for a long time.

HELPS IN THE HOUSEHOLD.

The best way to mend torn leaves of books is pasting them with white tissue-paper. The print will show through it.

To remove the shiny look from black clothes wash well, then dip black cloth in hot tea and coffee, equal parts of each, and sponge clothes.

Peach Cobbler.—Line a dripping pan with paste; fill with fruit, sugar and flour in correct proportion; make fast the cover and bake one hour.

Musk-Melon Sauce.—Remove the seeds and skins and cut in small, square pieces. Cover with sweet cream, add a little sugar, and serve at once.

Entire wheat flour is said to require less shortening than ordinary flour. It is a wholesome food, makes good hasty pudding, gems, bread, cakes and even pie-crust.

If soft-wood unpainted floors are mopped with a small quantity of very hot water, and thoroughly wiped, they will be far whiter than if soaked and vigorously scrubbed.

If an ordinary glass fruit jar be set on a towel which has been thoroughly wet with cold water, hot fruit may be poured into it without any danger of its breaking. The jar needs no further preparation.

It is worth while to paste light manilla paper over the back of every picture frame not already so protected, as it effectually prevents dust from reaching the pictures. It is always done nowadays by first-class framers.

A Knife Cleaner.—Take two boards about eighteen inches long, by six inches wide. Nail a belt of leather over these boards and fasten them together by hinges. Lay the knife between the boards, which have been sprinkled with bath brick, and rub the knife rapidly between them. A paste made with emery powder and sweet oil is excellent for fine knives.

Hartshorn Liniment.—Two parts sweet oil and one part water of ammonia, spirits of hartshorn. Shake it up and you have a thick white mixture, which for sprains, bruises, sore throat, etc., is unsurpassed. If you want to use it for rheumatism, neuralgia, etc., add to half a pint of the liniment one-half ounce tincture of [illegible] and one ounce spirits of camphor.

When there is a shrinkage in canned fruit jars it is a sure test that the fruit has been put up properly and will keep. The fruit and glass are both put up hot and consequently expanded; when cold, the glass, and more especially the fruit, contract and leave a vacuum, showing it is air-tight. On opening such cans the covers will come with a resistance equal to the vacuum.

Maple Sugar Cake.—Take a pound of maple sugar, rolled or scraped fine, half a pound of butter and four or five tablespoonfuls of milk. Cook the whole till the butter melts. Stir very thoroughly, then add a scant tablespoonful of ginger and half a pound of flour. Beat well. Sift a heaping tablespoonful of baking-powder in half a cup of flour and stir into the cake, beating vigorously again. Bake the cake in [illegible].

SCIENTIFIC SUMMARY.

M. Pasteur recently declared with much emphasis that rabies is never spontaneous. The microbe producing it, he says, is invariably transmitted.

It is reported that a German scientist has invented an incandescent lamp arrangement by which the interior of a boiler may be inspected while still under steam.

The reason of the greater mortality of male children than of female is supposed to be the greater demands on their system caused by their more rapid rate of growth.

Entomologists state that there is reasonable hope that a scientific plan will be devised whereby whole tribes of noxious insects may be exterminated by the artificial multiplication of their insect [illegible] enemies.

The phonograph has been turned to a new use, to record the sounds given by the heart and lungs under auscultation. This should be invaluable in consultations, as a true account of a patient's condition can be sent to a doctor at a distance.

It is a mistake to suppose that water, because it contains animalculae or infusoria, is necessarily unwholesome. However repugnant to our feelings it may be to use water containing these foreign bodies, it is only when they are dead that danger arises from their presence.

A vegetable cartridge shell, which is entirely consumed in firing, is a French novelty. With this shell the cartridge has scarcely half the weight of a metal cartridge, the cost is considerably less and the inconvenience of removing the shell after each shot is avoided.

There are only two royal scientists living at the present time worthy of the name. One is Prince Albert, of Monaco, well known for his deep sea researches, and the other is the Archduke Ludwig Salvator, of Austria, a courageous traveler, and a by no means contemptible naturalist.

Since warm, dry air is carried into the cyclone from the anti-cyclone, the clouds formed at the edge of the cyclone are subsequently absorbed; thus the clouds are more dense in the center, where the pressure is a minimum, and are progressively less dense toward the periphery.

It has been estimated that we get an entire new outfit of brains every two months. The duration of a nerve's life is about sixty days. Each nerve cell has its independent functions, subordinate to the whole brain as a mass; and the latter acts as an overseer to the individual actions and life of each separate cell. Every cell is destroyed and renewed every two months, so we each get six brand new brains per year.

Comets may fall into the sun, though there is no record of any ever having done so. Several comets, however, have gone very close to the sun, so that they may almost be said to have grazed its surface. One of these was the great comet of 1843. [illegible] around the sun in elliptical orbits of such dimensions that at their greatest distance they are not as far from the sun as several of the planets are.

MOKE MAXIMS.

When pot bile, no fly dar.
Da big crab not allers good meat.
[illegible]
Da ain't no fire in borrowed [illegible].
Da forwardest pig make de fust [illegible].
Better set in de mud den fall in de crick.
A fine hoss ain't no wuss for a rope bridle.
Yo' [illegible] on trust he [illegible] all de time.
Da rich man's pig never [illegible].
When de sky rain meal yo' ain't got no [illegible] for bag.
When de old man chop wood [illegible] for [illegible].
[illegible], no say sweet, when he sing "Lasses, 'lasses."
When yo' waits for yo' dinner [illegible] de Lord if you get one cold.
Look out for folks that takes de [illegible] after [illegible].

LITERARY INCOMES.

Mark Twain's income is $100,000 a year.

[illegible] makes from [illegible] to [illegible] a year.

W. D. Howells receives from the Harpers $10,000 a year.

R. W. Gilder receives [illegible] a year from the Century.

Joseph Pulitzer's income for [illegible], it is said, [illegible].

Mrs. Chanler (Amelie Rives) makes about [illegible] a year.

Walt Whitman of late years has earned about [illegible] a year.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

SPEAKING CONNECTION WITH OVER 12,000 SUBSCRIBERS—PROTECTION FROM FIRE AND BURGLARY—PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Central Office cor. Front st. and Park ave.

Subscriber's Name	Address.
Adams Express Co.	North ave
Ames, C. J.	13 Crescent ave.
Anthony, Alice S.	Netherwood.
Arens, Otto	Park avenue.
Alert Hose Co., No 1	Madison ave.
Beerbower, J H	Second street and Park ave
Bloodgood, Wm	Hillside ave
Babcock, Geo H	6th and Union sts.
Barkalew & Dunn	18 North ave.
Boone, W. C., M. D.	Cor. Front & Central Av.
Bushnell, John	Central ave. and 5th st.
Carey, T. J.	Number [illegible]
Curtis, W. D. F.	145 Rockview avenue.
City Hotel	Second street and Park ave
Clark, E B	East Front street.
C. L. S. C.	Park and North avenues.
Cass, C W	Rockview ave.
Children's Home	Jackson ave
Clawson, James T	Richmond and Front sts.
Constitutionalist Office	3 North ave.
Cook, A D & Bro	Park ave and RR.
Cooley, Dr J H	Manning and Westervelt aves.
Cox, Rowland	Seventh st
C. S. and L. Association	Park and North aves.
Chapman, Mrs F. A.	9 Third Place
Daily Press	3 North ave.
Depew, Mrs. E. H	28 Crescent ave.
Day, Frank	22 W. Fourth st.
[illegible], Leo	Putnam ave.
Davis, Dr T S	Peace near 5th st
Day, E M	Rockview ave.
Day, Frank	North ave.
Demarest, P M	20 W. Front st.
Dumont, John B	19 Crescent ave.
Endicott, Dr Geo W	Park ave. and 5th st.
Evening News, T. W. Morrison, Editor	7 Somerset st.
Engine No 1	West 2d st.
Engine No 2	Front st.
Engine No 3	Somerset st.
Estate of D. J. Boice	Park ave. & Railroad.
Forster, J H Van Sur	62 East Fifth street
Fisk, Chas. J.	29 West Seventh st
Fleming & Anderson	30 North ave.
Force, W L & Bro.	3 North ave.
Freight House	C. RR. Depot
French, P M & Sons	Somerset st.
French & Sons, M. H.	71 Somerset st.
Fritts, Dr J T	72 Park ave.
Field, Dr. C. M	Peace and Fifth street.
Goddard, [illegible] M	17 Third Place.
Griffen, A M	15 E Front st.
Howell & Hardy	North Avenue
L. Heyniger	48 & 50 Somerset street.
Hegeman, E. A	107 Sycamore avenue.
Howard, L. E.	22 9th street.
[illegible], Dr. [illegible]	[illegible] East Front st.
Hyde, Chas.	141 Front street.
Hedden, Albert	6th st. near Park ave.
Hurlbut, J. L.	62 East 5th st.
Higgins, M. A.	Number 13
Jacobus, Samuel M	178 East Front street
Jenkins, Dr. [illegible] L	58 W. Front st.
Jones, Evan	Park ave.
Kirkner, J	4th and Division sts.
Lowry, Rev Robert	Madison ave and 9th st.
Lovell, L. N.	Crescent ave.
Lord, Wm	Number 122
Mortimer, John	Putnam avenue
McDonnell, Hugh	6th st.
McGee, Henry A	Willow ave
McGee, James	Willow ave
Miller, J G	10 E. Front st.
Moore, Geo. A	20 North ave.
Moore, Benj. F	Cor. 2nd st. and Park ave.
Muhlenberg Hospital	South ave.
Murray, Dr. Wm. H	57 Peace street.
Myers, Joe M	Front st.
Miller, Frank, Prop	Netherwood.
Matthews, Chas	Prospect Place and Grove st.
Netherwood Hotel	Netherwood.
Newhall, Henry B.	16 E 7th st.
Opdyke, H B	Number 3
[illegible], Jr., Thos B	Rockview ave
Pierson, Joseph C.	42 West Front street
Plainfield Gaslight Co.	9 East Fourth st.
Plainfield Dist. Tel. & Fire Alarm Co.	5 E Front st.
Plainfield Electric Light Co	Madison avenue
Pay Station	Park ave and Front st.
Plainfield [illegible] Co.	2d and Washington sts
Police Station	Park ave and RR.
Potter, C Jr	7th and Division sts.
Potter Press Works	South ave.
Probasco, Dr J B	41 Front st.
Perkins, Edward C	Central ave. and 9th st
Pope & Co. J. C	6 East Front st.
Pittis, Thomas	124 Central av
Randolph, Henry C.	Broadway
[illegible], L. A	50 Broadway
Reynolds, H P	Park and North ave.
Reynolds, H. P	Washington avenue.
Roberts, D S	17 North avenue.
Rockfellow, Geo W	Park and North ave.
Rockfellow, G W (Res)	149 Park ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	Park ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	45 Madison ave.
Rushmore, Dr Edward	Park ave. near Fifth st.
[illegible], Mrs J	Cor. [illegible] & Sycamore aves.
[illegible], H. G	5th st.
[illegible], Mrs. J. D	Netherwood.
Runyon, Chas W., Mgr N Y & N J Tel
Schools, Plainfield Public	Plainfield.
Smith & Cahill	28 North ave
Smith, Chas. A.	Fanwood
Serrell, Lemuel W	Front st. and Plainfield ave
Sequine, C. J	60 Front street.
Shaw, E J	Front st. opp. Park ave.
Smalley Bros	30 North ave.
Smith, Mrs E. F	[illegible] Grant avenue.
[illegible], H M	Park ave. and Front st.
Tuttle, E M	Central av.
Tuttle, E M (Pay Station)	Park ave and Front st.
[illegible], A S	Prospect ave.
Smith, W F	Belvidere av., Netherwood
Terrill W M & Co	29 East Front street
Thompson, A. D	Netherwood
Thompson, A. D.	Number 44
[illegible], Henry P (Res)	Netherwood
Titsworth, [illegible]	39 W. 7th st.
Tomlinson, Dr F M	35 W. 6d st
Tracy, J Evarts	5th and Division st
The Pond Machine Tool Co.	Third St
Thorn, Alex	Number 50
United States Express Co.	5 North ave
Van Sickle, W. J.	10 North ave
Vincent, J. H.	Front and Union sts.
Vincent, J. H.	Park and North aves.
Wotherspoon, G	149 East Front street
Waltman, C.	West Seventh street
Woltman C.	West Seventh street
Wadsworth, W E	Park avenue.
Westfield, pay station	F. Decker.
Western Union Telegraph Company	at Depot
Yates, J W	6 E. 7th st
[illegible] Hook and Ladder Co.	Second street

TELEPHONE TOLL RATES.

FOR FIVE MINUTES CONVERSATION.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY

To Asbury Park	[illegible]	McCainsville	[illegible]
Astoria	[illegible]	Millburn	[illegible]
Babylon	[illegible]	Montclair	[illegible]
Bath	[illegible]	Morristown	[illegible]
Bayonne	[illegible]	Mt. Vernon	[illegible]
Bayside	[illegible]	Newark	[illegible]
Belleville	[illegible]	New Brunswick	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	New Rochelle	[illegible]
Bloomfield	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bloomingdale	[illegible]	New York	[illegible]
Boonton	[illegible]	Nyack	[illegible]
Brooklyn	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Caldwell	[illegible]	Orange	[illegible]
Chatham	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Chester	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
College Point	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Coney Island	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cresskill	[illegible]	Perth Amboy	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Dover	[illegible]	Port Washington	[illegible]
East New York	[illegible]	Princeton	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Rahway	[illegible]
Elizabeth	[illegible]	Red Bank	[illegible]
Englewood	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fanwood	[illegible]	Rockaway Centre	[illegible]
Fair View	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Far Rockaway	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Flatbush	[illegible]	Short Hills	[illegible]
Flushing	[illegible]	Somerville	[illegible]
Fort Lee	[illegible]	South Amboy	[illegible]
Freehold	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Glen Cove	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hackettstown	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hackensack	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hempstead	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hoboken	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Jamaica	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Jersey City	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Keyport	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Little Silver	[illegible]	White Plains	[illegible]
Long Branch	[illegible]	Whitestone	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Woodbridge	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Yonkers	[illegible]

NON SUBSCRIBERS, 10 CTS. ADDITIONAL.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE. August 29th, 1889.

Estate of [illegible], Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executor of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred of any action therefor against the subscriber.

[illegible], Executor.
8-29-10w

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To [illegible].

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein [illegible] is complainant and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant, on or before the [illegible] day of [illegible] next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by [illegible], dated [illegible], on lands in the township of [illegible], Union county. [illegible]

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Solicitors for Complainant, [illegible],
Plainfield, New Jersey.
Dated Sept. 7, 1889.

LEGAL NOTICES.

1889. TAXES!

Notice is hereby to the Taxpayers of

THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD,

That the Taxes assessed in said city for the year 1889, are now due and payable, and that

If the said Taxes be not paid by the 27th day of December Next,

the names of the delinquents, with their respective Taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution.

The Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council chamber, on the FOURTH TUESDAY IN NOVEMBER NEXT (the 26th), and sit from 2 o'clock P. M. until 5 o'clock P. M., or longer if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1, 1889. 10-4-Lw

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors.

SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

Estate of George W. Townley, Deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the twenty-seventh day of September, A. D. 1889, on the application of William H. [illegible], as administrator of George W. Townley, deceased; an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of George W. Townley, deceased, to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent, under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said Administrator within NINE months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor should be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said Administrator.

AB'M T. HUFF, Surrogate.
10-3-9w

RAILROADS.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA

PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after Sep. 30, 1889, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:30 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, dining car from Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Cleveland and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

[illegible] P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars and dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis; daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—[illegible]

For Philadelphia [illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

1:30 P. M. (Through car,) week-days. For Cape May, [illegible] P. M., week-days.

For Trenton—[illegible]

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—[illegible]

For Flemington—[illegible]

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHAS. E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey

Station in New York—Foot Liberty Street.

Time Table in Effect June 30, 1889.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave New York from foot of Liberty Street, [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Newark—[illegible]

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Somerville [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Easton [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS

LEAVE PLAINFIELD

[illegible]

For Atlantic City—At [illegible] p. m., [illegible] p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

For Perth Amboy—[illegible]

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, [illegible]

For Baltimore and Washington [illegible]

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA

Ninth and Green streets, [illegible]

From 24th and Chestnut—[illegible]

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker streets, [illegible]

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, Gen'l Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

INSURANCE.

FIRE INSURANCE!

The undersigned having been appointed agent for the

Star and Merchants Fire Insurance Co's of the City of New York, are prepared to [illegible]

NATHAN HARPER.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

J. C. Pope & Co.,
GENERAL AGENTS OF THE
German American Ins. Co.,
of New York.

Also represents other first-class Fire Insurance Companies. Agents of the Inman Steamship Line. Drafts on Ireland for sale. First and City National Bank Stock Bought and Sold. Also,

BUILDING LOTS
And Other Real Estate for sale.
OFFICE
6 E. FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD.
JAMES C. POPE. ELIAS R. POPE.

PEERLESS [illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS | MISCELLANEOUS.

THE FALL OF 1889

BRINGS WITH IT many new styles, and much that is novel and handsome in the line of man's attire. We are exceedingly particular how our clothes are cut and made. The very best Custom Cutters only can secure positions in our employ. While we go in for appearances to the fullest extent, we are ever mindful of quality. If you will call and inspect our Fall Suits and Overcoats for Men and Boys you will note the extreme neatness and evident durability of every Coat, Vest and Pair of Trousers THROUGH THE WHOLE STOCK. We stake our reputation on the thoroughness of our work. You can get a suit for $8, $10, $12, $15 or $18, or an Overcoat, light or medium weight, all shades, silk facings and linings, for $10 or $12. We wish to convince you that our house deserves your custom. It does!

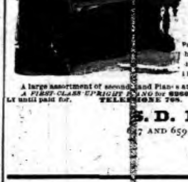
J. MARSHALL & BALL,
CLOTHIERS,
807, 809, 811, 813 BROAD STREET
10-10-3m

PIANOS, PIANOS.
S. D. LAUTER CO.,



Steinway,
(The Standard Piano of the World,)
Emerson,
S. G. Chickering,
Sterling,
And all Standard Makes of
Pianos and Parlor Organs.

Sole Agent for New Jersey for the GABLER Patent Metal Action Frame UPRIGHT PIANOS, the most popular Piano made. Musicians like it, singers like it, the PEOPLE like it, EVERYBODY likes it.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at the lowest prices ever given in Newark. A FIRST-CLASS UPRIGHT PIANO for $250 CASH, or $300 ON INSTALLMENTS. $10 MONTHLY until paid for. TELEPHONE 768.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,
657 AND 659 BROAD STREET, NEWARK, N. J.
12-14-y

SPECIAL NOTICE.
New Store! New Goods! New Firm
BARKALEW & DUNN,
Fancy and Staple Grocers,
NO. 18 NORTH AVENUE
We sell for Cash and will give Special Inducements

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion. Without injurious medication.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 182 Fulton Street, N. Y.

7-18-2y

A MAN

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

MONT.
DAKOTA
MISSOURI
GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE.

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MAGNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Council Bluffs and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels (furnishing meals at seasonable hours) west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake, and Sioux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, General Manager.
CHICAGO, ILL.
JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass. Agent.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
W. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
[illegible]
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXII. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1889. No. 46.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

Rates of Advertising.

Space	1	2	3	1	2	3	6	12
	WEEKS			MONTHS
1 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
2 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
3 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
4 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
¼ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
½ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
1 col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

All Electro's must be solid metal.
"Little of Everything" column, 5 cts. per line.
Double cols. 30 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
[illegible]

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
[illegible]

DR. CHARLES H. [illegible],
Dentist,
[illegible]

H. [illegible]
Auctioneer,
[illegible]

OSCAR S. TEALE,
Architect,
[illegible]

J. E. FRAZIER,
Veterinary Surgeon.
[illegible]

F. A. DUNHAM,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
[illegible]

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
[illegible]

JOHN CHANDLER,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
[illegible]
[illegible] 36 East 3d St.

LUTKINS & HUMMER,
Dealers in
Butter, Eggs & Produce.
Meats of all Kinds,
FRUIT AND VEGETABLES IN THEIR SEASON.
No. 38 PARK AVENUE, Plainfield, New Jersey.
Goods delivered to any part of the city.
A. LUTKINS. L. A. HUMMER.

Plainfield District Telegraph and Fire Alarm Co.
Prompt Messenger Service Furnished.
Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co.
LOW RATES. QUICK SERVICE. MONEY TRANSFERRED BY TELEGRAPH. COMMUTATION STAMPS FOR SALE.
OFFICE—4 PARK AVENUE.
W. S. SLITER, Manager.

TO THE PUBLIC!
We wish to inform our customers and the public generally that we have on hand the best quality of
LEHIGH COAL,
Fresh from the Mines.
[illegible]
A. D. COOK & BRO.

J. Hervey Doane,
6 PARK AVENUE.
Watches,
Clocks
And Jewelry.
Repairing neatly and promptly done.

Steam Marble Granite Works.
Monuments & Headstones,
Fencing for Cemetery Plots.
[illegible]

Geo. A. Moore,
[illegible]
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE,
[illegible]

Alex. Willett,
DEALER IN
BOOTS & SHOES,
No. 4 PARK AVENUE.
[illegible]

HOTELS AND SALOONS.

FORCE'S HOTEL,
NORTH AVENUE, [Near R. R. Station.]
JAS. H. FORCE, Prop'r.
[illegible]

TURF EXCHANGE HOTEL,
75 Courtlandt street,
CORNER WASHINGTON, NEW YORK CITY
FRED. W. BALLARD, - - Proprietor,
[illegible]
PURE WINES, LIQUORS AND SEGARS.

SOMERSET HOTEL,
Cor. Somerset & Chatham Sts., North Plainfield N. J.
Permanent and Transient Board, at fair rates.
First-class Stables and Sheds attached.
[illegible]

C. E. JOHNSON,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
[illegible]

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
[illegible]
Goods received on consignment.

Dime Savings Institution
OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.
JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice "
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS, BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

MICHAEL UHDAL,
CONTRACTOR
AND LANDSCAPE GARDENER!
Residence:
NETHERWOOD, NEW JERSEY.
P. O. BOX 787, PLAINFIELD.

GO TO
DICKINSON & CLAWSON,
JEWELERS, 13 Park Avenue,
For your
Fine Gold Watches,
CLOCKS, JEWELRY, and SILVERWARE.
[illegible]

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc., Etc.
[illegible]
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 4 NORTH AVE, [illegible] Plainfield, N. J.

CATARRH
ELY'S CREAM BALM
Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell.
HAY-FEVER TRY THE CURE.
[illegible] ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren street, New York.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables
Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
[illegible]
RIDING OR LIVERY.
[illegible]
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 56.

Livery Stables!
Mr. D. S. ROBERTS
Has Removed to his New Building on
NORTH AVENUE,
[illegible]

EDUCATIONAL.

Mr. FEININGER
Has resumed
His Lessons in Plainfield.
For terms, address
C. FEININGER,
Steinway Hall, N. Y.

Mr. T. R. HAZELL,
TEACHER OF MUSIC.
Instruction given in Singing, Harmony, or upon the Violin. [illegible]
Residence—[illegible], NORTH PLAINFIELD.

MR. LEAL'S
School for Boys!
99 WEST FRONT STREET.
Prepares for College and Business.
[illegible]
Boys from 10 years old and upwards.
The eighth year begins
MONDAY, SEPT. 16, 1889.
For circulars and information, address the Principal,
JOHN LEAL.

DODWORTH'S
CLASSES FOR
Dancing & Deportment,
SEMINARY HALL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.,
Commencing Wednesday, Oct. 30, '89,
From 3½ to 5½ P. M.
Circulars may be obtained of Miss E. E. Kenyon, at the Seminary.
THOS. J. DODWORTH.
Residence—1,190 Fulton ave., N. Y. City.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. A. WOOLSTON. J. F. BUCKLE.
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTER'S SUPPLIES. 30 NORTH AVENUE

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mme. J. BERNARD,
ASTROLOGIST,
Residence—Harmony street, North Plainfield, fourth house from Somerset street, left hand side. Information imparted as regards present and future events, [illegible]
In English, German and French.
[illegible]

Low Pressure Steam Heat
Introduced into Churches, Schools, Dwellings, Offices, Stores, etc.
STEAM FITTING, and STEAM FITTERS' SUPPLIES for sale.
Estimates cheerfully furnished for Heating and Ventilation.
JOHN N. SCHENCK.
Box 1061. Race St., North Plainfield.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
[Successor to T. J. Carey.]
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—34 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 359.
Piano moving a specialty.

G. W. FORCE,
11 West Front street.
Opening of
FALL AND WINTER STOCK
Boots and Shoes at Low Prices
A FINE GRADE OF GOODS TO SELECT FROM
11 West Front street.
G. W. FORCE.

R. R. FAIRCHILD,
Furniture & Bedding,
21 EAST FRONT STREET.
A Large Assortment of
Parlor Suites,
Bedroom Suites,
Lounges,
Tables
AND
Chairs.
The Largest Stock and the Lowest Prices.
Call and See for Yourselves.
2 DOORS BELOW P. O.

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
FOURTH STREET,
[illegible]

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
[illegible]
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
[illegible]
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in HAVANA & DOMESTIC
—SEGARS!!—
[illegible] PARK AVE., (near corner of SECOND ST.) PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials, of every description.
[illegible]

"EXPERIENCE MAKES PERFECT!" What does Incompetence make? A pretender!!! What does the house owner get? He gets the results!!! What are they likely to be? Value for his Money on one hand; a chance of a Fire or other on the other; good insulations prevent [illegible]
MORAL—Organized 1881. Incorporated 1888. At the head of the profession 1889.
The Electric Construction and Supply Co.,
[illegible]

JAMES K. ARNOLD,
GROCER,
Cor. Somerset and Chatham Sts., North Plainfield.

A. T. SMALLEY. R. B. SMALLEY.
Smalley Bros.,
DEALERS IN
Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, Etc.
[illegible] SOMERSET STREET, NORTH PLAINFIELD.
Orders called for and delivered. A share of the public patronage is solicited.

Benj. F. Moore,
[Late of Moore Bros.]
BUTCHER,
and dealer in FRESH AND SALT MEATS, POULTRY, etc., corner Park avenue and Second street, will be open and ready for business Wednesday, March 20th. Orders called for and promptly delivered. Telephone Call 111.

E. B. MAYNARD
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, &c. satisfactorily performed.

Fresh Garden Seeds,
Garden Tools,
Ranges, Laundry Stoves,
CUTLERY, &c.
N. H. & J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 13 SOMERSET ST.

HOW ROUGH!
YOUR SKIN may be made Smooth, Soft and White by the use of Glycerole of Arnica.
A preparation of our own, and we guarantee its purity. May be used in the nursery. Delightfully perfumed. Sprinkler top bottles 25c. obtainable only at the CITY PHARMACY,
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prop'r.
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

School Books,
New and Second-hand.
School Supplies,
Large Assortment, Lowest Prices, at
ALLEN'S,
THE STATIONER,
23 East Front Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE.
Hugo Weigman,
30 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

TWENTY
Years' experience in the business.
[illegible] 2 doors above Postoffice
[illegible] STEVENS, Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to shoeing, Forging, [illegible]

Accommodation Express.
PETER SICKELS, Proprietor
[illegible]

AGENTS $1,000 For Year and Expenses is what we are paying. [illegible]
R. D. LUETCHFORD & CO.,
[illegible]

RHYTHMIC RAYS.

Autumn Glories.

The autumn's gorgeous golden cup,
With a warm impurpled rim;
The sunset lavishly fills it up
With rosy wine to the brim.

And when the wind so wearily grieves
Through grasses parched and dead,
It spills the wine on the trembling leaves,
And turns them yellow and red.

The field is russet and purple,
The wood is scarlet and gold;
A river of flaming color
Makes warm the dreary wold.

And when with the dancing sunbeams
The landscape is all aglow,
It seems that countless lovely tints
Together in harmony flow.

October in brilliant dress is here,
And southward the birds retired;
And Nature in her fingers sere
Carries a [illegible] of fire.

A rustling mantle of gold
Autumn round himself doth fling;
And, king-like, wrapped in its splendid fold
In beauty out-vies the spring.
—A. J. Schneider, in America.

Always the Other Fellow.

The force of argument depends
Upon the way it hits your friends.

Especially when most exact
With painful force of trenchant fact.

For talk that cuts, with meaning clear,
Through carefully preserved veneer,

Applied to you, is an offense,
But to your friend is eloquence.
—Philadelphia Press.

Magic of the Diamond.

I loved a fashionable miss,
I paid her marked attention,
And of my fervent love for her
I frequently made mention.
She listened when I told the tale,
And seemed quite interested,
But when I asked her if she'd wed,
She scornfully protested.

Determined that she should be mine,
I conned the situation,
And schemed for the accomplishment
Of her capitulation.
I bought a handsome diamond ring—
A solitary jewel—
And with it sought the presence of
This maid so cold and cruel.

I once more told the story of
My deep and true affection,
And then and there produced the ring
For her minute inspection.
Its sparkling beauty won her so,
She straightway ceased resistance,
And then I knew I'd won her
With the diamond's assistance.
—Frank D. Welch, in The Jeweler.

Time's Change.

The hour's late: the silver moon is full:
While from the covert of the maple shade
A youth in song asks: "Art thou sleeping, love?"
And wakes night's echoes with his serenade.

Fifty years go on; the hour's later still;
The moon's full, too, but in the doorway deep
The same youth now his latchkey softly turns,
And only prays that she may be asleep.
—Exchange.

Ye College Graduate.

He can give the laws of Solon,
He can draw the flag of Colon,
He can write a Babylonian I. O. U.;
He can make a writ in German,
He can draft a Turkish firman,
But the English common law he never knew.

He can write his thoughts in Spanish,
He can make a speech in Danish,
He recite such Sanscrit as would turn your brain;
The Moallakat Arabic
He can scan in feet-syllabic,
But he couldn't tell old Shakespeare from Mark Twain.

He can fathom all the mystery
Of old Ethiopic history;
He can name one thousand Norse Kings—more or less;
He can mark the Roman bound'ries,
And describe the Aztec foundries;
But has never seen the "Statutes of U. S."

He can trace the radius vector
With a geometric sector,
He can give the moon's diameter to feet;
He can analyze the atom,
Classify the sepsis serum;
But he can not tell a cabbage from a beet.
—W. A. Buxton, in Yankee Blade.

In Pecuniary Parlance.

In all life's ways and walks, for checks as well as hawks—
'Tis money talks!
Schemes may be strong or weak, and schemers bold or meek—
Simoleons speak!
Some men have truths to teach some sour grapes to reach—
Piastres preach!
Some arguments are tame and some tongues are lame—
Dollars declaim!
Some empty heads may rattle, some urge men on to battle—
But pennies prattle!
Some even have a "record," some glorious appeals—
But "mons" carol!
Hang banners on our walls, yea, hire domes and halls—
But coin calls!
Some men uphold a State, some conquer angry fate—
'Tis "plunks" that prate!
Some men there are make bets there, some boast that they are "vets" there—
Gold gets there—
Thank Heaven for sites and marshes, and not out with the purses—
'Tis cash converses!
—N. Y. World.

Illusion.

When in that joyful summer-time
Through sunny lanes our way we wended,
Repeating now and then a rhyme
Of lovers' joys and sorrows blended,
How very light of heart were we,
As swiftly fled the gladsome hours!
No happier days than those could be—
There was no bliss like unto ours!

Ah me! now sorry is my lot;
I'm not so happy as [illegible] may be:
I never thought I'd have to cook,
Do chores, match silk, and hold the baby.
And so my song is far from gay,
Unstringing the once so merry lyre,
For, too, I rise ere dawn of day
To plan and build the morning fire.
—Nathan M. Levy, in Judge.

The Flapping of a Fly's Wing.

The slow flapping of a butterfly's wing produces no sound, but when the movements are rapid a noise is produced which increases in shrillness with the number of vibrations. Thus the house fly, which produces the sound F, vibrates its wings 21,120 times a minute, or 335 times in a second; and the bee, which makes a sound of A, as many as 26,400 times, or 440 times in a second. On the contrary, a tired bee hums in E, and therefore, according to theory, vibrates its wings only 330 times in a second. Marey, the naturalist, after many attempts has succeeded, by a delicate mechanism, in confirming these numbers graphically. He fixed a fly so that the tip of the wing just touched a cylinder, which was moved by clockwork. Each stroke of the wing caused a mark, of course very slight, but still quite perceptible, and thus showed that there were actually 330 strokes in a second, agreeing almost exactly with the number of vibrations inferred from the note produced.

A Well Classified Library.

A man—who, although not attaining to be one of the wise, nevertheless knows so much that it makes him tired to remember half of it—is labeling his library in sections. On one shelf he has dictionaries, encyclopedias and such like cheery tomes; on the next above histories of wars and stories of battle; on the next ancient histories, on the next orations and speeches of eminent statesmen and ministers; next poetry, and above all, works on political economy, etc. So he labels these shelves consecutively, "Lore," "Gore," "Yore," "Roar," "Soar" and "Snore."

Rubber Tree Culture.

The Mexican Government has granted a concession for rubber tree culture in the State of Oaxaca, paying three cents per tree planted, and permitting the free entrance of all needed machinery and appliances. The concessionaires must plant one million trees the first year, and each succeeding year one million fifty thousand till fifteen million are planted. A company with a capital of one million dollars is to be organized to carry this concession into effect. Six years are required for the rubber tree to come to maturity, after which the yield of rubber is steady.

Happy People.

Thanks to Inventor Edison, bits of Prince Bismarck's conversation have been now reproduced by phonograph for the benefit of his admirers in the Fatherland. All that the German patriot has to do now is to sit quietly before his table in the beer garden and set the machine going. If the waiters are attentive he will not die of thirst.

THE MOUNTED POLICE.

Heroes in New York Who Daily Risk Their Lives.

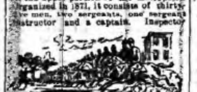
A Compact Corps Whose Services are Invaluable—The Squad at Drill—Very Knowing Horses—Patrolling the Fashionable Drives.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

There is a heavy tramping of hoofs around a curve in the road, and a cloud of dust obscures the view of High Bridge and hides the green hillside on the eastern bank of the Hudson. Suddenly, with a great clatter, four lines of horsemen dash past, five abreast. They are in true alignment, notwithstanding their headlong speed. In front rides a veteran, and at a word from him the command checks its pace like one man, and comes to a halt, on a little square in front of the old picturesque-looking hotel that is now used as the headquarters of the police of the Thirty-first Metropolitan Precinct, New York City, and the rendezvous of the famous "Mounted Squad."

Although it is hardly an hour past daybreak, the blue-coated troopers are already at morning drill. Sergeant William Revell, the instructor, is an old army cavalryman, and he puts them through the regular course of military tactics. There is plenty of room on the little square for these evolutions, and the trained animals show remarkable intelligence. They wheel in single formation, break and fall into fours, face front and advance in a single unbroken line, so straight that you might run a rope across the square and be sure of touching every horse's nose with it. At the word from the sergeant men and horses sweep past like a whirlwind, stopping at the "Halt!" almost instantly. "Right about face" brings the whole troop around with a swing that reminds us of the trick horses in a circus, heels and heads elevated an instant, while the shining, silky skins reflect the sunlight, as they describe the circling motion in obedience to the command. The "Attention" and the "Dismount" are the same as in cavalry tactics. The fifteen minute drill is followed by inspection and then the troop is ready for the duties of the day.

To strangers who visit the big city and, indeed, to many New Yorkers themselves, the sight of a mounted policeman is a novelty. Yet the mounted squad is an important element in the upper portion of the metropolis. Organized in 1871, it consists of thirty-five men, two sergeants, one sergeant instructor and a captain. Inspector

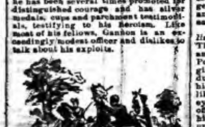


THE MORNING DRILL.

Alexander S. Williams, the most daring police officer in New York, was its first commander, and was succeeded by Captain Washburn. Its members are all young, active and vigorous fellows, picked for the service on account of their excellent horsemanship and fine athletic qualities. Their salary is $1,200 a year, sergeants receiving $2,000 and the captain $2,500. Besides, it is considered among the police a mark of honor to be appointed to the corps, as its members are exempt from any of the petty duties that annoy the foot patrolmen and have better chances of recognition and promotion, for it is an organization where courage, coolness and strength are sure to tell, sooner or later. The splendid young fellows fully appreciate this and are ever on the alert for some opportunity to distinguish themselves. There is probably no corps in the country, civic or military, in which the spirit of hearty emulation prevails to such an extent as in the mounted squad.

The squad is divided into two commands, the regular and special patrols. The regular patrol is in two platoons. The special mounted patrol consists of eleven men and a roundsman. Its duty is a pleasant one. They are the finest looking men in the corps and bear to it the same relation that the gigantic Broadway squad does to the regular police. They patrol the leading promenades uptown, Fifth, Lenox, St. Nicholas, and Jerome avenues, from Seventy-second street to 170th street. This vast territory includes the most fashionable quarter and all the drives that are patronized by the "upper ten." The blue-coated troopers ride in and out among the liveried carriages, keep the roadways clear, stop runaways and prevent fast driving and frequently have a sharp brush after a thief or a pickpocket. They skirt the edges of the Park and keep a sharp lookout for "mashers," who would otherwise make life a burden for many of the ladies who ride out unescorted for an airing. It is one of the funniest of sights to witness a big policeman warning off some stylishly dressed fop who has persisted in following either in carriage or afoot, ladies with whom he has no acquaintance.

But such things are trivial incidents alongside of the daily experiences of the mounted squad. Hardly a day passes on which half a dozen runaways are not caught by the officers, some of them at the risk of life. One of the bravest men in the service is Sergeant Gannon, the hero of half a hundred thrilling escapades. About forty years of age, broad shouldered and bronzed, he has been several times promoted for distinguished courage and has silver medals, cups and parchment testimonials, testifying to his heroism. Like most of his fellows, Gannon is an exceedingly modest officer and dislikes to talk about his exploits.



STOPPING A RUNAWAY.

"The pluckiest man in the corps," said he, "is Officer Chris. Rabbitt, who is now laid up from injuries received while catching a runaway team the other day on Seventh avenue. He stopped the team; but he took a big risk, for it was going along at breakneck speed. Rabbitt, however, isn't a man to be scared at anything, so in he dashed, right in front of the wild horses, just as he had done safely and successfully to a dozen teams before. His own horse swerved a bit, and, before he could extricate himself, he was down with his horse partly above him. It was a narrow escape but he'll soon be around again all right.

"I don't think the question of risk enters a man's mind so much when he's on horseback, as when afoot," he continued. "I remember once, on Jerome avenue, seeing a team coming along at a terrific pace. Mr. J. [illegible] Ayers was seated in the wagon and it was clear that he had lost all control of the horses. There were lots of people out driving that day, which made a runaway all the more dangerous. Inspector Thorne was on the avenue, and so was Robert Bonner with one of his fast turnouts. I started for the team and, waiting till it swept by, I grabbed it and was instantly pitched headlong from my horse. But I didn't let go. Somehow I held on to the bridle, and the next thing I knew we were all down together in a heap, horses, men and carriages. Several people drew up and helped us out of the tangle and although I felt pretty sore, I wasn't seriously hurt. Strangest thing about it was that nobody was hurt, not even the horses; but to look at us there on the ground, all in a bunch, they told me afterwards, one would have thought somebody was pretty sure to be killed.

RUNNING DOWN A THIEF.

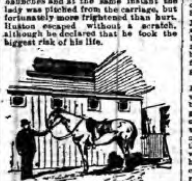
"But the queerest experience I ever had with a runaway was with the team of Mr. J. K. Gracie, of the Mexican Telegraph Company. His horse bolted on Lenox avenue. The road was pretty clear. Well, it came bowling along, swinging from side to side in a dangerous sort of way, and threatening to pitch over. I was behind, and after a sharp brush came up alongside. The off horse was the fellow that had caused all the trouble; I could see that with half an eye. He was furiously excited and plunging as though he would tear the wagon to pieces. The nigh horse was calmer. I never knew just how it happened, but as I came alongside I saw a chance and throwing my leg off my own brute, I leaped on the nigh horse and was firmly seated in a couple of seconds, with the reins well in hand. I pulled them up, all hot and white with foam, in less than a hundred yards, with my own horse, Roundsman, close behind, and looking as pleased as though he had done the thing himself instead of having put me up to it, as he really did."

The whole history of the corps, since it first began to patrol the suburbs and the beautiful drives of upper New York, is one of pluck and bravery. Officer Huston is another member who has distinguished himself by many rescues from deadly peril and also by cleverly running down many a marauder in the section between McComb's Dam Bridge and Jerome Park. One of his runaway experiences show remarkable courage. A carriage containing a young lady, helpless from terror was tearing along St. Nicholas avenue. The horses had been scared by something and were frantic. The road was full of vehicles and a collision was inevitable. Huston met the furious brutes in the middle of the road, interposing his own horse as a barrier. He grasped the reins, threw both horses on their haunches and at the same instant the lady was pitched from the carriage, but fortunately more frightened than hurt. Huston escaped without a scratch, although he declared that he took the biggest risk of his life.



"ROUNDSMAN."

Although they are a little old-fashioned the stalls where the horses of the mounted squad are stabled are a model of cleanliness and comfort. On the walls and just above the horses' heads are metal strips on which the names of the occupants are painted. Stableman Adam Furston, who has had charge of the animals ever since the patrol was organized, shows much affection for his equine pets.

"There is Roundsman," he said, pointing to a magnificent brown cob next to the door. "His master is Sergeant Revell, the father and instructor of the squad. Roundsman is eight years old and has carried the Sergeant on many a hot chase. That big fellow in the next stall is Pompey. Yes, he's a monstrous horse, fully fifteen hands and about 1,300 pounds. He is twelve years old and I sometimes think he knows more than any man in the squad," he added, as he rubbed Pompey's nose softly, while the intelligent brute winked in corroboration of the statement. "He knows every telegraph post uptown and could stop a runaway himself, if let alone. Yes, sir; there ain't a horse can escape him when he once gets started, for Pompey is tricky and cute, and will get across the bolter by strategy somehow, even if he has to cut across lots to do it. He is Henry Clay stock and took the first prize at the horse show in Gilmore's Garden several years ago. When the annual parade comes off on the 29th of May, Pompey, who seems to know just what is going to happen, puts on airs, for he is always ridden by Superintendent Murray, the Chief of Police. Just see how his chestnut skin shines, though he's a veteran he's as frisky and quick as a two-year-old.

"That brown horse there is George and the other next to him is Billy. He's a famous runner Billy is, and you can't tire him out either. Leo here is just like him. Look at Jumbo, there. Isn't he a big fellow? He isn't as plump and handsome as Roundsman or Fanny the bay mare over in that box stall, but he's a capital horse. Fanny is the fastest and fleetest of the stud. Sergeant Delany rides her and she behaves for nobody else. Another spirited creature is Flora, the Captain's mare. That sleek little beauty yonder that's looking at you so shyly. Lord bless you! She'd kick your head off if she had the chance. She kicks her stall to flinders occasionally just for fun. She is of Kentucky racing stock, and Captain Westburn has got a capital record out of her, trotting to wagon.

"All the horses are good stock, well-bred and valuable, probably averaging $500 to $700, some even higher. They get the best of care, plenty of exercise, and all the corn and oats they can eat."

All are cob-built, stocky but clean-limbed and nimble as a set of racers. Their average weight is 1,[illegible] pounds, and their height 14 hands. Napoleon, Pompey and Jumbo standing out like giants among their fellows. On duty the horse keeps watch as well as his rider. He can detect a runaway like a flash, and with ears set back and eyes beaming with excitement, he is off in pursuit before the spur touches his flank. He knows, too, how to break up a crowd without trampling anybody, and when chasing an offender will leap low walls and fences like a steeplechaser. None but a cob can do such work daily without breaking down.

The men of the mounted squad love these horses. In the hot noon of summer they can be seen seeking the shady nooks of the drives and avenues to cool the animals, and every officer on the squad makes it a rule to carry some sugar in his saddle pouch to feed to his mount between meals. For quick, efficient service in the open territory in the immediate vicinity of a thickly populated city, the mounted patrol is unsurpassed. Every year demonstrates its increasing value and importance, and it is expected that before the World's Fair brings its multitude of visitors to the suburbs of the metropolis, the mounted squad will be largely augmented in numbers, as it will certainly be relied upon for a much wider field of duty than it now occupies.

G. H. SANDISON.

NUGGETS OF NEGRO WIT.

Ef yo' got no shoes don't trompie in de bramble.

Yo' kaint follow buzzard and yo' boun' fin' dead hoss.

Mighty high-minded cat. De milk jug war empty.

Bout's yo' eat ere Monday, whafo yo' hankerin' fur hen on Tuesday?

Brer Rab, he done git catched by his foot, Sister Mas by her tongue.

"Who my boss?" sez de Copperhead, and de lightwood chunk he say: "I is."

Black man shoot fur de beeah. Mebbe he shoot snake, mebbe at [illegible].

When yo's cookin' and dogs is round, keep one eye on de roast, t'other on de dogs.

Face an ox behind, a mule befo', but a [illegible] no whare; he don't got no safe side.

'Case yo' chimbly done quit smoke in summer time, no pull her down; bime-by winter come.

Accidents Will Happen.

A French soldier in active service was informed by the mayor of his village that his father had recently died. In acknowledgment he wrote as follows: "Monsieur le maire, I heartily thank you for my father's death. It is a little accident that often happens in families. As for myself, I am in the hospital minus one leg, with which I have the honor to salute you."

QUEER DOINGS OF PEOPLE.

A PHILADELPHIA man committed suicide rather than take some physic ordered by the doctor.

A CITIZEN of Tacoma, whose fiancee died recently, had himself and the deceased photographed together.

A VIENNA millionaire who died a short time ago had such an antipathy to darkness that he provided by will for an electric light to be kept burning in the vault during the entire year, the interior of his coffin also to be electrically lighted.

AN eccentric farmer of Marion, Mo., who died recently, by his will bequeathed $50,000 to found a home for "indigent hackmen." The strangest circumstance in relation to the will is that there are few hackmen in that portion of Missouri.

WHEN Mrs. Hastings, of Carlisle, N. Y., passed over the dark river her husband had an epitaph all ready for her monument. A portion of it reads: "She never borrowed one single thing from her neighbor during her thirty-four years of wedded life."

A GENTLEMAN living at Marietta, Ga., is thoroughly temperate as to ardent spirits, but never drinks any water. He confines himself to milk and coffee, and seems to enjoy as much of health as the usual run of mankind. He says he has no aversion to water, but has no desire to drink it.

A RESIDENT of Hall County, Ga., lately made a will leaving all his property to the blind, one-armed and one-legged Confederate veterans of Hall and White counties. He is the father of several children, who are thus debarred from any right to his property, which amounts to about $10,000.

AN Erie man had great fun the other day by letting a good eel loose in a crowded store and telling the people to save themselves, as the big rattlesnake had escaped from the dime museum. In the melee a large quantity of goods was badly damaged, boxes and jars smashed and the floor flooded with molasses. Four ladies fainted. The eel and the practical joker escaped.

A LANSING (Mich.) man has a novel way of ridding his face of whiskers. Every Sunday morning for the past twenty-two years he has sat down before the glass and pulled the hair out of the lower part of his face with a pair of tweezers. He says that it hurt like most any thing at first, but he don't mind it a bit now. He is seventy-five years old, and is loaded with nerve and grit.

TWENTY-SIX years ago a soldier, now of Portland, Ore., was seriously wounded while aiming over a stone wall at Gettysburg. Recently he made up his mind to get married, and that old stone wall recurred to his mind. It was there he met with his first serious trouble, so since he must get married he would do it there, and then if he didn't like it he could lay it to the wall. So he tucked the young lady under his arm and hied him to the Gettysburg cyclorama, where the ceremony went merrily on, the couple standing facing the pictured image of the identical old wall.

COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

HUGE plates of glass are now cut by electricity.

THERE are 6,000 kangaroo skins received in Newark, N. J., every week.

NEARLY every vessel clearing from San Diego, Cal., nowadays carries from ten to thirteen tons of honey.

THE increase in the value of all Southern crops this year over last will range somewhere between $125,000,000 and $150,000,000.

ONE of the singular developments in the growth of Southern industries is the manufacture there of large quantities of stoves for the North.

A FIRE kindler made of asbestos and used with kerosene oil is one of the latest labor-saving machines which a Maine Yankee has put upon the market.

OF 13,000,000 barrels of salt annually consumed in the United States Michigan furnishes two-sixths, New York one-sixth, ten other salt-producing States one-sixth, and two-sixths are imported.

THE skillful cork-cutter can produce from 1,500 to 2,000 corks a day, his only tools being two sharp broad-bladed knives. Machines have been introduced which can turn out about 2,000 corks an hour, but they are useless for the cutting of the finer qualities.

THE state of the gem market may be thus described: The price of emeralds and rubies is yearly increasing. Diamonds and white pearls are not getting dearer. Black pearls have been increasing steadily in price for the last four or five years; in fact it is almost impossible to supply the demand for them.

CALIFORNIA will make 3,000,000 gallons less of wine this year than last. This is because so large a portion of the grapes went not to juice but to raisins. The wily vineyarders found that they could squeeze more money out of dried grapes than by squeezing wine out of the fresh ones.

THE trade in oysters with the West, says a New York dealer, is increasing annually. Time was when the West was mainly supplied by the fresh-water cove oysters of Baltimore, but the westerners have now learned that the Chesapeake oyster can not touch, in point of flavor, the juicy salt water oyster of the North. So New York City is getting all the Baltimore trade. There are seven houses in the western packing trade in Gotham, and each one opens at least 150,000 shells daily.

EXTRAORDINARY FEATS.

A COLORED man of Yorkville, S. C., on a small wager, recently ate seven dozen fried eggs in four hours.

AT a Cochocton (Pa.) pie-eating match last week the winner disposed of eighteen pies in one hour and a half.

THE feat of sculling across the English channel from Dover to Calais in a small, open punt was performed recently by one Molesworth.

THERE is a Jewish penman in Vienna, Austria, who can write four hundred letters on a grain of wheat. In order to furnish the Emperor with satisfactory evidence of his extraordinary skill he has written the imperial family a Jewish prayer on the narrow edge of a visiting card.

A REMARKABLE feat was lately completed by Julius G. Ellinger, a cooper of Allegan, Mich., making 10,000 barrels in forty weeks, working eight hours per day, which beats all records of barrel-making in the United States. Every stave, head, hoop and nail must be handled separately, and some stages from one to three times. In making 10,000 barrels it takes 170,000 staves, 55,000 pieces of heading, 60,000 hoops and 180,000 nails. It would require ten box cars to carry the timber and fifty to carry the finished barrels.

AN extraordinary diving feat has been accomplished at Blackpool North Pier. The weather was boisterous, but Miss Annie Johnson essayed the task of staying under the water longer than two minutes fifty-one and one-quarter seconds, which ranked as the record achievement. She stayed three minutes ten seconds, which is eighteen and one-quarter seconds longer than the time made by Luriline some years ago. Miss Johnson is nineteen years of age, and is one of the most accomplished lady swimmers in the world.

RAILWAY RUMOR.

RAILROADERS have asked the Government to compel the use of automatic brakes and couplers.

A WRITER in the Railway Age confidently predicts that the time between New York and Chicago, now twenty-four hours, will some day be reduced to ten hours.

THE most successful electric brake is controlled by a dynamo on the locomotive. In case a train breaks in two sections a separate motor automatically stops the train. The system is made up of a series of magnets on each car.

THE loss of coupling-pins, says the Albany Journal, is a mystery to railroad men. Where they all go to no one appears to be able to conjecture. Even in yards where the same cars that come in go out again additional coupling-pins are called for constantly. At the West Albany railroad yard the Central Hudson railroad uses a barrel of new coupling-pins a month. It is safe to say that 1,000,000 pins are supplied the West Albany yard in a year.

A FAN for cars and other moving vehicles is a most admirable invention. To one of the wheels of the vehicle a pulley is attached by a belt to a vertical shaft, having suitable bearings on one end of the car, adapted to be clutched and unclutched from another shaft extending the length of the car. The fan shafts are across the car, and are operated by belts or cords from the shaft, keeping fans along the top of the car in vigorous motion, causing a constant circulation of air.

THE "PALACE CHICKEN CAR" is the latest development of luxury in railway transportation. Some Chicago men of railway experience have had one or two cars constructed so as to contain a large number of separate coops with wire partitions, giving room for the fowls to move about, and with arrangements for supplying the passengers with food and drink, and passage ways by which each coop can be reached. Thousands of chickens can be carried in one of these cars across the continent in good condition.

A DEVICE has been invented which enables the engineer, when in his cab, to turn a switch, which can be closed again from the rear of the train. It is operated in connection with the "central throw" switch, and consists of a "shoe," which is dropped from the forward and rear trucks. This strikes a crank, which is overthrown and the switch closed and opened as the case may be. A switch left open carelessly may thus be closed by the locomotive while at high speed, or a train side tracked quickly in case of danger.

AN improved headlight for locomotives has an adjustment which allows the engineer to conveniently direct the light as he may desire to various points off the line. The lantern is supported on a frame or platform, which has a movement to right or left about a vertical axis, and also up or down by the same means, the operating mechanism leading back to the cab, so as to be within ready reach of the engineer. He is enabled by this arrangement to examine dangerous or doubtful parts of the road, and in stormy weather to turn the light upon threatening trees or masses of earth or rock upon either side, and which are liable to fall.

NEWSPAPER NONSENSE.

IT is reported that there is a skipper who has been so often across the Atlantic that he knows every wave by sight.

AN "affair of honor" between a Louisiana sheriff and a Southern editor resulted fatally for both. Pistols are yet dangerous weapons in the hands of experts.

A SCARECROW in Norfolk not only scared every crow that saw it, but one crow was so frightened that he brought back the corn he had carried to his nest three days before.

IT is figured that it would take one hundred million dollars to give every poor person in the world an oyster stew, a roast of beef and a mince pie, and the philanthropist with a cash capital of seven dollars may well feel discouraged.

IN Madagascar you can keep house, live well and have three servants for about seventy cents per week. A hired girl would be paralyzed with astonishment if paid over six cents per week, and the washwoman thinks she has a soft snap at three cents per day.

A WELL-KNOWN Oil City man, who has for years acted as usher in one of the churches, recently went away for a vacation. He took a seat in the cars several minutes before the train started, and every time a person stepped in he would get up and show him or her to a seat.

A RAILROAD conductor wanting to teach a new brakeman his duties told him to go to the other end of the car and when he, the conductor, called out the names of the stations along the route that he should say the same at the end of the car. When they came to the first station the conductor called out "Ma-wash-in-e-ta," which is a small town between Indianapolis and Elkhart, Ind., and the brakeman yelled with all the might his lungs would permit him: "The same at this end!"

THE excitement caused among nervous passengers on a Hudson river train by the strange proceedings of a supposed lunatic turns out to be groundless. The man was after all merely a harmless eccentric, who sat still with his hat off, had his ticket ready as often as the conductor became anxious about it, never once banged the car door all the way from Peekskill to the Grand Central and gently closed his eyes when the apple and news fiend passed through.

AN Englishman visiting Lake Tahoe asked a native if there was good fishing in the lake. "Oh! yes, stranger." "What kind of fish do you catch here?" "Oh! all kinds, stranger." "What did the largest fish you ever caught here weigh?" "Wall, stranger, we don't take no weighing machines when we goes fishing, and I am an honest man and wouldn't like to say how much that last trout I caught would weigh. But I tell you, stranger, that when I pulled that fish out of the water the lake went down a foot."

SCIENCE IN BRIEF.

A SOCIETY has been started in London to promote the development of the science of mesmerism and of the application of hypnotism to practical medicine.

TO GIVE an idea of the kind of telephone cable which would be required to work under the ocean it has been calculated that the copper core would have to be as large around as a flour barrel, and the insulation the diameter of a hogshead.

DURING a course of experiments made with a view to discovering the comparative solubility of different kinds of glass in water plumbiferous flint glass was found to be the least soluble. The relative resistance of glasses was different toward hot and cold water.

IT seems that as yet no one knows how the centipede divides work amongst its various members. Nature mentions this as a phenomenon more puzzling than that of the galloping horse. It is proposed to investigate the matter by means of instantaneous photographs.

LUMINOUS paint absorbs light during the day and gives it forth at night. The ceiling of an English car painted with the composition lights the vehicle at night. England had the only factory, and charged three dollars a pound for the paint, but a factory in Triesch, Austria, is selling it for fifty cents per pound. It is made of roasted oyster shells and sulphur.

A NEW mode of teaching music has been proposed in France, based on the periodicity of the octave. A radical reform is aimed at, the system being expounded in a series of fundamental propositions, such as, musical effect is quite different from acoustic effect; there can be no physical gamut, a major and a minor, but only one, that of the white notes of the piano called major, and so on.

A FRENCH scientist has discovered a new insulating substance. A bi-product resulting from the treatment of asphalt with sulphuric acid, which has hitherto been considered of no value, has been found to furnish what, according to La Lumiere Electrique, is an excellent insulating material. This substance, which resembles ordinary asphalt, becomes, after exposure to great heat, as hard as ebonite or vulcanite; and possesses high insulating properties.

IN France, when a patient is under chloroform, on the slightest symptoms appearing of failure of the heart they turn him nearly upside down—that is, with his head downward and his heels in the air. This, they say, always restores him; and such is their faith in the efficacy of this method that the operating tables in the Paris hospitals are made so that in an instant they can be elevated with one end in the air, so as to bring the patient into a position resembling that of standing on his head.

SIR EDWIN CHADWICK, in an address on sanitary science, says: "Physicians are beginning to declare that a large amount of the crime for which punishment is inflicted is due to insanity, and that insanity is due to low physical condition which sanitation by early physical training would remove. There are experiences to show that this is the fact. Dr. Ashe and others conversant with the lunatic asylum declare that as a class, lunatics are of a low physical condition, and that low condition is reducible by sanitation and early physical training. Of 30,000 blind persons the late Dr. Rolph declared that two-thirds might have been saved by early sanitation."

THE late E. P. Roe found no difficulty in writing $50,000 worth a year.

BRANDER MATTHEWS averages an annual income from literature of about $3,000.

CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER is paid $1,300 for his department in Harper's Magazine.

MISS MURFREE'S (Charles Egbert Craddock's) novels yield her about $3,000 a year.

FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT is getting rich at the rate of from $20,000 to $25,000 a year.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE. | A. L. FORCE.
Editors and Proprietors.

THE PEOPLE.

The result of last week's political battle in the important States of New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Virginia, Ohio and Iowa, has dumbfounded the Republicans.

Rubbing bewildered eyes they soliloquize after the manner of the colored gentleman—"Who frew dat brick?"

It is an interesting query.

In the hour of partisan triumph, Republican friends, you are wont to cheer loud and long, and sometimes not altogether decorously, over defeated opponents, therefore, when the wheel of political fortune brings us poor Democrats on top, don't feel aggrieved if we indulge in a little modest exultation.

Magnanimity in victory and unwavering fortitude in defeat constitute both Democratic doctrine and usage.

"Who frew dat brick?"

Where did it strike?

In Iowa, where for the first time in history there is a Democratic Governor elect.

In Ohio, where the gory-garmented and windy-mouthed Foraker lies terribly wounded outside the breastworks, and the Democrats are in possession of a Legislature that will elect a United States Senator.

In MASSACHUSETTS, where the heavy Republican majority was cut down to comparatively insignificant figures.

In VIRGINIA, where that arrant demagogue Mahone, in spite of much money and patronage, is buried beyond political resurrection by an avalanche of ballots.

In NEW YORK, where the Democrats carry their State ticket through to the majority tune of a score of thousands.

In NEW JERSEY, where Democracy gains fifty per cent. over its usual partisan strength.

Mission flow think and feel around your heads on the 6th of November, friends of the Republican faith, and you may expect similar stunning showers hereafter.

Search for the cause, and when discovered, as it can be, make honest acknowledgment.

Effects can generally be traced back to causes.

But disabuse your minds, we beg you, of the idea that the party of Jefferson, Jackson and Cleveland is dead.

Like the old guard of Napoleon the Democratic party never surrenders.

Within every city, village and rural district of our widely-expanded Union it is now livingly encamped, and when the bugle sounds in 1892, from hillside, valley and plain its legions of horny-handed warriors will rush into combat, bent upon achieving for popular rights and the principles of truth and equity a peaceful victory.

Dr. Talmage Again an Editor.

Beginning with January 1, next, the Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D., will become one of the editors of The Ladies' Home Journal, of Philadelphia. The famous preacher will have a regular department each month, written by himself, with the title "Under My Study Lamp." His first contribution will appear in the January number of the Journal. Dr. Talmage's salary is said to be one of the largest ever paid for editorial work.

County Board of Canvassers.

The members of the above board met at Elizabeth, Friday, and announced the following result of Tuesday's election:

FOR GOVERNOR.

Abbett, D.	6,3[illegible]
Grubb, R.	5,6[illegible]
LaMonte, P.	2[illegible]

ASSEMBLY—3d District.

Ulrich, R.	2,14[illegible]
Coddington, D.	1,7[illegible]
Mossett, P.	10[illegible]

WHAT OF THE RESULT?

The battle is over, the smoke cleared away, and the result can be computed. The Republican loss of votes is as follows:

Iowa	[illegible]
Ohio	[illegible]
Virginia	[illegible]
Massachusetts	[illegible]
Pennsylvania	[illegible]
Nebraska	[illegible]
New Jersey	[illegible]
New York	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

Did Colonel Shepard mean to applaud the above result, by his biblical text at the head of the editorial column of the Mail and Express, Thursday evening? It was, "The Heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament showeth His handiwork."

FALSEHOOD AGAIN REFUTED.

To the Public:

Since the very erroneous statement published in the issue of November 8, making certain damaging charges against our worthy City Clerk, I have waited with a great deal of anxiety to hear what course he would take to refute the statements contained therein. Now I see in a published interview with a PRESS reporter that our gentlemanly Clerk considers the paper too small for his attention.

I agree with him, but as a city official intimately connected with the payment of these poor men, the men he ardently loves, I am prepared to state that the want [illegible] is, to use a mild term, very much mistaken. As regards the first charge, the men have never waited longer than five days for their checks, and that only occurred once, owing to the absence from the city of another official whose signature was necessary on the warrants.

Ordinarily the warrants are ready in three days. In the case of the last working on Monday, November 4, they were placed in my hands on the following Wednesday. Some of the men obtained their money on that day, and all received it on Thursday—with one single exception—just three days after the meeting of the Council. As regards the affidavits, I have taken pains to inquire of the men employed by me on city work, and they state that the City Clerk has never charged them one cent for so doing, although legally entitled to do so.

It also affords me great pleasure to add that in all my dealings with Mr. Leonard, I have ever found him an upright Christian gentleman, and a friend to the poor man.

GEO. M. ANGLEMAN,
Street Commissioner.

[We would add that the statement in the news that this paper "called attention to vexatious delays" of any sort on the part of the City Clerk, is entirely false. We never "called attention to the fact that the city offices were often filled with laboring men clamoring for their pay warrants," simply because it is not a "fact" but a lie. The Council, the people, and THE PRESS can and do speak in praise only, of City Clerk Leonard.—ED.]

—People should be very careful this changeable weather, and dress accordingly.

Sentence Day in Court.

A special session of court was held at Elizabeth on Saturday for the purpose of imposing sentences on a number of prisoners who had been convicted and had entered pleas of guilty. Among them was Harry Forester of North Plainfield, who pleaded guilty to the robbery of Mr. E. J. Olsen's residence on East Second street. The breaking was by day. The prisoner said he had been convicted of crime before. He was sentenced to State Prison for five years.

New Mail Boxes.

Additional letter boxes were Monday placed at Front street and Clinton avenue, and at Seventh street and Grant avenue. One will also be placed near the Pond Tool Works, as soon as a post is in position to receive it.

The boxes sent for the new route are of an improved pattern. The drop is on the top of the box. A small knob is pressed down and a tray is exposed, upon which you lay your mail and let go the knob which closes the tray and drops the mail to the bottom of the box.

One of these boxes is also placed on Front street, opposite Madison avenue.

Trains Running to the Highlands Again, and Squankum Station Discontinued.

Trains resumed running Monday with the new time table between Seabright and Highland Beach on the Central Railroad of New Jersey. They had been off since the cyclone, which tore up the tracks for a long distance.

The management has changed the names of some of the stations, and also established some new ones. Port Monmouth will hereafter be known as Port Monmouth Shore. There will be a new station called Hendrickson's, two and three-quarters miles South of Farmingdale on the N. J. Southern. Squankum will be discontinued.

The Company is building a new freight station at Constable Hook, with full connection. The Elizabethport ferry used to stop there to take on the local freight, much of which consists of farm products, but the Standard Oil Company, which owns the ferry landing, needs it for its own use, and so the ferry no longer stops there.

BEHIND OR SEEMINGLY SENTIMENTAL.

Why Mr. Marsh and Other Councilmen Will not be Re-elected.

Mr. Francis E. Marsh, as THE PRESS often has occasion to say, is one of the most experienced Councilmen the city has ever been blessed with, one of the best of presiding officers also, and a municipal legislator of more than the average clear headedness in all matters in general affecting the welfare of the community, excepting one in particular. When viewing the question of how best to restrict the selling of liquor—the greatest of all public evils—he is either as blind as a bat at noonday, or else considers his personal sentiments superior to the good of the people.

He is responsible with other retiring members of the Council, for a city of 63 saloons and five rum selling, instead of one-fifth that number under the control of the authorities and paying a fee of $20,000 that compels their good behavior and restricted hours, as THE PRESS and the people of common sense in the community prefer. Consequently, after consecutive years of continuous service, Mr. Marsh will not be re-elected this Fall, and although with the retirement of him and others as foolish and unreasonable in the policy referred to above, the city will lose good Councilmen in most ways it will gain better Councilmen in the matter that most vitally concerns its welfare.

THE CRESCENTS LOSE THEIR FIRST ROLL.

The second of the series of match games for the championship of the Union County Bowling League, was rolled last Monday on the alleys of the Crescent League, this city. The match was between the Crescent team and the Pastimes of Westfield. Mr. Macquoid, of the Nameless team of Westfield, was umpire.

On the start off, Messrs. VanEmburgh, Rogers, C. Teel and Kline scored strikes, amid loud admiration from the many friends of the home team present, including a number of ladies. The Westfielders all broke badly on their first frame, and the Crescents led them 31 pins.

The advantage the Plainfielders were not able to hold. Some of the best bowlers had some of the worst luck. In vain Captain Kline wound up each frame in fine style, his example was no use—his men did not seize the many opportunities offered to win the game. At the opening of the tenth frame the Westfielders were beaten if their opponents could have made even a few little spares. But VanEmburgh, H. Teel, Baker and Reed broke badly, bowling off their spares, and Rogers and C. Teel did likewise on their strikes.

Therefore the score finished as below:

CRESTON.	S	S	B	Total	PLAINFIELD.	S	S	B	Tot
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	VanEmb'gh	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	H. Teel	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	VanWinkle	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	Rogers	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	Baker	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	Wiggins	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	C. Teel	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	Reed	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	Emerson	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	Kline	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

FRAMES.

Crescents	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Plainfield	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Mrs. Wilkie Can Now Come Back to the United States.

A cablegram from Glasgow, Scotland, says that Mrs. Nellie Wilkie, whose Plainfield-born American child was debarred from landing in the country of its birth by the decree of the Emigration Commission at New York, is now a happy woman. Her truant husband has returned to the bosom of his family, and both he and his young wife are again reconciled. Mrs. Wilkie's husband did not go to America as she supposed, but remained abroad. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilkie announced their intention to go to America just as soon as circumstances will permit them to do so.

The Wilkie family first came to America a little over four years ago. They settled in this city where one of their children was born. After being in Plainfield several years their house and all their belongings were destroyed by fire. The family then became a charge upon the city. At their own request they were returned to Scotland. About three months ago Wilkie abandoned his wife and family. It was thought that he had fled to the United States, and therefore a charitable organization, which became aware of Mrs. Wilkie's plight, paid her passage to search for her husband.

Mrs. Wilkie and her children arrived during the latter part of September on one of the State Line steamships. Acting on the advice of Judge [illegible], and believing that Mrs. Wilkie was liable to become a pauper if permitted to land, the Emigration Commissioners took the family in custody just as soon as they arrived at Castle Garden, and a few days subsequently reported them to Collector Erhardt as people "liable to become a public charge." When Mrs. Wilkie's affidavit stating that one of her children was born here was received by Collector Erhardt he refused to take any action in the case and referred it to the Treasury Department at Washington.

After some delay the Solicitor-General of the Treasury Department rendered a decision that, even though Mrs. Wilkie was liable to become a public charge, having a child, an American citizen, she could not be debarred from landing. When the decision was received the family was already on the Atlantic returning to Glasgow.

A Plainfield Democrat Also Gets There.

Mr. Lester Leggett, formerly of this city, who is a staunch Democrat, has been elected County Treasurer of Marion County, Kansas, defeating the present incumbent, a Republican who has held the office for 18 years.

Ex-Councilman Slater's Ribs Broken.

Mr. Fred Slater of North Plainfield, one of the Civil Engineers of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, was so severely injured recently that he will be confined to his home for some time to come.

He slipped on the gang-plank of a ferry boat and fell so heavily against a railing that two of his ribs were broken close to the spine.

Thanksgiving Day Entertainment.

The members of the "Hibernia Rifles," of Elizabeth, will visit Plainfield on Thanksgiving Day, as the guests of the A. O. H., of this city. During the afternoon a short street parade will take place, and in the evening a sociable will be tendered the visitors in St. Mary's T. A. B. Hall. Other societies from Elizabeth, Jersey City and Camden have been invited to participate.

No Show for Two Weeks.

Roland Reed and Company were booked for Music Hall, next Friday evening. Yesterday their manager wired this message:

Mr. Reed is suffering from severe sore throat. Will be obliged to cancel all of next week's dates so he can go under treatment.

Consequently, there will be no theatrical entertainment at Music Hall until Thursday evening the 21st, when "The Brigands" will capture the city. Carleton's English Opera Company will be the caste.

Ministers' Meeting.

The clergymen of this city held their regular monthly meeting at the residence of Mr. P. M. Demarest on Craig place, North Plainfield, Monday night, but owing to the absence of several of the clergymen from the city the attendance was small. Rev. T. L. Murphy, who was to have read the paper, was unavoidably absent, and that part of the business was omitted.

The clergymen spent an hour or so in general conversation and then adjourned. The next regular meeting will be held at Rev. C. B. Mitchell's residence.

Adjusting the Loss.

The German American Insurance Company through Messrs J. C. Pope & Co., the agents in this city, have adjusted the loss on St. Mary's rectory, which was damaged by fire on Thursday morning last. The company allowed the church $2,000 on the building and $750 on the furniture. The church was also given all of the furniture, and the work of repairing the rectory will begin at once.

The adjustment of the claim was perfectly satisfactory to both Father Smyth and his parishioners.

New Jersey's Legislative Officers.

Speculation as to who will be the presiding officers of the State Senate and Assembly this Winter, is already getting lively. For President of the Senate the following gentlemen are being spoken of: Cranmer, of Ocean; Martin, of Essex; Nevins, of Monmouth, and Rose, of Gloucester. Marsh of Union, could be speaker of the House, although Heppenheimer, of Hudson, the Democratic leader of the last House, is being favorably mentioned.

Pawn Tickets Found.

A blue lined satchel was picked up in the street at the corner of Front and Somerset streets, late on Saturday evening. The satchel contained two pawn tickets for watches pawned in New York and Newark—one at J. Norton's loan office, No. 44 Bane, corner of Halsey streets, Newark, and the other at H. Schurtzer's, No. 103 West 31st street, New York city. At the latter place $9 was obtained on the watch.

The satchel can be had by applying at John Clark's fruit store at Front and Somerset streets.

The Tribune's Polished Account.

The New York Tribune polishes (?) up the alleged "Katie Mack" assault in North Plainfield, on Friday morning last, by stating that "Randolph and Wierenga then lay in wait at a dark street corner, and when Miss Murphy, accompanied by Gilbert Murray, passed by on her way home, Randolph sprang forward and felled her to the earth with his fists and ground his heel in her face, horribly disfiguring her. Wierenga knocked Murray down with a club. Both ruffians then fled. Miss Murphy, seriously injured, and Murray, severely cut and bruised, were taken to Dr. Carman's where three young women who had fainted at witnessing the scene were also cared for. Miss Murphy's condition is critical. Murray will recover. Marshal Pangborn is searching for the fugitives in the mountains."

Union Teachers' Meeting.

In response to the wish expressed by many Sunday school workers, the Superintendents of the various schools have united in a call for a Union Meeting of the Sunday school teachers of Plainfield, to be held on Tuesday evening the 12th inst., at 7:45 o'clock, in Vincent chapel.

The lesson of the International Series for the following Sunday was taught by Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D. D., and the question of arranging for a course of such meetings was discussed. The following Superintendents are the signers of the call: J. W. Jackson, M. E. Sunday school; H. B. Newhall, Crescent Avenue Sunday school; J. M. Whiton, Congregational Sunday school; E. E. Anthony, Trinity Reformed Sunday school; H. B. Opdyke, First Presbyterian Sunday school; C. W. McCutchen, First Baptist Sunday school; D. E. Titsworth, Seventh Day Baptist Sunday school; Thos. Runyon, Park Avenue Baptist Sunday school; H. C. Squires, Hope Chapel Sunday school; S. A. Ginna, Bethel Mission; S. B. Joseph, Mt. Olive Mission; M. M. Dunham, Warren Mission; L. L. Bonney, Washingtonville Mission.

Increasing Railroad Taxes in New Jersey.

The State Board of Assessors have completed the work of assessing the various railroad systems of the State. There are about 2,000 miles of railroad within the State, owned by 80 companies, and 173 miles of canal. The total amount of the tax to be paid by the railroads for the year is $1,329,606.56, against $1,316,292.92 last year, an increase in the State's income from that source of $13,325.62.

This increase is derived from an appreciation in the figures representing the aggregate assessed valuation with respect to all the systems, except the New York Susquehanna and Western and the Lehigh Valley. The increase in the assessed valuation in the Pennsylvania system, is $807,350; Central system, $1,261,412; Philadelphia and Reading, $362,000; New York, Lake Erie and Western, $1,344,420; Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, $282,364; and on railroads not classified, $861,360. These systems will pay into the State Treasury sums as follows:

Pennsylvania	$707,865 07
Central	2[illegible],156 [illegible]
P. & R.	30,304 27
N. Y., L. E. & W.	127,068 77
D., L. & W.	264,150 28
N. Y., S. & W.	27,790 25
Lehigh Valley	108,705 48
Railroads not classified	102,004 61

—Mr. Isaac Coddington has just completed the bridge over Stony brook, known as the Stiles bridge. The structure is of wood, and it is thought will stand the pressure brought to bear upon it by the high water in years to come.

Short-hand at the Y. M. C. A.

It is proposed to introduce in the Educational Department of the Young Men's Christian Association a class in shorthand, provided a sufficient number of young men signify at the Association rooms a desire to avail themselves of such instruction. Membership in the Association the fee of which is $2.00 includes this and all other privileges of the Association.

The Colored Samaritans.

The Seventh Anniversary of Mount Olive Lodge, No. 36, of Plainfield, of the Order of Good Samaritans and Daughters of Samaria, was held in what was formerly St. Mary's Hall, on West Fourth street, Thursday evening.

There were speeches by the Rev. Mr. Lee, pastor of Bethel chapel, Grand Sire, Bro. John Williams, and Deputy G. S., TenBroeck of Newark. Refreshments and other means of entertainment, continued the festival until morning dawned.

Will You Be There?

Don't forget the first grand ball, under the auspices of the Park Avenue and Oriental Social clubs, at The Crescent Rink, Thanksgiving Eve, Wednesday, Nov. 27. The music will be furnished by Prof. Rosswald, of New York, and the committee, Messrs F. Barker, C. Blimm, F. Talbot, R. W. Schlereth, E. L. Vroom, J. Loughlin, B. F. Craig, Jacob Bittam, Jr., W. B. Sharp and L. H. Beckman will do all in their power for the enjoyment of all who favor them with their presence. Grand march at 9 o'clock.

A Promise of Novelty in Minstrels.

George Thatcher, of this city, formerly of Thatcher, Primrose and West's Minstrels and now with the Howard Athenæum Company, has a plan for a minstrel combination for next season which he fancies will prove novel in some respects. He thinks that it will meet the demands of the times better than the sort of performance that has been so long familiar, but just what the innovations will be is not yet announced. One thing is confessed—that the first part will be written by Wm. Gillette and arranged by David Belasco, and will be something whereof the like has never been seen before. It will open in Plainfield, August of next year.

A BRUTAL ASSAULT.

The members of the Columbia Social Club gave a ball in Turn Hall, Thursday night, and among the guests were Miss Kate Murphy, of Metuchen, and three female companions. During the evening "Still" Randolph, who is employed about Seguine's livery stable and James Wierenga, coachman for Mr. A. C. Vail, of Eighth street, entered the ball room, and it is alleged tried to create a disturbance. Randolph, it is said, insisted upon dancing with Miss Murphy, and his actions became so obnoxious that an officer was called in to eject him.

The fellow and his pal hung around the streets until five o'clock next morning, when they saw Miss Murphy and her escort leave the ball room, followed by their female friends. At the corner of Somerset and Pearl streets, Randolph, it is alleged, sprang upon Miss Murphy and with a stunning blow knocked her unconscious on the sidewalk.

The woman remained motionless for a long time, and it was at first thought that her skull was fractured. Meanwhile her assailant made his escape, leaving his overcoat, which the authorities took charge of. Miss Murphy was subsequently removed to Dr. Carman's office on the opposite side of the street, where she was restored to consciousness with much difficulty.

The Union County Sunday School Association Chooses Six of its Officers from Plainfield.

At the Third Presbyterian church of Elizabeth, Friday afternoon and evening, was held the Tenth Annual Convention of the Union County Sunday School Association. Among those present from this city were the Rev. J. Lyman Hurlbut, D. D., President W. Murray and Mr. A. C. LaBoyteaux of the Young Men's Christian Association, and Mr. Marvin M. Dunham of Warren Mission. The programme was as follows:

AFTERNOON SESSION—2.30.
Devotional Exercises.
Welcome—Rev. J. T. Kerr, Pastor of Third Presbyterian church.
Response—Jas. H. Durand, President.
Appointment of Committees.
Conference—"How can we secure the best Spiritual Results in Sunday School Work?"—Led by Rev. J. Lyman Hurlbut, D. D.
Reports of Secretaries and Treasurer.
Address—"Vows of Consecration"—Rev. Henry M. Booth, D. D., of Englewood, N. J.
Address—"The World's Convention in London," Rev. S. W. Clark, Delegate from New Jersey.
Questions Asked and Answered.
EVENING SESSION—7.45.
Service of Song and Prayer.
Reports of Committees.
Election of Officers.
Address—"Making Spiritual Fishermen"—Rev. F. S. Fullan, East Orange.
Closing Words.

The election of officers for the year 1889-90, resulted in the choice of the following:

President—M. Marvin Dunham, Plainfield.
Vice Presidents—R. B. Opdyke, Plainfield. W. H. Porter, Summit.
Cor. secretary and Treasurer—J. H. Dudley, Elizabeth.
Rec. Secretary—A. C. LaBoyteaux, Plainfield.
State Executive Committee—M. Marvin Dunham, Plainfield.
Executive Committee—Jas. H. Durand, Rahway; S. W. Woodward, Elizabeth; the Rev. S. W. Cadwell, Westfield; the Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D. D., Plainfield; J. B. Conolly, Westfield; Isaac Paulin, Elizabeth; A. C. LaBoyteaux, Plainfield.

WEDDED THEMSELVES.

No Minister Performed a Service but Miss Taylor and Mr. Webster are Now One.

At the North Meeting House, corner of Sixth and Noble streets, Philadelphia, Tuesday morning at ten o'clock, took place the marriage of Miss Bertha Taylor, the older daughter of the late ex-Councilman William Taylor, of this city, to Mr. Clement Biddle Webster.

The marriage was by the Friends' ceremony, the contracting parties wedding one another. The meeting house was crowded with friends and relatives, and during the ceremony a number of ministers present rose and offered prayer as the spirit moved them. The bride wore white faille trimmed with duchesse lace, and a bonnet of white crepe. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ella Taylor, and her cousin, Miss Laura Taylor. The former wore a white China silk and a white felt hat. The bride's mother wore a black lace gown, and bonnet.

A reception from one to three o'clock was afterwards held at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Henry Taylor, 130 North Eighteenth street. Mrs. Webster was assisted in this by a number of young women among whom was the beautiful Miss Howard, of East Ninth street, this city. The collation was served by Stevens, Philadelphia's most famous caterer.

Among those present from this city were: Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stockton, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Broadway, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. VanSlyck, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Newhall, Mrs. F. C. Harder, Mrs. J. M. MacNaughton, Miss Grace Howard, Miss Elliott, Miss Rushmore, Miss Kate Kimball, Miss Guion, Miss Gertrude Rushmore, Miss Katharine Yates, Miss Julia Ketcham, Capt. Wm. B. Conover and Mr. Henry Squires, Mr. David Atwood and the Misses VanSlyck.

Upon their return from the wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Webster will reside at Frankford, one of Philadelphia's charming suburbs.

There is no more fruitful source of disease than vitiated blood. It involves every organ and function of the body, and if not immediately corrected by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, sooner or later leads to fatal results. Be warned in time.

KEEPING UP ITS REPUTATION.

The "News" Doing the Dirty Work of Dirty Minded People—The Rev. J. W. Mitchell Brands the Editor as "Unscrupulous," and His Statements as "Lies."

(From The Press of Nov. 7.)

A lot of evil thinking and dirty-minded colored people of this city, jealous of the better breeding and education of the pastor of Mount Olive Baptist church and those of his congregation who are far above them, have been trying to ruin the Rev. Mr. Mitchell's character and blast the reputation of ladies of his church, for some time. Yesterday these colored gossips found the news ready to help in any such dirty work, and a story was concocted that fairly delighted the shabby paper, and caused the slanderers to smack their thick lips in glee.

The story implied that a certain colored lady of this city—one of the most refined and modest of her race—had been guilty of intimacy with her pastor and that there had been trouble in the Mount Olive church, about the scandal. The lady's husband told a PRESS reporter this morning that the whole story was false; and the Rev. Mr. Mitchell in an open letter to the news, given below, states his side of the case, and plainly says what he thinks of the one principally guilty of spreading the dirty scandal.

The letter is printed in THE PRESS, because it would be altered into an endorsement of the news if entrusted to its dishonest care. This is it:

To the Editor of the Evening News:—In the columns of your paper dated Nov. 6, there is an article headed: "A Pastor in Disgrace." Then follows my name which designates me as the pastor referred to.

I am surprised to find that we have in our city one occupying so high and noble a position as the "editorial chair" yet be so discourteous and so unscrupulous as to throw broad-cast in the community, statements which reflect so discreditably on a Christian minister.

Allow me sir to make a true statement of the facts both as to myself and the action of the church.

In regard to the matter in question I will have the public to know that the pastor of the Mt. Olive church sustains no improper relations to the lady designated in your paper, nor any other, nor has any one that I know of claimed that such was the case. The family in question who resides on North avenue has for sometime sustained the relation of intimate friends to the pastor's family of the Mt. Olive church. My wife and daughters have frequently visited said family and have in some instances spent the night in company with the lady of the house. As for my part, I dropped in whenever it so pleased me.

Secondly, I would have the public to know that I never walked locked arms with any lady on any secluded street; that statement in your paper of the 6th inst., is a base fabrication or in other words a lie and I challenge proof.

True, my wife and I have at different times accepted invitations, at said house, to tea. Several times, after tea, the lady in question has accompanied us down to the church, to a service or prayer meeting. I have also known my wife to go in company with said lady from the church to her house and remain there until I came from my lodge after her, at which time I have walked up the street with them, until I came to where I had to turn to go to my lodge.

In regard to frequenting said house in question; yes, I remember having visited it a number of times as stated, one was when the husband of the lady was sick abed. I on that occasion rendered them some little service. I have in view other times, when working up festivals for the benefit of the church or when I have been looking for strangers without the city once; when expecting a company of singers I went to and fro from the depot four or five times that day to said house, but remember a committee of ladies were there waiting to serve them with refreshments.

Now Mr. Editor will you tell me what there is in all this and the like that effect morality.

Now a word as to the rumor, that was cast abroad in the community, lets trace it from its origin. There is it seems a house in this city, where certain females of color meet from time to time to gossip. According to rumor their conversation is on the line of immorality. They, so it is said, express their views one to another relative to men. Why sir, I have been informed they have expressed their desires from a lustful standpoint about Pastor Mitchell. It is said by the lady who is responsible for the public rumor, she went to this place over a year ago, and in her jocular, jovial manner, being among her friends, cracked a joke concerning Pastor Mitchell; allow me to say here that one of the ladies say it was not said in a joke but in a serious tone. (I say this that the public may judge.) The statement here was of a relative character. As long as these individuals continued to love each other, all was well, but they became alienated, then the statement made for pastime was whispered, and Pastor Mitchell became the sufferer.

Now Mr. Editor, who is responsible for the gossip of these women? Surely not the pastor. In this case he is not his brother's keeper.

As soon as Pastor Mitchell ascertained what was rumored in the public, he called together the deacons of the church, and urged them to investigate this matter. Parties concerned were summoned and after a careful sifting they framed the following report which was adopted by the church. The report:

"'Whereas, certain reports detrimental to the pastor's reputation have been spread in the community, we as your Board of Deacons have investigated the same, and have found according to evidence given they are false. Mrs. ——, however, admitted that she did in time past say in a joke something that reflected upon the character of Mr. Mitchell, for which she is sorry and hopes to be forgiven."

This report was unanimously adopted, except so much as referred to the forgiving of the member who gave rise to this rummor—the church feeling that its honor and that of the pastor have suffered much—could not be satisfied short of the exclusion of the offender, and so she was excluded.

Another incorrect statement made in your paper was the church was divided as to the pastor's guilt or innocence. Such was not the case. The members testified as to the pastor's conduct both in and out of their house and by a standing vote declared their belief in the pastor's innocence.

J. W. MITCHELL,
Pastor Mt. Olive Church,
32 Liberty street.

Dunellen News.

Mr. R. J. Swackhamer and family have returned from their Western trip. Upon their return a delegation of Mr. Swackhamer's men called at his residence and presented him with a beautiful gold-headed umbrella.

Mr. Wm. E. Terry, one of Messrs C. Schepflin & Co's employes gave a party to his friends a few evenings since. The occasion was one to be long remembered by those who participated.

Mr. John Lovers of Drill Engine No. 20 has resigned to accept a position with a Newark house as traveling salesman.

—Messrs N. Apgar, D. Terry, August Trust and Charles Hunter, are spending the balance of this week in the vicinity of Stroudsburg, Pa., hunting for partridge.

The Lawyers' Fees Reduced.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

Friday morning the Latimer will case was again before Judge McCormick. There has been an adjustment of all the objections to the probate, and Friday morning the Court issued a decree fixing the allowance to the lawyers. There had been an agreement among the heirs and counsel about the fees, subject to the approval of the Court. Judge McCormick reduced the fees the usual standard as allowed in like cases.

Some of Each Published Exclusively in THE PRESS.

Here are a few of the items in Friday's PRESS that appeared in no other paper:

The election of a former Plainfielder to a County Treasurership in Kansas.

The official returns of the Union county board of canvassers.

The continuance of the fight over Mrs. Wilkey.

Dr. Yerkes' stand on the local-option question before the State Baptist convention.

The seventh anniversary festival of the Good Samaritans and colored Daughters of Samaria.

Young People's sociable and its participants and programme, at Trinity Reformed church.

Victory of Leal's school football team over the New York Columbia Grammar school eleven.

Marriage of Miss Anna Petrie and Mr. Charles Hutchinson.

Mrs. Jacob Kirkner's sudden departure for Europe.

The reception to Miss Dodge of New York, at the home of Aaron Powell, Esq.

The finding of ripe strawberries growing out of doors.

Read the DAILY PRESS—Plainfield's only newspaper.

A Plainfield Woman Seeking a Divorce.

Mrs Laura Wilcox, for the past twenty years a well known modiste of Syracuse, is seeking a divorce from her husband, Joseph Wilcox, and her suit came to trial Thursday before Judge O'Brien, in Supreme Court Special Term of New York.

According to the statements of Mrs. Wilcox, who at one time resided here, she was married to her husband on Feb 27, 1869, in Syracuse. She carried on the business of dress-making in that city, and he having become a traveling salesman for a firm in that city, it was arranged that she should abandon her dressmaking business and live in New York. Upon this arrangement she came to New York with the understanding that her husband should meet her at the Grand Central depot. He failed, however to put in an appearance, but she succeeded in finding him at the St. Cloud Hotel, when he said that they could no longer live together. All he would do was to pay her board and washing, which he did for eleven weeks. Three years ago she claimed he abandoned her.

The story of Mr. Wilcox is that his wife has a violent temper and that her aim has been to make his life as uncomfortable as possible. He says that notwithstanding this he offered her a home at Plainfield, N. J., with his mother and sister, which she refused to accept.

St. Mary's Rectory Damaged to the Extent of About $3,000.

A little after 4 o'clock morning Nov. 7, fire was discovered in the rectory of St. Mary's church on West Sixth street, and in less than an hour later the interior of the large three-story brick building was completely burned, involving a loss of about $3,000.

Rev. Father Stafford who occupied a room in the upper story was the first to discover the fire. He was awakened by the stifling smell of smoke, and arousing the other inmates of the house, Rev. Father Smyth and the help, set to work removing the furniture, most of which was carried out and deposited in the house of the Sisters on the opposite side of the street.

The flames spread rapidly, and when the firemen arrived the interior of the house was all in a blaze, and the fire was consequently hard to fight. The firemen fought bravely, however, and in about an hour's time had the fire under control. Rev. Father Smyth was one of the most active workers at the fire, and at one time he was nearly overcome by the smoke. Rev. Father Stafford succeeded in saving his valuable library, but aside from this he lost nearly all of his personal effects.

The total loss on the building and contents will probably not exceed $3,000 and there is an insurance of $6,000 in the German-American Insurance Co., on the house.

The fire originated in the butler's pantry on the ground floor and its origin is a mystery.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Public Library was held in the Library building November 6, at 8 o'clock. Present, Messrs Male, Dumont, Tyler, Babcock, Baldwin and Tracy; the President, Mr. Male, presiding. In the absence of the Secretary, Mr. Tracy was elected Secretary pro tem. The minutes of the regular meeting held Oct. 2, 1889, were read and approved.

The following bills were presented and ordered paid out of the general fund, (being first verified,) W. H. Williams, papers etc., $10.30; J. H. Tier, ice, $14.49; Miss Adams, librarian, Oct., $50; S. H. Allen, janitor, $40.70.

Mr. Guy Beguin la Tourette presented to the Library and Art Gallery, an Indian stone battle axe, and a book entitled "A North Jersey Jaunt." On motion it was resolved that the thanks of the Board be tendered to him therefor. Mr. Frederick R. Smalley presented to the Library and Art Gallery five Indian arrow heads found at New Market, Middlesex county, New Jersey, and on motion it was resolved that the thanks of the Board be also tendered him.

The report of the librarian for the month of Oct., was received and ordered to be placed on file as follows:

Vols. on Accession-book, Sept. 30, 1889	4,0[illegible]
Vols. added by purchase	5
Vols. added by gift	73
Vols. now in Library	4,1[illegible]
No. of card-holders	1,5[illegible]
Cash received from fines	$12 30
" " " subscriptions of non-residents	4 00
Total	$16 70

CIRCULATION:

Fiction	860
Juvenile	304
Biography	60
Travel	30
Philosophy	4
Religion	20
Sociology	5
Philology	2
Natural science	21
Useful Arts	10
Fine Arts	20
Literature	100
History	72
Total	1,584
Visitors to building	2,500

E. L. ADAMS, Librarian.

—A lamp exploded in Mr. A. M. Griffin's hardware store on East Front street, Sunday night, and by the timely arrival of Officers Flannagan and McCue, a disastrous fire was averted.

Impaired Circulation.

DR. FLINT'S REMEDY, by exercising a regulative influence over the action of the heart and the general circulation, will check at once bleeding from the lungs, and will cure dropsy of those organs. Descriptive treatise with each bottle; or address Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

Dr. Allis Will Save His Fingers.

About ten o'clock on Tuesday at the railroad siding near Scott's Press Works, John E. Yoss was helping George Conover unload some heavy beams for the Somerset street bridge. One of the timbers slipped and mashed the second and third fingers of Yoss' right hand. Dr. Jos. Allis attended the unfortunate man, and says he will save his fingers for him.

The Chief Will Settle Them.

This city suffers from the continued maliciousness of the worst lot of boys any place ever knew. They destroy and deface private property, and commit some new act of wilful wickedness almost every day or night. Chief Carey was notified on Tuesday that a gang of the boys were again annoying an old lady on First place, and he started out to make it hot for them.

Those "Reduced" Fees.

A few days ago THE PRESS told of the reduction ordered by Judge McCormick at Elizabeth, in the counsel fees of the lawyers engaged in the Lattimer will case.

As there was no contest, and the lawyers were only required to appear and take note of the days of adjournment up to the admitting to probate of the will, their fees were "reduced." Chancellor Runyon was only allowed $5,000, Clark R. Reed, of this city, $4,000, and James English $4,500.

Apt to the Times and Moderate in Tone.

The Rev. W. R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, on Sunday, Sept 22, delivered two notable sermons on the subject now agitating the Presbyterian World, ie, the Revision of the Confession of Faith. So apt to the time, so moderate in tone, so much to the point seemed these sermons that they have been issued in the form of neat pamphlets and placed on sale at Reynolds' pharmacy, price 15 cents.

The movement now going on in this great branch of the church universal must interest every Christian thinker, and it is well outlined in the pamphlet here noticed.

Somerville United With Plainfield.

In the matter of increased freight house facilities Somerville joins THE PRESS in protest against its present freight house. The Somerset Messenger of Nov. 6, says:

"There appears to be one thing Somerville and Plainfield can unite on, and that is a protest against the locations of their respective freight houses. The present structure here is located between the tracks, and its use by trains often cuts off all approach to the station by passengers. Besides it is dangerous to those receiving and delivering freight. Can't the railroad company be induced to make a change, at once, and before a serious accident results?

Washingtonville Notes.

Mr. Joseph Sellery has about completed his contract of building the large stone wall along Stony Brook, above Demler's Hotel where the washout was the most dangerous. The wall is built of the heaviest Second-mountain stone and is intended to withstand the strong current that will sometimes beat against it.

Mr. M. H. French has repaired the damage done by the late freshet to his lawn and garden and has erected a new fence around the same.

Mr. Wm. Anderson and family have removed to New York for the Winter. The little band of Episcopalians who were in the habit of worshiping at his house during the Summer will continue to hold services at Mr. Thos. Taylor's residence during the Winter.

Some parties from New York city, have recently purchased of J. B. Johnson his property situated on the Valley road which they will improve for a family Summer resort.

Mr. Andrew Wilson is repairing his large ice houses preparatory to laying in his usual supply of fine ice.

PLAINFIELD'S GOOD HEALTH.

The Secretary of the Board of Health has permitted us to extract a part of his annual statement to the State Board which is published in their Yearly Report.

"The work of the Board the past twelve months has been directed mostly in the line of precautionary action endeavoring to prevent the existence of accustomed nuisances and thereby promote healthfulness by averting the causes of preventable disease. The constant inspection of yards and the removal of deleterious nuisances have resulted in continued cleanliness and a fair degree of exemption from sickness. No epidemics have existed nor any prevalent disease—there having been reported on an average less than one case a week of sickness of a communicable character.

"The corporate limits cover and area of 3,500 acres and include 1,960 dwellings. More than half the population (about 6,000 people) occupy less than one fourth of this territory, being the older and more thickly settled part of the city. The garbage collections have been performed with only a degree of partial satisfaction, which the Board expect the coming year to greatly improve. An effort has been made to have occupants of houses provide suitable, water tight receptacles for holding kitchen refuse so as to keep it separate from ashes and rubbish. Housekeepers generally have not yet accustomed themselves to a systematic method of caring for their kitchen waste which the Health Ordinance requires. But progress is being made in this direction.

"Perhaps no more imperative duty manifests itself to the Board in its regard for the health of the citizens, than the absolute necessity of strictly watching the condition of the numerous cesspools and vaults within our jurisdiction. The contents of these underground receptacles are cleaned out and removed by licensed scavengers only. The difficulty of a proper disposal of the emptyings is a source of annoyance and dissatisfaction. During the year 796 cesspools and vaults have been emptied and cleaned.

"In addition to a constant examination of these underground dangers, a close inspection has been kept of the surface nuisances such as ashheaps, cowyards, accumulation of refuse materials, etc. A free use of disinfectants has been made in all cases, and whether private refuse heaps, or public dumping grounds, they have been under consideration and treatment. The subject of public sewers for general purposes, has received considerable discussion and examination. A plan has been proposed which seems the only feasible one for a level area like Plainfield where there is no tide outlet. It is a dual system of purification of the sewage and its intermittent filtration through properly graded and under drained land, allowing the effluent to pass off into Green Brook within the city limits.

"There has been a prompt and thorough return of vital statistics, the registration of which by the Secretary shows for the twelve months ending Oct. 1, 1889, the following recapitulation:

"Marriages solemnized, 97; births attended, 214; still births, 5; deaths occurring, 185, (being 59 of 5 years and under, 69 from 5 to 60 years and 57 of 60 years and over.)"

O. B. LEONARD,
Secretary Board of Health.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she was a Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

What is a cold in the head? Medical authorities say it is due to uneven clothing of the body, rapid cooling when in a perspiration, &c. The important point is, that a cold in the head is an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nose, which, when unchecked, is certain to produce a catarrhal condition—for catarrh is essentially a "cold" which nature is no longer able to "resolve" or throw off. Ely's Cream Balm has proved its superiority, and sufferers should resort to it before that common ailment becomes seated and ends in obstinate catarrh.

Working an Old Gag on John Smalley.

It is reported that the venerable John Smalley was called upon at his home a mile and a half this way from New Market one day last week by two men who said they wanted to buy his farm. On some plausible pretext he was also called upon to show $1,000 and went in a buggy with one of the men to draw it from a Plainfield bank.

On the way back with the money a couple of confederates sprang from a clump of bushes, flourished revolvers, captured the cold cash and left Mr. Smalley that much smaller in fortune, but with increased knowledge of the ways of this wicked world.

The above fake is copied from the Bound Brook Chronicle. Somebody has probably been working the paper but not John.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

KASKINE,
(THE NEW QUININE.)

No Bad Effect.
No Headache
No Nausea.
No RingingEars
Cures Quickly.
Pleasant, Pure.

A POWERFUL TONIC.
A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

Mr. Lode Hoornbeck, of the U. S. Ship Kearsarge, writes that he sees people almost daily who have used or are using Kaskine, and who affirm from experience that it is superior to quinine in tonic and curative properties, and produces no subsequent bad effects.

Mr. John C. Scarborough, Selma, N. C., writes: "I got malaria in the southern army, and for a dozen years suffered from its debilitating effects. I was terribly run down when I heard of Kaskine, the new quinine. It helped me at once. I gained 35 pounds."

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

KASKINE CO., 168 Duane St., New York.
5-2-3

TAXATION.

OFFICIAL NOTICE.

The Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation for the city of Plainfield, will meet in the Council Chamber on the fourth Tuesday in November, the 26th inst., and sit from 2 o'clock P. M. until 5 o'clock P. M., or longer if found necessary to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

MANNING VERMEULE,
JEREMIAH MANNING,
J. F. MACDONALD,
Commissioners.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 12, 1889. 11-14-2w

NOTICE. NOVEMBER 6TH, 1889.

Estate of Sarah M. Latimer, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

NELSON RUNYON,
WILLIAM H. SHOTWELL,
JAMES F. MACDONALD,
Executors.
11-14-w10

NOTICE. NOVEMBER 6TH, 1889.

Estate of Harriet A. Coit, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made on the application of the undersigned, Executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

CHARLES S. GUION,
ALFRED A. FREEMAN,
Executors.
11-14-w10

WHITENACK'S
New Jersey Real Estate Agency,
No. 171 BROADWAY,
Room 15, NEW YORK.
Correspondence solicited.
P. DUMONT WHITENACK, REAL ESTATE AGENT.
11-7-4

FINE CLOTHING.

A large assortment of Fall and Winter Goods.

Ready-Made Department.—Suits, Overcoats and Ulsters for Men and Boys in all sizes, made of the best materials and in the best manner possible.

Custom Department.—A heavy stock of Woolens, this Season's importation. Fashionable goods in plain and fancy Woolens for Fall and Winter wear. Goods fit and finish the very best.

Men's Furnishing Department.—Shirts ready made or to order as desired. Smoking Jackets and Dressing Gowns ready made or to order. Imported Silk, also All-Wool Underwear. English Mackintosh Coats. French Pajamas. Everything to clothe the body except Hats and Shoes. Self-measurement blanks furnished on application, also samples.

TREDWELL, SLOTE & COMPANY,
273, 275, 277 BROADWAY, N. Y.,
COR. BROADWAY AND CHAMBERS ST
11-7-2m

BURT & PACKARD
KORRECT SHAPE
BURT & PACKARD

Don't spoil your Feet with Cheap Shoes!
WEAR THE BURT & PACKARD
See that every pair is stamped "Korrect Shape."

Don't allow your dealer to palm off any substitute, as we have arranged to supply the "Korrect Shape" Shoes in any style for Gent's, Boys or Youths, and prepay all delivery charges where they are not sold.

You can only find them in Plainfield, N. J., at DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S, 22 WEST FRONT ST.

Made in four grades, HAND-MADE, HAND-WELT, BURTWELT and MACHINE SEWED, which is stamped on the sole in addition to the trade-mark above.

PACKARD & FIELD,
(Successors to Burt & Packard)
Brockton, Mass.
9-12-3mo

DEATHS.

CONKLIN—In this city, Nov. 7, Mrs. Amy A. Conklin, wife of S. C. Conklin.

HOADLEY.—At the residence of his son-in-law, Wm. P. Smith, Netherwood Heights, Nov. 11, George E. Hoadley.

Funeral services from his late residence, 154 Belvidere avenue, Netherwood, Friday, Nov. 15, at 1:30 P. M.

ZIMMER—In this city, on Monday, Nov. 11, 1889, Mrs. Philippina Zimmer, in the 74th year of her age.

M. N. TERRILL & CO.,
UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,
No. 20 E. FRONT STREET.
M. N. TERRILL,— GEO. W. COLE.
Practical Embalmer, and assistant to the late firm of Ford & Stiles.
8-17-tf

A. M. RUNYON & SON,
UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS,
60 PARK AVENUE.
Telephone Call 40.
RESIDENCE—48 MADISON AVENUE.
Telephone Call 27.
"Office of Hillside Cemetery."

P. CASEY & SON,
UNDERTAKERS,
OFFICE—No. 1 Somerset St.
Residence, No. 11 Third street, corner New, Plainfield, N. J. Everything pertaining to the business always on hand, and lower than any other firm in the State. All Calls Promptly Answered Day or Night.—c1y1

MISCELLANEOUS.

Parlor Stoves
Othello Ranges,
Steam and Hot Water Heating,
Hot Air Heating,
Hardware,
Plumbing,
Tinning,
And House Furnishings.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11-1-tf

PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

CITY OF PLAINFIELD.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a warrant issued by William M. Stillman, esq., City Judge of the city of Plainfield, in the County of Union, to make the unpaid taxes assessed on lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate, in the said city of Plainfield in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-seven, the subscriber, the officer nominated and appointed by the Common Council for that purpose, will on Wednesday the 20th day of November next, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, at his office, 16 Park avenue, in the City of Plainfield, sell the lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate hereunder described, at public vendue, for the shortest time for which any person or persons will agree to take the same and pay such taxes, together with interest thereon, and all costs, fees, charges and expenses.

Allen, Samuel C., h and l and 40 a, E. Front st., below Richmond ave	63 00
Auer, James, lot, Clinton ave	1 80
Bouce, Est. of Cornelius, h and l, 75 E. Front st	126 00
Boice, " " lot, Dunellen ave., Evona	3 60
Bond, Selina E., 3 lots, Netherwood ave, Nos. 18 20 and 24	5 40
Bower, William	1 80
Brannan, James, h and l, Rose st	5 40
Craig, James, h and l, Dunellen ave., near Jefferson ave	27 00
Craig, James, 2 h and l 25 a, North and Dunellen aves	108 00
Craig, James, h and l, Front st., near Dunellen ave	10 80
Craig, James, h and l, Front st., near Dunellen ave	10 80
Craig, William, 2 h and l, Dunellen ave	54 00
Craig, William, 1 18 a, Dunellen ave	23 20
Campbell, Mrs. John O., h and l, 57 E. 5th st	40 50
Chase, Winfield S., h and l, 1 Jacques Block, W. Front st	3 60
Conway, est. of Daniel, h and l, 128 W. Fourth st	9 60
Cole, William A., 3 lots, 116 W. Eighth st	28 35
Cole, Jacob, est. of Sarah, h and 18 a, E. Front st., near Terrill road	63 00
Cole, Elias, h and l 1 A a. South and Leland aves	27 00
Cole, Isaac, h and l, 21 and 24 W. Second st	27 00
Cole, Elias, h and b and 60 a, E. Front st	180 00
Cameron, John, h and l, Madison ave	50 40
Cowen, Margaret, lot, Kensington ave	4 50
Cowen, " hotel, Eighth st. and Park ave	180 00
Dunham, Henah C., h and l, Fifth st., and Madison ave	21 60
Dunn, Salomon F., h and l, 65 Park ave	30 00
Dady, est. of Patrick or Mary, h and l, 76 W. Third st	18 20
Fraser, Aur., h and l, 16 Peace st	23 40
Force, James M., lot, E. Second st	90
Flynn, Ann, 2 h and l, W. Third st., below Liberty st	3 60
Fisher, est. of Abram, h and l, 75 W. Third st	5 40
Flannagan, P. J., lot, Evona	1 80
Fritz, Adam, h and l, Exchange alley	3 60
Glacken, Edward, lot, Lane track	3 60
[illegible]	[illegible]
Kane, John h & l 8 W 2d st	3 15
O'Keefe, John O h & l 308 W 5th st	50 80
Lane, Mrs Mary M 3 l Lane tract	10 80
Leonard, Wm J 11 a Plainfield & Sherman ave	29 70
Leonard, Mrs Elizabeth h and l Union st	27 00
Leonard, Mrs Elizabeth double h and l 98 W Front st	18 90
Leonard, Mrs Elizabeth 11 a Plainfield and Sherman aves	29 70
Lee, Thomas h and l 5 8 2nd st	18 00
Lillienstern, Mary h and l 1 E Front st	21 15
Lawrence, John C 2 l North ave and Terrill rd	5 40
Marclay M F 66 W 3d st h and l	9 90
" h and l New st adj above	4 50
Marclay Caroline T l W 5th st adj above	6 30
Marclay, Caroline T h and l 3 New st and l adj	11 40
Marsh, Randolph h and l 74 Plainfield av	16 20
Marsh, Lucy A h and l 15 W 5th st	50 40
Marsh, Mrs Elizabeth 8 h and l 91 Madison ave	45 00
Manning, Wm H h and l 113 W 4th st	7 20
McCarthy, Chas 2 h and l 35 Plainfield ave	18 20
McLaughlin, W F 8 lots 17 to 25, 5th near Lexington	1 80
Moore, Amasa R h and l Broadway and 5th st	48 60
Moore, Thomas 2 l 2 & 3 Richmond st	5 40
Moe, Experience h and l 51 W 5th st	32 40
Martine, Anna M executrix h and l Park and 1 a Broadway and Cedar Brook	48 00
Martine, Anna M executrix h and l 9th st near Park ave	40 50
Martine, Anna M estate D farm 1 a Broadway and Prospect ave	104 00
Martine, James E h and l Park ave near Mayers	4 50
Martine, Anna M brick h Broadway & Kensington ave	45 00
Meyer, Sigmund C l 200 ft Front st near Clinton ave	7 20
Murray, Joseph or Dean estate l Prospect ave	8 40
Murray, Joseph or Dean estate Ravine ave	10 80
Murray, Joseph or Dean estate l cor Dunellen and Clinton aves	3 60
Scott, Charles J h and l South ave near Spooner ave., balance	4 77
Noel, Charles J 1 St 207 Midway and Netherwood aves	7 20
Ohl Caroline J 28 a and 6 l Pemberton, Field and Elizabeth sts	27 80
Pound, Daniel S h and l North ave, Evona	12 60
Perrine, Jas R h and l 29 La Grande ave	27 60
Pike, Josephine W h and l 120 E Front st	72 00
Ross, Richard h l 6th and Union sts	3 60
Roll, Chancellor h and l 7 Peace st	36 00
Reed, David or Hattie Colburn l E 2d st	5 40
Reed, O R 1 E 3d st	5 40
Richardson, Maggie h and l 51 E 5th st	32 40
Stewart, David F h and l 3 Jan st bal	4 00
Smith, Henry W l Raymond ave	3 60
Smith, J de F h and l 10 Elm st	15 80
Steiger, Lydia S l George st	3 60
Saltzman, Elise h and l 149 Central ave	97 20
Smalley, heirs of John 30 a Randolph rd	54 00
Smalley, Mary B h and 3½ a Woodland ave	18 00
Sage, Emily S l Lake st	10 80
Stevens, Richard 2 h and l South av	25 20
Sutphen, est. of J. C., h and l, 25 W. Second street	30 00
Thomas, James H 4½ a Broadway	8 10
Thompson, estate of Daniel 28 l bought of Hart Charity	80 40
Taylor, Henry l W 4th st	1 80
Truman, Judiah L h 7th and Clinton av	81 00
Ulrich, estate of Henry h & l 86 W 6th st	18 00
Vermeule, Sarah A h & l 5 Peace street	18 00
Van Winkle, Jeremiah h & l 3 Central av	27 00
Vail, estate of Stephen 28 a Broadway & Hillside	27 00
Vail, Catherine B h and l 72 E 2d street	27 00
Vail, Hulda M, h and 4 a Clinton ave and Dunellen ave	14 40
Whitehead, Frazee 2 h and l 108 W Front st., balance	17 00
White, Wm l E 2d street	2 70
Wyckoff, Jane h and l 8 W 3d street	3 15
Wells, Wm H l Clinton and 6th street	8 10
Wylie, Franklin h, 12 a Front street and Terrill road	63 00
Willis Lucretia B h and l 30 W 6th st	36 00

Witness my hand this 29th day of July, A. D. 1889,
VINCENT W. NASH,
Special Policeman and Collector of Delinquent Taxes

CATCH ON?
Special Sale!
From November 1 to 15
15 PER CENT OFF of regular prices for SPOT CASH!

STOVES, LAMPS, TINWARE,
CUTLERY, GRANITEWARE,
MACHINIST and CARPENTER TOOLS,
HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, &c.
POWDER, SHOT AND SHELLS.
J. C. PIERSON, Jr.,
Telephone 12. 45 West Front St

WANTS AND INFORMATION.

Twenty-five Cents for one insertion of three lines. Each additional line five cents extra. Fifteen cents for each subsequent insertion of ads.

FOR SALE.—Fine residence property in Westfield, N. J. Five minutes from depot, churches, schools and post office. High grounds, 300x261. House, twelve rooms, with Gas and Water, barn and carriage house, all in complete order. Terms to suit. Apply to Luther M. Whitaker, Westfield N. J.

STORAGE—FIRST-CLASS ACCOMMODATIONS in newly-partitioned rooms. All thoroughly cleaned and free from vermin. Separate rooms if desired. Apply at HORTON [illegible] or of owner, M. VERMEULE. Two buggies for sale cheap.—[illegible]

PEERLESS DYES [illegible]

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - City Editor.

—Oh, for a Y. M. C. A. building.

—The coming city election promises to be very exciting.

—The election of City officers will take place on Tuesday, December 3.

—The scholars in the public schools are at present undergoing their quarterly examinations.

—The night school for men will begin in the High school building to-morrow evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

—The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society held its monthly meeting in Bethel Chapel on Tuesday at 3:30 o'clock.

—The work on the county roads is progressing favorably, and it is expected that most of the work will be completed before Winter sets in.

—Three of New Jersey's Governors have been re-elected—Messrs. Parker and Abbett. Ex-Governor Newell ran a second time, but was defeated.

—Simultaneous observations taken in all parts of the country show that nearly all great storms follow the same general direction, from West to East.

—It is understood that the voter in the Second ward who is wanted for illegal voting on election day, has quietly left the city for parts unknown.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Young Ladies Mission Band was held on Tuesday at four o'clock in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church.

—The extensive manner in which modern houses are furnished with permanent wardrobes, bureaus and sideboards is particularly noticeable to the furniture men.

—The sixtieth annual meeting of the Union County Teachers' Association will be held Saturday afternoon, November 16, at the Morrell street public school, Elizabeth.

—"Somebody will come along and order this place after we are dead," so said a well known resident a few nights ago when talking of the improvements needed in this municipality.

—People are beginning to "think" of the holidays and consider what they will buy for presents. Consult our advertising columns, trade with those who advertise and you will be happy.

—The small attendance at Music Hall Thursday should be another lesson to the management on the fallacy of high prices. At 25, 50 and 75 cents, the house would have been packed.

—Leal's school team defeated the Columbia Grammar school eleven, of New York, in the football match held on election day afternoon, by a score of 6 to 0, on the grounds of the Crescent League.

—When the returns were all in Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. George [illegible] of Coontown, found they were the parents of triplets, all boys, and weighing 24 pounds net. The infants died [illegible], however.

—Complaint is made against the school children who are in the habit of running through the dooryards near the Franklin School building, knocking down gates, fences, etc., and trampling down flower beds.

—A false alarm of fire Friday morning called out the fire department. A fire was lighted in the laundry stove at the Twenty residence on Crescent avenue, and the escaping smoke caused the alarm.

—The work of remodeling the First Baptist church is being pushed forward very rapidly and it is expected to be reopened about January first. There is talk of having a complimentary concert when completed.

—On Putnam street near Tall's woods, Thursday, George Ferrier found a ripe strawberry growing out of doors. He dug up the plant, fruit and vine, and it is all on exhibition in the window of THE PRESS office.

—The news has got another new editor. He lives in Dunellen where the other day a forger and swindler robbed his landlord right under the new editor's nose, so to speak, yet he never knew it until he read Wednesday's PRESS.

—Notwithstanding the fact that the "open" season for rabbits is nearly two weeks advanced, deer-catcher James [illegible] manages to bring home a few cotton tails every day, when the weather will permit of his hunting.

—While the water in Green Brook was at its highest on Saturday, Photographer Thorn took a photograph of Tier's dam and the surroundings. The spectacle was very pretty as the water rushed over the dam, fully two feet deep.

—Under the head of "The County Drunks" the New Brunswick Fredonian [illegible] Monday: "Charles Johnson, colored, of Plainfield, drank his wages in the wrong way on Saturday night. The result was as usual—10 days."

—At the regular meeting of the Crescent League November 6, 14 new members were elected, a large billiard room was ordered built and furnished in the Club House, and other business transacted for the good of the League.

—Billy Lee, the Crescent third baseman who won the pair of trousers offered the player stealing the most bases during the season, has not got them yet. He thinks the only sure way next year is to steal the trousers instead of the bases.

—A young lad named Conway was knocked down and run over by a baker wagon on West Fourth street, afternoon of Nov. 4. The boy was severely injured about the right hip and ankle. He was assisted home by his companions.

—The Park avenue butchers who left a pair of cotton tails hanging in front of their store the other night, and found a full-grown chicken-hawk substituted in their place the next morning, are anxious to know who the perpetrator of the joke was.

—President [illegible] of [illegible] Council, No. 25, Order of American Firemen of this city, has received a check from each of the Democratic and Republican candidates for Governor, their individual contribution to the recent firemen's fair.

—In the year 1693 there was a school law made in New Jersey which required every inhabitant to contribute to the support of the common schools. It was said that the people must maintain them "even to the distress of their goods and chattels."

—The following election officers from this city were present at the meeting of the County Board of Assessors, held at Elizabeth, Friday: Messrs. Geo. W. Moore, John Johnson, J. O. [illegible] and Robert Mitchell. Mr. [illegible] was elected Chairman of the Board.

—Mr. J. Potter Johnson, an expert on carpentry work, has made an inventory of the loss sustained by the burning of St. Mary's rectory on Tuesday morning last. Mr. Johnson told a PRESS reporter that it will cost to the amount of $4,000 to repair the building and get it in shape for occupancy again.

—The statement in the news that an organ manufacturer had "visited the Crescent Avenue church respecting the proposed new organ," is merely another of the bad breaks THE PRESS is called upon to correct every day. The church has no idea of having a new organ, and such a proposition has never even been mentioned.

Personals.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis is again confined to the house by illness.

City Judge Stillman has returned from a business trip to Chicago.

The family of Gen. Eli Long, of Grove street, have returned from Bluff Point, N. Y.

Rev. Father Smyth and Rev. Father Stafford have taken rooms at the City Hotel.

Mrs. Abram King, of Chatham street, North Plainfield, is confined to the house by illness.

Miss Waiters, of Brooklyn, has recently been the guest of Miss Nettie Allison, of North Plainfield.

Rev. Mr. Fisk, a former pastor of the Holy Cross church, is visiting among friends in this city.

At 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon the water in Green Brook flowed hub deep over Farragut avenue.

Mrs. S. A. Wallace, of West Fifth street, has been spending a fortnight with her husband at Baltimore.

Miss Angie E. Peytel of North Plainfield, is the guest of Miss Ida M. Hayward, of Jaques avenue, Rahway.

Rev. Dr. J. C. Bliss, formerly pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, but now of New York, was in town Monday evening.

Mr. F. A. Burdick, the temperance evangelist, is a guest at the home of T. H. Tomlinson, M. D., on LaGrande avenue.

Miss Opdyke of Somerville, and her friend Miss McBride of New York, have been visiting Mrs. Harry Brokaw of North Plainfield.

A reception was given last Thursday by Mrs. Wm. L. Patton at her home on East Ninth street. A large number of invited guests were present.

Mr. Edward Apgar, formerly clerk at the City Hotel, is now engaged as manager of the Crescent League bowling alleys on East Second street.

At the home of the bride's parents, on East Sixth street, Thursday, took place the marriage of Miss Anna M. Petrie and Charles Hutchinson.

The wife of Rev. W. E. Honeyman of North Plainfield, has been summoned to Dover, N. J., by the sudden and dangerous illness of her sister.

The name of the latest "editor" of the news is Graves. Everybody knew it was only a question of time when the paper would fall into that very thing.

Mrs. D. DeWitt Brokaw, is seriously ill at her home on Grove street, North Plainfield. Her condition is the cause of much anxiety to relatives and friends.

Mr. L. A. Hummer, wife and son, returned Friday night from a week's Autumnal visit among friends in Hunterdon and Middlesex counties, New Jersey.

Father Smyth has leased a house on Sixth street opposite St. Mary's church, where he and Father Stafford can be found after Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Hiram DeCamp, of Chester, N. J., wife of the former boniface at Laing's Hotel in this city, is on the sick list; so much so that medical aid is necessary.

A prize fight took place in a barn near Scotch Plains, early on election day. The principals were from Brooklyn, and during the fight the utmost secrecy prevailed.

Mr. Clark Mundy of Emily street is the happy father of a bouncing boy baby. Mother and child doing well, and Mr. Mundy can be recognized by his broad smile.

Mrs. Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, President of the local W. C. T. U., is in Chicago as a delegate to the National Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Messrs C. E. Ross and Walter Scott are the latest Plainfielders to receive patents, the former for an Educational board and the latter for printing press feeding mechanism.

Mr. James Davis, the genial and expert Captain of the Crescent League bowling team, was unable, because of continued sickness in his family, to take part in last Monday's match.

Miss Butler of this city, one of Miss Julia E. Bulkley's party, who have been Summering in Europe, arrived in New York on the steamer "Teutonic," last Thursday morning.

A children's tableaux entertainment for the benefit of the Netherwood chapel, was held at the home of Mrs. George Taylor, Saturday evening last. It was a success in every particular.

The announcement is made of the marriage in January of Miss Palmer of Wilkesbarre, and Mr. George E. Vincent. They are now the guests of Mrs. H. Clay Munger at her home on Washington avenue.

After eleven years continuous service as Superintendent of the Congregational Sunday school, Mr. George W. Rockfellow insisted upon a rest from his labors. Mr. John M. Whiton has been selected in his place.

The funeral of the late George E. Hoadley, who died on Monday evening, will take place from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. W. P. Smith, at No. 154 Belvidere avenue, Netherwood Heights, on Friday at 2:30 P. M.

THE PRESS is in receipt of a neat pamphlet, containing the inaugural address of J. H. Harris, President of Bucknell University, delivered June 27, together with the salutatory address by Chauncey B. Ripley, LL.D., of Westfield.

The funeral of the late Mrs. S. C. Conklin took place from the late home of the deceased on West Front street, Monday afternoon, Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes officiating. Interment was made in the family plot in Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. E. M. Butler, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Martin, of Broadway, for the past three months, left Tuesday A. M. on the Limited Express, Pennsylvania Railroad, for her home, "Breeze Lawn," Florence, Kansas.

Mrs. John J. Shotwell, of Duluth, Minn., with her son, Master Vanderbeek Shotwell, and her daughters, Miss Marion and Miss Stella, is on a visit at the home of her father, Mr. Andrew Vanderbeek of Second place. She will remain here about three months.

The people will remember reading over a month ago in THE PRESS of the coming marriage of Charles Hyde, Jr., to a wealthy New York lady. The sleepy news just caught on to the engagement, Wednesday, and gravely announced that the couple "will be married about two years hence."

At the lecture in Music Hall, Tuesday evening, November 19, by Mr. George Kennan, the noted Siberian traveler, he will wear an "Exile's dress" and their leg fetters. This entertainment has been arranged by some philanthropic women of the city, for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital.

The Class of '78 Plainfield High School, had a reunion on the evening of Wednesday the 13th inst. Those who took part in the programme were, Mrs. W. F. Dowra, Mrs. C. F. French, Mrs. J. J. [illegible], Mrs. C. A. Smith, Mr. George B. [illegible], Class President, and Messrs F. G. [illegible], F. B. Wiley and F. S. Smith.

Mrs. Jacob Kirkner sailed from New York for Bremen, Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock, on the steamer "Werra." She will join her daughters at Dresden, where Miss Carrie Kirkner is so ill that the physician in attendance does not think she will be well enough to travel home in less than two months. The statement in the news that "Miss May Kirkner, who has been ill with typhoid fever, has had a relapse," is not true. She has not been sick a day since she left Plainfield.

Mr. Lawrence Myers of East Front street, and family, are at 230 North Cascade avenue, Colorado Springs, Col.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Philopena Zimmer took place from the German Reformed church on Wednesday, Rev. Mr. Knecht, officiating.

Card.

I wish to express my thanks to the members of the Fire Department, and to the many gentlemen who assisted so generously in saving property, and worked so heroically to save St. Mary's church from destruction at the recent fire.

P. E. SMYTH.

Weber—Lange.

At the residence of the groom's father, corner of Second street and Plainfield avenue, on Tuesday, occurred the marriage of Mr. Frederick A. Weber of South River and Miss Mary A. Lange of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Cornelius Schenck, in the presence of a large number of the relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom. A reception followed the ceremony.

Obituary.

Mr. Alois Herold, of Rahway, N. J., who was stricken with paralysis some four weeks ago, died from the effects of the paralytic stroke, on Friday, Nov. 8, at his residence. His funeral took place on the 11th, and was attended by relatives from this city and the Borough, Elizabeth, and other places, and by a delegation from different cigar manufacturing associations of which Mr. Herold was a member.

Mr. Herold has been a member of the church from the date of his marriage up to his death, and was highly respected by all who knew him, for his uprightness, honesty and fair dealing with all mankind. In the death of Mr. Herold, Rahway loses an estimable and worthy citizen.

Miss Dodge at Mr. Powell's.

Miss Grace H. Dodge, one of New York's Commissioners of Education, and granddaughter of the late Wm. E. Dodge, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron M. Powell, last Thursday. A reception was tendered her, and among the large number of representative people present were the Rev. Dr. Ketcham, Archdeacon Rodman, Editor W. J. Leonard, Mrs. Kimball, President of the Children's Home, and other prominent philanthropists and workers in fields of charity and sobriety.

Miss Dodge read a charming paper on "Girlhood and its needs," and told of the glorious work that is being done in New York by the formation of workingwomen's clubs, of one of which she is the President. Mr. Powell also spoke. There were light refreshments subsequently served.

A Mission in Grace Church.

The Rev. G. A. Carstensen, the General Missioner of the Parochial Missions Society proposes to conduct a mission in Grace church, beginning on Nov. 17 and continuing until the 26th inclusive.

Seats will be free, and a cordial welcome is extended to Christians of every name. The services will be: Sundays—An early celebration of the Holy Communion, at 7:30 A. M. Morning prayer, etc., at 10:30 A. M. Children's service, at 4:30 P. M. Evening prayer, at 8 o'clock, for men only.

Other days—Morning prayer, at 10 A. M. Instruction in the Christian Life, 10:30 A. M. Evening prayer at 4 o'clock. Mission Service—Sermon and "after meeting," at 7:45 P. M. Thursday morning—Holy Communion. Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 18 and 19, Question box, at 4 P. M.

Paying for Endorsements, Now.

An estimable woman of this city, who deplores newspaper notoriety of any sort, wrote a note to the editor of the news stating she had found at home a pocketbook she thought was lost and which she had so advertised in THE PRESS and news. The note was not for publication—merely accompanying the price of the advertisement—and humorously stated "I am willing to give the press the credit of finding the property." This note was altered to read that the credit was given the news, and so published in that paper.

Just the day before this, the editor of the news wrote a communication to himself saying that a certain advertisement in his paper had netted the advertisers $100 the first day through its announcement in the columns of the news. This communication was taken to the advertisers, their firm name secured through misrepresentation, and the false endorsement was thus published. The firm state it is THE PRESS that is entitled to the credit for a large share of the success of the advertisement.

Young People's Sociable.

The first of the series of Winter sociables under the auspices of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of Trinity Reformed church, was held in the lecture room of the church, Thursday, and was an enjoyable affair. A double quartette choir composed of Miss Bessie Blair and Miss Phoebe Mills, sopranos, Miss Ella Dunn and Miss Florence Kline, altos, Messrs Harry Roberts and Bert. Littell, bassos, and Messrs Charles Angleman and Arthur Serrell, tenors, rendered delightful vocal music for the occasion.

The Social Committee consisted of the Misses Emma Gillem, Ella Conckey, Ella Gardner, Grace Nevius and Mrs. W. Oliver. The Reception Committee was composed of the following members: Messrs H. J. Martin, F. TenEyck, J. G. VanDyke, J. B. Dunn and W. Williams.

The programme included singing by the chorus, a recitation, "Kentucky Philosophy" by Miss Marian Nevius, reading "A Night of Terror" by Mr. Chas. Wheeler, singing "Give thy heart's best treasure," and the "Pretty Village Maidens" by the chorus. Miss N. Mattison was the accompanist. The serving of refreshments added materially to the evening's enjoyment.

Mr. T. K. Keller of this City the Advance Guard of World's Champions.

Arrangements are being made by the United States Cartridge Company of Lowell, Mass., to send two teams of the representative trap shots of the United States on a tour through the country. The idea was conceived by Mr. Charles Dimick of that concern, who will select two teams of five men each from among the expert marksmen of the East and West, and shoot a series of forty matches at blue rock targets, the winning team of the series to hold the championship of the United States.

Mr. T. K. Keller (Tee Kay), will be the advance representative of the combination. The first contest will take place at Cincinnati, thence the teams will move South to New Orleans and through Texas to the Pacific coast, a match to be shot in each large city en route, and the series to end in Boston. For a long time there has been a good-natured rivalry between the Eastern and Western expert handlers of the breechloaders, and these contests will decide it.

The Eastern team will comprise the following cracks: Harry McMurchy, Syracuse, N. Y., W. H. Wolstencroft, Philadelphia, Pa., H. B. Whitney, Phelps, N. Y., and O. R. Dickey and W. E. Perry, of Boston, or E. D. Miller, of Springfield, N. J.

The Western team will be selected from the following: C. W. Budd, DesMoines, Iowa, Al. Bandle, Cincinnati, Ohio, Jas. R. Stice, Jacksonville, Ill., and Frank Parmalee, of Omaha, Neb., or R. E. Sheldon of Cleveland, Ohio.

The combination of ingredients found in Ayer's Pills renders them tonic and curative as well as cathartic. For this reason they are the best medicine for the people. Give them a trial.

Young People's Sociable.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church held a sociable last Thursday evening. About one hundred persons were present, and enjoyed an evening of rare pleasure. The programme included vocal and instrumental music, recitations and refreshments.

To Study the Sunday School Lesson.

Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut conducted a Union meeting of the Superintendents and teachers of the various Sunday schools in Vincent chapel, last evening, about 150 persons being in attendance. It was decided to continue the meetings on each Tuesday evening and a committee consisting of the superintendents of all the schools, was appointed to secure a permanent place of meeting. Dr. Hurlbut has consented to teach whenever he is at home.

The Work of a Genius.

Mr. C. Frank French, the flour and feed man of Somerset street, is a genius. With the assistance of his employees, Mr. French has placed a forty-horse power tubular boiler in his office, which not only heats the office, but the entire three-story building wherein it is placed, besides propelling an engine in the upper story, which runs a bucket-belt for raising and lowering grain. Mr. French's mechanical ingenuity is displayed in the work.

WHO IS SHE?

The following story has traveled from New York to California and back to Massachusetts from whence it is sent THE PRESS. It is the story of a brave woman who is not without honor save in her own city, until now that her heroism is told of below.

She is surely known to many readers of THE PRESS. Will not some of them send her name for publication, as all Plainfield will now be curious to know and honor so worthy a representative of the city. This is the story:

"A lady well-known in Plainfield society, who has a great aversion to a public use of her name, is gifted with an amount of heroism, plucky and calculating courage quite beyond that of most men. At two different times last Summer she had occasion to exercise this trait of her character. She was visiting in Wheeling, W. Va., when the first occurred.

"A little child, not more than three years old, was playing in a narrow alleyway, and was seated upon the stone pavement. Turning suddenly from the street came a large, heavy truck, to which were attached large Norman horses. The driver did not see the child until too late, when, suddenly pulling up the horses, he struck the great iron gate that stood open at the alley entrance. The gate, torn from its hinges, tottering, fell toward the helpless child, now threatened with danger.

"This little Plainfield woman was passing at the time. In horror she saw the child's danger from the now plunging horses and falling gate. Quicker than it takes to read it she sprang from the sidewalk to where the child, affrighted, sat, and, grasping it, dragged it away just as the sharp iron pickets caught her own skirt, tearing it, but not injuring her. And she did not faint nor tremble, either, but simply pinned up her skirt and hastened home, more concerned at her disheveled appearance than at anything else.

"A little later in the season, while on a short visit to a New Jersey seaside resort, a cry of fire was raised in the hotel where she was staying. It was in the afternoon, and this little Plainfield lady was taking a nap. The fire alarm awakened her, and going to the hall she found it filled with smoke. She heard the wailing cry of a child's voice coming from a room near by. With not a thought of danger she groped her way along the floor where the smoke was least suffocating, and made her way into the room whence came the child's voice. It was here that the fire was, and the little one had fallen upon the floor in its efforts to grope out of reach of harm. Half smothered she rescued the child. The fire was soon put out, but the little lady took chances just the same as though the danger had been more pressing and greater." Who is she?

EXPLAINING ANOTHER MALICIOUS ATTACK.

The news having made an abusive attack again upon the City Clerk because that officer has refused, as auditor, to approve a false claim which that paper is trying to force the Council to pay, a PRESS reporter called upon the Clerk and asked him if he wished to take any notice of the statements of the news.

The Clerk said that he had not read the article as he seldom sees the paper, but he had heard that he had been the object of its abuse. "It isn't worth while," he remarked, "to pay any attention to it."

The reporter continued, "but the news loves the laboring man and says you keep the poor men who work on the streets out of their money two or three weeks, by neglecting to give them their warrants."

"Is it possible?" said the Clerk, astonished at the ridiculous statement. "The warrants can be obtained by the claimant in three or four days after they are ordered drawn. I am at the office part of every morning and often in the evening, and have an attendant there in my absence."

"The news says your office 'on Saturday was full of these poor men' who were 'justly angry at the wrongs done them.'"

"That is a perfectly absurd, not to say, a boldly malicious statement," said the Clerk. "Those men were there because, as a personal favor, I agreed with the Street Commissioner to meet them and prepare their bills, in anticipation of the Council meeting on Monday evening—a service I have freely rendered them many times, though it is no part of my official duty, and, moreover, I save them some five dollars a month by taking their affidavits without charge."

"The news says you are expected to administer the oath as City Clerk to these men, but you decline to do so."

"Such a statement isn't worth noticing," he said. "As just suggested, it is no part of my business as Clerk to administer such oaths, though, as a Notary Public, I am able to do so and have freely given my services to poor people times without number. Strictly speaking, every bill against the city should be placed in my hands, as auditor, made out in due form with the proper affidavit attached, and that too five days before the Council meeting where it is to be presented, in order that there may be time to examine it carefully."

"The news seems to have a queer idea of your power as auditor. It says the expenses of the city have increased at a 'frightful rate' since the Council appointed you to that office, and for that reason."

This very silly remark caused the City Clerk to laugh outright when he heard it for the first time from the PRESS reporter, and he said, "It will be news to the members of the Council that they have been paying money at a 'frightful rate' for bills that they had no hand in contracting."

"Really," said the Clerk, as the reporter was about to proceed, "you must excuse me from wasting my time in noticing further such malicious assertions. The author of them must know that they are false, and is simply publishing them to retaliate upon a city officer who has done his duty in refusing to audit his bill of $40 or more for advertising that the city did not order."

An Invaluable Traveling Companion.

No person should travel without a box of HAMBURG FIGS in his satchel, for they will be found invaluable when change of food and water has brought on an attack of indigestion, or torpidity of the liver. 25c. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

Adjusts the Claim.

Mr. John B. Naylor, agent for the Metropolitan Insurance Company, Monday, paid to Mrs. Estella M. Jackson, $108, the amount of life insurance held by her on her husband, now deceased.

Ordination and Installation of Church Officers.

Previous to the sermon Sunday morning, the following persons were ordained and installed as Elders and Deacons of Trinity Reformed church, the pastor, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, officiating:

Elders—R. B. Field, G. Q. Dolliver, O. W. Dunham.

Deacons—J. H. Van Winkle, T. E. Hasell, E. E. Anthony, A. L. Force.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE E. HOADLEY.

The announcement was made Tuesday of the death of Mr. George E. Hoadley, which occurred at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. William Palmer Smith, on Belvidere avenue, at quarter before 11 o'clock on Monday evening. Mr. Hoadley who was upwards of 70 years of age, has been an invalid for a long time past, and has only left the house in company with a valet. About three years ago he was stricken down with paralysis, from the effects of which he never fully recovered. His complaint subsequently developed into brain trouble and resulted in his death.

Mr. Hoadley was a man both well-known and universally esteemed by the community at large. In early life he served in the capacity of Treasurer of the Panama Railway Company, but his declining days were passed in retirement. His wife died about two years ago, and since then he has resided with his only child, Mrs. W. P. Smith, on Netherwood Heights. He was a member of the Crescent Avenue church, and was a regular attendant until forced to remain at home on account of ill health.

The Girls Swear That "Still" Randolph Didn't Assault Them.

An article in THE PRESS of last Friday morning told of an assault committed upon "Kate Murphy" as she was returning from a ball on Somerset street, about five o'clock of that morning. The girl was either so brutally beaten or violently thrown to the sidewalk, that at first it was thought her skull was fractured. She was carried into the house of a physician near by, and restored to consciousness.

Below we give the affidavit of Nora Walsh and Minnie Garland, one of whom it is claimed is the "Kate Murphy" who was assaulted. In her affidavit she exonerates "Still" Randolph, and his friends go so far as to say that she was not assaulted at all. The affidavit is as follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY, COUNTY OF UNION } ss.

Personally appeared before me the subscriber a Notary Public for New Jersey, Nora Walsh and Minnie Garland, who being duly sworn on their oaths saith, that Stillman F. Randolph who has been accused of committing an assault on either of them at an early hour on Friday morning, Nov. 8, last, on their way home from a ball of the Columbia Social Club, held in Turn Hall, on Somerset street, North Plainfield, N. J., is innocent of the crime of which he is accused, and they further say that the statement made by the young men was without foundation, and that they further exonerate him from blame.

Miss NORA WALSH,
Miss MINNIE GARLAND.

Sworn and subscribed to before me this eleventh day of November, A. D., 1889.

J. C. POPE,
Notary Public.

If one of the above signers is "Kate Murphy," and she was not assaulted at all, who was and who did it? Some young woman was brutally beaten at the time, place and in the manner, THE PRESS related. The authority for the article was the very best. There is no doubt of the truth of the story except so far as Randolph is concerned. The above affidavit entirely exonerates him.

WHERE AND WHAT WILL THE MONUMENT BE.

Crescent Square, Franklin Square, and the City Park, in View as Locations for the Soldiers' Memorial Shaft.

There is to be a fifteen-thousand-dollar monument erected in this city to the memory of the dead soldiers of the late war. That much is certain, as the project is in charge of Plainfield's leading citizens and veterans. Nothing falls in the hands of such men as General James S. Negley, Col. Mason W. Tyler, J. E. Stewart, L. V. F. Randolph, George W. Moore, Nelson Runyon, E. J. Olsson, Wm. H. Williams, Alex. Gilbert, E. B. Clark, J. Evarts Tracy, C. W. McCutchen, A. C. Baldwin, S. A. Ginna, Rowland S. Cox and L. W. Serrell. Col. Tyler is Chairman, Judge Runyon is Secretary and John E. Stewart is Treasurer of this committee upon which is represented equally the citizen and soldier element.

Saturday evening at the headquarters of Winfield Scott Post, another meeting was held at which almost the entire committee was present. It was then considered just to offer North Plainfield additional representation on the committee, and Gen'l Eli Long, Mayor Cooley, School Trustee James McGee and Commodore George P. Dupee, will be tendered invitations to join in the work.

One thing is settled—the monument will not be erected on the handsome plot in Hillside cemetery, offered by its Trustees. Even Col. Tyler, who represents the latter on the committee, recognizes the fact that the heart of the city is the proper place for the monument proposed; and ex-Councilman E. B. Clark struck the key note of the question when he said it was to teach the lessons of self-sacrifice, patriotism, courage and resignation to the Children of the country, that memorial shafts were pointed heavenward in honor of the soldier dead.

A month ago, THE PRESS said:

> The members of the G. A. R., of this city, who are to erect a Soldier's Monument in Plainfield in commemoration of the Nation's dead heroes, will make a mistake by placing such monument in Hillside Cemetery, so far from daily sight.
>
> Let it be erected in some such prominent spot as the junction of Broadway and Crescent avenue; and let it not be in the form of a gloomy tombstone. What's the matter with putting up a magnificent fountain?

The public will be glad to know that the Committee is acting on this very suggestion so far as the site is concerned, and will consider the question of form of monument, later. There will be no trouble now about raising the money by popular subscription as soon as it is definitely settled just where "in town" the monument will be. A sub-committee consisting of Messrs. S. A. Ginna, Rowland Cox and E. B. Clark, have the question of site now in charge, and are to report at the next meeting of the committee, Saturday evening.

The sites in view are THE PRESS' choice, the "triangle" at the junction of Crescent avenue and Broadway; the "circle" on which a street lamp now stands at the "Five Points," where LaGrande, Putnam and Franklin avenues cross one another; and the City Park at Eighth street and Arlington avenue. The first named is first choice, but it is rumored that although the consent of the Trustees of the Crescent Avenue church to the use of the site could be obtained, yet Mr. John B. Dumont, President of the Council, and Mr. Joseph W. Yates, object, as they with others contributed to the purchase of the spot as a perpetual park, they have a voice in any transfer of its purposes.

The use of the other sites could be granted by an ordinance of the Council. It is understood that the Corporation Counsel has given his opinion informally to such effect.

—Nicholas Reinehart, a farm hand was found dead in John Myers barn at Warrenville, early on Sunday morning.

Thanksgiving Union Service.

The Thanksgiving Union service, in which some of the churches on this side of the brook unite, will this year be held in Dr. Ketcham's church, and the Rev. C. B. Mitchell will preach the sermon.

Exempt Firemen's Meeting.

A meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association of this city was held on Monday evening, with President Alex. Titsworth in the chair. Included in the routine of business was the election of three new members as follows: Messrs T. A. Rogers, Thos. McDonald and C. P. Sebring.

Well Started.

The night school for men began on Tuesday in the High School building, at 7:30 o'clock. There were fifty-six scholars present. The school will be continued on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of each week.

The classes for women will begin December 2, and be held on Monday and Friday evenings.

Call on Your "Uncle."

Mr Samuel Drier of this city was on Tuesday granted a license by the Circuit Court at Elizabeth to carry on a pawn broker's business at the corner of Front street and Madison avenue.

Persons who now become financially embarrassed can secure temporary assistance by depositing their Summer clothes with their "Uncle."

The Star Concert.

The New York Star Concert Company, composed of colored vocalists, gave a concert in Reform Hall, Tuesday, for the benefit of the Bethel A. M. E. church of Newark, Rev. J. T. Diggs, pastor. The attendance was small, but the entertainment was good, and the singers were all applauded. The company was brought here by Manager William Harris, who lost about $65 by the enterprise.

Complaint Against Farmers.

Grocers are complaining of the exorbitant prices charged by farmers for poultry, although all kinds of fowls are plentiful. The prices are so high that only a small margin for profit is left the grocer. The farmers, it is claimed, are also making contracts to supply private families with poultry, thus furnishing another cause of complaint to the aggrieved grocers.

A Grand Work to be Rendered.

The Plainfield Choral Society will take up that grand work of Gaul's, "The Holy City." It is one of the most beautiful pieces of music ever written. The sheet copies alone for the singers to rehearse will cost $75.

It will probably be rendered at the first of the three subscription concerts of the Society. There will also be an orchestra at that concert and the last one, if not at all three.

Death of Mrs. Philopena Zimmer.

At the home of her son, Mr. Chas. Zimmer, on West Front street, Monday night, occurred the death of Mrs. Philopena Zimmer, in the 74th year of her age. The deceased has been ailing for a long time, her latest illness dating back for a period of about three months. Her death resulted from kidney trouble. Mrs. Zimmer has resided in this city for the past 36 years.

The funeral took place from the house Wednesday at 2 P. M., and from the German Reformed church at 2:30 o'clock.

The Programme of the Next Hurlbut Circle Meeting.

The 104th meeting of the Hurlbut Circle, C. L. S. C., of this city, will be held at the "Y" rooms, corner of North avenue and Peace street, Wednesday of next week at 7:45 P. M.

PROGRAMME:

Roll call—Each member to respond by naming some topic for future programme.
Michael Angelo..........Miss Ida Randolph
General rules by which to judge a picture
..........Miss Grant
Summary of the Punic Wars......Mr. Larrabe
RECESS AND MUSIC.
Mental Philosophy, No. 2..........Mrs. Emmerson
Questions and answers in November Chautauquan on "Romans as Housekeepers"..Circle

That Troublesome Washout.

Testimony was taken before Col. Boice, at New Brunswick, on Saturday, as told in Monday's PRESS, as to the liability of the township of South Plainfield or the county of Middlesex, to repair damages done to a bridge in the said township by the recent washout. Messrs A. V. Schenck, of New Brunswick, with Mr. Jackson, of Jackson & Codington, of this city, appeared for the township, and Mr. H. B. Willis for the county. The hearing lasted eight hours. Mr. Colthar of this city, and Samuel Stewart of South Plainfield, testified for the township. The hearing was adjourned until Thursday at 10 o'clock A. M.

Fire at Scotch Plains.

A fire in the residence of Mr. August Frentz at Scotch Plains on Friday morning last did damage to the extent of about $150. A daughter of Mr. Frentz, upon entering a bedroom in the upper story of the house, discovered a bright fire burning in one of the closets. She immediately gave an alarm, and a lady who was passing at the time assisted her in extinguishing the flames, but not until the contents of the closet, consisting of clothing, etc., were destroyed.

Mr. W. A. Woodruff, in whose agency the building was insured, promptly adjusted the loss.

The Rev. Mr. Cadwell Almost Detained to Death by Editor Pearsall's Silver Tongue.

The Rev. N. W. Cadwell of Westfield, is very sick at home of injuries received in jumping from a moving train. Thursday evening of last week he was on his way to preach at Roselle, on the train reaching there at 7:34 o'clock.

He was so interested in conversation with Editor Pearsall of the Mt. Ararat Standard, that he did not notice his arrival at his destination until the train started again. He rushed to the platform of the car and in spite of the brakeman's warning jumped out into the darkness. He landed near the flag house some hundred feet distant from the station. The fall resulted in injuries and bruises that have confined him to his home ever since.

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?

Do its Manufacturers Publish all the Ingredients Used?

IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?

As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the bread material.

Protection to consumers of food compounds lies in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but buy instead

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER.

This powder is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, and strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, with a little wheat flour to preserve it. This is attested by the official analyses of Government and State chemists, and physicians, and chemists of Boards of Health throughout the country.

CLEVELAND BROTHERS, ALBANY, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, New York—9-7 ly

CONSUMPTION,

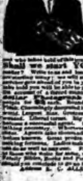
IN its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even in the later periods of that disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middleton, Tennessee.

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Darien, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. Chandler, Junction, Va.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.



A $20 A Day Man!

A VOICE from Ohio. Here is a portrait of Mr. Garrison, of Salem, Ohio. He writes: "Was at work on a farm for $20 a month; I now have an agency for E. C. Allen & Co's albums and publications and often make $20 a day." (Signed) W. H. GARRISON.

William Kline, Harrisburg, Pa., writes: "I have never known anything to sell like your album. Yesterday I took orders enough to pay me over $25." W. J. [illegible] [illegible]

Shall we start YOU in this business, reader? [illegible]

Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., AUGUSTA, MAINE. 2-6-ly

CARNEY BROS.,
11 SOMERSET ST.

TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.

PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware Mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.

Tinware Made to Order.

Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces.

SANITARY PLUMBING.

HOW CAN THE LONG BE THE SHORT ?

A line may be a very long one and yet be the shortest between given points. For instance, the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has over 3,000 miles of road; magnificently equipped and managed. It is one of the greatest railway systems of this country; for the same reasons it is the traveler's favorite to all points in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana. It is the only line to Great Falls, the future manufacturing center of the Northwest; to the fertile free lands of the Milk River Valley; and offers a choice of three routes to the Coast. Still it is the shortest line between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Fargo, Winnipeg, Crookston, Moorhead, Casselton, Glyndon, Grafton, Fergus Falls, Wahpeton, Devils Lake, and Butte City. It is the best route to Alaska, China and Japan, and the journey to the Pacific coast, Vancouver, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco will be remembered as the delight of a life-time once made through the wonderful scenery of the Manitoba-Pacific route. To fish and hunt; to view the magnificence of nature; to revive the spirit; restore the body; to realize the dream of the home-seeker, the gold-seeker, the toiler, or the capitalist, visit the country reached by the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway. Write to F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A., St. Paul, Minn., for maps, books and guides. If you want a free farm in a lovely land, write for the "Great Reservation." Read it and resolve to accept the golden chance.

HAND OF FORTUNE!

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

PECK'S CORNER.

PECK!

HAS A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

GOOD UNDERWEAR!

Just Your Size. Do you Want It?

OUR PRIZE WINNERS!

The State Board of Canvassers has decided the majority of Leon Abbett over General Grubb to be 14,252.

The party who guessed the nearest to this number is Mr. JOHN A. DUNION, 101 Condit street, city, on a guess of 14,750, and he is therefore entitled to our first prize.

For the second nearest guess Mr. JOHN SETON, 32 Bridge street, city, takes the premium on a guess of 14,765.

McGregor &Co., 850 and 852 Broad St NEWARK, N. J.

A. VANDERBEEK,
(CHAUTAUQUA BUILDING.)
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

HAVING DISPOSED OF THE MUSICAL AND SPORTING Goods Department I am now prepared to devote my entire time to the sale and renting o

—PIANOS AND ORGANS—

Having many years of experience in the Piano Trade I am prepared to furnish first-class Instruments as reasonable as they can be had in New York city. Pianos tune. Give me a call before purchasing

PRICE LIST OF THE

EMPIRE STEAM CARPET CLEANING
Feather and Mattress Renovating Works.
Office and Works, 32 East Front Street.
HUGO WEICMANN, Prop.

Ingrain and 3-Ply, - 3c. per yd.
Tapestry and Brussels, 4c. "
Wilton, Velvet, Moquette and Axminster, - 5c. "
Feather Pillows, - 50c. per pair
Feather-Bolsters, - 50c. each
Large Feather Bed, - $1.50 each
Hair steamed and picked, 5c. per lb

GUNNERS' SUPPLIES!

The "Club" Shell Loaded by the U. M. C. Co.

—LOOK AT THE PRICES.—

10 ga 4 or 4 1-4 drs Powder, $1.85 pr 100
12 " 3, 3 1-4 or 3 1-2 " " $1.75 " "

American Wood, Schultze and Dead-shot Powder Shells Loaded to Order.

Guns of all Grades and Sizes.

Look at Our $1.00 Hunting Coat.

A. M. Vanderbeek & Co.,
33 PARK AVENUE.
Chautauqua Building. PLAINFIELD, N. J.

HARRIS PATENT
ODORLESS EXCAVATOR
CESSPOOLS VAULTS

John Brown,
(Successor to John Burke.)
Cesspools, Vaults, Etc., Etc.,
CLEANED.
Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at CARNEY BROS., No. 11 Somerset Street, or addressed to P O Box [illegible], will receive prompt attention.

SELECT SLIPS OF VERSE.

[illegible]

The Tale of a Fish.

Youth and maiden
In a boat,
On a lakelet,
Fins and float,
Maiden thinks the Water cool,
Puts hand in it,
Little fool!
From her finger—
Needless thing—
[illegible]
Diamond ring.
Maiden frantic
[illegible]
Youth, disgusted,
Wants to swear.

* * * * *

Youth next morning
Fishing goes,
[illegible]

God Knows the Best.

[illegible]

—N. Y. [illegible]

The Constant Summer Girl.

[illegible]

A Foolish Test.

"Love thy neighbor as thyself!"
What a foolish preacher!
[illegible]

To Flattery.

[illegible]

To Those Who Fail.

[illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS MENTION.

[illegible]

MUSICAL MONARCHS.

THE Princess of Wales is a skillful pianist.

THE Prince of Wales plays the banjo fairly well.

THE Duke of Connaught [illegible] with the flute.

THE Duke of Edinburgh is a persevering but poor violinist.

THE Czar of all the Russias [illegible]

QUEEN MARGHERITA, of Italy, [illegible] at the piano.

THE beautiful Empress of Austria [illegible] on the zither.

QUEEN VICTORIA and her daughter [illegible] play well upon the organ.

QUEEN [illegible], of Roumania, plays with equal skill on the harp and [illegible].

PRINCE HENRY, of Prussia, [illegible] and a performer on the violin and piano.

THE Emperor of Japan is proficient on the "Koto," the national instrument, which is a kind of big zither.

CONCERNING COIFFURES.

Fresh Fashions for Dressing Curls and Bangs.

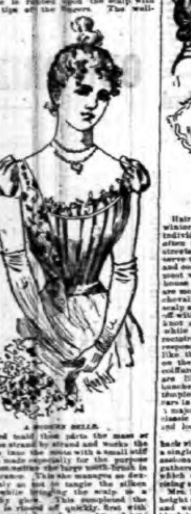
[illegible] Brushed Kendal Bandeaux—Fluffy Ellen Terry Tresses, Greek Knots and the Flowing Chevalure—How to Wash and Care for the Hair.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

Pretty fluffy hair is the feminine head is an exceptional beauty. Every girl cannot be a Clara Middleton and win a George Meredith description of her sunny tresses, but she strives for coiffures suggesting artistic carelessness, and "to look the better, my dear, under all circumstances." Hence, her slavery to the curling iron, and her constant anxiety to discover new methods of making feathery rings to cling like love around the forehead and to glorify the temples with curves that catch the light in their changing waves. Hence, too, her unquestioned interest in the devices adopted by Mrs. Kendal to brighten the tints of her chestnut locks and to add fluffiness and sheen.

The English actress has hair which is abundant and fine as brown satin, but without the [illegible] that often gives so-called fine hair a damp and matted appearance. When dressed her smooth bandeaux are soft and loose and glistening and have a gloss that lightens the complexion. The lady puts devout faith in the tonic property of sunshine and the bristle brush, to both of which simple aids to hair culture her head is subjected every day.

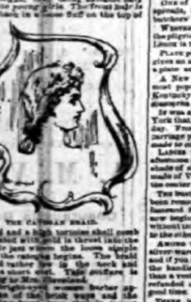
Twice a week her hair is washed in clear, cold, soft water. Mrs. Kendal believes that soap and warm water debilitate the follicles. After the washing a crash towel is used to rub the hair partially dry. The lady is her own shampooer, concocting in her private laboratory a dressing paste which is to be applied while the skin is still damp and softened. Half a pint of pure glycerine, a gill of lemon juice, a gill of rose water and a fourth of a gill of alcohol are the ingredients. These are shaken together, bottled and the whole is thickened with orris root almost to the consistency of fresh cream. The resultant mixture is emollient and will keep for many days. Comfortably seated at a sunny window a little of the paste is rubbed upon the scalp with the tips of the fingers. The well-trained maid then parts the mass of tresses strand by strand and works the cream into the roots with a small stiff brush made especially for the purpose and something like a large tooth-brush in appearance. This she manages so dexterously as not to tangle the silken veil while bringing the scalp to a healthy glow. This completed the paste is rinsed off quickly, first with water containing a drop or two of ammonia, and then more thoroughly with clear water. Now begins the brushing process, and the assortment of brushes stiff and soft laid out upon the pretty toilet table would make the novice, unaccustomed to the devotion paid nowadays to the woman's crown of glory, open her eyes. Now fast, now slow, now gently and now with vigor for an hour or more the brushes are manipulated, and when at length the part is made, straight down the middle, as so few women nowadays have the courage to wear it, and the shining lengths are coiled loosely over the tips of the ears and twisted in a knot behind, in the fashion which Jane Hading copied for our benefit last winter, every thread is fresh and bright as if the wearer were still in her teens.



A MODERN BELLE.

The Kendal coiffure is, of course, for the moment a popular one. When Jennie June entertained the actress some evening a fortnight or so ago, three or four women advanced for presentation with hair separated smoothly on the forehead and gathered back in broad waves like her own, showing the temples instead of covering them up with bangs. For a moment there was formed a group that might have come out of "Godey's Lady's Book" along in the thirties, with [illegible] waists, straight flounced skirts and smooth, quaintly banded hair, making the faces look serene and sweet, though little bunches of cherries or flowers put above the ears were needed to complete in detail the old time simplicity. But well as it goes with our old-fashioned gowns the picturesque Kendal coiffure is of the moment only. Hading awakened our enthusiasm for her version of it, but the day she sailed away it fell into desuetude. Women with small ears did not like to hide them, and women with big ones feared that such a head-dress emphasized their magnitude. [illegible] the peculiarly loosely coiled twist behind should make permanent place for it, and Hading is a far prettier and more fascinating woman than Mrs. Kendal.

Although she long since abdicated her high place Mrs. Cleveland's fashion of dressing her hair is more likely to fasten itself [illegible] on the winter styles. The [illegible] of the ex-President's [illegible] has smooth hair, soft and abundant, which receives simple, yet peculiar care. The comb is Mrs. Cleveland's [illegible] and every few days, instead of a washing, her tresses receive a thorough combing, and are then lifted by the fingers lock by lock and fanned, the vigorous current of air thus generated removing all the dust that settles on the scalp after an hour on our windy promenades. Mrs. Cleveland is wearing her hair this autumn in one of the two extremes of fashion, the catogan braid. It is not, however, an unmodified catogan, that being suitable only for quite young girls. The front hair is drawn back in a loose fluff on the top of her head and a high tortoise shell comb ornamented with gold is thrust into the back hair just where the loose simple plait of the catogan begins. The braid is looped rather low in the neck and made in a short coil. This coiffure is becoming to Mrs. Cleveland.

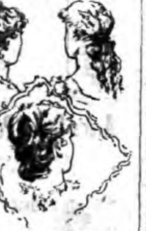


THE CATOGAN BRAID.

The bright-eyed woman barber approves [illegible] of the brisk ways and the [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Cold water is a good stimulant for hair of any description, but on dark hair it should never be allowed to remain more than a few minutes at a time. Too frequent scrubbing of the head with soapy water is also sometimes one of the most frequent causes of baldness, but soap is [illegible] brown. Soda and borax in moderation are good for light hair, but should never touch that which is dusky. Ammonia is another thing which must be handled carefully. The pretty Hading got the tawny lights in her bronzy hair by the help of it, but an overdose will fade threads of most colors by its burning influence and may turn the hair gray.

This climate, says the wise woman barber, is very trying to hair. Foreign actresses and singers, and society women who have been long abroad, often find on landing in America their spun silk locks becoming rough, harsh and wiry. Mme. [illegible], who is trying to make us like Ibsen's plays at the Amberg theater, experienced this difficulty, and has taken to a process of singeing. Instead of cutting off two or three inches of the ends according to the usual barbarous [illegible] style, the split and broken ends are passed through the flame of a candle every month or so, and a vigorous brushing is resorted to, the result being that perfumed gloss which Aspasia demanded of her slave girl.

Agnes Booth, Marie Burroughs and Annie Russell form an effective trio in "Captain Swift," and of these Annie Russell has, by far, the most beautiful hair. Mrs. Booth's is Titian brown and falls in great ripples over her forehead. Miss Burroughs' is dusky and fragrant with the balm of wild olives, but Miss Russell's is a sheeny yellow, blending the lights of silver and gold. When she wears it hanging loosely from a fillet, as for Elaine, the part in which she made her reputation, you would say from the weight and fluffy softness of it that she has a powerful argument to back her when she makes the claim that curling irons do not injure hair or, at least, do not injure her hair. It is possible, she says, to have the instrument of torture warm enough to curl without being hot enough to destroy the life of the hair. Miss Russell's locks fall about her like a veil, and before she began to cut them back to a medium length for her parts, she might almost have hidden herself among them, as did the beauty in the fairy tale, who was shut up in a cage with no covering but her hair.



THREE NOVEL STYLES.

Hair is dressed high or low this winter according to the caprice of the individual woman. The basket plaits often seen below walking hats on the streets, pinned round and round to preserve the shape of the head, are popular and convenient for the promenade, but most women find them too severe for house or evening wear. Indeed they are more apt than any other variety of chevalure to belong to an artificial scalp and to be fastened on and taken off with the wrap and vail. The Greek knot appears both day and evening, while l'Empire, Recamier and Directoire styles go with dresses of corresponding modes. Rows of flat curls like the old-time Montagues are worn on the forehead with the new Spanish coiffures, but these plastered lovelocks are likely to be less popular than bunches of soft loose curls about the temples dropping down toward the ears in another and prettier old fashion. A majority of the styles are based on classic models and picturesque ideals, and loosely curled flowing hair tied back with a ribbon and ornamented with a single flower is much in vogue. Occasionally some eccentric young woman gathers her hair into a curly brush which stands on the top of her head rising straight in air.

Mrs. Hicks-Lord wears her hair in the height of the Empire mode. It is heavy, and would have been called purple-black in the days when that title was applied to hair. It is combed for state occasions very high on the top of her head and wound into a coil. This acts as a cushion for fastening the short thick curls with which it is covered, curls which droop on the forehead and are only partly confined by bands of black velvet, which pass around the head in Greek fashion. There are other curls at the back, which are short and thick and cover the head with waves. Feathery aigrettes or diamonds trembling on wires are put in on one side high up among the coils and curls.

With a coiffure like Mrs. Lord's gold and silver fillets or coronets are often worn. These consist usually of three bands to hold the front curls in place, uniting in a single one behind. A yellow haired blonde like Miss Amy Bend wears a full chevalure confined by the plain gold fillet, while a picturesque young matron, as, for instance, Mrs. Ladenburg, sets diamonds and rubies in the bands which hold her dark hair.

Mrs. Edward Cooper wears her hair dressed very becomingly. It is drawn straight back from the brows and plaited low on the neck in a large loose braid. This is carried up over the top of the head and fastened in front with a jeweled pin.

Miss Hecksher, who married Mr. Geo. B. McClellan on October 30, wears her hair a la Recamier. The front is curled in close waves and a thick coil is wound round the head with a curl or two peeping out behind.

Miss Jessie Fair, the daughter of Senator Fair, of California, who is expected to make a social name and fame for herself in New York this winter, dresses her hair in a style not unlike that of the Princess of Wales. The back hair is braided, pinned to the top of the head and held in place at the nape of the neck by a gold clasp. The front hair is curled, parted slightly to the right of the middle and drawn down upon the temples in a heavy curled bang.

In the jewelers' windows ornamental combs are displayed more prominently than any other part of the stock. The fashionable girls wears plain gold ones stuck sideways through the back hair as they walk Broadway or Fifth avenue. For dress occasions richly gemmed ones blaze. Mrs. Willie Astor wears her heavy dark hair in a Grecian knot, partially confined by a comb of exquisite tortoise shell with a top of pierced work in gold set with diamonds.

Little puffs of tulle, of the color of the ball gown, are often mounted on pins and thrust into the hair.

ELLEN OSBORN.

FADS AND FASHIONS.

In Paris something new are silk and lace handkerchiefs made in the form of a leaf with stem.

ONE of the newest fads is making bedspreads, bureau covers, etc., of heavy butchers' linen.

WESTERN MASSACHUSETTS is the Mecca of the pilgrims of fashion just at present, and Lenox is their holy shrine.

PLATE parties are in vogue. The hostess gives an afternoon tea. Each guest brings a plate and leaves it when she goes away.

A NEW YORK "professor" says that the most popular dances this year will be the Kentucky jubilee, Berlin Duchess, glide, [illegible] and military polka.

IT was shown by the horse show in New York that bang tails are the fashion of the day. From the polo pony to the sedate carriage pair the horse's natural switch is made to conform to fashion.

LADIES who dose in bed have a set of afternoon pillows covered with a becoming shade of silk. The case that slips over is made of Victoria lawn, with a monogram in the center of open lace work.

THE bustle has collapsed, the extenders been removed and the rubber straps unfastened from the skirts of fashion, and now begins the task of learning to walk without throwing the dress from one heel to the other.

AMONG the large dealers in jewelry and silver-ware orders are taken for umbrellas, and if you like you can have a watch set in the handle. The face is not any larger than a vest button, but the money will be refunded if the miniature does not keep good time.

THERE is fashion even in tombstones. White marble monuments are going out, and but few head-stones are now made for the fashionable dead in white material. Granite in dark shades is the prevailing rage, and nearly all the new monuments are being made in that material.

ONE of the newest features of my lady's dressing-room is a circular seat called a pouf, where she sits while her hair is being combed. The chair is without a back, the upholstering is done in some rich brocade, and buttoned in deeply to the depth of eight inches. [illegible] is placed at the foot of the [illegible].

TRANSPIRING OF LATE.

A PETRIFIED alligator was recently found at the beach at Cutler, Me.

THE grand cross of a Commander of the Legion of Honor has been bestowed upon Thomas A. Edison.

THE international congress of shorthand writers recommended the introduction of shorthand into primary schools.

WORKMEN taking out sawed lumber on Racoon's Island, near Williamsport, came upon a petrified log sixty feet long, which they could not lift.

A LIQUOR officer, in searching a house in Boston, found behind a large picture an opening in the wall which concealed fifty bottles of lager beer.

A PITTSBURGH man in London is said to have written to the Princess Louise, Duchess of Fife, offering to buy one of the numerous sets of bracelets presented to her on her recent marriage.

THE statue of Daniel Webster stands in the State-house Park at Concord, N. H., and the Legislature of that State has voted to erect beside it a bronze statue of General John Stark, of revolutionary fame.

A SACRAMENTO (Cal.) business man used a phonograph cylinder in transmitting important messages to Chicago, sending the novel machine (which the postal authorities have decided must be paid for at first-class postage rates) by mail.

A TORONTO (Ont.) man was in Philadelphia and bought a ticket for home, stating that he wanted to go via Lewiston. He meant Lewiston, N. Y., and when he awoke in Lewiston, Me., next day he was the maddest man that down-East city has seen for a month.

A BASHFUL young man of Wellsville, N. Y., offers a five-dollar silk umbrella to the young lady sending the best proposal of marriage. Points to be considered are composition, spelling, writing, brevity and reasons for wishing to be married. Maiden ladies over seventy-five are barred out.

THE largest sailing ship in the world, the Palgrave, left Sandy Hook recently for Java with a cargo of one hundred and thirty-two thousand cases of refined petroleum, or about one million three hundred and twenty thousand gallons. It is the largest cargo ever exported in any one vessel.

FIVE sergeants, three corporals and seven patrolmen of the San Francisco police force have been retired on pensions as a reward for their long and faithful services. The sergeants are to receive sixty-one dollars and fifty cents, the corporals fifty-seven dollars and fifty cents and the patrolmen fifty dollars a month.

WHILE some laborers were engaged in chopping timber in a big woods near Decatur, Ind., they accidentally discovered what is supposed to have been a counterfeiters' rendezvous. Beneath the earth surface was found a brick furnace, several half dollars dated 1860, and some of the metal from which the spurious coins were made.

IN order to get the best account of a recent execution there, a Minnesota editor had one of his reporters arrested and lodged in jail it is related. The reporter, however, was made to scrub floors and perform other menial services during his incarceration, and when the hour of execution came he was removed to a distant part of the jail.

A VOTE was taken at the St. Louis Exposition recently on the National-flower question, resulting in favor of the golden rod by a vote of 6,347 to 4,743 for the sunflower. Sixty-one different flowers were voted for, but those running the highest were: Rose, 3,341; daisy, 1,349; violet, 951; pansy, 842; lily, 741; tuberose, 643; pink, 406; morning glory, 451. The violets, pinks, pansies, daisies and other modest flowers of beauty drew ballots largely from ladies.

FROM FOREIGN FIELDS.

THERE is a growing demand in England for human skin leather.

MORE deaths occur in England from bronchitis than from any other disease.

THE residents of Hawarden have decided to erect a statue to Mr. Gladstone in commemoration of his golden wedding.

THERE is a large body of English Mussulmans at Cape Town, the descendants of Malay seamen. Their language is English, but they are provided with mollahs and Arabic teachers from Constantinople.

THE Empress Frederick, in fulfillment of a wish of her late illustrious consort, sent, on the anniversary of the battle of Sedan, sums of money to a great number of needy soldiers who were wounded in that engagement.

THE heir to the Brazilian throne, the Conde d' Eu, in a reply to a republican manifesto said that when the people signified by their votes that the Imperial family is a hindrance to the progress of the Nation they would retire.

THERE is a place in the Paris exhibition plan marked "Panama," and in the grounds a little building bearing that name; but there is no plan and no exhibit. Just as the exhibition opened the Panama Company went into the hands of the liquidators.

THE French authorities undertook to employ a German specialist to check the spread of cholera in Tonquin, but the French medicos preferred the disease to the German doctor and recorded so vigorous a protest that his appointment was canceled.

THE Forth bridge has stirred the engineering world so that Schneider & Co., the great French iron makers, have prepared a design for a channel bridge from Dover to Calais. The length is twenty-four miles, and the number of piers proposed to be built in the sea is 120.

A BALL and concert were gotten up by an English clergyman in order to provide the parish with a hearse. This has been outdone by a ball which was held at Dingwall, in Rossshire, Scotland, in order to provide an operating table for the Ross Memorial Hospital in the town.

KING OTTO, of Bavaria, narrowly escaped being killed a short time ago in his castle of Furstenreid. While passing through the dining-room the chandelier fell from the ceiling and just grazed the head of his Majesty. An attendant who stood near by was badly wounded. The rooms of the castle have since been examined, and, with two exceptions, declared unsafe and unfit for habitation. The King is now confined to these two rooms.

A LONDON paper announces that a Worcestershire village, from the fact of its being called Broadway, first attracted the attention and then the visits of Americans, and now there is quite an American season and summer artist colony, which is six miles from a railway station. The American artists have established a Broadway school at this spot, which, with its ivy and creeper-covered Worcestershire houses, is regarded by them as the most typical of English villages.

THE admirers of Prince Bismarck in Germany are developing plans to found a Bismarck Museum in Berlin on the next birthday anniversary of the Chancellor. Collections have been made already and requests sent out for all relics pertaining to the Prince or his family. It will, in all probability, be arranged somewhat after the style of the well-known Hohenzollern Museum, which is in one of the palaces of Frederick the Great. The Chancellor is flattered by the idea.

[illegible]

Strings of gold beads are worn as necklaces.

White alpaca, with decorations of gold braid, is used for dressy dust cloaks.

Short grenadine is a new dress material. Costumes of this fabric are made up over shot silk, and trimmed with velvet.

English dressmakers have adopted the fashion of having the seams on the outside of the bodice, and binding them with ribbon.

Most of the new Directoire gowns have their original severity of outline modified by the addition of Empire vests, girdles, sashes, etc.

Odd pieces of jet passementerie are utilized to trim sashes of black moire ribbon, the ribbon being cut away where the passementerie is applied.

Guimpes and slips are still much liked for little girls, and they also wear guimpe dresses, which have white cambric yokes and sleeves to simulate guimpes.

Many of the newest white cambric petticoats are tucked diagonally or [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible].

A foreign contemporary makes note of a Directoire costume of stone gray cloth, on which a hundred yards of real silver braid has been worked up in floral designs.

It is said there will be no color contrasts in the autumn costumes, but toque, gloves, and wrap will be of the exact shade of the gown with which they are worn.

Leather bands are used as hems, cuffs, collars, revers and waistcoats, upon walking and driving suits for country wear, and may be procured in colors to match the costume.

Elegant bathing costumes consist of a blouse and short trousers of black silk, trimmed with white silk braid. They are, of course, expensive, but even [illegible] the effect is [illegible].

A blouse waist which fits the figure perfectly has a number of fine plaits at the back, which converge at the waist, and also on each side of the front. The collar and belt are also tucked in fine rows.

Many rows of narrow watered ribbon will edge the overdresses and Grecian draperies of autumn costumes. Also arabesque bands of silk cord, with special ornaments to match for the bodice.

A novelty in white nun's veiling is crossed with lines of light color, forming large squares. In the centre of each square is a design in a darker shade, looking like an ornamental monogram.

An important requisite of fashionable hairdressing just now is that the hair should be loose and fluffy, which effect is attained by careful washing, by curling iron, or by additional hair which is naturally curly.

Despite all predictions to the contrary, the Directoire redingote will be as popular as ever during the fall, and in most cases will take the place of any other street garment, being made of velvet and heavy cloth.

Autumn brides will wear traveling gowns of Henrietta cloth, Indiana cloth, French camel's hair, mohair or bordered English serge, and most of them will be made up over silk skirts matching the woollen goods in color.

Very young ladies wear fichus which are made of extra wide sash ribbons. They are joined diagonally at the middle of the back, and cross in front, where a few plaits fit them to the figure, and are knotted at the waistline at the back.

The printed American silks, which are new this season, form some of the most attractive costumes seen at the summer resorts. They are made entirely of the printed silk, with trimmings of ribbon velvet, or as Empire gowns opening over a skirt and waist of plain silk.

BARNYARD BREVITIES.

CHICKENS are fond of buckwheat; better lay away several bushels as an occasional relish to their daily food.

INTELLIGENT feeding is as necessary for the hog as for any other animal; it will not thrive on any thing and every thing.

MANY farmers do not appreciate the importance of testing their cows and knowing which are making profitable returns and which are not.

HAVE a clean floor on which to feed the swine. A hog does not like to eat in filth, and it does not improve the pork to compel him to do it, either.

OVER-FEEDING the hens may be the cause of leg weakness, soft eggs, poor hatches and apoplexy, and is often the cause of hens becoming egg-bound.

THE carrot is the root crop preferred by horses. The mode of feeding carrots to horses is to chop them fine and give each horse half a peck three times a week.

IT is claimed that one pound of linseed meal is equal to ten pounds of hay. Being a cooked food, it is easily digested, it is safe to use and cheap compared with its value as food.

AN excellent mode of keeping pumpkins is to take them to the barn and cover them well with hay. It will not injure a pumpkin if it freezes, provided it is used before it thaws.

BE sure that the stables are tight and warm before severe cold weather sets in, and that ample ventilation is provided, so that the stock will not suffer from vitiated air. To combine these two requires careful study and observation.

IF you have no litter round your place for winter for your hens to scratch in, get a lot of dry leaves as they drop in the fall, and in the middle of the winter when every thing is snowed up just watch how your hens will appreciate your thoughtfulness.

IT pays to saturate the woodwork of plows, harrows, rollers and such other farm implements as are necessarily exposed to the weather a good deal with kerosene oil. Pour it into all joints and cracks before painting so as to get the wood full of it.

THE peculiar value of oats for horses is explained as consisting in their facilitating digestion and developing energy in a very marked degree. While they are strengthening and nutritious, they do not fatten unduly, but give firm tissues, spirit and fire, and endurance for prolonged work.

SYSTEM in storage and a place for every thing is as necessary in the barns and stables as in the dwelling house. The loss of time in hunting for an article is much more than the time spared to put it in a proper place. Every thing should be where it can be found easily when wanted, and every animal in the stables should have its appropriate stall.

FILL some unused shed, stall in the barn or the corner of any unused outbuilding, where it can be kept dry with coarse sand, the more gravel, if not too large, the better, for the fowls' use during the winter; spread out over the floor of the hen-house and the dropping board, for it lessens the work of cleaning more than half and makes the job much pleasanter.

OLD-WORLD AFFAIRS.

IN Paris the remains from the dissecting-rooms are now sent to the crematory at Pere la Chaise.

NEVER before has work been so abundant and so well remunerated in Paris as during the exhibition season.

A MARBLE statue of the Princess of Wales, by a French sculptor, is to be executed for erection at Copenhagen.

A ROMAN aqueduct has been lately cleaned and put in order at Sabellas, Spain, and now supplies the town with water.

A FRENCH criminal judge collects tattoos, viz.: "Illustrated" morsels of the skin of executed criminals, which he secures in an album.

A MOVEMENT has been started in England for the erection of a monument to Wilkie Collins in Westminster Abbey or St. Paul's Cathedral.

EUROPEAN railroads are fenced in, have no good crossings, the engines have neither bell nor headlight, and the engineer must stand.

IN the recent autumn maneuvers in Germany the fortifying of an intrenched position with barbed wire fencing was found to be very efficacious.

BELGIAN bakers, milkmen and hucksters make dogs draw their carts. The animal works under the cart, between the wheels. Some sell for $45.

THE English post-office does all the express business in Great Britain, carries parcels at an average cost of eleven cents each, and makes a profit of $2,250,000 a year.

THE erection the other day of a monument to the Danes who fell at Oversee in Schleswig, in 1864, is regarded as the first public admission of complete reconciliation between the Danes and their conquerors.

HER MAJESTY'S Theater, one of the homes of Italian opera in London, has been turned into a spectacular resort. The immense auditorium is transformed into an open market place of Queen Elizabeth's time, the upper stories being converted into old English houses, with latticed windows. Great throngs are expected to visit this new attraction.

DURING the past year many of the members of the women's Liberal associations of England have been engaged in making warm, comfortable clothing for the evicted Irish tenants. It is now suggested that during the coming season they take into consideration the suffering and distress that must inevitably ensue from the effects of the dockers' strikes.

TWO GERMAN athletes lately arrived in New York, whose feats of strength, it is said, will be a revelation to the strong men of this country. One can lift 545 pounds with his middle finger, and can pass a weight of 200 pounds slowly over his head with one hand. The other is credited with being able to force a six-inch nail with his bare hand through a two-inch plank.

IN DISTANT DOMAINS.

LONDON bootblacks charge two cents for a shine.

THE curfew is still rung in nearly 100 English parishes.

THE Corean Government is insolvent and can not pay even its own officials.

THE law of Sweden compels you to eat while you drink intoxicating liquor.

TWO EGYPTIAN Princes, sons of the Khedive, are being educated at Vienna.

THERE are 949,000 Irish in Ireland to whom the Irish tongue is the language of heart and home.

THE new steel bridge over the River Thames at New London, Conn., has a swing draw 500 feet long.

M. BARBEDIENNE, the famous bronze founder of Paris, exhibits at the Exposition a clock that is valued at $70,000.

THE Empress of Austria has been drowning her great griefs in the study of Greek, in which she has made admirable progress.

SMOKELESS powder has proved a humbug, as it will not retain its normal explosive quality under prolonged field service. Such is the verdict of the English Ordnance Department.

THE first Mohammedan mosque in England has just been built in the parish of Woking, close by the Oriental Institute. It is a handsome structure, surmounted by an elegant dome.

NOVA SCOTIA is remarkable for the number of its old people. It has a larger population of centenarians than any other country, there being one to every 19,000 inhabitants, while England has only one in every 200,000.

THE magistrates of Adelaide, Australia, lately cautioned a bookseller who has been outraging the public sense of propriety by exhibiting in his window a volume of Zola and Sankey's hymns side by side.

IT is expected that the whole number of recompenses of all classes given by the International jury of the Paris Exposition will be as follows: Eight hundred and ninety grand prizes, 5,000 gold medals, 11,154 silver medals, 10,000 bronze medals and 2,687 honorable mentions.

THE DOINGS OF WOMEN FOLK.

Who Hunt the Anise Seed Bag or Wear Reformed Clothes.

Merrily goes the chase of the anise seed bag. Far and wide through the suburbs sounds the "horn of the huntsman, hoof of steed and laugh of rider," for so English are we that no October resort can now lay claim to fashion without its pack of hounds. We have not many hunting women yet, though the craze spreads hourly, madam preferring a carriage to the finish to cross country riding; but she who puts on the pink takes a cold bath and dresses herself in as tight a garment as she can wear and breathe. At the doorstep her big chestnut is awaiting her, as is her groom on an equally fine animal. Madam wears a short, scant habit fitted as closely to her as the garment of a ballet dancer, but lacking even the modesty of the latter much maligned dress, since the ballerina is frank in her renunciation of skirts while the lack of them is painfully apparent under the draperies of the present riding gown. Some women have to button their plain tight bodices with a buttonhook after they mount, otherwise a dreadful calamity would happen. Altogether the riding habit is better calculated to reveal and express the human form divine than the decollete evening dress or a wet Narragansett Pier bathing gown, thus furnishing another illustration of the fact that the society woman, while she is often prudish, is sometimes less modest than she might be. Not that she means to be immodest, but her standards are queer, that is all. An honest, divided skirt which would enable her to ride in the only safe and healthful way in which a horse is ever mounted, that is astride, would shock her sensibilities, which are left quite untouched by the folds of broadcloth which outline her figure in a manner far more suggestive and entangle her feet in a fall. A young English woman, a grand niece, I believe, of Lady Ashburton, has been exploring the Yellowstone this summer, and a day or two since she showed me the habit in which she rode. It was of fine dark blue broadcloth, with the stamp of a first class tailor. The Directory jacket was not without its queer little coat tails behind. In front it opened over a blouse vest of dark blue surrah and turned back in revers. The skirt was plaited to a band, and was really two kilted skirts, clothing each leg separately. When the wearer stood still the fact that her draperies were divided was not apparent, and when she walked it was not disagreeable. The habit was not graceful enough to commend itself for any but special purposes, but for horseback riding or bicycling it had obvious advantages. Its owner was so wedded to it that she said she would never mount a horse again in a place where it could not be worn.

Boston has been seeing Mrs. Jenness Miller's new winter gowns. Some few of us saw them in New York before she packed her trunks for a lecturing tour. One had a plain full skirt of dark "London fog colored" plush with two bands of narrow cut steel passementerie about the bottom. The bodice is laid quaintly in surplice folds, the sleeves have little puffs at the top and the crowning feature of the whole is a magnificent steel girdle. A dinner dress of old rose satin brocade is trimmed with pearl passementerie. A green velveteen gown has a front of soft ivory white silk. A magnificent evening dress with a velvet brocaded bodice and a court train is entirely covered in front with point and duchesse laces. Some of Mrs. Miller's newer street costumes are tailor gowns made on the "gown form," which is the base of all the Jenness Miller costumes. Mrs. Miller is able to make women admire her novel underwear, because it is all so exquisitely fashioned. Not a belle nor a bride of the 400 spends more money or more pains on the latest filmy daintiness in silk lingerie (pardon the bull) than does this shrewd and canny dress reformer. When she drops her gown on the lecture platform to stand revealed with her lovely arms bare, a murmur of admiration for the soft ecru or pink and white or sea green pongee Turkish leglets goes up from every woman in the crowd. Mrs. Miller travels this winter with her husband and publisher, Conrad Miller, who sometimes acts as lady's maid and is usually presented from the platform.

Mrs. Cleveland has gained considerable flesh since leaving the White House and is a much healthier looking woman as a result of her summer outing than the thin and rather sallow person who took up her abode in New York last spring. She has regained also something of her old brilliant color and is more nearly like what she was as a girl bride. Washington never really agreed with her nor did late hours. People who have seen them express much admiration for the old and quaint pieces of furniture which are going into her new establishment.

There were many bright things said at the lunch of Sorosis in honor of Mrs. A. M. Palmer. Last spring at the celebration of the twenty-first anniversary of the Woman's Club, Mrs. Palmer offered many courtesies, including seats at the theatre for all the delegates. She was unanimously elected to membership in recognition of her hospitality and the lunch to her opens merrily the season's ball.

E. P. H.

[illegible] Fossil Trout.

William G. Dillingham, while fishing in Gordon Creek, Oregon, a few days since, discovered a beautiful fossil trout, fifteen inches in length, in a huge bowlder. Every fin and scale of the fish was as plainly marked in the rock as if cut by a skilled artist. Many people wonder how trout get in streams above high falls. They were doubtless there before the falls were made, as from this fossil it is evident that there were trout in the streams of Oregon in prehistorical ages. Mr. Dillingham intends to go out some day and catch that fossil trout with a hammer and chisel.

OCEAN steamers can now go to Matadi, at the head of navigation on the Lower Congo, the point from which the railroad is to start for Stanley Pool. There is a channel sixty feet deep. Goods can now be shipped from any of the ports of the world to the foot of Livingstone Falls without breaking bulk.

THE Shah's misconduct in Austria is said to have driven the Emperor and his court nearly wild. He went so far as to laugh heartily when Archduke Joseph barked his shins against a stool placed in his way by little Aziz, the Shah's "mascot," and, altogether, the thing they liked best about him was his departure.

LEGAL NOTICES.

AN ORDINANCE.

For the repairing and permanent improvement of Elm Place.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That the road bed of Elm Place for its entire length be forthwith repaired and spread with broken stone for a width of from six to eight feet each side of the center, [illegible] and for a depth varying from two to six inches, as circumstances may require, at the general expense of the city to be paid for out of the money raised by tax for the improvement of streets, as provided by the act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to authorize cities to make permanent improvements in the road bed of the streets at the general expense." Approved, May 12, 1886.

Adopted by the Common Council, Nov. 4, 1889.
Approved by the Mayor, Nov. 5, 1889.
JOB MALE, Mayor.
Attest:—O. B. LEONARD, City Clerk.

Corporation Notice

Notice is hereby given that the following ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed, preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

OLIVER B. LEONARD, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., November 5, 1889.

AN ORDINANCE

For changing the name of Putnam street.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That the name of the street now known as Putnam Street be changed so as to be known and designated hereafter by the name of Putnam Avenue.

NOTICE. AUGUST 26th, 1889.

Estate of Huldah L. Allen, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executor of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

HEZEKIAH HAND, Executor.
8-29-10w

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To Thomas Spicer.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Frederick A. Kinch is complainant and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of the said complainant, on or before the eleventh day of November next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by [illegible] Spicer and you to Samuel E. Foster, dated July 1st, 1876, on lands in the township of [illegible], Union county, New Jersey, and you are made defendant because you claim an estate or interest [illegible]

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Solicitors for Complainant, 23 Park avenue, Plainfield, New Jersey.
Dated Sept. 9, 1889.

LEGAL NOTICES.

1889.

TAXES!

Notice is hereby to the Taxpayers of

THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD,

That the Taxes assessed in said city for the year 1889, are now due and payable, and that

If the said Taxes be not paid by the 25th day of December Next,

the names of the delinquents, with their respective Taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution.

The Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council chamber on the FOURTH TUESDAY IN NOVEMBER NEXT (the 26th), and sit from 10 o'clock A. M. until 5 o'clock P. M., or longer if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1, 1889. 10-3-14w

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors.

SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

Estate of George W. Townley, Deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the twenty-seventh day of September, A. D. 1889, on the application of William K. Shotwell, as Administrator of George W. Townley, deceased; an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of George W. Townley, deceased, to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent, under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said Administrator within NINE months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor shall be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said Administrator.

AB'M T. HUFF, Surrogate.
10-3-9w

RAILROADS.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA

PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE

Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after Sep. 30, 1889, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

[illegible] A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, dining car from Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Cleveland and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

[illegible] P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars and dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South— [illegible]

For Philadelphia [illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

1:39 P. M. (Through car.) week-days. For Cape May [illegible]

For Trenton—[illegible]

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—[illegible]

For Flemington—[illegible]

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office in Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHAS. E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey

Station in New York—Foot of Liberty Street.

Time Table in Effect Nov. 10, 1889.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

[illegible]

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 9.27, a. m., 5.20 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD

[illegible]

For Atlantic City—At 3.37 a. m., 12.08 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

[illegible]

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

[illegible]

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, Gen'l Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

INSURANCE.

FIRE INSURANCE!

The undersigned having been appointed agent for the

Star and Merchants
Fire Insurance Co's of the
City of New York,

[illegible]

NATHAN HARPER

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

J. C. Pope & Co.,
GENERAL AGENTS OF THE
German American Ins. Co.,
of New York.

Also represents other first-class Fire Insurance Companies. Agents of the [illegible] Steamship Line. Drafts on Ireland for sale. First and City National Bank Stock Bought and Sold. Also,

BUILDING LOTS

And Other Real Estate for sale.

OFFICE:
6 E. FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD.
JAMES C. POPE. ELIAS R. POPE

PEERLESS [illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS | MISCELLANEOUS.

THE FALL OF 1889

BRINGS WITH IT many new styles, and much that is novel and handsome in the line of man's attire. We are exceedingly particular how our clothes are cut and made. The very best Custom Cutters only can secure positions in our employ. While we go in for appearances to the fullest extent, we are ever mindful of quality. If you will call and inspect our Fall Suits and Overcoats for Men and Boys you will note the extreme neatness and evident durability of every Coat, Vest and Pair of Trousers THROUGH THE WHOLE STOCK. We stake our reputation on the thoroughness of our work. You can get a suit for $8, $10, $12, $15 or $18, or an Overcoat, light or medium weight, all shades, silk facings and linings, for $10 or $12. We wish to convince you that our house deserves your custom. It does!

J. MARSHALL & BALL,

CLOTHIERS,

807, 809, 811, 813 BROAD STREET

10-10-3m

PIANOS. PIANOS.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,

Steinway
(The Standard Piano of the World,)
Emerson,
S. G. Chickering,
Sterling,
And all Standard Makes of

Pianos and Parlor Organs.

Sole Agent for New Jersey for the GABLER Patent Metal Action Frame UPRIGHT PIANOS, the most popular Piano made. Musicians like it, singers like it, the PEOPLE like it, EVERYBODY likes it.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at the lowest prices ever given in Newark. A FIRST-CLASS UPRIGHT PIANO for $260 CASH, or $290 ON INSTALLMENTS, $10 MONTHLY until paid for. TELEPHONE 700.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,
657 AND 659 BROAD STREET, NEWARK, N. J.

12-14-y

SPECIAL NOTICE.

New Store! New Goods! New Firm

BARKALEW & DUNN,

Fancy and Staple Grocers,

NO. 18 NORTH AVENUE

We sell for Cash and will give Special Inducements

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion. Without injurious medication.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 182 Fulton Street, N. Y.

7-18-2y

A MAN

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

DAKOTA
WISCONSIN
MISSOURI
GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE.

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MAGNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels (furnishing meals at seasonable hours) west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake, and Sioux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, General Manager. CHICAGO, ILL. JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass. Agent.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
W. L. FORCE & L. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
[illegible]
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXII. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1889. No. 47.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.

GEORGE W. BAY,
General Auctioneer.
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box [illegible] or address [illegible]

DR. CHARLES E. THERS,
Dentist,
[illegible] West Front street. A new local anesthetic for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.

H. [illegible]
Auctioneer,
[illegible] West Front street, Plainfield, N. J., will [illegible]

OSCAR S. TEALE,
Architect,
[illegible] Broadway, New York city. [illegible] Plainfield, N. J.

J. E. FOSTER,
Veterinary Surgeon.
Office in [illegible] Plainfield. [illegible]

F. A. DUNHAM,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor.
No. 2 Park avenue, Coward's building. Particular attention given to the adjustment of [illegible]

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
[illegible] No. 4 Park avenue [illegible]

JOHN CHANDLER,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Residence and Shop, No. 36 East 3d St.
Jobbing promptly attended to.

LUTKINS & HUMMER,
Dealers in
Butter, Eggs & Produce
Meats of all Kinds,
[illegible] PARK AVENUE, Plainfield, New Jersey. [illegible]
A. LUTKINS. [illegible] HUMMER.

Plainfield District Telegraph and Fire Alarm Co.
Prompt Messenger Service Furnished.
Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co.
LOW RATES. QUICK SERVICE. MONEY TRANSFERRED BY TELEGRAPH. COMMUTATION STAMPS FOR SALE.
OFFICE—4 PARK AVENUE.
W. S. SLITER, Manager.

TO THE PUBLIC!
We wish to inform our customers and the public generally that we have on hand the best quality of
LEHIGH COAL,
Fresh from the Mines.
It is under cover and well protected from the weather. We are prepared to deliver it well screened [illegible]
A. D. COOK & BRO.

J. Hervey Doane,
6 PARK AVENUE,
(Formerly Coward's)
Watches,
Clocks
And Jewelry.
Repairing neatly and promptly done.

Steam Marble
Granite Works.
AND
Monuments & Headstones,
Fencing for Cemetery Plots.
Large assortment of Slate Mantels.
Large variety of Granite Monuments.
[illegible]
[illegible] L. MANNING,
Front St., [illegible] Plainfield, N. J.
[illegible]

Geo. A. Moore,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
Is now the sole proprietor of the old [illegible]
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE,
[illegible]

Alex. Willett,
DEALER IN
BOOTS & SHOES,
No. 4 PARK AVENUE.
A full assortment of desirable goods [illegible] at Low Figures.

HOTELS AND SALOONS.

FORCE'S HOTEL,
NORTH AVENUE, (Near N. R. Station.)
JAS. H. FORCE, Prop'r.
A FIRST CLASS FAMILY HOTEL. [illegible]
Transient guests at reasonable rates. [illegible]

TURF EXCHANGE HOTEL.
73 Cortlandt street,
CORNER WASHINGTON, NEW YORK CITY.
FRED. W. BALLARD, - - Proprietor,
(formerly of Jersey City), is now conducting the hotel at corner Washington and Cortlandt streets, New York, formerly kept by the late James Van Pelt, and by Wm. Mulhagen. All their old friends will be most cordially received.
PURE WINES, LIQUORS AND SEGARS. [illegible]

SOMERSET HOTEL,
Cor. Somerset & Chatham Sts., North Plainfield, N. J.
Permanent and Transient Board, at low rates.
First-class Stables and Sheds attached.
Meals at all reasonable hours. [illegible]

C. E. JOHNSON,
(Of late firm of Shepherd, Johnson & Godown,)
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Office—No. 27 Central avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Residence—27 East Second street. Jobbing a specialty.

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
SALESROOM—[illegible] Plainfield, N. J.
Goods received on consignment.

Dime Savings Institution
OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.
[illegible] deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.
JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice "
NATHAN HARPER, "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS, BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

MICHAEL UHDAL,
CONTRACTOR
AND LANDSCAPE GARDENER!
Residence:
NETHERWOOD, NEW JERSEY.
P. O. BOX 187, PLAINFIELD.
P. O. Box [illegible], Netherwood, N. J.

GO TO,
DICKINSON & CLAWSON,
JEWELERS, 13 Park Avenue,
For your
Fine Gold Watches,
CLOCKS, JEWELRY,
And SILVERWARE.
SOLE AGENTS for KING'S SPECTACLES and EYE GLASSES, the BEST MADE, and CHEAPEST in the end.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class, sanitary and workmanship manner.
Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and [illegible] I believe in every man running his own business [illegible]
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 8 NORTH AVE. [illegible] Plainfield, N. J.

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CATARRH
COLD
HEAD
HAY-FEVER

CATARRH ELY'S CREAM BALM
Cleanses the Nasal Passages,
Allays Pain and Inflammation,
Heals the Sores,
Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell.
HAY-FEVER TRY THE CURE.
A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at Druggists; by mail, registered, 60 cents. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren street, New York.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables
Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for [illegible]
RIDING OR LIVERY.
Careful, safe drivers for shopping calls or pleasure drives. Special attention given to boarding horses by the day, week or month.
TELEPHONE CALL NO. 98.

Livery Stables!
Mr. D. S. ROBERTS
Has Removed to His New Building on
NORTH AVENUE,
Adjoining Force's Hotel. Mr. Roberts will always be found ready [illegible]

EDUCATIONAL.

Mr. FEININGER
Has resumed
His Lessons in Plainfield.
For terms, address
C. FEININGER,
Steinway Hall, N. Y.

Mr. T. E. HAZELL,
TEACHER OF MUSIC.
Instruction given in Singing, Harmony, or upon the Violin. Director of Choral Classes. The art of Reading Vocal Music a specialty.
Residence—26 DUER ST., NORTH PLAINFIELD.

MR. LEAL'S
School for Boys!
99 WEST FRONT STREET.
Prepares for College and Business.
Has entered boys at College every year since it was established. This year eight boys were sent. The next year's class is still larger.
Boys from 10 years old and upwards.
The eighth year begins
MONDAY, SEPT. 16, 1889.
For circulars and information, address the Principal,
JOHN LEAL.

DODWORTH'S
CLASSES FOR
Dancing & Deportment,
SEMINARY HALL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.,
Commencing Wednesday, Oct. 30, '89,
From 3½ to 5½ P. M.
Circulars may be obtained of Miss E. E. Kenyon, at the Seminary.
THOS. J. DODWORTH.
Residence—1,180 Fulton ave., N. Y. City.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES

Paints, Varnishes, Glass,
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALLPAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. E. WOOLSTON, J. F. BUCKLE
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTERS SUPPLIES. 28 NORTH AVENUE

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mme. J. BERNARD,
ASTROLOGIST,
Residence—Harmony street, North Plainfield, fourth house from Somerset street, left hand side. Information imparted as regards present and future events, likewise marriages, journeys, lawsuits, etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. Discoveries
In English, German and French.
My husband is a first-class Cooper, and repairs tubs, pails, barrels, etc., cheap [illegible]

Low Pressure Steam Heat
Introduced into Churches, Schools, Dwellings, Offices, Stores, etc.
STEAM FITTING, and STEAM FITTERS' SUPPLIES for sale.
Estimates cheerfully furnished for Heating and Ventilation.
JOHN N. SCHENCK.
Box 1081. Race St., North Plainfield.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Carey.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—24 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box [illegible]
Piano moving a specialty.

G. W. FORCE,
11 West Front street.
Opening of
FALL AND WINTER STOCK
Boots and Shoes at Low Prices
A FINE GRADE OF GOODS TO SELECT FROM.
11 West Front street,
G. W. FORCE.

R. R. FAIRCHILD,
Furniture & Bedding,
21 EAST FRONT STREET.
A Large Assortment of
Parlor Suites,
Bedroom Suites,
Lounges,
Tables
AND
Chairs.
The Largest Stock and the Lowest Prices.
Call and See for Yourselves.
3 DOORS BELOW P. O.

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
FOURTH STREET,
Between Park avenue and Fort avenue, Plainfield. [illegible] Telephone call No. 121.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The best 5 cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana.
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobacco, always on hand.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

O. M. FINE,
Dealer in Havana & Domestic
—SEGARS!!—
6 PARK AVE., (next corner of SECOND ST.)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials, of every description.
The celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco, with other popular brands constantly on hand.

"EXPERIENCE MAKES PERFECT!" What does inexperience make? A pretender!! What does the home owner get? He gets the results!!! What are they likely to be? Value for his Money on one hand; a chance of a fire or failure on the other: good intentions prevent neither.
MORAL—Organized 1881. Incorporated 1883. At the head of the profession 1889.
The Electric Construction and Supply Co.
Telephone Building, Cortlandt St., N. Y. Plainfield office—20 North avenue.

JAMES K. ARNOLD,
GROCER,
Corner Somerset and Chatham Sts., North Plainfield.

A. L. SMALLEY, E. B. SMALLEY.
Smalley Bros.,
DEALERS IN
Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, Etc.
18 SOMERSET STREET, NORTH PLAINFIELD.
Orders called for and delivered. A share of the public patronage is solicited.

Benj. F. Moore,
(Late of Moore Bros.)
BUTCHER,
And dealer in FRESH AND SALT MEATS, POULTRY, etc., corner Park avenue and Second street, will be open and ready for business Wednesday, March 20th. Orders called for and promptly delivered. Telephone Call 111.

E. B. MAYNARD
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE,
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, &c. satisfaction guaranteed.

Fresh Garden Seeds,
Garden Tools,
Ranges. Laundry Stoves.
CUTLERY, &c.
N. H. & J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 13 Somerset St.

HOW ROUGH!
YOUR SKIN may be made Smooth, Soft and White by the use of Glycerole of Arnica.
A preparation of our own, and we guarantee its purity. May be used in the nursery. Delightfully perfumed. Sprinkler-top bottles 25c. obtained only at the CITY PHARMACY,
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prop'r.
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

School Books,
New and Second-hand.
School Supplies,
Large Assortment, Lowest Prices, at
ALLEN'S,
THE STATIONER,
23 East Front Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE.
Hugo Weigman,
20 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

TWENTY
Years experience in the business.
SECOND STREET, 2 doors above Peace street
MR. JOHN E. STEVENS, Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to Shoeing, Forging, Stumbling and Interfering Horses. Speedy Cures especially; an acceptable shoer of Horses with diseased feet treated in a particular manner by experienced workmen.

Accommodation Express.
PETER RICKERT, Proprietor
Office—Vanderbeek's Restaurant, Park avenue. The Accommodation Express will attend to the general baggage business of the city, delivering goods or Baggage to and from the Depot, or from all parts of the city. Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety. Prompt attention given to Orders.

AGENTS $1,000 Per Year and Expenses to what we are doing. We want 100 more and will pay Salary and [illegible] for any man wanting a position as Local, Traveling or General Agent for a reliable Nursery that guarantees its stock. Address at once,
R. D. LUETCHFORD & CO.,
Nurserymen, Rochester, N. Y.
Mention this paper.

POETRY OF THE PRESENT.

November.

The husbandman protects his store
In cellar, barn and bin;
The children count the treasures o'er
That they have gathered in;
The nuts that drying they have spread,
The corn to pop, and apples red.

The sharper bites the frosty air,
More thankful do they grow
For comforts that will help them bear
The winter's cold and snow;
And crowned with blessings, health and cheer,
Forget to mourn the dying year.

—Sarah E. Howard, in Good Housekeeping.

The Ballad of Ben Bosen.

Ben Bosen was a sailor man,
But not a man assailor,
Therefore he would not whale a man
But only man a whaler.

He'd sail the seas and seine the sails,
And when he'd heave the lead
He would be led to heave and, pale,
Throw up the sponge, most dead.

He'd eye his pipe and pipe his eye
When smoking was forbidden;
When wet he'd say that he was dry
And search for liquors hidden.

Sometimes he'd see a ship; sometimes
He'd only slip a sea.
The climes he saw were mostly climbs
Upon the ropes to see.

Ben's hard tack was to tack the ship,
Yet never man was sooner
Than he, when to the slip, to slip
And quick attack a "schooner."

He was aboard when on the sea,
When on the land a boarder.
Though not a boarding pirate, he
Was then a pie-rate boarder.

Though Ben could not desert at sea,
At sea he could die wrecked;
His resurrection day would be
The day they'd raise her wrecked.

One day a shark went swimming by,
And Ben, alas! he filled him,
No shark, they said, could make him die
Unless the shock first killed him.

—Philadelphia Press.

Autumn Leaves.

In early youth I loved a village maid
And lived in ecstasy for days and days,
Her dainty feet through all my future strayed,
Her bright eyes beamed in all the purple haze.

My love was fierce in tenderness and joy:
It was a thing divine and thrilled my soul,
Until it changed me from a foolish boy
To one who deemed the world in his control.

Waking, I wandered in a realm of dreams
And builded castles by a distant sea,
Kissed everywhere by mellow glory gleams,
And she was queen, and dwelt with love and me.

Brief was the fickle summer of our bliss,
For cruel fate our hearts asunder tore;
One autumn eve we parted with a kiss
And went in other ways forevermore.

Ah me! I know not what my life had been Lit by the tender lovelight of her eyes;
Perhaps I still, as then, had wandered in
The outskirts of God's blessed paradise.

I only know that oft when leaves are red
Vague loneliness comes o'er me like a spell,
And then I see her stand with drooping head,
And hear again her sweet voice sob: "Farewell."

—George Horton, in Chicago Herald.

Autumn Lay of the Tramp.

The air is nipping, but I get no nip;
My spacious lodgings in the park are cold;
The weather seems to have me on the hip,
And these rheumatics make me feel quite old.

My ventilated togs are much too thin,
The pave is chill to my unguarded sole;
My eyes are full of dust and I begin
To weep, alas! my tears I can't control!

My only handkerchief is 'round my neck—
I've lost my collar button and must tie
What was a collar, but is now a wreck,
To save my lungs—I am too young to die!

I hie me to the suburbs for a meal,
But fate accosts me with a visage hard;
Begging for just a bite—I would not steal—
I get it from a big dog in the yard.

The season's cold! This world is colder still!
It treats me just as though I were a scamp!
The night comes on! Could I but have my will I'd be a bank cashier and not a tramp.

—N. Y. Herald.

Why Weep at Death?

Why weep at death when life is so much sadder?
Life, with its partings and its bitter tears—
Life, with its blighted hopes and blank to-morrows,
Life, with its sad, sweet longings, and its guilty fears.

Don't think the loved one sleeping there so sweetly,
The calm smile frozen on the dear, dead face,
Would take again his sad life to his keeping,
Would feel his heart still beat in its old place?

Ah, no, for him there'll be no sad to-morrows,
In which to sit in dumb and speechless pain;
No silent partings, while his heart is breaking
O'er loved ones that he fain would clasp again.

Go, rather weep at life and for the living,
For hearts that still go hungering to be fed;
Around you cast your tears and smiles and kisses,
The quick hath need of them and not the dead.

—Mrs. R. G. Tyler, in Christian at Work.

The Summer Girl.

The summer girl—O! where is she,
The sweet, the rare, the radiant maid?
Gone; but her form we'll shortly see
In glossy sealskin robes arrayed.

And when the snow begins to whirl
And eddy in the ambient air
She'll blossom out a winter girl,
As fascinating and as fair.

She draws us, sways us as she wills;
She smiles and to her side we fly;
We'll run up livery stable bills
To take her sleighing by and by.

—Boston Courier.

Don't You Care.

What are you crying about, little man,
You have a hard lesson, you say?
Well, there! Don't you care,
That's no sad affair,
You are bound to have those in your day.
Be brave, little man, hard work is your plan?
You'll come out all right, don't you care.

What are you grumbling about, business man?
Dame Fortune is frowning, you say?
Well, there! Don't you care,
Just act on the square,
She's sure to smile on you some day.
Repining, my man, is a very poor plan,
You're going to succeed, don't you care.

What are you sorrowing for, aged man?
Your end is approaching, you say?
Well, there! Don't you care,
You have no time to spare,
Prepare for your journey away.
Have peace, weary man, 'tis part of God's plan,
You are safe in His hand, don't you care.

—Frank B. Welch, in Detroit Free Press.

In a Restaurant.

Like one who loves two dozen maidens fair,
But can not say just which he loves the most—
Lucille, whose supple figure's her chief boast,
Or Rose, with the Danae shower of golden hair,
Or sweet Egeria—till in wild despair
He feels as though he would give up the ghost,
But flies headlong unto the "hitching-post,"
And weds an old red-headed freckled scare;
So I, sore puzzled as to what I'll choose
Of all those dishes in their French array,
For which my spirit musically calls,
Grow weary soon, and all my patience lose,
And in dazed manner to the waiter say:
"Oh, botheration! bring me codfish-balls!"

—Puck.

NEW THINGS IN SCREENS.

Library and Parlor Ornaments of Some Well-Known Persons.

Possibilities of Leather, Tapestry and Brocade—Flemish and Venetian Patterns and Other Ideas—The Hearth Beautiful and How it is Adorned.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

Studio receptions and studio weddings have something to do with the high honor in which is held the screen. Since artists like Louis Tiffany and William M. Chase and J. Wells Champney and Le Grand Cannon have taken to throwing open their workshops, and fluffy-haired lasses have made their promises to love and honor in the company of palettes and canvases, we have learned to appreciate the decorative, the artistic and the picturesque—the portiere, the easel and the screen. Ask any young matron just setting up her lares and penates if you shall get her a bit of royal Worcester or a fine bronze, and the chances are three in four that she will tell you she prefers a screen. Question further what sort of a screen will be welcome and the answer will depend upon which she makes her pet room.

It was a screen for the hall which was sent by Mrs. Henry Barclay, to a bride who was married in "gay little Orange" a few weeks ago. The bride's father had given her an artistically finished cottage, and the screen was designed to cut off partially the inglenook with its blazing fire and cushioned seats from the broad staircase rising to one side. The hall is panelled in dark oak and the screen is of illuminated leather in four panels standing nearly seven feet high. The designs are conventional and are painted in browns, tans and bronzes with touches of dull red to correspond with the rugs and portieres, the effect being very rich, though the cost would not compare with that of the leather screen which Mrs. Whitney has in the dining-room of her Fifty-Seventh street New York City mansion.

Mrs. Whitney's screen is probably one of the finest examples of its sort to be found in the country. It was made to order from a piece of genuine old illuminated leather of a past and gone century. Old figure paintings of the same era showing men and women in quaint costumes are set in the leaves and the borders are relief work quite elaborate in design.

It is a favorite device of artists to take old canvasses which they have accumulated in their wanderings and set them, in lieu of hanging, in the panels of leather screens. Sometimes the paintings thus utilized are comparatively valueless, and sometimes they are of unique interest, as is the case with three historical compositions by Angelica Kauffmann, which I saw so framed at a loan exhibition last summer in the studio of Kate Perugini, who is a daughter of Charles Dickens and one of the prominent painters of London.

A library screen which is owned by a rich though not studious New York lady is of illuminated leather and the panels are gilded with pure leaf gold. On this background a landscape is painted in soft rich tones and no framework is visible, the exquisite leather work covering all. Screens of this sort, even without the gilding, are very expensive if any merit attaches to the painting, the one in question bearing the signature of an artist of repute and having cost $600.

Most leather screens are patterned after Venetian or Flemish models. The Flemish designs are in raised work and are exquisitely finished in details, though the coloring, always bright, sometimes approaches the border line of the glaring. Flemish screens stands sometimes eight feet high and a good reproduction of the work of the old leather masters costs from $300 to $500. Bona fide antiques cost even higher. Such screens are suitable only for large and imposing rooms. Venetian screens are equally rich and often more refined. The Venetian work is in low relief in gold and silver and the background is hand tooled. Mrs. Wanamaker brought from Europe recently a screen of this order. In design it was modelled on a piece of old lace and every thread was brought out with wonderful fidelity in the cobweb tracery of gold and silver lines. It was a screen of three leaves only but such a unique piece of work could not be bought in open market for less than $850.

In the library of Emily Faithfull's Plymouth Grove house a year ago, I saw a leather screen brought from the Continent by Miss Charlotte Robinson, who is her home mate and art decorator to the Queen. The design was in four leaves, each leaf being made up of four square panels, each panel being hedged about by a frame of gilded nails, and painted with dogs, huntsmen or gorse-covered hills on a tooled background. The colors were rich, dark and low-toned. Embossed leather screens for the dining room or dyed leather designs are much less expensive, the colors being painted or sometimes stamped in colors and bronze.

It was in the last century that the screen reached the zenith of its popularity, and the charming, the smiling, the pretty, the frivolously perfect Watteau and Boucher designs are still the daintiest for parlor or boudoir. These designs are the designs par excellence for painted screens, and tapestry the material to which they take most kindly. The Louis XVI. screen has rarely more than three leaves. It is of irregular shape, the middle leaf towering above the other two and curving down to meet the sloping tops of its mates on either side. It is always set in a heavy gilt frame. Mrs. D. O. Mills, Jr., owns a very beautiful one. It stands in her drawing-room beside a Louis XVI. couch and cutting off the view of the company from the two who may be tete-a-tete in the corner. The panels are of Aubusson tapestry, showing powdered and pattered ladies and bowing cavaliers. The tapestry does not reach in either panel to the top of the frame. Above it is set a piece of thick plate glass through which one can watch unseen the comings and the goings of dames and damsels.

Mrs. George Gould has a Louis XVI. screen for her boudoir. The top of it is nearly straight and it has no glass panels. The frame is unusually heavy for work of that period and it has four rather small panels. The tapestry is exquisite, showing sunshiny designs of nymphs and shepherdesses dancing on smooth shaven green sward.

Modern tapestry screens are favorite ornaments in drawing rooms, and are often as interesting as fine paintings hung on the wall. The designs, indeed, are not infrequently by artists famous over half the world. Many of them come from Paris and people like Albert, like Houghton and Mme. Chamnebiere, who are known to all fan collectors, are beginning to turn their attention to screens. Tapestry painting is not essentially difficult especially to those who understand water colors, and there are coming to be women in nearly every large city who make a living teaching it to amateurs. It must of course be done on the canvas made for the purpose and with the especially prepared dyes that are fixed by steaming and thus rendered indelible. The fashionable New York girl who occasionally devotes her leisure to it will turn out a three-fold screen with classical figure for its middle panel and a low-toned landscape of reeds and grass carried out in dull colors on either side. The result is often pleasing and forms a more acceptable addition to a bachelor apartment at Christmas than innumerable cushions or calendars.

A young Japanese girl who has been studying art in the city recently earned a pretty penny toward her tuition fees by decorating a lincrusta screen. Three of the panels that come for dadoes supplied her with material. Each one was complete in itself and her designs were fruit and flowering branches, birds and butterflies, slant-eyed ladies and bowing daimios, black-haired children and hideous old men treated with vari-colored bronzes in the realistic manner that has made famous the art of Japan. On the under side of each leaf she placed a shelf wide enough to hold a flower vase or a cup of tea, and a widow of means saw it, loved it, and bought it for her library.

Of course the most beautiful and valuable embroidered screens are the needlework tapestries of the Associated Artists, notably those designed by Miss Dora Wheeler, whose mother, Mrs. Candace Wheeler, has done for modern art what the Gobelin manufactory did for the art of Watteau and Boucher.

Miss Eastlake, of Wilson Barrett's company, spends much of her leisure with the needle, and a friend describes a screen not long since wrought by her as being of great beauty. It is to be placed in front of the fire and is mounted in white picked out with gold. The foundation is cream white silk canvas and the design a vase containing chrysanthemums. The flowers are worked out in solid stitch in yellow-red shading into soft pale yellow. The leaves are in shades of pale yellowish olive, and the vase is cut from gold satin and appliqued on the canvas before embroidering. Gold thread is used to couch it down, and the light and shade are handled so cleverly in the elaboration as to seem like a Japanese ceramic copied with wonderful fidelity.

Mrs. William J. Florence has a knack the same way and some of her intimates have seen and admired a piece of her handiwork in the shape of a single-panelled sage green satin fire screen: upon it masses of roses are embroidered ranging in color from creamy white buds to glowing red Jacqueminots. Every leaf and thorn is sketched freely, just as it grew, and not only great handiness with the needle but skill in the management of colors was required.

Miss Kate and Miss Lizzie Greatorex, the artist sisters, once made a very decorative screen, for their studio by applying the scrapings from their palettes to the burlaps. No design was attempted, but the kaleidoscopic coloring was very effective.

Somebody, perhaps it was Mrs. Frank Leslie once showed me a fine screen of white brocade, the figures of its intricate designs finely outlined with couchings of gold thread. This was a three-fold screen mounted in white and gold, and having tiny plate glass mirrors set in the frame at intervals.

Women whose fad is screens, and who have a number, get variety by using rich colored brocades without embroidery, many stuffs being quite handsome enough for such treatment and indeed far more effective than the average needlework or painting of the average amateur.

Bedroom and boudoir screens are the delight of the dainty girl. Cretonne is a pretty material, matching the curtains and draperies. Matting is also pretty, especially when painted like one owned by a red-curled debutante with dancing girls twined with garlands of flowers. Another screen of matting in an artistic apartment is hung on a gilded frame, painted sketchily with cupids chasing butterflies and finished with a silk scarf drapery across the top. Linen, sateen and satin sheetings are other good screen materials, usually treated in outline stitch in silk or linen threads. Roses clambering on a trellis is pretty on fine gray linen. Bright Japanese or China silks make pretty three-fold screens run on rods and mounted on simple cherry frames.

Isabella Urquhart, the singer, is said to possess a unique screen of four leaves, every leaf being a mirror.

ELIZA PUTNAM HEATON.

THE DOINGS OF WOMEN FOLK

Who Go in for Reforms or Make Pretty Things for the Holidays.

Mrs. Lucy Stone, to whom some social courtesies have been offered in Brooklyn within a few days, makes the third of the trio of early woman suffrage agitators, of which Susan B. Anthony and Elizabeth Cady Stanton are the other two. A stranger would find that Miss Anthony struck him as acute, Mrs. Stanton as impressively dignified and Mrs. Stone as serenely motherly. Hardly one of the women who have made their mark on this generation has been otherwise than pleasant to look on. Maria Mitchell was rugged and austere of countenance, but Mary A. Livermore has features that are nobly modelled. Anne Whitney might pose for one of her own statues. Marietta Holley is as wholesome to the view as a rosy apple and Lucy Stone's face with the benignant eyes and the soft rose flush in her cheeks seem eloquent of peace and tenderness. Once when she was lecturing in the West she sat down to a rough miner's table. "Won't you pass the butter, mother?" was the spontaneous tribute of the flannel-shirted stranger at her side. Of all women who appear in public Mrs. Stone cares least for herself and most for her cause. Miss Willard acknowledges frankly and honestly that she rejoices to have made a reputation, but Mrs. Stone would hardly feel a pang if, in case woman suffrage were established to-morrow, her name, though she has devoted her energies for forty-two years to bringing about such a consummation, were never heard of in its history. Even newspaper people who come to be pretty well informed as to who does and who does not seek advertising credit gentle Lucy Stone with absolute disinterestedness. It was in 1855 that she married Henry B. Blackwell and their marriage contract furnishes a convenient gauge by which to measure the changes in the legal position of women in marriage during the last generation. Mr. Blackwell by contract voluntarily relinquished all rights that the statutes gave him over the person and property of his wife, and they both entered their protest against the laws which gave to the husband the custody of the wife's person, the exclusive control and guardianship of their children, the sole ownership of her personal property and use of her real estate, unless especially settled on her or placed, as in the case of minors, lunatics and idiots, in the hands of trustees, and the absolute right to all her earnings. They also protested against the laws which give the widower so much larger interest in the property of his deceased wife than the widow in that of the deceased husband, and the whole system which forbade a married woman to make a will, to sue or be sued in her own name or to inherit property. Whatever may be the final outcome of the woman suffragists' extreme demand, it is their agitation which has in so many of the States practically revolutionized the position of women, and not even Miss Anthony, who is now marshaling her forces against South Dakota, nor Mrs. Stanton who wields the influence of a broad philosophy, has done more to bring about this result than quiet, persuasive, heart-winning Lucy Stone.

Mrs. Stone, by the way, has solved the servant girl problem. Her secret is courtesy and genuine respect shown toward the woman who may be working in her kitchen. Once, I remember, on the morning after one of Boston's Anniversary week conventions the breakfast table at her pleasant house in Dorchester was full. The servant as she brought the steak to table looked a little anxious and worried over such a flood of company. The introductions of guest to guest were just completed, when Mrs. Stone continued: "And this friend, is my Mary, who has taken so much pains for our benefit this morning." Mary blushed at the kindly recognition and everybody present must have ceased to wonder that Mrs. Stone was reputed a model housekeeper. She got the best service because she got it from willing hands. Mrs. Stone's daughter, Alice Stone Blackwell, now the junior editor of her mother's paper "The Woman's Journal," has been brought up in the family principles, which, however, put home duties before other ties. "I should like," she said once to Alice, "to see you in the House of Representatives, but not if you left a baby or a child needing attention behind."

Miss Amelia B. Edwards who is to give her first lecture in this country in Brooklyn next week, is about as distinguished a woman as Great Britain could send us, rejoicing in the titles of Ph. D. and LL. D. She was one of the delegates to the Congress of Orientalists in Stockholm this fall, and is a member of about all the learned socities that England keeps going. She became known in the first place as a novelist, and few fiction writers have done such conscientious, thoroughgoing work in the arrangement and elaboration of plots and the picturing of scenes. As a literary workman her strokes were well considered and clean. From writing she began traveling and visited nearly every section of the globe, lingering longest and making most faithful study of the ancient and modern civilizations of the people who dwell beside the Nile. The Egyptian Exploration Society enlisted her services, and she has made herself as an Egyptologist probably the peer of any authority living. Her favorite recreation is walking, and she is planning tramp tours through many interesting sections of this country.

Miss Ida M. Street is the name of the young woman who has won the fellowship offered by the Collegiate Alumnae for advanced study in foreign universities by graduates of colleges in the association likely to do original work in science or literature. "George Eliot as a Representative of her Times" was the title of the thesis which won Miss Street the prize. Mrs. C. Ladd Franklin, the mathematical genius who won a fellowship at Johns Hopkins, has taken much interest in the project of the college girls to support financially such of their mates as might seem most likely to disprove the assertion that genuine research and discovery is not to be expected from women. The Western Association of Collegiate Alumnae united with the eastern body of the same title at a meeting in Buffalo a week ago, so that now the graduates of all the most prominent colleges in the country admitting women form the largest woman's club in existence. Mrs. Cleveland, by the way, refused to attend a meeting held in Washington some time since because Wells College was not admitted to the association.

It has been discovered that the pretty girl who takes time by the forelock in her work for the holidays is busying herself just now with all manner of dainty inutilities in the way of bags. For her dearest girl friend she makes button bags, six tiny ones all on a string. Each bag is made out of a scrap of bright hued silk and every scrap is of a different color. A rainbow-tinted collection is produced, very kaleidoscopic and cheerful. The object of the button bag multiplication is to separate more effectually buttons of different ranks and degrees. For her best young man—alas, in his inmost soul he may call it "jinks" and smile upon it derisively—she makes a card bag. This is of silk, satin or plush and just large enough for a pack of cards. On the outside is appliqued in colors an exact similitude of the Queen of hearts. This is couched down with embroidery threads and elaborately wrought with silken stitches.

The house in New York in which one of the fashionable autumn weddings took place recently was a bower of flowers. Pots of chrysanthemums were ranged about the pretty reception hall on four sides. Upon the banisters were tied at close intervals bunches of chrysanthemums fastened with ribbons. The doorways of the parlors were arched with ferns and white chrysanthemums, garlands of the same were festooned about the walls, white roses, white geraniums and chrysanthemums filled the fireplaces and canopied the mantles. A gigantic horseshoe of ferns and white flowers marked out the floor space where the bride and groom took their position, and a floral bell of the same blossoms hung above their heads. White rose garlands of the Louis XVI. period lay on every table and were presented to the guests in attendance. The bride carried white orchids and the bridesmaids white roses.

E. P. H.

LITERARY BREVITIES.

GENERAL LEW WALLACE has received $45,000 for his famous story, "Ben Hur."

LORD TENNYSON asserts that his forthcoming volume of poems will be his last contribution to literature.

GEORGE ELIOT'S novel, "Romola," was a bad bargain for her publisher. He paid her $35,000 for it, and of the first expensive edition only fifteen hundred copies were sold.

MISS MARY AGNES TINCKER, the author of "Signor Monaldini's Niece" and of "Two Convicts," is said to be the daughter of a warden of the Maine State prison, who met a tragic death at the hands of a convict.

THE attempt to popularize George Eliot's works in France has failed, her novels remaining on the publisher's hands. M. Zola explains this failure by saying that George Eliot's philosophy is too sad and dull for the Latin races.

THE highest price which Wilkie Collins ever received for a novel was five thousand guineas, which was paid to him for "Armadale" by George Smith before a line of the story, which originally appeared in the Cornhill Magazine, had been written.

A WRITER in the Fortnightly Review says that there are no English novelists of sufficient genius and hold upon the public to enable them to drive out the rabble of trash-mongers, and that all the greatest writers of fiction at the present time are foreigners.

THE literary world is again surprised by finding another feminine writer behind a masculine name. Graham R. Thomson, whose exquisite verses have been a feature of Scribners' Magazine, is a young and beautiful Englishwoman with the commonplace name of Mrs. Sharp.

THE popularity among the English people of good books in cheap editions has received another illustration. A sixpenny edition of Charles Kingsley's "Westward, Ho!" was lately issued, and in a few days after it appeared on the bookstalls there were one hundred thousand copies in circulation.

HELEN HUNT JACKSON, Josephine Hunt, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Sidney Bradford, Albert Hardy and several others have at different times been accredited with the authorship of that somewhat ardent poem, "You Kissed Me." The real author appears to have been Miss Frona Corey, of Almond, N. Y.

WILKIE COLLINS left his "Blind Love" about three-fourths completed, although he had drawn up an elaborate synopsis of the concluding portion, which Walter Besant has undertaken to use in completing the work. In England, as well as here, the demand for Collins' stories has greatly increased since his death.

THE most noted woman novelist in Germany, Fanny Lewald, recently died in Dresden at the age of seventy-eight. Her father was a Hebrew merchant. She traveled with him a great deal, and spent much time on the Baltic coast. At first she wrote fairy tales, but finally devoted herself to novels on political and social motives. She was a fascinating woman and lived a very romantic life.

ODD OCCUPATIONS.

IN Paris goats are milked in the street for customers.

MARCELLUS, Mich., has shipped five tons of mud turtles to New York City this season.

TWO YOUNG ladies in New York are earning an excellent income by teaching scientific whist.

A WASHINGTON man buys cat skins. Shipped to Europe they sell as rugs, dressing-gown linings, etc.

A VETERAN trapper of Belfast, Me., is engaged in the novel business of catching wild hares to ship to sportsmen who wish to stock game preserves.

ADVERTISEMENTS in London journals indicate that the purchase of cast-off court suits, artificial teeth, etc., "for export," is quite a considerable business.

A WOMAN who, like Charles Dickens' Jenny Wren, made her living by dressing and repairing dolls, died in St. Paul lately. Hundreds of little friends are mourning her loss.

THE English woman who opened a professional spanking establishment in New York has quit the business. The mothers of that city seem to think they can manage their own offspring.

"THE skeleton market at present," said a dealer in those gruesome commodities, "is very dragging. You can get a first-class article now for thirty-five dollars, whereas the price three years ago was sixty-five and seventy dollars."

SOUND AND SAPIENT.

CREDITORS have better memories than debtors

THE doctor follows close on the heels of the ignorant cook.

TO HAVE what we want is riches, but to be able to do without it is power.

MODESTY seldom resides in a breast that is not enriched with nobler virtues.

FORTUNE'S favorites are the men whose thoughts make way for their actions.

IT is never safe to admit your appetite is good until you know where you are to dine.

GREAT wealth in our journey through life is only extra baggage, and wants a heap of watching.

HE submits himself to be seen through a microscope who suffers himself to be caught in a passion.

DIGNITY is a very proper sort of thing; but don't put on too much of it or you may be taken for a footman.

A WORD of kindness is seldom spoken in vain, while witty sayings are as easily lost as the pearls slipping from a broken string.

NINETY-NINE per cent. of ambition to try and one per cent. of talent is all that is necessary to success in whatever we undertake.

WOMEN INVENTORS.

BLANCHE WILLIS HOWARD, the novelist, has patented a music rack and a bath shoe.

THE celebrated English actress, Mrs. Kendal, is the inventor of a lamp and candle shade from the sales of which she makes a handsome profit.

MISS PROCTOR, of Lima, O., has patented a process by which it is claimed ten thousand cubic feet of illuminating gas can be extracted from one barrel of Lima oil.

THE wife of a New York banker has invented a machine for making wire rope, the patent of which she has sold to a San Francisco firm for $25,000 cash and a royalty.

A HAND-REFRIGERATOR and lunch-box has been invented by Miss Phelps, of Dorchester, Mass. It is peculiarly suitable for lunches and picnics, and has a compartment for ice. The smallest size holds three pounds and a half of ice in a zinc-lined box, and it is said to last for seventeen hours.

MRS. EMMA D. MILLS, one of the most energetic advocates in New York of the introduction of women into occupations hitherto monopolized by men, has recently invented a patent typewriter attachment, has patented it in her own name and is now preparing to manufacture and sell it herself. The attachment is on the order of the governor of an engine, and stops all action of the machinery.

ODD BREVITIES.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., reports a thirteen-months-old baby that can swim like a duck.

"HONEYMOON row" is the name given a row of houses at West Chester, Pa., occupied by newly-married couples exclusively.

SOMEBODY who believes in old-fashioned methods of discipline recently sent a young lady teacher in Maine a bundle of shingles.

"THE area of arable acres in the United States is twenty per cent. larger than that of China, which supports a population of nearly 400,000,000."

THE house in which Oliver Wendell Holmes was born is still standing on the common at Cambridge, Mass., and is now one of the college buildings.

YOU can buy a big velvet sponge now, about which hangs a most delicious and durable perfume, that will hold a bucket of water. One squeeze is a bath.

THE average salary of the 54,874 fourth-class postmasters is only $153. There are less than 6,000 who have $500 or more a year, and the average salary of the remaining 48,800 is only $90.

A LOUISVILLE inventor is to the fore with a mysterious vacuum bed which will cure all pain, and a triple motor to travel with equal celerity, ease and economy on land or water or in the air.

HUNDREDS of men were seen at the Van Wert (O.) fair sucking lemons bought on the ground, and they enjoyed the fruit so much that an investigation was made. When a tip was removed from the end good old rye oozed out. Three lemons would lay a man out stiff as a mummy.

A WOMAN in Meriden, Conn., has a pet snake. The reptile is very tame and spends whole hours in playing with the cat, with which it is on the best of terms. They say it is immensely funny to watch the two animals, especially the kitten, which is still a little shy of her strange acquaintance and very careful not to step on him or otherwise arouse his anger.

THE idea of the Eiffel tower is acknowledged by M. Eiffel to have originated in this country at the time of the Philadelphia Centennial, in 1876. The circular tower then proposed was to have been 1,000 feet high, 150 feet in diameter at the base and 30 feet at the top. It was designed by Clark, Reeves & Co., of Phoenixville, Pa., and was expected to cost $5,000,000.

A CINCINNATI man went fishing, first promising his friends a supply of his catch. He fished all day, but didn't get a bite. Surprised at this, he examined his tackle and found that there were no hooks on his line. When he returned he bought several dollars' worth of fish and sent them around to his friends. That night at the club he began boasting about his success and was laughed at. The same men who received the fish had cut the hooks from his lines.

WHEN Captain John Ericsson, the inventor of the monitor, died, his remains were laid in the receiving vault in New York, and his countrymen planned to carry his bones back to Sweden and give them honored burial in the land of his birth. But they are likely to be interred permanently by the side of the bones of Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat, which lie in a vault connected with the old Trinity Church in New York City. A considerable sum of money is now in the hands of trustees for a monument to Ericsson.

FISHING in Alaska is good if a Canadian gentleman recently visiting there tells the truth. He says that at Tongass Narrows he saw a creek so crowded with salmon that the surface was actually blackened with their backs and dorsal fins. In some places they were crowded so closely that they could hardly move, and could be picked out of the water by hand. At a canning establishment he saw 8,000 just taken, waiting treatment, and in one case one draught of a seine brought to shore 2,500 salmon.

FROM FIELDS AFAR.

ENGLISH noblemen are beginning to invest largely in real estate in Australia.

THIRTY-FIVE thousand Spaniards last year emigrated to South America, and ten thousand to Algeria.

GREAT BRITAIN saves four million tons of coal a year by utilizing the gases which once escaped from furnaces.

EGYPT is anxious for trade with us, and is especially desirous of receiving our canned goods, agricultural tools, etc.

A FRENCH sergeant has been sentenced to imprisonment for life for offering to sell a Lebel cartridge to General Moltke.

FEMALE telegraph clerks in Russia are not allowed to marry any but telegraph officials, and there is, consequently, bitter dissatisfaction.

THE Turkish Government proposes to establish a monopoly of lucifer matches, and to erect State factories at Constantinople, Salonica and Smyrna.

HYPNOTISM is to be elevated into a science. Already a society is being formed in London to investigate its merits, and has promise of influential support.

THE head of the London Waiters' Union says that the tip system has developed to such an extent that in some restaurants the waiters pay five shillings a day for the privilege of waiting.

SEVERAL thousand Jews who have been expelled from Russia and have taken temporary quarters in England intend to go out as colonists to the Argentine Republic in South America.

THE leading wine merchants of Constantinople are organizing a society with a view to improving the culture of vineyards and the antiquated processes by which wine is still made in Turkey.

IN the Italian army the system of siesta prevails, under which all troops in the field lie down to sleep for a couple of hours during the heat of the day. The practice is so universally accepted that the hour is fixed in general orders.

IN one of the English cricket clubs for ladies, gentlemen are admitted as active members, but they must bat and field with one hand, and throw with the left hand; when the club plays matches they can not be in the eleven.

THE natives of the Feejee Islands have taken up cricket through the efforts of an enthusiast, Mr. Wallington. They like the game much, although they do not like to confine themselves to the orthodox eleven on each side. They play their matches with forty or fifty a side, or tribe against tribe.

LARGE forces of Chinamen have recently been emigrating to South American countries, but everywhere they find that they are unwelcome. The Government of Ecuador has just prohibited Chinese immigration to that republic. British Columbia seems inclined to let them in, and it is about the only country which manifests any such inclination.

Rates of Advertising.

[illegible]

All [illegible] must be paid [illegible].
"Little of Everything" column, 5 cts. per line.
Double cols. 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE. | A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

A POPULAR DEMAND.

The enduring strength of a political party abides in the honest and determined advocacy of certain clearly defined principles and measures, with unanimity of sentiment and action espousing a just cause for the sake of securing justice, and relying for ultimate success upon popular intelligence, truth derived and practically proven.

That is the attitude of the Democratic party before the people of the United States today, in regard to the tariff question.

It is honest and honorable.

No dodging of issue, no prevarication, no misleading deception, but a manly, earnest, bold and positive, that popular rights shall triumph over monopoly wrongs.

There stands the party of Democracy, and all political foes in the land, whether of high or low degree, cannot drive it from the position.

With here and there an interested exception, and outside of Pennsylvania, where the idea evidently prevails that the sun rises and sets for the benefit of privileged classes, and the exclusive protection of iron and coal, the Democrats present a solid front in favor of Tariff Reform.

Prospering and real protection to all industrial interests, to wage-earners and consumers fully on a par with capitalists, corporations and combines, illumines the advancing banner of Democracy.

Thousands of heretofore Republican party voters are rallying around it.

The popular demand for Tariff Reform must be met and satisfied. Not by any artfully concocted, half-horse and half-alligator, substitute, but by a thorough enactment, clear and clean both in letter and spirit.

The people are growing restless beneath the unjustifiable burden of war taxation and a corruption-breeding surplus.

The recent swelling Democratic majorities loudly attest the truth of that.

Tariff Reform was an actual issue at the polls, particularly Westward, whatever Republican leaders may assert to the contrary.

A Connecticut journal, the Bridgeport Farmer, well puts it as follows:

At every election held during the present year, and especially in those of last week, the value of a positive, definite principle was illustrated in the remarkable aggressiveness and cohesion evinced by the Democratic party. Only a year after a defeat which, its opponents predicted, would demoralize and disintegrate it, the party made one of the most successful fights in its record. No desertions, no loss of confidence, no lack of aggressiveness, but instead, a vigorous hunt for recruits, a grand confidence in the eventual success of right principles and enthusiasm pervading all the ranks.

The principle which thus reunited and enthused the party was that of tariff reform. In every state, except Virginia, where Mahone raised the color line and the Democrats were forced to accept that issue, the tariff reform principle was distinctly enunciated in the platform. There was no dodging of the issue raised last year—no equivocation, no "two-faced act." In Ohio, the party reaffirmed the National platform of 1888, "especially that part of it demanding a reduction of tariff taxes;" in Iowa, the party declared itself in "opposition to the unconstitutional and unjust policy of high tariff taxation, which robs the many to enrich the few;" in Massachusetts, the party declared for "free raw materials and lower duties upon the necessities of life." And in these three States the Democratic gains and the Republican losses were the greatest. Such facts cannot be explained away by Republican talk of "reaction" and "local causes."

The Last Registration Day.

On Tuesday, November 26, the several boards of registry will sit in the different polling places, to register the names of additional voters who are entitled to a vote at the forthcoming charter election. Voters who registered and voted at the last election will not be required to again register their names.

The city election will take place on Tuesday, December 3.

Triumphant Democrats.

Highly elated over the recent triumph the Democracy of this State propose to perfect their organization, and get in a condition to ensure similar triumphs for many years to come. To this end a conference of the officers of the State Association of Democratic Clubs, the State Committee and other representative Democrats, will hold a conference at the Jefferson club house in West Park street, Newark, today, to discuss plans for perfecting party organization in every part of New Jersey, in order that they may be in excellent trim for the next State election and the Presidential election in 1892.

BUT WE WERE THERE.

How an Editor Kept Faith With the Dominie and Lost a "Beat."

An account of the Rev. N. W. Cadwell's jump from a moving train at Roselle, was told exclusively in THE PRESS the other day. The dominie was under the spell of Editor Pearsall's silver tongue at the time the train reached his destination, and he only noticed the station as the car drew away from it. He jumped and hurt himself.

On Saturday the Westfield Standard, Mr. Pearsall's paper, has the following explanation of its silence: "So, you see, Dominie, the story is out. But the STANDARD man kept the faith and said "nothing to nobody;" these pesky newspaper reporters up at Plainfield are a nuisance some times; but news is news and its dollars to doughnuts that the "PRESS" reporters are not in the suppression business for our benefit. What wears on us is that we had a good chance to score "a beat" (this is newspaper parlance, pardon, and not a personal reflection) and let it go by. However you didn't get killed and that is something."

Nearing Completion.

The Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel which is being erected in Washington Valley, is nearing completion, and the building will be ready for worship about the holidays, provided, however, the weather does not interfere with the work. The building was commenced on September 1, and Mr Joseph Sillery, the contractor, informed a PRESS representative that the stone work will be completed by the latter part of this week. The roof is now on and ready for the slaters.

The chapel is built of what is known as second [illegible] stone, and when finished it will present a rustic and realistic appearance. The dimensions of the main building are [illegible] feet, with an extension in the rear [illegible] feet in dimensions, and another [illegible] feet extension in front, the latter to be used as a vestibule. The chapel was named after the late Mary E. Wilson, of North Plainfield.

OFFICIAL RETURNS OF UNION COUNTY, 1889.

	GOVERNOR.			[illegible]			ASSEMBLY. [illegible]			ASSEMBLY. [illegible]
	[illegible], (R)	Abbett, (D)	LaMonte, (P)	Voorhees, (R)	[illegible], (D)	McLeod, (P)	Benjamin, (R)	Marsh, (D)	Armstrong, (P)	Ulrich, (R)	Coddington, (D)	[illegible], (P)
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Pluralities—[illegible]

"A Word to the Wise," etc.

Gunners who are now foraging through the forest and over the stubble fields and marshes with blood in their eye and powder in their horn, had better pause in their wild career long enough to read the farmers' warning to trespassers, peradventure they may be jerked by the limbs of the law and made to pay a fine for their heedlessness. The law is clear on the subject of trespass, and hunters who are not posted should read up before they jump any fences.

A Fake [illegible]

The Daily Advertiser of Newark said Monday, editorially:

"Why is it that the soil of New Jersey is so prolific of 'fakes'? The manufacture of bogus news flourishes as boisterously as the mosquito. One of the latest of these frauds was a story palmed off on the New York Tribune to the effect that a farmer near New Providence, Union county, muzzled a negro boy employed on his place to keep him from drinking milk; that a cow kicked the boy while he was at his old tricks, and that the muzzle being of steel, the fragments of that contrivance were driven into the boy's face causing wounds whereof he died. The element of improbability was so apparent in this yarn that New Jersey papers, as a rule, let it alone. Today a citizen of New Providence writes to the Tribune denouncing the tale as an unmitigated 'fake.' Another contemporary, having published an account of the drowning of a citizen of Orange, last week, now chronicles the alleged drowned man's reappearance, and artlessly asks: 'Is this a miracle?' No, dear!—only a fake."

PLAINFIELD'S SUNDAY SCHOOL CHILDREN.

How Many Attend—The Number of Officers and Teachers—and How Many Scholars are Church Members.

At the Tenth Annual Convention of the Union County Sunday School Association, held at Elizabeth, the 6th inst., and reported in full in THE PRESS, the Corresponding Secretary presented a report from which are extracted the following statistics in relation to the Sunday schools of this city.

Mr. Samuel F. Kimball, the Secretary for Plainfield, reported as follows: Number of schools in the city, 13; number open all the year, 11; number of officers, 70; number of teachers, 232; total number of scholars, 2,379; over eighteen years of age, 1,012; total scholars in primary classes, 746; under five years, 237; total average attendance, 1,251; number of scholars joining the church in the past year, 59; number of scholars who are church members, 336; amount of money raised for State and county work, $43.50; number of schools contributing to the fund, 8. Elizabeth reported over double the number of school and scholars, but only raised $27.53.

The report for each school in the city, was as follows: First Presbyterian; H. B. Opdyke, Superintendent; officers, 5; teachers, 23; scholars, 175; over 18 years, 30; in infant class, 36; under five years, 10; average attendance, 160; joined the church, 3; scholars church members, 32; raised for State and county work, $6.50.

Crescent Avenue Presbyterian; H. B. Newhall, Superintendent; officers, 7; teachers, 30; scholars, 275; over 18 years, 30; in infant class, 125; under five years, 20; average attendance, 200; joined the church, 11; scholars church members, 140; raised for state and county work, $10.00.

Bethel Mission; S. A. Ginna, Superintendent; officers, 3; teachers, 12; scholars, 222; over 18 years, 102; in infant class, 20; under 5 years, 30; average attendance, 162; joined the church, 2; raised for State and county work, $3.00.

Hope Chapel; H. G. Squires, Superintendent; officers, 3; teachers, 16; scholars, 200; over 18 years, 90; in infant class, 60; under five years, 50; average attendance, 165.

First Baptist; C. W. McCutchen, Superintendent; officers, 10; teachers, 56; scholars, 310; over 18 years, 105; in infant class, 75; under five years, 20; average attendance, 300; joined the church, 4; scholars church members, 109; raised for State and county work, $6.00.

Park Avenue Baptist; T. I. Runyon, Superintendent; officers, 8; teachers, 15; scholars, 197; over 18 years, 60; in infant class, 64; under 5 years, 8; average attendance; 120; scholars church members, 72.

Seventh Day Baptist; D. E. Titsworth, Superintendent; officers, 6; teachers, 12; scholars, 137; over 18 years, 102; in infant class, 38; under 5 years, 5; average attendance, 76; joined the church, 4; scholars church members, 116; raised for State and county work, $5.00.

Mt. Olive Baptist; S. B. Joseph, Superintendent; officers, 3; teachers, 13; scholars, 140; over 18 years, 75; in infant class, 40; under 5 years, 15; average attendance, 85; joined the church, 8; scholars church members, 70.

Methodist Episcopal; James W. Jackson, Superintendent; officers, 8; teachers, 41; scholars, 400; over 18 years, 100; in infant class, 90; under 5 years, 25; average attendance, 290; raised for State and county work, $10.00.

Grace Episcopal; C. F. Bull, Superintendent; officers, 4; teachers, 20; scholars, 190; over 18 years, 30; in infant class, 45; under 5 years, 15; average attendance, 150; joined the church, 15; scholars church members, 20.

Trinity Reformed; E. R. Anthony, Superintendent; officers, 7; teachers, 44; scholars, 320; over 18 years, 108; in infant class, 70; under 5 years, 40; average attendance, 255; joined the church, 3.

Evona Union S. S.; J. W. Price, Superintendent; officers, 4; teachers, 10; scholars, 77; over 18 years, 15; in infant class, 21; under 5 years, 6; average attendance, 41; joined the church, 2; scholars church members, 5; raised for State and county work, $1.00.

Congregational; Geo. W. Rockfellow, Superintendent; officers, 4; teachers, 17; scholars, 140; over 18 years, 40; in infant class, 35; under 5 years, 5; average attendance, 110; joined the church, 10; scholars church members, 30; raised for State and county work, $5.00.

—Under the heading "What the Hotel Clerks Say" in this week's Hotel Mail appeared these words: "That a hotel in Plainfield, N. J., advertises 'meals at all [illegible] hours!'"

DR. JOHN MORTALLY WOUNDED.

He Was Accidentally Shot Through the Arm and Died From Loss of Blood.

Dr. N. C. John, well known in this city, whose home is at Springfield, a few miles North of here, when about to enjoy a half hour's gunning Friday afternoon, was fatally shot.

Together with George Pudney he drove to Brill's Woods, about one mile from his home, and as he was stepping from his carriage his gun slipped and coming in contact with the wheels was discharged, the whole charge striking him in the left arm, close to the shoulder. When he regained consciousness, with Pudney's assistance he bandaged the shattered arm, and at once started for home. Drs. Pierson of Orange; Chandler of South Orange, and English and Campbell of Millburn, were at once called and with the hope of saving the doctor's life proceeded to amputate his arm, but he had lost so much blood he died in a few moments after his arm was taken off.

Dr. John was considered one of the most skilled physicians in the State, and had a very large practice. He was held in high esteem by all with whom he came in contact, and possessed a host of friends in this vicinity. His wife and child have been for the past two weeks in Sherman, Conn., for the boy's health.

SOUGHT RABBIT AND GOT WET FEET.

The druggist's clerk in an East Front street pharmacy will probably bite his toe-nails, as he did in his infancy, when he learns that one of his most intimate friends was interviewed by a PRESS reporter, Friday, and the following account was thus obtained of a quiet (?) hunt which took place on the mountain a few days ago:

According to our informant the clerk in company with a companion, (whose name is omitted on account of his extreme youth) started for the mountain in search of ruffled grouse, deer, rabbits, and in fact anything they could bring down from a chipmunk to a "barn pheasant."

The couple started out with light hearts and joyous spirits (not the kind that inebriates) a pound of powder and a lunch wrapped in a paper bag. On Somerset street, near the Notch, the tail-board of the wagon dropped out, likewise the powder and lunch. Part of the latter, however, to the extent of a piece of pie, was recover-red.

On the couple sped until they reached an open barn in the "Valley," where the horse they were driving was housed. At this point, the clerk managed to "bring down" a pet rabbit which the farmer had long fondled and fostered, much to the latter's disgust. The shooters next went to a swamp, near by, when the clerk attempted to shoot a woodcock. The gun kicked, the bird escaped, and the sportsman fell in the brook.

To make a long story short, it may be stated that the clerk's stockings were hung over an improvised heating apparatus, one of them fell in the fire, and the young man returned home minus a portion of his foot wear.

A PLEASANT TRIP.

How Four Plainfielders Enjoyed an Overland Tour and a Week's Rest at Hopatcong.

Friday night returned to this city a party of four who since Monday last have been enjoying a pleasant hunting tour in the Lake Hopatcong region. The trip was made overland behind a spanking team of young and valuable horses owned and driven by Mr. Elisha Sheppard, of Bound Brook, attached to "Uncle Dan" Roberts' model road wagon. Charles Smith, better known as "Dutchy," Joe. C. Ohl, otherwise known as "Goosey," and another shining light, made up the party.

The objective point was Tommy Bright's Hotel, at Woodport, N. J., just at the head of that grand sheet of water, Lake Hopatcong. Here the party were right royally ent-rtained during their stay. Genial Joe Nicholl and his amiable wife, who have charge of this well-known hostelry, did everything in their power to make all feel at home, while "Sol"—old "Sol"—chaperoned the party in their quest of the lordly ruffled grouse among the rugged hills of old Sussex and Morris. His pleasant (?) voice could be heard incessantly, urging (?) on his canine companion, and his directions to his party to "turn right over to that wood-jab—just northard of you" was all right to him, but Greek to the others.

But all the same, good-hearted old "Sol" got there with his little gun when occasion required, and the result of the excursion was twenty-seven ruffled grouse, ten rabbits, one squirrel and a duck. With Elisha's noble setter "Duke," and Joe's grand "Noble," however, the game was made to lay close, while Charley's poor "Nick" was pining away in a box stall, because he insisted on flushing everything in the way of a bird, while his game—the frisky rabbit, had no fears of him. The sight of Nicholas, after a chastisement from his owner, when he went up toward Hardtown, was enough to draw tears from the beholder—on account of laughter. But, had the bunnies not been in the habit of seeking holes when started, "Nick" would have done some fine work.

The party shall not soon forget the pleasant hours spent at Bright's Hotel, listening to the pleasant strains from poor unfortunate blind Herman Decker, or the royal feasts set before them by the hostess. Coon is good, when properly cooked, but, oh! Sol, where is Paul? Will he ever mind you? Paul!!!! Paul!!!!!

Ramabai Circle.

The annual meeting of the Ramabai Circle of this city will be held in the Congregational church on Friday afternoon at four o'clock. During the meeting a report will be read of the work accomplished by the missionary, Ramabai, since her return to India, less than a year ago. A full attendance of the members is requested.

Spasms and Convulsions.

DR. FLINT'S REMEDY, in spasms and convulsions, is a specific which acts upon the irritated brain through the general circulation, by its action upon the heart. Descriptive treatise with each bottle; or address Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

Preparing for Thanksgiving.

That Thanksgiving is near at hand is evinced by the large number of pumpkins and turkeys, and the barrels of mince meat being put in stock by the grocers. From indications it would seem that the good old Puritan holiday will be enthusiastically celebrated in an epicurean way as usual.

Recovered His Rig.

The horse and buggy which the police found on East Second street, early on Sunday morning, and subsequently put in Roberts' livery stable, was last night claimed by Mr. Lebbeus Ayers of Metuchen.

No explanation was given as to why he left the animal standing several hours in the cold and piercing wind.

Concerning Local Ranges.

The subject of local rifle ranges is being discussed all over the State, and if the guardsmen themselves would take up the matter and have it brought before the next Legislature, the ranges no doubt would be forthcoming. It is said upon pretty good authority that a bill pertaining to these local ranges is already being put in shape by an Essex county member, and will be presented at the coming session.

Dr. Lowry's Latest Service of Sacred Song.

Messrs Biglow & Main, the music publishers, of New York and Chicago, have just issued another of the Rev. Robert Lowry's charming song services—works that have made his name loved all over the country, and that have brought to thousands of hearts, comfort, peace and pleasure.

The latest is entitled, "The Monarch and The Manger," and is a service of scripture and song for Christmas Tide. It contains of Dr Lowry's composition, a Gloria for quartette or chorus; a processional, "Lift the Song;" a solo for contralto, with chorus, "Hope and Cheer;" and five other beautiful choruses: "Praise the Lord," "Behold the King of Glory," "Brighter Morn," "Wonderful Saviour," and "Awaken."

THE CRESCENT LEAGUE MINSTRELS.

Some of the Secrets Exposed of the Local Troupe—That is Forming for the Convulsion of the Community.

How the people will crowd Music Hall at the opening performance of the local minstrel troupe that is being formed by the members of the Plainfield Crescent League. The company is already being selected, and a PRESS reporter was told by one of the members, last evening, that Charley Reed and Charley Lyman were spoken of as the probable end men "because they matched so well."

But the utmost secrecy is still preserved regarding the caste and the programme. These columns, however, will contain full information of the event as it materializes. So far it is rumored, the programme will include C. R. Thiers' personal but humorous lecture on "Cranks;" Burnet and Leggett's laughable sketch, "The Madison Avenue Dudes;" T. J. Carey in an original song and dance; and H. Teel and T. Keller as "Thin and Thick," the inimitable two. The whole to conclude with that roaring farce by Drs. Fritts, Endicott and Jenkins, entitled "Prescription Percentages."

FOR THE SUFFERERS' SAKES.

The Efforts of the Ladies' Auxiliary Board, Add $300 to the Muhlenberg Hospital's Funds.

Despite a stormy evening that closed one of the stormiest of days, more carriages drove to and from Music Hall Tuesday, than had been noticeable on any previous occasion. The audience included all of Plainfield's best people, and filled the parquette and dress circle.

In introducing Mr. George Kennan, the lecturer of the evening, Major Rufus K. Case seized the opportunity to publicly bear tribute in deserved commendation of the Ladies Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital, who had arranged the evening's event for the Hospital's financial benefit.

The Board includ s in its membership fifty representatives of the city's most influential and philanthropic families. Mrs M. E. Edgerton is the President, and among the most prominent workers are Mrs. Rowland Cox, Miss Mary Tweedy, Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, Mrs. VanNest Talmadge, Mrs. George W. Endicott, Mrs. Walter E. Stewart, Mrs. Edward C. Perkins, Mrs. Frank O. Herring, Mrs. Pliny Fisk, Mrs Harry G. Runkle, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Mrs. Lucy Burlingham, Mrs. H. Eaton, Miss Webster and Mrs. Isaac L. Miller.

Mr. Kennan's lecture was the re-telling of his experience at the lower Kara mines almost word for word as related in the July and August Century. But the effect of the hero's narrative was added to by his personal presence and his really effective powers of elocutionary art. The audience was intensely interested, and not one but would have gladly sat and listened an hour or two longer.

The net profit secured by the ladies' effort will be about $300 after paying Mr. Kennan's fee of $200 and the incidental expenses. The use of Music Hall was donated for the purpose.

THAT BUILDING WE HAVE [illegible] FOR.

The Money Already Subscribed for the Plainfield Y. M. C. A.'s New Home—Changes Probably Necessary in the Plans.

The following circular has just been issued embodying the facts stated in THE PRESS of last Thursday, and the figures published in earlier issues. It speaks for itself and the project it relates of deserves more than anything else a speedy and satisfactory response from the public, of the nature solicited:

"At the beginning of the new year in our work the Building Committee take this method of informing our friends of our progress and purposes. We have now $29,623 subscribed, of which $10,431 have been paid in. From this sum we have expended $7,000 in the purchase of the lot Nos. 55 and 57 East Front street. In order to secure the best results we invited six competent architects to compete for the design of the building. Plans furnished by these architects now await our decision.

"Arrangements had been made to lease our second floor to the Chautauqua Association. By so doing we should have been able to use the first floor for the purposes of the Association, and thus be nearer to the men we desire to reach, and at the same time secure a revenue from the building. But by the removal of the Chautauqua we are compelled to seek elsewhere for tenants and failing to find any, we must have the plans redrawn with stores.

"We desire very much to begin our building in the Spring. To do this we must have a hearty and immediate response from those who have shown an interest in our project, but who have not yet subscribed. On all such, who receive this letter, some of our canvassers will call soon, and as our friends anticipate us by sending to the committee a statement of the amount they are willing to subscribe. We trust that each one will be ready to do his share for what we believe will be a benefit and a blessing to our city.

WM. D. MURRAY, President.
E. ST. JOHN, Treasurer.
CHAS. W. McCUTCHEN,
H. O. NEWMAN,
HENRY A. McGEE,
D. E. TITSWORTH,
CHAS. T. [illegible],
Committee.

Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 8, 1889.

A CLOSE CALL.

Almost a Murder Committed in a Store on Liberty Street.

A tragedy which almost terminated in murder, was enacted in front of Lorenzo Paoli's store at Third and Liberty streets, about nine o'clock Tuesday night. It appears that a man whose name is said to be McMeny entered the store very much under the influence of liquor. He played a game of pool and got into a dispute with John Kelagher, the clerk, over the payment for the game.

McMeny then left the place, but he soon returned and looked in through the window. Kelagher stepped to the door, and without a moment's notice, it is alleged, the man on the sidewalk deliberately shot at him, the ball just passing his head. The fellow then made his escape in the darkness, and he is now said to be hiding in North Plainfield.

Resolutions of Respect.

A committee appointed by the Board of Directors of the First National Bank to prepare resolutions upon the death of their President, have adopted the following memorial:

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Almighty to remove from us by death, Jeremiah E. VanDeventer, the President of the Board of Directors of this Bank.

Resolved, That we have learned of the death of our President and fellow Director with unfeigned sorrow, and we hereby tender to the afflicted family of a deceased our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in this their great bereavement.

Resolved, That in the death of Jeremiah E. Van Deventer we realize that this Bank has lost one of its most active, energetic and faithful officers, and this community one of its most valued and trusted citizens, whose place in the different walks of life it will be exceedingly difficult to fill.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered at length upon the minutes and a copy thereof forwarded to the family of the deceased.

CHARLES POTTER,
D. F. RANDOLPH,
Committee.

EXCITING CONTESTS AND A BIG CROWD.

The Bicycle Club's Second Annual Fall Games a Financial Success—Fast Time Made in All the Races.

The Crescent was fill-d Thursday night with over a thousand people gathered to witness the Second Annual Tournament of the Plainfield Bicycle Club. Over a hundred stood up during the entire programme, so interested in the exciting events that they were entirely satisfied with standing room only. The door receipts exceeded three hundred dollars.

The entertainment opened with a parade of the Club members on their wheels, led by Captain Martin. Then followed a quarter-mile run for the "Scholars Championship," open only to members of Leal's and the High School. In this race Master E. Frank Vail, of the High School, was the favorite, but he did not get a place. L. E. Waring of Leal's School, and C. H. Angleman of the High School, took first and second medals, respectively. Time, 1:07.

The trial heats in the 70 yards dash, were won by G. G. Halsey, Atlanta Wheelmen; P. O'Hara and T. S. Monahan, West End Athletic Club; W. H. Morgan, Pastime Athletic Club. The first heat was a farce, as all the entries except E. L. Waiz, Jr., of this city, started before the signal. Thos Fay of the West End Club, however, gave the technical rules why the heat should not be run over, and the judges decided accordingly. But Walz had his revenge later. Fay ran first in the third trial heat, but Walz called the referee's attention to the fact that Fay had spikes in his shoes, and the heat was given to the second man. The final was won by Morgan, with Halsey second. Time, 6 4-5 seconds.

The sack race was contested by F. L. C. Martin, Geo. C. Martin, Jr., and A. L. C. Marsh. All took a tumble or two, but Marsh got one foot through the bottom of his bag and won; George Martin second.

The illness of Howard Beebe caused a shortage in the Bicycle Club's tug of war team. This was filled by Daniel C. Adams, and well filled too, but such team had never pulled together before, and although gaining the advantage in the start of both pulls, lost eventually and the Elizabeth Wheelmen team won the flag. The Plainfield men were Robert Rushmore, anchor; and Marion Ackerman, D. C. Adams, and F. W. Walz.

The one mile bicycle race on "Safety's," was won by D. Oakes of the Riverside Athletic Club, although had not Horace Snyder, the fancy rider of Brooklyn, struck a chair in his course and broke his wheel, the result might have been different. Mr. A. L. C. Marsh of the Plainfield Club, also had much bad luck, and was eventually compelled to dra-r out after he had got tangled up in a falling machine ahead of him. Oakes' time was 4:34½.

The quarter-mile handicap run for the Bicycle Club members only, was won by G. E. Raymond with 40 yards start, in fine style. Geo. Martin, Jr., 45 yards, was second. Time, 60¼ seconds.

The hurdle race of 220 yards open to Plainfielders only, was given to H. Morrison, although L. W Serrell, Jr., protested that Morrison pulled him back. E. L. Walz, Jr., was second. Time, 32 seconds. The three-legged race was won by Messrs F. L. C. Martin and Geo. Martin, Jr., again, who won this race at the last tournament. Messrs A. L. C. Marsh and W. Lee Simmonds, were second.

The running high jump for the Plainfield Club members only, was won by E. L. Walz, Jr., who cleared the bar at 4 feet, 4½ inches; Roger Murray second with one inch less. L. W. Serrell, Jr., was also entered, but was too tired to repeat his record of 5 feet.

The New Jersey Athletic Club entries captured the half-mile run open to everybody and including members of the New York, West End, Rahway, Harlem, Elizabeth, Newark and Pastime Athletic clubs. Wm. S. French, of the N. J. A. C., finished first in 2:22½, with Sid. Bowman of the same club, second.

A consolation race for the Plainfield Club's members only, was won by Roger Erickson, with J. Frank Martin second. The race was two laps on bicycle, one lap walk, and one lap run. The prizes in all the events, except the tug of war, were gold and silver medals.

The following were the efficient Games Officials:

Manager—Townsend Rushmore.
Referee—Geo. C. Pennell, N. W.
Judges—Geo. S. Beebe, A. G. Slevin, A. C. Banker, B. A. C.
Starter—H. J. Runyon.
Clerk of Course—D. H. Lenox.
Assistants—J. H. Hallock, J. A. Worth, J. P. Munn, S. W. Seaford, Jr.
Games Committee—D. H. Lenox, Ch'n; F. L. C. Martin, C. L. Murphy, R. F. Murray, J. H. Hallock, J. P. Munn, L. W. Serrell, Jr.

The officers of the Plainfield Bicycle Club for the present year, are:

Trustees—Townsend Rushmore, T. S. Burr, Harold Serrell, J. H. Hallock, J. A. Worth, Geo. C. Martin, Jr., J. H. Cooley, H. J. Runyon, John M. Crane.
President—Townsend Rushmore.
Vice President—T. S. Burr.
Secretary—Geo. C. Martin, Jr.
Treasurer—Harold Serrell.

Captain—F. L. C. Martin.
1st Lieut.—M. S. Ackerman.
2d Lieut.—D. H. Lenox.
Color Bearer—Geo. C. Martin, Jr.
Bugler—E. S. Dorman.

The Lady Godiva must have had exceptionable long hair since it completely concealed her lovely person. Since Ayer's Hair Vigor came into use such examples are not so rare as formerly. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but gives it a rich, silken texture.

Were They Burglars?

About nine o'clock Tuesday night two suspicious looking men were seen loitering about the house on the North corner of Park avenue and Seventh street. The men were first seen on the Seventh street side of the property, where one remained on the sidewalk evidently on guard while the other entered the door yard. When any one approached the man in the yard was called out by a low whistle. This was repeated several times, and finally both men suddenly disappeared.

Funeral of James Mullen.

The funeral obsequies following the death of the late James Mullen, which occurred on Thursday night, took place from St. Mary's church Sunday afternoon, in the presence of a large number of the relatives and friends of the deceased. Rev. Father Smyth conducted the service, and at its close the body was interred in St. Mary's cemetery.

Next morning solemn high mass was celebrated in the church for the repose of the deceased's soul.

Mannion Ejected.

As a result of the decision in favor of Mrs. Harry Illsley, of this city, in the ejectment suit brought by her against "Jack" Mannion, proprietor of the Yellow Tavern at Bound Brook, which was carried to the Supreme Court, was on Monday, Nov. 11, decided in favor of Mrs. Illsley. Mannion was ordered to vacate the premises Saturday, and Mrs. Illsley was awarded $1,000 damages.

The notice to quit was served upon Mannion by Sheriff Fisk and Constables Reed and Soper of New Brunswick. Mannion was perfectly willing to move, but there was a gang of men at the place it is said drinking and carousing, and it was late at night before the place could be cleared. Mrs. Illsley will hereafter conduct the business of the tavern.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The Rev. J. L. Hurlbut Talks on Sunday School Successes.

There were but about 150 persons present evening Nov 13, at the State Street church, Trenton, to listen to the addresses delivered before the New Jersey State Sunday School Association.

Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D.D., of this city, spoke on the subject "Wherein the Average Sunday School Succeeds." He said, in the first place the Sunday school sets Christians to work. If it never brought a soul to God it would be a blessing for the good it does to those who work in it. It was very easy to get workers in the Sunday school; much easier than in any other department of the church. Without reward or compensation they lay on the altar of the church their meed of Christian work. But they did have reward, in the knowledge of the Bible that their teaching in the Sunday school brought with it, and they had a reward in the knowledge that they were working for their Master. The teacher who labors for the good of a scholar is sure to win that scholar's love, and there is a reward in that.

The plain, average country Sunday school succeeds in that it gives the gospel directly to the individual. A minister must preach to the mass, but the teacher talks to the individual. Thus the Sunday school is strong just where the church is weak. The faithful teacher will find something in each lesson for every one in the class. The theory of the Sunday school is to give truth to the individual, and that is just where it is strong. The best book next to the Bible for a Sunday school teacher to read is a child's face. She should get into strong, loving sympathy with her pupils.

The average Sunday school succeeds in teaching the word of God. There is not a Sunday school in the world, be it ever so poor, that does not bring its pupils for a few minutes each week face to face with the word of God. The Sunday school is today the means of keeping the word of God before the people, since nine millions of people are every Sunday in the Sunday schools—one-seventh of the population. No nation would ever be lost where one-seventh of its people were every Sunday engaged in studying the word of God.

Some people were afraid that with the higher criticisms and the lower criticisms that had been made against the Bible that it was going to be lost; but their fears were groundless. It had been cast in the crucible, and had come out strong. This is the book that the Sunday schools are teaching. Another success of the average Sunday school is, that it is a mission. The foreigners will not come to our churches, but we can get their children to our mission schools. The first religious enterprise of the new towns as they spring up in the great West, is not a church—it is a Sunday school, and so our Sunday Schools are a part of the great missionary work.

The second day's session of the New Jersey Sunday School Association, in State Street M. E. church, Trenton, Thursday, was an interesting one. There was an increased attendance, and the business transacted was important to all Sunday school workers.

The Corresponding Secretary, Rev. Samuel W. Clark, of Paterson, read a lengthy report, in which the following figures show the condition of the schools: Number of schools, 1,990; number reporting, 1,864; Union schools, 228; open all the year, 1,649; officers, 11,780; teachers, 24,672; officers and teachers, 33,618; scholars, 247,433; total membership, 381,122; over 18 years of age, 48,536; under 5 years, 19,301; of school age, 179,596; average attendance, 172,649; primary scholars, 73,146; joined the church, 9,777; scholars who are church members, 44,420; given for benevolence, $86,786; for State and county work, $3,187; schools contributing, 1,088.

The gain during the three years in the several items has been as follows: Officers and teachers, 1,682, or 3 per cent.; scholars, 13,279, or 6 per cent.; adult scholars, 5,068, or 10 per cent.; average attendance, 6,426, or 6 per cent.; primary scholars, 9,267, or 14½ per cent.; scholars joining church, 1,317, or 15¼ per cent.; benevolent contributions, $26,048, or 35 per cent.; for State and county work, $42, or 1¼ per cent.

The Secretary said that the gain in the last three years has been much in excess of the report given to the last convention. The larger gains in adult and primary scholars, while exhibiting growth in the right direction, is not accompanied by a corresponding growth in the number of scholars between these years, which is but three per cent. The spiritual work of the schools shows an increase. The Secretary said he was impressed that there is a falling off in the attention paid to the ingathering of children not within the direct influence of the church, and less growth in the mission department in the Sabbath school than in former years.

The activity of the county work has been upon the increase each year. He called especial attention to the efficient work of retiring Secretaries in several counties. Union Teachers' meetings for the study of the lesson have been established in many counties. In the prosecution of his duties the Secretary has traveled 11,000 miles each year with a yearly average of thirty-five sermons, one hundred addresses, and fifty personal visits in all parts of the State.

The Secretary said that the future success of the Sunday school depends upon its hearty adoption by the church as a part of itself. He concluded by urging upon the Triennial Convention the suggestions made by the last Executive Committee.

At the election of officers of the State Association, held during the afternoon, Mr. Marvin M. Dunham, of this city, was selected as the member of the Executive Committee from Union county.

"Run, Speak to this Young Man,"

Was the text of Rev. Mr. Schenck's discourse to young men Sunday night. It was by request of the Y. M. C. A., that the sermon was preached, and our only regret is that more young men were not present to listen to it. The reverend gentleman handled the subject in his usual earnest, convincing manner, and we feel justified in predicting that the Christian workers of his church at least, will put forth greater efforts in the future toward doing at least what his text commands. The words of his text are found in Zechariah, the second chapter, part of the fourth verse.

Serious Injury to Mr David E. Titsworth.

Mr. David E. Titsworth of West 7th street was brought to his home, Sunday, from Berlin, New York, suffering from a severe fracture to his left leg, between the knee and the ankle. Mr. Titsworth was returning from the funeral of a near relative at Berlin, when the accident occurred. He was standing in the rear of an open wagon riding along, when the horse suddenly started, throwing him out backward in the roadway.

Drs. Tomlinson, Murray and Allis are attending the patient, and today his condition is reported as slightly improved.

HE'S THEIR APPOINTED AUDITOR.

And the Council Should Back Him in His Efforts to Guard the People's Money.

(Central Times.)

One of the very wisest acts that any Common Council of the city has done was the passage of an ordinance at the last meeting of the Council of 1888, providing that the City Clerk be made an auditor to examine the bills presented against the city.

Heretofore, it has been simply impracticable for the Council committees to determine whether the claims referred to them were really correct. But the auditor having five days, under the ordinance, to examine such claims before they are brought before the Council, can discover errors and save the city from paying unauthorized charges. Such charges any one is liable to make inadvertently.

The present auditor has been trying to do his duty as we happen to know, for he has pointed out unintentional errors in our own claims which had to be corrected b fore he could audit the bill. But the city has had the singular spectacle presented to it of a Common Council refusing to stand by its auditor and allowing, without rebuke, an alleged claimant to abuse in the public prints its own officer for doing his duty; and not only so, but are entertaining the purpose of paying a bill that the auditor says is n-t correct. It is, indeed, a singular spectacle.

THE '79 CLASS RE-UNION.

An Interesting Programme Rendered by the Members at the Residence of their Class President, Last Evening.

The Class of '79, held a re-union Nov. 13, at the home of Mr. Geo. B. Titsworth, it being the tenth year since graduation in June 1879.

The members of the class present were: Chas. Bullman, Felix G. Fezandie, Mrs. Wm. F. Downs, formerly Miss Mary Gardner, Mrs. Chas. A. Smith, formerly Miss Carrie Ketcham, Mrs. C. Frank French, formerly Miss Aline Randolph, Mrs. J. J. Leppa, formerly Miss Cora Smalley, Geo. B. Titsworth, Franklin B. Wiley and Franklin S. Smith.

The programme of the evening opened with a piano solo by Mrs. Downs, who showed by her brilliant execution that her fingers had lost none of their schoolday cunning.

Mr. Titsworth's "Address of Welcome" was made in a very pleasing manner, and was followed by a well rendered violin solo by Mr. Felix Fezandie.

The "Class Reminiscences" by Mrs. French brought back to the members many things both mischievous and amusing happening during school hours.

Mrs. Leppa's "Echoes of Commencement" was a most excellent and praiseworthy effort. She wove in the incidents and occurrences of that eventful night in a very clever way, saying of the speakers, that, "we stepped upon the stage expecting to electrify the audience, but at the same time were trembling in our shoes at the sound of our own voices."

A vocal solo by Mrs. C. A. Smith, showed, that her voice had lost none of the sweetness of her school days.

We publish the poem then read by Mr. F. B. Wiley:

On the wind of the Autumn night
From far comes faint and low
The echoed strain of a farewell song
That was sung ten years ago;
Thrillingly soft and sweet
It steals from the far off years
To fill our hearts with a strange delight
And our eyes with unshed tears.

For it carries us back to the time
When we were girls and boys,
And life was a round of study and romps
And juvenile sorrows and joys.
It carried us back to the time
When we were classmates together
Through the Autumn chill, and the Winter cold,
And the golden Springtide weather.

On the wind of the Autumn night
'Tis borne from the days afar
When our hopes and aims were as bright and high
As evening's silvery star;
When each heart beat quick and the color flamed
In each youthful earnest face,
As we thought how we should surprise the World
And step in the foremost place.

We sang it first in June,
When the roses were all red,
And we hear it now in the Autumn night
When the roses are all dead;
And we think of those that died
Like the flowers of a bygone June,
And the wailing strain of a minor chord
Is heard through the olden tune.

Then proud and clear and high,
Rings out the melodic chime
Of encouragement for every one
Whose broad estate is time;
And on the wind of the Autumn night
There passes faint and low,
The dying strain of the farewell song
We sang ten years ago.

The Class History by Mr. F Smith gave the principal events in the lives of the members leaving school. Of the eighteen graduates, eight of the ten girls have married, and two have died, Julia Runyon seven months after commencement, and Mrs. Edward Ryder, formerly Anna Gillies, in 1886. But two of the eight boys have married. The class has eight children.

The various members reside in New York city; Manchester, N. H., Westfield, N. J.; Jersey City, N. J.; San Antonio, Texas; Plainfield; Newark, N. J.; Oakland, Cal.; and St. Paul, Minn.

Letters from Miss Bulkley, and Mrs. Wm. Sayres, formerly Miss Anna Stevens, of the Third Class High School, were then read, and also letters from the absent members of the class.

After the supper, furnished by a caterer, the class, with Mrs. Downs at the piano as in days of yore, sang a number of the pieces in the books used each day at morning exercises by the school, since 1879.

All voted the re-union a great success, separating at Midnight, having spent a most enjoyable evening in spite of the disagreeable weather, which deterred but two from attending.

A new idea embraced in Ely's Cream Balm. Catarrh is cured by cleansing and healing, not by drying up. It is not a liquid or snuff, but is easily applied into the nostrils. Its effect is magical, and a thorough treatment will cure the worst cases. Price 50c.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

With Ely's Cream Balm a child can be treated without pain or dread and with perfect safety. Try the remedy. It cures catarrh, hay fever, and colds in the head. It is easily applied into the nostrils and gives relief with the first application. Price 50c.

Gave Bonds to Keep the Peace.

The case of Zachariah Wilson vs Jennie Becker, was tried before Justice Hardy, Monday afternoon, in Spencer's Hall, North Plainfield. The complainant alleged that Mrs. Becker called his wife abusive names on Nov. 13, 1889, and had several witnesses of the neighborhood to substantiate the same. The Court, after listening very attentively to the evidence for three hours adjudged that Mrs. Jennie Becker give sureties to keep the peace in the sum of $50, and that complainant's wife also give bond for $25. Wm. A. Coddington represented the complainant, and Chas. A. Reed, Esq., appeared for the defendant.

PASTIMES LOSE AGAIN.

The Progress of the Union County Bowling Tournament.

The fifth game of the league tournament for the championship of this county, was bowled on the alleys at Westfield, on Tuesday. Although by the substitution of Sorter for Irving, the Pastimes did better than the evening before, yet the Mondays won with 112 pins to spare. M. E. Alpers was umpire.

The score was as follows:

MONDAYS OF WESTFIELD.

	S.	S.	B.	Score.
Cohen	2	6	3	166
Dorval	2	2	6	130
Pierson	3	5	2	176
Reese	0	3	8	109
Dallas	3	1	7	119
Schmann	4	4	2	177
F. VanEmburgh	1	4	5	136
Still	1	7	2	172
Wilcox	3	5	3	156
Seely	6	4	2	182
Total				1507

PASTIMES OF WESTFIELD.

Ward	3	2	5	129
Cash	2	2	6	127
Sorter	2	2	6	122
Pearsall	0	6	4	140
Collins	2	5	3	156
Welch	1	7	2	158
Darby	1	3	6	118
Crouch	2	4	3	159
Hall	2	3	2	1[illegible]5
Love	3	3	4	133
Total				1395

FRAMES.

Monday	169	306	457	615	773	921	1068	1214	1362	1507
Pastime	124	251	387	500	646	777	933	1094	1241	1395

The record now stands:

	WON.	LOST.
Nameless of Westfield	2	0
Elizabeth Athletic Club	1	1
Pastime of Westfield	1	2
Monday " "	1	1
Crescent of Plainfield	0	1

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

KASKINE,
(THE NEW QUININE.)

Gives Good Appetite, New Strength, Quiet Nerves, Happy Days, Sweet Sleep

A POWERFUL TONIC.
A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

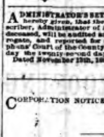
Mine was about as bad a case of malaria as could be, and yet Kaskine cured me after I had been dosed with almost every drug in the pharmacopoeia.—J. D. Hird, B. A., Chemist Maryland Agricultural College.

"For eight years I had dumb ague intolerably. Wishing myself dead a score of times I never found a medicine worth the bottle that held it, until I took Kaskine. That was a happy day for me. It gave me appetite and strength. I can sleep like a top. I stand by every word of this."—Thos. Toole, Schuylerville, N. Y.

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.
KASKINE CO., 166 Duane St., New York.
8-8-y

RADAM'S
MICROBE KILLER
Cures All Diseases.

The claim to cure all diseases, may at first glance seem very absurd; but after reading our pamphlet, giving a history of the Microbe Killer, explaining the germ theory of disease, and reading our testimonials, which prove conclusively there is no disease it will not cure, the truth of our assertion becomes clear. No person suffering from any blood, chronic or contagious disease should let a day pass without getting and reading this interesting book, which will be given away or mailed free. The gentlemen connected with this company are well-known business men of this city. Agents wanted everywhere. Address



The Wm. Radam Microbe Killer Co.,
54 Sixth Avenue,
NEW YORK CITY.
11-21-y

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, Administrator of Andrew Love, senior, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday the twenty-second day of January next.
Dated November 19th, 1889.
ANDREW LOVE, JR.
11-21 w10

CORPORATION NOTICE.

City Registration.

The Boards of Registry of the several Wards and Election Districts of the City of Plainfield will meet at their respective places of Registration, as designated by the Common Council for polling places, on Tuesday, November 26, 1889, beginning at 7 o'clock in the morning and remaining in session until 9 o'clock in the evening, for the purpose of revising and correcting the certified copy of the original registers, and adding thereto the names of all persons entitled to the right of suffrage within the corporate limits, at the Municipal Election to be held December 3, 1889.

Charter Election.

Public notice is hereby given that the annual Municipal Election in and for the City of Plainfield, will be held on Tuesday, December 3, 1889.

For the purpose of voting for the following city officers at large: Three common councilmen, a city judge, to fill the unexpired term of the late George F. Suydam, a city assessor, a city collector, a city treasurer, two chosen freeholders, three commissioners of appeal, a member of the board of education and from each of the wards and election districts, a member of the common council, a constable, a justice of the peace, a judge of election, two inspectors of election and a clerk of election.

THE POLLING PLACES

as designated by the common council are:

1st Ward, Hoagland's Express Office, North avenue.

2d Ward, The Crescent Building, Broadway.

3d Ward, Sharp's Carriage Factory, West Sixth street.

4th Ward, 1st Election Dist. Alert Hose House, Madison-ave. 2d Election Dist. Moran's Store, Muhlenberg Place, Junction of South Second street.

Polls Open at 6 a. m. and Close at 7 p. m.

(Adjournment from 1 to 2 p. m.)

Done in accordance with an Act of the Legislature of New Jersey entitled "An Act to Regulate Elections," approved April 18, 1876, and amendments thereto.

O. B. LEONARD, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 14, 1889.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FINE CLOTHING.

A large assortment of Fall and Winter Goods.

Ready-Made Department—Suits, Overcoats and Ulsters for Men and Boys in all sizes, made of the best materials and in the best manner possible.

Custom Department.—A heavy stock of Woollens, this Season's importation, Fashionable goods in plain and fancy Woollens for Fall and Winter wear. Goods fit and finish the very best.

Men's Furnishing Department.—Shirts ready made or to order as desired. Smoking Jackets and Dressing Gowns ready made or to order. Imported Silk, also All-Wool Underwear. English Mackintosh Coats. French Pajamas. Everything to clothe the body except Hats and Shoes. Self-measurement blanks furnished on application, also samples.

TREDWELL, SLOTE & COMPANY,
273, 275, 277 BROADWAY, N. Y.,
COR. BROADWAY AND CHAMBERS ST.
11-7-3m

Parlor Stoves
Othello Ranges,
Steam and Hot Water Heating
Hot Air Heating.
Hardware,
Plumbing,
Tinning,
And House Furnishings.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11-1-tf

WHITENACK'S
New Jersey Real Estate Agency,
No. 171 BROADWAY,
Room 15, NEW YORK.
Correspondence solicited.
F. DUMONT WHITENACK, REAL ESTATE AGENT.
11-7-4

TAXATION.

OFFICIAL NOTICE.

The Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation for the city of Plainfield, will meet in the Council Chamber on the fourth Tuesday in November, the 26th inst., and sit from 2 o'clock P. M. until 5 o'clock P. M., or longer if found necessary to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

MANNING VERMEULE,
JEREMIAH MANNING,
J. F. MACDONALD,
Commissioners.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 12, 1889. 11-14-2w

Don't spoil your Feet with Cheap Shoes!

WEAR THE BURT & PACKARD

Don't allow your dealer to palm off any substitute, as we have arranged to supply the "Korrect Shape" Shoes in any style for Gent's, Boys or Youths, and prepay all delivery charges where they are not sold.

You can only find them in Plainfield, N. J., at DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S, 22 WEST FRONT ST. Made in four grades, HAND-MADE, HAND-WELT, BURTWELT and MACHINE SEWED, which is stamped on the sole in addition to the trade-mark above.

PACKARD & FIELD,
(Successors to Burt & Packard)
Brockton, Mass.
9-12-3mo

Great Inducements in Square Parlor Stoves,
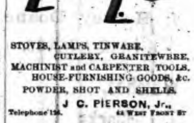
RANGES, &c.



STOVES, LAMPS, TINWARE,
CUTLERY, GRANITEWARE,
MACHINIST and CARPENTER TOOLS,
HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, &c.
POWDER, SHOT AND SHELLS.
J. C. PIERSON, Jr.,
Telephone 126. 44 WEST FRONT ST

DEATHS.

VAN DEVENTER—In North Plainfield, Nov. 16, Jeremiah E. Van Deventer, in the 8[illegible]th year of his age.

M. N. TERRILL & CO.
UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,
No. 29 E. FRONT STREET.
M. N. TERRILL— GEO. W. COLE.
Practical Embalmer, and assistant to the late firm of Ford & Stiles. 8-17-tf

A. M. RUNYON & SON,
UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS,
60 PARK AVENUE.
Telephone Call 40.
RESIDENCE—48 MADISON AVENUE.
Telephone Call 27.
"Office of Hillside Cemetery."

P. CASEY & SON,
UNDERTAKERS.
OFFICE—No. 1 Somerset St.
Residence, No. 11 Third street, corner New, Plainfield, N. J. Everything pertaining to the business always on hand, and lower than any other firm in the State. All Calls Promptly answered Day or Night.—6l8y1

WANTS AND INFORMATION.

Twenty-five Cents for one insertion of three lines. Each additional line five cents extra. Fifteen cents for each subsequent insertion of ½c.

FOR SALE—Best residence property in Westfield, N. J. Five minutes from depot, churches, schools and post-office. High grounds, [illegible]. House, twelve rooms, with Gas and Water, barn and carriage house, all in complete order. Terms to suit. Apply to Luther M. Whitaker, Westfield N. J.

STORAGE—FIRST-CLASS ACCOMMODATIONS in newly-partitioned rooms. All thoroughly cleaned and free from vermin. Separate rooms if desired. Apply at Norton's Hat store, or of owner, M. VERMEULE. Two buggies for sale cheap.—[illegible]

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

F. A. DEMAREST, - - City Editor.

—Oh, for a Y. M. C. A. building.

—The next legal holiday will occur on Thursday, the 28th instant—Thanksgiving Day.

—The [illegible] is beginning to loom, and it will soon be heard in our midst.

—Candidates for city offices, to be chosen in December, are becoming numerous.

—This is the season when almost every man or his neighbor has a cold or a cough.

—The brush and underbrush on the Mountain, North of the city, were on fire Saturday night.

—A runaway happened on East Third street, Saturday evening, but fortunately no damage resulted.

—Officer Close expects to take possession of his new house on Orange street, about the first of December.

—If the railroad authorities would only move that freight house far away and turn the yard into a park.

—Mr. C. M. Goddard is wiring the office and prescription department of Reynolds' pharmacy, for electric lighting.

—Now is the time to clean the gutters so that when it begins to snow and thaw the water will have free passage.

—A Flemington paper says: "Rumor has it that Wilson F. Pulper is going to Plainfield to engage in the grocery business."

—The young folk of the First Baptist church, will hold a sale in their Sunday School rooms during the first week in December.

—At the morning service at the Park Avenue Baptist church, Sunday, a collection of $1,063 was taken up for repairs to the church.

—The attendance at the night school for men, is rapidly increasing, and it is thought that the membership will soon reach one hundred.

—Mr. John Dunn, bookkeeper in D. K. Craig's office at Somerville, was married, Friday night, to Miss Lillie E. DeCamp of this city.

—A school boy named [illegible] sprained his wrist while playing leapfrog in the High School yard, Thursday at noon. Dr. Tomlinson attended to the boy.

—It is understood that the members of the W. C. T. U. will appoint canvassers, who will go from house to house and solicit signers to the total abstinence pledge.

—Mr. Charles Hand, who is erecting the brick building on West Second street, expects to have the building enclosed by the holidays, and ready for occupancy on April 1st next.

—James Sherlock, arrested by Chief Carey, on Saturday afternoon, for being drunk and disorderly, was on Monday committed by Judge [illegible] to the County Jail for sixty days.

—One unfortunate individual was arrested by the borough officials on Saturday night for disorderly conduct, and yesterday he was committed to the Somerville jail for thirty days.

—Rev. Dr. E. P. Ketcham preached two excellent sermons in the First Presbyterian church on Sunday. The one in the morning was to young men, and in the evening he preached to young women.

—Complaint is made by residents of Grove street, that the street lamps on the East end of that thoroughfare are either not turned on full or that the burners are worn out. The light is very dim.

—Nineteen men and youths have already signified their desire to join a class in short-hand provided it is organized by the Y. M. C. A. An opportunity is still offered to the young men of this city and vicinity to become enrolled.

—The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church of Dunellen, held a sociable at the residence of Mr. F. J. Richter on Thursday evening last. Music, games, etc., were features of the evening's enjoyment.

—Gov. Robert S. Green has designated Thursday, Nov. 28, as a day of thanksgiving and praise in accordance with the call of the President of the United States. On that day the business houses of Plainfield will be closed and the city will put on its holiday attire.

—Miss Amelia B. Edwards, the distinguished Egyptologist, will lecture at Music Hall, December 4, for the Children's Home. General admission tickets may be had of the lady managers of the Home. Reserved seats will be on sale at Randolph's pharmacy.

—The case of Chas. Hand vs. D. J. Runyon, came up Friday afternoon before Special Master in Chancery John H. Van Winkle. D. J. Runyon was the only witness sworn and the case was adjourned until the 29th inst. Stenographer H. C. Runyon took down the testimony.

—Mr. Chas. S. Gibbon, who for many years past has conducted an extensive coal and lumber business adjoining the railroad track on [illegible] street, has retired from active labors, having disposed of his business to Messrs. [illegible] & [illegible], which firm will succeed him at the old stand.

—Attention is again called to the habit of many of leaving their horses standing on the crossings while people have to walk out in the mud. The practice is in direct violation of the city ordinance, and it should not be tolerated. Certainly, pedestrians have some rights which drivers are bound to respect.

—County Superintendent Ayers, of Somerset county, says that the time for the session of the Teachers' Institute for that county has been changed to April next, and the Somerville printers who have been getting their ugly "mugs" in shape so as to look pretty in the eyes of the school marms are greatly disappointed.

—A farmer from Washington Valley who was returning home with a load of lumber, Friday afternoon, came to grief at the corner of Park avenue and Front street. One of the axles on the wagon broke, and it became necessary to substitute another vehicle before the farmer could proceed on his journey.

—Upon invitation, Monday night, the pastors of the city, officers of the W. C. T. U., and members of the various temperance organizations met in the parlors of Music Hall, and decided to extend an invitation to all of the temperance societies in the city, and others to participate in a union service at Music Hall, on Saturday evening.

—The Central Railroad Company, it is said, is considering the advisability of enlarging the ladies waiting room in the station here. During the morning, and oftentimes in the afternoon, the seats in the ladies apartment of the station are inadequate to accommodate the passengers, and many of them are obliged to stand until train time.

Clean the Gutters.

We hear a number of complaints of the condition of some of the principal cross streets in the Borough, especially Craig place and Emily street. The gutters need the immediate attention of the Street Commissioner, and should be ploughed out and cleaned, so that the surface water would run off before it freezes. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Personals.

Miss Carolyn Knowland of East Seventh street, is at Logan's Ferry, Allegheny county, Pa.

Mrs. M. Edgerton, of East Front street, is confined to the house suffering from a severe cold.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lutkins have returned from their visit among friends at Oradel and Paterson.

Mrs. S. B. Hope of Third and Richmond streets, is slowly recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. S. C. Peck, father of our only and original "Come to Peck's," is visiting his son on West Front street.

Mr. Herbert Fraley, formerly of this city, but now of upper New York State, is visiting among friends here.

Mr. F. Nein, Jr., is very proud today over the birth of a "Prohibition boy," on Wednesday, at his home on New street.

The Hon. John Vetterlein of North Plainfield, ex-Assemblyman from his district, is confined to his home by illness.

Mr. Wilson Pulper and family of Flemington, have taken up their residence in a handsome flat on North avenue, this city.

Mr. John Cameron of this city, who is engaged in contracting in upper New York State, was in town, Saturday evening.

Jeremiah R. Van Deventer, President of the First National Bank, died on Saturday after an illness of about a month.

Mr. John D. Furman and bride (nee Miss Ella Clifton) left for Waterville, Ohio, on Saturday, Nov. 9, where they will permanently reside.

Mr and Mrs. J. E. Yose and family, of West Second street, this city, left Thursday for a few weeks' visit with Mr. Yose's parents, at Rahway.

Ex-Councilman David Weaver and wife, of North Plainfield, are entertaining as their guests, Mr. Jacob Heger, and bride, of South Branch, N. J.

After a month's vacation, Miss Alice Morgan has returned to her post of duty as day operator in the District Messenger office on Park avenue.

Mrs. Dr. T. H. Tomlinson has returned from Chicago, where she has been attending, as a delegate, the National Convention of the W. C. T. U.

Mr. M. F. Marcley and wife, have returned from a three months' visit in Buffalo, where they were the guests of their son, Dr. Marcley, of that city.

Mrs. F. A. Church and mother, Mrs. P. M. Demarest, spent the day with Mrs. Church's son, Irving, at Elwyn, Penn., where he is at boarding school.

The wedding is announced of Mr. Arthur Pierson of this city and Miss Mary McAdam of Brooklyn, which will take place at Brooklyn this evening.

Hon. James Buchanan, Member of Congress from Mercer county, accompanied by his wife, visited his sister, Mrs. H. Pierson, of 86 Duer street, Sunday.

A personal letter from Governor-elect Leon Abbett to a gentleman of this city, says: "The victory was indeed a glorious one and we can all feel proud of it."

The members of "O. O. S. S." Our Own Social Society, met at the residence of Miss Carrie on Arlington avenue, on Tuesday, and enjoyed a few hours socially together.

The Elizabeth Journal says that Mr. Isaac W. Laing who operates a farm in the Short Hills is 74 years of age. He was born on the farm and has lived on it ever since.

Mrs. Anna DeHart Morrison, sister of Mrs. W E Honeyman, of North Plainfield, died at her home near Dover, N. J., on Monday. Rev. W. E. Honeyman started for Dover, next morning.

Mr. P. A. Burdick who is a Seventh Day Baptist, and a Temperance Evangelist although not a Prohibitionist, preached in Dr. Lewis' pulpit on Saturday. There was a large congregation present.

The members of the Dunellen Social Club have arranged for a series of sociables to be held during the coming Winter months. The first sociable was held at the residence of Mr. [illegible] at [illegible], a few evenings since.

Mr. B. T. Barnes filled the position of basso in the Trinity church choir, at both morning and evening service, Sunday, in a very gratifying manner. Mr. Gorton, the regular member of the choir, was absent on account of illness.

A cablegram from Bremen, Germany, received by Mr. Jacob Kirkner, Tuesday, announced Mrs. Kirkner's safe arrival there yesterday morning, after a stormy passage. Mrs. Kirkner sailed from New York on the Steamer Werra, on Saturday, November 9.

Mr. Wm. J. Douglass of Cypress Commandery, No. 6, K. T., of this city, who is also Grand Commander of the State of New Jersey, went to Washington, D. C., Thursday, as a delegate to the Grand Encampment, Knights Templar, then in session there.

Mr Howard W. Beebe is confined to his home on Central avenue, with a severe attack of Bronchitis, in consequence of which he was unable to be present at the Bicycle Club tournament Thursday night, and take part in the many events for which he was down on the bills.

A musicale and parlor entertainment was given at the residence of Mr. A. J. Winckler on Park place, North Plainfield, Thursday, that was attended by about twenty of Mr. and Mrs. Winckler's most intimate friends. Music and refreshments were features of the evening's enjoyment.

A very interesting missionary meeting was held in the church at Pluckamin on Wednesday afternoon and evening, Nov. 6. Addresses were delivered by Rev. J. C. Rankin, D. D., of Basking Ridge, Rev. J. G. Hammer, D.D., of Lamington and Rev. Mr. Richards of the Crescent Avenue church, Plainfield.

The marriage of Miss May Adams, granddaughter of Mr. Daniel Cory, and niece of Mr. Daniel C. Adams, to Mr. Charles A. Lee, of New York, took place at the house of the bride's guardian, Mr. Carmon Parse, cashier of the First National Bank, on Grove street, Wednesday evening of this week.

The death is announced of Mrs. Clarissa Towsley which occurred at her home in Washington Valley, on Monday, from pleurisy. She was in the 77th year of her age. The remains will be taken to Sharon Springs, New York State, on Thursday, where the funeral will take place at two o'clock P. M., on that day.

The 25th anniversary of their wedding, was the occasion of a very enjoyable reception and dance at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Lowrie, on Park avenue, Saturday evening, from eight till twelve o'clock. About 200 guests were entertained and the presents were numerous and handsome. Orchestra music added to the evening's pleasures, and Caterer E. R. Maynard served a bountiful supper on handsomely decorated tables.

Death of Jeremiah VanDeventer.

THE PRESS on Saturday told exclusively of the death of Mr. Jeremiah VanDeventer, which occurred at his home in North Plainfield, on the afternoon of that day. Mr. VanDeventer was in the 86th year of his age, and his death resulted from stomach trouble. His illness dated back for a period of about four weeks.

Mr. Van Deventer was a man well known to most every one in the city. Besides his connection, as President, with the First National Bank, he was largely interested in real estate transactions. He was also a member of the Crescent Avenue church, and leaves a widow and one daughter.

The funeral took place from the house on Wednesday at 11:30 A. M.

Danger! Lookout!

On Greenbrook road near the bridge at Mr. John F. Wilson's place, a telegraph pole has broken off at the butt and leans over at an angle of 45 degrees in a very dangerous position and condition.

Always Up to the Times.

Mayor Justus H. Cooley of North Plainfield, is putting in an electric light plant to illuminate his private residence and his sanitarium. He already has a thorough system of steam heating throughout both buildings.

Who Owns That Rig?

Officer Flanagan found a horse and buggy, standing on East Second street, at one o'clock Sunday morning. The horse had been standing there since six o'clock the night before. The rig was stabled in Roberts' livery stable, and Chief Carey is now looking for the owner.

A Former Plainfielder Convicted.

At Elizabeth, Thursday, the indictment against Thomas Flood, formerly of this city, but late of Rahway, for indecent assault, was tried. The jury found a verdict of guilty against the accused, as charged in the indictment. Judge McCormick will sentence the prisoner on Saturday, the 23d inst. The penalty is a heavy fine or imprisonment in State's Prison, at the discretion of the Court.

Lost Both the Race and His Watch.

Mr. W. Lee Simmonds of the Plainfield Bicycle Club, took off his vest at the tournament Thursday, and left it in the dressing room while he ran in a three-legged race, strapped to ex-Captain A. L. C. Marsh.

While they were losing the race, someone took Simmonds' vest with his watch and everything else in the pockets.

Built a Fire in the Oven.

One of the inhabitants of rookery in Stiger alley attempted to paint that portion of the city lurid red, Friday night. During the afternoon, it is said, he made a tour of the borough saloons, and at night went home, upset the stove, and built a fire in the oven. The neighbors remonstrated with the inebriated man, but for health's sake they did not use force. The police were notified.

He Left the Empty Vest.

Late on the evening of the Bicycle Club's tournament, a colored man who works for Mr. J. T. Vail, found an empty vest hanging on a fence in the vicinity of The Crescent. It proved to be the vest stolen from the dressing room where it had been left by Mr. W. Lee Simmonds, one of the Club competitors. The thief, however, had emptied it of the gold watch and chain, silver match box, class pin and money it contained.

To Assist the Needy.

The parlor sale at the residence of Mrs. Geo. Opdyke, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, was very successful, realizing a very neat sum, which will be used for the sick and needy during the coming Winter. At the fancy tables, where the articles were noticeably choice, were noticed the following ladies: Miss Crane, Miss Wilkinson, Miss Green and Miss Spicer. The candy and fruit table was presided over by Miss Bowers and Miss Crane, Miss Eva Benton and others assisting.

Hit With a Brick.

Martin Carter, a workman on the Miller building at Park avenue and Fourth street was working a pump in the cellar at noon last Thursday, when a brick fell from the second story scaffold and struck on the top of his head. For a few minutes Martin did not know what hit him.

Mr. John J. Kenney helped the unfortunate man into Steile's pharmacy and called Dr. Randolph Titsworth who dressed the scalp cut which was the only damage.

Fire in the Borough.

An incipient fire started in the frame shed adjoining Mrs. Lo Coles' residence on Emily street, North Plainfield, early on Saturday, but fortunately it was extinguished in time to prevent a serious conflagration. The fire was caused by an overheated stovepipe which projected through an opening in the weather boarding, and when first discovered it was burning fiercely. A few pails of water, however, put on the flames, put the fire out, and sufficed to allay all fears.

Death of Mr. James Mullen.

It is with sincere regret that we, today, record the death of Mr. James Mullen, which occurred at his home on West Fifth street, Thursday night, after a short illness from pneumonia. The deceased was sixty-two years of age, and has been a resident of this city for many years past. He leaves a widow, one son and three daughters.

Mr. Mullen was a man both well and favorably known here. For a long time past he had been a trusted and valued employee of Mr. Geo. H. Babcock of Eighth street. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, from St. Mary's church.

The Last Sad Rites.

The funeral of the late George E. Hoadley, who died on Monday night, took place from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. William Palmer Smith on Belvidere avenue, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. W. R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, with which the deceased was identified, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Dr. J. C. Bliss of New York, a former pastor of the church, and the Rev. Mr. Simpson of the Church of Our Saviour at Netherwood.

The house was filled with the relatives and friends of the deceased, including many from New York, Brooklyn and other distant places. The remains were interred in the family plot in Evergreen Cemetery.

Concerning the Late George E. Hoadley.

By the death of the late George E. Hoadley, Plainfield loses one of her most honored and respectable citizens.

Mr. Hoadley was born in New Haven, Conn., in 1829, and when still quite young he went to New York and entered the drug business, in which he accumulated a large fortune. Shortly after his retiring from mercantile life, about ten years ago, he became connected with the Panama Railway Co., of which his brother, David Hoadley, was President. He became assignee of the banking house of Page, Bacon & Co., conducting their intricate affairs to a satisfactory settlement. Mr. Hoadley has lived many years in this city, but since the death of his wife, two years ago, he has resided with his son-in-law, Mr. W. P. Smith, at Netherwood.

PLAINFIELD'S Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

Adoption of Plans Delayed by the C. L. S. C.'s Removal.

The Building Committee of the Y. M. C. A., are now hard at work trying to solve some use for the rooms in the new building that were included in the plans, for the occupancy of the Chautauqua offices. The removal of these offices to Buffalo, leaves the Y. M. C. A., without the tenant expected.

A number of plans have been considered by the committee, showing most attractive fronts and handsome architectural proportions. These plans have no stores on the first floor, but by the rental to the C. L. S. C., of offices on an upper floor, the Association would have been able to carry out its intention to have no tenants below.

Such a state of affairs it is hoped can yet be arranged. But that will depend upon the Committee's success in devising some use, or securing desirable tenants, for the space laid out for the C. L. S. C.

No Date Fixed.

Now that the other Plainfield papers have all copied the particulars and dates of the Crescent Avenue church fair, THE PRESS is called upon to set the people right about it. It will not be held until the new Sunday School rooms are nearer completion than seems probable this year.

Target Excursion.

From present indications says the Summit Record, the target shooting match at the Spring Lake Hotel on Thanksgiving Day, will be closely contested. The Park Avenue and Oriental Social Clubs of Plainfield, will send their "crack" team and the marksmen of the Summit Lyceum are using great care in preparing for the contest.

Wedding Reception.

Mr. John Gerry of South Plainfield and Miss Kate Leary of Athens, Pa., were married at the latter place on the 6th inst., and on Saturday evening they were tendered a reception at the groom's residence. About two hundred persons were present, including the members of the Emerald Benevolent Society of this city.

Special Music at Holy Cross Church.

There were large congregations, morning and afternoon, at the Church of the Holy Cross, Sunday. Those who were present at the latter service greatly enjoyed the singing of Mr. Crispen of Trinity Chapel, New York. Mr. Crispen is the chief tenor singer in Dr. Gilberts' choir. The latter is organist in that church and a famous composer of music.

The Contract Completed.

Mr. Joseph Sillery has completed the work of building a stone wall along Stony Brook on Somerset street at the Notch, and on Friday the wall was accepted by a Committee from the Somerset County Board of Freeholders.

The wall is 375½ long, eight feet high on an average, three feet wide at the bottom and two feet wide at the top. The contract price was $1,450.

A Thanksgiving Appeal.

For several years past, the Plainfield Relief Association has been enabled, through the generosity of its friends, to give Thanksgiving dinners to a number of poor families, who would otherwise know little of the good cheer of that day. For this purpose contributions of small turkeys, chickens, vegetables, fruit, flour, etc., are earnestly solicited from all who will aid in the good work this year. Such gifts should be sent to the Association Rooms, No. 45 West Second street, Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 26, or early the following morning.

E. R. LEONARD, Sec.

REVERSED THE DECISION.

In 1883 a suit was brought by Frazee and Daniel Lee, now deceased, vs. Mulford Cole and others to set aside certain deeds of conveyances, which they claimed were fraudulently made. Testimony was taken before Special Master in Chancery, Nelson Runyon, and in October, 1888, Chancellor McGill decided in favor of the Lee Brothers.

The case was then carried to the Court of Errors and Appeals, and Tuesday the decision was reversed in favor of the defendants. Messrs R. V. Lindabury of Elizabeth and J. B. Coward of this city were Counsel for the defendants.

Drunk With a Baby in Her Arms.

(Newark Press-Register.)

Mary Kenworthy of Westfield, came to Newark with her two-months-old baby to visit Bridget Henry, her friend, of 66 Madison street. During the day the "growler" was rushed a number of times, until the ladies got a little noisy. Sergeant Fine of the Third precinct, with Officers Corbally, Carpenter, Smith and Tighe, were called to stop the noise, and found it necessary to bring the gang in, where Mrs. Kenworthy, the baby and Mrs. Henry slept off the effects of the beer. It is said that there were two or three more in the crowd, but they succeeded in making their escape.

Death of Harry P. Roome.

The death occurred early Monday morning of Harry P. Roome, grandson of Mrs. Jane Roome, of Sycamore avenue, Washington Park. He was about twenty-four years of age, and had been a sufferer from consumption for a long time. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Roome, and during the last few Summers the family have lived in North Plainfield. At the sick man's request that he might die at home, they recently left the VanDeventer residence which they had rented on Washington avenue and the family returned to their New York house, 227 West 48th st., where the funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock. The interment was private.

Col. Harvey to Issue a Weekly With Letters Reviewing Plainfield's Social Doings.

Mr. George B. M. Harvey, Managing Editor of the New Jersey edition of the New York World, is, in company with a fellow-worker in newspaperdom, about to establish a weekly society journal, whose field will be New Jersey. The new publication will be issued weekly, and will contain letters reviewing social doings in Plainfield, the Oranges, Montclair and other places; satire, wit, gossip, reports of amusements, and light reading. The journal will be profusely illustrated and will, it is understood, appear every Saturday. There is said to be considerable capital behind the enterprise.

STRANGE ILLUMINATION IN THE SKY.

A Suggestion and a Denial of What It Was.

A weird phenomenon appeared about Northeast of this city at 6:30 o'clock Monday night, which attracted the wonder of many people. It did not stay in its position long, but vanished in a moment. The strange thing was a bright light in the cloudy sky with a long tail that reached the earth. These unusual occurrences peculiar to the times in their many phases, are not strange to those who understand the cronological events due at this period of the World's history.

A bystander suggested, the phenomenon was a reflection of the late Democratic victories; but another remarked, "such do not shine in the Heavens."

REFORM HALL.

Mr. J. B. Cleaver Makes a Great Address.

Reform Hall held a goodly sized audience Sunday night. President Harper presided, Mr. Eden Boice conducted the devotional services, and Mr. Vanderbeek and choir, with Mr. George Rogers as organist, discoursed music.

The speaker was as announced, Mr. J. B. Cleaver, and for an hour he held the profound attention of every person present, by delivering one of the most eloquent and instructive addresses ever heard. Unrest, political, social and religious, now witnessed throughout this country and the world, formed the basis of his splendid oration, which was freighted with historical data of great interest, and religious truths of priceless value.

Acceptance and perfect obedience to the law of Almighty God was held up as a sure antidote for the many evils now afflicting mankind.

Torpid Liver.

It is hardly possible to prepare a medicine which is so pleasant to the palate as are HAMBURG FIGS, or which is so efficacious in cases of torpid liver or sick-headache. 25c. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

Cheap Educational Rates.

The German school which was organized in the Gesang and Turner Hall on September 1, now has a membership of 72. The German Language is taught by Mr. Martin Heubner, and the rates of tuition for pupils, outside of the sons and daughters of the members of the society, are twenty-five cents a month.

A Co-Operative Store.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the County Clerk, yesterday, by the "Plainfield Co-operative Company," a workingman's association. The incorporators are Warren F. Bartlett, Theo. J. Gillies, Jos. F. Shepherd, Thos. Lee, Christian F. Hendricks, Peter N. Cline, Henry C. Homer, Richard J. Neal and Stevenson Moore.

The object of the association is to cheapen the necessaries of life to workingmen and give them a share of the profits. The organization has the sanction of James Bishop, Chief of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Its capital is $3,000; the shares are $5 each. six hundred shares are to be issued, to be paid for in installments of not less than fifty cents a week.

FORMING A RIDING ASSOCIATION.

One Hundred Wealthy Plainfielders, Who Will Join Together in Providing Recreation and Entertainment for Their Families in Particular, and the Public in General.

About one hundred of the representative and wealthiest citizens of this city and the borough, will probably be soon joined together hand in hand and with wide open pocket books, arranging for the establishment of a riding academy, and the providing of healthful recreation therein, and public entertainment of other sorts. The list of those in favor of the project, already includes such men as L. E. Howard, J. Wesley Johnson, John W. Murray, C. W. McCutchen, O. T. Waring, John I. Holly, Martin I. Cooley, Morgan S. Taylor, E. J. Waring, Justus H. Cooley, A. C. Vail, F. O. Herring, Wm. Bloodgood, Jr., W. T. Broadway and B. O. Bowers.

The people interested stand ready to build such a building as will serve their purpose, but are first negotiating for the leasing of The Crescent at Broadway and Fourth street. A tan-bark bed will be laid, one hundred and fifty of the best saddle horses will be secured and a competent instructor engaged. The members' families will have the use of the academy at all times. Commutation tickets will be sold the public entitling the holder to so many hours riding, at a popular price.

There will be exhibition drills and exercises on certain evenings, by the members of the classes under the leadership of their instructor. There will also be band concerts given in the building, of fine music at low prices, as often as the patronage will encourage the managers in an expenditure of the money necessary to import the best music. Further particulars of the project will be found exclusively in these columns.

METHODIST MESSAGE AND MISCELLANY.

Chronicles of Church and Congregation of Casual Comment and Concern.

Volume two, number two, of the Methodist Episcopal church Visitor, published by the pastor, the Rev. Charles B. Mitchell, was issued Saturday. From its columns THE PRESS takes the liberty of making a few selections of items of general interest, as follow:

Mr. John E. Dunn and Miss Lillie E. DeCamp, neice of Mrs. Mary E. Stevens, 39 East Second street, were married Thursday evening, Nov. 14, at the parsonage, and went at once to their furnished home in Somerville, where a large number of friends awaited them with warm congratulations, and a bounteous repast.

Mr. and Mrs. John Weir were recently rejoiced by a visit from the parents of the latter, Rev. Dr. Skeel and wife. Dr Skeel is a prominent member of one of New York Conferences, and an enthusiastic Egyptologist. The doctor while here delivered a drawing-room lecture on Egypt, which delighted his many scholarly hearers. It was erudite and eloquent to a remarkable degree.

The pastor made a recent visit to Mr. D. H. Mulford, at his home, Vineland, N. J. He is much better than he was two weeks ago, but is still very weak.

Mrs. O. S. Teale is again improving in health, and the dear ones of the home are again cheered with hope. She has been a patient sufferer for years. If tender nursing, medical skill, and many prayers avail, she will soon recover. She and her estimable family have the sincere sympathy of a very large circle of Christian friends.

There are many expressions of satisfaction concerning our choir music. It is certainly one of the most attractive features of our service, and much credit is due Chorister Davis and his excellent choir.

To Miss Annie Mabon we are much indebted for the beautiful Autumn leaves which adorned the "Autumnal Souvenirs," and also to the bevy of nimble-fingered young ladies who worked with leaves and ribbons.

Miss Emma McGee did not give her talk on Alaska at the Epworth League meeting November 1, but will do so Friday evening, Dec. 6.

Mrs. Josephine Tallant, 66 Manning avenue, it still confined to the house. She is a great sufferer.

Bob. Davis is at the Bordentown Military Academy.

The Autumnal service was largely attended and much enjoyed by all. Mrs. Butts' solo, "Sweet Rest at Home," was a marked feature of the occasion.

Mr and Mrs. Abel Stewart. 19 Park place, have been confined to the house for months with illness.

Miss Ida Angleman, who has been so long connected with the office of the C. L. S. C., in this city, has accepted a position with Dr. Hurlbut, in the office of the Epworth League. Her many friends rejoice that Buffalo, N. Y., will now have no attraction for her.

Mrs. E. H. L. Randolph has recently returned from a visit to her old home in Nashville, Tenn. The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph was baptised by the pastor Thursday evening, Nov. 14, at their residence, 28 Putnam avenue.

Mrs. Geo. H. Burgess, and other members of the family, have been confined to the house for weeks with protracted illness.

Miss Alida Allison, of Lodi, Cal., is visiting at the parsonage.

Rev. Dr. M. L. Gates, pastor of the Park M. E. church, Elizabeth, gave a most interesting lecture on Astronomy at a recent meeting of the Epworth League. All who heard him are anxious for him to return and deliver another lecture on the same subject.

Our last church sociable was well attended in spite of the inclement weather. The ladies in charge had a delightful programme, which refreshed both minds and bodies. It was one of the most pleasant sociables we have had for a long time.

—Mr. P. M. French is rebuilding the foundation wall under his mill on Somerset street, and getting ready for the reception of a new set of scales.

Boils, carbuncles, and other skin eruptions indicate that the system is endeavoring to reject poisonous acids, and that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is imperatively needed. It is the most reliable of all blood medicines. Ask your druggist for it, and take no other.

PLAINFIELD GREATER THAN ELIZABETH.

The Commuters of the Latter City Called Upon to Rally and Boycott Those who Recognize Our Greater Consequence.

The following letter to the editor of the New York World, shows how apparent to the eyes of the Elizabethans, has become the rapid advancement of this city. When so competent a judge as the railroad company recognizes it, the inhabitants of the sister city become alarmed and are called upon to rally and force the railroad to help check the progress of Plainfield before Elizabeth is distanced. But as well try to stop the floods of Spring as the marvelous and continued career of this city in beauty, wealth and enterprise.

The letter referred to says:

> I think it is about time we Elizabeth people begin to get our eyes open. The Central road certainly acts as though it were, in the midst of its prosperity, losing its senses. The idea of boycotting "us" and giving the preference to the natives above us (Plainfield)! Commuters, brace up, and if the 5.30 express is not again put on for our convenience, as well as for Plainfield, remember there is another road which we can take. To think that we have got to wait in the evening from 5.15 until 5.45 before we can get a train, unless we take a way train, and we don't propose to do so under any circumstances. Let the railroad bear in mind that we are the people.
>
> Elizabeth, N. J., Nov. 14. SUBSCRIBER.

Relics Worth Having.

Mr. William Newman of West Second street has a relic in the shape of a map of the United States, drawn on parchment, by Miss Susanna Burt in the year 1821, and also a map of Europe, drawn by the same person, a year later.

Miss Burt, who died in January last, was the wife of the late Thos. B. Stillman, and an aunt by marriage to Judge William M. Stillman of this city. During his lifetime Mr. Stillman was one of the owners of the Novelty Iron Works of New York and he was at one time President of the Metropolitan Board of Police. He died about twenty years ago.

After Mrs. Stillman's death in January last, most of her personal effects were sold at auction, and it was in this way that Mr. Newman came in possession of of the relics.

Variety Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wyckoff, of Dunellen, celebrated the ninth anniversary of their marriage, by holding a variety wedding on the evening of October 30. An infant of Mr. and Mrs. Wyckoff was also christened on the same evening. Guests were present from New York, Jersey City, Philadelphia, New Brunswick, Somerville, Bound Brook and Franklin Park.

Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Wynkoop, Mr. and Mrs. Dunham, Mr. and Mrs. Oley, Dr Brakely and wife, Mr. and Mrs Johnson, Mrs. Gray and daughter, Mrs. VanWhy and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen, and Mrs. Quick.

The ceremony of christening the baby was performed by Rev. Mr. Shellenger. During the evening a bountiful collation was provided for the guests, to which all did ample justice.

Denied by the Farmer Himself.

An exaggerated story concerning the alleged brutal treatment of a colored boy by a farmer named Johnson in Washington Valley, recently, has found its way into the Metropolitan journals, and has been copied extensively by the press throughout the country. The story is to the effect that the farmer compelled the boy to wear a muzzle so as to prohibit the latter from drinking milk, and some of the New York papers go so far as to state that the boy was kicked in the face by a cow and killed, and that he was buried without the Coroner even being notified. The truth of the matter is that the boy is alive and well.

Mr. Johnson called at THE PRESS office on Monday, and denied the statements published in the New York papers and copied in the NEWS on Saturday. He says the boy is afflicted with catarrh, and when milking he is in the habit of wearing a cloth over his nose and mouth, so as to prevent any impurities from falling in the milk.

Before You Buy an Overcoat or Ulster be Sure to See the Immense Stock that Geo. Watson & Co., are Now Showing.

They sell the finest grades of handsome trimmed Kersey and Fur Beaver Overcoats for $10, $12 and $15, and all the new colors in warm Shetland Ulsters lined with fine Cassimere for $12, and the stock they are now showing on their second floor is worth taking a day off to see.

Thanksgiving week all cutting and making will be suspended, and their entire building and their new Market street extension will be thrown open to display their immense stock, which you should not fail to see before you buy. Watson & Co. put the full fashion plate cut on every garment, as they sell the best dressed young men in Newark, who want the full style in cut and trimming.

If you are in Newark on Thanksgiving day you'll find them open until noon, and they will show you more Overcoats, Ulsters and Suits for men and boys, than you'll look at, and astonish you with their low prices. Don't let any Salesman talk you into buying an Overcoat or Ulster until you see what Watson & Co. can show you, and make no mistake in their store, which is 795 Broad street, lately extended in the rear through to 166 and 168 Market street. They have no branch stores to break up their stock.—Newark Press.

A Monument Committee Meeting.

The members of the Soldiers' Monument Committee, held a meeting in Winfield Scott Post room on Saturday evening, but the result of the meeting was not made public. It is understood, however, that the committee appointed to select a site, have abandoned the scheme to secure the plot in front of the Crescent Avenue church, and have decided upon another site, which, they claim, is equally as desirable.

A committee of three, consisting of Messrs M. W. Tyler, J. E. Tracy and Gen. Negley, was appointed to select a design for the monument, and the meeting adjourned for a fortnight.

The erection of a Soldiers' monument in this city is now assured, and the residents here may soon expect to see erected a handsome granite structure in commemoration of the fallen heroes. The Monument Committee consists of eighteen persons, most of whom were present at the meeting on Saturday evening.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, Full weight.

CLEVELAND BROTHERS, ALBANY, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, New York—[illegible] 9-7 1y

Indigestion

Is not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

A VOICE [illegible] (Signed) W. H. GARRISON.

[illegible]

Shall we start YOU in this business, [illegible]

Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., AUGUSTA, MAINE. 34-1y

CARNEY BROS.,

11 SOMERSET ST.

TINNERS,

PLUMBERS,

GAS FITTERS.

PARLOR STOVES,

COOK STOVES,

HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.

Tinware Made to Order.

Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces.

SANITARY PLUMBING.

HOW CAN THE LONG BE THE SHORT ?

A line may be a very long one and yet be the shortest between given points. For instance, the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has over 3,000 miles of road, magnificently equipped and managed, and is one of the greatest railway systems of this country; for the same reasons it is the traveler's favorite to all points in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana. It is the only line to Great Falls, the future manufacturing center of the Northwest; to the fertile free lands of the Milk River Valley; and offers a choice of three routes to the Coast. Still it is the shortest line between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Fargo, Winnipeg, Crookston, Moorhead, Casselton, Grafton, Fergus Falls, Wahpeton, Devils Lake and Butte City. It is the best route to Alaska, China and Japan; and the journey to the Pacific Coast, Vancouver, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco will be remembered as the delight of a life-time, once made through the wonderful scenery of the Manitoba-Pacific Route. To fish and hunt; to view the magnificence of nature; to revive the spirit; restore the body; to realize the dream of the home seeker, the gold-seeker, the toiler, or the capitalist, visit the country reached by the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway. Write to F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A., St. Paul, Minn., for maps, books and guides. If you want a free farm in a lovely land, write for the "Great Reservation," read it and resolve to accept the rich gift.

HAND OF FORTUNE!

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST.

PECK'S CORNER.

You Will Have Something

TO BE

Thankful For

If You Buy Your Goods

AT PECK'S!

A PROBLEM!

One would suppose from the really small quantity of good Clothing that is made and sold, compared to the enormous quantity of trash, that there was a patent on the article. It's really a problem why dealers care to sell so much poor clothing. Of course, there's more profit on trash than on a good article. AT THE TIME, that is; but the renewed and continued patronage of the come-again customers more than make up to the merchant the seeming loss in the single transaction.

Now, we don't pretend that we are the only firm from which a good article can be purchased; but we insist that the great bulk of Ready-made Clothing is a most inferior article, and not, as ours is, as near perfect as can be. For illustrations of what we mean, we invite your attention to our NOBBY ALL-WOOL SUITS at $10, or our Blue and Black CHINCHILLA OVERCOATS at $12, $15 and $20; or those BLACK DIAGONAL CUTAWAY COATS and VESTS at $10, $12 and $13; or the Nobby Style and Cut of our CHILDREN'S CLOTHING.

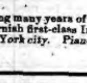
☞ See the KNEE PANT SUITS guaranteed all wool, from $3 up. OVERCOATS for BOYS, YOUTHS or MEN. Style, slick; fit, faultless; materials, multitudinous. You may expect to see here a little improvement on the average run of Clothing in every particular, price included. YOU'LL NOT BE DISAPPOINTED.

McGregor & Co., 850 and 852 Broad St NEWARK, N. J.

A. VANDERBEEK,

(CHAUTAUQUA BUILDING.)

NO. 33 PARK AVENUE, PLAINFIELD, N. J



HAVING DISPOSED OF THE MUSICAL AND SPORTING Goods Department I am now prepared to devote my entire time to the sale and renting o

—PIANOS AND ORGANS—

Having many years of experience in the Piano Trade I am prepared to furnish first-class Instruments as reasonable as they can be had in New York city. Pianos tune. Give me a call before purchasing

PRICE LIST OF THE

EMPIRE STEAM CARPET CLEANING

Feather and Mattress Renovating Works.

Office and Works, 32 East Front Street.

HUGO WEIGMANN, Prop.

Ingrain and 3-Ply,	3c. per yd.	Feather Pillows,	50c. per pair
Tapestry and Brussels,	4c. "	Feather Bolsters,	50c. each
Wilton, Velvet, Moquette and Axminster,	5c. "	Large Feather Bed,	$1.50 each
		Hair steamed and picked,	5c. per lb

GUNNERS' SUPPLIES!

The "Club" Shell Loaded by the U. M. C. Co.

—LOOK AT THE PRICES:—

10 ga 4 or 4 1-4 drs Powder, $1.85 pr 100
12 " 3, 3 1-4 or 3 1-2 " " $1.75 " "

American Wood, Schultze and Deadshot Powder Shells Loaded to Order.

Guns of all Grades and Sizes.

Look at Our $1.00 Hunting Coat.

A. M. Vanderbeek & Co.,

33 PARK AVENUE.

Chautauqua Building, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

ODORLESS EXCAVATOR
CESSPOOLS VAULTS

John Brown,

(Successor to John Burke.)

Cesspools, Vaults, Etc., Etc.,

CLEANED.

Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at CARNEY BROS., No. 1 Somerset street, or addressed to P O Box 716, will receive prompt attention.

GOSSIP OF THE GREAT.

MENELIK III., King of Abyssinia, is the son of a beggar woman who took the fancy of his royal father.

PRINCESS LOUISE, Duchess of Fife, is fond of drawing, and is said to be a really meritorious artist.

THE King of Bavaria receives an income of $1,000,000 a year from the profits of the Hofbraühaus brewery.

THE Grand Duchess Sergius, of Russia, is a distinguished authoress, now writing the lives of the Empresses of Russia.

THE Shah of Persia began a peculiar passion in England. He became infatuated with cape-coats and had a large number made of all colors and from various kinds of materials.

QUEEN VICTORIA doesn't wear a great deal of fur. She has an odd cloak, however, in which she comfortably incases herself when traveling in the cold weather. It is made entirely of ermine, and the [illegible] is outside. The cloak gives her a very regal appearance.

THE Empress and members of the aristocracy of Japan have given up the idea of adopting the Western styles of dress for women. The Parisian models did not please the people in general, and the [illegible] will again be worn exclusively. The great "lady tailoring establishment" in Tokio, which has been under the charge of a Parisian, has closed its doors for lack of work to do.

ACCORDING to the Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin, ex-Empress Frederick took with her to England six large trunks filled with precious articles left by Emperor Frederick. The Prince of Wales will receive the Emperor's chronometer, and Queen Victoria the desk used by him from the beginning of his illness. Each member of the English royal family will also receive a memorial of the deceased monarch.

THE rumor that the Prince of Wales is suffering from Bright's disease seems to be confirmed. There is no doubt that the English royal family is plunged in gloom, and that Victoria is worried about the succession. According to the latest reports the Prince's physicians have informed him that he has not more than two years' lease of life. His trip to Egypt will be undertaken to relieve, if possible, his mind of its present despairing tone. He has always had a presentiment that he would never be King of England, and he is now convinced that his forebodings were correct.

THE young German Emperor has shown himself a most astonishing traveler during his short reign. He came to the throne in June, 1888. Since that time he has spent less time at home than in traveling, having visited the following places: St. Petersburg, Denmark, Sweden, Frankfort, Sonderburg, Dresden, Detmold, Stuttgart, Munich, Vienna, Rome, Naples, Hamburg, Leipzig, Breslau, Wilhelmshaven, Berlin, Buckeburg, Posen, Oldenburg, Schwerin, Weimar, Eisenach, Kiel, Brunswick, Sigmaringen, Norway, England, Bayreuth, Karlsruhe, Strasburg, Metz, Munster, Dresden, Minden and Hanover.

ABOUT PEOPLE OF NOTE.

MRS. SHAW, the American whistler, has lately had a photograph of herself taken in London for exhibition. It is over nine feet high and is probably the largest ever printed.

THOMAS A. EDISON made a strong impression in England through his conservatism. He is not fond of what is called "society," and his refusal to be lionized added to his dignity in the eyes of exclusive Britishers.

EX-GOVERNOR WILLIAM PITT KELLOGG thinks he has broken the record as a transatlantic traveler. He turned up at his New York hotel the other day after an absence of twenty-eight days, during which he had spent two days in London, a week at the Paris exposition and half a day at Berlin.

THE pension agent at Chicago is Mrs. Marion A. Mulligan, widow of Colonel Mulligan, who was killed at [illegible] W. Va., in 1864. For three years she has administered the affairs of her responsible office with remarkable [illegible], and in that time nearly [illegible] has passed through her hands.

MR. LEWIS MORRIS was chosen to write an ode to Queen Victoria on her recent visit to Wales. This makes of him a sort of lesser laureate, and it is thought not improbable that on the death of Lord Tennyson he will be promoted to that post. As he is a personal friend of the Prince of Wales the rumor is not without probability.

THE only gift, so far as known, that Jay Gould ever made to a church hangs in the belfry of the little wooden church at Roxbury, N. Y. It is a large, deep toned bell, which cost Mr. Gould $[illegible]. The villagers are very proud of the gift, and they will point out to visitors a weather-beaten farm-house, about five miles from the town, where Mr. Gould was born.

A [illegible] was given in honor of Mrs. Cleveland by her college mates during her recent trip to Buffalo. The refreshments were crackers passed around in paper bags, and the pickles were [illegible], while sardines were eaten with fingers instead of forks, and relished as in the old days of dormitories and early rising. The occasion was enlivened by reminiscences of school day escapades, when oysters were fried over a gas-jet and cheese toasted on hairpins.

AN English reporter, interviewing Mme. Bernhardt, asked: "Where are the pretty little dogs, madame?" "Ah, the dear doggies," she said; "I had to leave them in Paris. The poor little tiger, you know, is dead. I grieved for him much—more than my friends did, I am afraid." "And the famous coffin with the satin linings. Have you that still?" "Oh, yes; that is in Paris, too." "Is it true, madame, that you used to sleep in it?" "Well, yes, I did sleep in it, but not always. It was this way: My sister was very ill. I wanted to be with her at night, and, not being able to share her bed, I had the coffin carried into her room and slept there. I keep the coffin still, but I have come to the conclusion that I will not be buried in it. I will be cremated."

MIRTHFUL MORSELS.

A WELL-KNOWN Cardinal says a gentleman is one who never inflicts pain. On which a wit remarks: "This is hard on the dentists."

A CLERGYMAN one hot Sunday, observing a deacon asleep in church, called out: "Brother Austin, please open the window a little." Physicians say it is unhealthy to sleep in a hot room.

A NERVOUS gentleman, noticing a physician, ran to hide behind a wall. Being asked the cause he replied: "It is so long since I have been sick that I am afraid to look a physician in the face."

"AFTER all," remarked the student of Scripture, "Samson was the greatest dramatic actor who ever lived." "How do you make that out?" queried the listener. "Why, no man," explained the speaker, "ever brought down the house as he did."

A MAN wrote to a friend in Greece asking him to purchase books. From negligence or avarice he neglected to enclose the commission; but, fearing that the correspondent might be offended, he exclaimed when next they met: "My dear friend, I never got the letter you wrote me about the books."

GOVERNMENT CLERK (to boon friend)—"Just got myself into a horrible mess. I went yesterday to see two doctors, and obtained from each a medical certificate—one a certificate of health for the life insurance company and the other a certificate of illness to enclose in my petition for leave of absence. And then, if I didn't go and put them into the wrong envelopes!"

MRS. CRIMSON MOUNTAIN—"Now, papa, do be careful at dinner and don't [illegible] before Mr. [illegible] servant." MR. M.—"Yes, Phineas, [illegible] those little points in that book about etiquette that I have been reading to you." MR. M.—"Well, [illegible] all right. You [illegible] with a fork for nobody."

"ISN'T it glorious weather?" he said to the man on his left on the [illegible] platform. "I will look into the [illegible] and see," was the quiet reply. "My liver is out of order," continued the other. "Take some blue mass at once." "That was a rather queer conversation."

[illegible] a passenger who had overheard it, after the [illegible] man had [illegible]. "Oh, I had to, judge," replied the officer. "After I had spoken at the [illegible] I recognized him as a lawyer. He was going to write an opinion and send me a bill. I'm a doctor and so I gave him medical advice as an offset."

SATIRICAL SQUIBS.

THE model husbands are the men who never marry.

IT is an unfeeling married man who declares that his wife is always pensive when she is not expensive.

WHEN you are parting with an acquaintance and he says: "Oh, by the [illegible]" get out your pocket-book.

NOTHING ever causes a young man greater surprise than to find out that some one has fallen in love with his sister.

A WRONG diagnosis.—Physician—"I think your liver is out of order." Billings—"Hardly. Never is always in order. [illegible]."

THAT slippers are now made of paper and shingles of stone is, in the mind of the small boy, ample confirmation of the law of compensation.

"[illegible], kin I git de job ob cleanin' out dis yeah bank?" "[illegible], my good man. You are too late. The cashier has already attended to that."

IT was very uncalled for in the old bachelor, who was told that a certain lady had "one foot in the grave," to ask "if there wasn't room for both feet."

WHEN a young lady begins to manifest an interest in the arrangement of a young man's cravat he wants to be as careful as he can possibly be or he is gone.

LITTLE DICK—"Do you go to circuses? Circuses is wicked." Little Jack—"Yes, the big shows is wicked, but the [illegible] shows ain't. Pop always takes us to them."

THERE are two great needs of our present civilization—a flannel shirt that will not shrink and a white vest that can be washed without losing its respectability.

ROBBER—"I have you in my power! I am the king of the outlaws! Hand out the cash!" Cashier—"I have never seen you before. You will have to be identified before we can do business."

A GUSHING [illegible] (Pa.) man who made application for a marriage license stated on oath that "hunting for money" was his occupation, and that of his prospective wife was "home adornment."

MANUSCRIPTS OF AUTHORS.

GEORGE SAND wrote neatly upon nicely ruled note paper.

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON'S manuscript verses are easily deciphered.

CHARLOTTE BRONTE wrote in the minutest of characters in a diminutive note book.

MISS ALCOTT did some of her best work on the back of her father's old manuscript.

SOME of Mark Twain's jokes are said to have originally occupied entire sheets of cardboard.

CHARLES DICKENS covered every inch of his manuscript, as though paper were scarce and dear.

DOUGLAS JERROLD jotted down his witty inspirations on narrow, ribbon-like strips of blue paper.

THE novelists, Charles Reade and Victor Hugo, preferred immense sheets of paper, with a blunt lead pencil.

BOTH William Black and R. D. Blackmore cover dainty sheets of note paper with their almost microscopic chirography.

LEW WALLACE writes his first draft upon a slate and finishes upon large sheets of white [illegible] paper, in a [illegible] faultless chirography.

OUIDA covers large sheets of blue paper with an almost undecipherable chirography, written in an exceedingly bold and masculine hand.

MISS BRADDON is stated to have penned some of her most thrilling passages on torn envelopes or any other bit of paper that came to hand.

WILKIE COLLINS wrote on very large sheets of paper, and his copy is said to abound in alterations, excisions and [illegible] of pasted manuscript.

MRS. LUCY STONE BLACKWELL was accustomed to write her editorials for the Woman's Journal on the backs of circulars and similar scraps of waste paper.

MR. SHORTHOUSE, the author of "John Inglesant," is reported to have violated all the canons of the printing office by sending in copy for that once popular novel written on both sides of paper of various sizes.

HUMORS OF THE IRISH.

"ABRAM! Where will you find a modern building that has lasted as long as the old ones?"

"He's so thin I'd hardly know him. You're thin and I'm thin, but he's thinner than both of us put together."

A PARTY at cards. One player remarked—"Here is a shilling short." "Who put it in?" asked an Irishman present.

AN Irishwoman, uninvited to a wake—"Well, well, I'll have a corpse of my own in my house some day, an' thin you'll see who'll be invited."

A PATIENT woman, who was being commiserated for having lost all her teeth—"Shure, an' isn't it time to lose thim whin I've nothing for thim to do?"

"PAT," said a field officer, "go to your captain and tell him you're the laziest [illegible] in the regiment." "[illegible], yer honor, wud ye have me go to the captain wid a lie in me mouth?"

A MEDITERRANEAN TRIP.

SERMON PREACHED BY REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE, SUNDAY, NOV. 17.

"And So It Came to Pass That They Escaped All Safe to Land"—Acts xxvii, 44. [illegible]

BRINDISI, Nov. 17.—The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., preached in this Italian port today. His subject was "A Mediterranean Voyage," and he took for his text Acts xxvii, 44: "And so it came to pass, that they escaped all safe to land." Dr. Talmage said:

[illegible]

angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serve, saying, Fear not, Paul; thou must be brought before Cæsar: and, lo, God hath given thee all them that sail with thee."

[illegible] midnight. [illegible] the darkness [illegible] flash of lightning, [illegible] of the breakers, and know they must be coming near to some country, and [illegible] in a few moments the vessel will be shivered on the rocks. The ship flies like [illegible] the tornado. They drop the sounding line, and by the light of the lantern they see it is twenty fathoms. Speeding along a little further, they drop the line again, and by the light of the lantern they see it is fifteen fathoms. Two hundred and seventy-six souls within a few feet of awful shipwreck! The managers of the vessel, pretending they want to look over the side of the ship and undergird it, [illegible] in it to escape, but Paul sees through the sham, and he tells them that if they go off in the boat it will be the death of them. The vessel strikes! The planks spring! The timbers crack! The vessel parts in the thundering surge! Oh, what wild struggling for life! Here they leap from plank to plank. Here they go under as if they would never rise, but catching hold of a timber, come floating on it to the beach. Here, strong swimmers spread their arms through the waves until their chins plow the sand, and they rise up and wring out their wet locks on the beach. [illegible] "And so it came to pass, that they escaped all safe to land."

SOME WHOLESOME LESSONS.

I learn from this subject:

First, that those who get us into trouble will not stay to help us out. These shipmen got Paul out of Fair Havens into the storm; but as soon as the tempest dropped upon them they wanted to go off in the small boat, caring nothing for what became of Paul and the passengers. Ah! and human nature is the same in all ages. They who get us into trouble never stay to help us out. They who tempt that young man into a life of dissipation will be the first to laugh at his imbecility, and to drop him out of decent society. Gamblers always make fun of the losses of gamblers. They who tempt you into the contest with fate, saying: "I will back you," will be the first to run. Look over all the predicaments of your life, and count the names of those who have got you into those predicaments, and tell me the name of one who ever helped you out. They were glad enough to get you out from Fair Havens, but when, with damaged rigging, you tried to get into harbor, did they hold for you a plank or throw you a rope? Not one. Satan has got thousands of men into trouble, but he never got one out. He led them into theft, but he would not hide the goods or bail out the defendant. The spider shows the fly the way over the gossamer bridge into the cobweb, but it never shows the fly the way out of the cobweb over the gossamer bridge. I think that there were plenty of the young man to help the prodigal spend his money; but when he had wasted his substance in riotous living, they let him go to the swine pasture, while they betook themselves to some other new comer. They who took Paul out of Fair Havens will be of no help to him when he gets into the breakers of Melita.

I remark again, as a lesson learned from the text, that it is dangerous to refuse the counsel of competent advisers. Paul told them not to go out with that ship. They thought he knew nothing about it. They said: "He is only a minister." They went, and the ship was destroyed. There are a great many people who now say of ministers: "They know nothing about the world. They cannot talk to us." Ah, my friends, it is not necessary to have the Asiatic cholera before you can give it medical treatment to others. It is not necessary to have your arm broken before you can know how to splinter a fracture. And we who stand in the pulpit and in the office of a Christian teacher know that there are certain styles of belief and certain kinds of behavior that will lead to destruction as certainly as Paul knew that if that ship went out of Fair Havens it would go to destruction. "Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth; and let thy heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth; but know thou, that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment." We may not know much, but we know that.

Young people refuse the advice of parents. They say: "Father is over suspicious and mother is getting old." But those parents have been on the sea of life. They know where the storms sleep, and during their voyage have seen a thousand battered hulks marking the place where beauty burned and intellect foundered and morality sank. They are old sailors, having answered many a signal of distress; and endured great stress of weather, and gone scudding under bare poles, and the old folks know what they are talking about. Look at that man—in his cheek the glow of infernal fires. His eye flashes not as once with thought, but with low passion. His brain is a sewer through which impurity floats, and his heart the trough in which lust wallows and drinks. Men shudder as the upper passes, and parents cry "Wolf! Wolf!" Yet he once said the Lord's prayer at his mother's knee, and against that iniquitous brow once pressed a pure mother's lip. But he refused her counsel. He went where [illegible] have their lair. He foundered on the sea, while all hell echoed at the roar of the wreck. Lost Pacific! Lost Pacific!

THE SAFETY OF CHRISTIANS.

Another lesson from the subject is that Christians are always safe.

There did not seem to be much chance for Paul getting out of that shipwreck, did there? They had not, in those days, rockets with which to throw ropes over foundering vessels. Their lifeboats were of but little worth. And yet, notwithstanding all the danger, my text says that Paul escaped safe to land. And so it will always be with God's children. They may be plunged into darkness and trouble, but by the throne of the Eternal God, I assert it, "they shall all escape safe to land."

Sometimes there comes a storm of commercial disaster. The cables break. The masts fall. The cargoes are scattered over the sea. Oh! what struggling and leaping on logs, and hogsheads, and corn bins, and store shelves! And yet, though they may have it so very hard in commercial circles, the good, trusting in God, all come safe to land.

Wreckers go out on the ocean's beach, and find the shattered hulks of vessels; and on the streets of our great cities there is many a wreck. Mammon sits with banker's pen. Hulks abound and on insurance counters. Vast credits sinking, having suddenly sprung a leak. Yet all of them who are God's children shall at last, through His goodness and mercy, escape safe to land. The Scandinavian warriors used to drink wine out of the skulls of the enemies they had slain. Even so will God help us, out of the conquered ills and disasters of life, to drink sweetness and strength for our souls.

You have, my friends, had illustrations in your own life of how God delivers his people. I have had illustrations in my own life of the same truth. I was once in what on your Mediterranean you call a Euroclydon, but what on the Atlantic we call a cyclone, but the same storm. The steamer Greece of the National line swung out into the river Mersey at Liverpool, bound for New York. We had on board seven hundred, crew and passengers. We came together, strangers—Italians, Englishmen, Irishmen, Swedes, Norwegians, Americans. Two flags floated from the masts—British and American ensigns. We had a new vessel, or one so thoroughly remodeled that the voyage had around it all the uncertainties of a trial trip. The great steamer felt its way cautiously out into the sea. The pilot was discharged, and, committing ourselves to the care of Him who holdeth the winds in His fist, we were fairly started on our voyage of three thousand miles. It was rough nearly all the way, the sea with strong buffeting disputing our path. But one night at 11 o'clock, after the lights had been put out, a cyclone—a wind just made to tear ships to pieces—caught us in its clutches. It came down so suddenly that we had not time to take in the sails or to fasten the hatches. You may know that the bottom of the Atlantic is strewn with the ghastly work of cyclones. Oh! they are cruel winds. They have hot breath, as though they came up from infernal furnaces. Their merriment is the cry of affrighted passengers. Their play is the foundering of steamers. And when a ship goes down they laugh until both continents hear them. They go in circles, or, as I describe them with my hand—riding on! riding on! with finger of terror writing on the white sheet of the wave this sentence of doom: "Let all that range within this circle perish! Brigantines, go down! Clippers, go down! Steamships, go down!" And the vessel, hearing the terrible voice, crouches in the surf, and as the waters gurgle through the hatches and portholes it lowers away, thousands of feet down, farther and farther, until at last it strikes the bottom, and all is [illegible], for they have landed. Helmsman, dead at the wheel! Engineer, dead amidst the extinguished furnaces! Captain, dead in the gangway! Passengers, dead in the cabin! Buried in the great cemetery of dead steamers, beside the City of Boston, the Lexington, the President, the Cambria—waiting for the archangel's trumpet to split up the decks, and wrench open the cabin doors, and unfasten the hatches.

PERILS NOT TO BE MADE LIGHT OF.

I thought that I had seen storms on the sea before; but all of them together might have come under one wing of that cyclone. We were only eight or nine hundred miles from home, and in high expectation of soon seeing our friends, for there was no one on board so poor as not to have a friend. But it seemed as if we were to be disappointed. The most of us expected then and there to die. There were some who made light of the peril; there was one man, an Englishman, and he, who [illegible] and he was a fool! Oh! what a time it was! A night to make one's hair turn white. We came out of the berths and stood in the gangway, and looked into the steerage, and out to the cabin. While seated there we heard overhead something like minute guns. It was the bursting of the sails. We held on by both hands to keep our places. Those who attempted to cross the floor came back bruised and gashed. Cups and glasses were dashed to fragments; pieces of the table getting loose swung across the saloon. It seemed as if the hurricane took that great ship of thousands of tons and stood it on end, and said: "Shall I sink it, or let it go this once?" And then it came down with such force that the billows trampled over it, each one seemed of a fury. We felt that everything depended on the propelling screw. If that stopped for an instant, we knew the vessel would fall off into the trough of the sea, and sink, and so we prayed that the screw, which three times since leaving Liverpool had already stopped, might not stop now. Oh! how anxiously we listened for the regular thump of the machinery, upon which our lives seemed to depend. After awhile some one said: "The screw is stopped." No; its sound had only been overpowered by the uproar of the tempest, and we breathed easier again when we heard the regular pulsations of the overtasked machinery, going thump, thump, thump. At 3 o'clock in the morning the water swept the ship from prow to stern, and the skylights gave way! The deluge rushed in, and we felt that one or two more waves like that must swamp us forever. As the water rolled back and forward in the cabins, and dashed against the wall, it sprang half way up to the ceiling. Rushing through the skylights as it came in with such terrific roar, there went up from the cabin a shriek of horror which I pray God I may never hear again. I have dreamed the whole scene over again, but God has mercifully kept me from hearing that one cry. Into it seemed to be compressed the agony of expected shipwreck. It seemed to say: "I shall never get home again! My children shall be orphaned, and my wife shall be widowed! I am launching now into eternity! In two minutes I shall meet my God!"

There were about five hundred and fifty passengers in the steerage; and as the water rushed in and touched the furnaces, and began violently to hiss, the poor creatures in the steerage imagined that the boilers were giving way. Those passengers writhed in the water and in the mud, some praying, some crying, all terrified. They made a rush for the deck. An officer stood on deck, and beat them back with blow after blow. It was necessary. They would not have stood an instant on the deck. Oh, how they begged to get out of the hold of the ship! One woman, with a child in her arms, rushed up and caught hold of one of the officers, and cried: "Do let me out! I will help you! Do let me out! I cannot die here!" Some got down and prayed to the Virgin Mary, saying: "O blessed Mother! keep us! Have mercy on us!" Some stood with white lips and fixed gaze, silent in their terror. Some wrung their hands and cried out: "O God! what shall I do? what shall I do?" The time came when the crew could no longer stay on the deck, and the cry of the officers was: "Below! All hands below!" Our brave and sympathetic Captain Andrews—whose praise I shall not cease to speak while I live—had been swept by the hurricane from his bridge, and had escaped very narrowly with his life. The cyclone seemed to stand on the deck, waving its wing, crying: "This ship is mine! I have captured it! Ha! ha! I will command it! If God will permit, I will sink it here and now! By a thousand shipwrecks, I swear the doom of this vessel!" There was a lull in the storm; but only that it might gain additional fury. Crash! went the lifeboat on one side. Crash! went the lifeboat on the other side. The great booms got loose, and, as with the heft of a thunderbolt, pounded the deck and beat the mast—the jibboom, studding sail boom, and square sail boom, with their strong arms, beating time to the awful march and music of the hurricane.

Meanwhile the ocean became phosphorescent. The whole scene looked like fire. The water dripping from the rigging; there were ropes of fire, and there were masts of fire, and there was a deck of fire. A ship of fire, sailing on a sea of fire, through a night of fire. May I never see anything like it again!

PRAYERS FROM ALL.

Everybody prayed. A lad of twelve years of age got down and prayed for his mother. "If I should give up," he said, "I do not know what would become of mother." There were men who, I think, had not prayed for thirty years who then got down on their knees. When a man who has neglected God all his life feels that he has come to his last time it makes a very busy night. All of our sins and shortcomings passed through our minds. My own life seemed utterly unsatisfactory. I could only say: "Here, Lord, take me as I am; I cannot mend matters now. Lord Jesus, thou didst die for the chief of sinners. That's me! It seems, Lord, as if my work is done, and poorly done, and upon thy infinite mercy I cast myself, and in this hour of shipwreck and darkness commit myself and her whom I hold by the hand to thee, O Lord Jesus! praying that it may be a short struggle in the water, and that at the same instant we may both arrive in glory!" Oh! I tell you a man prays straight to the mark when he has a cyclone above him, an ocean beneath him, and eternity so close to him that he can feel its breath on his cheek.

The night was long. At last we saw the dawn looking through the portholes. As in the olden time, in the fourth watch of the night, Jesus came walking on the sea, from wave cliff to wave cliff, and when he puts his foot upon a billow, though it may be tossed up with might, it goes down. He cried to the winds, hush! They knew his voice. The waves knew his foot. They died away. And in the shining track of his feet I read these letters on scrolls of foam and fire, "The earth shall be filled with the knowledge of God as the waters cover the sea." The ocean calmed. The path of the steamer became more and more mild; until, on the last morning out, the sun threw about us a glory such as I never witnessed before. God made a pavement of mosaic, reaching from horizon to horizon, for all the splendors of earth and heaven to walk upon—a pavement bright enough for the foot of a seraph—bright enough for the wheels of the archangel's chariot. As a parent embraces a child, and kisses away its grief, so over that sea, that had been writhing in agony in the tempest, the morning threw its arms of beauty and of benediction; and the lips of earth and heaven met.

As I came on deck—it was very early, and we were nearing the shore—I saw a few sails against the sky. They seemed like the spirits of the night walking the billows. I leaned over the taffrail of the vessel, and said: "Thy way, O God, is in the sea, and Thy path in the great waters."

It grew lighter. The clouds were hung in purple clusters along the sky; and, as if those purple clusters were pressed into red wine and poured out upon the sea, every wave turned into crimson. Yonder, fire-cleft stood opposite to fire-cleft; and here, a cloud, rent and tinged with light, seemed like a palace, with flames bursting from the windows. The whole scene lighted up, until it seemed as if the angels of God were ascending and descending upon stairs of fire, and the wave crests, changed into jasper, and crystal, and amethyst, as they were flung toward the beach, made me think of the crowns of heaven cast before the throne of the great Jehovah. I leaped over the taffrail again, and said, with more emotion than before: "Thy way, O God, is in the sea, and Thy path in the great waters!"

So, I thought, will be the going off of the storm and night of the Christian's life. The darkness will fold its tents and away! The golden feet of the rising morn will come skipping upon the mountains, and all the wrathful billows of the world's woe break into the splendor of eternal joy. And so we came into the harbor. The cyclone behind us. Our friends before us. God, who is always good, all around us! And if the roll of the crew and the passengers had been called, seven hundred souls would have answered to their names. "And so it came to pass that we all escaped safe to land." And may God grant that, when all our Sabbaths on earth are ended, we may find that, through the rich mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ, we all have weathered the gale!

Into the harbor of heaven now we glide,
Home at last!
Softly we drift on its bright silver tide,
[illegible]
[illegible]
Home at last!

BOARD OF CHOSEN FREEHOLDERS.

[OFFICIAL.]

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. [illegible], 1889.

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County was held on Thursday, Oct. 3, [illegible].

Present—Director Hubbard, and Freeholders Briant, Doty, Donahue, Howard, Houston, Jones, Kyte, Kleinhans, Pierson, Thompson, Vanderbeek, Van Saun, Wright, West, Whaley—16.

Absent—Freeholder Roll—1.

The minutes of last meeting were read and on motion approved.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From E. L. F. Coleman, city clerk, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Chas. E. Reed, Esq., clerk board of freeholders:

DEAR SIR—As there will be no city officers voted for at the coming election the county is expected to furnish the stationery, books, etc., required by the election boards of this city.

On motion of Freeholder Doty received and placed on file.

From Summit Record:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union:

GENTLEMEN:—I hereby notify you that I am the owner of the paper known as the Summit Record, published at Summit, N. J., and have the right to publish a paper under that name.

You will please refuse to pay to any other person than the undersigned any moneys on account of the publication of the minutes of your proceedings from the 21st day of September, 1889. Any paper bearing a title similar to that named above, published by any other person than the undersigned is so published in violation of my rights, and is an infringement of my title.

Very respectfully,
THOMAS F. LANE.

Dated Oct. 2, 1889.

On motion of Freeholder Kyte received and placed on file.

From county attorney:

To the board of chosen freeholders of the county of Union:

GENTLEMEN:—A bill of James J. Carey, a court officer, amounting to $22.50, was referred to me for my opinion.

On examining into the matter I find he was one of the constables appointed by the court of common pleas, in addition to those selected by the sheriff. The court have power in such cases, where the necessities of the court require it.

See supplement to revision, page 181.

See Cox vs. Passaic Common Pleas, 16 Vroom 328.

The court having the power are the best judges whether the county should be put to this expense, and are therefore presumed to be responsible for their own action.

The freeholders are, in my opinion, perfectly justified in paying bills of this nature, and it is an open question whether they would not be compelled to where the bill is properly certified to by the court.

See Knight vs. Freeholders of Ocean 19, Vroom 77.

See Lindabury vs. Freeholders of Ocean 18, Vroom 417.

This bill I would say should therefore be paid if properly certified by the court. It should receive the approval of the presiding judge in addition to the one already certifying to it, as that constitutes the court which appointed him. The act above requires the court to appoint, and the bill caused thereby should also be approved by them.

Very respectfully,
C. D. WARD,
County Attorney.

Dated Oct. 3, 1889.

On motion of Freeholder Kleinhans received and placed on file.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

From committee on county collector.

To the board of chosen freeholders of the county of Union.

GENTLEMEN:—Your committee to settle with the collector would respectfully report that we have examined his books showing his receipts and disbursements, together with his vouchers bonds and coupons paid, and bank books, and find that the same agree and are correct to Sept. 30, 1889.

His receipts and disbursements to that date were as follows:

Receipts	$66,566.31
Disbursements	44,417.37
Balance in his hands	$22,148.94

J. MARTIN ROLL,
JAMES T. PIERSON,
P. D. VAN SAUN,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Vanderbeek received and placed on file.

From committee on county road bonds.

To the board of chosen freeholders of the county of Union:

GENTLEMEN:—The committee on county road bonds, would respectfully report that they have disposed of the "county road bonds" after extensively advertising the same, and receiving sealed bids for the same, as follows:

To George A. Benwell the sum of $135,000 at 24.100 of one per cent. over par, and the Union County Savings bank the sum of $15,000 at one per cent over par.

[illegible]
WILLIAM HOWARD,
A. VANDERBEEK,
P. D. VAN SAUN,
Committee.

Dated October 3, 1889.

On motion of Freeholder Doty received and placed on file.

RESOLUTIONS.

By Freeholder Pierson:

Resolved, That the bill of James J. Carey, amounting to $22.50, be paid when properly approved by the court of common pleas.

Freeholder Thompson moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Jones:

Resolved, That the thanks of this board be extended to County Collector E. M. Wood for his kindness in presenting to the members of this board neatly bound volumes containing the general public laws passed by the one hundred and thirteenth legislature.

On motion of Freeholder West adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Pierson:

Resolved, That the county collector be authorized to pay A. B. Clark five hundred dollars on account of contract for Mountain-ave bridge, near W. H. Holmes, Westfield, when properly audited by the committee.

Freeholder Thompson moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Kleinhans:

Resolved, That the county collector be authorized to pay to Walter Armitage $274.40 as per contract for repairing Westfield-ave bridge, Elizabeth, N. J., when the same has been properly audited and approved by the committee.

Freeholder Vanderbeek moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Thompson:

Resolved, That the county collector be authorized to advance two thousand dollars to the sheriff on account of the October term of court.

Freeholder Vanderbeek moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder West:

Resolved, That the bills presented by the committee of county assessors for assessing the county tax in the city of Elizabeth, amounting to $1,539.40 and the bill for assessing the county tax in the city of Rahway, amounting to $653.80, be paid to C. D. Ward, county attorney, to be paid over to the proper persons entitled to the same.

Freeholder Houston moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted as follows:

Ayes—Director Hubbard and Freeholders Briant, Doty, Houston, Jones, Kyte, Kleinhans, Pierson, Thompson, Vanderbeek, Van Saun, West, Whaley—13.

Nays—Freeholders Howard, Wright—2.

Absent—Freeholders Donahue, Roll—2.

By Freeholder Howard:

Resolved, That the bill of Ryder & Fowler, amounting to $73.27, be paid when properly sworn to and approved by the public building committee.

Freeholder Van Saun moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Kyte:

Resolved, That the bill of Alfred Bonnell for lumber, amounting to $66.08 for Fanwood bridges, be paid when properly audited and approved.

Freeholder West moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Vanderbeek:

WHEREAS, It appearing that during the last freshet the course of Green Brook through the city of Plainfield was changed, so that instead of the brook flowing directly under the bridge over Washington avenue, as heretofore; it now flows directly up against the parapet wall adjoining said bridge, and in case of another freshet there is great danger of the wall and in fact of the whole bridge being destroyed, at a great loss to the county, and in order that the same may be protected and preserved; therefore be it

Resolved, That the committee on Plainfield bridges are hereby authorized to take such action as necessary to restore the said brook to its original course and all such other steps as may be deemed advisable to protect and preserve said bridge or wall, provided the consent of the property owners be first obtained.

Freeholder West moved to amend by directing the committee to confer with the Somerset County Board of Freeholders.

On roll call the amendment was adopted unanimously.

Freeholder Kyte moved the resolution as amended be adopted.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Van Saun:

WHEREAS, It appearing that the attorneys of the township of Cranford and John A. Morrow having agreed that the appeal taken by said Morrow to this Board was well taken; therefore be it

Resolved, That his appeal from the notice served upon him by the township committee of the township of Cranford, which was set down for this day because the same is hereby sustained and said notice declared inoperative and void.

Freeholder West moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

Freeholder West moved to reconsider action on communication from City Clerk E. L. F. Coleman, of Elizabeth.

Carried.

Freeholder West moved the communication be received and referred to the legal committee and county attorney with power.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

The following bills audited and approved were read and ordered paid by a unanimous vote:

Public Building Account—Elizabethtown Water Co., $62.50; J. P. Brophy, 20; Albert Smith, 141.05; David H. Chatfield, 10; Elizabethtown Gas Light Co., 30.28; Ryder & Fowler, 73.27.

County Roads—F. A. Dunham, $767.50.

Court—T. F. McCormick, $291.67; Cook & Hall, 21; B. M. Rogers, 16; John M. C. Marsh, 125.57; Louis S. Hyer, 50; Wm. E. Wilson, 250; F. F. Glasby, sheriff, 165.20; do., 2.50; do., 379.05.

Salary—Chas. E. Reed, $25.

Stationery—H. B. Rollinson, $10; John W. Dunn, 66.70; do., 94.25.

Jail—Reeder Bros. $49.12; J. W. Hildebrant & Co., 67.66; Henry J. Schmidt, 5.50; Jas. O. Brokaw, 12.19; M. S. Newberry, 45.12; John Klippel, 5; C. A. Harris, 64.13.

Incidentals—E. M. Wood, $25.48; Chas. E. Reed, 14; Geo. C. Ford, 35; John L. Crowell, 130.46.

Committee Expense Account—John J. Donahue, $5.90; A. Vanderbeek, 22.45; Chas. D. Whaley, 4.15; Wm. H. Briant, 8.25; Bradford Jones, 7.30.

Members' Pay Account—W. H. Briant, $36; John J. Donahue, 40; Frank Kleinhans, 121.95; A. Vanderbeek, 200; Robt. G. Houston, 76; Chas. D. Whaley, 26; George Wright, 30.60; James T. Pierson, 44; Bradford Jones, 34.

Bridge Account—D. B. Wade, Union, 85; Wm. Chamberlain, Rahway, 71.15; Wm. Howard, do., 1.20; Wm. H. Shotwell, Plainfield, 66.10; Geo. M. Angleman, do., 30; Henry Garrier, Fanwood, 65.24; do., 19.50; J. W. Hughes, Summit, 5.80; Jas. G. Moore, Cranford, 25; do., 40.10; Phillip Jahn, do., 31.22; Jas. G. Moore, do., 39.50; Phillip Jahn, do., 34.90; do., 28.07; Arthur Doty, New Providence, 7.04; David H. Totten, do., 2; A. B. Clark, Westfield, 49.25; J. H. Urmston, do., 7.50; A. E. Decker, 10; Wm. Chamberlain, Rahway, 2.70; J. W. Hope, Linden, 120; do., 13.35; L. T. Hand, Elizabeth, 7.80; Samuel Murray, do., 224.50; David Bush, 31.25; Wm. E. Ogden, do., 10; John W. Van Pelt, do., 133.33.

SPECIAL DEFICIENCY.

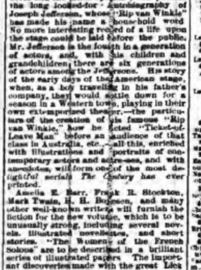
Bridge Account—Wm. Allen, Union, $29.40; Wm. H. Hughes, Rahway, 46; M. J. Boyne, Clark, 46.50; Wm. Hand, Plainfield, 4.38; Finton Hibbits, do., 6.53; A. D. Cook & Bro., do., 126.30; Finton Hibbits, do., 80.75; John B. Whitlock, do., 4; Geo. M. Angleman, do., 20; Brokaw & Cain, do., 16.56; Geo. Steward, 1.50; Chas. M. Mooney, Fanwood, 23.25; John W. Badgeley, Summit, 4.15; Jas. Moore, do., 17.50; Michael Hanafin, do., 12.65; Patrick Murphy, do., 13.50; Michael McGrath, do., 350; Wm. A. Sayre, 40; John H. Pheasant, do., 9.65; Jas. Horner, New Providence, 6; Joseph Frazer, do., 37.50; Geo. B. Long, Westfield, 15.50; Joel Moffett, do., 14.30; Mrs. Ingram, do., 2; J. H. Urmston, do., 11.50; A. E. Decker, do., 15; R. Eustice, do., 2.

Freeholder Vanderbeek moved to adjourn.

Which was carried.

The Director declared the Board adjourned to Thursday, Nov. 7, 1889, at 2:30 P. M.

CHAS. E. REED, Clerk.



JOSEPH JEFFERSON.

"The Century Magazine" in 1890—Joseph Jefferson's Autobiography—Novels by Frank R. Stockton, Amelia E. Barr, and others—A Capital Programme.

DURING 1890 The Century Magazine (whose recent successes have included the famous "War Papers," the Lincoln History and George Kennan's series on "Siberia and the Exile System") will publish the long looked-for Autobiography of Joseph Jefferson, whose "Rip van Winkle" has made his name a household word. No more interesting record of a life upon the stage could be laid before the public. Mr. Jefferson is the fourth in a generation of actors, and, with his children and grandchildren, there are six generations of actors among the Jeffersons. His story of the early days of the American stage, when, as a boy travelling in his father's company, they would settle down for a season in a Western town, playing in their own extemporized theater,—the particulars of the creation of his famous "Rip van Winkle," how he acted "Ticket-of-Leave Man" before an audience of that class in Australia, etc.,—all this, enriched with illustrations and portraits of contemporary actors and actresses, and with anecdotes, will form one of the most delightful serials The Century has ever printed.

Amelia E. Barr, Frank R. Stockton, Mark Twain, H. H. Boyesen, and many other well-known writers will furnish the fiction for the new volume, which is to be unusually strong, including several novels, illustrated novelettes, and short stories. "The Women of the French Salons" are to be described in a brilliant series of illustrated papers. The important discoveries made with the great Lick Telescope at San Francisco (the largest telescope in the world) and the latest explorations relating to prehistoric America (including the famous Serpent Mound, of Ohio) are to be chronicled in The Century. Prof. George P. Fisher of Yale University, is to write a series on "The Nature and Method of Revelation," which will attract every Bible student. Bishop Potter of New York will be one of several prominent writers who are to contribute a series of "Present-day Papers" on living topics, and there will be art papers, timely articles, etc., etc., and the choicest pictures that the greatest artists and engravers can produce.

Every bookseller, postmaster, and subscription agent takes subscriptions to The Century ($4.00 a year), or remittance may be made directly to the publishers, THE CENTURY CO., of New York. Begin new subscriptions with November (the first issue of the volume) and get Mark Twain's story, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," in that number.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE. NOVEMBER 6TH, 1889.

Estate of Sarah M. Latimer, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

NELSON RUNYON,
WILLIAM H. SHOTWELL,
JAMES F. MACDONALD,
Executors.
11-14 w10

NOTICE. NOVEMBER 6TH, 1889.

Estate of Harriet A. Coe, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made on the application of the undersigned, executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

CHARLES S. GUION,
ALFRED A. FREEMAN,
Executors.
11-14-w10

NOTICE. AUGUST 26TH, 1889.

Estate of Huldah L. Allen, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executor of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

JEREMIAH MANNING, Executor.
[illegible]

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To Thomas Ryker.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein [illegible] is complainant and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant, on or before the [illegible] day of [illegible] next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Nancy Ryker and [illegible], dated [illegible], on lands in the township of [illegible], Union county, New Jersey, and you are made defendant because you [illegible].

Dated [illegible]

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Solicitors for Complainant, [illegible]
Plainfield, New Jersey.
[illegible]

LEGAL NOTICES.

1889. TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the Taxpayers of
THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD,
That the Taxes assessed in said city for the year 1889, are now due and payable, and that
If the said Taxes be not paid by the 8th day of December Next,
the names of the defaulters, with their respective Taxes will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution.

The Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council chamber on the FOURTH TUESDAY IN NOVEMBER NEXT (the 26th), and sit from 2 o'clock P. M. until 5 o'clock P. M., or longer if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1, 1889. 10-3-1-w

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors.

SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

Estate of George W. Townley, Deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the twenty-seventh day of September, A. D. 1889, on the application of William H. Shotwell, as Administrator of George W. Townley, deceased: an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of George W. Townley, deceased to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent, under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said Administrator within nine months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor should be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said Administrator.

AB'M T. HUFF, Surrogate.
10-3-9w

RAILROADS.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after Nov. 10, 1889, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, dining car from Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Cleveland and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

[illegible] P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars and dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:47 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—[illegible]

For Philadelphia, [illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

1:39 P. M. (Through car) week-days. For Cape May, [illegible] week-days.

For Trenton—[illegible]

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—[illegible]

For Flemington—[illegible]

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey

Station in New York—Foot of Liberty Street.

Time Table in Effect Nov. 10, 1889.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Easton [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 9.27, a. m., 5 20, p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD

5.12, a. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8.07 a. m. for Flemington, Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9.27 a. m.—For High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

[illegible] p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

[illegible] p. m.—For Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Drifton, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

[illegible] p. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton.

[illegible] p. m.—For Flemington.

[illegible] p. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. [illegible] Sundays, for Easton, Allentown and Mauch Chunk. [illegible] p. m. Sundays, for Easton, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. [illegible] p. m. Sundays, for Easton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City—[illegible]

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

For Perth Amboy—[illegible]

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, [illegible]

For Baltimore and Washington at [illegible]

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA

Ninth and Green streets, [illegible]

From 24th and Chestnut—[illegible]

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker streets, [illegible]

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, Gen'l Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

INSURANCE.

FIRE INSURANCE!

The undersigned having been appointed agent for the

Star and Merchants
Fire Insurance Co's of the City of New York,

are prepared to [illegible]

NATHAN HARPER.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

J. C. Pope & Co.,
GENERAL AGENTS OF THE
German American Ins. Co.,
of New York.

Also represent other first-class Fire Insurance Companies. Agents of the Inman Steamship Line. Drafts on Ireland for sale. First and City National Bank Stock Bought and Sold. Also,

BUILDING LOTS
And Other Real Estate for sale.

OFFICE:
6 E. FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD.
JAMES C. POPE. ELIAS R. POPE.

PEERLESS | THE [illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS | MISCELLANEOUS.

THE FALL OF 1889

BRINGS WITH IT many new styles, and much that is novel and handsome in the line of man's attire. We are exceedingly particular how our clothes are cut and made. The very best Custom Cutters only can secure positions in our employ. While we go in for appearances to the fullest extent, we are ever mindful of quality. If you will call and inspect our Fall Suits and Overcoats for Men and Boys you will note the extreme neatness and evident durability of every Coat, Vest and Pair of Trousers THROUGH THE WHOLE STOCK. We stake our reputation on the thoroughness of our work. You can get a suit for $8, $10, $12, $15 or $18, or an Overcoat, light or medium weight, all shades, silk facings and linings, for $10 or $12. We wish to convince you that our house deserves your custom. It does!

J. MARSHALL & BALL,

CLOTHIERS,

807, 809, 811, 813 BROAD STREET

10-10-3m

PIANOS. PIANOS.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,

Steinway,
(The Standard Piano of the World,)
Emerson,
S. G. Chickering,
Sterling.
And all Standard Makes of
Pianos and Parlor Organs.

Sole Agent for New Jersey for the GABLER Patent Metal Action Frame UPRIGHT PIANOS, the most popular Piano made. Musicians like it, singers like it, the PEOPLE like it, EVERYBODY likes it.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at the lowest prices ever given in Newark. A FIRST-CLASS UPRIGHT PIANO for $200 CASH, or $200 ON INSTALLMENTS. $10 MONTHLY until paid for. TELEPHONE 709.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,
657 AND 659 BROAD STREET, NEWARK, N. J.
12-26-y

SPECIAL NOTICE.

New Store! New Goods! New Firm

BARKALEW & DUNN,

Fancy and Staple Grocers,

NO. 18 NORTH AVENUE

We sell for Cash and will give Special Inducements

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.	Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion, Without injurious medication.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 182 Fulton Street, N. Y.

7-18-3y

A MAN

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE.

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MAGNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels (furnishing meals at seasonable hours) west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake, and Sioux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, General Manager. CHICAGO, ILL. JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass. Agent.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

W. L. FORCE & L. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.

AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.

TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXII. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1889. No. 48.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON, Counsellors-at-Law, [illegible]

GEORGE W. DAY, General Auctioneer, [illegible]

DR. CHARLES S. TAYLOR, Dentist, [illegible]

H. RAND, Auctioneer, [illegible]

OSCAR S. TEALE, Architect, [illegible]

J. S. FOSTER, Veterinary Surgeon, [illegible]

F. A. DUNHAM, Civil Engineer and Surveyor, [illegible]

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale, PIANO TUNER. [illegible]

JOHN CHANDLER, CARPENTER AND BUILDER, [illegible]

LUTKINS & HUMMER, Butter, Eggs & Produce, [illegible]

Plainfield District Telegraph and Fire Alarm Co. [illegible] Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co. [illegible] OFFICE—4 PARK AVENUE. W. S. SLITER, Manager.

TO THE PUBLIC! [illegible] LEHIGH COAL, Fresh from the Mines. [illegible] A. D. COOK & BRO.

J. Hervey Doane, 6 PARK AVENUE. Watches, Clocks And Jewelry! Repairing neatly and promptly done.

Steam Marble Granite Works and Monuments & Headstones, Fencing for Cemetery Plots. Large assortment of Slate Mantels. Large variety of Granite Monuments. [illegible]

Geo. A. Moore, [illegible] NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE, [illegible]

Alex. Willett, DEALER IN BOOTS & SHOES, 3 PARK AVENUE. [illegible]

HOTELS AND SALOONS.

FORCE'S HOTEL, NORTH AVENUE, (Near R. R. Station.) JAS. H. FORCE, Prop'r. A FIRST CLASS FAMILY HOTEL. [illegible] Transient guests at reasonable rates.

TURF EXCHANGE HOTEL. 72 Courtlandt street, CORNER WASHINGTON, NEW YORK CITY. FRED. W. BALLARD, Proprietor. [illegible] PURE WINES, LIQUORS AND SEGARS.

SOMERSET HOTEL, Cor. Somerset & Craig Sts., North Plainfield, N. J. Permanent and Transient Board, at fair rates. First-class Stables and Sheds attached. Meals at all reasonable hours.

C. E. JOHNSON, of old firm of Shepherd, Johnson & Dobson, CARPENTER AND BUILDER. Office—No. 25 Central avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Residence—27 East Second street. Jobbing a specialty.

T. J. GILLIES, Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent. SALESROOM—[illegible] Plainfield, N. J. Goods received on consignment.

Dime Savings Institution OF PLAINFIELD, N. J. Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually. JOHN W. MURRAY, President. [illegible] Treasurer.

Jas. M. Dunn, Dealer in GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, Vegetables, Fruits, etc. No. 36 Park Ave. OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE. THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS, BEST IN THE WORLD. ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

MICHAEL UHDAL, CONTRACTOR AND LANDSCAPE GARDENER! Residence: NETHERWOOD, NEW JERSEY. P. O. BOX 787, PLAINFIELD.

GO TO DICKINSON & CLAWSON, JEWELERS, 13 Park Avenue, For your Fine Gold Watches, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, AND SILVERWARE. [illegible]

SANITARY PLUMBING, Brick and Portable Furnaces, GAS FITTING, TIN ROOFING, Etc. Etc. [illegible] D. W. LITTELL, No. 8 NORTH AVE. Plainfield, N. J.

CATARRH. ELY'S CREAM BALM. Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. HAY-FEVER. TRY THE CURE. [illegible] ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren street, New York.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE, (Successor to John W. Laing.) Laing's Hotel Stables. Front street, opposite Madison avenue. [illegible] RIDING OR LIVERY. [illegible] TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 44.

Livery Stables! Mr. D. S. ROBERTS Has Removed to His New Building on NORTH AVENUE, [illegible]

EDUCATIONAL.

Mr. FEININGER Has resumed His Lessons in Plainfield. For terms, address C. FEININGER, Steinway Hall, N. Y.

Mr. T. R. HAZELL, TEACHER OF MUSIC. [illegible]

MR. LEAL'S School for Boys! 99 WEST FRONT STREET. Prepares for College and Business. Has entered boys at College every year since it was established. This year eight boys were sent. The next year's class is still larger. Boys from 10 years old and upwards. The eighth year begins MONDAY, SEPT. 16, 1889. For circulars and information, address the Principal, JOHN LEAL.

DODWORTH'S CLASSES FOR Dancing & Deportment, SEMINARY HALL, PLAINFIELD, N. J., Commencing Wednesday, Oct. 30, '89, From 3½ to 5½ P. M. Circulars may be obtained of Miss E. E. Kenyon, at the Seminary. THOS. J. DODWORTH. Residence—1,198 Fulton ave., N. Y. City.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES

Paints, Varnishes, Glass. WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES. WALL PAPERS! PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY. A. SWALM, No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. R. WOOLSTON, J. F. BUCKLE. Woolston & Buckle, PAINTERS, Wall Papers, PAINTERS' SUPPLIES. 20 NORTH AVENUE.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mme. J. BERNARD, ASTROLOGIST, [illegible] in English, German and French. [illegible]

Low Pressure Steam Heat Introduced into Churches, Schools, Dwellings, Offices, Stores, etc. STEAM FITTING, and STEAM FITTERS' SUPPLIES for sale. Estimates cheerfully furnished for Heating and Ventilation. JOHN N. SCHENCK. Box 1661. [illegible] North Plainfield.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON, [Successor to T. J. Carey.] Furniture and Freight Express! OFFICE—21 W. FRONT ST. Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 399. Piano moving a specialty.

G. W. FORCE, 11 West Front street. Opening of FALL AND WINTER STOCK Boots and Shoes at Low Prices. A FINE GRADE OF GOODS TO SELECT FROM. 11 West Front street, G. W. FORCE.

R. R. FAIRCHILD, Furniture & Bedding, 21 EAST FRONT STREET. A Large Assortment of Parlor Suites, Bedroom Suites, Lounges, Tables and Chairs. The Largest Stock and the Lowest Prices. Call and See for Yourselves. 2 DOORS BELOW P. O.

ALBERT HEDDEN, Livery and Boarding Stables, FOURTH STREET, [illegible]

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING, No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J. Manufacturer of the Celebrated C. O. D. CIGAR, The best 5 cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest tobacco. CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY. A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobaccos always on hand. Smokers' Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE, Dealer in Havana & Domestic SEGARS!! [illegible] PLAINFIELD, N. J. Tobaccos and Smokers' Materials, of every description. The celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco, with other popular brands constantly on hand.

"EXPERIENCE MAKES PERFECT." [illegible] MORAL.—[illegible] The Electric Construction and Supply Co. [illegible]

JAMES K. ARNOLD, GROCER, Corner Somerset and Chatham Sts., North Plainfield.

A. L. SMALLEY, N. S. SMALLEY. Smalley Bros., DEALERS IN Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, Etc. SOMERSET STREET, NORTH PLAINFIELD. Orders called for and delivered. A share of the public patronage is solicited.

Benj. F. Moore, [Late of Moore Bros.] BUTCHER, And dealer in FRESH AND SALT MEATS, POULTRY, etc., corner Park avenue and Second street, [illegible] Telephone Call 111.

E. B. MAYNARD PRACTICAL BARBER AND Artistic Hair Dresser, No. 20 PARK AVENUE, Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences, shaving, Shampooing, &c., satisfactorily performed.

Fresh Garden Seeds, Garden Tools, Ranges. Laundry Stoves. CUTLERY, &c. N. H. & J. J. HEIDELOFF, [illegible]

HOW ROUGH! YOUR SKIN may be made smooth, soft and white by the use of Glycerole of Arnica. A preparation of our own, and we guarantee its purity. May be used in the nursery. Delightfully perfumed. Sprinkler top bottles 25c., obtained only at the CITY PHARMACY, L. W. RANDOLPH, Prop'r. 21 W. FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

School Books, New and Second-hand. School Supplies, Large Assortment, Lowest Prices, at ALLEN'S, THE STATIONER, 23 East Front Street, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

CANOPIES For Weddings, Parties, Etc., TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE. Hugo Weigman, 16 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

TWENTY Years experience in the business. SECOND STREET. 2 doors above Peace street. Mr. JOHN E. STEVENS, Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to Shoeing Forging Horses, [illegible]

Accommodation Express. PETER RICKERT, Proprietor. [illegible]

AGENTS [illegible] R. D. LUETCHFORD & CO., [illegible]

SHEAVES OF RHYME.

Jack Frost.

From over the hills, with a breath of flame,
From over the hills old Jack Frost came.

Came so softly that nobody knew,
Till the land a beautiful picture grew.

The elm leaves turned to a golden brown,
Each willow was decked with a golden crown.

The thistle-down broke from its prison cell,
And the nuts from their clinging burrs as well;

The maples flamed on the green hill-side,
And color ran wild o'er the country wide,

As over the hills with a breath of flame,
Old Jack Frost, the ice-king, came.
—Emma S. Thomas, in Frank Leslie's Weekly.

Her First Pie.

Wife tired of reading books,
Swinging hammocks, shady nooks,
In the little kitchen looks—
Watches Dinah while she cooks—
(There's goin' to be trouble in that household.)

Little wife thinks she'll try
All alone to make a pie;
First attempt, and proud, oh my!
Bakes it brown and sets it by.
(There's goin' to be trouble in that household.)

Hubbie hurries home from town—
Gone his care and business frown—
Kisses wife; both sit down;
Dinah brings the pie so brown.
(There's goin' to be trouble in that household.)

Twelve o'clock and all is still,
Mousie roams about at will;
Suddenly two shrieks, so shrill
That they're echoed from the hill.
(There is lots of trouble in that household.)

Mustard plasters all in vain;
Only serve to make more pain,
Dinah rushes through the rain,
Hunts a doctor for the twain.
(There is lots of trouble in that household.)

Same old story—nothing new;
Doctor did what he could do.
Up the golden stairs they flew,
Hapless husband, wife too.
(There is no more trouble in that household.)

MORAL.

Loving wifies, stick to books,
Swinging hammocks, shady nooks,
Off the cooking keep your hooks,
Leave pie-making to the cooks,
And you'll have no trouble in your household.
—Hubsmith, in Washington Post.

Confession.

I grant we wandered off alone,
And stayed until the falling dew;
But, dear, I only went because
I fancied that [illegible] looked like you.

I grant my arm around her waist
Unwisely strayed. What could I do?
I had to draw her close to see
If, in the dusk, she looked like you.

I grant upon her cheek I pressed
A single kiss—no more? well—two.
You never were content with one,
And she—she looked so much like you!
—Bentley Parker, in Puck.

Drawbacks of the Elixir.

I've heerd an awful sight about
This stuff they call Elixir,
That's been fixed up for human fo'ks
By some smart physic mixer.
They squirt it thru' a feller's hide,
When old an' stiff he's gettin',
An' make him feel as supple
An' as frisky as a kitten.

They say it works just like a charm,
They'll take a worn-out stager
An' fire a dose inter his arm,
Then run him on a wager;
An' if a feller once gets some
He never thinks o' dyin',
An' as for killin' him, by gum,
There ain't no use in tryin'.

Wal, now, it may be jes' the thing,
But still I can't be sartin;
Of course 'twould save, for married fo'ks,
A heap o' pain an' partin';
An' if a feller'd hev good luck,
An' git a wife that's clever,
It mightn't be so bad a thing
Ter live right on forever.

But if it happened t'other way,
For women is uncertain,
An' they don't allus pull up true,
Jes' like they did at startin';
An' many a weary henpecked man,
Cussed with domestic riot,
Is mighty glad to turn his toes
An' git a little quiet.

The more I come ter think of it
The more I'm sot agin' it,
So when they start their little plan
They needn't count me in it;
I'd ruther run my nat'ral course
An' die without no fixin',
Than be doomed to live a thousand years
With some kantankerous vixen.
—Mortimer C. Brown, in Yankee Blade.

The Unattainable.

It's never the things close by, dear,
That we wish and long for so;
It is ever above and beyond us—
That our longing wishes go.

It's never the thing we have, child,
But the thing we do without;
The good that has passed us by, dear,
That causes the pain and doubt.

There is ever a something lacking,
A feeling of pain and loss,
Will we find it again hereafter,
When the gold is refined from dross?

When the lessons of life are ended,
And we are wiser grown,
Will we know the songs were sweetest
After the birds were flown?
—Emma S. Thomas, in Albany Evening Journal.

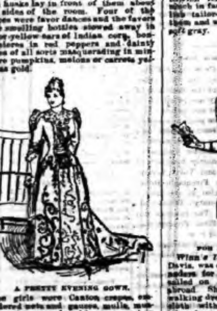
THE NEW WINTER GOWNS

As Shown on Promenade and Dancing Floor.

What Fashionable Women are Wearing in and 'Round New York this Autumn, and What You Must Wear if You Would be in the Swim.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

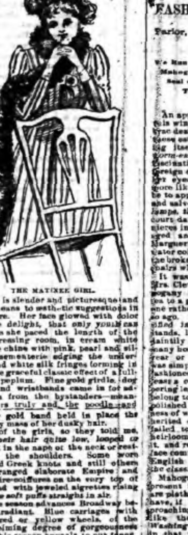
I did not go to that country dance at Rabbits' Rock, Flushing, Tuesday evening, but Selma did, and Selma says the decorations were charming. In the first place there was a fire of logs blazing on the huge old-fashioned hearth in the oak hall, with pitchers of cider mulling and red-cheeked apples sputtering before the coals. In the second place the trailing vines of the red-berried bitter-sweet were wound from stag's head to stag's head among the antlers on the wall, and tied in place by scarlet ribbons. In the third place bunches of chrysanthemums were tied on the banisters, golden yellow alternating with bronzy red, and fastened by ribbon bands. In the fourth place yellow earthen jugs stood in every corner filled with oak boughs—the last in the forest to lose their brown and russet leaves—and the uncanny witch hazel blooms. Fox skins and bears' furs were thrown over the antique-looking settles, and rugs platted of brilliantly dyed corn husks lay in front of them about the sides of the room. Four of the dances were favor dances and the favors were swelling bottles stowed away in red or yellow ears of Indian corn, bonbonnieres in red peppers and dainty trifles of all sorts masquerading in miniature pumpkins, melons or carrots yellow as gold.



A PRETTY EVENING GOWN.

The girls wore Canton crepes, embroidered nets and gauzes, mulls, muslins and crepe de chines; or, when heavier materials were desired they put on pale blue and pink brocades, soft white silks or pale yellow or orange royal armures. High-throated gowns appeared in primrose, old rose shot with green, pale antique blue and cream white, the skirts falling in long clinging lines, the bodices with crossed surplices and fichus, the sleeves picturesque, half long and full. The Empire gowns were trimmed profusely with ribbons, and both these and the very fashionable directoire draperies used buckles and slides, fringes and ribbons, rare old girdles and clasps very freely. The wonderful winter gowns, for the first time revealed to the faithful, were such a symphony, a poem and a picture all in one.

Selma and her friend Marie let me see them in all their finery before the carriage whirled them away. Selma is a tall graceful girl, with a rather striking face and movements so lithe and sinuous that every woman is attracted toward her. She wore a petticoat of old rose silk, which was made of straight breadths plainly gathered and was veiled with old rose creped silk muslin put on in a fashion somewhat original. The muslin was doubled and turned up at the bottom, then shirred, puffed and tucked all around for a space of about eight inches above the hem. Above this it was drawn up in straight folds to the waistband. With this skirt she put on a glove-fitting princesse coat of a creamy old rose lampas brocade, slashed at the sides and up the back on the skirt, and opening all the way down the front, to show its tea rose silk lining. The neck was half low and round, edged with shirred and puffed ruches of the crepe, and there were angel sleeves of brocade over clinging sleeves of richest old rose and gold velvet. My young beauty, you might have thought, with her shoes of lampas to match her gown and her fan of pink ostrich feathers with mother of pearl mountings, was masquerading in the guise of some dignified and courtly ancestress.



THE MATINEE GIRL.

Marie is slender and picturesque and rather leans to esthetic suggestions in her attire. Her face glowed with color and the delight, that only youth can know, as she paced the length of the little dressing room, in cream white crepe de chine with pink, pearl and silver passementerie edging the under gown, and white silk fringes forming in front the graceful classic effect of a full-pointed peplum. Fine gold girdle, dog collar and wristbands came in for admiration from the bystanders—meaning yours truly and the poodle—and another gold band held in place the shadowy mass of her dusky hair.

Most of the girls, so they told me, wore their hair quite low, looped or knotted in the nape of the neck or resting on the shoulders. Some wore modified Greek knots and still others had arranged elaborate Empire and Directoire coiffures on the very top of the head with jeweled aigretes rising from the soft puffs straight in air.

As the season advances Broadway becomes radiant. Blue carriages with bright red or yellow wheels, of the overwhelming degree of gorgeousness which this season appeals to our fancy, are drawn by big sleek horses in clanking and glittering harness. Wooden coachmen sit on the boxes stolid and solemn. On the cushions recline women in thick-piled velvets and a smother of furs, creatures of long, slow curves, of drooping lids, half lost in langorous Indian summer dreams. On the sidewalks swarm tortuous crowds of handsomely dressed women, exhibiting in all its glories the cold weather gown.

A certain handsomely apparelled Queen from a district of country called Shyba has enjoyed for a lengthy period a considerable reputation for gorgeousness in gowns, but few people would have turned their heads to look at her had she chanced to cross Madison Square between the hours of 5 and 6 yesterday the wake of a girl in a eiffel red Carmelite gown. She was one of the know-it-all variety, and in spite of her pinky white skin, her eyes as dark and soft as pansies and her fluffy brown hair, in spite of her youthful and exquisite daintiness in feature and coloring the shyness of the doubter was not in her, but you knew she could talk slang and bounce like the very embodiment of the wild, sweet and piquant American girl just through with an interview with her dressmaker and with a vine embroidery in gold and black above the hem of her undergown. The Russian redingote was in a brown-tinted velvet, slightly cut away in front and leaving the handsome skirt exposed. There was a narrow vest on the redingote of gold armure, half hidden by the embroidery and revers and collar of handsome sable. The hat was a boat-shaped affair of black velvet, with no apparent brim at the back, but turned up on each side and not at all in front, with a bow of eiffel red ribbon and two or three heavy black ostrich plumes drooping from the low crown to touch the left ear. The face beneath sparkled with vivacity and the full red lips parted as she hurried to catch a girl who matched her dog most excellently as all of us who own dogs do or ought to do this autumn.

It's becoming quite a science this of adjusting one's attire to harmonize properly with one's canine friends. Black camels' hair with cape, muff and a broad band of astrakhan is considered quite the proper costume to wear with a huge black Newfoundland. If on the other hand one goes walking with a silky black spaniel one should be gowned in a smooth black faced cloth or cashmere with lynx furs. The St. Bernard really calls for a long golden tan or redish brown redingote with high shouldered sable coat and a low crowned, broad hat circled about with ostrich feathers. Pugs are not now much in fashion but one wears an English tailor-made costume with one of them and with a terrier something in a soft gray.

FOR AN AFTERNOON CALL.

Winnie Davis, daughter of Jefferson Davis, was one of the Broadway promenaders for a day or two before she sailed on La Gascogne for a winter abroad. She wore when I saw her a walking dress of mouse-colored faced cloth with collar, cuffs and pocket trimmings of otter. The skirt had long drapings back and front and was braided in upturned points with fine cords of gold nearly to the waist line. The bodice was embroidered to correspond, and the hat of mouse velvet projected well over the face and was trimmed with feathers of a darker shade.

Miss Talmage, the daughter of the burned out Tabernacle pastor, is a young woman who appreciates a fine walking gown. She has been wearing this autumn's plain Queen's serge sage-colored Greek polonaise opening over silver gray. With this goes on chilly days a sage green open coat of beaver cloth with a rolling collar and facings of a lighter shade of tan embroidered with a silver-gray cord. This coat is worn over a beaver fur vest and may be left open or closed; when open it shows the elaborate embroidery of the facings.

There was finished a few days ago an elaborate carriage dress for a society belle. The shade was a rosy heliotrope figured with escurial devices in gold, silver and deep copper. It was slightly trained and the princess overdress was deeply slashed and edged with bands of real astrakhan, the skirt of paler heliotrope richly embroidered showing beneath the folds. The half long coat of heliotrope brocade with heavily embossed arabesques in gold and copper had for garniture a deep fringe.

Let us frankly acknowledge our complete surrender to the redingote. The importers and the fashionable modistes have few gowns with bodices except for strictly full dress wear. On the street we choose between the polonaise and the redingote, and they have become so much alike that it is practically choosing between twins. The new wraps are striking garments, luxurious and enveloping. Mme. Modjeska is seen sometimes in a long duchesse coat with a Russian collar of fine Persian lamb, lined with the same all the way down the front and having the cuffs and pockets bound with fur to correspond. One of the richest things seen thus far is a French refugee cloak worn once or twice by Mrs. Kendal, of a deep brown seal fur with a broad Directory collar reaching to the shoulders.

ELLEN OSBORN.

FASHIONS IN FURNITURE.

Parlor, Tea Room and Boudoir from Mantel to Door.

We Run to the Antique and Delight in Mahogany—Le Beau Monde Sets the Seal of Approval on "Occasional" Tables—The Kendal Desk.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

An appreciable part of our furniture this winter is fetched from the bric-a-brac dealers, and the more closely one of these establishments succeeds in modeling itself after the time-worn and worm-eaten counters of those dingy but fascinating shops in the side streets of foreign cities, where the tourist feasts her eyes on the musty treasures, the more likely will the fashionable woman be to appreciate the brass candlesticks and salvers, the vases and old fancy oil lamps, the ivory miniatures of ancient court dames, the sweet little bonbonnieres in pink enamel and pearls, the aged and worn Mephistopheles and Marguerite in bronze, the etchings, water colors and prints of bygone times, the broken-legged tables and dilapidated chairs which it contains.

It was in a place of this order that Mrs. Cleveland obtained the small mahogany table from which she served tea to a group of half a dozen intimates one rather dreary afternoon, a week or so ago. The adjective small is not justified in comparison with the tiny stands, like dolls' tables, with their daintily embroidered cloths, which so many hostesses have been using for a year or two. Mrs. Cleveland's table was simply small for a full height old-fashioned table, for it dated back at least a century, and had the square tapering legs and the simple curves which belong to the Sheraton school. It was polished also to that degree of brightness of which most women who have inherited or purchased mahogany have failed to acquire the secret with the heirloom. One could see one's face in it, and reflect that the mirror-like surface committed its mistress rather to the English than the Louis Seize taste in the classical revival.

Mahogany is probably the wood at present for those whose pocketbooks are plethoric, and many a woman would have, if her ship were only sighted approaching harbor, a tea room finished like the one in Mrs. Hicks-Lord's Washington square mansion, entirely in that wood which also frames every article of furniture. The wainscoat is paneled high, and over the hearthstone swings the tea kettle from a brass crane, the small pictures in oil covering the walls—heads of historic beauties and braves—and the sparkle of cut glass with the gaslight falling on it making with the rich dark shining wood a picture brilliant and attractive.

The proper thing this winter for a hostess who plans to have "afternoons" and to entertain more than a very few people at a time is to beg, borrow, buy or have given to her a "nest" of tables. At an afternoon tea given in honor of Winnie Davis, the daughter of the Confederate chieftain, at a very swell house a fortnight ago, the table nest when drawn apart proved to consist of four small gilded stands of sizes so graduated that the youngest, so to speak, was just able to stand erect under the top of number three, number two covering both and the mother table brooding the entire family beneath its wings. These tables were all Louis Seize reproductions, simply rectangular in shape, gilded and burnished and painted with shepherdesses leaning pensively over brooks, courtiers dancing attendance on pink and white ladies who toy with fans, etc., each table top signed by a French artist of repute, whose name lent it additional value.

If one cannot compass these, the next best thing is to possess one's soul with patience and one's parlor with plenty of "occasional" tables, for we have definitely adopted the Oscar Wildeism and allow our tables pretty generally to "occur." Bird's-eye maple is a good material and the decoration is in the modern French painted style.

Next to tables the woman of 1889 sets her heart on ottomans. The foot cushions which kicked about our half-lighted parlors all last winter for care-less men to trip over have entirely disappeared, and in their room we have unusually large and elaborately upholstered ottomans. Heavy gilt is replacing last season's white and gold, and for upholstery materials there are Gobelin tapestries in the Louis Quatorze taste and, heavy lampas, brocades and brocatelles in light colors, with scroll or flower designs, in the manner of Louis XVI.

The hostess who knows her business is careful what use she makes of the divan. Many women have fallen into the way of placing these convenient bits of sumptuousness in the middle of the room, just where the old-fashioned center table used to stand under the chandelier. This may be allowable in an imposing and stately drawing room, where the floor space needs something to break it, but if you happen to be spending an evening in such an apartment never let your bitterest enemy tempt you to seat yourself on such a divan. The light from overhead has a curious effect in deepening lines in the countenance, making 16 look like 26 and 30 like 42.

The modern girl, when she retires from the madding crowd to commune with her own ideas, is apt to retreat to a den that has been arranged according to her special tastes and in whose furnishing often times she displays a signal ability in disposing of sight drafts on the Government. The special feature of a well-fitted den this winter is quite apt to be a toilet set of three pieces in fanciful rococo curves. A yellow haired young woman, whose name there is no use in giving, but who belongs to that much-envied clan, American girls of the leisure class, has a beautiful little boudoir fitted in blue and gold. The walls are hung in pale blue silks, sprinkled with rose petals, and there are special pieces of furniture in ormolu inlaid with Sevres plaques, a mantel with a pair of Dresden china candlesticks, a little clock in ormolu and dainty accompaniments too many to describe. Adjoining this room is a dressing room and here she tilts her blonde head and pensively droops her snowy lids before a dressing table the wood of which is entirely covered with blue and white satin, with jewels of crystal glass set into the frame at intervals. On the table stands a large plate glass mirror and the brushes and combs in repousse silver, the perfumed waters and delicate lotions that go to make up a fashionable girl's paraphernalia stand beneath a fantastically shaped blue satin canopy. A chair and a second and smaller side table corresponding make up the complete service of this shrine to the graces and vanities.

The fair maid who is more literary than frivolous will have an old-fashioned mahogany writing desk, littered with heaps of crested note paper, silver inkstand and pen and a dozen other utensils in silver standing by the window of her den. If she doesn't take to mahogany her desk will be rosewood with spindle legs and looking as if it might have belonged to her grandmother, who penned love letters seated before it with a quill that needed mending and, perhaps, mispelled not a few of her words. Instead of rosewood there may be sixteenth century oak, massive, simple in shape and mounted with silver, with pigeon holes enough for rejected manuscripts and room to brew the plot of a novel or abuse, by post, that horrid dressmaker for sending such a big bill.

The visitor who calls on Mrs. Kendal will notice, if admitted to the English actress's sanctum sanctorum, a fine easel in antique oak and silver which stands ready for work in a good light, an India jar, apparently for brushes, and a box which might well be a color box, on a low chair near by. Tell the lady that you didn't know she was artistic and she will smile a pleased smile, not at your discovery of her tastes, but at the completeness with which the easel has fulfilled its mission to deceive. She turns a key and the canvas which waited for the workman's leisure shows itself at the lower side of the shelf of as neat a writing desk as the contriver of novelties has often devised. Jointed silver bars drop with it for legs to rest on, and where was the picture is now a second landscape, framed about with tiny drawers and racks for paper and crystal inkstands swinging in and out of cubby holes. The pretty cheat seems specially planned to allow some Jack-of-all-trades girl of the nineteenth century to pose as literary or artistic according to the visitor she happens to be entertaining.

The jewel table is coming to be a favorite bit of furniture for the boudoir. It is a Vernis Martin reproduction, usually small, gilt, spindle-legged and painted. Mrs. Ogden Goelet and Miss Hargous, the dark-eyed belle, have genuine antiques instead of modern copies.

The standard clock arrogates to itself much dignity this winter. A fine example was sent recently to Mrs. William E. Hoyt's house in Twin Island, in the Sound. Mrs. Hoyt may be better remembered as Janet Chase, the youngest daughter of the Chief-Justice, whose artistic tastes have found expression in many ways. The clock, which is in mahogany mounted with gilt, was meant for the library. The top was spired like a cathedral, the head of a monk in gilt looking down on the scenes passing below. Smaller monks' heads were ranged in a circle about the face; the weights, which were exposed, were ponderous and gilded, and the pendulum, which swung in full view in the open case, was a radiant sun. The clock stood probably eight feet high. A clock somewhat similar, but in oak with silver mountings, was priced recently and cost $850.

Antique oak is the wood most in favor for the hall and the dining room and some of it looks as if it might have been brought from mediaeval palaces, with its carvings of lions' heads supported on lions' claws. High oaken settees are topped by large mirrors held by caryatides. Occasionally a fine piece shows no carving or ornamentation, the whole effect resting on the dark massive wood and the simple, almost rude, but effective form.

ELIZA PUTNAM HEATON.

THE DOINGS OF WOMEN FOLK

Who Are Glad Election Day is Over and the Country Saved Once More.

A "large and influential portion of the community," sex feminine, ages from 20 up, regard election day and night with utter detestation. It is a glorious occasion, no doubt, and the country is providentially preserved from utter destruction once a year or oftener through its agency, but Bess don't like it. She dreads it beforehand, endures it with anything but composure and recalls it when it is over with a shudder.

To some women the day is a sad one because they can't go to the polls, but Bess is sad because—

About 7 o'clock in the evening Tom picks up his hat and says "he thinks he'll go out a few minutes and see how the returns are coming in." Bess sighs. She knows what fate has in store. Tom goes to stand for five hours in the street in front of a newspaper office and shiver between cheers as the bulletins appear. He says he will be back in an hour or so, but Bess doesn't expect him. He may be truthful in everyday life, the soul of honor in his business relations, but the cold fact is that he will get into someone's "headquarters" and figure his lead pencil down to a ghastly stub trying to work out impossible majorities for unpracticable candidates. At any rate, for the best part of the night he won't come home.

About half an hour after his departure the small boys of the neighborhood build a huge bonfire in the street, and the woman is born to trouble as the sparks fly upward and sideways. Ten minutes later a rival blaze is started against the back fence and a howling mob of small fire worshippers flourish burning sticks and prance about and yell. A judicious admixture of argument and bribery must be resorted to to induce the young politicians to change by a few feet the position of the central feature of their celebration, before they put on fresh barrels and shout and wave tin pails full of live coals.

Hardly is this nice bit of diplomacy accomplished when there is a tremendous clatter of hoofs and wheels.

"Gracious! What is that!" cries Bess and she rushes to the window.

"Oh, ma'am, it's the engines; there's a fire in the next block," quakes Norah.

"In the next block! And Tom away! Will it come here?" shivers the poor woman. "Run, Norah, that's a good girl, and put a few things together, can't you, ready to take out in case the house should go."

Norah executes a war dance and clasps the piano stool and a pair of vases in an ardent embrace while Bess hustles the silver into a basket and wildly tries to remember where the fire insurance policy has been laid away.

After a bad half hour the star of peace twinkles faintly. Danger's troubled night is not past but it is passing. Three per cent. of the small boys go home, the fire in the next block is out and Norah puts down the piano stool, dropping on it disconsolately.

"Bang!"

A heavy blow resounds at the basement door. The piano stool is flourished aloft club fashion.

"What can it be?" whispers pale-faced Bess and Norah makes no reply.

"Thump, thud!" as of a heavy body falling.

"They're trying to break down the door!" and Bess pinches baby to make him wake up and howl.

"They shall know there's somebody awake in here."

Death-like stillness reigns. Bess and Norah softly approach the door, a carving knife and a piano stool their death-dealing weapons. Hark! by bending the ear close to the keyhole deep and stentorous breathing can be distinguished. Some drunken lord of creation having exercised his right of franchise once and other privileges many times has been sent by frolic chance to that inhospitable bed on the flag stones. What shall be done with him?

Nothing is done though many expedients are suggested. Nothing really needs to be done for he is the quietest man within a mile. The hilariously drunk and not at all sleepy file past by dozens, ring bells and pound on doors. The victory is being celebrated, Norah has gone to her bed, the outraged baby has been propitiated and with every beat of the clock Bess asks herself, "Why doesn't Tom come?" And the man at the door sleeps soundly.

So the night goes. Who wouldn't be a woman on election evening?

"I don't owe anybody anything," protested one young woman physician to another, when gratitude to the older women who first ventured into the thorny path of medicine was suggested. "I paid my fees, I took my course, I got my diploma and no thanks to anybody." This is the kind of individual who ought to sit at the feet of gentle Lucy Stone and listen to some of her reminiscences of the last half century. When Mary Lyon came to the little Massachusetts town where Mrs. Stone was brought up she found all the women and girls making shirts for the Young Men's Educational Society. The boys must go to school, but who thought of the girls? The boys could earn a dollar a day, the girls a dollar a week, when they taught school, and Mrs. Stone dropped her thimble, reasoning very justly that the boys could look out for themselves.

Rates of Advertising.

SPACE	1 WEEK	2 WEEKS	3 WEEKS	1 MONTH	2 MONTHS	3 MONTHS	6 MONTHS	12 MONTHS
1 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
2 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
3 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
4 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
¼ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
½ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
1 col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

All Electro's must be solid metal.

"Little of Everything" column, 5 cts. per line.

Double cols. 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

When Harriet Hosmer wanted instruction in anatomy to help her in sculpture she went from medical college to medical college throughout the East and wandered as far as St. Louis before any school agreed to take her in. "She doctors" was the pleasant little term applied to the first woman who practiced medicine. When Abby Kelly went on the lecture platform to speak for the slave, a preacher who noticed her sitting in his audience took as his text, "This Jezebel is come among us," and when Lucy Stone was to speak for anti-slavery in Malden, Mass., the clergyman who announced the address did it after this wise: "I have been requested by Mr. Morey to say that at the town hall, at 2 o'clock this afternoon, a hen will try to crow like a cock. All who would like to hear that kind of music will no doubt be on hand." It is doubtful if the younger women ever can appreciate through what martyrdom the right to free speech and free action has been bought for them; but one comes nearest to such understanding when listening to one like Mrs. Stone, to whom the past is still present in mind and vividly real.

The tendency of fashion seems setting more strongly than ever toward the classical revival and as one result jewels are beginning to be worn in masses as in the days of the splendors of the empire, when to please the grotesque taste of Josephine women wore gold chains twining six and seven times round the neck, earrings with three pendants, three or four bracelets on each arm, rings on every finger, long gold pins and lockets covered with diamonds. Jewelers are entering, as might be expected, heartily into the revival, and corselet shoulder clasps and girdles, cameos, medallions and brooches are introduced with eclate to the fashionable world. Pearls and diamonds are the favorite gems and gold chains hold the draperies of the gown in graceful folds. Just at present the fancy in diamonds is to have them used as a setting for the exquisite porcelain and enamel faces now so popular in designs copied after the court jewels of the Louis XIV. and XV. period, or to employ them as a setting for other stones. In other countries and other periods diamonds have been confined to women of some age and position, but in free and independent America, in this year of grace, '89, diamonds button the baby's layette, shine on the dimpled fingers of the toddling child, and pin the bonnet, buckle the shoe, clasp the garter and fasten the girdle of the debutante in her teens. A few rules to govern the wearing may not, therefore, be out of order. With street costumes no diamonds are allowable, except for obviously useful purposes. They may button the collar, fasten the cuff, pin the hat in place, but may not shine from the ears or flash from the corsage in any purely ornamental design. For evening dress, Sinbad the Sailor never dreamed of such glory in his valley of diamonds as the stars, pendants and quaintly fashioned pins which make what seem like a complete corsage of gems on the gown of a fashionable woman.

Olive Thorne Miller, the nature writer, says that one result of the depopulation of parts of New England is that the birds are growing less familiar. In her summer vacation in a quiet part of the Berkshires she found it hard to study the habits of the feathered folk she had come to watch because instead of building about houses as formerly they had withdrawn as civilization drew away from them into the woods, and species easily tamed and accustomed to men had become wild and shy. Mrs. Miller spends her winters in Brooklyn and is a member of Laura C. Holloway's Seidl Society, by which was originated the letter sent to Mayor Grant last week signed by representatives of all the principal organizations of women in New York and Brooklyn asking for the reappointment of Mrs. Agnew and Miss Dodge on the School Board.

A simple device for money making is often more successful than an ambi*tious scheme. A fragile young* widow, who has barely kept body and soul together, has run upon a streak of luck this fall because it occurred to her to utilize common hemp, braided in fine strands and dyed in colors for fancy work. She wove it around mats edged with a fringe. These are caught with ribbons into baskets and hats for holding jewels or feminine odds and ends. They are so simple that a child can master the mystery of the making, but she was first in the field and made money. Other women are making and selling the English "melon" pillows. We cannot, of course, put these to their proper use over here, the end and aim of their existence in the land of their nativity being an apology for a head rest in the uncomfortable English railway cars, but we can, and do manufacture them of bright-hued silks and shaped like a musk melon, for couches and divans, and the first women who took them to the fancy work counters were rewarded by shekels.

E. P. H.

NAUTICAL SIGNALS.

A New Distress Sign Successfully Tested in England.

A new nautical distress signal has been successfully experimented with in England, the notable feature in this device being that no stick is required, and there is no back fire, the rocket taking the form of a metal cylinder, in the base of which is a propelling charge, above this being a charge of tonite, and above this again a star composition. The rocket is placed in a phosphor-bronze socket, which may be screwed or let into the rail of the ship, and when it is required, to fire it, a firing tube is placed in the center of the rocket, and to the top of this a landyard is hooked; the propelling charge is fired by simply pulling this lanyard, and the signal is impelled upward at one impulse, the wire fuses by which the detonating charge is exploded being at the same time ignited, and this burns until the rocket has reached the maximum height, which is 600 feet. The stars are thrown out, giving a brilliant illumination, and the tonite charge then explodes, the noise of the explosion being equal to the firing of a six-pound gun, but being high up is heard at a great distance. In one instance, as reported, a disabled vessel having by this means brought another to her assistance from a distance of twelve miles. The full-sized rockets are seven inches long and two inches in diameter.

ENGLISH IN JAPAN.

An Advertisement Printed in a Yokohama Newspaper.

Here is an advertisement taken from a Yokohama newspaper, which is printed in English:

For Sale.
Best Peppermint Oil.
Made From Its Really Leafs.
Can be curable for the sickness of Male, Female or Boy.

Dizzy.—Use to put or wipe few drops on the forehead, bothsides under eye-brows, noseholes, and bothsides the back of ears.

Fever.—Wipe on the forehead, and noseholes.

Fit.—Wipe most of the noseholes, and drink few drops mixed with tea.

Giddy.—Wipe bothsides of forehead, and noseholes.

Gout or footswollen.—Wipe bothsides of forehead, noseholes and much to the breast.

Headache.—Wipe on the forehead and noseholes.

Believe, us.
CHOY THOONG SUNG,
Tai-pin Gate outside Brass Smith Road.

Some Museum Relics.

J. B. Dunn, of Worth county, Ga., is in possession of a Bible which was owned by his Grandfather in Ireland, and which he brought over to this country when he (his grandfather) came to this country prior to the Revolutionary war. His grandfather was an old Revolutionary soldier, and fought throughout the war. He has also the powder-horn and gourd which he carried through the war. He has a table fork that his grandfather used in Virginia before the war, and another which he used after the war. He has a sitting chair which the venerable sire of his made and used at the first settling of Georgia. This chair Mr. Dunn has with him, and it bears the marks of well-preserved old age.

"Conductor, what was that?" asked a nervous old lady as the wheels of the coach made a little more jar than usual. "We went over a few frogs just then," he replied. "And most likely squashed the poor thing too," she said with a tremor in her voice.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, | A. L. FORCE

Editors and Proprietors.

Democratic Primaries.

The Democratic electors of the several wards of the city of Plainfield will hold their primaries for the election of delegates to the [illegible] City Convention to be held at the Democratic Association Rooms on Saturday Evening, November 30, at 8 o'clock, to nominate candidates for city officers, viz: Three members of the Council at large, one City Judge, one city Collector, one city Assessor, one City Treasurer, two Chosen Freeholders, three Commissioners of Appeal, and one School Trustee.

By order

JAMES [illegible], Pres.

Louis F. Wadsworth, Sec'y.

STAR OF THE SOUTH.

When the patriot cannon [illegible] forth on Bunker Hill their roar was said to have reverberated around the globe.

That sentiment truthfully portrayed the effect of an influence which continues to expand and strengthen.

The roar still reverberates.

The American Revolution [illegible] the all important fact that men were by right free and equal, and competent to fully exercise the prerogative of self government, and the history of the United States for over a century has amply proved the experiment to be a practical success, a positive reality, a blessing to mankind.

Brightly beams the future.

Another star, a glorious one, has been added to the galaxy of popular freedom on the continent of America. The good seed sown by Washington and Bolivar keeps on yielding fruitful harvests.

Brazil is a Republic.

We greet her with sincere [illegible].

That vast realm of beauty and natural wealth, the sunny land of the [illegible] and palm, lying in majestic grandeur beyond the equator, has with peaceful and dignified action changed the form of government from Imperialism to Republicanism, expunging from her national ensign the crown of royalty and substituting therefor the cap of liberty.

The change was destined to come, and would have been consummated sooner, but for the popular respect entertained towards Dom Pedro, the Emperor, whose liberal instincts and scholarly attainments justly ranked him the most [illegible] of ruling sovereigns.

Brazil is a Republic, and there is well grounded hope that she will be enabled to maintain such noble position among the nations of earth.

The guns fired on Bunker Hill yet reverberate.

People of distant climes know what means the sound.

The influence silently, but most powerfully exerted by the Republic of Washington, is fast working out the problem of the inalienable rights of man as against the impious pretensions of Kingcraft.

Throughout royalty ridden Europe, and to an extent far greater than apparent, such influence is accepted and ardently cherished by the people, and it is not unreasonable to predict that ere long the tyranny riveted props of monarchy will be thrown down and broken into fragments.

Forever live the Republic!

REPUBLICANS AT WAR.

A Pretty Fight for the office of City Judge.

There is no truth in the rumor that City Judge Stillman does not desire to fill that office after the expiration of this year, and that he is not a candidate for re-election; but on the contrary his friends are straining every nerve to secure him the nomination and thereby prevent a rival candidate from turning him out.

It is rumored, though, that Mr. Codington's friends will run him whether he gets the nomination or not.

SECOND [illegible] TO JOEL PARKER'S.

Abbett's Plurality for Governor [illegible] Ever Before Got Here in New Jersey.

At the Secretary of State's office in Trenton, the returns of the recent election were all ready for inspection by the State Board of Canvassers, which met there to-day. Abbett's plurality for Governor is 14,253, the largest ever given except the 14,397 by which Joel Parker was elected in 1867. The following are the pluralities by counties:

FOR ABBETT.

Bergen	822	Morris	109
Essex	858	Somerset	270
Hudson	12,516	Sussex	677
Hunterdon	1,969	Union	798
Middlesex	1,489	Warren	1,656
Monmouth	1,474
Total			[illegible]

FOR GRUBB.

Atlantic	572	Gloucester	435
Burlington	1,611	Mercer	251
Camden	279	Ocean	321
Cape May	203	Passaic	[illegible]
Cumberland	986	Salem	182
Total			[illegible]
Abbett's net plurality			14,253

PROHIBITION VOTE BY COUNTIES.

Atlantic	236
Bergen	140
Burlington	462
Camden	[illegible]
Cape May	137
Cumberland	[illegible]
Essex	[illegible]
Gloucester	346
Hudson	[illegible]
Hunterdon	473
Mercer	[illegible]
Middlesex	313
Monmouth	524
Morris	[illegible]
Ocean	97
Passaic	[illegible]
Salem	[illegible]
Somerset	[illegible]
Sussex	165
Union	231
Warren	470
Total	[illegible]

The Prohibition vote in 1886 was [illegible].

Progress.

Ninety years ago there were accommodations for only fourteen travelers each day between here and New York. About that many thousand can now be accommodated.

A Farmer Gored by a Bull.

John Purdon, an aged farmer living at Bonhamtown Corner, Middlesex county, while driving a bull out of his farm-yard on Monday was gored by the animal, both the horns being gouged into his side. His recovery is doubtful.

In Favor of the Workingmen.

We see by our exchanges that [illegible] in various towns of our neighboring [illegible], as well as our own, have cut prices on meat, and the plan has met with general satisfaction to both the butchers and the public from the fact that more meat is sold. This necessity of the hard working man has been too high in the past and there is now no good reason why consumers should pay exhorbitant prices.

—The [illegible] of prisoners was again detected at Elizabeth, [illegible] Saturday.

APPLYING AN OLD MAXIM.

The State Board of Health Adopts Measures to Prevent Sickness.

The New Jersey State Board of Health has ordered a thorough examination to be made into the sanitary condition of all premises where persons are lodged or boarded. This class of premises includes all the hotels, restaurants, boarding-houses, colleges and seminaries in the State, whose inmates have no control over the water supply, drainage and other local conditions which may affect their health, and this action of the Board is only one of a series of precautionary measures which are being instituted by the State authorities.

The inspections will be made under the personal direction and supervision of the officers of the State and local Boards of Health. One of the special features of this new movement will be the searching examination which will be made of the premises of all hotels and boarding houses at the seaside resorts in Monmouth, Ocean, Atlantic, Burlington, and Cape May counties before the opening of next Summer's season. New Jersey is the first State to inaugurate such an inspection by the State Board of Health.

Protect the Rich, the Poor Can Beg. (Condensed.)

In a pleasant village, not over one hundred miles from Englewood, N. J., lives a worthy tailor who is a strong Democrat. Just before the last Presidential election, a prominent member of the local Republican Club called at the shop of the knight of the shears, and soon commenced to urge upon the latter the stock arguments (save the mark!) of high tariff worshippers; how, in case of Cleveland's election, wages would be reduced, work stopped, men discharged; whereas, if Harrison were elected, the land would flow with milk and honey, etc., etc. (How funny it all reads now!) But the tailor held his ground, with the tenacity of his own stitches, and the baffled "Chinese-Wall" advocate went away.

After the election the tailor called at Mr. Protectionist's office to collect a bill, and, on being paid, remarked, "Mr. —— this is a very small bill." The gentleman replied, "Yes, it is—but the fact is that when I was in Europe this Summer, I laid in a large stock of clothing you know they make things so much cheaper over there than here."

Said the tailor, "And that is the way you protect the American workingman." The Republican leader had to "admit the corn," but will be just as earnest next election in his desire to look after the interests of the poor laborers here. Moral—The poor must be protected; the rich can protect themselves. (Englewood papers please copy.)

THE NEW ROADS ROUND PLAINFIELD.

Property owners in this county are justly delighted with the outcome of the county road-bill, the object and purpose of which is the acquirement, improving, and maintenance of public roads in this State. Speaking of the benefits accruing therefrom, Mr. Chauncey B. Ripley, of Westfield, said Friday:

"The county road act provides that any public road in any county of the State may be declared a county road by the County Board of Chosen Freeholders in that county, and becomes such by the filing of a map with the clerk of the county defining the road; and that money may be raised by such board for the construction and care of all such roads in any county. Union county is entitled to the credit of this new system. The act was prepared and presented by its citizens, who have for several years deemed some such road law a necessity for the permanent improvement of the public roads in Central New Jersey.

"Union county has availed itself of this new law to a greater extent than any other county in the State. Its Board of Freeholders, unanimous in favor of the law, proceeded at once to declare as county roads the principal roads leading from Elizabeth to Rahway, from Rahway to Westfield, from Elizabeth through Westfield to Plainfield, from Plainfield through Westfield to Springfield, from Springfield to Summit, and from Elizabeth to Springfield.

"One hundred and fifty thousand dollars has already been raised for macadamizing these roads and for keeping them in repair for one year. They have all been surveyed, the maps filed with the county clerk, and hundreds of laborers, mostly Italians, are now engaged in their construction. Stone crushers, of which there are a half dozen or more in the county of Union, are running to their full capacity, crushing stone for top dressing, while scores of teams are hauling stone in blocks for the solid foundations. No stone is used in the construction of these county roads except trap rock, which is all quarried from the mountains by Westfield. This rock abounds in these mountains and the supply is inexhaustible.

"The whole appearance of the localities where these roads are being constructed is changed for the better. Before any stone is used, the bed of the road to be macadamized, is brought to a grade, the high points being cut down, and the low places being filled with the earth taken from high points.

"The new county roads are very popular. Those few who feared the expense at first are now more than satisfied with the improvements as they progress, and it is safe to say that there is not a taxpayer in the county that would have the new law repealed, or the old condition of things restored, to save the small expense incurred. County roads under the new law will soon become general in most of the counties in the State, especially if built with the economy, care and thoroughness which characterize the present Board of Chosen Freeholders in Union county. We want more county roads next year, and the present board to construct them, or a board equally good.

"The work is being honestly done, and there are no political jobs, as some feared. These county roads have been advocated for several years by the largest property owners and taxpayers in Westfield, and they are well satisfied with the operation of the new law. What is the attitude of large property owners, as a class, respecting these county roads? I will say this: The assessor of Westfield officially informed me that the largest taxpayers in Westfield for 1889 are Chauncey B. Ripley, Ludlow V. Clark, Thomas H. Love, James T. Pierson, John Darah, Edward Martinson and Warren Ackerman.

"As to the views of myself, you have them above. As to the views of others in this list, many have expressed the belief, and all, I am sure, feel that there has never been so important an undertaking in the interest of Central New Jersey as the construction of county roads. It opens up the country, affords beautiful drives, enables people to move from any of the near cities, and is of incomparable advantage to all tradespeople and the farmers of this important section.

"Westfield, the central point, pivot, or hub of the other townships of Union county, derives more than its share of benefits from the county roads, by reason of its central position, being four miles from Rahway, the same distance from Summit; five miles East of Plainfield, seven miles West of Elizabeth and adjoining Fanwood, Cranford, Linden, and Union. The Central Railroad of New Jersey manifests much interest in these county roads, pursues a liberal policy, and is cooperating by material aid [illegible] [illegible] between Central and [illegible] in Westfield."

—Apples are said to be of poor quality and scarce this year. The supply will run out early and already grocers are experiencing trouble in getting a sufficient quantity.

A STATE POULTRY ASSOCIATION.

All Interested Invited to Meet at Trenton and Form a Mutual Chicken Improvement Association.

At a meeting of poultrymen, held at Trenton, N. J., Nov. 13, 1889, in response to a circular issued by Mr. J. H. Baldwin, of Orange, Secretary of the New Jersey State Poultry Society, for the purpose of forming a State Poultry Association, to unite the fanciers of the State of New Jersey in one strong, effective body, Mr. T. W. Hill, of Jamesburg, was elected temporary President, and Mr. J. H. Baldwin, of Orange, temporary Secretary.

It was resolved that a committee of invitation be appointed to invite all County Boards of Agriculture and all local Poultry Associations, to send delegates to a convention to be held at the State Street House, Trenton, on Wednesday, Dec. 4, at 10:30 A. M., for the purpose of forming a State Poultry Association. A committee was also appointed to prepare a constitution and by-laws to present to the meeting on the above date.

The organization of this Association is at the request of the State Board of Agriculture, and it is hoped that all who are interested will attend. Among the objects of the Association are the following: To improve, by any and all proper means, the poultry industry; to work in unison with the New Jersey State Board of Agriculture, and the Poultry Associations already formed; to furnish lecturers who will attend the meetings of the County Boards of Agriculture, or Farmers' Institutes; to co-operate with the State Experiment Station, if necessary, in conducting experiments in poultry raising; to recommend to the County Associations throughout the State competent men to pass judgment upon their poultry exhibits; and, in future, if advisable, to hold one or more exhibitions, in places to be decided upon by the Board of Directors.

ARGUING AGAINST ASSESSMENTS.

School Trustee Day Shows Many Discrepancies in the Work of Piscataway Township's Assessor.

Messrs Manning, Runyon and Stevens, Commissioners of Appeal, Township of Piscataway:

GENTLEMEN: I desire to place on record a protest against the advance of 12½ per cent. in the assessment on the property of M. I. Day. There have been no improvements made during the last year and no advance in values of real estate from any cause has taken place. If the assessment is just now it has been unjust for the past seven or eight years, and it should not take an officer that period to discover it. While this property has been advanced 12½ per cent., the property of Nelson Dunn has been reduced 10 per cent without any apparent cause of depreciation whatever.

Upon glancing at the assessment list of School District No. 3, I am convinced that a great discrepancy in valuations exist; a few examples will be sufficient for me to quote in order to direct your attention specifically:

Parsons	$5,500
A. B. Smith	3,000
Hallett	2,900
Thorn	700
Balch	1,800
Dryden	5,000
Blackford	3,000
Sharp	700
Smalley	1,000
M. L. I. Co.	6,250

Take the Dryden property, which has been improved and embellished with lavish expenditure; would anyone doubt that it would readily sell for double the amount of the Parsons property, which is assessed $500 higher?

Take Sharp's $700 on property, which has lately sold for $1,350, and we find a basis of about 50 per cent. on value; and then compare Thorn's $700 or Smalley's $1,000—the latter property would not bring that amount today.

In land I only quote two examples; Balch's 30 acres at $60 per acre; and then take the M. L. I. Co., $6,250 on the Mahlon Vail estate of over 140 acres, which cannot be bought for less than $100 per acre, and you will find an assessment of less than $45 per acre, for land admirably situated for improvement, with large frontages on Washington avenue and 7th street, or Union avenue, and having an intrinsic value not attached to ordinary farming land.

If such glaring inequalities of taxation exists in this School District, it naturally induces to the belief that similar inaccuracies exist throughout the township, and leads one to believe a monstrous wrong and injustice is being perpetrated upon the taxpayers through a want of equalization.

It becomes your duty to correct this evil as far as your judgment may dictate, but becomes a question whether the entire assessment roll should not be submitted to a higher court to pass judgment upon. This might lead to serious inconvenience, but, in the event of your taking no action, such a course would suggest itself as a public duty.

Again, I find that exemptions are made on real estate for personal debts due outside of the District and upon which no taxes are collected. Now as it is the rule not even to deduct mortgages unless the tax on the mortgage can be collected, I do not believe this deduction of personal debts off real estate is legal, unless the tax can be collected on that personal property in this District.

In any event it is certainly desirable that the taxpayers should be made acquainted with a system which exonerates a number from paying a fair share of the existing heavy rate of taxation, at the expense of their neighbors, in order that a remedy may be in the future applied, even at the ballot box, if necessary.

The Township this year has been assessed at an increased valuation of $56,000; whilst New Brunswick, whose assessment has been notoriously low for years, was reduced $300,000. Her tax rate, I am told, is $40 on the $1,000, which suggests that her assessment is less than 50 per cent of equal value placed on property in this Township. The natural inference and conclusion must be that Piscataway pays a much larger share of the State and County tax in proportion to actual values; and it is to the want of a just and equitable assessment that this deplorable state of affairs can be traced. At all events a system that assesses one citizen at 100 cents on the dollar and another at 50 cents, cannot be exposed too soon. You will, therefore, receive and accept this communication as an "open letter."

Yours faithfully,

STANLEY DAY.

Sunday School Entertainment at Evona.

The entertainment given by the Union Sabbath school of Evona, on Tuesday, was a perfect success in every particular. The programme was as follows:

Piano solo; doll drill by 18 little girls, concluding with a recitation by Hattie Mandell; a recitation from Bertha Brown; song by 4 little girls accompanied on the piano by Mary Seaume; piano solo; tableaux of the 10 Virgins; declamation by Eddie Randolph; "see-saw" by Bertha Brown and Stephen Huff; dialogue by Miss Katrina Huff and Master Fred Sutton; song by Sadie Elliott, a child under 5 years old, which was beautifully rendered; tableaux, "Day Driven by Night" which was very fine—Miss King personating "Day," and Miss E. Huff "night." The piano solos by Mrs. Carpenter, of Dunellen, were beautifully given and appreciated by all.

—Many persons in this city are suffering from severe colds, contracted by the sudden changes in the weather.

PROGRESSIVE PLAINFIELD'S PRIVILEGES.

Another Source of Attraction That no Other City Could Support.

Editorially the Elizabeth Journal said yesterday: "Roller skating was thought to be long since obsolete, but it seems that the progressive city of Plainfield has a roller skating rink, and announces that some of the old time favorites will appear there on Thanksgiving. So far as heard from Plainfield is the only city in the State that has a big, handsome and almost useless skating rink.

"After the craze subsided it was a grave question how to dispose of these places of amusement. The Temple in this city has become one of the leading theatres in the State; others have been utilized for a variety of purposes, but Plainfield's handsome Crescent remains exactly as it was."

PLAINFIELD'S CHORAL SOCIETY.

The Grand Concert That Will Open Its Season.

It is understood that the Choral Society is making arrangements to give its first concert the latter part of the coming month. Besides the usual part songs, the Society will render as the feature of the evening as told exclusively in THE PRESS of some day's ago, Gaul's "Holy City" a work that, judging from the interest the members take in it will be greatly enjoyed by the audience.

Four Soloists from New York will be engaged to take the necessary solo parts and assist in making the concert a success. In this connection we desire to say that we doubt if those of our community who love good music fully realize the excellent work this body of vocalists is doing. The membership is much larger than in previous years and by the increase of male voices, and the better balancing of parts, the members are sure to exceed their former efforts. We believe the supporters of the Society will not only be pleased but surprised at the efficiency of the chorus. Many residents who have come to this city since the Vocal Society suspended its concerts which for so many years delighted all who attended them, may not be aware that they have the opportunity of enjoying as finely rendered music, and as carefully a prepared programme as they would by attending similar concerts given by any of the several Societies in New York, where such entertainments are considered a rare treat, and which are attended by fashionable and critical audiences. The concerts are of the same character, are conducted in the same manner, and as first-class soloists appear at each concert, the Society is not dependent altogether on local talent to be successful, as the members are ably seconded by the efforts of the soloists, thereby giving a pleasing variety to the programme.

PLAINFIELD YALE CLUB.

Its Prosperity, Influence and Public Spirit.

The members of the Plainfield Yale Club are planning for an elaborate banquet, to be held early this Winter, and promise to treat the college and social World to a most brilliant event.

The club was organized in the Fall of 1887 for the double purpose of arousing in Plainfield an interest in Yale University and of promoting social intercourse among the resident graduates. The membership at the outset numbered thirteen, and this it still continues, one member having resigned owing to a change of residence, and one new member having been elected. The annual meeting for the election of officers is held the first Tuesday of December, and special meetings are called by the President or three other members at such times as seem desirable.

The present officers are as follows: President—Rev. Wm. R. Richards, '73. Secretary and Treasurer—Howard C. Tracy, '81. Executive Committee—Samuel St. J. McCutchen, '73, chairman J. Frank Raymond, '85, James R. Joy, '85, and ex-officio the Secretary and Treasurer.

Since the foundation of the club an annual banquet has been held during the Christmas vacation, attended by the undergraduate Plainfielders and invited guests representing other colleges. How successful the club has been in arousing local interest in Yale, may be seen in the fact that at its formation there were six undergraduate Plainfielders in the University, while now there are thirteen.

The public spirit of the club has found expression in subscribing to and placing in the Plainfield Public Library various publications, including, of course, The Yale Literary Magazine, and The Yale Record. The membership of the club promises to be materially increased at the business meeting attending the forthcoming banquet, and the future prospects of the club are very bright.

Injured at Ponds.

Henry Van Middlesworth an employe at the Pond Tool Works, was painfully injured while at work there Monday. In some unexplained manner a heavy spindle fell on the index finger of the left hand, terribly crushing the finger. The unfortunate man was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, where the matron dressed the wound.

Charity Without Ostentation.

A PRESS reporter noticed among the deliveries Wednesday fifty pounds of chicken from Mrs Louisa Closson to the Relief Association; turkeys from Col. Wm. H. Sterling to the Children's Home and Muhlenberg Hospital; chickens from Mr H. G Runkle to the Relief Association, and turkeys to all the men in his gas house; and two twenty-two pounds turkeys from Andrew J. Carney to Muhlenberg Hospital and the Children's Home.

A Word to Business Men.

Careless business men, if we have any such should read with profit the following decision recently given by the United States Supreme Court: "When the drawer has drawn his check in such a careless and incomplete manner that a material alteration may be readily accomplished without leaving a perceptible mark or giving the instrument a suspicious appearance, he himself prepares the way for fraud, and, if committed, he, and not the bank, should suffer."

The Late Solomon Flaig.

By the death of the late Solomon Flaig, which occurred Tuesday, the city loses an influential citizen and the members of the grief stricken family are bereft of a kind and loving husband and father.

Mr. Flaig was for three years a member of the Board of Fire Commissioners and for fifteen years he was a valued member of Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company. He was one of the charter members of the Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein, and a member of the Fireman's Relief Association. He was also at one time a member of the County Democratic Executive Committee. The funeral will take place from the First Presbyterian church on Friday at 1:30 P. M.

The Post Office clerks and carriers met yesterday and adopted the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, It has pleased God to remove from our midst our fellow-associate and friend, Solomon Flaig,

Resolved, That in the death of Solomon Flaig we feel that we have lost a valued friend and companion; and while bowing to the will of an inscrutable Providence, desire to express our unfeigned sorrow at the sudden demise of our fellow-carrier and associate.

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathies to his bereaved family in this their hour of affliction.

—Tuesday of next week is Election day but the public schools and public offices will all be open. It is not a legal holiday.

An Elizabeth Pastor Resigns.

Rev. Cornelius Eckel, for three years pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, at Elizabeth, has resigned his pastorate, to the great surprise and grief of his congregation.

Changes in Real Estate.

Manager Moore of the Electric Light company has traded with Mr. W. J. Penoyer of Orange county, N. Y., a farm of 38 acres, situated near Rahway, for the desirable piece of property on the East corner of Sixth street and Madison avenue, with a frontage of 188 feet on Madison avenue. Mr. Moore will probably reside on his newly acquired property.

That Washout Case.

The fourth hearing of the testimony in the South Plainfield washout case occurred before Commissioner Boice at New Brunswick on Friday. Civil Engineer F. A. Dunham of this city, L. H. Tappen and A. S. Manning were examined on behalf of Piscataway township. The further hearing of the dispute was postponed until December 5.

Found With a Broken Leg.

The Elizabeth Herald of Saturday says: "Yesterday morning a man giving his name as that of John Lanbern, and his home as Plainfield, was found lying on Bridge street, Newark, with his leg broken near the ankle. He was at once removed to St. Barnabas hospital, where the injured member was set. It is not said how he come to break it."

Satisfying Their Creditors.

H. Gale and Edward White, the sureties for Christopher A Bettman in his contract to build a sewer for the city of Bayonne, have settled all outstanding claims for work and intend to complete the contract. His hardware business at Bergen Point has been bought in by his brother, J. Marion Bettman, of North Plainfield, who caused its sale by Sheriff Davis to satisfy a judgment of $3,000 which he held. The place brought $1,300. Bettman has announced his intention to liquidate every dollar of his indebtedness.

RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF DR. JOBS.

Proceedings of the Middlesex Gun Club at a Special Meeting.

A special meeting of the Middlesex Gun Club was called to meet at Force's Hotel, this city, Saturday evening last, to hear a report from the October tournament committee. In their absence, however, a verbal report was made by the President, that after all bills were paid, there is a small balance of about $60 left over. The following resolutions were presented by the Secretary and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Almighty to remove from our midst by death our fellow member, Dr. N. C. Jobs.

Resolved, That it is with unfeigned sorrow we learn of his sudden demise and mourn his loss as a companion and member of the Middlesex Gun Club.

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathies to the deceased's bereaved family, and that these resolutions be entered at length on the minutes of the Club and a copy be sent to his family.

A PASTOR RESIGNS.

The Rev. Mr. Mitchell to Give Up His Charge of the Plainfield Colored Baptists.

At a regular meeting of the Mount Olive Baptist church, held on Monday, the pastor, the Rev. J. W. Mitchell, tendered his resignation to take effect the first of next March.

After the regular business of the meeting, the communication was read in which the pastor gave his people three months notice. The discussion of the matter that followed, was with good feeling throughout. A vote upon the acceptance resulted in 33 in the affirmative and 18 in the negative.

Deacons Mansfield Robinson, Edward Maynard and John Reed, certify to the church's acceptance of the resignation. The Mount Olive congregation have no other pastor in view as yet, but Mr. Mitchell will continue to preach to them until March 1890.

NEED NORTH PLAINFIELDERS PAY TAXES?

A Rumored Supreme Court Decision That May Hold Boroughs Powerless to Assess and Collect.

A New York paper the other day said that "consternation had been aroused" in the sea-coast boroughs of this State by the decision of the Supreme Court declaring the recent Seaside Borough Act unconstitutional. All the seaside boroughs were reorganized under the act, and the decision wipes out the Government of at least a dozen of them. They are therefore powerless to collect taxes, and the validity of bonds issued by them is in question.

The article goes on to say that the boroughs will probably appeal to the Court of Errors. Beyond this, fears are entertained that the decision may reach other boroughs of the first, second, third and fourth classes in other parts of the State. In that case the decision destroys the Governments of about sixty other towns. Competent South Jersey lawyers say that they do not see how these can escape being affected by the decision.

It was also said that $5,000,000 or more will be lost in the inland boroughs alone. A case to test the constitutionality of the special act under which they are incorporated will come up before the Supreme Court early next year.

PLAINFIELD LOSES AGAIN.

The "Mondays" of Westfield Get There With Both Feet.

The sixth game in the league contest for the championship of Union county, was rolled on the Westfield alleys, on Monday, between the Monday Club of that place and the Crescent League team of this city. The usual result followed—the defeat of the Plainfielders. Mr. Chas. MacQuoid was umpire, and Messrs Reese and H. Teel, scorers.

Westfield led from start to finish, yet Plainfield had many opportunities to pull itself out of the hole it was in. These tournament bowls are the first match games the Crescent League team were ever in, and their lack of experience and team practice grows more evident. The score was as follows:

MONDAYS OF WESTFIELD.

	S.	S.	B.	Score.
Cohen	1	5	4	149
Dorval	2	2	6	144
Pierson	2	5	2	[illegible]
Reese	3	1	6	[illegible]
Dallas	2	4	4	144
Rohman	2	5	3	[illegible]
F. VanEmburgh	3	0	7	[illegible]
Wilcox	3	4	3	160
[illegible]	2	6	4	[illegible]
Seely	3	5	3	[illegible]
Total				[illegible]

PLAINFIELD.

	S.	S.	B.	Score.
H. VanEmburgh	2	7	1	178
Jackson	2	2	6	[illegible]
VanWinkle	1	5	4	136
Rogers	1	5	3	[illegible]
Baker	3	3	4	[illegible]
[illegible]	0	0	10	[illegible]
Ward	2	1	7	[illegible]
G. Teel	3	4	3	[illegible]
[illegible]	2	2	6	[illegible]
Davis	2	1	7	[illegible]
Total				[illegible]

FRAMES.

Plainfield [illegible]

Monday's [illegible]

The record now stands:

	WON.	LOST.
Nameless of Westfield	3	0
Monday " "	3	1
Elizabeth Athletic Club	1	2
Pastime of Westfield	1	2
Crescent of Plainfield	0	3

Dropsy and Paralysis.

DR. FLINT'S REMEDY prevents the development of all of those terrible diseases dependent upon disease of the heart, such as dropsy, inflammation of the lungs, paralysis, and mental derangement. Descriptive treatise with each bottle; or address Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

Ladies' Day.

Monday afternoons and evenings of each week will be reserved entirely for the ladies, at the Crescent League's club house, hereafter. No smoking will be indulged in by the gentlemen, and the ladies will have the prior right to the alleys.

HELP!

Who Will Assist This Poverty Stricken Family?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I address you as the head of a paper that has done more for the assistance of the deserving poor and the afflicted, than all the other papers of the city. The people of Plainfield recognize at once, if THE PRESS recommends a case, is worthy they need no other endorsement.

A wealthy gentleman of this city who subscribed ten times as much as anyone else for the return of Miss Fliege to her home in Germany, did so entirely upon the recommendation of your paper. In the case of little Willie Hamilton, I understand that there was sent you for him more than he knew what to do with, and you gave the balance to the Children's Home.

I want to call the attention of the people who read THE PRESS to the case of Mrs. Forrester, now living on Grove street, between Linden avenue and Green Brook road. She has seven children—two of whom are twins of a few weeks old—but with absolutely no means of support—her husband having been sent to prison for an offense to which he plead guilty.

She needs coal, food and clothing. No matter how bad a man is her husband, she and her children are suffering human beings.

MERCY.

A FEW COMMENTS.

Theatres in Plainfield, and a Local News Item.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I was looking over a Boston paper the other day when I came across the following item:

"Two German explorers have passed the Summer in cruising about the shores of Spitzbergen, and the result of their toil is that they have discovered a new Arctic current. They might have discovered a dozen by sitting on any Winter evening near a door in Music Hall."

And how well this applies to our Music Hall! One cannot help thinking what a great and overpowering resemblance there must be between that Boston Music Hall and our own. The middle of the parquet is about the only spot where anyone who is in the least susceptible to draughts and does not happen to be attired in a full dress Esquimaux costume, can sit with impunity. The very look of those great, bleak, barren walls is enough to give one a chill.

It's too bad we couldn't have had a pretty, cosy little play house while we were about it; instead of a vast, bare structure, too big for two Plainfields and nearly big enough to hold a Democratic convention. Nobody blamed the rustic who wanted to put up his team in Music Hall the other day, mistaking it for a barn! Our hopes are centred on Second street and Pruden's alley. Let our new theatre be as little as it likes, so long as it is cosy and comfortable; let it have carpets on its floors and covers on its chairs, and hangings and draperies around like any other civilized play-house. If it is made attractive it will pay well; but, if it is not, it won't pay any better than does our present Music Hall.

CRITIQUE.

HOW THE MONEY WENT.

The Amounts Expended on the Various Accounts by the State.

The following detailed statements taken from the State Treasurer's report to the Governor shows the disbursements on different accounts of the State during the past year:

Court expenses, $146,938.06; State Lunatic Asylums, $143,857 99; militia, $124,683 66; public debt, $90,000; Legislature, $84,300.31; Home for Disabled Soldiers, $81,619.30; County Lunatic Asylums, $78,522.20; State Prison maintenance, $76,082.14; State Prison salaries, $74,521.90; advertising, $59,123.45; Reform School, $52,3[illegible]; Blind and Feeble-Minded, $47,100.31; salaries, 46.118 76; printing, $42,604.72; State Capitol, $26,156 02; State House expenses, $25,010.83; clerical service, $21,561.97; State Board of Assessors, $18,651.[illegible]; interest, $18,500; Agricultural Experiment Station, $16,201 76; legal expenses, $14,103.41; Geological Survey, $12,722 60; Dairy Protection, $12,106.29; loans to Sinking Fund, $12,000; Gettysburg Monuments, $9,549.89; Industrial School, $9,090; fisheries, $8,912 21; Labor Inspection, $8,757.90; stationery and postage, $8,537.56; Statute of Stockton and Kearney, $8,157.50; agriculture, $6,8[illegible]; State Board of Health, $6,496.53; State Prison repairs, $6,251.71; Bureau of Statistics, $5,975 52; pensions, $5,246 69; law and equity reports, $5,104.86; New York Centennial, $4,697.25; State House fire, $4,172.95; New York Boundary Commission, $3,006.41; State Library, $2,9[illegible]; Washington Headquarters, $2,5[illegible]; discharged convicts, $2,000; pleuro-pneumonia, $1,152 62; incidentals, $755.88; Sinking Fund expenses, $544.19; wrecks, $543.20; Monmouth Battle Monument, $500; portrait of Governor Parker, $500; special fish commission, $500; appropriation to Wm. S. Truex, $500; charities and corrections, $200; purchase of camp grounds, $89; soldiers' State bounty, $68.65.

The amount of the receipts over the disbursements this year is $72,066, but this includes a loan and does not show actual receipts from the resources of the State.

There are some pretty radical changes in the disbursements over the previous year. The Court expenses are increased nearly, $3,000; lunatic asylums are reduced from $165,328 to $143,857; militia increased from $114,968 to $124,683; Legislature increased from $77,389 to $84,300; Home for Disabled Soldiers decreased from $113,306 to $81,619; State Prison maintenance increased from $71,871 to $76,082; prison salaries increased about $1,000; advertising reduced from $79,999 to 59,123; Blind and Feeble Minded reduced about $1,000; salaries increased about $1,000; printing increased from $39,59[illegible] to $42,604; State House expenses increased from $19,346 to $25,010; Agricultural Experiment Station increased from $11,397 to $16,201.

The following receipts are shown: Tax from railroad corporations, $938,515.39; miscellaneous corporations, $222,103.03; tax from certificates of incorporation, $43 463.20; tax from foreign insurance companies, $6,130.48; tax from Paterson Savings Institution, $750; temporary loan, $150,000; State Prison receipts, $64,267.22; dividends on stock of United Companies, $18,870; Home for Disabled Soldiers, $19,772.33; official fees, $[illegible]; judicial fees, $12,597.11; loans to Sinking Fund, $12,000; fines and forfeited recognizances, $1,197.50; geological survey, $1,200; militia, $1,167.[illegible]; discharged convicts, $741.50; revised statutes, $412 50; commissions, $400; escheats, $167.70; Legislature, 42.06; Industrial School, $22 03; State House expenses, $[illegible]; total, $1,512,061.42. The total receipts last year were $1,504,124.36. The receipts from the railroads are about $[illegible] less than last year; State Prison receipts increased from $57,294 to $64,[illegible].

The use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, stimulates the secretions, and imparts new life and vigor to every function of the body. For nearly half a century, it has remained unrivaled as the best blood medicine ever discovered. Be convinced by a trial.

"All For a Wife."

Under the auspices of St. Mary's T. A. B. Society, the Plainfield Dramatic Club will produce the popular melo drama, "A Desperate Game; or, All For a Wife" at T. A. B. Hall on the evening of Thursday, December 26. The drama is humorous, with not one dull minute throughout.

Flemington Sorrows.

"The Somerville police force have received their new overcoats, belts and clubs, and while they stand in front of the mirror admiring their beauty, thieves uninterruptedly break into the stores and freight cars, and other places where valuables are to be had. More vigilance and club and less overcoat and belt is what Somerville needs."—Hunterdon Democrat.

Bowling at Dunellen.

The last of the series of bowling games between the Dunellen and Middlesex teams was bowled on the green at Dunellen, Thursday, and was won by the former named team by a score of 21 to 20. The following persons constituted the two teams:

Dunellen—Messrs C. Schepflin, James Stevens, J. R. Smith, F. P. Haffner.

Middlesex—Messrs W. Bewster Willis, H. M. Pettit, E. D. Christian, F. J. Richters.

A Remarkable Occurrence.

On Monday last Mrs. Annie DeHart Morrison, a sister of Mrs. Rev. W. E. Honeyman of North Plainfield, died at her home near Dover, N. J., and a few hours later on the same day the deceased's aunt, Miss Phœbe DeHart, died from paralysis.

To add to the grief caused by the death of the two ladies, an uncle of Mrs. Honeyman's, living at Madison was, the next day, thrown from a carriage, and it is thought fatally injured.

Special Officers Appointed.

President T. Logan Murphy of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Friday appointed the following persons to act as special officers with authority to arrest all persons who are guilty of cruelty to animals:

Messrs J. C. Allen, D. C. Adams, F. S. Brown, J. P. Bush, W. A. Coddington, T. J. Carey, W. R. Codington, R. C. Dingee, T. O. Doane, S. E. Flower, C. W. Fisher, A. M. Griffin, Dr. O. L. Jenkins, Jno. Johnson, L. A. Kline, W. J. Leonard, Dr. H. H. Lowrie, C. A. Marsh, J. Marc Martin, Rev. T. L. Murphy, J. O. Nodyne, J. Scott, Wm. M. Stillman.

A Return of the Old, Old Pleasure.

That lovers of roller-skating are a legion yet, will be proven by the crowds at The Crescent, Thanksgiving afternoon and evening.

The management has already received news of large parties from New Brunswick and Elizabeth, and other adjacent places will also add their numbers to the attendance. Miss Jennie Houghton, know during the height of the late 'craze from one end to the other of the country, and who has since developed from a pretty girl to a lovely woman, will give exhibitions both afternoon and evening of her art as in days gone by.

Something New in Ferry Boats.

The Central Railroad Company has offered the public something new in the line of ferry boats. The handsome boat Communipaw has been refitted, and comes to the service again minus the old metal arm rails which have divided the long cabin benches into comfortable seats ever since ferry boats were ferry boats.

The new arrangement crowds the possessors of seats beyond any degree of comfort, and forcibly reminds one of a horse-car during the rush of the day. The patrons would rather take even chances of getting a seat or standing up rather than submit to the infliction.

Tingley—Myers.

About fifty relatives and friends gathered at the residence of Mr. J. B. Myers, at Bound Brook, on Wednesday, Nov. 20, to witness the marriage of Mr. Ulysses Grant Tingley, of Dunellen, and Miss Linda Belle, daughter of Capt. S. H. Myers, a former resident of Bound Brook. The ceremony was preformed by Rev R. Johns, pastor of the M. E. church, of Bound Brook, assisted by the Rev. D. W. Skellinger, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Dunellen.

Miss Mamie McNabb played the wedding march as the ushers Mr. C. Trafton Clark, and Mr. Merton W. Bennett, of Yonkers, N. Y., entered the room followed by the bridal pair. The bride wore cream colored cloth and valenciennes lace. The groom wore the customary suit of black.

The gifts were exceptionally handsome. Mr. and Mrs. Tingley left town on the 8:31 P. M., train for Philadelphia amid a shower of rice and old shoes.

Christmas Within Sight.

An enthusiastic exchange exclaims: How the years roll around! Here we are again, right on, the threshold of the Christmas holidays. It seems but as yesterday when the Christmas festivities set the whole world aglow with evidences of affectionate regard—the inspiration of the most enjoyable festival in the history of human joys and human blessings.

The recurrence of another Christmas so near at hand, will awaken all the old joyous anticipations which attach to this grand and ancient holiday. Housewives will be busy from now until the night before Christmas preparing for the feasts of the day following, and hopeful hearts, in young and old bosoms, will swell with expectancy as to what jolly old Saint Nicholas will bring to them. The time between this and Christmas will soon speed by, the gladdest day of the year will soon be here, and may it be one of joy to all who live to greet its rising sun and blessings.

Memories of the Revolutionary War.

The Metuchen correspondent of the New Brunswick Fredonian writes as follows:

"After attending a very interesting golden wedding in Pennsylvania, visiting Niagara and Canada and delivering a dozen lectures on astronomy in various places out West, L. W. Thickstun returned to his quiet home in this place Tuesday. He is ready and anxious to fix dates for more talks on descriptive astronomy in new fields in New Jersey. J. A. Thickstun and wife, of Plainfield, were the other members of the company which went West in September. All were greatly pleased with the journey, the country and the people.

"In comparing notes John A. and L. W. Thickstun found that their great grandfathers were brothers who had some bitter but honorable experience in the Revolutionary struggle. Joseph Thickstun John's great-grandfather, was a scout in Gen. Washington's army, with headquarters near Plainfield, 110 years ago. He, with four others, well mounted and, for those days, well armed, dared to cross the British lines near here night after night and after a stay of a day in the swamp near the Raritan would return, taking with him what information could be obtained about the enemy. On several occasions the party fell in with British foraging expeditions where the red coats were persuaded with cold lead to leave their spoil and run for their lives. Some aid and comfort was gained in this way for Washington's needy troops, but it was a source of great annoyance as well as some loss to the British."

Delicate Women.

Children and delicate women should not be forced to take the vile compounds which are usually given for indigestion, etc. HAMBURG FIGS are like preserved fruit, and are the best laxative known. 25c. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

Death of Letter Carrier Flaig.

Solomon Flaig, letter carrier No 1, in the Post Office, died on Tuesday at half-past ten o'clock, at his residence on East Front street, from tumor in the stomach, after an illness of about one month.

Mr. Flaig was appointed a carrier by Postmaster Force, Oct. 1, 1888, and has served diligently up to time when symptoms of his fatal malady made an appearance. This was while he was on his vacation in October last. Mr. Flaig was an efficient official, and had many warm friends on his route, and was highly esteemed among his fellow-carriers. He was born in Germany in 1835, and came to this country in 1854. For many years he was engaged in his vocation of shoe merchant at his late residence. He leaves a wife, two sons and one daughter.

DR. VANDEGRIFT'S COTTAGE BURNED.

A Mysterious Fire in Washington Valley.

The Summer cottage of Dr. George Munson Vandegrift, of 277 Henry street, New York, situated on the hill back of Moses H French's mill in Washington Valley, was entirely destroyed by fire Saturday, about 10:30 o'clock. The flames were so fierce when discovered, it was impossible to approach within 100 feet of them. Nothing was saved—even a pet dog of the Doctor's perished. The house cost about $2,000 to build three years ago. Everything fully covered by insurance.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. The cottage was occupied by E. F. Budd during the owner's residence in New York. Budd had only a wood fire built this morning to make coffee for himself and another of the Doctor's men who had been sent out to see about building a new barn on the place. This man left the house early that morning, and when afterwards interviewed by a PRESS reporter said that when Budd on his way to Plainfield that morning for his week's groceries, subsequently passed where he was working, he said he put the fire in the stove all out before leaving.

A Birthday Celebration.

There was a pleasant gathering at No. 7 Washington street, on Saturday evening, Nov. 23, to celebrate the sixty-sixth birthday of Street Commissioner Angleman.

There were gathered under one roof all the lineal decendents of Mr. Angleman, with one exception, the eldest grandson being located in far away Kansas, preaching the gospel. There were present five children, and nineteen grandchildren, ranging from the wee toddling baby to the young man past his majority. After supper, which was served at seven o'clock a speech was called for from the host, and the latter responded in a humorous vein, telling his grandchildren that in the year 1823 there was a baby boy born on Pluckamin mountain; of his early days and of his coming to Plainfield in 1841. Mr. Angleman said that although it was a long time ago yet he felt as young as he did then. He told of the many changes that have come to the town since he settled here and in conclusion he admonished the boys to be sure and grow up good, manly, honest temperance boys, and the girls to let it be known that "the lips that touch wine, shall never touch mine."

Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. John Angleman and daughter, Mr. William Angleman and mother, Miss Melissa Angleman, Mr. and Mrs. I. McVoy and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kellar and family, Mrs. Dodge and family, Mr. and Mrs. Giles and family, Mr. and Mrs. Northup, Miss Northup, Mr. and Mrs. McClain, Miss McClain and Mr. Joe Kellar.

After spending a merry evening the guests all dispersed to their homes wishing grandpa many happy returns of his natal day.

MISTAKEN MISTER MOORE.

The Secretary of the Elizabeth Foot Ball Team Says Some Hard Things of Secretary Cox of Plainfield.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ELIZABETH JOURNAL:—The "Dauntless" wish to explain the apparent misunderstanding of the foot ball game on Saturday, on the Maple avenue grounds, and trust the patrons of our base ball, as well as foot ball teams, will be satisfied with our explanation.

We received a special telegram Friday night from Manager Cox of Plainfield, saying that his "team were partly disabled, and it would be impossible for them to come to Elizabeth on Saturday and play." We accordingly notified our team, and the boys all denounced the Plainfielders as "crawlers," and as being afraid of us. But it seems that the telegram was sent to us for a "fake," as they really expected to come, and did come, eleven strong, and on account of the telegram misleading us found a scrub team and beat them easily.

They stated on their arrival that they had sent a second telegram on Saturday morning saying they would come. But that was "another" ——; no second telegram came, and even if one had been sent, it was too late to get word to our players, some of them going off to New York, Bergen Point, etc., for the day.

About four hundred of our friends, among whom were many ladies, assembled on the grounds to see the game as advertised. Of course we did not have a chance to notify the public, hence this explanation.

S. C. MOORE,

Sec'y Dauntless B B. C.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

KASKINE,

(THE NEW QUININE.)

Gives Good Appetite, New Strength, Quiet Nerves, Happy Days, Sweet Sleep.

A POWERFUL TONIC.

A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

[illegible] Kaskine cured me after I had been dosed with almost every drug in the pharmacopœia.—J. D. Bird, B. A., Chemist Maryland Agricultural College.

"For eight years I had dumb ague [illegible] Kaskine [illegible]"—Thos. Toole, Schuylerville, N. Y.

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

KASKINE CO., 103 Duane St., New York.

Children's Home.

Miss Amelia B. Edwards,

The distinguished Egyptologist, will give an Illustrated Lecture on

"Queen Hatasu and the Women of Ancient Egypt."

At MUSIC HALL, Friday Evening DECEMBER 6, 1889, at 8 o'clock.

[illegible]

WHITENACK'S

New Jersey Real Estate Agency,

No. 171 BROADWAY,

Room 18. NEW YORK.

Correspondence solicited.

F. DUMONT WHITENACK, REAL ESTATE AGENT.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FINE CLOTHING.

A large assortment of Fall and Winter Goods.

Ready-Made Department.—Suits, Overcoats and Ulsters for Men and Boys in all sizes, made of the best materials and in the best manner possible.

Custom Department.—A heavy stock of Woollens, this Season's importation. Fashionable goods in plain and fancy Woollens for Fall and Winter wear. Goods fit and finish the very best.

Men's Furnishing Department.—Shirts ready made or to order as desired. Smoking Jackets and Dressing Gowns ready made or to order. Imported Silk, also All-Wool Underwear. English Mackintosh Coats. French Pajamas. Everything to clothe the body except Hats and Shoes. Self-measurement blanks furnished on application, also samples.

TREDWELL, SLOTE & COMPANY,

273, 275, 277 BROADWAY, N. Y.,

COR. BROADWAY AND CHAMBERS ST

RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER

Cures All Diseases.

The claim to cure all diseases, may at first glance seem very absurd; but after reading our pamphlet, giving a history of the Microbe Killer, explaining the germ theory of disease, and reading our testimonials, which prove conclusively there is no disease it will not cure, the truth of our assertion becomes clear. No person suffering from any blood, chronic or contagious disease should let a day pass without getting and reading this interesting book, which will be given away or mailed free. The gentlemen connected with this company are well-known business men of this city. Agents wanted everywhere. Address

The Wm. Radam Microbe Killer Co.,

54 Sixth Avenue,

NEW YORK CITY

Parlor Stoves

Othello Ranges,

Steam and Hot Water Heating

Hot Air Heating,

Hardware,

Plumbing,

Tinning,

And House Furnishings

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 East Front Street.

TELEPHONE CALL, 6.

Don't spoil your Feet with Cheap Shoes!

WEAR THE BURT & PACKARD

"Korrect Shape."

Don't allow your dealer to palm off any substitute, as we have arranged to supply the "Korrect Shape" Shoes in any style for Gent's, Boys or Youths, and prepay all delivery charges where they are not sold.

You can only find them in Plainfield, N. J., at DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S, 23 W. FRONT ST.

Made in four grades "HAND-MADE, HAND-WELT, BURTWELT and MACHINE SEWED," which is stamped on the sole in addition to the trade-mark above.

PACKARD & FIELD,

(Successors to Burt & Packard)

Brockton, Mass.

Great Inducements in

Square Parlor Stoves,

RANGES, &c.

STOVES, LAMPS, TINWARE,

CUTLERY, GRANITEWARE,

MACHINIST and CARPENTER TOOLS,

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, &c.

POWDER, SHOT AND SHELLS.

J. C. PIERSON, Jr.,

Telephone 126. 41 WEST FRONT ST

M. N. TERRILL & CO.,

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,

No. 29 E. FRONT STREET.

M. N. TERRILL— GEO. W. COLE.

Practical Embalmer, and assistant to the late firm of Ford & Stiles.

A. M. RUNYON & SON,

UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS,

60 PARK AVENUE.

Telephone Call 40.

RESIDENCE—48 MADISON AVENUE.

Telephone Call 27.

"Office of Hillside Cemetery."

P. CASEY & SON,

UNDERTAKERS,

OFFICE—No. 1 Somerset St.

Residence, No. 11 Third street, corner New, Plainfield, N. J. Everything pertaining to the business always on hand, and lower than any other firm in the State. All Calls Promptly answered Day or Night.

WANTS AND INFORMATION.

STORAGE—FIRST-CLASS ACCOMMODATIONS in newly-partitioned rooms. All thoroughly cleaned and free from vermin. Separate rooms if desired. Apply at [illegible] owner, M. VERMEULE. Two buggies for sale cheap.

A new idea embraced in Ely's Cream Balm. Catarrh is cured by cleansing and healing, not by drying up. It is not a liquid or snuff, but is easily applied into the nostrils. Its effect is magical, and a thorough treatment will cure the worst cases. Price 50c.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria, When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria, When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria, When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

With Ely's Cream Balm a child can be treated without pain or dread and with perfect safety. Try the remedy. It cures catarrh, hay fever, colds in the head. It is easily applied into the nostrils and gives relief with the first application. Price 50c.

PEERLESS DYES [illegible]

CITY DEPARTMENT

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

[illegible], - - City Editor.

—Oh, for a Y. M. C. A. building.

—Attention is called to a dangerous hole in the roadbed on Mountain avenue.

—The case of the City vs. Patrick Muldoon has been adjourned for a week.

—The regular meeting of Major Anderson Post, No. [illegible], G. A. R., will be held on Thanksgiving night.

—[illegible] [illegible], exhibition by Jessie Houghton and Fuller skating for everybody, at The Crescent, afternoon and evening of today.

—The annual parlor sale by the ladies of the Holy Cross church will take place during the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, December 4.

—Joseph F. Sullivan of this city has pleaded not guilty to the indictment found [illegible] assault. His trial will take place on Friday.

—On account of Thanksgiving Day falling on Thursday next, the regular weekly meeting of the Reform Club will be omitted on that evening.

—One of the hind wheels of Mr. J. T. Vail's carriage came off on West Fourth street, Monday afternoon, but none of the occupants of the vehicle were injured.

—No. 2 Engine company will take their apparatus out for a wash on Thanksgiving Day afternoon. The engine will pump from the well at Park avenue and Fifth street.

—The Crescent Avenue Congregational and Park Avenue Baptist churches will unite in a Thanksgiving Day service in the latter named church on Thursday morning.

—Anyone of limited capital, but who can bowl [illegible], has a chance of winning a turkey at the Olympia alleys, Wednesday evening, when turkey sweepstakes will be open to all.

—Mr. Joseph Bird of West Second street, had a foot painfully injured while erecting a [illegible] at the Potter Press Works, yesterday afternoon. He was taken home in a carriage.

—It is reported that burglars attempted to force an entrance into Bowman's boarding house one night last week, but the intruders were frightened away before accomplishing their design.

—Two of [illegible] E. Hart's new stores on Park avenue have been leased, and one of them will be opened about December 1, as a fancy goods store, under the firm name of Shore & Becker.

—Henry W. Scoville, of Waterbury, Conn., has offered the Young Men's Christian Association of that place a lot valued at $20,000, providing $60,000 be secured during the coming year, 1890.

—Mr. Jasper [illegible] has recently become the owner of a strip of land and the water way in the "Notch" on Somerset street which was for many years owned by Mr. F. M. French and the late Nathan Vail. The purchase price was $1,000.

—That "[illegible] Negro Boy" story from Washington Valley has been traveling around the country at a great rate, and the papers which first published the trash, are now compelled to eat crow by declaring that the whole story was a "fake."

—It is reported that there was an uprising among the Italians who are quartered near Scotch Plains, on Tuesday. The men have been working on the county roads, but the recent wet weather has thrown them out of work, and they are without funds.

—Justice Nash on Tuesday rendered judgment in the action on contract case brought by Woodruff & Beckie, vs. Wm. G Anderson, awarding to the plaintiff $126.17 the full amount claimed, and $3 costs. Mr. W. E. McClure appeared for the plaintiffs and Mr. C. A. Marsh represented the defendant.

—The regular meeting of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be held on Friday evening of this week instead of Thursday evening. It is requested that all the members who can be present, as there are several candidates to be initiated into the order and other attractions will be [illegible] during the evening.

—Contractor [illegible], who is erecting the foundation walls for the Somerset and Richmond street bridges, will not complete his work on the Somerset street bridge until he [illegible] the bed of brook with [illegible] upright. This it is thought will [illegible] a barrier against washouts in the future.

—A Park avenue [illegible] long cut, says he does not object to his patrons assembling in the place at night to discuss politics and prize fighting, but when they attempt to illustrate the manner in which Fort Sumter was fired upon, and substitute [illegible] for cannon balls as they did last evening, patience ceases to be a virtue.

—A member of the Carleton Opera Company told a Press representative last evening, that Mr. W. T. Carleton was simply "resting" in New York while his company performed here. Furthermore he said it was too much trouble to transfer the scenery in the third act, which accounts for the presence of that old-time drawing room scene that the audience has gazed upon "many a time, many a time."

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST SOCIABLE.

A Thanksgiving Entertainment Follows a New England Supper.

The Seventh Day Baptists held another of their novel and enjoyable socials, in the Sabbath School rooms, on Tuesday. Mrs. Joseph G. Miller was in charge of the success, and Miss Grace Lewis and Miss Mabel Potter, assisted.

There was a bountiful supper of New England style to open the evening's entertainment, whereof everyone partook heartily of the pork and baked beans, pumpkin pie, and other old-fashioned dainties provided. The programme that followed included instrumental music by Mr A. L. Titsworth, and vocal solos by Mr. Robert Gordon. A charade in five acts, "Thanksgiving Turkey," was the source of much amusement, and the syllables were portrayed with much originality. There was a large party of the church people and their friends present.

A [illegible] Class.

On Saturday evening of this week, at 8 o'clock, those who have signified a desire to join a class in shorthand, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, together with all who may be interested in the subject, are requested to meet at the association rooms.

Democratic Nominees.

The following candidates will probably be nominated for Councilmen at the Democratic primaries in this city: First ward, W. L. Hebbard; Second ward, L. Spangenberg; Fourth ward, H. D. Moffat. Messrs Teil Bogardus, J. G. Miller and Geo. D. T. VanBuren are spoken of for Councilmen-at-large.

For the Muhlenberg Hospital.

At a recent meeting of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the sum of [illegible] heretofore appropriated under the laws of 1889 for charity hospitals be appropriated as follows: Seventy per cent. of [illegible] to the Elizabeth General Hospital and Dispensary of Elizabeth, N. J., and the remaining thirty per cent. of [illegible] to the Muhlenberg Hospital of Plainfield, N. J., and that the county collector be and is hereby authorized and directed to pay the above named sums to the respective treasurers of said institutions without delay.

PERSONALS.

The Rev. W. R. Richards preached at Princeton, last Sunday.

Miss Powlinger, of North Plainfield, is visiting friends at Sayville, L. I.

Mr. Merritt Potter, formerly of this city, but now of Philadelphia, was in town Friday.

Mrs. G. Q. Dolliver of Manning avenue, North Plainfield, is suffering from quinsy sore throat.

The family of Mr. Charles Hyde have received the sad news of the death of Mr. Hyde's brother.

Ex-Councilman S. P. Y. Wilbur and Mr. John H. Tier, are spoken of as possible nominees for Councilmen from the First Ward.

The friends of Mr. Jeremiah Compton are urging him to run for the Democratic nomination for Councilman in the Fourth Ward.

Mr. Charles C. Davis, formerly of the firm of Talmage & Davis, and now of Bridgeton, N. J., is visiting friends in this city.

Assemblyman Ulrich and wife have returned from a trip to Washington, the Gettysburg battle ground and other points of interest.

A young son of Mr Chas Seible of North Plainfield fell down a flight of stairs on Saturday and broke an arm. Dr. Boone attended to the injury.

Mr. J. W. Handren and family who have a country seat at Dunellen, are now at their city house for the Winter, 122 Washington Park, Brooklyn.

Mr. Jules Roudon, the West Second street hair-dresser, arrived home from Europe on the French steamer, La Gascogne, on Monday of last week.

Mrs. Maggie Cadmus returned to her home in Philadelphia on Saturday, after a short visit to her father, ex-Councilman John Simpson, of East Second street.

Mr. George P. Taggart, of Sycamore avenue, Washington Park, has accepted the position of assistant day editor in the National Press company of New York.

Rev. Mr. Thompson of Lakewood, N. J., has returned home after spending a few days very pleasantly with his sister, Miss Thompson of No. 23 Peace street.

Mrs. Joseph Betterle, of 38 Chatham street, North Plainfield, has been very ill with a severe attack of neuralgia and quinsy sore throat, but she is now improving.

A young son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Stephens, of Warren street, North Plainfield, Monday afternoon. Mother and child are doing as well as can be expected.

Miss Gilbert, a teacher in the Monroe School building, severely sprained her ankle, while on the way to the Grant avenue station, when returning from school, Thursday afternoon.

It is reported that Mr. David Gondon, formerly Captain of the Crescent Base Ball Club, is lying dangerously ill at his home in Providence, R. I., from the effects of hemorrhages.

Mrs. Anna P. Thorn, the aged and respected mother of Mr. E. P. Thorn, celebrated her 89th birthday anniversary on November 20. Mrs. Thorn still retains all her mental faculties.

The Rev. Martin V. Schoonmaker, D. D., formerly of Walden, N. Y., now of New York city, was in Plainfield, Sunday, and attended the morning service at Trinity Reformed church.

Bishop John H. Vincent has disposed of his property at the corner of Fifth street and Arlington avenue, to Mr. C. H. Buckley of West Fifth street, who will take possession on December 1.

Mr. George H. Babcock, of this city, was among the prominent members present at the tenth annual convention of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, held Nov. 20, in New York.

Mrs. Matilda Duryea left in The Press office Tuesday, five dollars for Mrs. Forrester, whose sad case was told of in Saturday's issue, and three dollars for a Thanksgiving dinner for Willie Hamilton.

Mrs. Ezra Brewster of Sewaren, sister of Mrs. Geo. Smock, and Mrs. John Voorhees, of New Brunswick, sister of Mr. Smock, are visiting at the home of their niece, Mrs. Chas. Penfield, on Park avenue.

Mrs. S. C. Peck, Sr., of Connecticut, is visiting her son, Mr. S. C. Peck, Jr., of West Front street. Recently Mrs. Peck fell on a flight of stairs and broke one of the small bones in her wrist. The broken bone is knitting rapidly.

The funeral of the late William Jaques Marsh, who died on Thursday, took place from his father's residence, No. 35 Putnam avenue, on Saturday, at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. E. M. Rodman officiating. Interment was made at Rahway.

Word was received in this city on Nov. 20, of the death of Jacob Titsworth, a brother of Mr. R. Titsworth of West Seventh street, which occurred at the former's residence at Adams, N. Y., on that day. The deceased was about 70 years of age.

Plainfield's population has been increased to the extent of two within the past week. On Friday, Nov. 15, Mr. William Wright was presented with a bouncing baby boy, and a female heir was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Force within the past few days.

The marriage of Henry S. Craft, of this city, and Miss Carrie Fussell, of New York, will take place at the home of the bride, 28 East 28th street, Wednesday evening of next week. Miss Fussell is the daughter of Mr. J. Fussell, the renowned ice cream maker.

Mrs. L. B. Boice and son, E. G. Boice of North Plainfield, arrived in Los Angeles, California, today, where they will spend the Winter in the interest of benefitting the son's health. Letters received from Mrs Boice, while en route, state that the young man's health had improved.

The Commissioners of Appeal, Manning Vermeule, Jeremiah Manning and J. F. MacDonald, with Assessor Hubbard, were in session until late on Tuesday, listening to the complaints of those who considered themselves overtaxed. A number of slight reductions were allowed.

A quiet wedding took place in the parlor at Miller's Hotel, on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, when Mr. Charles Roberts and Miss Lizzie Miller, daughter of the late George Miller were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. Rev. Dr. K. P. Ketcham was the officiating clergyman.

Miss Louise Baum, of Syracuse, a niece of Assessor Joseph A. Hubbard, is visiting for a few days with her relatives on West Fifth street. Miss Baum is on her way South where she will spend the Winter with her mother and sisters previous to the family's departure for Europe next Spring.

William Kellington, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, and a member of the 5th N. Y. Battery, accompanied by his friend, Barry Smith, visited the former's old comrade E. C. Morse, in this city, Nov. 20. Mr. Kellington is blind and deaf from the effects of concussion from shells during action.

Janitor Mattox of Music Hall, was tendered a birthday surprise party at his residence on Park Avenue, Friday evening. About fifty of the members of Howell and Plainfield Divisions, S. of T., were present and enjoyed the evening with games, dancing, etc. The gifts were numerous and appropriate.

The death occurred Nov. 19, at Brighton, N. Y., of Mrs. Emily Brown, formerly of Newark, and wife of Dr. Thomas A. Brown, who is a brother of Mr. Isaac P. Brown, Mrs. Olive Johnson and Mrs. Anna P. Thorn, all of this city. Interment of Mrs. Brown's remains, was made at Penfield, N. Y., on Friday.

Husband versus Wife.

A free fight between man and wife, took place in an East Third street residence on afternoon of Nov. 19, and it is reported that a considerable quantity of claret was spilled during the melee. The man struck his wife on the head with a whiskey bottle, which led to the affray. No arrests were made.

Fix That Walk!

The dilapidated, miserable apology for a board sidewalk on Somerset street, between Ladies and GrandView avenues, is a disgrace that should not longer be tolerated. Let the Borough authorities see to it, and either compel the owner to lay a new one or lay it themselves and assess it against the property.

[illegible] Just as Easy as Can Be.

The new style of street letter boxes recently placed in position in certain localities in the city, by order of the Post Office Department, seem to puzzle a great many citizens who desire to deposit their mail therein. It is only necessary to turn the tray by means of the handles conspicuously displayed on either side of the box, slip the letter on the tray and and let go of the handle. You will never see your letter again, unless you follow it to its destination.

Not the Fault of the Telephone Company.

The wires of the telephone company of this city are all strung upon the company's own poles. Any "induction" as it is called, which causes a "buzzing" and sometimes a lack of clearness in the service, is because of the way the electric light current is run along the telephone poles.

The electric light company are hard at work remedying this, and in a very short time their wires will be changed so as not to interfere with the satisfaction of any telephone subscriber.

Death of Mrs. Abbie Johnson.

It is with sincere regret that we today chronicle the death of Mrs. Abbie Johnson wife of the late Charles Johnson, which occurred at her home on Duer street, North Plainfield, on Friday, from paralysis, in the 78th year of her age. Mrs. Johnson's husband died about nine years ago, and for the past seven years she has been a helpless charge upon the two daughters with whom she lived at the time of her death, and who have watched over and lovingly cared for her during her declining years.

Out of a family of seven children, Mrs Johnson was next to the only remaining member—Mrs. Hettie Johnson, mother of Messrs. A. W. and Russell Johnson of North Plainfield—four sisters and one brother having died in former years.

Mrs. Johnson was a member of the First Baptist church, and as a true Christian woman she lived an exemplary life while here on earth. She is now at rest with her Heavenly Father whom she loved and served. The surviving children are Mrs. Rev. Robert Miller of Elwood, Iowa, Mrs. Sarah Randolph and Miss Grace T. Johnson of North Plainfield, and Mr. Chas. W. Johnson of New York.

AN AGREEABLE EVENING.

Reception to Members of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Quite a large number of young men—members and their friends—attended the reception at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, on Thursday. Mr. Murray welcomed them all in a very happy and neat speech which was loudly applauded. The entertainment provided was varied and pleasant.

The music by an orchestra composed of Prof. P. L. Conde, violin; Mr. Benj. Le Vere, cornet; Mr. Howard Coghill, flute, and Mr. Geo. Rogers, accompanist, was excellent and greatly appreciated. Prof. Conde's violin solos accompanied by Mrs. Buckley on the piano, were the musical features of the evening, and frequent encores showed how much they were enjoyed.

Dr. Laidlaw, after explaining briefly the origin and history of mesmerism, proceeded to illustrate the mysterious power, by causing a young gentleman to do many funny and wonderful things much to the amusement of everybody. The "subject" was told to fish, row a boat, wheel a baby carriage, etc., which he did amid uproarious applause.

The Reception Committee endeavored to make it pleasant for all, and the evening ended with a pleasant social time with refreshments kindly furnished by the Ladies' Committee.

PUNDITA RAMABAI'S WORK IN INDIA.

The Plainfield Supporters of the Movement Have a Meeting.

A good representation of the members of the Ramabai Circle of Plainfield, was present at the second annual meeting of the organization held Friday afternoon in the Congregational church. At the request of the president of the circle, Rev. C. L. Goodrich occupied the chair and opened the meeting with prayer. He read a letter from Rev. E. Everett Hale, who had been invited to be present and make an address. In referring to late reports from Ramabai, Mr. Hale said, "Everything there is encouraging to a degree far beyond my expectations."

The president of the association, Mrs. Dr. H. D. Burlingham, made a brief report of the affairs of the circle, which she said now numbers sixty-five members. Ten of these are life members, having paid $10 each. The amount received from annual dues is $49 which is now in the hands of the Central Association. Five new members have been added to the circle during the year.

Portions of a letter were then read by Mrs. Burlingham which was recently received by her from Pundita Ramabai, dated at Bombay, in which the writer referred pleasantly to Plainfield. The following extracts will be read with interest:

"My school is fairly started now. Twelve pupils are living with me, six of whom are child-widows. Two other widows attend the school as day scholars, I have 25 pupils including the boarders in my school. You will find particulars about them in the Lend a Hand * * * * Please tell the children of Plainfield public schools that their examination papers were a great help to me in showing to my people the difference of methods of instruction given to children in India and in America. Many of the public school teachers here in Bombay were interested to see those papers and have very likely profited by them."

A letter from a member of the National Executive Committee was read giving a few of the details of the pitiful history of some of the child-widows that have already come under the care of Pundita Ramabai since she opened her school a few months ago.

A careful "review of the second year's work of the Ramabai Association for the education of the high-caste child-widows of India," prepared by the Corresponding Secretary of the National Committee was read by W. J. Leonard. The review dealt largely with extracts from letters sent by Pundita Ramabai to the Central Association, giving the story of the remarkable success the brave little woman has already met with in founding the school which promises to be the beginning of a great social revolution in India.

The very interesting meeting of the Plainfield Circle closed with the reading by Mr. Goodrich of the latest report received from Ramabai and contained in the last number of Lend a Hand.

When, from any cause, the digestive and secretory organs become disordered, they may be stimulated to healthy action by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. These Pills are prescribed by the best physicians, and are for sale at all the drug stores.

Sociable in Trinity Reformed Church.

A committee of five from the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, arranged and successfully conducted a sociable in the parlors of the church, Friday evening.

The entertainment was given for the benefit of the members and congregation of the church, and a pleasant time was had by all who attended. During the evening Miss N. Mattison contributed a piano solo, and the Rev. Mr. Schenck, the pastor, gave a very interesting talk on Venice. Refreshments were served in abundance.

HYMENEAL HARBINGERS OF HAPPINESS.

Three Plainfield Belles Were Made Brides, Nov. 20.

LEE—ADAMS.

At the home of Carman Parse, Esq., on Grove street November 20 the Rev. D. J. Yerkes, D. D., united in marriage Miss Mary Adams, only sister of Mr. Daniel C. Adams, and granddaughter of the Hon. Daniel Cory, of Warrenville, N. J., to Mr. Charles A. Lee, of New York. The affair was very private, only the most intimate friends and relatives being present. Supper was served by Maynard.

The guests included the Rev. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Parse, Mr. and Mrs. Hull, Mr. and Mrs. Mundy, Mr. and Mrs. Dunham, Mrs. Susan Honeyman, Miss Allen, Miss Dunham, Miss Hull and Mr. James Dunham.

DRAYTON—MANNING.

In the Crescent Avenue church at six o'clock, took place the wedding of Miss Margaret Manning and Mr John B. Drayton. The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Robert S. Manning, and sister of Mr. J. H. Manning, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. The groom has long been one of Plainfield's most popular young men.

The church was crowded long before the ceremony began. Miss Jessie Utter gave an organ recital of choice selections, as an appropriate prelude to the solemn service of harmony that followed. The altar was literally overflowing with rich decorations of cut flowers, growing lilies and other plants. The bride entered on the arm of her brother and was met at the altar steps by the groom and Mr. Fred Yates. She was clad in a gown of white faille, and a veil that entirely enveloped her. The Rev. W. R. Richards performed the ceremony. The ushers were Messrs George Craig, Robert Fairbairn, Wiswall Drayton and R. Henry Depew.

ATFIELD—LEAHEY.

Mr. John C. Atfield and Miss Mary E. Leahey, both of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. Father Smyth, at St. Mary's church, morning Nov 20, at 7:30 o'clock. Next evening the newly married couple received their friends at their home on South Second street. Prof. S Fraese furnished the music for dancing.

A BRILLIANT ASSEMBLAGE.

The Great Success of the First of the Series of Musicales Planned by a Number of Plainfield's Society Women.

The elegant mansion of James T. Closson, Esq., on Front street, East, was thronged Thursday with one of the most brilliant assemblages of intellectual and refined people, that ever adorned a salon. The occasion was the first of a series of musicales arranged by an association of cultivated and enlightened women of this city, for the coming season. These artistic affairs are to be given at the homes of such of the members as tender them, and only those who belong to the association and their escorts are present, with such guests as may be invited by the evening's hostess.

All who attended Thursday will remember the occasion forever as one of the most enjoyable in their experience. The warmth of welcome extended by Mrs. Minnie Edgerton, Mr. Closson's sister; the glow of congeniality that pervaded the company; the good taste of the supper and the tact displayed in its service; and foremost of all, the programme and its artistic rendition; combined in a remarkable whole unequalled in purpose, and unexcelled in accomplishment.

The appearance of Miss Ada G. Marsh for the first time in public since her return from Europe, was the occasion of a most flattering reception. The sincerity of the greetings she received from all, was very apparent, and showed how highly she is esteemed. The applause accorded her performance was also of a most gratifying nature. Miss May's solo was highly commended as well, and Miss Haines' part in the trio with Messrs Eisner and Muldener, was, as usual, perfect. Suffice it to say, as The Press can, and truthfully too, the entire programme as given below, was rendered in a manner worthy of the selections and composers appearing upon it.

PROGRAMME.

Quartet—King Witlaf's Drinking Horn.....Hatton
Mendelssohn Glee Club Quartet.
Mr. Wm. Dennison, 1st tenor, Mr. Charles Herbert Clarke, 2d tenor; Mr James A. Metcalf, 1st bass, Mr. Charles B. Rawley, 2d bass.
Violin solo—Souvenir de Posen..........Wieniawski
Mr. Fritz Eisner.
Soprano solo—Summer evening..........Lassen
Miss Anna L. Kelly.
Piano solo—Ballade A flat major..........Chopin
Miss Jennie May.
Quartet—Annie Laurie..........Arranged by Buck
Mendelssohn Glee Club Quartet.
INTERMISSION.
Trio—Allegro Andantino, Allegro Grazioso..........[illegible]
Miss Ella E. Haines, Mr. Fritz Eisner, Mr. Ernest Muldener, Jr.
Soprano soli—At the Spring. ....Jensen
For Music. ....Franz
Miss Anna L. Kelly.
Violoncello solo—Song without words..........Davidoff
Mr. Ernest Muldener, Jr.
Piano solo—Scherzo b minor..........Chopin
Miss Ada G. Marsh.
Quartet—"The Letter,"..........Hatton
Mendelssohn Glee Club Quartet.

Among those who constitute the Club are the following cultured women representative of the city's higher circles: Mrs. M. E. Edgerton, Mrs. Wm. H. Murray, Mrs. C. D. Wadsworth, Mrs. S. A. Ginna, Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mrs. Rowland Cox, Mrs. Wm. P. Smith, Mrs James Anthony, Mrs. George Taylor, Miss Ella Haines, Miss Ada G. Marsh, Miss Tracy, Mrs. Clara B. Gross, Mrs. H. P. Talmage, Mrs. Bowers, Mrs. A. C. Baldwin, Mrs. Wm. L. Patton, Miss Maud Erskine, Mrs. A. D. Shepard, Mrs. Pliny Fisk, Miss Elvira Kenyon, Mrs. Charles Fisk, Mrs. Craig A. Marsh, Mrs. Chas. Hyde, Mrs. H. G. Runkle, Mrs. Walter E. Stewart, Mrs. Henry E. Bowen, Mrs. Charles E. Brooks, Mrs. Frederick L. Mead, Mrs. R. L. Burnett, Miss Fannie Johnston, Miss Kitty Stewart, Mrs. Wm. T. Kaufman, Miss Kitty Kaufman, Mrs. Mason W. Tyler, Mrs. Edward C. Perkins, Miss Helen White, Mrs. Virginia Hart and Mrs. Wm. E. Lowe.

These accompanied by their husbands or other escorts, were nearly all present, as were also, among others, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bloodgood, Mrs. J. C. Bliss, Mrs. Fred F. Beals, Dr. and Mrs. George Endicott, Mrs. D. C. Ivins, Mrs. Dr. Coles, Miss Coles, Miss Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George Goddard, Mrs. and Miss Massett, Miss Shepard, Miss Bowers, Miss Hayes, Miss Tweedy, Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany, Miss Boreme, Mrs. E. A. Hegeman, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Myers, Councilman and Mrs. John B. Dumont, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Gilbert Miss Ketcham Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Herring, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, Mrs. S. E. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ames, Miss Drake, Dr Rowland P. Ketcham, the Rev. W. R. Richards, Dr. James Hayes, Col. Mason W. Tyler and Messrs W. T. Kaufman, Dexter O. Tiffany, Collis Bliss, John M. Whiton, Isaiah D. Murphy, Charles Muldener, Dewey W. Hyde, Samuel Huntington and Ernest M. Ackerman.

Jeremiah Vandeventer's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Jeremiah Van Deventer, who died on Nov. 16, took place from his late residence on Green Brook road, forenoon of Nov. 20. The large house was filled with the relatives and friends of the bereaved family, including many of the representative citizens of both this city and North Plainfield. Rev. Wm. R. Richards, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, conducted the service, and at the close the remains were interred in the Bound Brook cemetery.

Death of Edward B. Porter.

Edward B. Porter, a well-known printer, died at the City Hospital in Newark, on Saturday, of phthisis. He was the son of Daniel Porter, one of the old Newark publishers. The son conducted his father's paper at Somerville after the latter's death, but was unsuccessful, and for years had been working at the case. He leaves a widow and several children.

Mr. Porter was well-known in this city His father was for a long time postmaster at Somerville, and he was succeeded in the office by his daughter.

He Would be Most Acceptable.

Among the names mentioned as a possible candidate for Councilmen-at-Large on the Republican ticket is that of Mr Seymour G Smith, a resident of Central avenue, though not very generally known in political circles. Mr. Smith has many warm friends within his party and outside of it. His business is tea packing in New York city. Having good executive ability and property interests in this city, The Press does not know but that Mr. Smith is the most acceptable candidate named in connection with the office.

Funeral of Mrs. Abbie Johnson.

The funeral of the late Abbie Johnson who died on Friday, took place from the deceased's late residence in North Plainfield on Monday, and was largely attended by the relatives and friends of the family. Rev. Dr. Yerkes read the burial service and spoke in a sympathetic manner to the living and eulogistically of the deceased. Rev. Mr. Livermore of New Market also made a few comforting remarks to the mourning relatives and friends and offered the closing prayer.

A quartette composed of Mrs. W. A. and Arthur Freeman, M. C. Van Arsdale and E. E. Runyon sang "Asleep in Jesus" and "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me." The floral decorations were modest and appropriate, consisting of a pillow with the word "Mother" inscribed thereon, a bunch of wheat and some cut flowers. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM JAQUES MARSH.

William Jaques Marsh, son of Mr. Seymour Marsh, of Putnam avenue, died at the home of his father, Nov. 20, of consumption, aged 23 years.

Previous to his return home last Spring, young Mr. Marsh had spent the greater part of the past five years in Colorado; and for the last two years was chief clerk of the Denver Fuel Co., a large coal mining corporation at Sopris, near Trinidad. He was an exemplary young man, possessing a lovable character and all the characteristics of a thoroughly Christian gentleman. He was able beyond his years, faithful in his duties, and had he lived, would have made a shining mark in the business world. His death is a loss to the community, and to the country, for it is to just such young men as he was, that this Nation must look for safety in the future.

A devoted father, honored and respected wherever known, has the earnest and heartfelt sympathy of a host of loyal friends, and for him, in his great affliction, are shed the tears of brotherly love. The immediate friends and former schoolmates of young Mr. Marsh will feel a blow of sorrow that they will never forget, and it will require true Christian fortitude for them, and the stricken family, to bear up under the terrible adversity that has crossed their path. If there was ever a manifestation of Christian virtues, it was shown in the life and death of our departed young friend. He was always of the same gentle and loving nature, in health and in sickness; patient and cheerful to the last, and never uttering a word of complaint or showing the least sign of discontent. He lived a consistent Christian life; he was the soul of honor, the idol of his family and employers, and has gone to reap the reward of the faithful.

May the consolation that can only come from Him who doeth all things well, sustain his household and friends in the dreadful ordeal through which they are called to pass, is the prayer and sincere desire of all who knew young Mr Marsh, and who know his family. His patience was sublime, and his hope of the future was a realization of a blessed hereafter, even in his suffering here.

Funeral services were held at the residence of his father, 35 Putnam avenue, on Saturday morning, 23d inst., at 10:30 o'clock. Interment at Rahway.

SUPT. OLHAUSEN WILL GIVE IT ATTENTION.

The Movement of THE PRESS and the People, for the Removal of the Freight House, Takes a Step in Advance.

The following correspondence explains itself, and will be welcome news, so far as it goes, to the people:

Mr. J. H. Olhausen, Gen'l Supt., Central Railroad of New Jersey:

DEAR SIR: The people of Plainfield are all very earnest about having the unsightly freight house with its inconvenient yard, moved from the centre of the city. It is now an eyesore and a nuisance.

Residents South of the station are compelled to travel far out of the way in order to get around it; the drilling cars are a menace to life; the noise of the live stock and whistling of the shifting engines, make night hideous; and the odors of large consignments of fertilizers, gasolene and other aromatic necessities, spread themselves for blocks to the windward.

Now that you have taken the outside tracks for the running of freight and coal trains, they must be kept clear, and, in consequence, there is but one track left from which to unload the fifty odd cars a day billed to Plainfield.

Come up and see just how inconvenient to your freight receivers, and objectionable to your resident passengers, is the old house and its old yard.

Very truly yours,
THE DAILY PRESS.

C. R. R. Co of N. J.,
Office of
GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT,
JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 19, 1889.

Mr. J. A. Demarest, Plainfield, N. J.:

DEAR SIR: I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of Oct. 28, and desire to say that the matter will receive attention at my hands. It is a question, however, where a more central location with less interference to our patrons who desire to receive and deliver freight, could be secured.

Yours truly,
J. H. OLHAUSEN,
Gen'l Supt

[The present situation of the freight house is no more convenient to all, and not so convenient to most others, as many more available places out of sight, smell and hearing. There is no necessity for a "central location" for the delivery of freight. It is all carted to and fro the yard. So between a few trucks may have to drive a block or two further than now, is no reason that the people South of the tracks should be compelled to tramp all around town to get to the station or home again.—ED.]

Realty Transfer.

The deed was recorded in the Somerset County Clerk's office, Wednesday of last week, of the transfer by A. W. Haviland et ux to Miss M. S. Weir, of property in North Plainfield for $4,000.

Broke Her Leg.

A Swedish girl employed in the family of Mr Aaron M. Powell, slipped and fell down the steps of the back stoop of the house on East Sixth street, Thursday morning, and broke her leg just above the ankle.

Meeting of the Board of Health.

A regular meeting of the City Board of Health was held in Councilman Dunham's office, on Monday, with President Rockafellow in the chair. Several matters of importance to the Board were considered, and the meeting adjourned.

Real Estate Sold for Taxes.

Justice Nash, at his office, Nov. 20, made a general sale of the real estate in the city, upon which there remained unpaid taxes. Back taxes amounting to $350 were paid in yesterday, and most of the property put up at auction was bid in by the owners or their representatives.

Exonerating Its Correspondent.

A private letter from Managing Editor Bowers of the New York Tribune, received Thursday, exonerates that paper's regular correspondent in this city from all blame in connection with the lot of trash sent from here, concerning the negro boy muzzling. The letter also states from whose pen the article originated.

Fourth Ward Club Meeting.

About forty of the members of the Fourth Ward Republican Club met in Councilman Dunham's office, November 20, with President W. R. Codington in the chair. It was decided at the meeting to continue the organization and a committee consisting of Messrs Carey, Mitchell and Randall, was appointed to secure headquarters for the club.

Plainfield's Enormous Appetite.

One firm of meat dealers alone, the Chicago Beef Company, last week, sold the Plainfield butchers 9,000 pounds of pork loins, 150 head of mutton, lamb and veal, and 85 whole beeves. This big quantity of meat if added to that which is shipped here from New York and slaughtered for some of the city butchers themselves, would astonish everybody in its total proportions.

A Generous Act.

Mr. John Marsh of Scotch Plains, has very generously given a lease for land enough, next to the Post Office, on which to build a good-sized Hall for the use of the W. C. T. U., of that place. The ladies are now encouraged to believe that other liberal-minded citizens, stimulated by this good example, will come forward and help erect the structure.

There are about fifty (50) children, belonging to the Loyal Temperance Legion, all enthusiastic in temperance work, who will be greatly benefited by this new home.

Saved by the Doctor's Foresight.

Ex-Councilman Finch's coachman, William, filled the stove in his room over the stable with coal when he laid down to sleep Monday, and left the stove door open. At six o'clock next morning he was found asphyxiated with the deadly gas.

Dr. Endicott was summoned at once and by his foresight saved the man's life. The doctor sent at once to the home of Mr. James Raymond on Central avenue, and borrowed an oxygen apparatus which was applied to the patient who was then about dead. It was some six hours before any satisfactory sign of life was apparent, but the man's life is now assured.

A Horse Killed in a Collision.

A collision occurred on Peace street near the railroad bridge, about half-past five o'clock, on Monday, which resulted in the killing of Dr. T. S. Davis' handsome carriage horse. At that time the doctor and a hired boy drove under the bridge, and about the same time Mr. M. A. Moore, who was driving a spirited horse, turned into Peace street from North avenue. The two horses came up neck to neck, and in trying to prevent a collision the shaft on Mr. Moore's wagon penetrated the flesh on the doctor's horse, inflicting an ugly looking wound on the left side. Dr. Voorhees, the veterinary surgeon, dressed the wound, but the horse died next morning.

Just who is responsible for the accident they are not prepared to state. The doctor claims that he was on the right side of the road, and Mr. Moore claims that the horse he was driving became unmanageable. Dr. Davis had become so attached to his horse that he would not have parted with the animal for $1,000.

An Unfortunate Executor.

The Court of General Sessions convened at Elizabeth, morning of Nov. 20, with Judges McCormick, Hyer and Wiley on the bench.

A jury was at once empanneled to try the case of The State vs. Auguste Saltzman, of this city. Hon. Fred C. Marsh, of Elizabeth, and Mr. Arthur H Exley, of the New York bar, appearing in behalf of the defendant.

Prosecutor of the Pleas, Wm. R. Wilson, informed the court that as in all probability he would himself be called upon to testify, he had made arrangements with Mr. Lindabury to represent the State.

Mr. Lindabury, in opening the case, stated that the defendant was on trial for having, as it is alleged, appropriated money not his to his own use. From what could be understood, Saltzman was appointed as one of the executors of the will of Eliza Pooler, of Central avenue, now deceased, and that being a business man engaged in a business of his own, he used a part of the funds placed in his keeping in his business, thinking, as he claimed, he had a right to. The result was his business failed, and now he is unable, at least for the present, to make good the loss.

The jury after deliberating for a time, came into Court, noon next day, with a verdict of guilty as charged in the indictment, and with a recommendation for mercy.

—Thanksgiving turkeys are like Spring bonnets; they come high, but they must be had at any cost.

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?

Do its Manufacturers Publish all the Ingredients Used?

IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?

As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the bread [illegible].

Protection to consumers of food consists [illegible] in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but buy instead

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER.

This powder is made only of strictly pure Grape cream of tartar, and strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, with a little wheat flour to preserve it. This is attested by the official analyses of Government and State chemists, and physicians, and chemists of Boards of Health throughout the country.

CLEVELAND BROTHERS, ALBANY, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, New York.

Rheumatism,

BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:—

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. R. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th st., New York.

"One year ago I was taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."—Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

A $20 A Day Man!

A VOICE [illegible]

Shall we start YOU in this business, [illegible]

Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., AUGUSTA, MAINE.

CARNEY BROS,

11 SOMERSET ST.

TINNERS,

PLUMBERS,

GAS FITTERS.

PARLOR STOVES,

COOK STOVES,

HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stove can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.

Tinware Made to Order.

Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces.

SANITARY PLUMBING.

HOW CAN THE LONG BE THE SHORT ?

[illegible]

HAND OF FORTUNE!

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST.

PECK'S CORNER.

HANDS & FEET

ARE KEPT WARM!

BY PECK'S

GLOVES and HOSIERY!

A PROBLEM!

One would suppose from the really small quantity of good Clothing that is made and sold, compared to the enormous quantity of trash, that there was a patent on the article. It's really a problem why dealers care to sell so much poor clothing. Of course, there's more profit on trash than on a good article. AT THE TIME, that is; but the renewed and continued patronage of the come-again customers more than make up to the merchant the seeming loss in the single transaction.

Now, we don't pretend that we are the only firm from which a good article can be purchased; but we insist that the great bulk of Ready-made Clothing is a most inferior article, and not, as ours is, as near perfect as can be. For illustrations of what we mean, we invite your attention to our NOBBY ALL-WOOL SUITS at $10, or our Blue and Black CHINCHILLA OVERCOATS at $12, $15 and $20; or those BLACK DIAGONAL CUTAWAY COATS and VESTS at $10, $12 and $13; or the Nobby Style and Cut of our CHILDREN'S CLOTHING.

See the KNEE PANT SUITS guaranteed all wool, from $3 up. OVERCOATS for BOYS, YOUTHS or MEN. Style, slick; fit, faultless; materials, multitudinous. You may expect to see here a little improvement on the average run of Clothing in every particular, price included. YOU'LL NOT BE DISAPPOINTED.

McGregor &Co., 850 and 852 Broad St NEWARK, N. J.

A. VANDERBEEK,
(CHAUTAUQUA BUILDING.)
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE, PLAINFIELD, N. J

HAVING DISPOSED OF THE MUSICAL AND SPORTING Goods Department I am now prepared to devote my entire time to the sale and renting of

—PIANOS AND ORGANS—

Having many years of experience in the Piano Trade I am prepared to furnish first-class Instruments as reasonable as they can be had in New York city. Pianos tune. Give me a call before purchasing

PRICE LIST OF THE

EMPIRE STEAM CARPET CLEANING

Feather and Mattress Renovating Works.

Office and Works, 32 East Front Street.

HUGO WEIGMANN, Prop.

Ingrain and 3-Ply,	3c. per yd.	Feather Pillows,	50c. per pair
Tapestry and Brussels,	4c. "	Feather Bolsters,	50c. each
Wilton, Velvet, Moquette and Axminster,	5c. "	Large Feather Bed,	$1.50 each
		Hair steamed and picked,	5c. per lb

GUNNERS' SUPPLIES!

The "Club" Shell Loaded by the U. M. C. Co.

—LOOK AT THE PRICES:—

10 ga 4 or 4 1-4 drs Powder, $1.85 pr 100
12 " 3, 3 1-4 or 3 1-2 " " $1.75 " "

American Wood, Schultze and Dead shot Powder Shells Loaded to Order.

Guns of all Grades and Sizes.

Look at Our $1.00 Hunting Coat.

A. M. Vanderbeek & Co.,
33 PARK AVENUE.
Chautauqua Building. PLAINFIELD, N. J.

John Brown,
(Successor to John Burke.)

Cesspools, Vaults,
Etc., Etc.,
CLEANED.

Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at CARNEY BROS., No. 1 Somerset street, or addressed to P O Box [illegible] will receive prompt attention.

COMMERCIAL CURRENCY.

Maryland expects to produce 10,000,000 bushels of oysters this year.

At the rate of increase in the past few years the wool crop of Colorado will soon exceed in value the output of her silver mines.

The large cuff and collar manufacturers of Troy, N. Y., say that the late change in the style of ladies' dresses at the neck has practically destroyed the business in ladies' collars and that cuffs have shared in much the same fate.

A Wheeling statistician figures that it would take a train of 175,000 cars to carry the freight of the Wheeling district for one year. Such a train would be 1,200 miles long, and would reach from New York to the Mississippi river.

A car-load of grapes from Sacramento sold in New York the other day for $[illegible]. One grower represented in the consignment cleared $[illegible] per ton, or 13 cents a pound, from his Tokay grapes. Another netted from $100 to $115 per ton on his Muscats and Emperors.

The San Francisco News Letter thinks that one of the causes of the depression in the California wine trade is to be found "in the production of too much poor wine." The jealousy of the wine growers has led them to indulge in recrimination, which has brought out the truth.

The chief of the bureau of statistics reports that the total value of the exports of mineral oils from the United States during the month of September, 1889, and during the nine months ended September 30, 1889, as compared with similar exports during the corresponding periods of the preceding year, were as follows: September, 1888, $4,178,[illegible]; September, 1889, $4,[illegible]. Nine months ended September 30, 1888, $[illegible]; nine months ended September 30, 1889, $[illegible].

A [illegible] medical writer of this country states that in the year 1[illegible] the town of Oporto, in Portugal, shipped from its docks five times more wine under the name of port wine than it was possible to produce in the entire Douro valley, where the port grape is cultivated; that in the same year London consumed twice as much port wine as was shipped from Oporto; that New York at the same time used and sold half as much as London. These two cities only made away with fifteen times as much port wine as it was possible to produce from port grapes. If we add to this the rest of the world, where stuff called port wine is used, we have one chance in a hundred of getting "port that is port."

HARDSHIPS OF GENIUS.

Homer was a beggar.

Spenser died in want.

Cervantes died of hunger.

Terrence, the dramatist, was a slave.

Dryden lived in poverty and distress.

Butler lived a life of penury and died poor.

Sir Walter Raleigh died on the scaffold.

Bacon lived a life of meanness and distress.

Plautus, the Roman comic poet, turned a mill.

Paul Borghese had fourteen trades, yet starved with all.

Tasso, the Italian poet, was often distressed for five shillings.

Steele, the humorist, lived a life of perfect warfare with bailiffs.

Otway, the English dramatist, died prematurely, and through hunger.

Bentivoglio was refused admittance into a hospital he had erected himself.

The death of Collins was through neglect, first causing mental derangement.

Chatterton, the child of genius and misfortune, destroyed himself at eighteen.

Savage died in a prison at Bristol, where he was confined for a debt of forty dollars.

Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield" was sold for a trifle to save him from the grip of the law.

Fielding lies in the burying-ground of the English factory at Lisbon without a stone to mark the spot.

Milton sold his copyright of "Paradise Lost" for seventy-two dollars, at three payments, and finished his life in obscurity.

Camoens, the celebrated writer of the "Lusiad," the great Portuguese epic, ended his life, it is said, in an almshouse, and at any rate was supported by a faithful black servant, who begged in the streets of Lisbon for him.

NOTIONS ABOUT FINGER NAILS.

A white mark on the nail bespeaks misfortune.

Pale or lead-colored nails indicate melancholy people.

Broad nails indicate a gentle, timid and bashful nature.

People with narrow nails are ambitious and quarrelsome.

Lovers of knowledge and liberal sentiment have round nails.

Small nails indicate littleness of mind, obstinacy and conceit.

Choleric, martial men delighting in war, have red and spotted nails.

Nails growing into the flesh at the points or sides indicate luxurious tastes.

People with very pale nails are subject to much infirmity of the flesh and persecution by neighbors and friends.

MISTAKES MEN MAKE.

"A great many people are dying this year who never died before."

"I am writing with a sword in one hand and a pistol in the other."

"Mr. Speaker, I would give half of the constitution—nay, the whole of it—to save the remainder."

"Single misfortunes never come alone, and the greatest of all misfortunes is usually followed by a greater."

"To recapitulate the question," says an English newspaper, "would lead us too deeply into the dry and troubled waters of moral philosophy."

Professor (lecturing to medical students):—For this illness, gentlemen, there are but two remedies, and neither of them will do any good."

A FLAVOR OF FUN.

When a man engages a typewriter he becomes a [illegible].

"What prompted you to rob this man's till?" asked the judge of the prisoner. "My family physician," said the prisoner, "told me I required change."

Evening father of nine blooming daughters [illegible] and examining the gas-meter: "Maria, are the children all in? I can find only eight [illegible]."

A Scotchman's definition of metaphysics—"When the party that listens dinna ken what the party who speaks means, and the party who speaks dinna ken what he means—that is metaphysics."

"How far is it to Manayunk?" asked a weary Irishman, who was going there afoot. "Seven miles," was the reply. "Whom do you wish to see there?" "Faith it's myself I'd loike to see there," was the retort.

When a girl has finally made up her mind that she is eternally homely and decides not to feel bad about it any more it sometimes [illegible] to have a man fall in love with her and begin to pay her compliments.

Drug Clerk (briskly)—"Insect powder? Yes, ma'am. Here's some Spanish insect powder that's highly recommended." Customer—"I don't know whether that will answer. Mine are plain American insects."

Colored Parson—"An' de text says 'An' he shall separate de sheep from de goats.' Now, bredren, I can't be rebukin' in dis yere congregation; but knowin' it as I do, in my 'pinion on de day of judgment de goat market will be a boom."

"Some boarders," said Mrs. Lovegood, in an offended tone, "are hard to please. I heard young Sidley complaining of a lack of variety of food at the table this morning, and I have hash five times a week. That ought to be variety enough for any man."

"Witness," said a lawyer in the police court the other day, "you speak of Mr. Smith being well off. Is he worth five thousand dollars?" "No, sah." "Two thousand?" "No, sah; he hasn't wuf twenty-five cents." "Then how is he well off?" "Got a wife who s'ports de hull family, sah."

OF RECENT OCCURRENCE.

The Gabilan ranch of 7,[illegible] acres in Monterey County was sold the other day for $[illegible].

The courts of Berks County, Pa., have decided that a type-written will is illegal.

Delaware County, Pa., let her one hundredth anniversary go by recently without taking note of it.

The Chicago public library has been awarded a gold medal by the jury on instruction and education at the Paris exposition.

A lion in the Philadelphia Zoo, suffering from the toothache, his keeper administered laughing gas, put the beast to sleep and safely extracted the offending tooth.

A Washington lady recently purchased in Winchester a mahogany sideboard over one hundred years old and shipped it to the wife of ex-President Cleveland, as a present.

At Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. Annie Evans (colored) lately brought an action against Patrolman Conway (white) for calling her "Aunty" on the street. She [illegible] damages at $[illegible].

The tallest smoke-stack in America was completed recently on the grounds of the Fall River iron works. The chimney is 340 feet high above the granite base, and is thirty feet square at the bottom.

Mrs. McAlcow, one of the owners of the Spotted Horse Mine of Montana, recently drove into Helena in a buckboard, [illegible], carrying a gold brick worth $[illegible]. It took two players and a truck to get the heavy mass of gold from the wagon into the bank.

A woman of St. Paul while walking on the railroad track was struck by a rapidly-moving train, hurled into the air and over a barbed-wire fence into a vacant lot. She was not seriously hurt, and after giving the engineer a piece of her mind she started off at a rapid gait.

The sheriff of Warren County, Pa., is a humane man. The other day he started for Allegheny with a prisoner whom he was to land in the Western penitentiary. They had to stop over night in Oil City, and sheriff and prisoner, the latter manacled, attended the entertainment at the opera-house.

An old musket which had done service during the late war, was among the relics in the Libby prison at Chicago, suddenly went off with a terrible report, though it was reclining against a pillar, and no one was within two yards. How it was exploded is a mystery, for the charge must have been in the gun for twenty-five years.

The Chinese pupils of the New York Sunday-schools have opened a club-house for their mutual entertainment. All the Chinese newspapers will be found there and the services of a lawyer have been retained to give free legal advice to the members. Chess, checkers and backgammon will be admitted in the club, but the insidious fan-tan will be strictly tabooed. It is a club for "good" Chinamen only.

FALLACIOUS FANCIES.

It is thought that cows are fond of buttercups. Cows, as well as horses, in grazing carefully avoid these plants, which are harsh, astringent and somewhat poisonous.

A common error is to suppose that birds sleep with the head beneath the wing. No bird ever sleeps so; the head is turned round and laid upon the back, where it is often concealed by feathers.

Dogs are thought to be kept in health by the addition of brimstone to their drinking water. Seeing that stone brimstone is utterly insoluble in water, it is hard to perceive what use it can possibly be to the dog.

It is said a fire is extinguished by the sun shining on it. The effect in this case is apparent, not real. A fairly good fire looks little better than a heap of white ashes under the powerful light of the sun's rays.

Water-pipes are said to be burst by a sudden thaw. The thaw merely finds out the bursting that has already been effected by the frost. It is the expansion of water when passing into ice that bursts water-pipes of whatever material.

It is said the bones are brittle in frosty weather. No doubt more bones are broken in winter than in summer, but this is due to the slippery state of the roads at that season, not to speak of accidents on the ice, and not to any abnormal condition of our bones.

Mirrors are thought to attract lightning, and are sometimes covered or turned to the wall during a thunder-storm. This is a pure illusion, arising from the fact that mirrors reflect the lightning flash, and thus add to the glare and apparent danger of the storm.

Some people think "thunderbolts" are tangible realities that can be handled and preserved as curiosities. The only thunderbolt is the flash of lightning. Then, no doubt, destructive, but never accompanied by any solid. The only solid bodies that ever fall to the earth from the sky are aerolites, or bolides, bodies coming from outer space and having nothing to do with thunder-storms.

There is thought to be economy in putting firebricks or clayballs into a fire. Considering that whatever heat they give out is derived from the fire itself, and that, being themselves utterly incombustible, they contribute nothing to the heat of the fire, there can be no economy in their use. Our method of using fuels, however, is terribly wasteful; a large percentage of combustible matter, as well as heat, goes up the flue and is wasted.

TALMAGE FOLLOWS PAUL.

THE DOCTOR PREACHES IN ATHENS ON PAUL'S MISSION THERE.

Vivid Word Pictures of Ancient Athens and Corinth—The Bible Is but an Introduction to the Great Knowledge of the Future—Paul's Anticipations of Heaven.

Athens, Nov. 24.—The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., of Brooklyn, preached in this city this evening, to a group of friends, taking his discourse from the following two passages from the Pauline epistles: I Corinthians ii, 9: "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard;" and I Corinthians xiii, 12: "For now we see through a glass darkly." The sermon was as follows:

[illegible] Plato, and Aristotle, and Demosthenes, and Pericles, and Herodotus, and Pythagoras, and Xenophon, and Praxiteles wrote or chiseled, and taught or thundered [illegible] Corinth [illegible] citadel so thoroughly impregnable that Gibraltar is a heap of sand compared with it. Amid all [illegible] and magnificence Corinth stood and [illegible] the world.

[illegible] who had never [illegible] one of my texts. They had heard the best music that had come from the best instruments in all the world; they had heard songs floating from [illegible] and walking in evergreen groves [illegible] Ah, it was [illegible] for Paul to stand there amid all that and say: "All that's nothing. These sounds that come from the temple of Neptune are not [illegible] with the harmonies of which I speak. These waters rushing in the basin of Pyrene are not pure. These statues of Bacchus and Mercury are not exquisite. Your citadel of Acro-Corinthus is not strong compared with that which I offer to the poorest slave that puts down his burden at that brazen gate. You Corinthians think this is a splendid city; you think you have heard all sweet sounds and seen all beautiful sights; but I tell you eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." Indeed, [illegible] my texts, the one spoken by Paul and the one written by Paul, show us that we have very imperfect eyesight, and that our day of vision is yet to come; for now we see through a glass, darkly, but then face to face. So Paul takes the responsibility of saying that even the Bible is an indistinct mirror, and that its mission shall be finally suspended. I think there may be one Bible in heaven fastened to the throne. Just as now, in a museum, we have a lamp exhumed from Herculaneum or Nineveh, and we look at it with great interest and say: "How poor a light it must have given, compared with our modern lamps," so I think that this Bible, which was a lamp to our feet in this world, may lie near the throne of God, exciting our interest to all eternity by the contrast between its comparatively feeble light and the illumination of heaven. The Bible, now, is the scaffolding to the rising temple, but when the building is done there will be no use for the scaffolding. The idea I shall develop today is, that in this world our knowledge is comparatively dim and unsatisfactory, but nevertheless is introductory to grander and more complete vision. This is eminently true in regard to our view of God.

"CANST THOU FIND OUT GOD?"

We hear so much about God that we conclude that we understand him. He is represented as having the tenderness of a father, the firmness of a judge, the pomp of a king and the love of a mother. We hear about him, talk about him, write about him. We lisp his name in infancy, and it trembles on the tongue of the dying octogenarian. We think that we know very much about him. Take the attribute of mercy. Do we understand it? The Bible blossoms all over with that word, mercy. It speaks again and again of the tender mercies of God, of the sure mercies, of the great mercies, of the mercy that endureth forever, of the multitude of his mercies. And yet I know that the views we have of this great being are most indistinct and one-sided and incomplete. When, at death, the gates shall fly open, and we shall look directly upon him, how new and surprising! We see upon canvas a picture of the morning. We study the cloud in the sky, the fire upon the grass, and the [illegible] on the way to the [illegible] picture of the morning! But we rise at daybreak, and go up on a hill to see for ourselves that which was represented to us. While we look, the mountains are transfigured. The burnished gates of heaven swing open and shut, to let a host of fiery splendors through. The clouds are all aflame, and [illegible]. The waters make pavement of inlaid pearl for the light to walk upon; and there is morning on the sea. The crags uncover their scarred visage, and there is morning among the mountains. Now you go home, and how tame your picture of the morning seems by contrast! Greater than that shall be the contrast between this scriptural view of God and that which we shall have when standing face to face. This is a picture of the morning; that will be the morning itself.

Again: My texts are true of the Saviour's excellency. By image, and sweet rhythm of expression, and startling antithesis, Christ is set forth—his love, his compassion, his work, his life, his death, his resurrection. We are challenged to measure it, to compute it, to weigh it. In the hour of our broken enthrallment, we mount up into high experiences of his love, and shout until the countenance glows, and the blood bounds, and the whole nature is exhilarated. "I have found him." And yet it is through a glass, darkly. We see not half of that compassionate face. We feel not half the warmth of that loving heart. We wait for death to let us rush into his outspread arms. Then we shall be face to face. Not shadow then, but substance. Not hope then, but the fulfilling of all prefigurement. That will be a magnificent unfolding.

TO SEE EYE TO EYE.

The rushing out in view of all hidden excellency; the coming again of a long-absent Jesus to meet us—not in rags and in penury and death, but amidst a light and pomp and outbursting joy such as none but a glorified intelligence could experience. Oh! to gaze full upon the brow that was lacerated, upon the side that was pierced, upon the feet that were nailed; to stand close up in the presence of him who prayed for us on the mountain, and thought of us by the sea, and agonized for us in the garden, and died for us in horrible crucifixion; to feel of him, to embrace him, to take his hand, to kiss his feet, to run our fingers along the scars of ancient suffering; to say: "This is my Jesus! He gave himself for me. I shall never leave his presence. I shall forever behold his glory. I shall eternally hear his voice. Lord Jesus, now I see thee! I behold where the blood started, where the tears coursed, where the face was distorted. I have waited for this hour. I shall never turn my back on thee. No more looking through imperfect glasses. No more studying thee in the darkness. But, as long as this throne stands, and this everlasting river flows, and those garlands bloom, and these arches of victory remain to greet home heaven's conquerors, so long I shall see thee, Jesus of my choice; Jesus of my song; Jesus of my triumph—forever and forever—face to face!"

The idea of my texts is just as true when applied to God's providence. Who has not come to some pass in life thoroughly inexplicable? You say: "What does this mean? What is God going to do with me now? He tells me that all things work together for good. This does not look like it." You continue to study the dispensation, and after a while guess about what God means. "He means to teach me this. I think he means to teach me that. Perhaps it is to humble my pride. Perhaps it is to make me feel more dependent. Perhaps to teach me the uncertainty of life." But after all, it is only a guess—a looking through the glass, darkly. The Bible assures us there shall be a satisfactory unfolding. "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter." You will know why God took to himself that only child. Next door there was a household of seven children. Why not take one from that group, instead of your only one? Why single out the dwelling in which there was only one heart beating responsive to yours? Why did God give you a child at all, if he meant to take it away? Why fill the cup of your gladness brimming, if he meant to dash it down? Why allow all the tendrils of your heart to wind around that object, and then, when every fiber of your own life seemed to be interlocked with the child's life, with strong hand to tear you apart, until you fall bleeding and crushed, your dwelling desolate, your hopes blasted, your heart broken? Do you suppose that God will explain that? Yes. He will make it plainer than any mathematical problem—as plain that two and two make four. In the light of the throne you will see that it was right—all right. "Just and true are all thy ways, thou king of saints."

PROVIDENTIAL HINDRANCES IN LIFE.

Here is a man who cannot get on in the world. He always seems to buy at the wrong time and to sell at the worst disadvantage. He tries this enterprise, and fails; [illegible] and is disappointed. The man next door to him has a lucrative trade, but he loses customers. A new prospect opens. His income is increased. But that year his family are sick; and the profits are expended in trying to cure the ailments. He gets a discouraged look. Becomes faithless as to success. Begins to expect disasters. Others wait for something to turn up; he waits for it to turn down. Others, with only half as much education and character, get on twice as well. He sometimes guesses as to what it all means. He says: "Perhaps riches would spoil me. Perhaps poverty is necessary to keep me humble. Perhaps I might, if things went otherwise, be tempted into dissipations." But there is no complete solution of the mystery. He sees through a glass, darkly, and must wait for a higher unfolding. Will there be an explanation? Yes, God will take that man in the light of the throne, and say: "Child immortal, hear the explanation! You remember the failing of that great enterprise. This is the explanation." And you will answer: "It is all right!"

I see, every day, profound mysteries of Providence. There is no question we ask oftener than Why? There are hundreds of graves that need to be explained. Hospitals for the blind and lame, asylums for the idiotic and insane, almshouses for the destitute, and a world of pain and misfortune that demand more than human solution. Ah! God will clear it all up. In the light that pours from the throne, no dark mystery can live. [illegible] written on the paper wall, or [illegible] in the temple services. Bartimeus will know that he was blind; and Lazarus that he was covered with sores; and Joseph that he was cast into the pit; and Daniel that he was denned with lions; and Paul that he was [illegible]; and David that he was driven from Jerusalem; and the sewing-woman that she could get only a few pence for making a garment; and that invalid that for twenty years he could not lift his head from the pillow; and that widow that she had such hard work to earn bread for her children. You know that in a song different voices carry different parts. The sweet and overwhelming part of the hallelujah of heaven will not be carried by those who rode in high places and gave sumptuous entertainments; but pauper children will sing it, beggars will sing it, redeemed hod-carriers will sing it, those who were once the offscouring of earth will sing it. The hallelujah will be all the grander for earth's weeping eyes, and aching heads, and exhausted hands, and scourged backs, and martyred agonies.

HOW MANY SHALL BE SAVED?

Again: The thought of my texts is true when applied to the enjoyment of the righteous in heaven. I think we have but little idea of the number of the righteous in heaven. Infidels say: "Your heaven will be a very small place compared with the world of the lost; for, according to your teaching, the majority of men will be destroyed." I deny the charge. I suppose that the multitude of the finally lost, as compared with the multitude of the finally saved, will be a handful. I suppose that the few sick people in the hospitals of our great cities, as compared with the hundreds of thousands of well people, would not be smaller than the number of those who shall be cast out in suffering, compared with those who shall have upon them the health of heaven. For we are to remember that we are living in only the beginning of the Christian dispensation, and that this whole world is to be populated and redeemed, and that ages of light and love are to flow on. If this be so, the multitudes of the saved will be in vast majority. Take all the congregations that have assembled for worship throughout Christendom. Put them together, and they would make but a small audience compared with the thousands and tens of thousands, and ten thousand times ten thousand, and the hundred and forty and four thousand that shall stand around the throne. Those flashed up to heaven in martyr fires; those tossed for many years upon the invalid couch; those fought in the armies of liberty, and rose as they fell; those tumbled from high scaffolding or slipped from the mast, or were washed off into the sea. They came up from Corinth, from Laodicea, from the Red Sea bank and Gennesaret's wave, from Egyptian brickyards, and Gideon's threshing floor. Those thousands of years ago slept the last sleep, and these are this moment having their eyes closed, and their limbs stretched out for the sepulcher.

A general expecting an attack from the enemy stands on a hill and looks through a field glass, and sees, in the great distance, multitudes approaching, but has no idea of their numbers. He says: "I cannot tell anything about them. I merely know that there are a great number." And so John, without attempting to count, says: "A great multitude that no man can number." We are told that heaven is a place of happiness; but what do we know about happiness? Happiness in this world is only a half fledged thing; a flowery path, with a serpent hissing across it; a broken pitcher, from which the water has dropped before we could drink it; a thrill of exhilaration, followed by disastrous reactions. To help us understand the joy of heaven, the Bible takes us to a river. We stand on the grassy bank. We see the waters flow on with ceaseless wave. But the filth of the cities is emptied into it, and the banks are torn, and unhealthy exhalations spring up from it, and we fail to get an idea of the river of life in heaven.

A GLORIOUS AND EVERLASTING REUNION.

We get very imperfect ideas of the reunions of heaven. We think of some festal day on earth, when father and mother were yet living, and the children came home. A good time that! But it had this drawback—all were not there. That brother went off to sea, and never was heard from. That sister—did we not lay her away in the freshness of her young life, never more in this world to look upon her? Ah! there was a skeleton at the feast; and tears mingled with our laughter on that Christmas day. Not so with heaven's reunions. It will be an uninterrupted gladness. Many a Christian parent will look around and find all his children there. "Ah!" he says, "can it be possible that we are all here—life's perils over! the Jordan passed and not one wanting? Why, even the prodigal is here. I almost gave him up. How long he despised my counsel! but grace hath triumphed. All here! all here! Tell the mighty joy through the city. Let the bells ring, and the angels mention it in their song. Wave it from the top of the walls. All here!"

No more breaking of heartstrings, but face to face. The orphans that were left poor, and in a merciless world, kicked and cuffed of many hardships, shall join their parents over whose graves they so long wept, and gaze into their glorified countenance forever, face to face. We may come up from different parts of the world, one from the land and another from the depths of the sea; from lives affluent and prosperous, or from scenes of ragged distress; but we shall all meet in rapture and jubilee, face to face.

Many of our friends have entered upon that joy. A few days ago they sat with us studying these gospel themes; but they only saw dimly—now revelation hath come. Your time will also come. God will not leave you floundering in the darkness. You stand wonder struck and amazed. You feel as if all the loveliness of life were dashed out. You stand gazing into the open chasm of the grave. Wait a little. In the presence of your departed and of him who carries them in his bosom, you shall soon stand face to face. Oh! that our last hour may kindle up with this promised joy! May we be able to say, like the Christian not long ago, departing: "Though a pilgrim walking through the valley, the mountain tops are gleaming from peak to peak!" or, like my dear friend and brother, Alfred Cookman, who took his flight to the throne of God, saying in his last moment that which has already gone into Christian classics: "I am sweeping through the pearly gate, washed in the blood of the Lamb!"

An Automatic Fog Signal.

A new fog signaling apparatus has lately been perfected in England which is of sufficient merit to attract the attention of all those interested in the saving of life and property at sea. It calls into use electricity, which admits of the signals being automatically worked, and at the same time records every signal as it is given on a band of graduated paper. This paper forms a complete register of the signals, and is documentary evidence in case of dispute as to whether or not a vessel was signaling when a collision occurred.

The apparatus consists of a single switch, which is placed on the vessel's bridge, so that the signaling can be controlled by the officer on watch. When it is desired to blow the signal whistle or to begin the automatic signaling, whatever its nature may be, the lever is turned to the "under way" notch if the vessel be moving, and the electric current at once begins working the valve of the steam whistle at regular intervals, conforming to what the law specifies. Should the vessel be at anchor the switch is turned to "at anchor," and the bell is rung in the same way. The register consists of the band of paper properly subdivided and moved along by clock work. A traveling pointer, actuated by an electro-magnet, pricks the paper at every sound of the bell or whistle. The signaling can also be made at will, entirely independent of the automatic mechanism, by simply pressing a button which closes the circuit leading to the bell or whistle.—New York Herald.

A Revolting Spectacle.

The other day, in a city not a thousand miles from Seattle, a grandfather and a father were contending in court for the custody of a family of children. One of the children, a bright boy of 10 years, was placed on the witness stand, and repeatedly declared: "I hate my father! I hate him! I hate him!" The father bowed his head and wept. The grandfather—a member of the United States senate, by the way—smiled and [illegible]. It was a revolting spectacle [illegible] feeble purpose [illegible] for custody of the children [illegible] teach the boy [illegible]

A GRIST OF GENERALITIES.

There were imported in eleven months ending June 1, 1889, [illegible] horses, free of duty, which were [illegible] breeding purposes.

An English syndicate recently purchased [illegible] of the elevators in the North [illegible] road in Minnesota and Dakota.

The Shah shocked and scandalized the Austrian court right and left. His table manners were highly barbarous.

The hansom cab, "the London gondola," is comparatively a modern creation. The first patent was taken out by Mr. Hansom in 1834.

Never open or shut a door, raise or lower a curtain [illegible]

There are [illegible] species of birds in South America, of which nearly [illegible] are peculiar. The turkey and the mocking bird belong to the latter class.

Howard Seeley, the novelist, is a slender, rather good-looking man who wears a [illegible] and looks far more literary than William D. Howells.

The chemists of the United States Agricultural Department are about to begin the work of investigating the different artificial foods and infant foods now on the market.

ODD AND AMUSING.

'Tis said that the first dialect story originated from the effort of an author to do his own typewriting.

Now it is said that mosquitoes live on vegetable substances. They take human blood merely as a stimulant, probably.

At Punxsutawney, Pa., the other day, a man was seen carrying home a bottle of beer wrapped up in a copy of a prohibition paper.

"Lemon parties" are becoming very popular, as every young man is expected to bring a lemon, a girl and squeezer. Of course that is in the country.

A lawyer at Tarpon Springs, Fla., advertises as follows in the local paper: "Marriages and divorces secured with neatness and dispatch, with or without publicity."

The book-keeper of a Cleveland plumbing firm is under arrest for embezzling ten thousand dollars. He probably neglected to report an order received to thaw out a frozen pipe last winter.

"Are your children doing well at school?" was asked of a fashionable woman. "Very well, particularly Clarence. I have great hopes of him. Why, I can't read a word he writes. I think he is going to be literary."

A careless female reformer, who was aroused in her room at the Arlington Hotel in Petoskey, Mich., the other night by an alarm of fire, took time to dress and pack her trunk before she ran down-stairs, but forgot to wake her husband.

A melon fell off a Wheeling, W. Va., truck and split lengthwise. A dirty-faced boy immediately sprang from nowhere, lit on one of the hemispheres, gave his face a header into its liquid depths, and, presently emerging, spluttered the ecstatic remark: "It's a sloppy day when I don't get aboard."

The bass in the Brandywine river, Pennsylvania, are so intelligent that when they find a baited hook in the water one fish holds the line and another quietly eats off the bait. They then signal to the fisherman to pull up and put on a new bait. Local fishermen are authority for this.

"Charley," cautioned his mother, "the Bishop is to dine with us to-day, and you must be very quiet at the table. I want him to think that you are a good little boy." Very much impressed, Charley ate his dinner in silence, until his plate needed replenishing. "Pa," he said, devoutly, "will you give me some more string beans, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven?"

The plague of fleas which is annoying the residents of Cambridge, Mass., is accounted for scientifically by a Boston paper, which says that the number of companies of educated fleas now performing in the dime museums in the country have increased to such an extent that they have been obliged to visit Harvard College at Cambridge for the purpose of putting the finishing touches to their education.

PRICKLY POINTS.

Aunt Keziah (severely)—"So you're going to try the experiment of reforming young Scapely after marriage. Is he worth reforming?" Kittie (tearfully)—"Well, he's worth a million."

Genial Hostess—"What, going already, professor? And must you take your dear wife away with you?" Professor—"Indeed, madam, I am sorry to say I must."

Wife—"You missed the baby greatly while we were away, didn't you?" Husband—"Yes; couldn't sleep at all for awhile, till I put a saw horse and wheelbarrow in the bed, and hired a man to play an accordeon in the room of nights."

Lady of the House—"And you would like to enter my household as cook? How long have you been in service?" Cook—"Five years, mum." Lady—"And have you good recommendations?" Cook—"I should think I had, mum. I can show you five-an'-twenty testimonials from different situations."

"Papa, what is a doubtful State?" asked little Freddy, who had been looking over the political news. "Marriage is a doubtful state, my son," answered Brown, with a humorous twinkle in his eye as he looked at his better half. "Don't you think so, Mrs. Brown?" "No, I don't think it's a state at all," she answered. "To me it always seemed like a terror-tory." Brown was silent.

A crabbed old bachelor school-teacher was very indignant at little Johnny Flapjack—the only son of Mrs. Flapjack and she a widow—for coming in late. "I couldn't help coming late," sobbed Johnny. "Why not?" "Because ma has down been and got married, and I had to wait for my breakfast." "Got married, has she? Any thing to make you late at school! What won't she do next, I wonder?"

Farmer's Son—"Did you hire the man, father?" Farmer—"I wanted to, but he wouldn't accept the place." F. S.—"What did you offer him?" F.—"I offered him sixty dollars a month and to find himself." F. S.—"And he thought sixty dollars too little?" F.—"No, he was satisfied with the wages, but he said he couldn't find himself." F. S.—"Why not?" F.—"Because he is an ex-detective. He said he never could find any thing."

"Queen Elizabeth and Queen Victoria have both reigned over fifty years," said the husband, as he laid down the history of England. "Yes," replied the wife, "when women get hold of a good thing they know how to keep it. They don't shorten their hold by going out at night, fighting tigers, and filling up on champagne." He thought the historical discussion was getting personal and retired behind the folds of his newspaper.

How the Empire Coiffure is Attained.

The so called Empire coiffure is attained by massing the hair high on the head, the top of the head being covered with soft, short curls, which fall in every direction. A single long curl is combed out, covering the back of the head with waves and relapsing into a curl again a short distance above the neck.

ST. NICHOLAS.

The Century Co's Magazine for Young Folks. Enlarged and Printed in New Type.

Since 1873, when under the editorial management of Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, the publication of St. Nicholas for Young Folks was begun, it has led all magazines for girls and boys. Nothing like it was known before, and today, as the Chicago Inter-Ocean recently said, "it is the model and ideal juvenile magazine of the world." Through its pages the greatest writers of our time are speaking to the youth of America and England, and the best artists and engravers are training the eyes of the boys and girls to appreciate the highest in art. Nobody knows how many readers St. Nicholas has. In the third largest public library in America—that in Indianapolis—more than 3,000 people read each month's number.

Since the first issue Mrs. Dodge has remained as editor. Early in its history other young people's magazines, "Our Young Folks," "The Little Corporal," "Riverside," etc., were consolidated with it, and its history has been one of growth from the first. Tennyson, Bryant, Longfellow, Whittier, Miss Alcott, Mrs. Burnett, Charles Dudley Warner, W. D. Howells, and almost every well-known writer of our time have contributed to its pages. There is only one way in which its conductors can make it better, and that is by making more of it, and so they announce that with the beginning of the seventeenth volume (November, 1889) St. Nicholas will be enlarged by the addition of eight, and sometimes sixteen, extra pages in each number. This enlargement is absolutely required to make room for the rich store of new material which has been secured for the benefit of St. Nicholas readers. The use of new and clearer type will be begun with the November number.

During the coming year there are to be four important serial stories by four well-known American authors. Athletics and outdoor sports will be a special feature (contributed by Walter Camp, of Yale, and others), and there will be stories of character and adventure, sketches of information and travel, outdoor papers, articles of special literary interest, suggestive talks on natural history, other scientific subjects, and the march of events. Both the December and January numbers are to be holiday issues.

The price will be the same as heretofore, $3.00 a year, 25 cents a number, and all dealers and the publishers (The Century Co., New York) take subscriptions. New subscribers should begin with November.

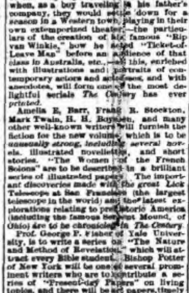
Olive Schreiner, since her phenomenal success, has developed from a plain, shy, retiring girl into a brilliant, self-poised woman, with many pretensions to beauty.

Boston gave the new cruiser that was named for her a set of colors. Chicago gave her namesake a set of silver plate, and Philadelphia intends to present her cruiser with a library.

The jokes some of the New York papers get off on "Hugh Midly" are excruciatingly funny, but they are a little worn on one side. Try turning them, for some of you boys can turn a very neat joke.

Since the general adoption of ten hours for an ordinary day's work, all the objections urged against it have proved groundless. So, it may be, would be the result if eight hours were substituted for ten hours.

In 1856 five-eighths of the people owned their homes, and three-eighths were the prey of landlordism. In 1889 only three-eighths owned their own homes, and five-eighths were reduced to the rank of tenants.



JOSEPH JEFFERSON.

"The Century Magazine" in 1890—Joseph Jefferson's Autobiography—Novels by Frank R. Stockton, Amelia E. Barr, and others—A Capital Programme.

During 1890 The Century Magazine (whose recent successes have included the famous "War Papers," the Lincoln History and George Kennan's series on "Siberia and the Exile System") will publish the long looked-for Autobiography of Joseph Jefferson, whose "Rip van Winkle" has made his name a household word. No more interesting record of a life upon the stage could be laid before the public. Mr. Jefferson is the fourth in a generation of actors, and, with his children and grandchildren, there are six generations of actors among the Jeffersons. His story of the early days of the American stage, when, as a boy traveling in his father's company, they would settle down for a season in a Western town, playing in their own extemporized theater,—the particulars of the creation of his famous "Rip van Winkle," how he acted "Ticket-of-Leave Man" before an audience of that class in Australia, etc.,—all this, enriched with illustrations and portraits of contemporary actors and actresses, and with anecdotes, will form one of the most delightful serials The Century has ever printed.

Amelia E. Barr, Frank R. Stockton, Mark Twain, H. H. Boyesen, and many other well-known writers will furnish the fiction for the new volume, which is to be unusually strong, including several novels, illustrated novelettes, and short stories. "The Women of the French Salons" are to be described in a brilliant series of illustrated papers. The important discoveries made with the great Lick Telescope at San Francisco (the largest telescope in the world) and the latest explorations relating to prehistoric America (including the famous Serpent Mound, of Ohio) are to be chronicled in The Century.

Prof. George P. Fisher of Yale University, is to write a series on "The Nature and Method of Revelation," which will attract every Bible student. Bishop Potter of New York will be one of several prominent writers who are to contribute a series of "Present-day Papers" on living topics, and there will be art papers, timely articles, etc., etc., and the choicest pictures that the greatest artists and engravers can produce.

Every bookseller, postmaster, and subscription agent takes subscriptions to The Century ($4.00 a year), or remittance may be made directly to the publishers, The Century Co., of New York. Begin new subscriptions with November (the first issue of the volume) and get Mark Twain's story, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," in that number.

LEGAL NOTICES.

Corporation Notice.

Charter Election.

Public notice is hereby given that the annual Municipal Election in and for the City of Plainfield, will be held on Tuesday, December 3, 1889.

For the purpose of voting for the following city officers at large: Three common councilmen, a city judge, to fill the unexpired term of the late George P. Suydam, a city assessor, a city collector, a city treasurer, two chosen freeholders, three commissioners of appeal, a member of the board of education and from each of the wards and election districts, a member of the common council, a constable, a justice of the peace, a judge of election, two inspectors of election and a clerk of election.

THE POLLING PLACES

as designated by the common council are:

1st Ward. Hoagland's Express Office, North avenue.

2d Ward. The Crescent Building, Broadway.

3d Ward. Sharp's Carriage Factory, West Sixth street.

4th Ward.

1st Election Dist. Alert Hose House, Madison-ave.

2d Election Dist. Morse's Store, Muhlenberg Place, Junction of South Second street.

Polls Open at 6 a. m. and Close at 7 p. m.

(Adjournment from 1 to 2 p. m.)

Done in accordance with an Act of the Legislature of New Jersey entitled "An Act to Regulate Elections," approved April 18, 1876, and amendments thereto.

O. B. LEONARD, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 14, 1889.

Administrator's Settlement.—Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, Administrator of Andrew Love, Senior, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday the twenty-second day of January next. Dated November 19th, 1889.

ANDREW LOVE, Jr.

11-21-w10

Notice. November 6th, 1889.

Estate of Sarah M. Lattimer, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

NELSON RUNYON,
WILLIAM H. SHOTWELL,
JAMES P. MACDONALD,
Executors.
11-14-w10

Notice. November 6th, 1889.

Estate of Harriet A. Cox, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made on the application of the undersigned, executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

CHARLES S. GUION,
ALFRED A. FREEMAN,
Executors.
11-14-w10

Notice. August 26th, 1889.

Estate of Holiday L. Allen, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executor of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

HEZEKIAH HAND, Executor.
8-29-10w

LEGAL NOTICES.

1889.

TAXES!

Notice is hereby to the Taxpayers of

THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD,

That the Taxes assessed in said city for the year 1889, are now due and payable, and that

If the said Taxes be not paid by the 20th day of December Next,

the names of the defaulters, with their respective Taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution.

The Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council chamber on the FOURTH TUESDAY IN NOVEMBER NEXT (the 26th), and sit from 2 o'clock P. M. until 5 o'clock P. M., or longer if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1, 1889. 10-3-1-w

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors.

Somerset County Surrogate's Office.

Estate of George W. Townley, Deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the twenty-second day of September, A. D. 1889, on the application of William H. Shotwell, as Administrator of George W. Townley, deceased; an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of George W. Townley, deceased, to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent, under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said Administrator within NINE months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor shall be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said Administrator.

ABR'M T. HUFF, Surrogate.
10-3-9w

RAILROADS.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA.

PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE Interlocking Switch and Block Signal Systems.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after Nov. 10, 1889, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:26 A. M. Fast Line, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, dining car from Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Cleveland and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:40 P. M. Western Express with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars and dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. Pacific Express, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—[illegible]

For Philadelphia, [illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

[illegible] (Through car) week-days. For Cape May, [illegible]

For Trenton—[illegible]

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—[illegible]

For Flemington—[illegible]

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey

Station in New York—Foot Liberty Street.

Time Table in Effect Nov. 10, 1889

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave New York from foot of Liberty Street, [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Newark—[illegible]

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Somerville [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Easton [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD

5.12, a. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8.07 a. m. for Flemington, Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

[illegible] a. m.—For High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

[illegible] p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

[illegible] p. m.—For Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Drifton, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

[illegible] p. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, [illegible]

[illegible] p. m.—For Flemington.

[illegible] p. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. [illegible]

For Atlantic City—[illegible]

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

For Perth Amboy—[illegible]

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, [illegible]

For Baltimore and Washington at [illegible]

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA

Ninth and Green streets, [illegible]

From 24th and Chestnut, [illegible]

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker streets [illegible]

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, Gen'l Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen'l Pass Agent.

INSURANCE.

FIRE INSURANCE!

The undersigned having been appointed agent for the

Star and Merchants

Fire Insurance Co's of the City of New York,

is prepared to [illegible]

NATHAN HARPER

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,

FIRE AND LIFE

INSURANCE AGENT,

Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.

MONEY TO LOAN

On Approved Security.

J. C. Pope & Co.,

GENERAL AGENTS OF THE

German American Ins. Co.,

of New York.

Also represents other first-class Fire Insurance Companies. Agents of the Inman Steamship Line. Drafts on Ireland for sale. First and City National Bank Stock Bought and Sold. Also,

BUILDING LOTS

And Other Real Estate for sale.

OFFICE:

6 E. FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD.

JAMES C. POPE. ELIAS R. POPE

PEERLESS [illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE FALL OF 1889

Brings with it many new styles, and much that is novel and handsome in the line of man's attire. We are exceedingly particular how our clothes are cut and made. The very best Custom Cutters only can secure positions in our employ. While we go in for appearances to the fullest extent, we are ever mindful of quality. If you will call and inspect our Fall Suits and Overcoats for Men and Boys you will note the extreme neatness and evident durability of every Coat, Vest and Pair of Trousers THROUGH THE WHOLE STOCK. We stake our reputation on the thoroughness of our work. You can get a suit for $8, $10, $12, $15 or $18, or an Overcoat, light or medium weight, all shades, silk facings and linings, for $10 or $12. We wish to convince you that our house deserves your custom. It does!

J. MARSHALL & BALL,

CLOTHIERS,

807, 809, 811, 813 BROAD STREET

10-10-3m

PIANOS. PIANOS.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,

Steinway,

(The Standard Piano of the World,)

Emerson,

S. G. Chickering,

Sterling.

And all Standard Makes of

Pianos and Parlor Organs.

Sole Agent for New Jersey for the GABLER Patent Metal Action Frame UPRIGHT PIANOS, the most popular Piano made. Musicians like its fingers like it, the PEOPLE like it, EVERYBODY likes it.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at the lowest prices ever given in Newark. A FIRST-CLASS UPRIGHT PIANO for $200 Cash, or $225 on INSTALLMENTS. $10 MONTHLY until paid for. TELEPHONE 799.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,

657 and 659 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

12-14-y

SPECIAL NOTICE.

New Store! New Goods! New Firm

BARKALEW & DUNN,

Fancy and Staple Grocers,

NO. 18 NORTH AVENUE

We sell for Cash and will give Special Inducements

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion. Without injurious medication.

The Centaur Company, 182 Fulton Street, N. Y.

7-18-2y

A MAN

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—[illegible] MISSOURI, [illegible] Hutchinson, [illegible] Creek, [illegible] Springs, [illegible] and from [illegible] vast area of [illegible] and southwest of Chicago and Pacific and transoceanic seaports.

MAGNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, [illegible]

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake and Sioux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Watertown, Sioux Falls, the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, General Manager.

CHICAGO, ILL.

JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass. Agent.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

W. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.

AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.

TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXII. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1889. No. 49.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON, Counsellors-at-Law, [illegible]

GEORGE W. DAY, General Auctioneer. Sales of Personal Property [illegible] P. O. Box [illegible]

DR. CHARLES E. [illegible], Dentist. [illegible] West Front street. [illegible] Gold filling a specialty.

H. [illegible], Auctioneer. [illegible]

OSCAR S. TEALE, Architect. [illegible] Broadway, New York [illegible] Plainfield, N. J.

J. [illegible], Veterinary Surgeon. [illegible]

F. A. DUNHAM, Civil Engineer and Surveyor. No. 1 Park avenue, [illegible] Residence, 11 West Fifth st.

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale, PIANO TUNER. [illegible]

JOHN CHANDLER, CARPENTER AND BUILDER, PLAINFIELD, N. J. [illegible] East 3d St. Jobbing promptly attended to.

LUFKINS & HUMMER, Dealers in Butter, Eggs & Produce. Meats of all Kinds. [illegible]

Plainfield District Telegraph and Fire Alarm Co. Prompt Messenger Service Furnished. Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co. LOW RATES. QUICK SERVICE. MONEY TRANSFERRED BY TELEGRAPH. COMMUTATION STAMPS FOR SALE. OFFICE—4 PARK AVENUE. W. S. SLITER, Manager.

TO THE PUBLIC! We wish to inform our customers and the public generally that we have on hand the best quality of LEHIGH COAL, Fresh from the Mines. [illegible] A. D. COOK & BRO.

J. Hervey Doane, 6 PARK AVENUE. Watches, Clocks And Jewelry. Repairing neatly and promptly done.

Steam Marble and Granite Works. Monuments & Headstones, Fencing for Cemetery Plots. Large assortment of Slate Mantels. Large variety of Granite Monuments. [illegible]

Geo. A. Moore, [illegible] NO. 11 NORTH AVENUE, [illegible]

Alex. Willett, Dealer in BOOTS & SHOES, No. 4 Park Avenue. [illegible]

HOTELS AND SALOONS.

FORCE'S HOTEL, NORTH AVENUE, (Near R. R. Station.) JAS. W. FORCE, Prop'r. A FIRST CLASS FAMILY HOTEL. [illegible] Transient guests at reasonable rates.

TURF EXCHANGE HOTEL. 73 Courtlandt street, CORNER WASHINGTON, NEW YORK CITY. FRED. W. BALLARD, Proprietor. [illegible] PURE WINES, LIQUORS AND SEGARS.

SOMERSET HOTEL, Cor. Somerset & Emily Sts., North Plainfield, N. J. Permanent and Transient Board, at fair rates. First-class Stables and Sheds attached. Meals at all reasonable hours.

C. E. JOHNSON, of the firm of Shepherd, Johnson & Godown, CARPENTER AND BUILDER. [illegible] Central avenue, Plainfield, N. J. [illegible] Jobbing a specialty.

T. J. GILLIES, Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent. SALESROOM—Madison Avenue, near Front St., Plainfield, N. J. Goods received on consignment.

Dime Savings Institution OF PLAINFIELD, N. J. Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually. JOHN W. MURRAY, President. WILLIAM WHITE, Vice " NATHAN HARPER, " " ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Jas. M. Dunn, Dealer in GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, Vegetables, Fruits, etc. No. 36 Park Ave. OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE. THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS, BEST IN THE WORLD. ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

MICHAEL UHDAL, CONTRACTOR AND LANDSCAPE GARDENER! Residence at NETHERWOOD, NEW JERSEY. P. O. BOX 787, PLAINFIELD.

GO TO DICKINSON & CLAWSON, JEWELERS, 13 Park Avenue, For your Fine Gold Watches, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, and SILVERWARE. SOLE AGENTS for KING'S SPECTACLES and EYE GLASSES, the BEST MADE, and CHEAPEST in the end.

SANITARY PLUMBING, Brick and Portable Furnaces, GAS FITTING, TIN ROOFING, Etc. Etc. [illegible] D. W. LITTELL, No. 8 NORTH AVE. Plainfield, N. J.

CATARRH. ELY'S CREAM BALM Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. HAY-FEVER. TRY THE CURE. [illegible] ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren street, New York.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE, (Successor to John W. Laing.) Laing's Hotel Stables. Front street, opposite Madison avenue. [illegible] RIDING OR LIVERY. [illegible] TELEPHONE CALL NO. 18.

Livery Stables! Mr. D. S. ROBERTS Has Removed to His New Building on NORTH AVENUE, [illegible]

EDUCATIONAL.

Mr. FEININGER Has resumed His Lessons in Plainfield. For terms, address C. FEININGER, Steinway Hall, N. Y.

Mr. T. E. HAZELL, TEACHER OF MUSIC. Instruction given in Singing, Harmony, or upon the Violin. Director of Choral Classes. The art of Reading Vocal Music a specialty. Residence—16 Duer St., North Plainfield.

MR. LEAL'S School for Boys! 99 WEST FRONT STREET. Prepares for College and Business. Has entered boys at College every year since it was established. This year eight boys were sent. The next year's class is still larger. Boys from 10 years old and upwards. The eighth year begins MONDAY, SEPT. 16, 1889. For circulars and information, address the Principal, JOHN LEAL.

DODWORTH'S CLASSES FOR Dancing & Deportment, SEMINARY HALL, PLAINFIELD, N. J., Commencing Wednesday, Oct. 30, '89, [illegible] Circulars may be obtained of Miss E. E. Kenyon, at the Seminary. THOS. DODWORTH. Residence—[illegible] Fulton ave., N. Y. City.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES.

Paints, Varnishes, Glass. WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES. WALL PAPERS! PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY. A. SWALM, No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. R. WOOLSTON. J. P. BUCKLE. Woolston & Buckle, PAINTERS, Wall Papers, PAINTER'S SUPPLIES. 26 NORTH AVENUE.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mme. J. BERNARD, ASTROLOGIST, Residence—Harmony street, North Plainfield, [illegible] In English, German and French.

My husband is a first-class Cooper, and repairs tubs, pails, barrels, etc., cheap for cash.

Low Pressure Steam Heat Introduced into Churches, Schools, Dwellings, Offices, Stores, etc. STEAM FITTING, and STEAM FITTERS' SUPPLIES for sale. Estimates cheerfully furnished for Heating and Ventilation. JOHN N. SCHENCK, Box 1061. Duer St., North Plainfield.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON, (Successor to T. J. Carey.) Furniture and Freight Express! OFFICE—26 W. FRONT ST. Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 399. Piano moving a specialty.

G. W. FORCE, 11 West Front street. Opening of FALL AND WINTER STOCK Boots and Shoes at Low Prices. A FINE GRADE OF GOODS TO SELECT FROM. 11 West Front street. G. W. FORCE.

R. R. FAIRCHILD, Furniture & Bedding, 21 EAST FRONT STREET. A Large Assortment of Parlor Suites, Bedroom Suites, Lounges, Tables and Chairs. The Largest Stock and the Lowest Prices. Call and See for Yourselves. 2 DOORS BELOW P. O.

ALBERT HEDDEN, Livery and Boarding Stables, FOURTH STREET, [illegible]

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING, No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J. Manufacturer of the Celebrated C. O. D. CIGAR. The best cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest stock. CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY. A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobaccos always on hand. Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE, Dealer in Havana & Domestic SEGARS!! No. 22 PARK AVE., (near corner of SECOND ST.) PLAINFIELD, N. J. Tobacco and Smoker's Materials, of every description. The celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco, with other popular brands constantly on hand.

"EXPERIENCE MAKES PERFECT!" Who does inexperience make? A pretender!! Who does the house owner get? He gets the results!! What are they likely to be? Value for his money on one hand; a chance of a fire or fumes on the other: good intentions prove nothing. MORAL.—(Organized 1881. Incorporated 1883. At the head of the profession 1888.) The Electric Construction and Supply Co. [illegible] N. Y. Plainfield office—26 North avenue.

JAMES K. ARNOLD, GROCER, cor. Somerset and Chatham Sts., North Plainfield.

A. I. SMALLEY. F. E. SMALLEY. Smalley Bros., DEALERS IN Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, Etc. 76 SOMERSET STREET, NORTH PLAINFIELD. Orders called for and delivered. A share of the public patronage is solicited.

Benj. F. Moore, (Late of Moore Bros.) BUTCHER, And dealer in FRESH AND SALT MEATS POULTRY, etc., corner Park avenue and Second street, will be open and ready for business Wednesday, March 20th. Orders called for and promptly delivered. Telephone Call 111.

E. B. MAYNARD PRACTICAL BARBER AND Artistic Hair Dresser, No. 26 PARK AVENUE, Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residence. Shaving, Shampooing, &c., satisfactorily performed.

Fresh Garden Seeds, Garden Tools, Ranges. Laundry Stoves. CUTLERY, &c. N. H. & J. J. HEIDELOFF, No. 13 SOMERSET ST.

HOW ROUGH! YOUR SKIN may be made Smooth, Soft and White by the use of Glycerole of Arnica. A preparation of our own, and we guarantee its purity. May be used in the nursery. Delightfully perfumed. Sprinkler-top bottles 25c. Obtained only at the CITY PHARMACY. L. W. RANDOLPH, Prop'r. 21 W. FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

School Books, New and Second-hand. School Supplies, Large Assortment, Lowest Prices, at ALLEN'S, THE STATIONER, 23 East Front Street, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

CANOPIES For Weddings, Parties, Etc., TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE. Hugo Weigman. 10 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

TWENTY Years experience in the business. SECOND STREET, 2 doors above Peace street. Mr. JOHN H. STEVENS, Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to Shoeing Forging, Interfering and Interfering Horses. [illegible]

Accommodation Express. PETER RICKERT, Proprietor. [illegible]

AGENTS [illegible] R. D. LUETCHFORD & CO., [illegible] Mention this paper.

Rates of Advertising.

SPACE	WEEKS 1	2	3	MONTHS 1	2	3	6	12
1 in.	$1.00	$1.50	[illegible]	$2.50	$4.00	$6.00	$9.50	$15.00
2 in.	1.50	2.00	[illegible]	4.00	[illegible]	8.00	12.00	20.00
3 in.	2.50	3.00	[illegible]	5.00	8.00	12.00	18.00	25.00
4 in.	3.00	3.50	[illegible]	6.00	9.00	15.00	20.00	30.00
5 in.	3.50	4.50	[illegible]	8.00	12.50	18.00	25.00	37.00
¼ col.	4.50	6.00	[illegible]	10.00	15.00	20.00	30.00	45.00
½ col.	7.00	[illegible]	[illegible]	15.00	[illegible]	30.00	[illegible]	80.00
1 col.	12.00	18.00	[illegible]	25.00	35.00	50.00	85.00	140.00

All Electro's must be solid metal.

"Little of Everything" column, 5 cts. per line.

Double cols. 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

A METRICAL MEDLEY.

Winter Is Coming.

I know that Winter's coming fast,
The shortening day, the early night,
The zephyr chased by colder blast,
The woods adorned with colors bright.

The squirrel chattering 'mongst the boughs,
The empty bird's nest in the tree,
The need of fires in the house,
Are signs of Winter sure to me.

Another sign that never fails,
And one a wise man always notes,
Is that which now your nose assails—
The smell of camphor on overcoats.
—Lawrence American.

Rest.

Before me forests spread, somberly glooming,
But touched with sunset light;
Behind, the mountain's umbrage grandly looming
Uprises, height on height.

The far-off water placidly lies dreaming
Beneath its veil of mist;
And mighty cliff and mountain-ridge are seeming
Tinged with amethyst.

Downward sweet cadences the pines are sending,
And all their murmurous kin;
Drowsily floating [illegible] softly blending
The laughter of the rill.

Red burns the sumach; by the brookside blooming
The purple asters nod;
And like the bush in Horeb, unconsuming,
Flames out the golden-rod.

Peace—peace and rest, in sunshine and in shadow;
Sweet sounds the jay's shrill cry;
And drowsily on mountain and in meadow
The cricket's lullaby.

Benign as evening's dewy benediction
Unto the sun-smit plain,
Softly beguiling as a dream's sweet fiction
Upon the couch of pain.

This healing balm, and gracious chrism suffusing
Tired brain and aching breast;
And life, its weariness and sadness losing,
Seems lapsing into rest.

Father, we thank thee, not for labor ended,
But cheered with kind surcease;
Grant us at last thy rest and service blended
In perfect, endless peace.
—Rev. Trueman S. Perry, in Advance.

The Modern Photograph.

The impression is quite general
That people are to-day
More highly intellectual
Than in ages passed away;
But the notion is erroneous
I am steadfastly convinced,
And I think a retrogression
Has been recently evinced.

Now, we have some strange conceptions
As to ways of dress and walk,
And the strangeness is extending
Even to ideas and talk;
Things have turned so topsy-turvy,
And are changing so of late
That old-timers lose their bearings
And can hardly navigate.

There are many funny fancies—
Some are fit to make one laugh—
Just the oddest is the fashion
Of the latest photograph;
Formerly they took your picture
Front face, eyes upon a crack,
Nowadays the proper caper
Is to photograph your back.
—Frank H. Welch, in Time.

The Bonnet's Beauty.

The glory of a beauty's bonnet,
Which wins at sight our hearty praises,
Is seen within it, not upon it,
It needs not daffodils nor daisies.

'Tis not the velvet, silk nor satin,
Poised gracefully upon her head,
'Tis not the trimming "this or that in,"
Nor blended blossoms white and red.

That rich, attractive bonnet shining,
"A thing of beauty" in the street
Or church, is valued for its lining:
A face that's radiant and sweet.

The admiration of a lover,
Unkindled by the richest lace
Or splendid plumes that wave above her,
Is lit by her fair, winsome face.

The heart beats quicker in the bosom
Of one whose cheeks now red, now white,
Who's thinking of the orange blossom,
A form of grace and eyes of light.

He thinks of a bright arch of roses,
Where plighted lovers soon will stand;
And when the ceremony closes
No happier pair will grace the land.

The glory of a beauty's bonnet
Which wins at sight our hearty praises,
Is seen within it, not upon it,
It needs not daffodils nor daisies.
—George W. Bungay, in Ridley's Fashion Magazine.

Dusk.

Blue as a farmer's antique overalls
The golden day wanes to a purple hush,
The western cloudlets like boiled lobsters blush.
The shanghais eager up the button balls,
While crickets chirp along the old stone walls
And drops of dew like perspiration gush
Upon the tiger lily of tawny plush;
The nightingale unto his fond mate calls,
The whip-poor-will is screeching in the lea.
While night in darkness all the scene unfolds,
Startling the katydid upon the bough.
And now the farmer lad appears, care free—
Her red tail like unto grim death he holds
And with a hay-rake agitates the cow.
—Mobile Register.

The Secret.

I have heard a fearful secret;
To the Shah I will not tell it;
I will hide it from my sweethearts,
From my merry, dear companions,
When they ask.

This it is: The clod I trample
Was the skull of Alexander,
And the waters of the ocean
In the veins of haughty princes
Once ran red.

And the dust clouds of the desert
Were the lips of lovely women:
Where are they, and they who kissed them?
Power dies, and beauty passes—
Naught abides.

Where is Jamshyd, and his beaker?
Solomon, and where his mirror?
Which of all the wine professors
Knows when Kaus and Jamshyd flourished—
Who can tell?

They were mighty, yet they vanished;
Names are all they left behind them:
Glory first and then an echo;
Then the very echo hushes—
And all is still.

Oh, my Shah, ask not my secret!
Sweetheart, I must hide it from you!
They who hear it are not merry:
Power dies, and beauty passes—
Naught abides.
—W. R. Thayer, in Atlantic.

Diluted Pleasure.

They were sitting at the counter of the famous oyster-house,
And the steaming hot aroma from the plunder
Gave a thrill of honest pleasure to the sense of all but one,
He was sitting at the end as grim as thunder.
"What's the trouble, Colonel Robbins?" asked his neighbor on the left.
"Why don't you eat your luncheon?" was the question;
"I never eat a luncheon," was the surly, sharp reply,
"I just inhale the odor. (Indigestion!)"
—Judge.

THE PARIS THUNDERER.

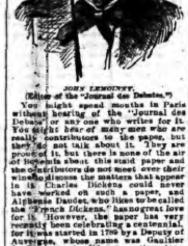
The "Journal des Debats," and Its Many Ups and Downs.

A Newspaper Once Edited by Napoleon and Always the Most Respectable and Dignified Journal in France—How It Is Managed and Its Influence.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

PEOPLE find it hard to believe that there can be anything very conservative in the peculiar city of Paris. It is especially hard to believe that there can be such a thing as a conservative newspaper, whose editors do not indulge in the usual inexpensive pastime of pointing small swords instead of pens at each other once in a while; do not run to sipping absinthe and talking loudly in very public places and do not in the main comport themselves as Paris journalists are ordinarily supposed to do. And yet all these things are to be found in one newspaper office in this merry city of Paris. There is one newspaper here that has not been touched by the tidal wave of enthusiasm over the French exposition. There is one newspaper that cares little whether Boulanger stays on the Island of Jersey or—to use an Americanism with a French tinge—drops quietly into the consomme. This particular paper has had Napoleon Bonaparte as its managing editor, and although all the evidence goes to show that he was a bad one, the men who manage the paper to-day are not willing to admit it and they are not at all inclined to put Boulanger anywhere in the class with the original man on horseback.

This paper is the Paris "Journal des Debats." In some, in fact in many respects it is the most peculiar newspaper in Europe. So far as I have been able to judge it has no counterpart. The London "Times" is the only paper that can claim anything like the same record and in many respects the London "Times" cannot compare with it, for the reason that the "Times" under John Delane and under its present management has as a rule represented an individual interest, changing its policy to suit the ideas of that interest. The change in the policy of the "Times" has never been involuntary. None but financial interests ever forced a change of policy with the "Times." The directors of the "Journal des Debats" have been obliged to change whether they liked it or not. However there are points about the two papers that are very similar and generally the "Journal des Debats" is known as the "Thunderer of Paris"



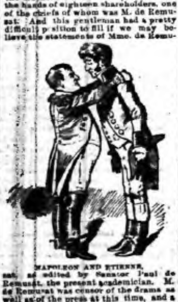
JOHN LEMOINNE.
(Editor of the "Journal des Debates.")

You might spend months in Paris without hearing of the "Journal des Debats" or any one who writes for it. You might hear of many men who are really contributors to the paper, but they do not talk about it. They are proud of it, but there is none of the air of Bohemia about this staid paper and the contributors do not meet over their wine to discuss the matters that appear in it. Charles Dickens could never have worked on such a paper, and Alphonse Daudet, who likes to be called the "French Dickens," has no great love for it. However, the paper has very recently been celebrating a centennial, for it was started in 1789 by a Deputy of Auvergne, whose name was Gaultier de Biauzat, who did not continue long in control of it. It passed through various hands to finally come into those of the brothers Bertni who formed the policy which with some variations it has since maintained.

Just off the Place de Louvre is the office of this peculiar newspaper. You would have a hard task to find it. The guide books do not mention it. You don't see it in many of the "kiosks" where newspapers are sold. On the Place de Louvre there is an old church. It is about 900 years old now and it has a history such as few churches in France have. This is the church of St. Germaine l' Auxerroi and it was out of the belfry of this same church that the signal for the St. Bartholomew massacre was sounded some centuries ago. We have heard many stories of that tragedy since it occurred and most of them have differed. But the old church with its belfry not noisy in the sense that it was, still stands as a relic of former days. Behind it on a street which is not at all impressive, but which bears an impressive name, is the office of the "Journal des Debats." It is called "La Rue des Pretnes St. Germain l' Auxerrol." A long name for a short street and a narrow one. As a matter of fact this old street with a pretentious name is rather seedy and shabby. It is not much above an alley. But it is the spot where the London "Times" of Paris finds, and for generations has made a home, from which it has from time to time directed its fulminations against pretty much every sort of a government that it is possible for a Frenchman to invent, and in this particular direction the possibilities are large.

The "Journal des Debats" was started in 1789 but only commenced to be a power in 1800 or thereabouts. This was at the time that the brothers Bertni owned it. They bought it for about $1,000 and ran it on business principles. In other words one of the brothers Bertni agreed with Bonaparte and the other did not. Bonaparte was a business man himself and he exiled the Bertni who did not agree with him. The other one held on and supported Napoleon and prospered.

It was a peculiar part that the "Journal des Debats" played during the time that the "Little Corporal" was on horseback. Among his other failings Napoleon had one which is shared by many other great men. He thought he knew all about editing a newspaper; and in a certain way he did. He had a certain grim humor about him which some editors still retain. He showed this on a couple of occasions, as instances—one day Bonaparte got dissatisfied with the name of the paper, and, to the dismay of the brothers Bertni, he changed it. When it next appeared it was as the "Journal de l'Empire." That was a pretty good joke in its way, but it did not altogether satisfy Bonaparte, for one day he appropriated the whole business without regards for the rights of the brothers Bertni. He placed it in the hands of eighteen shareholders, one of the chiefs of whom was M. de Remusat. And this gentleman had a pretty difficult position to fill if we may believe the statements of Mme. de Remusat, as edited by Senator Paul de Remusat, the present academician. M. de Remusat was censor of the drama as well as of the press at this time, and a nice time he had of it in satisfying the man on horseback.



NAPOLEON AND ETIENNE.

But Napoleon did not have things altogether his own way during the time that he was managing editor. The editor of the principal French newspaper in New York City, tells a story of this period that on the whole reflects credit on the great Emperor. This was in 1813, when troubles were gathering around Napoleon. Etienne was the editor of the "Journal des Debats." At this time Bonaparte was in what the Americans would call a state of mind. He was satisfied that Austria was trying to intrigue against him through his wife, Marie Louise, and one day he sent for Etienne and ordered a very ill-tempered editorial to be printed in the next issue of the "Journal de l'Empire." The editorial did not appear in that issue. The Emperor raged and ordered that editorial in the next day and made all sorts of threats as to what he would do if it was not published. But it was not published even then. Nor did it appear the next day. Then Napoleon lost the little temper he had control of.

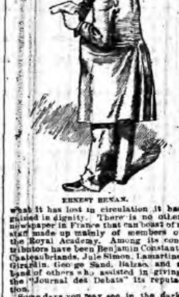
"Bring Etienne to me dead or alive," he ordered and the editor was brought before the Emperor. He was alive. The editor did not speak when brought into the presence of Napoleon, nor did he show any sign of fear. He simply awaited developments. Napoleon paced the floor in the quick, energetic manner peculiar to him when angry and those in the chamber looked for a violent outbreak. They were disappointed: for after several circuits of the room the Emperor darted towards Etienne and seizing him by both shoulders in the roughest sort of a way exclaimed:

"I thank you."

Then he left the chamber. It was his way of admitting that the editorial was unwise and that the editor was right in not printing it.

After the fall of Napoleon, the "Journal de l'Empire" became the "Journal des Debats" again and has since held the same name. With the departure of Napoleon the anti-Napoleon, Bertni, came back and the other brother took a back seat, so to speak. The paper welcomed back the exiled princes, and in a dignified sort of way danced on the remains of the "Little Corporal."

It has been conducted in much the same manner ever since. It has always maintained a dual character and has managed to carry water on both shoulders very successfully for the last century. Yet the old paper is not anything like what it was in the matter of circulation or profits. Before the fall of Napoleon it had, as has already been stated, a circulation of more than 23,000 copies daily and its annual profit of 200,000 francs, not a bad profit in those days. After the brothers Bertni came back it was never so popular. It has now a circulation of about 7,000, but what it has lost in circulation it has gained in dignity. There is no other newspaper in France that can boast of a staff made up mainly of members of the Royal Academy. Among its contributors have been Benjamin Constant, Chateaubriands, Jule Simon, Lamartine Girardin, George Sand, Balzac and a band of others who assisted in giving the "Journal des Debats" its reputation.



ERNEST RENAN.

Some days you may see in the dark alley in which the old journal has its office a sturdily built man with a strong face smoothly shaven and with all the outward appearances of a man of intellect. This is none other than Ernest Renan, whose "Life of Christ," "History of the Jews" and various other works have created so many sensations, not only in France but in all Europe. He is a distinguished member of the staff of the "Journal des Debats." And he, like most of his colleagues, is a member of the Academy.

FOOTBALL CAPTAINS.

Men Who are Training the College Teams for the Struggle.

Gill, of Yale, and His Magnificent Playing—Cowan, of Princeton, as an "Interferer"—Which Eleven Will Capture the Prize.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

Football furnishes the all-absorbing topic in the American colleges at the present time, and speculation is rife as to the prospects in the coming struggle between Yale, Princeton and Harvard for championship honors. Every year increases the interest taken in the sport by the colleges, and since the suppression of slugging by the resolute action of the faculty of Harvard in 1884 there has been a marked improvement in the game. It is no longer a mere contest of physical strength—a battle between giants which in former years degenerated into a "free fight." It is a game in which science does more, perhaps, to give the mastery than it does in any other athletic sport now in vogue in this country.

In the early days of football, Yale and Princeton led all the other colleges at the game. Their elevens were little else than sluggers, and when they got the ball they rushed it through the lines of their opponents without mercy. Harvard usually played more gently and with some show of science. The result was that it was left far behind in the race by the other universities and it was not till Harvard had encountered repeated defeats that it decided to adopt the tactics of its rivals. Six years ago Cambridge trained a team of giants to meet Yale and Princeton and determined to beat them at their own game. The team was instructed to defeat their opponents, even if they had to place every man on the rival teams "hors de combat" to do it. In other words, it was to be a "free fight" and the battle was to go hard with the weaker team. News of this arrangement reached the ears of the Harvard Faculty and they immediately took steps to prevent the members of their college team from being subjected to the brutal handling that was clearly in store for those who undertook to play against Cambridge. The Faculty demanded that the rule then in force, that a player should be warned three times before being disqualified for slugging, should be rescinded and that he should, instead, be thrown over for the first offense. This demand and all protests were unavailing and the game was played under the old rules. But it was the last game ever played in that manner, for the reaction set in in 1884 and the suggestion of the Faculty of Harvard was then adopted generally. So many young men were disabled and seriously injured by the slugging that their relatives began to interfere, and the adoption of the precaution became a necessity.

Another salutary rule that has done much to elevate the sport was that adopted by the "Intercollegiate Association" at its recent meeting in New York, deciding that hereafter no one shall be eligible to play in a collegiate championship game who is not a bona fide student of the college for which he plays, and that professional athletes should not be permitted to participate in the games. At the same time, it was distinctly ruled that no university player should receive any money for his play from any source whatever. One effect of this new departure was to immediately rule out Wagenhurst, the great rusher of Princeton, a player who had been foremost in all the big matches of that college. Three other noted players—Beecher, Ball and Terry—were also barred out by the same rule. It had been the intention of the Yale team to put them on its list for the coming championship contest. Harvard was probably the only team unaffected by the change; for it had always been against the policy of Harvard men to encourage professionalism.

"INTERFERING" TACTICS.

A glance at the teams now in training for the coming battle will be interesting. Columbia has this year determined to make a bold bid for the honors, and has, accordingly, put a crack eleven in the field, which is expected to give a good account of itself when the day of the fight arrives. It is thought that the team is somewhat light in the rush line, and that it will find it difficult to withstand the force of the class of players Harvard, Yale and Princeton will put in the field. But Columbia is in constant practice and improving daily.

The real match will be between Yale, Princeton and Harvard, and, more probably still, it will lie between the two former colleges. The Princetons have the greatest number of crack players and an all-round team of remarkable strength. Good judges claim that they will easily outplay Harvard. But, as in former contests, the idea of luck seems to hover over the heads of the Yale men, and there are football experts who believe that she is bound to win, because she has not lost a championship in several years.

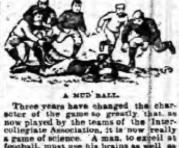
One of the notable points about Princeton this year will be its signalling system, which has been brought to greater perfection than ever. New signals have been devised to cover almost every contingency on the field and the Captain of the team will be able to convey his wishes to almost any player at any stage of the game. This is regarded as permissible trickery, and great matches in the past have been won by just such maneuvers. Another of Princeton's sources of strength is in its interfering. When the spectators at a game see a man running at hot speed with the ball, and having a clear lead, they are apt to forget, in their enthusiasm for the runner, that his success is due almost wholly to the interfering tactics of his fellows on the team, without whose help in beating back the rival team, he could never get away with the ball. Interfering, to be successful must be done by the whole team working to keep the opponent back. This has gradually developed on scientific principles.

The question of individual preeminence at football is one that is not easy to determine. There are so many different qualifications that go to make the perfect player that distinctions might be invidious. Three men, however, stand out from among all others as distinguished by their strong and brilliant playing, and their command of the situation. They are Gill of Yale, Cowan of Princeton and Harding of Harvard. Gill, who is the captain of his team, is perhaps the finest player in America. He is famous as a rusher and invincible as a tackler, being feared by the enemy more than any other player on the field. Gill is the type of the ideal player—a fine general, a rigid disciplinarian and a cool-headed fellow. In the wildest rush he never loses his head, and always has his force under command. Should Yale take the honors this year, it will do so largely because of Gill's individual prowess.

Harding, the end rush of Harvard, is a player of a totally different sort, being a giant in physique and a slugger in his methods. Nobody seeks a fight with this great, heavy athlete, and he clearly belongs to the days when slugging was a recognized part of the game. He has not a cool head, like Gill, and is apt to lose his temper. Still, with all his weak points, he is easily the strongest man of his team. The others are mainly unknown quantities.

Cowan of Princeton, is a plucky player and a skillful tactician. He is probably best at interfering of any man on any of the three teams. When he joins in a rush, something is sure to happen, and, like Gill, his extraordinary coolness in moments of general turmoil, makes him a tower of strength to his team. He has great strength and knows how to use it to advantage. Channing, also of the Princetons, is another remarkably fine player, and is believed to be the best all-round half-back in the country. Still another is Edgar Allen Poe, a nephew of the famous author of "The Raven," who plays quarter-back for the team, and who is the youngest captain of any in the Intercollegiate Association.

Bad weather has deprived the teams of a good deal of needed practice this year. Princeton has got over this disadvantage, to some extent, by a system devised by its captain who gathers his men together in a room and arranging a number of checkers on a board, makes difficult combinations and asks his men what they would do under such circumstances. This brings out argument and the discussion is one that sometimes involves many of the most difficult problems of the football field.



A MUD BALL.

Three years have changed the character of the game so greatly, that, as now played by the teams of the Intercollegiate Association, it is now really a game of science. A man, to excell at football, must use his brains as well as his muscles, and mere strength has given place to skill and finesse. Still, there are few really great football players, although there are many who are very nearly so. The popularity of the game, and its wonderful possibilities have encouraged lovers of the sport to claim that the day is not far off when it will divide the honors with the national game of baseball, if indeed it will not eclipse it. At present all the finest players, with one or two noted exceptions, are to be found in the colleges. It is recognized as a distinctively college game, but the public is gradually awakening to its merits and the fact that outsiders and professionals are no longer permitted to serve in the collegiate teams will doubtless have the effect of encouraging the organization of outside teams which may, in time and with practice, eclipse even the colleges.

G. H. SANDISON.

Legal Don'ts About Wills.

Lawyer Lockwood furnishes some very good legal don'ts about wills which will be well to remember.

Don't make a will without two witnesses; better three.

Don't neglect to declare it your last will and testament.

Don't let a person interested in it be a witness.

Don't add a codicil unless you execute it in the same way as the original will.

Don't make a new will unless you revoke or destroy the old one.

Don't neglect to make your witnesses write their full names and addresses.

Don't forget that if a woman your marriage will invalidate a will already made.

Don't make a new will without specifically revoking the prior one and physically destroying it.

Don't make a will that does not provide for children that may be born.

Don't try to force a wife to accept certain property instead of dower.

Don't try to devise real property to an alien.

Don't allow a minor to will away personal property, unless eighteen if male, and sixteen if female.

Don't leave anything uncertain in a will.

Don't mention people by their nicknames.

Don't fail to specify which one is meant when two bear the same name.

Don't imagine that the contents of a lost will may not be proved by good evidence.

A Treacherous Memory.

Smith—What are you loafing around town at this time of night for?

Brown—'Fraid to go home. Wife told me to be sure and remember something, and I've forgotten what it was.

Smith—It wasn't drygoods or groceries, was it?

Brown—No.

Smith—Baby food, tacks, or theater tickets?

Brown—No; but I've just thought of it.

Smith—What was it?

Brown—She wanted me to remember to come home early.

The Cruel Wretch.

Wife—Why do you spend so much of your time away from home, Charles?

Charles—My love, I assure you, it's only to increase your happiness.

"Why, Charles, how can you talk so?"

"Well, perhaps it doesn't; but then, you know, I always supposed it fair to judge others by ourselves."

No Insects on Them.

Citizen (at the nursery)—Have you plants with insects on them.

Florist—No, indeed, I don't keep such things.

Citizen (disappointedly)—I was in hopes you did. My wife never lets me smoke in the house except when there are insects on the plants.

A CURIOUS COLLECTION.

A DANDELION which has grown to the top of a ten-foot pole is the product of a New Haven truck patch.

A CHICAGO husband and wife both filed petitions for divorce on the same day, each without the knowledge of the other.

JOHNSON MUNDY, a Tarrytown (N. Y.) sculptor who is nearly blind, is modeling a statue of a Union soldier by the sense of touch.

A FISHERMAN at Doylestown, Pa., saw a sunfish swallow a bee, and a few minutes later saw the fish on the water dead. He cut it open and the bee flew off.

A ROLLER in an Ansonia (Conn.) mill has succeeded in making a ribbon seventy and three-quarter inches long, three-quarters of an inch wide and five ten-thousandths of an inch thick from an 1889 cent.

A YOUNG lady of Columbus, Ga., has made a crazy quilt out of Louisiana State lottery tickets that failed to "connect" with the prize wheel. The numbers are worked in silk of beautiful colors.

A MAINE girl put a note and her address in a box of toothpicks, requesting the finder to write to her. A Kansas City man got the box, opened a correspondence, and a few days ago started East to see if the young lady was the sort of woman he wanted for a wife.

AT Leighton Buzzard, Eng., the other day a chapel was burned down in which it had previously been arranged to celebrate a wedding. The destruction of the sacred edifice had no effect in postponing the ceremony, and the man and woman were made one amid the smoking ruins.

THE fact that the passage of an electric current through a rose leaf will cause it to lose color was taken advantage of at a recent dinner in Paris. Instead of the ordinary card the seat of each guest was indicated by his name being inscribed in white letters upon a rose leaf at his place at table.

A WONDERFUL map of O'Brien County, Ia., was made for exhibition at the State fair at Des Moines. The map was wholly composed of corn grains, each town and township being distinguished by different colors. The railroads were marked by rows of blue-black "squaw corn" and the wagon roads with popcorn.

A CURIOSITY in the shape of a milk pumpkin was lately seen on a farm a few miles southwest of Anderson, Ind. The vine upon which the pumpkin grew was partly covered with loose dirt when in bloom. At the points where the dirt covered the vine small roots grew out. The vine was lifted up and the roots carefully placed in a pan of milk, which was rapidly absorbed. The pumpkin on the vine grew to enormous size, and one weighs 125 pounds.

IN Elbert County, near Craft's ferry, on the Savannah river, lives a negro man who goes by the name of "Sheep Jess," who is a curiosity. His hair and whiskers are perfectly white and almost cover his head and face, leaving only small patches of dark skin around his eyes and nose, and are a perfect imitation of sheep's wool. His hair, or wool, grows rapidly, and his wife shears him every two weeks, thereby realizing enough wool to supply Jess, his wife and five children with stockings the year round, and sells enough socks to supply them in sugar and coffee. His wife has nearly enough of the finest part of the wool saved up to make cloth sufficient for a suit of clothes for Jess next winter. He is about thirty-five years old.

TOLD OF THE FAMOUS.

LORD SALISBURY has such an extreme aversion to tobacco that even his own sons do not venture to smoke in his presence.

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES has refused to write a poem for a prominent magazine. He said that he felt that it was time for him to stop.

GREATNESS has its annoyances, too. Mr. Edison is called "Old Macaroni" by the Menlo Park boys; who have heard that he has been made a count.

PRINCE BISMARCK received over 1,000 telegrams of congratulation on the occasion of the twenty-seventh anniversary of his appointment as President of the Prussian Cabinet.

MME. MODJESKA is said to entertain more than any other woman on the stage. Her favorite form of entertainment is to give a quiet dinner to a half-dozen particular friends.

IN a recent interview Lord Tennyson is reported as saying that Keats and Horace were his masters, and that to the early study of their works he attributes his success as a poet.

BRONSON HOWARD recently remarked: "I suppose that I write a whole play about three times from beginning to end, but in doing so I copy many whole scenes unchanged. Certain parts of the play I may write six times before it suits me."

MEISSONIER recently said to a lady, who remarked, upon visiting his new house, that she missed pictures of his own from among the beautiful things with which he had adorned the rooms: "Ah, madam, they are too dear to allow me to keep them."

THE Countess Magri, better known as Mrs. Tom Thumb, is said to have fine business ability, and she plans the routes and makes arrangements for her traveling company. She is the possessor of $5,000 worth of jewelry, which she wears at her performances.

THE late Sunset Cox attacked Benjamin Butler while he was making a speech in the House. "Shoo-fly, don't bother me," exclaimed the irate Massachusetts statesman, with an irritated gesture of contempt. This was the origin of the once popular phrase.

BOOK MAKING IN JAPAN.

The Author Paints Instead of Writing, Using Brush and Ink.

Having resolved to "paint" a book, for, as all the world knows, the Japanese use a brush and not a pen, the author betakes him to his workroom. It is a little room, a very little room, "Six mattes" is its Japanese measurement, and a mat is about six feet by four. It is full of the soft, dull light which pulses from a square white paper lantern; the low, bright wooden ceiling gives back a pale brown gleam here and there.

There is a silvery glint in the frail panelled walls, and in a warm gray shadowed recess a gold Budha crosses his feet and stretches forth his palms, smiling gently upon the lotus which he holds. In another recess stand the curious vessels of iron and clay and bamboo for the tea ceremony.

The author sits on the floor in a flowing garment of brown silk lined with blue, his legs disposed comfortably under him. In front of him stands a lacquered table, about a foot high and upon it his writing materials, which are as idyllic as his surroundings—his paper is delicately tinted yellow, with blue lines running up and down. His ink-stand is a carved ebony slab, with one end hollowed out for water to rub his cube of India ink in, and holds the four or five dainty decorated bamboo brushes which are his pens.

Naturally he does not write his novel, he paints it. Beginning at the end of the whole, at the left of every page and the top of every line, straight down between the two blue parallels his small brown handiwork goes, with quick, delicate, dark touches.

Although the novelist's "copy" might seem to a stranger to be daintiness itself, yet he always has it duplicated "by an artist" before sending it to the publishers. The success of the stock depending largely upon its artistic forthbringing. The "artist" to whom the "copy" is now entrusted proceeds to repaint the long series of word pictures with a professional dexterity which is something astonishing.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE. | A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

THE PEOPLE ENDORSE THE POLICY OF THE PRESS.

High License and Few Saloons Recommended Instead of No License and an Unrestricted Liquor Traffic Throughout the City.

For Months past THE PRESS has stood alone against the present prohibition policy of the Council. It has fearlessly—though with some regret—shown up the failure of Prohibition in Plainfield and pointed out how under high-license the city had thirteen saloons bound by a heavy fee to conduct their business decently and within certain prescribed limits, and how under no-license the city is now cursed with sixty-three rum-holes running at all hours of the day and night, including Sundays.

The Times blindly fanatical, has continued to advocate no license, and the organ, bound to obey its dictator, Chief Carey, who had saved it twice from indictment by the Grand Jury, has applauded the same system.

Ministers of the Gospel in this city have privately assured THE PRESS of their sympathy, and praised its course. "I would do the same," said one divine, "but they would accuse me, as they do you, of being the saloon keeper's friend in advocating a change [illegible] from Prohibition to license. Yet that is just what the saloon keepers do not want. Under Prohibition they sell without restriction and without fear."

But by their vote Tuesday, as recorded elsewhere, the people have endorsed the policy of THE PRESS. It is a commendable record for the people, a proud one for us, and the salvation of the city. For the first time in the history of Plainfield, not a prohibitionist is elected on the Councilmanic ticket. Even Mr. Lovell, the regular Republican nominee in the Second Ward, with a big majority back of him, was defeated because the Prohibitionists endorsed him. They thought he was a no-license man, though he is not, and the people thought it was best to be on the safe side, so they refused to elect him.

LEGISLATIVE DUTY.

It is passing strange that so many intelligent men, justly respected as private citizens and strictly correct and honorable in their business transactions, should be found willing as partisans to tolerate, if not directly encourage, disreputable political plans and doings.

Yet such is a disgraceful fact.

To sanction known evil is to become a partner in guilt, excuse it as you may.

There is no valid reason why political actions should not be as honest and unblemished as those of any other name or kind.

That they are not, is proof positive of the existence of political corruption, foul and festering, to effectually remove and destroy which ought to be the foremost aim of patriotic duty.

Liberty cannot thrive in a polluted atmosphere.

The plea used by many politicians that, as in war so all is fair in politics, is unjustifiable, because it antagonizes personal freedom, and does violence to the cherished form of government under which it is our good fortune to dwell.

Every citizen has the undeniable right to entertain and express by voice and vote whatever political opinions he may think proper, and to enroll himself in such partisan organization as best comports with his own individual views of propriety.

So far he is clearly exercising the legally given privileges of an American citizen, and no man or combination of men possess a particle of just authority in any way to interfere with or abridge these privileges.

But when any citizen goes beyond such legitimate limits, barters his vote for pelf, and seeks, not to persuade by enlightened argument, but to force others into his particular partisanship, either through the seducing power of bribery, corrupt trickery, or tyrannical threats, he at once sinks the dignity of citizenship into the mire of depraved politics.

He becomes a corrupt political trafficker, and no matter what his partisan name, how loud his professions of morality and social worth, or how great his financial strength, he richly deserves public condemnation and criminal punishment coupled with disfranchisement.

The ballot is a freeman's ordained weapon, and the wielding of it, uninfluenced by aught else than his own free will, an obligation he owes his country, his fellow-freemen and himself.

To fully protect him in this high and honorable exercise against any and every kind of venal hostility, is an imperative duty resting upon the next Legislature of New Jersey.

Let us have BALLOT REFORM!

We Are With the Press.

For almost a year now, Plainfield has enjoyed the benefits of Prohibition. Sixty-three illicit rum holes have flourished and the Times and News have lauded the policy and urged its continuance. This week's issue of the former paper said: "The election yesterday showed that there were 180 voters in Plainfield whose conscientious convictions compelled them to vote a no-license ticket."

For months THE PRESS has fought alone against Prohibition in this city. It has been so fortunate as to be able to show with effect the result of the policy. It has had the people as its readers. What was the result?

[illegible] voted with the Times and the organ Tuesday.

1,485 voted with THE PRESS.

No Apology About This Assertion.

Mr. Seymour G. Smith—who received on Tuesday the biggest vote for Councilman ever given a candidate in this city upon the occasion of a party election—is for licensing both saloons and hotels here where the applicants' petitions meet the requirements of the ordinance.

Any report that he is for license only, is untrue. He never sails under false colors, and is even so outspoken as to say that the conviction of a man for selling liquor during the present no-license regime, should not bar that man from being given a license next year, as neither then should be debarred those who have not been publicly accused or convicted yet who have also sold just the same.

—A neat sign indicating the offices of city clerk, chief of police, street commissioner and city board of health, has been placed at the entrance to the upper stories in the School building, at the head of Park avenue, on Front street.

THE CITY'S VOTE.

	1st Ward	2d Ward	3d Ward	4th Ward 1st Dist	4th Ward 2d Dist	Total
COUNCILMEN-AT-LARGE.
Dan S. Roberts, R.	245	195	158	139	99	836
John Johnston, R.	220	211	150	115	86	792
Seymour G. Smith, R.	250	208	162	155	151	926
Joseph G. Miller, D.	187	186	62	187	161	783
Andrew W. Rand, D.	139	120	68	108	158	593
J. Oscar Stevens, D.	154	114	65	100	99	532
Samuel A. Haines, P.	29	47	61	37	8	182
Edward L. Martin, P.	29	47	60	29	5	170
George H. Fountain, P.	29	42	58	37	8	174
CITY JUDGE.
Wm. R. Codington, R & P.	264	251	220	176	103	1014
ASSESSOR.
Joseph A. Hubbard, R & P.	264	253	231	174	102	1024
Jasper G. Cadmus, D.	163	129	59	113	155	619
COLLECTOR.
John Johnson, R & P.	299	247	227	132	95	1000
Thomas E. Morgan, D.	165	131	73	135	169	673
TREASURER.
Alexander Titsworth, R & P.	293	248	227	167	104	1039
Albertus Swaim, D.	172	134	64	112	155	637
CHOSEN FREEHOLDERS.
J. Frank Hubbard, R & P.	260	245	228	165	100	998
Andrew Vanderbeek, R & P.	255	256	225	164	96	996
Jeremiah Manning, D.	177	137	84	124	160	682
Walter G. Runyon, D.	177	138	68	126	161	670
SCHOOL TRUSTEE.
John B. Probasco, R & P.	206	241	216	155	99	917
Louis F. Wadsworth, D.	224	138	75	133	160	730
COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL.
Wessling Vermeule, R & P.	256	247	226	168	99	996
J. Fred MacDonald, R & P.	256	248	225	168	100	997
Jasper G. Cadmus, D.	177	135	65	121	159	657
Jeremiah Manning, D.	176	136	66	123	160	661
John Ross, D.	176	135	65	122	158	656
Republican Tickets	234	209	167	135	91	836
Democratic Tickets	176	137	65	119	157	654
Prohibition Tickets	29	40	59	36	8	172
Total Vote, 1889	438	384	292	292	258	1664
" " 1888	415	322	257	517		1511
" " 1887	394	330	247	472		1443
" " 1886	300	340	255	480		1375

FIRST WARD.

COUNCILMAN.
W. L. Hetfield, D.	290
S. P. T. Wilbur, R.	169
Geo. D. Morrison, P.	33
CONSTABLE.
Richard R. York, R and P	267
Thos. Callahan, D	177
JUSTICE OF PEACE.
Lewis Peterson, R. and P.	249
JUDGE OF ELECTION.
Rob't A. Meeker, R. and P	257
John J. Kenney, D	177
INSPECTOR.
Richard E. Corbell, R. and P.	267
Louis F. Wadsworth, D	175
CLERK.
Elias H. Bird, R. and P	270
Andrew Love, Jr., D.	163

SECOND WARD.

COUNCILMAN.
Leonard Spangenberg, D	210
Leander N. Lovell, R. and P	169
CONSTABLE.
Wm. R. Mattison, R. and P	265
Wm. Callahan, D.	132
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.
Vincent W. Nash, R. and P.	231
JUDGE OF ELECTION.
John H. Doane, R. and P.	241
George Sadler, D	132
INSPECTOR.
John Johnston, R. and P.	224
Louis R. Stover, D	130
CLERK.
Armstrong Mulford, R. and P	296
Louis H. Brown, D	172

THIRD WARD.

COUNCILMAN.
Townsend Rushmore, R.	171
Theo. Miller, Jr., D.	34
Francis E. Martin, P.	60
CONSTABLE.
Amos Moffett, R. and P	222
C. F. Glasstaer, D.	66
JUSTICE OF PEACE.
J. Oakley Nodyne, R. and P	224
JUDGE OF ELECTION.
R. Frank Coriell, R. and P	223
Geo. A. Zeiss, D	65
INSPECTOR.
Randolph Dunham, R. and P.	229
Wm. Wright, D	65
CLERK.
Wm. B. Sharp, R. and P.	224
Levi Kline, D.	64

FOURTH WARD.

COUNCILMAN.	1st Dist	2d Dist
Elmore Moffett, D.	122	166
Edward Nelson, R.	129	89
Benj. Hand, P.	34	10
CONSTABLE.
Jacob Kniney, D.	125	156
Andrew Muir, R. and P.	154	109
JUSTICE OF PEACE.
Levi Hetfield, D.	118	158
Theo. J. Gillies, R. and P	163	100
JUDGE OF ELECTION.
Wm. H. Warner, D.	111
Edw. C Searing, D.		150
Jos. R. Higgins, R. and P	162
Robt. Mitchell, R. and P.		109
INSPECTOR.
Vincent L. Frazee, D.	152
Michael Flynn, D.		155
Jas. Patterson, R. and P.	126
J. B. Martin, R. and P.		98
CLERK.
Geo. R. Rockafellow, D.	109
Thomas F. Harding, D.		148
Abm Angleman, R. and P	177
Robt. Laughlin, R. and P.		96

LOOKING BACK AT IT.

Some Features and Factors of Tuesday's Election—An "Independent" Temperance Ticket as Black as Your Hat.

The charter election has come and gone. The Boys' License, as usual, carrying off the majority of the prizes. The Democrats were successful in electing Councilmen in the First and Second Wards, due rather to dissensions in the Republican ranks, than to their own numerical strength.

A factor, comparatively new, appeared in the field. We have had temperance tickets before, when the nominees of that party were presented to our citizens upon both Republican and Democratic tickets, and persons so desiring, could support no-license Councilmen, but otherwise, vote for their respective party nominees. This year we had presented the "Independent No-License Ticket," composed of no-license nominees for Councilmen, but otherwise from A to Z, of Republicans.

Great preparations had been made for its presentation. For three weeks Music Hall had been opened night after night. Mr. Burdick in eloquent words had pictured the evils and cost of the saloon—had pointed out the Christian's duty and showed the close partnership between the supporters of high license and the rum-seller. The preparation of this ticket was left to a few, and the grand moving consideration was that the G. O. P. should receive no detriment.

Its object was, as correctly reported on the streets, to secure the election of a Republican, rejected by his own party, through the votes of a certain church whose members are generally temperance men, but not sufficiently so as to swallow a ticket upon which the name of a Democrat should appear. It is needless to say that this ticket disgusted many temperance men, both Republican and Democratic.

The Democrats lose their school trustee, who, though a well known practical temperance man, was not sufficiently so in theory to be supported by the rum party, and was slaughtered by those who should have been his friends. He and his opponent live in the same ward, which though strongly Republican, gave him a handsome majority. Defeated, he has the consolation of knowing that he led his party's ticket.

Mr. J. G. Miller has discovered his popularity among our citizens, and a little more exertion on the part of himself and friends would have made him a member of the next Council.

The main question of the struggle is settled. Licenses will be granted, sales made under restraint, and the illicit selling which has so long disgraced our city, will be ended. The course of THE PRESS has been sustained, and its prophecies fulfilled. Let us have peace. Where is Mahoney?

A Plainfielder as Umpire.

The Elizabeth chess club played a match game with a Newark club on Monday evening, defeating the latter club. Mr. R. B. Keyes of Plainfield, past president of the New Jersey Chess association and of the Newark Chess club, acted as umpire, but his office was a sinecure, the players being well drilled and the laws of the game thoroughly understood.

All of Which the People Approve.

The Central Times says: "The Daily Press made a night of it yesterday and was out bright and early this morning with a full report of the city election."

And the Times came right out, but a few hours behind it with a report that equalled it in every way.

But the news did not appear until almost a day after the fair, and was then made up of local items stolen bodily from THE PRESS and election figures from the Times' back numbers.

—Secretary of State Kelsey has issued the usual list of Senators and members of the next Legislature with their post office addresses. The next session begins on Tuesday, January 14, 1890. Governor Abbett will be inaugurated on Tuesday, January 21.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

Next Year's Council will Include Eight License Men and Three Prohibitionists.

The annual city election has come and gone. After one year of "Prohibition" the people rose up and elected nothing but license men to the Council, and next year that body will stand, eight for license against three Prohibitionists who happen to hold over.

A month ago in speaking of Councilman Marsh, who has been one of the most ardent Prohibitionists for years and years, THE PRESS foreshadowed his overthrow, and said:

> He is responsible with other retiring members of the Council, for a city of 63 saloons and free rum selling, instead of one-fifth that number under the control of the authorities and paying a heavy fee, that compels their good behavior and restricted hours, as THE PRESS and the people of common sense in the community prefer. Consequently after consecutive years of continuous service, Mr. Marsh will not be re-elected this Fall, and although with the retirement of him and others as foolish and unreasonable in the policy they have to adhere, the city will lose good Councilmen in some ways it will gain better Councilmen in the matter that most vitally concerns its welfare.

The election passed off quietly, the only disaster reported was a failure in the supply of milk and sugar in the W. C. T. U. coffee cart. But everybody greatly enjoyed and appreciated the women's efforts.

THE COMING COUNCIL.

The Plainfield Common Council for 1890, will stand:

LICENSE.	PROHIBITION.
Gallup, D.*	Jenkins, R.*
Hetfield, D.	Newhall, R.*
Spangenberg, D.	Dunham, R.*
Rushmore, R.
Moffett, D.
Smith, R.
Johnson, R.
Roberts, R.

Those marked thus, (*) hold over from the present Council. The others were elected yesterday for two years.

SOME INCIDENTS

The amusing features shown by the outcoming ballots, included: Five votes for Stillman for City Judge in the Third Ward, and one in the second district of the Fourth. "McGinty," who is reported to have gone down to the bottom of the sea, dressed in his best Sunday clothes, got two votes for City Judge in the second district of the Fourth Ward, and Michael Watson got one vote for the same office at the same polling place, where also Nick Kelly was given one vote for Assessor.

One of the best runs of the day was that of Louis H. Brown, for Clerk of Election in the Second Ward. He polled 172 votes, which was 35 ahead of his ticket, and for an office on which party lines are strictly drawn. George Sadler, who ran on the Democratic ticket for Judge of Election in the same Ward, is a colored man.

The victories of Messrs Hetfield and Spangenberg, were most creditable, and Mr. J. G. Miller's race at large was the pluckiest and most prosperous ever witnessed in Plainfield. It was a great day in every way.

High License Victory in Plainfield.

[New York World.]

The counting of the votes cast in the charter election in Plainfield was not finished until 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The high-license candidates carried the day by sweeping majorities, the no-license ticket polling less than 200 votes.

Office of the City Judge.

Arrangements are being made to remove the office of the City Judge at an early date, from its present location in the Stillman building on West Front street, to the law offices of Messrs Jackson & Codington, at Park avenue and Second street.

Positively Delicious.

So delightful to the taste are HAMBURG FIGS that they could be placed upon the table for dessert, and no one would suspect that they were more than very superior crystallized fruit. This property is what makes them so popular with ladies and children for the cure of indigestion and sick headache. 25c. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

THE CYCLONES VICTORIOUS.

They Defeat the Olympics at Their Windup, but Agree to Bowl Another.

The Cyclone bowling club, composed of members of the Plainfield Bicycle Club, intended to disband Wednesday night and to celebrate their disintegration with a final game against the Olympic Club on the alleys of the latter.

The match, as shown below, resulted, however, in a victory for the Cyclones and they thereupon agreed to give their adversaries another chance next Friday evening. The score was as follows:

CYCLONE.	S	S	B	Total
Morgan	3	2	5	143
Craig	1	2	7	118
Davis	1	2	7	108
Buchanan	3	3	4	138
Martin	3	0	5	110
E. Murray	2	4	4	147
Marsh	1	0	8	98
Murphy	0	1	5	103
O. Waring	1	1	8	99
Adams	5	1	4	168
				1,238
OLYMPIA.
Collier	1	2	7	127
French	1	2	7	126
L. Stover	0	2	7	117
Hall	1	3	6	120
Drayton	3	3	6	129
J. Waring	1	3	7	118
C. Stover	3	3	4	126
Hawkins	1	1	8	118
W. Lewis	1	2	7	118
H. W. Stover	3	3	4	140
				1,231

A BEAUTIFUL SCENE.

What the First Baptist Ladies Have Arranged, and Its Success.

If earnest, generous effort on the part of Mrs. Lucius H. Bigelow, Jr., and her assistants, is appreciated to the full extent of its deserts, and if an exhibition of brilliancy, beauty, charming taste and novelty, receives its just financial recompense, the sale of fancy articles in the rainbow tinted booth arranged about the lecture room and presided over by the pretty maidens and young women of the First Baptist church, will be a glorious success.

All this was first presented the public last evening. The attendance and results were more than hoped for or dreamed of. The scene was greatly admired. It has never been excelled for quiet elegance. Everything, most, was disposed of, but there will be a larger supply this evening. Among the special features last night was the music of the Misses McGee.

Killed at South Plainfield.

Benjamin Weaver, a Lehigh Valley brakeman, had both legs cut off by being run over by a coal train at South Plainfield, Tuesday, and died at St. Luke's Hospital in Newark, to which place he had been taken by a special train.

She Hadn't Read THE PRESS

"Oh, pshaw!" remarked a lady from Bound Brook in a Park avenue store, a few days ago, "Plainfield is a one-horse town. You can't get anything here."

That lady evidently had not read THE PRESS, wherein is advertised everything from a clothes pin to a brown stone front, with a diamond necklace thrown in.

Oh! For a Street Railway!

It is to be regretted that Mr. Leo Daft has abandoned the project to provide the city with a street railway. Plainfield is sadly in need of a street railway, and it is to be hoped that some individual or corporation will equip the city with a first-class road. By so doing property would increase in value, and the population would also be larger.

Real Estate Transfer.

Assessor Isaac Brokaw has sold the very desirable property formerly occupied by S. A. Potter and family, corner of Mercer avenue and Grove street, to Mrs. F. S., wife of Mr. C. W. McCutchen, for $12,000. He has also sold to Thomas B. Brooks a desirable piece of ground on Rockview avenue, adjoining the residence of Mr. Thomas B. Penton, 300 feet front and 1,200 feet deep, for $9,000.

The Fight Broken Up.

A prize fight was arranged to take place in this city on Tuesday evening, between two feather-weights, one from Brooklyn and the other from Morristown. According to the arrangements, the mill was to take place in a barn at South Plainfield, and the conditions were for $50 a side, but it is said that one of the principals, loaded up with Jersey lightning, and was in no fit condition to enter the ring, when the time arrived for the mill.

Election of Officers.

The annual meeting for the election of officers to serve the Trinity Reformed Sunday school, took place Tuesday night, and resulted as follows:

Superintendent—E. E. Anthony.
Assistant superintendent—O. W. Dunham.
Secretary—E. H. Bird.
Treasurer—H. E. Gayle.
Librarian—F. H. Bennett.
Assistant Librarian—Wm. A. Woodruff.
Leader of Primary Department—Mrs. F. H. Bennett.
Library Committee—D. VanWinkle, Miss E. L. Vandenburgh, Mrs Gillam, F. H. Bennett, E. E. Anthony.
Executive Committee—E. E. Anthony, O. W. Dunham, Mrs. C. Schenck, Miss E. C. Benedict, Mrs. F. H. Bennett.

The Latest Spectacular Novelty.

"Kajanka" depends mainly upon its success from that fact of many of the novel effects which it introduces to the public. The three European specialties which were engaged in London and Paris during last Summer are said to be the cleverest ever brought to this country. They include the regular skirt dancers of the Gaiety Theatre, London—the sisters Bacholder, Edith Macklin and Nellie Bennett. Miss Edith Craske, Juvenile Premier Danseuse, whose speciality is somewhat on the order of Ida Heath; and the Donazetti family or acrobats. This family has no equal in Europe for ground and lofty tumbling, and since their appearance on this side, have never failed to receive from six to eight encores nightly, for their marvelous performance. "Kajanka" began its run at Niblo's Theatre, New York, Monday.

Young Ladies' Missionary Society.

The above named society of the First Baptist church, has pledged itself to support a lady missionary on the Congo. This young lady will leave her home in Alabama, for Africa in February, stopping at Plainfield, on her way out, to become acquainted with the young ladies of the Society, to whom she is to look for her support. For several years, the members have supported two girls in mission schools in India, and will continue that work, until they are old enough to become Bible women.

This admirable society has also undertaken to pay the tuition fees of a training school for Missionaries in Chicago. At the society semi-monthly meeting, boxes of warm clothing are prepared to be sent to the different mission schools and teachers in this country. To pay for these objects the society will need at least $600 this year, and will undertake to raise the money in various ways.

—The Winthrop base ball team of New York, will be the guests of the Crescent League at its club house next Tuesday evening.

Sudden Death.

Heart disease is developed by modern civilization, and is increasing to an alarming extent. Let him who suspects the existence of this cause of sudden death take DR. FLINT'S REMEDY, and let all persons read his treatise on "Heart Disease," which will be sent on application by Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

COMMUNICATED.

Elizabeth Papers Please Copy.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—A communication over the name of J. G. Moore has been published, in which it is stated that the Leal football team of this city intentionally misled the Dauntless team of Elizabeth in a recent match and by so doing won the game. Mr. Moore says that "Manager Cox of Plainfield" sent but one telegram, that but one telegram was received, that the one telegram sent and received was a "fake" and that my statement that a second was sent was "another —."

The following certified copies of telegrams, sent by me, and received by C. C. Moore, should be read in connection with the communication to which I refer:

Telegram No. 1, (Copy).
PLAINFIELD, Nov 22, 1889.
Chas. C. Moore, 104, Broad street, Elizabeth, N. J.
Part of team injured, impossible to come to-morrow.
ROWLAND COX, JR.
Sent at 6:15 P. M., delivered at 7 P. M. received and signed by C. C. Moore
C. H. Schermerhorn, Manager.

Telegram No. 2, (Copy).
PLAINFIELD, Nov. 22, 1889.
Chas. C. Moore, 104 Broad street, Elizabeth, N. J.
Have fill ed vacancy in team, will leave Plainfield at 2:15 to-morrow.
ROWLAND COX, JR.
Sent at 9:24 P. M., received and signed by C. C. Moore.
ALICE MORGAN Operator.

Mr. Schermerhorn is the Plainfield Manager of the Western Union and Miss Morgan the operator in charge of the B. & O. office.

By giving this the same publicity you have given the communication, to which it is a reply, you will confer a favor upon the members of the Leal team.

ROWLAND COX JR.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

The City Council met at 8:30 o'clock on Monday, with President Dumont in the chair. The other members present were: Messrs. Erickson, Marsh, Moffett, Newhall and Squires. Dr. Jenkins came in later.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Geo. H. Babcock petitioned the council for permission to remove a frame building from Madison avenue to No. 70 West Fifth street. Granted.

Claims were presented and referred as follows:

Fire Department	$1,626 98
Streets	1,244 04
Police	440 21
Sundries	41 93
Poor	207 58
Salaries	351 69
Printing	255 62

The quarterly statement of the Overseer of the Poor, showed 47 names on the roll, of those whom the city assists. The overseer called attention to the necessity of providing shelter for the poor.

The monthly reports of the Treasurer and Collector were received and filed.

The latter report showed that the collection for the month amounted to $13,363.49, of which amount $3,317.27 has been credited to the Board of Education. The Board of Fire Engineers through Chief Doane, submitted for confirmation the names of George Fine and Wilbur Sherwin as duly elected members of No. 2 Engine Company. They were confirmed.

The rules were suspended and the various committees reported on the claims sent in during the evening.

President Dumont stated that the Electric Light Company was willing to contract for lighting the streets, upon terms set forth in a resolution previously adopted.

Mr. Newhall, from the Water Committee, reported progress. He also moved that when the Council adjourn it be to meet again on the 23d inst. The motion prevailed.

Mr. Marsh made a verbal report on the street railway. He said he had received a letter from Mr. Leo Daft which looked to him as though the bottom had fallen out of the project. Mr. Daft, he said, had made an effort to incorporate a company, but those who talked railway had failed to come forward with the wherewith. Mr. Marsh stated that fuller details would be submitted at a subsequent meeting.

Upon resolutions adopted the Treasurer was authorized to pay off the following notes falling due this month and to discount new notes in anticipation of taxes for 1889.

Two thousand dollars on the general fund, and to execute a twenty days note for $3,400; five hundred dollars on the Fire Department fund and to discount a twenty day's note for the same amount; $600 on the poor fund, and to borrow $600 on a two month's note.

The ordinance changing the name of Putnam street to Putnam avenue was adopted on its third reading.

Mr. Newhall presented a resolution which prevailed, requesting the Corporation Counsel to prepare all contracts and agreements necessary in connection with the water works question.

An appropriation of $100 was made for street repairs, the Auditing Committee reported on the claims and the Council adjourned.

Don't be Curious.

When an acquaintance suddenly asks you some question such as "Did you see him?" or "Have they found him?" or "Is he dry yet?" don't get interested and ask "who?" The answer will undoubtedly be "McGinty," who has no existence save in the mind of the questioner.

A Boy Accidently Shot Dead.

George Jobs, eight years old, accidentally shot himself dead with a rifle on Thanksgiving Day at Rahway. The lad, it is supposed, seized the weapon by the muzzle and in trying to draw it towards him pulled the trigger. The bullet entered the boy's mouth and lodged in his brain.

Broke Into the School.

During Sunday night some mean scamp broke into the Irving school building on Monroe avenue, dumped the fire in the furnace, and turned on the water, filling the radiator pipes. Entrance to the place was effected by breaking out a cellar window. No actual damage resulted, but the matter was reported to the Board of Education at its meeting Monday evening.

Working Day and Night.

The Lynn, Mass., Item evidently knows a good thing when it sees it. It was one of the newspapers burned out on Thanksgiving Day, and the owners Messrs Hastings & Son, immediately telegraphed to Walter Scott & Co., of this city, for one of their new Webb printing presses. The firm has been working night and day on the machine and expect to have it running the latter part of this week.

Does Prohibition Prohibit?

The New Brunswick Home News says, editorially:

"The statement is made that absolute prohibition to Plainfield does not by any means result in total abstinence, and there is considerable talk in favor of the restoration of high license. There have been two convictions for liquor selling and it is asserted that liquor is plentifully sold on the sly.

It will be the Affair of the Season.

The grand entertainment by the brilliant amateur minstrel men' ers of the Crescent League, to take place in Music Hall, as first told of exclusively in THE PRESS, will occur during the coming February.

All arrangements are in the hands of a committee consisting of Messrs Howard Emerson, Charles R. Thiers, Charles Reed, Elmer E. Runyon, Robert F. L. Hultsman, Charles F. Rogers, William G. Brett, William Ryder, J. V. A. Craighead and James A. Demarest.

LAST OF THE SERIES.

Mr. Burdick Closes a Successful Campaign for the Cause of Temperance.

Next to the last of the series of temperance revival meetings which have been in progress in Music Hall, for the past fortnight, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., took place, Sunday afternoon. The Hall was comfortably filled with an appreciative and interested audience and after the usual preliminary opening exercises, Rev. W. E. Honeyman, on behalf of the ladies, made a strong appeal for funds with which to carry on the work for the coming week. It was subsequently decided to discontinue the meetings.

Mr Burdick spoke on "The American Saloon and its Tyranny," and gave statistics to show the increase in the beer production within the past forty years.

THE EVENING MEETING,

Music Hall is seldom so well packed as it was in the evening to hear the farewell address of Mr. Burdick, prior to his departure for New York. His remarks were not only of exceeding interest, but were very telling and effective in their character. While he exhibited the spirit of a Christian gentleman throughout, he also evinced the logical power of an educated lawyer, and presented facts and arguments that were seemingly unanswerable.

On the platform were Rev. Dr. Lewis, Rev Mr. Honeyman and Rev Mr. Goodrich, the latter of whom conducted the devotional exercises. Mr. M. M. Dunham, as usual, furnished some excellent music with his choir, and violinists and cornet player. Mr. Burdick said that it seemed strange that any person should insist that license money was a real advantage to a city or town, and yet many persons did so insist. It was true that it put money into the treasury, but it took much more out to support the paupers that the saloons made and pay for police, and convict criminals, and aid the needy that became needy only by the saloons.

Besides this the saloon business is a demoralizing thing and rendered men callous to vice and wrong. Still further it degraded citizenship and tended to corrupt the voters and make suffrage a matter of barter. He read from the Brewers' and Malsters' Journal a statement of a private meeting in which they openly advocated the buying of votes to carry out their plans, and yet pretend to be high minded gentlemen all the while. They controlled legislation in nearly every State, and controlled the government of nearly every large city in America. And yet men slept and said it would not be policy to antagonize the saloon. Everything was policy in some places, and principle was put in the background. Some years ago five young men stood at a bar in New York State and all drank liquor but one who refused and took a glass of milk. They promised to write to each other at the end of five years and tell how the World had treated them. In three months one was nearly frozen to death after a debauch, and soon died. Another died a drunkard in three years. A third had delirium tremens before the five years expired and died a horrible death. The fourth, who drank milk instead of beer, went to Texas and now owned a ranche and stock worth half a million. The fifth stood before them, having spent all his living and thousands beside in dissipation, before reformation. Three out of five were wrecked and the fourth nearly so.

Green Clay Smith of Kentucky, told of the selling of twin slaves near his home with "the baby thrown in." The twin boys of about 15 were fine specimens of physical strength, good singers and Christian boys. They were knocked off to a brutal creature for $1,000, and when he came forward for his property, the mother refused to give up the baby. Men tied her hands and feet and tore the child away, amidst the mother's cries and groans. This was terrible, but people in Plainfield were willing to sell their boys to the saloon for less than $1,000. They would sell them for $500. They were saying when they licensed a saloon, "Give me $500 and you may have my boys." Who was ready to sell his boy for $500? Let him come up and show himself. Would they vote Tuesday to do such an awful thing?

We wanted men to be like Daniel. What did he do when the King forbade anyone to worship other gods than his own? Why, prayed just as loud as ever to the Lord of Hosts, leaving the consequences to him. He didn't say "I will whisper my prayers now, so as to avoid trouble." No, he dared to do right, and God blessed him; so should we do, and God will bless us.

Mr. Burdick in conclusion thanked his audiences for their attention, but said that he would not retract a single severe word he had uttered against the liquor traffic. A collection was then taken, when Mrs Dr Tomlinson made a very neat and earnest speech, urging the men on Tuesday, by their ballots, to protect their boys and their homes, and banish the saloon from Plainfield. She also thanked Mr. Burdick for his words of comfort and his eloquent addresses, after which Rev. Dr. Lewis dismissed the audience with the benediction, and thus came to an end a campaign that has produced very much good in this city, although it has been of a quiet kind. Mr. Burdick has won golden opinions from all his hearers."

PLAINFIELD GETS THERE AT LAST.

The Crescent League Team Wins Its First Game in the County Contest.

The eighth game in the bowling league contest for the championship of Union county took place in this city, Monday night, between the Nameless Club of Westfield, and the Crescent League team of Plainfield. The game was won by the home team, thus reversing the record, as the Nameless team had won two games and lost none, while the Crescent League team had three straight defeats to its credit. Reed's fine wind up of four strikes in his last three frames, won the game.

Following is the score in detail:

CRESCENTS.
VanEmburgh	[illegible]	[illegible]	4	161
Kieb	[illegible]	[illegible]	7	115
VanWinkle	[illegible]	[illegible]	4	147
H. Teel	[illegible]	[illegible]	4	140
Rogers	[illegible]	[illegible]	6	120
Kline	[illegible]	[illegible]	5	112
C. Teel	[illegible]	[illegible]	4	120
Reed	[illegible]	[illegible]	3	180
Emerson	[illegible]	[illegible]	5	126
Davis	[illegible]	[illegible]	4	148
				1468
NAMELESS.
Young	[illegible]	4	4	166
Moore	[illegible]	3	5	140
Marsh	[illegible]	2	6	130
Everett	[illegible]	6	4	161
Manning	[illegible]	1	7	126
Schmidt	[illegible]	4	4	150
Jackson	[illegible]	2	6	130
Sanford	[illegible]	8	2	180
MacQuoid	[illegible]	1	4	110
A. L. Algers	[illegible]	2	5	100
				1394

FRAMES.

Crescents. 126 [illegible]
Nameless. 107 [illegible]

Her Pointless Epistles Not Appreciated.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—If the drivelling idiot who takes such fiendish delight in circulating specimens of her caligraphy could know how much merriment her misspelled, misquoted and altogether pointless epistles have caused their recipients, she would cease her literary (?) efforts and either take an elementary course in the public schools or else join some variety show where her rare humour would be better appreciated.

"NON CREDIT."

The fountain of perpetual youth was one of the dreams of antiquity. It has been well-nigh realized in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood, gives vitality to all the bodily functions, and thus restores to age much of the vigor and freshness of youth.

PLAINFIELD "IN THE SOUP."

Another Defeat for the Crescent League Team.

The seventh game in the bowling league contest for the championship of Union county took place at Elizabeth Friday night between the Elizabeth Athletic Club team and the Crescent League team of this city. The Plainfield boys rolled well, but the Elizabeth team got there "all the same." Following is the score in detail:

PLAINFIELD.	S.	S.	B.	Sc're.
H. VanEmburgh	1	6	4	147
Hallock	4	2	5	151
VanWinkle	1	4	6	131
Harry Emerson	3	2	2	166
Kieb	2	2	6	126
H. Teel	1	7	2	163
Reed	2	3	5	140
C. Teel	2	2	6	129
Emerson	1	2	7	116
Davis	1	3	3	157
Total				1426
ELIZABETH ATHLETIC CLUB.
Dimock	2	7	1	173
Davis	3	4	4	148
Burnet	3	8	1	180
E. Moore	3	6	4	142
Bogle	7	4	5	135
Warner	4	2	4	167
S. Moore	3	4	4	144
Dudley	2	2	2	205
Hetimer	2	2	5	140
Turnbull	3	2	6	151
Total				1651

FRAMES.

Plainfield 134 264 412 [illegible] 727 [illegible] 1130 1265 1424
Elizabeth 146 292 437 [illegible] 778 [illegible] 1247 1430 1651

His Annual Offer.

Mr Wm H. Taylor, proprietor of Taylor's Hotel at Dunellen, makes his annual offer of a bottle of wine to the person who first reaches his hotel in a cutter. Of course the cutter must be drawn along over snow, and not conveyed there in a wagon.

Narrow Escape from Drowning.

A boy whose name is said to be Crane, had a narrow escape from drowning near Farragut avenue, a few days ago. The boy accidentally fell into Green Brook and was being rapidly washed down stream by the swollen water when Mr. Robert Carson rescued him.

Mr. Mitchell's Resignation Reconsidered and Rejected.

The members of the Mount Olive church of this city, are determined that the Rev. Mr. Mitchell, the pastor, shall not go, despite the efforts of his enemies. At a called church meeting, on Monday, Mr. Mitchell's resignation was reconsidered, and by a test vote unanimously rejected. Those in favor of the pastor were 40 in number; those opposed—numbering 14—withdrew.

Our Papa Don't Know Nothing Till We're Out.

(From the Central Times.)

For some time past the amb'tious young Daily Press has been claiming through sign-board posters, bowling club score cards, Music Hall programmes and advertisements "judiciously displayed" on its own bosom, that it is "Plainfield's only newspaper." The first thing The Press knows, its papa—The Constitutionalist—will remark: "Where do I come in, sonny?"

Of Interest to School Teachers.

A compilation of all the school laws of the State, including those passed last Winter, has just been completed under the direction of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Besides the laws there are in the book the rules and regulations for the government of school officers, various decisions given by the State Superintendent on matters submitted to him and the blanks and forms prepared for the use of school officers. The book is a very useful one for all persons engaged in school work.

Evening School for Women.

The evening school for women opened in the High school building on Monday. A corps of competent teachers were present, but the pupils numbered only twenty.

There are doubtless many young women in this city who would like to become members of the night school, but for some reason or other they refrain from taking the initiative step. The action of the School Board in opening the evening session, is at least appreciated by the few who joined last night, and it is to be hoped that the membership will rapidly increase.

Sentence Day at Elizabeth.

Saturday was sentence day at Elizabeth, and the following persons were arraigned before Judge McCormick.

Thomas Flood, formerly of this city, convicted for indecent assault at Rahway, was fined ten dollars and costs.

Joseph Sullivan of Plainfield convicted for illegal selling was fined ten dollars and costs.

Ackerman, the man convicted for shooting at his son-in-law was committed to the county Jail for five months and twenty-nine days, and Borden, the saloon keeper at Linden who assaulted young Walker, got a like sentence.

A Brave Lad.

On inquiry on Tuesday at No. 316 Seaman street, the residence of Clifford VanWinkle, the boy who met with the sad railroad accident at New Brunswick on Saturday, as told in Monday's PRESS, during which his feet were cut off by a freight train, it was ascertained that he was doing as favorably under the circumstances as could be expected.

Mr. I. D. TenEyck of this city, in whose employ the boy's father was for nine years, drove over to New Brunswick on Sunday, and visited the patient. He says the boy bears up well in this, his terrible affliction.

Election of Officers.

The annual meeting for the election of officers of Warren Union Mission Society was held on Monday, and resulted as follows:

President—Frederick Moon.
Vice President—M. Marvin Dunham.
Secretary—Edward B. Ryder.
Treasurer—C W. Hillman.
Librarians—George Squires, Bert Bodine, James Ingram.
Trustees—Frank H. Gardner of the First Baptist church, Frederick Moon of the Crescent Avenue church, David Ryno of the M. E. church.

The reports of the committees were rendered and will likely be published at a future date. The usual Christmas Sunday service for the afternoon and evening will be held, also the festival during the holiday week.

Board of Education Meeting.

President Kirkner and Messrs Murray, Babcock and Wadsworth, constituting a quorum of the Board of Education, met in the Franklin school building, Monday night, in regular session, and transacted routine business.

Among other business which came up for consideration was the payment of a number of claims. Miss Bullock, Superintendent of the Franklin school was granted a month's leave of absence.

A communication was received from Mr. I. L. Miller requesting the Board to hold only half-day sessions for small children. The matter was referred to the Committee on Teachers.

Janitor Walker communicated to the Board the fact that the Irving school was broken into on Sunday night, and iron gratings were ordered for the cellar windows.

School supplies were ordered for the various schools, and the meeting adjourned.

"I use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral freely in my practice, and recommend it in cases of Whooping Cough among children, having found it more certain to cure that troublesome disease than any other medicine I know of."—So says Dr. Bartlett, of Concord, Mass.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

HORSES. HORSES!

For Sale very Cheap. 150 Horses to Select from.
All Sizes—All Kinds—All Prices! Fresh arrivals every week. Can suit anybody. Satisfaction guaranteed. Low-priced Horses always on hand. Will improve in the country.
200 Horses & Mules always on hand to select from.
JOHN W. MORRIS,
520 BROAD STREET, NEWARK, N. J.
42-5-2w

GROWING EVERY WAY.

New Members in the Crescent League, and their Building to be Enlarged.

Eight new members were admitted to the Plainfield Crescent League, last evening, and some more new ones proposed. The trustees reported that a number of builders were figuring on estimates for the enlarging of the Club house, allowing for a spacious billiard room and dining hall.

A bowling committee was selected consisting of Messrs James Davis, Fred Slater and Seymour Smith, who will have entire charge of arranging all games, selecting the team and attending to all other detail of that nature.

In Aid of the Children's Home.

Miss Amelia B. Edwards, the distinguished Egyptologist, will give an illustrated lecture on "Queen Hatasu and the Women of Ancient Europe," at Music Hall, to-morrow evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. Reserved seats can be procured at Randolph's and Miller's pharmacies.

—There were fifty scholars present at the night school for men, last evening. The woman's session will be held to-morrow evening.

—At seven o'clock yesterday morning, the thermometer registered only ten degrees above zero, and this morning it was down to the freezing point.

—Mr. Joseph M. Harper is fitting up his new store in the Hart Building on Park avenue, preparatory to opening in a few days with a full line of stationery, etc.

—"A Desperate Game, or All For a Wife," will be produced by the Plainfield Dramatic Club, under the auspices of St. Mary's T. A. B. Society, at the T. A. B. Association Hall, on Thursday evening, Dec. 26.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

KASKINE, (THE NEW QUININE.)

Gives Good Appetite, New Strength, Quiet Nerves, Happy Days, Sweet Sleep.

A POWERFUL TONIC.
A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.
THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.
Mine was about as bad a case of malaria as could be, and yet Kaskine cured me after I had been dosed with almost every drug in the pharmacopoeia.—J. G. Bird, B. A., Chemist Maryland Agricultural College.
"For eight years I had 'dumb ague' intolerably. Wishing you'd dosed a score of times I never found a medicine worth the bottle that held it, until I took Kaskine. That was a happy day for me. It gave me appetite and strength. I can sleep like a top. I stand by every word of this."—Thos. Toole, Schuylerville, N. Y.
Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.
KASKINE CO., 160 Duane St., New York
5-2-3

Children's Home.
Miss Amelia B. Edwards,
The distinguished Egyptologist, will give an Illustrated Lecture on
"Queen Hatasu and the Women of Ancient Egypt."
At MUSIC HALL, Friday Evening,
DECEMBER 6, 1889, at 8 o'clock.
Tickets 50c. Reserved Seats 50, 75 cents and $1.00. To be procured at Randolph's and Miller's Pharmacies. 1-29-td

Christmas Gifts!
Smoking Jackets,
Dressing Gowns,
Fine Underwear,
Storm Coats,
Umbrellas,
Shirts.
Ulsters,
Cape Coats,
Over Coats,
Pea Jackets,
Full Dress Suits,
Prince Albert Suits
Tredwell, Slote & Co.,
Clothiers and Furnishers,
273, 275, 277 BROADWAY, N. Y.,
COR. BROADWAY AND CHAMBERS ST
11-7-2m

RADAM'S
MICROBE KILLER
Cures All Diseases.
The claim to cure all diseases, may at first glance seem very absurd; but after reading our pamphlet, giving a history of the Microbe Killer, explaining the germ theory of disease, and reading our testimonials, which prove conclusively there is no disease it will not cure, the truth of our assertion becomes clear. No person suffering from any blood, chronic or contagious disease should let a day pass without getting and reading this interesting book, which will be given away or mailed free. The gentlemen connected with this company are well-known business men of this city. Agents wanted everywhere. Address

The Wm. Radam Microbe Killer Co.,
54 Sixth Avenue,
NEW YORK CITY
11-21-y

DEATHS.

DUNN—In this city, Nov. 29, Theodore A. Dunn, in the 73d year of his age.

REGAN—In this city, at the residence of Mr. Andrew McCardell, No. 43 North avenue, on Dec. 2, 1889, Henry F. Regan, in the 23d year of his age.

RANSOM—At his home at Highland, N. Y., Monday, Nov. 25, 1889, of hasty consumption, Herbert B. Ransom aged 29 years.

SEARING—In this city, Wednesday, December 4, 1889, Hattie M., eldest daughter of James H. and Annie M. Searing, aged 26 years and 26 days.

Relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend her funeral from her late residence, 19 West 3d street, on Saturday afternoon, Dec 7, at 2 o'clock, and from Trinity Reformed church at 2:30 o'clock, without further notice. Elizabeth papers please copy.

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

MISCELLANEOUS.

AN ORDINANCE

For changing the name of Putnam street.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

SECTION 1.—That the name of the street now known as Putnam Street be changed so as to be known and designated hereafter by the name of Putnam Avenue.

Adopted December 2, 1889.
Approved by the Mayor December 3, 1889.
JOHN [illegible], Mayor.
Attest: O. B. LEONARD, City Clerk.

Mark Twain's New Book!
"A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court."
This is Mark Twain's best and most original book. A keen and powerful satire on English nobility and royalty. [illegible] Illustrated by 200 fine drawings by Dan Beard.
AGENTS WANTED,
To whom exclusive control of territory will be given.
Thousands of Dollars
to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars. Chas. L. Webster & Co. 3 East 14th Street, New York.
12-5-w4

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors

SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

ESTATE OF Jeremiah R. VanDeventer, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that on the second day of December, A. D. 1889, on the application of Caroline S. Brunson and Augustus D. Brunson, as executors of Jeremiah R. VanDeventer, deceased; an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of Jeremiah R. VanDeventer, deceased, to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent, under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said executors within NINE months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor should be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said executors.

ABM. T. HUFF, Surrogate.
12-5-w9

Parlor Stoves,
Othello Ranges,
Steam and Hot Water Heating,
Hot Air Heating.
Hardware,
Plumbing,
Tinning,
And House Furnishings
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11-1-tf

Don't spoil your Feet with Cheap Shoes!
WEAR THE BURT & PACKARD

See that every pair is stamped "Korrect Shape."
KORRECT SHAPE
BURT & PACKARD

Don't allow your dealer to palm off any substitute, as we have arranged to supply the "Korrect Shape" Shoes in any style for Gent's, Boys or Youths, and prepay all delivery charges where they are not sold.
You can only find them in Plainfield, N. J., at DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S, 23 W. FRONT ST.
Made in four grades HAND-MADE, HAND-WELT, BURTWELT and MACHINE SEWED, which is stamped on the sole in addition to the trade mark above.
PACKARD & FIELD,
(Successors to Burt & Packard),
Brockton, Mass.
9-11-3mo

Great Inducements in Square Parlor Stoves,
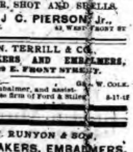
RANGES, &c.



STOVES, LAMPS, TINWARE,
CUTLERY, GRANITEWARE,
MACHINIST and CARPENTER TOOLS,
HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, &c.
POWDER, SHOT AND SHELLS.
J. C. PIERSON, Jr.,
Telephone 126. 42 WEST FRONT ST

M. N. TERRILL & CO.,
UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,
No. 20 E. FRONT STREET.
M. N. TERRILL— GEO. W. COLE.
Practical Embalmer, and assistant to the late firm of Ford & Stiles 8-17-tf

A. M. RUNYON & SON,
UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS,
60 PARK AVENUE.
Telephone Call 40.
RESIDENCE—48 MADISON AVENUE.
Telephone Call 27.
"Office of Hillside Cemetery."

P. CASEY & SON,
UNDERTAKERS,
OFFICE—No. 1 Somerset St.
Residence, No. 11 Third street, corner New, Plainfield, N. J. Everything pertaining to the business always on hand, and lower than any other firm in the State. All Calls Promptly answered Day or Night.—o5y1

WANTS AND INFORMATION.

STORAGE—FIRST-CLASS ACCOMMODATIONS in newly-partitioned rooms. All thoroughly cleaned and free from vermin. Separate rooms if desired. Apply at HORTON'S hat store, or of owner, M. VERMEULE. Two buggies for sale cheap.—Jan9tf

A new idea embraced in Ely's Cream Balm. Catarrh is cured by cleansing and healing, not by drying up. It is not a liquid or snuff, but is easily applied into the nostrils. Its effect is magical, and a thorough treatment will cure the worst cases. Price 50c.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she was a Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

With Ely's Cream Balm a child can be treated without pain or dread and with perfect safety. Try the remedy. It cures catarrh, hay fever, and colds in the head. It is easily applied into the nostrils and gives relief with the first application. Price 50c.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - City Editor.

—Oh, for a Y. M. C. A. building.

—State Secretary Clark counts 1800 Sunday schools in New Jersey.

—The newly elected city officers will be sworn into office on New Year's Day.

—Snow on passing coal trains bears evidence of prevailing snow storms West of here.

—The turkeys that escaped Thanksgiving's feast may well tremble as Christmas draws near.

—The North Plainfield Council will hold its December meeting on Friday evening of this week.

—The Court of Pardons met at Trenton on Tuesday, and pardoned two short-term prisoners.

—The Raritan canal will close its navigation on the [illegible] instant, unless closed earlier by the [illegible].

—Out of the $[illegible] appropriated for street work at the beginning of the year, all but about $[illegible] has been expended.

—Weather permitting, the roof will be put on the new Miller Bros.' building on Park avenue, by the end of this week.

—There remain but a few days more in which rabbits can be legally killed, but there are yet many cotton tails in hiding.

—The Y. M. C. A. of Southbridge, Mass., receives $[illegible] for their proposed building, from the will of the late Simeon F. Marsh.

—On November [illegible], Jennie M. and S. A. Potter transferred to Mary F. S. McCutchen, property in North Plainfield, for one hundred dollars.

—The official records show that, during the 333 days of 1889 we have seen, only 51 were cloudless, [illegible] were cloudy, 115 partly cloudy and 126 [illegible].

—Christmas, the gladdest day of the year, will soon be here, and may it be one of joy to all who live to greet the rising sun and [illegible].

—Joseph Sullivan of this city, was on Monday released from the Elizabeth jail, having made provision for the payment of his fine and costs, $[illegible] in all.

—John Wilson, who was arrested by Marshal Pangborn for being drunk in the Borough, was given 41 days out of the cold yesterday, in Somerville jail.

—Monday was ladies' day at the Crescent League bowling alleys. One of the fair bowlers scored 135 points, which is considered a good showing for a lady.

—If the three observation days for Winter are to be relied upon, the coming Winter will be a decidedly "open" one, and the most severe weather will be in February.

—The undaunted iceman is already cleaning up his ice house in preparation for the coming harvest; that is, if it comes, and no doubt it will, with a vengeance.

—Two handsome silver cups are on exhibition in one of the windows of Doane's jewelry store, that will probably be offered as Club bowling prizes, by the Crescent League.

—A correspondent wants to know when Plainfield will be equipped with a first-class street railway system, and we can only answer by stating "when the freight house moves away."

—The Soldiers' Monument Committee will meet in the course of a few days, when designs for the proposed new monument will be submitted, together with the probable cost of the same.

—At the communion services of Trinity Reformed church Sunday morning, seven new members were added to the church roll: four by letter from other churches and two on confession.

—Gunning on Sundays has become so common in the Bound Brook vicinity that the Somerset county newspapers are justly entering a protest against the outrageous violation of human and Divine law.

—The first concert of the Plainfield Choral Society is "down" for early in January. The subscriptions are coming in so generously that it will undoubtedly be possible to have an orchestra at every concert.

—Complaint is made by some of the West Front street merchants, who claim that some person unknown to them, is in the habit of stealing with their morning papers, from in front of their places of business.

—Governor Green, it is said, has become so much attached to the National Guard of New Jersey that he may be made an Aide-de-camp on Governor Abbett's Staff, so as to keep up his associations and his [illegible] practice.

—The employees of the Potter Press Works are working night and day, to complete an order for three large web perfecting printing presses for the Minneapolis Tribune, to take the place of those destroyed by fire, recently.

—A horse belonging to Mr John Schorb of East Front street, slipped the halter from his neck on Sunday night and escaped from the stable. The animal was found the next morning standing in one of Mr. F. M. French's stalls on Somerset street.

—Collector Lanning, of the Fifth Internal Revenue District, this week, has appointed Thomas [illegible] to succeed W. F. Bergan, as Deputy Collector of Somerset county, as the latter was recently elected to a township office and cannot hold both.

—There are yet eleven games to be played in the Union County Bowling League series, of which seven will be bowled at Westfield, two at Elizabeth and two in this city. The next game in the series will take place at Westfield on Monday evening next.

—The plot of ground at the east corner of Second street and Madison avenue, has recently come into the possession of the Plainfield Electric Light Company. The Company expects to soon enlarge its plant, and in the Spring substantial brick stables will be erected on the land.

—The Sunday schools are making the usual preparations for Christmas time. It is a general custom to give the scholars something, if nothing more than a [illegible] orange, a candy horse and a peanut thrown in. Children appreciate gifts, however meagre, at Christmas time.

—The annual meeting of the State Charities Aid Association, of which many Plainfield women are members, will be held at the Young Men's Christian Association rooms, Clinton street, Newark, on Wednesday of next week at 11 A. M. Annual reports and election of managers during the morning session. Addresses, etc., during the afternoon session.

—The circulation of THE PRESS yesterday reached 3,1[illegible].

Death of Miss Hattie Searing.

At her home on West Third street, yesterday morning, occurred the death of Miss Hattie M., [illegible] daughter of Mr. James H. and Annie M. Searing, aged twenty-six years and twenty-four days.

The deceased had been ailing for a long time from heart trouble, but until lately her death was not [illegible] expected. Her last moments were peaceful and happy.

Relatives and friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral from her late residence, No. [illegible] West Third street, on Saturday at two o'clock P. M., and from the Trinity Reformed church at half-past two o'clock.

PERSONALIA.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Fields are happy parents.

Miss Hattie Searing is still confined to the house by illness.

Councilman Dunham spent Thanksgiving Day with his brother in Brooklyn.

Miss T. Laurent, of New York, is visiting her cousin, Miss Bovey, of Somerset street.

Mr. Henry Liefke, the baker, got a vote for City Judge in the Fourth ward, First District.

Doctress S. D. Rooney of West Fourth street, is recovering from her recent serious illness.

Mrs Kitty Brown of New York was on Monday the guest of Mrs. T. Lyness of Somerset street.

Rev. C. B. Mitchell, of this city occupied the Fulton M. E. church pulpit at Elizabeth, Tuesday evening.

Mr. A. M. France of Peace and Second streets, is slowly recovering from an attack of typhoid pneumonia.

Mrs W. K. McClure and two daughters of Broadway are visiting relatives on North Charles street, Baltimore, Md.

Miss Eva Graham of East Ninth street, has returned from a five months' trip to Denver, Col., much improved in health.

Mrs. S. F. Birdsall and Miss Birdsall of Broadway, have returned after a two months' absence at Gunnison, Colorado.

Mamie Ida, the three-years-and-twenty-one-days old daughter of George and Delia Voehl died Thursday of membranous croup.

Mr. Charles Fowlson, Secretary of the Northwest branch of the Philadelphia Y. M. C. A., is at home with his father in North Plainfield.

The Rev. W. R. Richards, who has gone on a trip as far West as Minneapolis with Mr. C. W. Hillman, is expected back by next Sunday.

Miss Arnold is taking Miss J. N. Bullock's place, as Superintendent of the Franklin school, during the latter's absence in Colorado.

Miss Jennie Shaddle of Woodland avenue, has returned home from a week's trip to Boston, accompanied by Miss Sanborn, a friend.

The engagement is announced of Miss Fairbairn of this city, and Mr. Allan Worth of Westfield, a member of the Plainfield Bicycle Club.

The engagement is announced of Miss Linda Dorman, daughter of Mr. E. E. Dorman, of Central avenue, to Mr. Frank Raymond, also of this city.

Mr. W. D. F. Curtis and family of Washington Park, North Plainfield, have removed to Philadelphia, taking up their residence at 3,317 Walnut street.

Friend Mary Jane Field, better known as "Aunt Mary Jane," is lying dangerously ill at her home on East Second street, suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Miss J. N. Bullock, superintendent at the Franklin school building, has gone on a month's trip to Colorado Springs, accompanying her brother there for the benefit of the latter's health.

One of the best bowlers in the city is Dr. Charles Thiers, and his removal from the Crescent League team because of one "off night," was inexcusable in view of his otherwise continuous good work.

Prof. T. E. Hazell, of North Plainfield, delivered an admirable address on "Vocal Music in the public schools" before the Somerset county teachers' meeting, held at Somerville, recently.

Mr. Hugh Janeway, the biggest man on the victorious Princeton football team, is well known in this city where he has spent many months. He is a grandson of the late Wm. L. Jones of Park avenue and Seventh street.

Janeway, the biggest of the Princeton football champions, is of Plainfield stock, as told in THE PRESS the other day. Now it is learned that Cowan, the best player of them all, is a cousin of Mr. S. E. Struthers of this city.

A committee consisting of Messrs. I. W. Pangborn, James McGee, Geo. C. Martin and J. W. Jackson has been appointed to make the preliminary arrangements towards the erection of a new chapel in North Plainfield.

Mr. Louis M. Dunavan, returned to Patchogue, L. I., Tuesday, after spending several days with his parents on West Second street. Mr. Dunavan is employed by Wm. John Chandler on the new church the latter is building in that place.

Mr. C. E. W. Moore, formerly of the firm of VanSeiver & Moore, the North avenue paper hangers, has sold out his interest in the business to his partner, Mr. A. D. VanSeiver. Mr. Moore will return to Camden, N. J., and take up the practice of law.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Jr., who gave up their home in Washington Park a few weeks ago, and went to Orange for the Winter, soon discovered there was no place like Plainfield, and have already leased another house in the borough and returned for good.

It would have been amusing, to say the least, if Theodore Miller, Jr., had been elected Councilman by the Democrats in the Third Ward. He "ran" to the full strength of his ticket but of course failed of election in that ward. He is a minor, however, and also a Republican.

Dr. W. E. Stelle enjoyed a very successful gunning trip to Virginia last week. Among other birds he had the good fortune to bring down a large blue heron. On his return, one of the wings was kindly presented to the High School and will be added to its interesting collection.

A telegram and letter from the relatives of Mrs. B. D. Babbidge, formerly a resident of Jackson avenue, but now of Fargo, Dakota, announce the serious illness of that lady. She is the grandmother of Mrs. E. E. Anthony of this city, and is in the 90th year of her age.

A most enjoyable sociable was held at the home of Mr. J. Oscar Stevens, at Evona, Thanksgiving night. About fifty were present. Music was furnished by Mr. George Rogers, and a bountiful supper served. Mr. Robert Burns added some recitations to the entertainment.

Miss Anna V. Barcalow, of Somerville, and Dr. J. Forsyth McWilliam, were married very quietly on the afternoon of the 28th ult., at the Barcalow homestead on Main street, only the immediate relatives witnessing the ceremony. Dr. and Mrs. McWilliam left immediately for a Southern tour.

By the will of Jeremiah R. VanDeventer, his only daughter, who is the wife of Mr. Peter Brunson, and their son Augustus, are made executors. The estate will amount to not less than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, the bulk of which will eventually go to the dead man's grandson, the executor mentioned above.

At the home of the bride in Philadelphia, Saturday afternoon, took place the marriage of Mr. F. A. Pope, eldest son of Elias R. Pope, Esq., of this city, and Mrs. Mary G. Childs, formerly Miss Gillingham. Mr. and Mrs. Pope will spend their honeymoon in Richmond, and afterwards reside in this city at Park avenue and Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. George Terwilliger of Newark, formerly of North Plainfield, have the sympathy of hosts of friends in the loss of their seven-year-old child, Ella May, whose death occurred Friday, Nov. 29, of membranous diphtheria, at the residence of her uncle, Mr. J. H. Terwilliger, Somerville, from which place the funeral was held Sunday.

—The circulation of THE PRESS yesterday reached 3,162.

BRET HARTE'S SON AND ANOTHER'S WIFE.

The Latter's Husband Sues the Former for $20,000 Damages.

Francis K. Harte, of this city, son of Bret Harte, the author, is defendant in a suit for $20,000 damages brought by J. Jay Smith, who has an office in the Benedict Building, New York. He says that Harte has alienated his wife's affections, and that the two are now living together as man and wife in the new Agnes apartment house, No. 25 West Eighty-fourth street.

Mr. Smith has also petitioned the Courts to give him the custody of his two children, who are with their mother, but he has not sued for a divorce. The couple signed an agreement of separation Nov. 12, 1888, which was to expire May 1, last, but Mrs. Smith has not lived with her husband since that time.

She is a very handsome woman who was Miss Aline Bouton before she married Smith eleven years ago. Mrs. Smith has had an income of $4,500 a year since the death of her father. She took young Harte to Europe on a morganatic wedding tour.

REIMBURSED FOR HIS LOSS BY FIRE.

Presentation to Father Stafford of Half a Thousand Dollars.

The Rev. John A. Stafford, assistant rector of St. Mary's church, received a very pleasant surprise Wednesday of last week. A number of his friends waited on him and through the pastor, the Rev. Father Smyth, presented him with a check for five hundred dollars to make good the loss he sustained in the recent fire.

It will be remembered that when the rectory was so badly injured by fire on the morning of November 7, Father Stafford lost nearly all his books and clothing. The people of the parish at once determined to repair his loss, and their efforts were ably seconded by the members of St. Mary's T. A. B. Society.

That evening Messrs Peter Flynn, A. McGolgan and Michael Flynn, Miss Rose Verdon, Mrs. Wm. Moore, Mrs D. McCarthy and Miss Maria Kelly, representing the various societies, guilds, etc., met at the pastoral residence where they were received by Father Smyth. Father Stafford was then invited to the parlor and in a few happy and well chosen remarks Father Smyth informed him of the kind thoughtfulness of his friends. Father Stafford was indeed very much surprised but managed to give suitable expression to his gratitude. A very neat collation terminated the happy occasion.

Women's Night School and Its Teachers.

The night school for women opened in the High School building last Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock, and continues every Monday and Friday evening thereafter.

Miss Stout will be the teacher in charge, and her assistants will be, Miss Lansing, Miss Tabor, and Miss Mitchell. The last named, a graduate of this year, will have the care of the beginners' class of colored pupils.

Willie Hamilton's Thanksgiving Dinner.

For the information of those who so generously contributed to the support of little Willie Hamilton, the cripple in Washington Valley, THE PRESS herewith gives the menu in full of his Thanksgiving dinner, contributed by Mrs Matilda Duryea of this city:

Turkey, cranberries, plum pudding, figs, fancy crackers, celery, white grapes and oranges.

Here again is illustrated the Biblical phrase: "What you give to the poor, you lend to the Lord."

To Vindicate Rev. Mr. Mitchell.

Rev. J. W. Mitchell, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church, has called a council to investigate and decide upon certain slanderous stories which have been circulated concerning him. The council will meet in Mt. Olive Baptist church on this Thursday at 2 P. M., and will consist of the pastor and two delegates from each of the following churches: First and Park Avenue Baptist churches; Baptist church of Westfield; Fourth Baptist church of Elizabeth, Mt. Zion and Bethany churches of Newark, Second Baptist church of Orange, Abyssinia and Mt. Olivet churches of New York city and the Concord Baptist church of Brooklyn.

Monument Committee Meeting.

Col. M. W. Tyler, Gen. Nagley, Gen. Eli Long, Rowland Cox, John E. Stewart, L. W. Serrell, S. A. Ginna, Chas. W. McCutchen and Geo. W. Moore, constituting a quorum of the Soldiers' Monument Committee, met in Winfield Scott Post rooms on Saturday evening to hear the report of the committee on sites. The committee made a report, it is said, favoring the plot of ground in front of the Crescent Avenue church, and it is understood that the plot can be obtained free of expense, provided the committee will erect a monument that will meet the approbation of the owners of the land.

It is also understood that besides donating the ground, the owners will contribute liberally toward the fund.

An Exciting Runaway.

About four P. M., Sunday, escaping steam in Mr. D. S. Roberts' stable on North avenue, alarmed a horse attached to an empty coupe standing upon the floor, and the horse suddenly made a wild rush for the door. Mr. Roberts hearing the noise, made for the hallway and barely escaped serious consequences. He missed the horse as the latter dashed across the street, the coupe striking a lamp-post, upset, and the horse being freed fell on the sidewalk, narrowly escaping rolling down the area-way under the U. S. Express office, into which two women had taken refuge.

The women's screams could be heard a block away. A lady who was wheeling a baby carriage on North avenue at the time, had a narrow escape from probably fatal injury. The runaway horse was captured after running a short distance. The shafts and one of the wheels on the wagon were wrecked.

Funeral of Theodore A. Dunn.

The last sad rites following the death of the late Theodore A. Dunn, which occurred on Friday morning, took place from the Seventh Day Baptist church, Sunday afternoon, in the presence of a large number of the relatives and sympathetic friends of the family.

When the funeral cortege arrived at the church, the casket was borne up the centre aisle, by Hon. E. R. Pope, J. Frank Hubbard, Joseph A. Hubbard and J. D. Spicer, and deposited at the foot of the altar. A quartette composed of Mrs. G. E. Stillman, Miss Mabel Potter, Mr. Chas. H. Dunham and Mr. L. T. Rogers, sang, "Rest, Spirit, Rest," accompanied by A. L. Titsworth on the organ.

Rev. C. B. Mitchell, pastor of the M. E. church, read a Psalm and offered prayer. Rev Dr A. H. Lewis then read from Revelations, and took for his text the words "Set thine house in order; for thou shalt die, and not live," as found in Second Kings, XX. 1. The reverend doctor spoke comforting words to the converted and words of warning to the unconverted.

Dr. Lewis' reference to the departed dead was at times touching, and there were but a few dry eyes among the mourners. He stated that on February 3, 1838, Mr. Dunn with eight others organized the church wherein his body was today borne for the last time. The choir then sang "Rock of Ages."

The floral display was modest and appropriate, consisting of a pillow with the word "Father" inscribed thereon in blue, together with a sickle and sheaf of wheat. Interment was made in the family plot in the Seventh Day Baptist cemetery.

CRESCENT LEAGUE'S BOWL.

Harry VanEmburgh Takes the Turkey, and Charles Potter Bags the Cigars.

Mr. Howard L. Reinche, of this city, one of the most genial and generous members of the Crescent League, and one of New York's rising attorneys, put up a twenty-pound turkey, Wednesday night, for the members to bowl for. The contest was quite exciting, and created besides much enjoyment.

The bird went to Mr. Harry VanEmburg, while a box of cigars presented by Mr. William G. Brett, was won by the next highest on the score, Mr. C. P. Rogers. The prizes were presented with formal ceremonies and accepted with brief speeches. Following all this, Messrs Charles Thiers, Seymour Smith and Elmer Runyon, contributed their terpsichorean and vocal talents to the entertainment of the company.

The scores made in the contest were:

VanEmburgh	173	Reed	130
Rogers	156	W. Emerson	128
Craighead	150	Leggett	127
Davis	150	R. Kline	126
Demarest	147	Andrews	125
Jackson	147	McMurray	120
Hallock	146	Vail	120
Haynes	145	Haven	110
Carey	143	C. Tool	109
Coddington	142	Moore	109
VanWinkle	141	Lyman	104
Thiers	141	Jenkins	97
B. Tool	142	Runyon	90
Littell	139	Brett	88

PARK AVENUES AND ORIENTALS.

They Have a Joint Ball, and Follow it up With a Trip to Summit.

The Crescent on the night before Thanksgiving, was the scene of one of the most pleasing and successful public balls ever given in this city. The members of the Park Avenue and Oriental Social clubs joined forces, and entertained with choice music, dancing and supper, two or three hundred of their young men and young women acquaintances.

The ball was continued until the next day, yet all was good order and satisfaction. The music was by Boswald of New York. The officers of the two clubs, are: Park Avenue—President, E. C. Searing; Vice President, L. C. Beekman; Sec'y, J. C. Blimm; Treasurer, J. C. Martin; Sergeant-at-Arms, G. S. Martin. Oriental—President, Wm. Blimm; Vice President, F. Talliant; Secretary, R. Eick; Treasurer, W. B. Sharp; Sergeant-at-Arms, W. Marsh.

The gentlemen in charge included, General Director—Edward C. Searing. Floor Manager—Fred. Becker. Assistants—Messrs Joseph C. Blimm, Wm. Blimm. Floor Committee—Messrs Joseph C. Martin, Frank Talliant, Benj. F. Crane, Jas. Casey, Jacob Blimm, Jr., Geo McIntyre. Reception Committee—Messrs Fred. Haberle, W. Marsh, J. Murphy, O. G. Irvin, R. W. Schlereth, W. B. Sharp, J. Wyckoff, H. T. Sutphen, J. Huntington, G. R. Schlereth, H. Keller, R. Eick, J. Loughlin, G. Mehl, Jr., E. I. Vroom, E. Barrett, H. Carter, H. Windham, J. F. W. Bamberger, G. Babcock, J. B. Sharp, G. Kesseiring, G. S. Martin, H. Heenahan, L. Hanlon, J. W. Poole, James Skelly, Geo. Schenlein.

After a short street parade the next day, the two clubs accompanied by Bartow's band left for Summit. They were met outside of the town by a committee from the Summit Lyceum, who escorted the Plainfielders to the club rooms as honored guests. During the day there was a target shoot at 40 yards, for a silver cup offered by John B. McGrath, proprietor of the Spring Lake Hotel. The prize was won by the Lyceum boys with a score of 220 to 134 by the Park Avenues and Orientals.

The ceremonies at the Lyceum included a speech of welcome by the President, Wm R Adams. He also presented the Park Avenue Club, on behalf of his club, with a magnificent gavel of agate and ivory, silver mounted, and inclosed in an old-gold plush case as on exhibition in the office window of THE PRESS. President Searing made a neat speech of acceptance. Addresses were also given by Vice President Talliant of the Orientals, Messrs J. C Martin and J. C. Blimm of the Park Avenues, and Vice President Scott, and Mr. James Kelly of the Lyceum. During the day Mr. J. H. Carney, of this city, gave several of his humorous recitations, and the quartette of the Park Avenue Club also gave a few of their choice selections.

Death of Henry Regan.

At the home of his brother-in-law on North avenue, on Monday, occurred the death of Mr. Henry Regan, a well-known and universally respected young man, aged about 28 years. The deceased had been ailing some time, his complaint finally developing into abscess in the head.

Dr. Lewis on Catholicism.

In the Seventh-day Baptist church on Saturday morning, Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, the pastor, delivered an eloquent discourse on "Catholicism in the United States." Dr. Lewis spoke of the growth of Catholicism and predicted its supremacy in years to come, unless a sudden change was brought about.

Lost Both Legs by the Cars.

Clifford, the thirteen-year-old son of Mr. James G. VanWinkle, formerly of this city, but now of New Brunswick, met with a horrible accident at the latter place on Saturday at noon. The boy attempted to jump on a passing freight train, when he slipped and fell under the wheels, cutting off both legs. The physicians in charge entertain no hopes of the patient's recovery.

A Pastor Resigns.

The Rev. D.W. Skellenger pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Dunellen, tendered his resignation on Monday to take effect January 1, 1890. After giving his reasons, the resignation was accepted. Mr. Skellenger is troubled with chronic catarrh and he thinks a change of air will be beneficial to his health. His new field of labor will be at Albany, N. Y.

Deep regrets were expressed for the Rev. Mr. Skellenger's withdrawal but all join in wishing him God-speed in his new field of labor.

Charged His Wife With Crime.

Patrick Melvin, a resident on Cottage place, went before Justice Nash a few days ago and swore out warrants for the arrest of his wife and a man named Conway, charging them with crime. The accused were apprehended on Monday, and arraigned before the Justice. Conway waived examination, but Mrs. Melvin demanded an examination which was granted her.

Justice Nash discharged the accused, as there was insufficient evidence produced to hold them for the Grand Jury. The husband of the woman signified his intention of getting out a State warrant for the arrest of the pair.

Caught in the Act.

Margaret Bunworth, a well-known character of Cottage place, started for town with her seven-year-old boy on Saturday evening. While passing Brown Bros., clothing store on North avenue, Margaret's eyes came in contact with a pair of pantaloons, boy's size which hung up in front of the store.

She made a survey of the surroundings, likewise the pants, and then with a dexterous movement of the right hand both Margaret and the garment disappeared.

She did not go far, however, when one of the clerks tapped her on the shoulder and requested her presence in the store. The woman hung her head like a sick cat, when the pantaloons were taken from under her shawl. The matter was adjusted, and she was allowed to depart, a sadder but wiser woman.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE.

A Grand Sermon by Rev. C. B. Mitchell.

Rev. Dr. Ketcham's beautiful church was comfortably filled Thursday morning by Christian worshippers of all denominations. There were present and occupying seats on the platform, Rev. Dr. Yerkes of the First Baptist, Rev. Dr. Ketcham of the First Presbyterian, Rev. Dr Lewis of the Seventh-day Baptist, Rev. Cornelius Schenck of the Trinity Reformed, and Rev. C. B. Mitchell of the Methodist Episcopal churches.

The services were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Ketcham; Rev. Cornelius Schenck read a portion of the 34th Psalm as the Scripture lesson; Rev. Dr. Yerkes then offered prayer, after which the Rev. C. B. Mitchell, pastor of the M. E. church, preached an able sermon that showed careful preparation, from the text: "Thou hast put gladness in my heart, more than in the time that their corn and their wine increased," as found in the 4th Psalm, seventh verse. If space would permit we would gladly print the sermon in full. We can only congratulate the reverend gentleman on his effort.

The regular choir of the church were present and sang in perfect unison to the accompaniment of Dr E. W. Hedges, organist. The collection taken up will be presented to the Plainfield Relief Association.

The A. O. H. Ball.

The ball of the A. O. H., No. 4, in St. Mary's T. A. B. Hall, Thursday, was a grand success. The members of the Hibernia Rifles and Parnell Drum Corps of Elizabeth, were present in a body, and participated in the evening's festivities.

Crowds On the Rollers Again.

Five hundred young and old people crowded The Crescent, Thursday afternoon and evening, and thoroughly enjoyed Miss Houghton's exhibition, the music and the skating in general. There were over two hundred skaters on the surface at a time.

A Thanksgiving Day Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. William Swaim celebrated the fifty-second anniversary of their marriage by holding a family gathering at their home on West Front street, Thanksgiving Day. Children and grandchildren to the extent of eighteen were represented at the gathering, and all wished the aged couple many future days of thanksgiving and happiness.

Mr. Swaim has passed his eighty-first year, and Mrs. Swaim's age is seventy-five.

Death of Mr. T. A. Dunn.

The death is announced of Mr. Theo. A. Dunn, which occurred at his home on Broadway, at 2 o'clock, Friday morning, from paralysis of the bladder. The deceased was in the seventy-fourth year of his age, and leaves a wife and several grown-up children.

Mr. Dunn has been a resident of this city for many years past, and of late he has conducted the fruit and confectionery business in the store adjoining THE PRESS office on North avenue. He was also a member of the Seventh Day Baptist church.

To Rebuild Seeley's Mill.

The large paper mill that was destroyed by the freshet last Summer belonging to Mr. Seeley, and located near Scotch Plains, is to be replaced by a new mill much larger than the old one and is to contain all the latest improved machinery. Many of the old employees of Mr. Seeley who have been working at odd jobs are delighted to know that they will soon be in their old places. The building will be longer than before but not so wide, thus avoiding the force of the water.

A large part of the bank along the mountain side is being removed to make room for the new building. The dams will be rebuilt in a substantial manner. The mill will be one of the largest of its kind in the State.

Meeting of the Exempt Firemen.

The members of the Exempt Firemen's Association held a special meeting Thursday morning at Fireman's Hall and appointed a committee to draft resolutions out of respect to the memory of their late brother, Solomon Flaig. Invitations were extended to all the officers and members of the fire department of this city and the borough, to attend the funeral with them in a body. Committees were appointed to take charge of the arrangements at the church; to toll the fire bell and to drape their hall in mourning. This Association gives a benefit of $50 on the death of each member. It was organized nearly two years ago and this is the first member it has lost by death.

Burial Services.

The funeral of the late Solomon Flaig occurred from the First Presbyterian church Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Ketcham officiating. That divine took for his text the 14th verse of the 4th chapter of the Apostle James—"What is Life?" He spoke in eulogistic terms of deceased, as an honest man and upright citizen and urged young men to follow his precepts.

The letter carriers from the post office attended in a body, the Postmaster accompanying them. Representatives were also present from the Fireman's Relief Association, Saengerbund and Turn Verein. Handsome floral decorations adorned the coffin. One from the letter carriers and clerks of the post office was in the shape of a handsome pillow with the words "His work is done," in purple flowers. The pillow itself was a mass of roses and other flowers. A sheaf of wheat and roses from Postmaster Force and a handsome pillow of roses with the words "Papa," a beautiful wreath of roses and other flowers also, were testimonials from friends and relatives of deceased. The remains were taken to Hillside cemetery and interred temporarily in a vault. The fire bell tolled 54 strokes during the progress of the funeral procession.

Ought to Satisfy the Grumblers.

A correspondent signing himself "Old Traveler," writes as follows to the Elizabeth Journal on Saturday:

"A commuter complains in your paper that the Plainfield express does not take Elizabeth passengers, but I think it will be granted that the railroad people have a right to run their trains to suit the demands of their business, and as they provide a fast train right after, which only stops at Bergen Point, that ought to satisfy the grumblers, unless they consider the Bergen Pointers too common to associate with, and want to get into the exclusive society of the aristocratic folks from Plainfield.

"To my mind there are an abundance of quick trains between here and New York, and although the cars on the 'Penn.' are in a measure finer than some of those on the 'Central,' I am satisfied that the fifty new Pullman coaches recently put on the latter road will equal anything in that line running out of New York. I don't imagine that the officers of the Central will let any of their local business get away, when they, having the finest engines and the shortest route, can easily beat the Pennsylvania by five minutes any day.

"This is an age of grumblers, but I venture the prediction that those who leave the Central to gain time will return to their first love before many months, fully satisfied that they can do better on the Central. As a general rule I do not like to hide my identity behind a pseudonym, but to avoid being drawn into a lengthy discussion of this matter on the train, since I prefer to read my newspaper, I shall sign myself,

"OLD TRAVELER."

"THE PUBLIC UNANIMOUSLY DELIGHTED."

A Correspondent Satisfied With THE PRESS but Disgusted With What He Calls the "Do-Nothing Course" of the Councilmen.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—DEAR SIR—Public spirited citizens are unanimously delighted that you have taken up the project to have those unsightly and obstructive railroad freight sheds and tracks located elsewhere. They should be removed to some convenient point West of the station of course.

With those out of the way and Sycamore street widened and macadamized properly from gutter to gutter, that dilapidated part of our city between the railroad and Seventh street from Park avenue to Peace street will become its most flourishing section. If the electric cars are then run on Sycamore street, property on that street will soon be salable at higher prices than Park avenue property is now. Those who live there must be a slow set, or they would have acted in this matter long ago, both before Councils, and in appeals to the C. R. R. of N. J.

If Plainfield would elect enterprising men to run her city government, these flagrant matters of popular concern would have adequate attention. The do-nothing course of those who have been allowed to thrust themselves into public positions is becoming disgusting. Men without capacity to help create intelligent, healthful, progressive, public opinion, or govern in accord with popular interests have stood in the way of Plainfield's prosperity for 10 years, so that with a community of about 16,000 people, we have no street railways—nor water works—our sidewalks are not to grade and are too narrow; our streets meanly macadamized; property generally is slow of sale at low prices, and consequently our tax rate is high on increasing valuations.

If Plainfield had been intelligently governed for the last 10 years property on our leading thoroughfares would be worth today from twice to five fold what it is held for sale at now.

The thing which will most quickly invigorate our public and private financial condition would be an extended electric railway system in all directions from the station, the tracks laid on our main thoroughfares, or chief arteries of travel, where people go and want to go. It is time now for our citizens at large to trample under foot at once and forever the preposterous assumptions of a few people who own carriages, that our main highways should not be used for the comfortable and convenient carriage of those whom they call "common" people. Now is the time to defeat any man who will not actively labor for the quickest possible construction of street railways and water works, or who has not the recognized capacity to do so.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

Stuck in the Westfield Mud.

A large six-horse furniture van, containing the household goods of Mr. John Duck of Brooklyn, en route to his future residence on Jackson avenue, North Plainfield, became "stuck in the mud" near Westfield, on Wednesday evening, during the heavy rain storm that prevailed at the time. The goods reached their destination, last evening, not injured by the delay.

A Dog Killed by Foxes.

Mr. William Grattan, a resident of this city, whose veracity has never—that is hardly ever—been doubted, is the authority for the statement that John Fiffer of Cranford, while out hunting one day recently, came upon a den of red foxes in a clump of bushes on the bank of the Cran*ford river. Mr. Fiffer killed three foxes*, and found the hind quarters of a mastiff in the den, upon which the foxes had been feasting for some time.

Drawing the Jurors.

The time for holding the December term of the Somerset County Circuit Court having been changed from the third to the fourth Tuesday in December, the Sheriff drew the jury panel for the same last week in the presence of Judge Bartine, Jameson and TenEyck. The following is the list of petit jurors from North Plainfield:

Jonathan Clawson, John Emery, Thomas Armstrong, James Sharp, Wm Boe, W. H. VanWinkle, Jacob Voehl, Wm. Bodine.

Italians on the War Path.

The recent uprising among the Italians who are employed by Contractor Wood on the County roads, at Scotch Plains, threatened, at one time, to result in bloodshed. Mr. William H. Voorhees, Jr., of this city, who is employed as time-keeper by Mr. Wood, was surrounded by a mob of desperate Italians, a few days ago, and only escaped with his life by flourishing a revolver. The difficulty was occasioned by the men being thrown out of employment, on account of the recent wet weather. The men's funds run out, and they became desperate.

The State Superintendent Disagrees With the County Superintendent.

Mr. Nelson Blackford, of New Market, obtained the consent of County Superintendent Willis to change the boundary of School District No. 3, so as to include his farm in the Harris Lane District, but the State Superintendent decides that as the property was assessed in the District No. 3, when the loan was obtained for building a new school house, his property was a part of the security pledged and must pay its share of the bonded debt and interest thereon, but for general school purposes must now be assessed in the District to which it has been attached.

The Asbestos Limited's Officers.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—The Asbestos Limited of North avenue, held their meeting for election of officers as heretofore published in your paper of Nov. 2[illegible], and the following gentlemen were elected.

President—Count Stans-enburg; Vice President—Duke J. Ross-enburg; Treasurer—Major General Hat-enfield; Corresponding Acephalist—Prince Normando Pike-enburg; Directors—Faty Walsh and others. All communications and applications for drawings, specifications and estimates officially required, should be addressed to their Acephalist, Prince Normando Pike-enburg, North avenue.

G. W. B.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

CLEVELAND BROTHERS, ALBANY, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, New York.—my21y1 9-7 1y

Coughing

IS Nature's effort to expel foreign substances from the bronchial passages. Frequently, this causes inflammation and the need of an anodyne. No other expectorant or anodyne is equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It assists Nature in ejecting the mucus, allays irritation, induces repose, and is the most popular of all cough cures.

"Of the many preparations before the public for the cure of colds, coughs, bronchitis, and kindred diseases, there is none, within the range of my experience, so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For years I was subject to colds, followed by terrible coughs. About four years ago, when so afflicted, I was advised to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and to lay all other remedies aside. I did so, and within a week was well of my cold and cough. Since then I have always kept this preparation in the house, and feel comparatively secure."—Mrs. L. L. Brown, Denmark, Miss.

"A few years ago I took a severe cold which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continual use of the Pectoral, a permanent cure was effected."—Horace Fairbrother, Rockingham, Vt.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

A $20 A Day Man!

A VOICE from Ohio. Here is a portrait of Mr. Garrison, of Salem, Ohio. He writes: "Was at work on a farm for $20 a month; I now have an agency for E. C. Allen & Co's albums and publications and often make $20 a day." (Signed) W. H. GARRISON.

William Kline, Harrisburg, Pa., writes: "I have never known anything to sell like your album. Yesterday I took orders enough to pay me over $25." W. J. Elmore, Bangor, Me., writes: "I take an order for your album at almost every house I visit. My profit is often as much as $20 for a single day's work." Others are doing quite as well; we have not space to give extracts from their letters. [illegible]

Shall we start YOU in this business, reader? Write to us and learn all about it for yourself. [illegible]

Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., AUGUSTA, MAINE.

2-6-1y

CARNEY BROS.,

11 SOMERSET ST.

TINNERS,

PLUMBERS,

GAS FITTERS.

PARLOR STOVES,

COOK STOVES,

HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.

Tinware Made to Order.

Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces.

SANITARY PLUMBING.

HOW CAN THE LONG

BE THE SHORT

?

A line may be a very long one and yet be the shortest between given points. For instance the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has over 3,000 miles of road, magnificently equipped and managed, and is one of the greatest railway systems of this country; for the same reasons it is the traveler's favorite to all points in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana. It is the only line to Great Falls, the future manufacturing center of the Northwest; to the fertile free lands of the Milk River Valley; and offers a choice of three routes to the Coast. Still it is the shortest line between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Fargo, Winnipeg, Crookston, Moorhead, Casselton, Grafton, Fergus Falls, Wahpeton, Devils Lake and Butte City. It is the best route to Alaska, China and Japan; and the journey to the Pacific coast Vancouver, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco, will be remembered as the delight of a lifetime once made through the wonderful scenery of the Manitoba-Pacific Route. To fish and hunt; to view the magnificence of nature; to revive the spirit; restore the body; to realize the dream of the home seeker, the gold-seeker, the toiler, or the capitalist, visit the country reached by the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway. Write to F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul, Minn., for maps, books and guides. If you want a free farm in a lovely land, write for the "Great Reservation," read it and resolve to accept the golden [illegible]

HAND OF FORTUNE!

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

PECK'S CORNER.

You are Not Ready

FOR CHRISTMAS

Unless You Have Just

Come to Peck's.

A PROBLEM!

One would suppose from the really small quantity of good Clothing that is made and sold, compared to the enormous quantity of trash, that there was a patent on the article. It's really a problem why dealers care to sell so much poor clothing. Of course, there's more profit on trash than on a good article. AT THE TIME, that is; but the renewed and continued patronage of the come-again customers more than make up to the merchant the seeming loss in the single transaction.

Now, we don't pretend that we are the only firm from which a good article can be purchased; but we insist that the great bulk of Ready-made Clothing is a most inferior article, and not, as ours is, as near perfect as can be. For illustrations of what we mean, we invite your attention to our NOBBY ALL-WOOL SUITS at $10, or our Blue and Black CHINCHILLA OVERCOATS at $12, $15 and $20; or those BLACK DIAGONAL CUTAWAY COATS and VESTS at $10, $12 and $13; or the Nobby Style and Cut of our CHILDREN'S CLOTHING.

☞ See the KNEE PANT SUITS guaranteed all wool, from $3 up. OVERCOATS for BOYS, YOUTHS or MEN. Style, slick; fit, faultless; materials, multitudinous. You may expect to see here a little improvement on the average run of Clothing in every particular, price included. YOU'LL NOT BE DISAPPOINTED.

McGregor &Co., 850 and 852 Broad St NEWARK, N. J.

A. VANDERBEEK,

(CHAUTAUQUA BUILDING.)

NO. 33 PARK AVENUE, PLAINFIELD, N. J

HAVING DISPOSED OF THE MUSICAL AND SPORTING Goods Department I am now prepared to devote my entire time to the sale and renting of

—PIANOS AND ORGANS—

Having many years of experience in the Piano Trade I am prepared to furnish first-class Instruments as reasonable as they can be had in New York city. Pianos tuned. Give me a call before purchasing.

PRICE LIST OF THE

EMPIRE STEAM CARPET CLEANING

Feather and Mattress Renovating Works.

Office and Works, 32 East Front Street.

HUGO WEIGMANN, Prop.

Ingrain and 3-Ply,	3c. per yd.	Feather Pillows,	50c. per pair
Tapestry and Brussels,	4c. "	Feather Bolsters,	50c. each
Wilton, Velvet, Moquette and Axminster,	5c. "	Large Feather Bed,	$2.50 each
		Hair steamed and picked,	5c. per lb

GUNNERS' SUPPLIES!

The "Club" Shell Loaded by the U. M. C. Co.

—LOOK AT THE PRICES!—

10 ga 4 or 4 1-4 drs Powder, $1.85 pr 100
12 " 3, 3 1-4 or 3 1-2 " " $1.75 " "

American Wood, Schultze and Dead-shot Powder Shells Loaded to Order.

Guns of all Grades and Sizes.

Look at Our $1.00 Hunting Coat.

A. M. Vanderbeek & Co.,

33 PARK AVENUE.

Chautauqua Building. PLAINFIELD. N. J.

PATENT
ODORLESS EXCAVATOR
CESSPOOLS VAULTS

John Brown,

(Successor to John Burke.)

Cesspools, Vaults, Etc., Etc.,

CLEANED.

Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at CARNEY BROS., No. 11 Somerset street, or address P. O. Box [illegible], will receive prompt attention.

PEDOMANCY A NEW FAD.

Society Craze for Reading Character by the Lines of the Foot.

What the Dainty Outlines Reveal—The Wide Western Foot With Its Prehensile Suggestions—The Imperial [illegible] Southern Foot.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

Every season brings with it some new fad or "wrinkle" from across the Atlantic, to amuse society and help editors [illegible] the sensations of the winter. [illegible] latest importation of this sort is [illegible], the art of reading character in the curves, angles and general contour of the feet. It has entertained the fashionables of Berlin and Vienna for many months past, amounting almost to a craze in those mystery-loving capitals, and there is every prospect that it will shortly become a [illegible] here, as well.

Among the artists and sculptors the new fad is making rapid headway. [illegible] studio on [illegible] street [illegible] a group of artists were discussing the outlines of the plaster cast of [illegible] exceedingly graceful foot.

"It is the foot of a Southern girl," said an enthusiast. "Observe the delicate tracery of the veins beside the small ankle, the trim, rising instep curved like a bow, and the narrow, slender shape generally. That woman could readily wear a No. 1 shoe."

"American ladies take greater pride in their feet than do those of any other country," he added. "Spanish and Cuban women in [illegible] all of the Spanish or semi-Spanish blood—have almost perfect feet, with high insteps, and a beautiful shape. I learned in Vienna to read character by the feet. In every variety of disposition and every style of dress and manner they play a very important part. Small feet indicate [illegible] and always belong to some one who wants you to [illegible] around; such persons do their business in a short time, and are quite energetic in all they do. A small-footed woman is apt to be coquettish and a bit of a flirt. One who has a long foot is quiet and reserved, with solid tendencies. Others have feet of a [illegible] form and a very low instep, in which the whole [illegible] on the [illegible] so that corns are developed, especially when the high-heeled shoe is worn. This makes a person of an irritable disposition. If some one's feet are troublesome, one is sure to be ill-tempered, you know."

"What do large feet indicate?"

"When well-formed and of good proportions they indicate breadth of mind, [illegible] of character and purpose. One of the largest-footed men I know is lawyer Henry L. Clinton of the historical Clinton family. His feet are solid and broad but not ungainly. The same may be said of Senator Maxey of Texas, Don Cameron of Pennsylvania and Secretary Sam Fessenden, of the Republican National committee. Clinton and Maxey each wear a No. 11 shoe. William Pitt Kellogg of Pennsylvania is another [illegible] of large [illegible] standing. Large men very rarely have small feet. Berry Wall has a [illegible] slim foot. Senator John [illegible] one of the best-footed men in this country. His are as neat as possible, [illegible] stylish and he wears a number six [illegible]. "Spaniards, as a rule have feet [illegible] smallness and delicacy. [illegible] the rich banker has a foot with a very high instep, and so [illegible]. Such feet indicate quick, impulsive temperaments."

"And as to American feet—?"

"The American foot is almost [illegible] in the variety, just like [illegible] American character. Now, the New York girl's foot is a composite affair, [illegible] and white and beautiful as to flesh, firm and really strong, although it looks delicate enough. It is long, narrow and is the delight of the [illegible]—at least so some of them [illegible] told me. The main foot is well formed, also. The ladies of Washington, [illegible] have observed have a broad-soled, flat-heeled foot, one that should be serviceable in climbing stairs. It is built a good deal on the [illegible] principle, while the New York [illegible] more on the cutter pattern. The Western foot is a distinct species, with a suggestion of prehensile qualities in some sections of the country. It is a foot that grows up with the country. When once the Western foot catches anything it can hold on. Its ideal form is found in the Chicago foot which has developed grasping qualities that are wonderful. I have seen a Chicago girl, while bathing at Newport, pick up clams with her toes.

One of the most expert pedomancers in the United States is Bryan [illegible] Mcswyny, the esthetic shoemaker, who has built more footgear for public men, statesmen and pugilists alike than any one else in the United States.

"I have made the reading of character by the feet a study for years," he said, "and have become familiar with [illegible] patterns and many others in that way. One must judge not alone by the shape of the foot and the lines upon it, but also of the way in which a man wears his shoe. This is really more of a science than phrenology.

"Here is the last belonging to John L. Sullivan. [illegible] It is 11½ inches long, yet it isn't a [illegible] foot. It shows that Sullivan is a better balanced man than most people suppose. The general contour of the foot shows him to be firm and even obstinate, [illegible] neither selfish nor narrow-minded. He is capable of better things than [illegible].

"The biggest foot in New York is that of Commissioner of Charities Thomas A. Brennan, who wears a No. 12 shoe. The smallest and neatest belongs to District Attorney Fellows, who has an extra high instep and wears a [illegible] No. 5 shoe. The very best-shaped feet I remember are those of Robert G. Ingersoll, who, whatever may be [illegible] his theology, is certainly well set on his pins. They are full of character, these feet of his, and one who has studied the art can draw a very good sermon out of them. The ladies? Oh, well, Mrs. Sarony, wife of the artist-photographer, has a divine foot. [illegible]" added Mr. Mcswyny, enthusiastically, "here is its confirmation."

Turning to a book he disclosed the outlines of a singularly beautiful foot. Beside it was another almost equally graceful.

"That is the next in point of artistic form and beauty," said the pedomancer. "It is the foot of a young unmarried lady of 18—a Miss [illegible], the daughter of a rich merchant of this city."

Both had remarkably high insteps and the curves were so regular and rhythmic in each that they might have belonged to the same person.

"The most beautiful and artistically moulded foot in New York is that of Lillian Russell," declared a leading chiropodist. "She has a very high instep. See, here is a last of her foot. She takes a No. 2½ shoe, the same size as that of Mme. Modjeska, who by the way, has an instep a shade lower than Lillian's. These two have exceptionally fine feet," he added. "They are as near an approach to the perfect thing as can be found, but the majority of our actresses are anything but fortunate in their feet. I treat many of them and the agonies they endure in those tiny boots are [illegible]. Mrs. Langtry's foot is [illegible] but shapely. That of Minnie Palmer, as you can see by this model, is almost classic in its outlines, and so is Ada Rehan's. Both are exceptionally well formed and are not tortured like most stage feet I know of."

"Variations in the feet," the chiropodist added, "indicate differences of nationality and variety rather than of individual traits. The earliest association of the idea of beauty with the feet is the familiar declaration of St. Paul: 'Beautiful are the feet of those who preach the gospel of peace,' a rather startling statement, if accepted literally. The only recorded instance of such an interpretation is that of a clergyman in the Baptist Convention of Kentucky in the days before the war. The brethren had been annoyed by the importunities of an eccentric individual who believed himself called to preach the gospel. The saying of St. Paul was cited by the minister, who then referred to the feet of the applicant with the question:

"Don't you know that you have the largest and homeliest feet of any man in Kentucky?"

The applicant was silenced and satisfied that his sense of being called to the service of Christ was a mistake.

GEORGE J. [illegible]

LIVERY STABLE HORSES.

Some of Their Peculiarities and Temperamental Traits Described.

Just as every man who fails at all the other professions is pretty sure to conclude that his calling is journalism, so every horse who by eccentric character or blemished physique, has shut the stable doors of society against him, winds up in the stalls of a livery stable. [illegible] livery stable horses. Acquaintance with the noble brute under the latter conditions may be interesting and too often exciting, but not edifying.

But I do not want to catalogue all the vicious, criminal, [illegible] and hypocritical quadrupeds of the equine race that I have met. Merely an instance of typical character.

It was not my fortune to be taking the air on that bright day last month in a neat double wagon behind a couple of glossy bay ponies, when two young ladies of this city drove [illegible] away for a morning's drive through some of our lovely suburban roads. The ponies had come from a livery stable with a character for more gentleness and sweetness of disposition than even hired animals can usually command. They bore out their character during the first half hour. The ladies in the wagon were just beginning to enjoy the drive immensely. It was about three miles from home.

Suddenly, without the slightest warning, at a place where the road was [illegible] broad, the two ponies executed a wheeling movement, which ended in a turn to the left about, in spite of all the efforts of the fair driver to stop them. There was some struggle for the supremacy, but the ponies lasted longest, and, to cut the story short, they trotted home at a rattling pace. They turned neither to the right nor to the left, but went directly to the livery stable.

The liveryman stood at the door and listened to the charges against the ponies. Then he said, apologetically: "Yes, them ponies are that fond of home that they will try and come back whenever they get a chance."

Baku Not Drying Up.

The report of the exhaustion of the Baku oil supply, which has lately been extensively circulated, appears to have arisen from the fact that a "shut down" of a large number of wells was ordered, for the purpose of checking the over-production which has been going on. It is no uncommon thing for a native of Baku to tap a supply of 20,000 gallons of oil, and waste 18,000 or [illegible] of it, simply for want of foresight in providing a cap for the well, or by the omission to arrange for surface storage. The authorities have now taken the matter in hand and passed laws which regulate the supply. In view of the rapid increase in the demand for petroleum, it is satisfactory to know that Baku is as prolific of oil as ever. The oil trade is rapidly assuming such gigantic proportions that for many years there will probably be ample room for America, Russia and Burmah, as well as for the minor fields that will in time furnish a supply for the world's market. But, in any case, it will be a good thing for Russia when the more careful and economical methods of America are adopted in the Caspian region.

IN MERRY MOOD.

The bathing suit is put away, in which her charms she did display. The garment wears its [illegible] yet, because, in fact, 'twas never wet.

"What does the lover bee say to his sweetheart?" asked the snake editor. "I am not acquainted with the language of insects," replied the horse editor. "What does he say?" "He says: 'O honeycomb to me.'"

The craze for sliding over Niagara Falls, says the New York Commercial, has reached such proportions that it has been found necessary to plant signs along the banks of the river requesting visitors to "Please keep off the cataract."

A little chap was very much afraid of thunder-storms, and one night, when playing at his mother's knee, being somewhat fearful of an approaching storm, he said: "Please send us only plain rain this time, if it will do just as well."

An estimable physician, who is dabbling in real estate, recently forgot to give the necessary instructions along with the prescription. On being aroused from his sleep to tell the family how the medicine was to be administered he replied: "One-half down and the balance in one and two years."

"Well, auntie, dear," said Mabel to her visiting country relative, "how did you like the opera?" "Not much, child," was the slow reply; "but," brightening visibly, "the man up front, who kept chasing the flies from the orchestra's bald heads, was the funniest mortal I seen in many a day."

"Jones," said Mrs. Jones, as her husband sat reading his paper, "I wish you would buy some of that lovely Cheddar cheese in the market." "How much is it?" snarled Jones. "Only fifty cents a pound, dear!" "Well, I should Cheddar!" said the reckless man as he returned to his reading.

"This world is pretty evenly divided after all," said the butcher, as he scraped away at his block. "How?" "Lady in the diamonds and sealskin goes out of here with [illegible] comes in here and inquires for '[illegible].'" "Well." "Well, other folks have the money and us butchers have the [illegible]. Makes me feel more content."

Teacher—"What rewards were given to the victor in the ancient games, Sammy?" Sammy—"A little boy was set up on his head." Teacher—"Little boy! Where did you get that notion?" Sammy—"Why, you told us yesterday that a chaplet was put on his head; and if a ducklet is a little duck, and a brook-let a little brook, ain't a chaplet a little chap, say?"

An old peasant on the south shore of Long Island was telling his visitor how pleasant it was. "But," asked the friend, slapping his face with his handkerchief, "don't you have a great many mosquitoes and sand-flies?" "Ye-es," said the man; "yes, then, we never use them." "How can that be?" "Well, you see, we feel so under good when they go away."

DR. TALMAGE IN JOPPA.

ELOQUENT SERMON AT THE BIRTHPLACE OF SEWING SOCIETIES.

The Wonderful Lesson That May Be Derived from the Life, Death and Resurrection of Dorcas—A Godly Model for All Womankind to Copy.

JOPPA, Dec. 1.—Today is memorable in the sacred history of Joppa, the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., preaching here to a company of Christian people of various denominations on "The Birthplace of Sewing Societies." He took for his text Acts ix, 39: "And all the widows stood by him weeping, and showing the coats and garments which Dorcas made while she was with them." The preacher said:

Christians of Joppa! [illegible] with your [illegible], the first I ever saw, [illegible] the great [illegible] of Lebanon [illegible] from which the timber for Jerusalem was [illegible] drawing the [illegible] through this very town on the way to Jerusalem, nothing can make me forget that this Joppa was the birthplace of the sewing society that has blessed the poor of all succeeding ages in all lands. The disasters to your town when Judas Maccabeus set it on fire, and Napoleon had five hundred prisoners [illegible] in your neighborhood, [illegible] make me forget that one of [illegible] the Christian [illegible] was started in this seaport by Dorcas, a woman with her needle embroidering her name ineffaceably into the beneficence of the world. I see her sitting in yonder home. In the doorway and [illegible] about the building, and in the room where she sits, are the pale faces of the poor. She knows their [illegible], she gives them [illegible] garments for them, she [illegible] the misfortunes [illegible] to suit the [illegible] form of this invalid woman, and to the [illegible] her children, as his bandaged [illegible]. She gives a coat to this one, she gives [illegible] to that one. While she [illegible] prayers and hymns and Christian encouragement. Then she goes out to be greeted in the [illegible] by those whom she has blessed, and all through the [illegible] the cry is heard: "Dorcas is coming!" The sick look up gratefully into her face as she puts her hand on the [illegible] and the bereaved [illegible] hope as they [illegible] her gentle voice, as though an angel had addressed them; and as she goes out the lane, they [illegible] that they see a [illegible] and a trail of [illegible] in her pathway. That night a half [illegible] [illegible] cold and weary [illegible] "Where did this come from?" [illegible] "Dorcas has been here." [illegible] a [illegible], a beautiful [illegible] for [illegible] "Dorcas [illegible]."

"DORCAS IS DEAD."

But there is a [illegible] in that [illegible]. They say, "Where is Dorcas?" Why, we haven't seen her for many a day. "Where is Dorcas?" And one of these poor people goes up and knocks at the door and finds the mystery solved. All through the haunts of wretchedness the news comes, "Dorcas is sick!" No bulletin flashing from the palace gate, [illegible] of a king's disease, [illegible] for them [illegible]. Alas for Joppa! [illegible] There [illegible] so many cheerful words [illegible] which had made so many garments for the poor is cold and still; the star which had poured light into the midnight of wretchedness is dimmed by the blinding [illegible] from the river of death. In every [illegible] forsaken place in this town; wherever there is a sick child and no balm; wherever there is hunger and no bread; wherever there is guilt and no compassion; wherever there is a broken heart and no comfort, there are despairing looks, and [illegible] eyes, and frantic gesticulations as they cry: "Dorcas is dead!" They send for the apostle Peter, who happens to be in the suburbs of this place, stopping with a tanner by the name of Simon. Peter urges his way through the crowd around the door, and stands in the presence of the dead. What expostulation and grief all about him! Here stand some of the poor people, who show the garments which this poor woman had made for them. Their grief cannot be appeased. The apostle Peter wants to perform a miracle. He will not do it amidst the excited crowd, so he kindly orders that the whole room be cleared. The door is shut against the populace. The apostle stands with the dead. Oh, it is a serious moment, you know, when you are alone with a lifeless body! The apostle gets down on his knees and prays, and then he comes to the lifeless form of this one all ready for the sepulcher, and, in the strength of him who is the resurrection, he exclaims: "Tabitha, arise!" There is a stir in the fountains of life; the heart flutters; the nerves thrill; the cheek flushes; the eye opens; she sits up!

We see in this subject Dorcas the disciple, Dorcas the benefactress, Dorcas the lamented, Dorcas the resurrected.

A MODEL FOR ALL WOMEN.

If I had not seen that word disciple in my text I would have known this woman was a Christian. Such music as that never came from a heart which is not chorded and strung by divine grace. Before I show you the needlework of this woman I want to show you her regenerated heart, the source of a pure life and of all Christian charities. I wish that the wives and mothers and daughters and sisters of all the earth would imitate Dorcas in her discipleship. Before you cross the threshold of the hospital, before you enter upon the temptations and trials of to-morrow, I charge you, in the name of God and by the turmoil and tumult of the judgment day, O woman! that you attend to the first, last and greatest duty of your life—the seeking for God and being at peace with him. When the trumpet shall sound there will be an uproar and a wreck of mountain and continent, and no human arm can help you. Amidst the rising of the dead, and amidst the boiling of [illegible], and amidst the [illegible] there of the flying heavens, calm and placid will be every woman's heart who hath put her trust in Christ; calm, notwithstanding all the tumult, as though the fire in the heavens were only the gilding of an autumnal sunset, as though the peal of the trumpet were only the harmony of an orchestra, as though the awful voices of the sky were but a group of friends bursting through a gateway at evening with laughter and shouting: "Dorcas, the disciple!" Would God that every Mary and every Martha would this day sit down at the feet of Jesus!

DORCAS THE BENEFACTRESS.

Further, we see Dorcas the benefactress. History has told the story of the crown; the epic poet has sung of the sword; the pastoral poet, with his verses full of the [illegible], has sung the praises of the plow. I tell you the praises of the needle. From the fig-leaf robe prepared in the garden of Eden to the last stitch taken on the garment for the poor, the needle has wrought wonders of kindness, generosity and benefaction. It adorned the girdle of the high priest; it fashioned the curtains in the ancient tabernacle; it cushioned the chariots of King Solomon; it provided the robes of Queen Elizabeth, and in high places and in low places, by the fire of the pioneer's back log and under the flash of the chandelier, everywhere, it has clothed nakedness, it has preached the Gospel, it has overcome hosts of penury and want with the war cry of "Stitch, stitch, stitch!" The operatives have found a livelihood by it, and through it the mansions of the employer have been constructed. Amidst the greatest triumphs in all ages and lands, I set down the conquests of the needle. I admit its crimes; I admit its cruelties. It has had more martyrs than the fire; it has punctured the eye; it has pierced the side; it has struck weakness into the lungs; it has sent madness into the brain; it has filled the Potter's field; it has pitched whole armies of the suffering into crime and wretchedness and woe. But now that I am talking of Dorcas and her ministries to the poor, I shall speak only of the charities of the needle.

TRUE CHARITY.

This woman was a representative of all those women who make garments for the destitute, who knit socks for the barefooted, who prepare bandages for the lacerated, who fix up boxes of clothing for missionaries, who go into the asylums of the suffering and destitute bearing that gospel which is sight for the blind, and hearing for the deaf, and which makes the lame man leap like a hart, and brings the dead to life, immortal health bounding in their pulses. What a contrast between the practical benevolence of this woman and a great deal of the charity of this day! This woman did not spend her time idly planning how the poor of your city [illegible] be relieved; she took her needle and relieved them. She was not like those persons who sympathize with imaginary sorrows, and go out in the street and laugh at the boy who has upset his basket of cold victuals, or like that charity which makes a rousing speech on the benevolent platform, and goes out to kick the beggar from the step, crying: "Hoot, your miserable howling!" The sufferers of the world want not so much theory as practice; not so much tears as dollars; not so much kind wishes as loaves of bread; not so much smiles as shoes; not so much "God bless you's!" as jackets and frocks. I will put one earnest Christian man, hard working, against five thousand mere theorists on the subject of charity. There are a great many who have fine ideas about church architecture who never in their life helped to build a church. There are men who can give you the history of Buddhism and Mohammedanism, who never sent a farthing for their evangelization. There are women who talk beautifully about the suffering of the world, who never had the courage like Dorcas to take the needle and assuage it.

WOMAN'S BENEVOLENCE.

I am glad that there is not a page of the world's history which is not a record of female benevolence. God says to all lands and people, come now and hear the widow's mite rattle down into the poor box. The princess of Conti sold all her jewels that she might help the famine stricken. Queen Blanche, the wife of Louis VIII of France, hearing that there were some persons unjustly incarcerated in the prisons, went out amidst the rabble and took a stick and struck the door as a signal that they might all strike it, and down went the prison door, and out came the prisoners. Queen Maud, the wife of Henry I, went down amidst the poor and washed their sores, and administered to them cordials. Mrs. Retson, at Matagorda, appeared on the battle field while the missiles of death were flying around, and cared for the wounded. Is there a man or woman who has ever heard of the civil war in America who has not heard of the women of the Sanitary and Christian commissions, or the fact that, before the smoke had gone up from Gettysburg and South Mountain, the women of the north met the women of the south on the battle field, forgetting all their animosities while they bound up the wounded, and closed the eyes of the slain? Dorcas the benefactress!

DORCAS THE LAMENTED.

I come now to speak of Dorcas the lamented. When death struck down that good woman, oh, how much sorrow there was in this town of Joppa! I suppose there were women here with larger fortunes; women, perhaps, with handsomer faces; but there was no grief at their departure like this at the death of Dorcas. There was not more turmoil and upturning in the Mediterranean sea, dashing against the wharves of this seaport, than there were surgings to and fro of grief because Dorcas was dead. There are a great many who go out of life and are unlamented. There may be a very large funeral; there may be a great many carriages and a plumed hearse; there may be high sounding eulogiums; the bell may toll at the cemetery gate; there may be a very fine marble shaft reared over the resting place; but the whole thing may be a falsehood and a sham. The church of God has lost nothing; the world has lost nothing. It is only a nuisance abated; it is only a grumbler ceasing to find fault; it is only an idler stopped yawning; it is only a dissipated fashionable parted from his wine cellar; while, on the other hand, no useful Christian leaves this world without being missed. The church of God cries out like the prophet: "Howl, fir tree, for the cedar has fallen." Widowhood comes and shows the garments which the departed had made. Orphans are lifted up to look into the calm face of the sleeping benefactress. Reclaimed vagrancy comes and kisses the cold brow of her who charmed it away from sin, and all through the streets of Joppa there is mourning—mourning because Dorcas is dead.

When Josephine of France was carried out to her grave there were a great many men and women of pomp and pride and position that went out after her; but I am most affected by the story of history that on that day there were ten thousand of the poor of France who followed her coffin, weeping and wailing until the air rang again, because when they [illegible] and dearer consolation than all the tears that were ever poured in the lachrymals that have been exhumed from ancient cities. There may be no room for the dead; there may be no costly sarcophagus; there may be no elaborate monument; but in the damp cellars of the city and through the lonely huts of the mountain glen there will be mourning, mourning, mourning, because Dorcas is dead. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord; they rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

DORCAS THE RESURRECTED.

I speak to you of Dorcas the resurrected. The apostle came to where she was, and said: "Arise! and she sat up." In what a short compass the great writer put that: "She sat up!" Oh, what a time there must have been around this town when the apostle brought her out among her old friends! How the tears of joy must have started! What clapping of hands there must have been! What singing! what laughter! Sound it all through that lane! Sound it down that dark alley! Let all Joppa hear it! Dorcas is resurrected!

You and I have seen the same thing many a time; not a dead body resuscitated, but the deceased coming up again after death in the good accomplished. If a man labors up to 80 years of age, serving God, and then dies, we are apt to think that his earthly work is done. No! His influence on earth will continue till the world ceases. Services rendered for Christ never stop. A Christian woman toils for the upbuilding of a church through many anxieties, through many self denials, with prayers and tears, and then she dies. It is fifteen years since she went away. Now the spirit of God descends upon that church; hundreds of souls stand up and confess the faith of Christ. Has that Christian woman, who went away fifteen years ago, nothing to do with these things? I see the flowering out of her noble heart. I hear the echo of her footsteps in all the songs over sins forgiven, in all the prosperity of the church. The good that seemed to be buried has come up again. Dorcas is resurrected.

ASLEEP IN JESUS.

After a while all these womanly friends of Christ will put down their needles forever. After making garments for others, some one will make a garment for them; the last robe we ever wear—the robe for the grave. You will have heard the last cry of pain. You will have witnessed the last orphanage. You will have come in worn out from your last round of mercy. I do not know where you will sleep, nor what your epitaph will be; but there will be a lamp burning at that tomb and an angel of God guarding it, and through all the long night no rude foot will disturb the dust. Sleep on, sleep on! Soft bed, pleasant shadows, undisturbed repose! Sleep on!

> Asleep in Jesus! Blessed sleep!
> From which none ever wake to weep.

Then one day there will be a sky rending, and a whirl of wheels, and the flash of a pageant; armies marching, chains clanking, banners waving, thunders booming, and that Christian woman will arise from the dust, and she will be suddenly surrounded—surrounded by the wanderers of the street whom she reclaimed, surrounded by the wounded souls to whom she administered! Daughter of God, so strangely surrounded, what means this? It means that reward has come; that the victory is won; that the crown is ready; that the banquet is spread. Shout it through all the crumbling earth. Sing it through all the flying heavens. Dorcas is resurrected!

THE GREAT AND FINAL REWARD.

In 1855, when some of the soldiers came back from the Crimean war to London, the queen of England distributed among them beautiful medals, called Crimean medals. Galleries were erected for the two houses of parliament and the royal family to sit in. There was a great audience to witness the distribution of the medals. A colonel, who had lost both feet in the battle of Inkerman, was pulled in on a wheel chair; others came in limping on their crutches. Then the queen of England arose before them in the name of her government, and uttered words of commendation to the officers and men, and distributed these medals, inscribed with the four great battlefields—Alma, Balaklava, Inkerman and Sebastopol. As the queen gave these to the wounded men and the wounded officers, the bands of music struck up the national air, and the people, with streaming eyes, joined in the song:

> God save our gracious queen!
> Long live our noble queen!
> God save the queen!

And then they shouted: "Huzza! huzza!" Oh, it was a proud day for those returned warriors! But a brighter, better and gladder day will come, when Christ shall gather those who have toiled in his service, good soldiers of Jesus Christ. He shall rise before them, and in the presence of all the glorified of heaven he will say: "Well done, good and faithful servant!" and then he will distribute the medals of eternal victory, not inscribed with works of righteousness which we have done, but with those four great battlefields, dear to earth and dear to heaven, Bethlehem! Nazareth! Gethsemane! Calvary!

Washington Historical Society in England.

A movement is afoot to form a George Washington historical society in England, the chief promoter of it being the Rev. George Washington, chaplain of St. George's Jubilee church, 7 Rue des Bassins, Paris, who is the eldest representative of the Durham branch of the Washington family in England. "There is," he writes, "much information concerning the history, ancestry and records of life of Gen. Washington that has been collected by individuals, which has never been focused. During the last few years, together with my brothers, Capt. Washington, R. N., and Maj. Washington, R. E., I have collected documents, statements, etc., which will be of value to another generation.

Many others have done the same—Americans naturally, as well as English. After the deaths of the collectors these papers of interest will probably be scattered, lost or destroyed. I therefore propose that those in England interested in the matter form themselves into a 'society' to centralize this interest, preserve the documents collected, and meet from time to time to compare experiences and exchange views. The late Brasses theft at Sulgrave seems to point to the necessity of some effort to this effect. I can answer for my brothers and four cousins of the same name, who would agree to the desirability of such an endeavor. I shall be glad to explain further the details of what I propose if correspondents will write to us."—Chicago Times.

The Old Miser.

"Speaking of close-fisted natures," said a Michigan Central railroad conductor, while waiting at the Third street depot the other day for his 'run,' "I saw one of the most striking examples out on our line during the exposition that I ever met. One of the wealthiest farmers in Michigan was at the depot near his home to see his daughter off. She was on her way to a small town in Ohio, where she will teach school this winter, and intending to stop at Detroit for a three days' visit with friends here and visits to the exposition. 'How's the farm done this year?' I asked the old gentleman—I was brought up near his place and knew him intimately—and he replied, 'Just maddlin'.' Then I asked him if he was going to the exposition, and he replied, 'No, can't afford it.' At the same time I knew that besides his farm, worth easily $15,000, he is a principal stockholder in a prosperous inland city bank, besides having a half interest in one of the largest and best paying fruit farms on the shore of Lake Michigan. I'll bet his income isn't a cent less than $10,000 a year, and yet he not only couldn't afford to take a week off and visit the exposition, but he allows his daughter to teach school for a living."—Detroit Free Press.

Fashion and Godliness.

Peculiar temptations beset the young woman of fashion.

A church congregation near Little Washington has been working hard for a week or two getting ready boxes of clothing for the home missions. A young lady, who is rather noted for her stylish dress, had charge of the filling of one box. As she turned over the various articles she came to a tailor-made dress which some wealthy woman had contributed. Inside the band at the neck she perceived the mystic word "Redfern" stitched. It was but the work of a moment and a sharp pair of scissors to cut this trade mark from the dress. As she packed away the dress, having put the bit of [illegible] in her [illegible] [illegible] of my new [illegible] dress."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Conversation in Class.

Aunt [illegible]—Mr. Nelson—My dear, [illegible] to be a fine boy. How old is William now?

[illegible]

[illegible]—Conductor—Madam, that boy will have to pay full fare.

Mrs. Nelson—What! Why, I never heard of such a thing! We never think of paying for William.

Conductor—Isn't he over seven?

Mrs. Nelson—Over seven! The idea. Willie is only five. Conductor smiles sadly and passes on.

Politeness Encouraged.

Diner—You have waited upon me very acceptably and I have enjoyed my meal thoroughly. You have behaved like a gentleman and a gentleman you certainly are, notwithstanding your humble occupation.

Waiter—I hope, sir, that I am a gentleman. I always try to be one.

Diner—It is as I suspected. And being a gentleman, I shall not insult you by offering you money. Perhaps at some future time I may be able to reciprocate your courtesy. Till then, "au revoir."

WATER FILTERING.

Various patterns of filters are in use, very few of which are of any value whatever. They act only as a strainer to remove the coarser impurities, but have no effect upon the microscopic bacteria, or matters held in solution, which are the most dangerous. A flannel bag is exactly as good filter as these expensive devices, and possesses the additional advantage of being easily cleaned or renewed. The most effective filters are those in which a disk of porous stone or earthenware forms the filtering material, but it is best to make sure of the original supply of water, rather than attempt to purify it by any such uncertain methods.

A Natural Mistake.

Cholly—How did Fweddy come to lose his cane, Gworge?

Gworge—Well, the other day the officers came around to shwest Fweddy, don't-cher-know, and by some mistake or other they got hold of Fweddy's cane instead of him.

"That was sad!"

"Indeed it was. And Fweddy needs his cane weal badly."

A LITTLE HUMOR.

POLICE SERGEANT—"Is the man dangerously wounded?" Irish Police Surgeon—"Two of the wounds are mortal, but the third can be cured, provided the man keeps perfectly quiet for at least six weeks."

WILLIE—"Mamma, what does nil desperandum mean?" Mamma (who is married to a politician)—"It means, my child, that there are a good many offices to be distributed yet."

MISCELLANEOUS.

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

SPEAKING CONNECTION WITH OVER 12,000 SUBSCRIBERS—PROTECTION FROM FIRE AND BURGLARY—PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Central Office cor Front-st and Park ave.

Subscriber's Name	Address
Adams Express Co.	North ave
Ames, C. J.	12 Crescent ave.
Anthony, Alice B.	[illegible]
Arens, Otto.	Park avenue.
Alert Hose Co., No 1	[illegible]
Bourbower, J E.	Second street and Park ave
Blodgood, Wm.	Hillside ave
Babcock, Geo H.	8th ave. [illegible]
Barkalew & Dunn.	18 North ave
[illegible], W. C., M. D.	Cor. Front & Central Av.
[illegible] John	Central ave. [illegible]
Carey, T. J.	Number 34
Currie, W. D. F.	146 Rockview avenue.
City Hotel	Second street and Park ave
[illegible], E B	West Front street
[illegible] L. S. C.	Park and North avenue
Case, C W	Rockview ave
Children's Home	Jackson ave
Clemens, James T.	Richmond and Front sts
Constitutionalist office	3 North ave.
Cook, A D & Bro.	Park ave and [illegible]
Cooley, Dr J H.	Manning and Westervelt av. s
Cox, Rowland	Seventh st
C. S. and L. Association	Park and North aves.
Chapman, Mrs. F. A.	9 Third Place
DAILY PRESS	3 North ave.
Depew, Mrs. E. M.	18 Crescent ave.
Day, Frank	33 W. Fourth st.
Daft, Leo	Putnam ave.
Davis, Dr T S.	Peace near 5th st
Day, B M.	Rockview ave.
Day, Frank.	North ave
Demarest, F M.	28 W. Front st.
Dumont, John B.	19 Crescent ave.
Endicott, Dr Geo W	Park ave. and 4th st.
Evening News, T. W. Morrison, Editor.	7 North st.
Engine No 1	West 3d st.
Engine No 2	Front st.
Engine No 3	Somerset s
Estate of D. J. Boice	Park ave. & Railroad.
Forster, J H Vet Sur	66 East Fifth street
Fisk, Chas. J.	25 West Seventh st
Fleming & Angleman	24 North ave.
Force, W L & Bro.	3 North ave.
Freight House	C. RR, Depot
French, F M & Wms.	Somerset st.
French & Sons, M. H.	71 Somerset st.
Fritts, Dr J T.	73 Park ave.
Field, Dr. C. M.	Peace and Fifth street.
Goddard, C M.	17 Third Place.
Griffen, A M.	18 E Front st.
Howell & Hardy	North Avenue
L. Heyrigar	40 & 44 Somerset street.
Hegeman, B. A.	107 Sycamore avenue.
Howard, L. E.	30 7th street.
Hodges, Dr. Ellis W.	43 East Front st.
[illegible], Chas.	141 Front street.
[illegible], Albert	4th st. near Park ave.
Hurlbut, J. L.	62 East 5th st.
Higgins, M. A.	Number 18
Jacobus, Samuel H.	174 East Front street
Jenkins, Dr. O. L.	64 W. Front st.
Jones, Evan	Park ave.
Kirkner, J.	3rd and Division sts
Lowry, Rev Rob. R.	Madison ave and 9th st.
[illegible], L. N.	Crescent ave.
Lord, Wm. R.	Number 122
Mortimer, John	Putnam avenue
McDonnell, Hugh	4th st.
[illegible]	Willow ave
McGee, James	Willow ave
Miller, J G.	19 E. Front st
Moore, Geo. A.	34 North ave.
Moore, Benj. F.	Cor. 2nd st. and Park ave.
Muhlenberg Hospital	[illegible] ave.
[illegible], Dr. Wm. H.	57 [illegible] street.
Myers, Jos M.	Front st
[illegible], Frank, Flag	Netherwood
Matthews, Chas.	Prospect Place and Grove st.
Netherwood Hotel	Netherwood
[illegible], Henry B.	10 E 7th s
Opdyke, M. R.	Number 3
Pomeroy, Jr., Theo B.	Rockview ave
Pierson, Josephine	41 West Front street
Plainfield Gaslight Co.	49 East Fourth st
Plainfield Dist. Tel. & Fire Alarm Co.	3 E Front st
Plainfield Electric Light Co	Madison avenue
Pay Station	Park ave and Front st
Plainfield Seed Co.	36 and Washington [illegible]
Police Station	Park ave and 5th
Potter, C Jr.	7th and Division sts
Potter Press Works	South ave.
Probasco, Dr J B.	41 Front st
Perkins, Edward C.	Central ave. and 5th st
Pope & Co. J. C.	6 East Front st
Pittis, Thomas	124 Central av
Randolph, Henry C.	Broadway
Rhoume, L. A.	30 Broadway
Reynolds, H F	Park and North ave.
Reynolds, H. F.	Washington avenue
Roberts, D S.	17 North avenue
Runkle, [illegible] W.	Park and North ave.
Rockafellow, G W (Res)	140 Park ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	Park ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	49 Madison ave.
Rushmore, Dr Edward	Park ave. near Fifth st.
Rowe, Mrs J.	Cor. Mercer & Sycamore aves.
Russell, H. G.	4th st.
Raffo, Mrs. J. B.	Netherwood.
Rearick, Chas W., Mgr B Y & N J Tel.
Schools, Plainfield Public	Plainfield.
Smith & Cahill	30 No. th ave
Smith, Chas. A.	Fanwood
[illegible], Lemuel W	Front st. and Plainfield av.
Seguine, G. J.	30 Front street.
Shaw, E.	Front st. opp Park ave.
Smalley Bros.	10 North ave
Smith, Miss M. C.	La Grand avenue.
Stelle, E M.	Park ave. and Front st
Stelle, E M.	Central ave.
Stelle, E M (Pay Station)	Park ave and Front st.
Stroud, A G.	Prospect ave.
Smith, W F.	Belvidere av., Netherwood
Terrill W M & Cole	39 East Front street
Thompson, A. D.	Netherwood
Thompson, A. D.	Number 44
Talmage, Henry F (Res)	Netherwood.
Titsworth, Jos M.	38 W. 7th st.
Tomlinson, Dr T H.	39 W. 2d st
Tracy, J Evarts	8th and Division st
The Pond Machine Tool Co.	Third st
Thorn, Alex	Number [illegible]
United States Express Co.	5 North ave
Van Sickle W. J.	10 North av.
Vincent, J. H.	Fifth and Union sts.
Vincent, J. H.	Park and North aves.
Wetherspoon, G.	143 East Front street
Wallman, C.	West Seventh street
Wallman C.	West Seventh street
Wadsworth, E.	Park avenue.
Westfield, pay station	F. Decker.
Western Union Telegraph Company	6[illegible] st
Yates, J W.	6 E. 7th st
Zephyr Hook and Ladder Co.	Second street

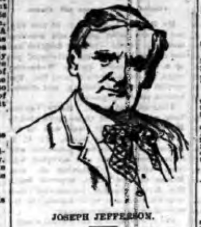
TELEPHONE TOLL RATES.

FOR FIVE MINUTES CONVERSATION

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY

To Asbury Park	30c	McCainsville	30c
[illegible]	[illegible]	Millburn	20c
[illegible]	[illegible]	Montclair	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Morristown	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Mt. Vernon	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Newark	20c
[illegible]	[illegible]	New Brunswick	20c
[illegible]	[illegible]	New Rochelle	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Newtown	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	New York	25c
[illegible]	[illegible]	Nyack	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Ocean Beach	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Orange	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Parsippany	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Passaic	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Paterson	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Peekskill	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Plainfield	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Perth Amboy	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Port Chester	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Port Washington	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Princeton	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Rahway	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Red Bank	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Ridgefield	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Ridgewood	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Rockville Centre	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Rutherford	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Short Hills	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Sing Sing	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	South Amboy	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Staten Island	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Tarrytown	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Tenafly	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Trenton	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Troy	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	West Point	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Whitestone	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Woodbridge	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Yonkers	[illegible]

[illegible] 10 CTS. ADDITIONAL.



JOSEPH JEFFERSON.

"The Century Magazine" in 1890—Joseph Jefferson's Autobiography—Novels by Frank R. Stockton, Amelia E. Barr, and others—A Capital Programme.

DURING 1890 The Century Magazine (whose recent successes have included the famous "War Papers," the Lincoln History and George Kennan's series on "Siberia and the Exile System") will publish the long looked-for Autobiography of Joseph Jefferson, whose "Rip van Winkle" has made his name a household word. No more interesting record of a life upon the stage could be laid before the public. Mr. Jefferson is the fourth in a generation of actors, and, with his children and grandchildren, there are six generations of actors among the Jeffersons. His story of the early days of the American stage; when, as a boy traveling in his father's company, they would settle down for a season in a Western town, playing in their own extemporized theater,—the particulars of the creation of his famous "Rip van Winkle," how he acted "Ticket-of-Leave Man" before an audience of that class in Australia, etc.,—all this, enriched with illustrations and portraits of contemporary actors and actresses, and with anecdotes, will form one of the most delightful serials The Century has ever printed.

Amelia E. Barr, Frank R. Stockton, Mark Twain, H. H. Boyesen, and many other well-known writers will furnish the fiction for the new volume, which is to be unusually strong, including several novels, illustrated novelettes, and short stories. "The Women of the French Salons" are to be described in a brilliant series of illustrated papers. The important discoveries made with the great Lick Telescope at San Francisco (the largest telescope in the world) and the latest explorations relating to prehistoric America (including the famous Serpent Mound, of Ohio) are to be chronicled in The Century. Prof. George P. Fisher of Yale University, is to write a series on "The Nature and Method of Revelation," which will attract every Bible student. Bishop Potter of New York will be one of several prominent writers who are to contribute a series of "Present-day Papers" on living topics, and there will be art papers, timely articles, etc., etc., and the choicest pictures that the greatest artists and engravers can produce.

Every bookseller, postmaster, and subscription agent takes subscriptions to The Century ($4.00 a year), or remittance may be made directly to the publishers, THE CENTURY CO., of New York. Begin new subscriptions with November (the first issue of the volume) and get Mark Twain's story, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," in that number.

ST. NICHOLAS.

The Century Co's Magazine for Young Folks. Enlarged and Printed in New Type.

Since 1873, when under the editorial management of Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, the publication of St. Nicholas for Young Folks was begun, it has led all magazines for girls and boys. Nothing like it was known before, and today, as the Chicago Inter-Ocean recently said, "it is the model and ideal juvenile magazine of the world." Through its pages the greatest writers of our time are speaking to the youth of America and England, and the best artists and engravers are training the eyes of the boys and girls to appreciate the highest in art. Nobody knows how many readers St. Nicholas has. In the third largest public library in America—that in Indianapolis—more than 3,000 people read each month's number.

Since the first issue Mrs. Dodge has remained as editor. Early in its history other young people's magazines, "Our Young Folks," "The Little Corporal," "Riverside," etc., were consolidated with it, and its history has been one of growth from the first. Tennyson, Bryant, Longfellow, Whittier, Miss Alcott, Mrs. Burnett, Charles Dudley Warner, W. D. Howells, and almost every well-known writer of our time have contributed to its pages. There is only one way in which its conductors can make it better, and that is by making more of it, and so they announce that with the beginning of the seventeenth volume (November, 1889) St. Nicholas will be enlarged by the addition of eight, and sometimes sixteen, extra pages in each number. This enlargement is absolutely required to make room for the rich store of new material which has been secured for the benefit of St. Nicholas readers. The use of new and clearer type will be begun with the November number.

During the coming year there are to be four important serial stories by four well-known American authors. Athletics and outdoor sports will be a special feature (contributed by Walter Camp, of Yale, and others), and there will be stories of character and adventure, sketches of information and travel, outdoor papers, articles of special literary interest, suggestive *talks on natural history, other scien*tific subjects, and the march of events. Both the December and January numbers are to be holiday issues.

The price will be the same as heretofore, $3.00 a year, 25 cents a number, and all dealers and the publishers (The Century Co., New York) take subscriptions. New subscribers should begin with November.

LEGAL NOTICES.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, Administrator of Andrew Love, senior, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the county of Union, on Wednesday the twenty-second day of January next.
Dated November 19th, 1889.
ANDREW LOVE, JR.
11-21-w10

NOTICE. NOVEMBER 9TH, 1889.

Estate of Sarah M. Lattimer, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

[illegible] RUNYON,
WILLIAM H. SHOTWELL,
JAMES F. MACDONALD,
Executors.
11-14-w10

NOTICE. NOVEMBER 9TH, 1889.

Estate of Harriet A. Coil, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

CHARLES S. GUION,
ALFRED A. FREEMAN,
Executors.
11-14-w10

NOTICE. AUGUST 24th, 1889.

Estate of Huldah L. Allen, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executor of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

[illegible], Executor.
8-29-10w

LEGAL NOTICES.

1889. TAXES!

Notice is hereby to the Taxpayers of

THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD,

That the Taxes assessed in said city for the year 1889, are now due and payable, and that

If the said Taxes be not paid by the 24th day of December Next,

the names of the defaulters, with their respective Taxes will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution.

The Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council chamber on the FOURTH TUESDAY IN NOVEMBER NEXT (the 26th), and sit from 2 o'clock P. M. until 5 o'clock P. M., or longer if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSTON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1, 1889. 10-3-1-w

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors.

SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

Estate of George W. Townley, Deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the twenty-seventh day of September, A. D. 1889, on the application of William H. Shotwell, as administrator of George W. Townley, deceased: an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of George W. Townley, deceased, to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said Administrator within NINE months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor shall be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said Administrator.

AB'M D. HUFF, Surrogate.
10-3-9w

RAILROADS.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA

PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE

Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after Nov. 10, 1889, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

8:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping and dining cars, daily, from Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Cleveland and St. Louis daily except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

[illegible] P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars and dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:12 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—[illegible]

For Philadelphia, [illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

1:29 P. M. (Through car), week-days. For Cape May, [illegible] P. M., week-days.

For Trenton—[illegible]

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—[illegible]

For Flemington—[illegible]

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping and berth accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey

Station in New York Foot Liberty Street.

Time Table in Effect Nov. 10, 1889

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave New York from foot Liberty Street, [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Newark—[illegible]

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Somerville [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Easton [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS

LEAVE PLAINFIELD

5.19, a. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8.07 a. m. for Flemington, Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9.37 a. m.—For High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua Nanticoke, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

[illegible], p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c

[illegible] p. m.—For Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Drifton, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

[illegible] p. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton,

[illegible] p. m.—For Flemington.

[illegible] p. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. [illegible] p. m. Sundays, for Easton, Allentown and Mauch Chunk. [illegible] p. m. Sundays, for Easton, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. [illegible] p. m. Sundays, for Easton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City—[illegible]

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

For Perth Amboy—[illegible]

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, [illegible]

For Baltimore and Washington at [illegible]

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA

Ninth and Green streets, [illegible]

From 24th and Chestnut—[illegible]

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker streets [illegible]

Plainfield passenger by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, Gen'l Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen'l Pass Agent.

INSURANCE.

FIRE INSURANCE!

The undersigned having been appointed agent for the

Star and Merchants

Fire Insurance Co's of the City of New York,

are prepared to furnish substantial indemnity against loss by Fire and solicits applications from the citizens of Plainfield and vicinity.

NATHAN HARPER

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,

FIRE AND LIFE

INSURANCE AGENT,

Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.

MONEY TO LOAN

On Approved Security.

J. C. Pope & Co.,

GENERAL AGENTS OF THE

German American Ins. Co.,

of New York.

Also represent other first-class Fire Insurance Companies. Agents of the Inman Steamship Line. Drafts on Ireland for sale. First and City National Bank Stock Bought and Sold. Also,

BUILDING LOTS

And Other Real Estate for sale.

OFFICE:

6 E. FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD.

JAMES C. POPE. ELIAS R. POPE.

PEERLESS | YES [illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE FALL OF 1889

BRINGS WITH IT many new styles, and much that is novel and handsome in the line of man's attire. We are exceedingly particular how our clothes are cut and made. The very best Custom Cutters only can secure positions in our employ. While we go in for appearance to the fullest extent, we are ever mindful of quality. If you will call and inspect our Fall Suits and Overcoats for Men and Boys you will note the extreme neatness and evident durability of every Coat, Vest and Pair of Trousers THROUGH THE WHOLE STOCK. We stake our reputation on the thoroughness of our work. You can get a suit for $8, $10, $12, $15 or $18, or an Overcoat, light or medium weight, all shades, silk facings and linings, for $10 or $12. We wish to convince you that our house deserves your custom. It does!

J. MARSHALL & BALL,

CLOTHIERS,

807, 809, 811, 813 BROAD STREET

10-10-3m

PIANOS, PIANOS.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,

Steinway,
(The Standard Piano of the World,)
Emerson,
S. G. Chickering,
Sterling.
And all Standard Makes of

Pianos and Parlor Organs.

Sole Agent for New Jersey for the GABLER Patent Metal Action Frame UPRIGHT PIANOS, the most popular Piano made. Musicians like it, singers like it, the PEOPLE like it, EVERYBODY likes it.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at the lowest prices ever given in Newark. A FIRST-CLASS UPRIGHT PIANO for $200 CASH, or $200 ON INSTALLMENTS. $10 MONTHLY until paid for. TELEPHONE 708.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,

657 AND 659 BROAD STREET, NEWARK, N. J.

10-14-y

SPECIAL NOTICE.

New Store! New Goods! New Firm

BARKALEW & DUNN,

Fancy and Staple Grocers,

NO. 18 NORTH AVENUE

We sell for Cash and will give Special Inducements

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.	Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion, Without injurious medication.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 182 Fulton Street, N. Y.

7-[illegible]-2y

A MAN

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF GREAT ROCK ISLAND

ROUTE

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MAGNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels furnishing meals at seasonable hours west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake, and Sioux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, General Manager.
CHICAGO, ILL.
JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass. Agent.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
W. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXII. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1889. No. 50.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

Rates of Advertising.

SPACE	WEEKS 1	2	3	MONTHS 1	2	3	6	12
1 in.	$1.00	$1.[illegible]	$[illegible]	$2.50	$4.00	$5.00	$9.50	$15.00
2 in.	1.50	2.00	3.00	4.00	5.50	8.00	12.00	20.00
3 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	4.00	5.00	8.00	12.00	18.00	25.00
4 in.	3.00	3.50	5.00	6.00	9.00	16.00	20.00	32.00
5 in.	3.50	4.50	6.00	8.00	12.50	18.00	25.00	37.00
¼ col.	4.50	6.00	8.00	10.00	15.00	20.00	30.00	40.00
½ col.	7.00	10.00	[illegible]	15.00	24.00	32.00	54.00	80.00
1 col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	20.00	25.00	35.00	[illegible]	85.00	140.00

All Electro's must be solid metal.
"Little of Everything" column, 5 cts. per line.
Double cols. 30 per cent. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law.
[illegible]

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
[illegible]

DR. CHARLES S. [illegible]
Dentist.
[illegible]

H. [illegible]
Auctioneer.
[illegible]

OSCAR S. TEALE,
Architect.
[illegible]

J. [illegible]
Veterinary Surgeon.
[illegible]

F. A. DUNHAM,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor.
[illegible]

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. Van Arsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
[illegible]

JOHN CHANDLER,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Residence and Shop No. 38 East 3d St.
Jobbing promptly attended to.

LUTKINS & HUMMER,
Dealers in
Butter, Eggs & Produce.
Meats of all Kinds.
[illegible] 18 PARK AVENUE, Plainfield, New Jersey.
A. LUTKINS. L. A. HUMMER.

Plainfield District Telegraph and Fire Alarm Co.
Prompt Messenger Service Furnished.
Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co.
LOW RATES. QUICK SERVICE. MONEY TRANSFERRED BY TELEGRAPH. COMMUTATION STAMPS FOR SALE.
OFFICE—4 PARK AVENUE,
W. S. SLITER, Manager.

TO THE PUBLIC!
We wish to inform our customers and the public generally that we have on hand the best quality of
LEHIGH COAL,
Fresh from the Mines.
It is under cover and well protected from the weather. We are prepared to deliver it well screened and in good order. [illegible]
A. D. COOK & BRO.

J. Hervey Doane,
6 PARK AVENUE.
Watches,
Clocks
And Jewelry.
Repairing neatly and promptly done.

Steam Marble Granite Works.
AND
Monuments & Headstones.
Fencing for Cemetery Plots.
Large assortment of Slate Mantels.
Large variety of Granite Monuments.
[illegible] MANNING, [illegible]

Geo. A. Moore,
(of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
[illegible]
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE,
[illegible]

Alex. Willett,
DEALER IN
BOOTS & SHOES,
No. 3 PARK AVENUE.
[illegible]

HOTELS AND SALOONS.

FORCE'S HOTEL,
NORTH AVENUE, (Near R. R. Station.)
JAS. H. FORCE, Prop'r.
A FIRST CLASS FAMILY HOTEL. Steam Heat. [illegible]
Transient guests at reasonable rates.

TURF EXCHANGE HOTEL.
73 Courtlandt street,
CORNER WASHINGTON, NEW YORK CITY.
FRED. W. BALLARD, - Proprietor,
(formerly of Jersey City), is now conducting the hotel corner Washington and Courtlandt streets, New York, formerly kept by the late James Van Pelt and by Wm. Stoffregen. All his old friends will be courteously received.
THE WINES, LIQUORS AND SEGARS.

SOMERSET HOTEL,
Cor. Somerset & Emily Sts., North Plainfield N. J.
Permanent and Transient Board, at fair rates.
First-class stables and sheds attached.
Meals at all reasonable hours.

C. E. JOHNSON,
(of the firm of Shephard, Johnson & Godown.)
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Office—No. 27 Central avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Residence—17 East Second street. Jobbing a specialty.

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
SALESROOM—Madison Avenue, [illegible] Plainfield, N. J.
Goods received on consignment.

Dime Savings Institution
OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.
JOHN W. MURRAY, President,
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice "
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS, BEST IN THE WORLD.
GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

MICHAEL UHDAL,
CONTRACTOR
AND LANDSCAPE GARDENER!
Residence:
NETHERWOOD, NEW JERSEY.
P. O. BOX 787, PLAINFIELD.
P. O. Box 5, Netherwood, N. J.

GO TO,
DICKINSON & CLAWSON,
JEWELERS, 13 Park Avenue,
For your
Fine Gold Watches,
CLOCKS, JEWELRY,
And SILVERWARE.
Sole agents for KING'S SPECTACLES and EYE-GLASSES, the BEST MADE, and CHEAPEST in the end.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a strictly first-class, [illegible] and workmanlike manner. Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers Association of New York city, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business at all times and in all ways.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 9 NORTH AVE. Plainfield, N. J.

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CATARRH
COLD
HEAD
HAY FEVER
ELY'S

CATARRH
ELY'S CREAM BALM
Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell.
HAY-FEVER TRY THE CURE.
A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at Druggists; by mail, registered, 60 cents. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren street, New York.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables
Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for RIDING OR LIVERY.
Careful, safe drivers for shopping calls or pleasure drives. Special attention given to boarding horses by the day, week or month.
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 44.

Livery Stables!
Mr. D. S. ROBERTS
Has Removed to His New Building on
NORTH AVENUE,
adjoining Force's Hotel. [illegible]

EDUCATIONAL.

Mr. FEININGER
Has resumed
His Lessons in Plainfield.
For terms, address
C. FEININGER,
Steinway Hall, N. Y.

Mr. T. E. HAZELL,
TEACHER OF MUSIC.
Instruction given in Singing, Harmony, or upon the Violin. Director of Choral Classes. The art of Reading Vocal Music a specialty.
Residence—78 Duer St., North Plainfield.

MR. LEAL'S
School for Boys!
99 WEST FRONT STREET.
Prepares for College and Business.
Has entered boys at College every year since it was established. This year eight boys were sent. The next year's class is still larger.
Boys from 10 years old and upwards.
The eighth year begins
MONDAY, SEPT. 16, 1889.
For circulars and information, address the Principal,
JOHN LEAL.

DODWORTH'S
CLASSES FOR
Dancing & Deportment,
SEMINARY HALL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.,
Commencing Wednesday, Oct. 30, '89,
From 3½ to 5½ P. M.
Circulars may be obtained of Miss E. E. Kenyon, at the Seminary.
THOS. J. DODWORTH.
Residence—1,193 Fulton ave., N. Y. City.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. B. WOOLSTON, J. F. BUCKLE.
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTER'S SUPPLIES. 30 NORTH AVENUE.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mme. J. BERNARD,
ASTROLOGIST,
Residence—Harmony street, North Plainfield (fourth house from Somerset street, left hand side). Information imparted as regards present and future events, likewise marriages, journeys, lawsuits, etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. She converses
in English, German and French.
My husband is a first-class Cooper, and repairs tubs, pails, barrels, etc., cheap for cash.

Low Pressure Steam Heat
Introduced into Churches, Schools, Dwellings, Offices, Stores, etc.
STEAM FITTING, and STEAM FITTERS' SUPPLIES for sale.
Estimates cheerfully furnished for Heating and Ventilation.
JOHN N. SCHENCK.
Box 1051. Race St., North Plainfield.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
[Successor to T. J. Carey.]
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—36 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 388. Piano moving a specialty.

G. W. FORCE,
11 West Front street.
Opening of
FALL AND WINTER STOCK
Boots and Shoes at Low Prices
A FINE GRADE OF GOODS TO SELECT FROM.
11 West Front street,
G. W. FORCE.

R. R. FAIRCHILD,
Furniture & Bedding,
21 EAST FRONT STREET.
A Large Assortment of
Parlor Suites,
Bedroom Suites,
Lounges,
Tables
AND
Chairs.
The Largest Stock and the Lowest Prices.
Call and See for Yourselves.
3 DOORS BELOW, P. O.

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
FOURTH STREET,
Between Front street and Park avenue, Plainfield. [illegible]

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The best cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana.
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobaccos always on hand.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in HAVANA & DOMESTIC
SEGARS!!
No. 21 PARK AVE., (near corner of SECOND ST.)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials, of every description.
The celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco, with other popular brands constantly on hand.

"EXPERIENCE MAKES PERFECT!" Who does inexperience make? A pretender!! [illegible] Value for [illegible]
MORAL.—Organized 1881. Incorporated [illegible]. At the head of the profession [illegible]
The Electric Construction and Supply Co. [illegible] 25 North avenue.

JAMES K. ARNOLD,
GROCER,
corner Somerset and [illegible] Sts., North Plainfield.

A. L. SMALLEY. N. S. SMALLEY.
Smalley Bros.,
DEALERS IN
Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, Etc.
10 SOMERSET STREET, NORTH PLAINFIELD.
Orders called for and delivered. A share of the public patronage is solicited.

Benj. F. Moore,
[Late of Moore Bros.]
BUTCHER,
and dealer in FRESH AND SALT MEATS, POULTRY, etc., corner Park avenue and Second street, will be open and ready for business Wednesday, March 20th. Orders called for and promptly delivered. Telephone Call 111.

E. B. MAYNARD
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, &c. satisfactorily performed.

Fresh Garden Seeds,
Garden Tools,
Ranges, Laundry Stoves,
CUTLERY, &c.
N. H. & J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 13 SOMERSET ST.

THE JAPANESE
ARE GREAT PEOPLE
at manufacturing fancy articles of all kind. There is an exhibition of their handiwork at Randolph's City Pharmacy!
That is well worth looking at. Something never before shown in Plainfield. Suitable presents for all.
Take your prescriptions there, and look at the stock whilst you wait.
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

School Books,
New and Second-hand.
School Supplies,
Large Assortment, Lowest Prices, at
ALLEN'S,
THE STATIONER,
23 East Front Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE.
Hugo Weigman,
9 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

TWENTY
Years experience in the business.
SECOND STREET, 2 doors above Peace street.
Mr. JOHN H. STEVENS, Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to Shoeing, Forging, Stumbling and Interfering Horses. Speedy Cutters stopped in an incredibly short space of time. Horses with diseased feet treated in a particular manner by experienced workmen.

Accommodation Express.
PETER SICKERT, - Proprietor.
[illegible]

AGENTS $1,000 Per Year and Expenses is what we are paying. [illegible]
R. D. LUETCHFORD & CO.,
Nurserymen, Rochester, N. Y.

READABLE RHYMES.

The Time Is Here.

There is a time which all men fear,
The season is at hand;
When Discontent lifts up its head
To scan a grieving land.

The [illegible] leaves you double weight,
And makes you heave a sigh
To think how welcome 'twould have been
Some time in last July.

The plumber grins and waits with glee
The bursting water pipe;
The coal man grabs your pocket-book
At one stupendous swipe.

The fiend who haunts each office room
Will see but to ignore
The sign with letters big and bold,
Which says: "Please shut the door."

The actor soon will walk the track
And wish he had a sled.
You catch a cold and sit and wish
That you were good and dead.
—Merchant Traveler.

Song of the Husker.

Hark! far in the field over yonder
'Tis the corn-husker merrily sings,
Oh, why is he happy I wonder,
As the ears in the basket he flings?
As he plucks the dry covers asunder,
And reveals the smooth grain gleaming under
As the ears in the basket he flings?

"Ah, here is a plump one, and yellow,
And here is another as fine,
And this is more fair than its fellow,
And this has a color divine;"
So his voice by the distance made mellow
Has a musical cadence and swell, ah!
A swell and a cadence divine!

Blithe husker, cease not from your singing,
Though my sadness I can not control;
While the ears you are carelessly flinging,
I think of the state of my soul—
These words in my brain keep a-ringing:
"What harvest to God am I bringing Should Death tear the husk from my soul?"
—George Horton, in Chicago Herald.

"I Guess Dot's So."

Komme here, now, liddle Gretchen,
And listen vonce a vhile;
You flout me, cruel Maedchen,
You vant a man of sdyle,
In svallow-tail coat and trousers trim,
A cookier sreil vill go!
"And I'm a goot long vays fum him"—
Vell, I guess dot's so.

You say I know no more dan how
To go in ven it rains;
Your sweet-hertz must have wit, you vow,
And so no end of pains
Could vin your stubborn hand for me,
Whose vords so stumbling flow,
"I'm stupid as a man can be"—
Vell, I guess dot's so.

Q'vite rich, as vell, you vant your knight,
Tall houses, like a King,
And eq'vipages sweeft and bright,
And money 'vay to fling;
Grand lackeys by the score to run,
Nor ever weary grow—
"I couldn't give you even 'vun'"—
Vell, I guess dot's so.

Beauty, goll, a wit like sphynx—
Ah, I have none of dose;
Yet lookey here, you roguish minx,
You're only blaying tease.
Your heart is mine, it twinkles out
Blue eyes vit love aglow—
And Gretchen whispers, with a pout:
"Vell, I guess dot's so."
—N. Y. Herald.

Wonderful!

A scientist old had oft been told
Of strange monsters in the deep
That came out from their homes in ocean caves
To disport themselves in the saline waves,
When landsmen were sound asleep.

In mermaids rare and wondrous fair,
And serpents fathoms long,
That could wreck a ship with a blow of their tail,
Or churn the sea like a northeast gale,
His faith was far from strong.

In full dress coat with a telescope
He boarded a dainty barque
And turned its prow to the deepest main;
"He's crazy," the landsmen cried, "'tis plain,
Or he'd not sail out in the dark."

"I know," said he, "and quite agree
That for fishing 'tis rather late,
But I fish not as others, with rod and line—
I scorn the use of both wood and twine,
Though I take a bottle of bait."

He plied the oar until far from shore,
And the moon arose large and green;
Then shipped his oars and took up his glass,
And eagerly peered in the deep, but alas!
Not a single creature was seen.

He happily thought of the bait he brought,
And its virtue quickly tried,
When up from the depths with many a twist
Came mermaids, who at him their fingers kissed,
And snakes galore beside.

With bated breath, and still as death,
He watched their antics rude,
And if from his sight they'd float away,
He would use more bait without delay,
Though trembling at what he viewed.

When the morning gray chased the mist away
A boat came in on the tide,
In the bottom limp and all in a heap
Lay the scientist, wrapped in slumber deep;
A bottle was by his side.

The story he told till worn and old
Of his vision terribly grim,
But his friends who knew said he went to sea,
Not for the science, but a jamboree,
And his yarn was fishy and thin.
—E. R. Collins, in Texas Siftings.

Be Happy.

Are you glad, in your heart, are you thankful
For the blessings to-day hath given?
Do your thoughts arise with a glad surprise
To the throne of grace in Heaven?

Do you feel, can you weigh all the pleasure
That has fallen around your life?
How much have you won at the setting sun
Of that peace beyond the strife?

Do you smile, are your spirits ascending,
When the day is dark and drear?
Or do you forget in your selfish fit
The many days that are fair?

Do you weep, do you shrink from the future,
With its burden of care and pain?
After weary night, with its darksome blight,
Comes the bright, glad dawn again.

Do you sigh while the shadows are deep'ning,
And the fair, happy day is done?
Oh, well will it be on your life's broad sea
If your course has been well run.

Then rejoice when your fate smiles upon you,
And beneath the shadows of woe
Forget not the joy with the dark alloy,
For 'tis sure to come—and go.
—Ella J. H. Bellingham, in Troy Times.

In Autumn Days.

Night brings with her a brooding chill,
As hastening o'er the eastern hill
She softly comes to chase away
The tiresome tumult of the day.
To sleep you sink—oh, blissful rest,
Of all our earthly pleasures best!
When Earth, with sable curtains drawn,
Awaits gray-bearded, halting Dawn,
'Tis then that from your bed you rise
And stand and shiver in surprise
To find that by some means unknown
The atmosphere has colder grown.
You strike a flickering, blinding light,
Then seek the closet—useless quite;
The mattress then you raise on high
And drop again, with weary sigh
You hurry through the house, but come
Back to your chamber, cold and glum.
You don your clothes against your will,
Compelled by the increasing chill.
The question still returns, unbid,
Where are those extra covers hid?
—Washington Capital.

HELPS FOR HORTICULTURISTS.

BURY bones about the roots of the grape vine. The vine has a great love for bones.

A GOOD, honestly packed barrel of apples will usually sell for what they are worth. Good and bad apples together sell for the price of bad apples.

THE apple-grower who has good winter apples keeps them in good condition and sends them to market in honestly-packed barrels will probably realize a good price for them.

MORE trees and vines are ruined by reckless clipping and sawing than by neglect to prune at all. Never prune unless you know just what you want to accomplish by doing it.

THE average apple eater does not fancy a sweet apple. We like a sweet apple occasionally, but pretty soon we are willing to substitute the acid apple. Upon the whole sweet apples are not the kind to grow.

IT has been observed that the varieties of grapes that are prolific bearers are rampant growers with a wealth of roots. John J. Smith, of Dundee, N. Y., has hit upon the idea of grafting more delicate varieties, like the Delaware, on Concord roots, the result being a stronger and more vigorous growth, and greater productiveness.

[illegible]

A fan, a walking stick, a hat and a bonnet frame, an easy chair, a hair comb, a corset, an omelette and a dance bear the name of Edison.

"MOTHER OF OUR UNION."

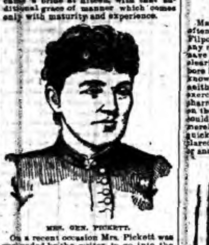
Mrs. Gen. Pickett Tells How She Joined the Blue and Gray.

A Bride on the Battlefield and a "Pretty Little Rebel"—She Afterwards Changed Her Opinion—Exiled in Canada. Back to Home and Friends.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

In the United States Pension Office, of Washington, D. C., there is a lady employe—a first-class clerk—whose history is not only exceptionally interesting, but in a sense nationally so, for to her belongs the honor of bringing about a fraternal union of the Blue and the Gray who survived the late war of the rebellion. The first interest, however, attaches to her as the widow of the late Confederate General, George Pickett, whose bravery and manliness both sides concede.

All mankind—and we grant at once that they only are judges of what constitute womanly beauty—consider Mrs. Pickett a beautiful woman. She is above medium height. Her figure is all soft lines and curves. Her eyes and hair are black, the first large, melting or flashing as is her mood. Her hands and feet are small, and her taste in dress is good; she is still in her early forties, and as charming as when she became a bride at fifteen, with that additional grace of manner which comes only with maturity and experience.



MRS. GEN. PICKETT.

On a recent occasion Mrs. Pickett was persuaded by the writer to go into the details of the fact so often simply stated that after the close of the war, General Pickett and wife sought safety from possible arrest for treason by an incognito residence in Canada. She said:

"As I told you once before, I was only fifteen when I was married, my home was in possession of the Yankees. My lover was on the other side—General Pickett. Our wedding day was at hand and he could not come for me, but he managed to communicate with me. All stratagems are fair in love and war. My family got permission to go through the lines, and General Pickett with a guard came as far on the way to meet me as he dared. We met half way and were married at Petersburg by Rev. Dr. Platt. We at once went into the field, and I must say I was happier in the midst of 'war's alarms' than I was when at home with absence and anxiety for companions.

"I was as arrant a little rebel as the South ever provided. I did not believe a Yankee could be as refined and intelligent a gentleman as those on our side, nor did I think them as well educated or as brave. I would scarcely look at one, much less shake hands. All this amused my husband, for he was educated at West Point, was a cosmopolitan, and looked upon my opinions as the ill-formed ideas of a mere girl. A change in my sentiments came about after the war in this wise: We had become self-imposed exiles because we supposed all active participants, such as officers, would be punished for treason. We fled to Canada under my husband's mother's family name of Edwards, and we were as poor and obscure as church mice. I will tell you about that directly. Well, after various vicissitudes and after remaining there a year and a half, General Grant heard of our case and he telegraphed to General Pickett that he could return to the States, as the 'terms of the surrender' would be carried out. We returned to New York and a reception was given to my husband by old comrades in the city, and so many union officers came to see us and treated us so kindly, were so well educated and so refined I was heartily ashamed of my former estimate of a Yankee, especially after General Grant offered to make my husband Marshal of Virginia.

"To give some expression to my feelings, on our return to Virginia, I thought I would have my husband's watch, which was an heirloom, engraved unknown to him and present it to him on the anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg, to indicate to him my changed sentiments. I thought by giving all the battles in which he had fought during the Mexican war, and as a Confederate, and by crossing the flags to symbolize the Union of the Blue and the Gray, that I could do so. No jeweller in Richmond would engrave such a piece of 'treachery to the South.' Public sentiment was against any such feeling being expressed, and I had to send it to Baltimore to have it done, after which I had the pleasure of giving it to my husband on the anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg, as I had planned.

"Returning to our Canadian experience as I said, we were without any resources. Our home, our country, our cause, each was lost. I was only sixteen-and-a-half years old, and I felt our situation deeply. I had a young child, a voice and a tolerable education. These last I looked upon as capital. My husband could not get enough to do to support us.

"One Sunday I was desperate. I went alone into St. John's Episcopal Church. We were at Montreal. I had on my wedding dress, which was a dove-colored lustre with a dove-colored, drawn silk poke bonnet with pink roses under the brim. I wore a wide turn-down collar and a large black silk visite, and I looked like a guy; but it was all the finery I had since the war; and close turbans had succeeded poke bonnets, while visites had gone entirely out of style, and high linen collars only were worn. Still I was too proud to make any sign. I walked daringly into that church and up into the choir loft and sat down in the singers' seats. When the service began, I began to sing, and pretty soon the chorister noticed me. Coming over he asked me to take the contralto's place, she being absent that morning. It was a simple service and not unfamiliar to me; so I sung my very best and had the satisfaction of seeing the faces of the congregation turn, one by one, until at the close of the service—well, the chorister engaged me on the spot. I felt as if my going there had been or was a special providence, for it kept the wolf from the door.

"I must tell you an incident connected with that morning. At the close of the service an old lady came up and, taking my hand, said:

"'My dear, you sing like an angel, if you do look quaint,' referring to my clothes.

"A day or two after that, I saw an advertisement in a daily paper for a schoolteacher. Being a graduate of Lynchburg Female College, I presented myself as a candidate. An old Scotch servant admitted me. She evidently was not favorably impressed with my girlish appearance, for I did not look very much like the typical schoolma'am. Still, she smiled grimly as if she regarded it as a kind of joke, and conducted me up to the principal who was already engaged in the duties of the day. She turned me over to him as 'a Miss who thinks she can teach school.' Her manner indicated her state of mind on the subject. His first question was to ask me if I could read Latin. On being assured that I could, he proceeded with my examination right before the school, and I answered questions, or finished quotations which he began. Finally he wrote on the blackboard, 'President Lincoln says nobody is hurt.' Quick as a flash I wrote, and as quickly erased, 'but somebody was.' He turned and clasped my hand and said, 'Madam, you have passed the ordeal, the situation is yours.' I filled it for six months, when we left there to return to the States by the assurance of General Grant's recall. However, we preserved our incognito into the end. Even now I cannot recall my experiences without mingled emotions. They were pathetic and yet in some respects, at this distance of time, I can laugh at them.

"Yes, I have seen a great variety of life—had as many ups and downs as the heroine of a romance; but I was most touched by my reception at Gettysburg, July 4th, '87, when the soldiers' monument was dedicated, and the Blue and Gray veterans met there. My husband's old comrades, and the courtesies shown me by the Pennsylvania troops, obliterated all bitterness of feeling, and I now feel that for me there is no North, nor South, but my country and my countrymen, as all are equally brave and generous."

When General Grant became President he entertained General and Mrs. Pickett as guests at the White House, and from that time on many tokens of esteem have been extended to Mrs. Pickett, especially since her widowhood, the last of which was at the unveiling of the Confederate Monument at Alexandria, Va., when she was the guest of honor.

BEECHWOOD.

JUDY FILPOT'S DILEMMA.

She Was Unable to Decide Between Two Suitors.

But Her Father Came to a Decision At Last Through the Aid of Parson Briddle and Judy Was Willing.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

Mark Ramsey and Job Trotter were often seen at the house of old 'Squire Filpot. These visits were not due to any regard which Mark and Job may have had for the 'Squire, but were clearly traceable to the love which they bore his daughter Judy. Mark did not know long division from short comings; neither did Job. Mark, given the freest exercise of his arm, could not, with a charred chunk, have written his name on the gable end of the barn; neither could Job. Judy was more than merely handsome; she was bright, quick to learn, and flattering gossip declared, could knit a pair of yarn socks or snatch the feathers off a chicken as quickly and as effectually as any girl in the community, regardless of educational advantages. Judy loved Mark and Job, but she could not decide which one she preferred. This inability gave her great concern, and often at night while patching her father's brown jeans or at evening when crouched in the slowly darkening gold of a dying day, milking the muly cow, she would shut her eyes, bring up the faces of her two lovers and attempt to force herself into a decision, but in vain, for when the gold of evening had darkened into the charcoal of night; when old muly stood patiently with one foot in the pail of milk, Judy's love remained in equal division.

IN THE GLOAMING.

Old Filpot liked the boys, but to have saved his life he could not have told which one was his favorite.

One morning just as the 'Squire and Judy had arisen from the breakfast table, voices in the sitting room announced, to well accustomed ears, the arrival of the lovers.

"We have come," said Mark, "to see if we can't sorter make some arrangements."

"That's what we have," Job put in.

"I want Judy," Mark added.

"So do I," said Job.

"I love her powerful," Mark observed.

"I love her just about the same," Job declared.

"Gentlemen," said the 'Squire, perplexedly stroking his whiskers, "I don't see how we are goin' to manage this affair. Judy don't you, arter all, love one just a little better than you do the other?"

"I believe I do, pap," she answered.

"Thar; we are gittin' at it. Now which one is it?"

"That's what I kaint tell, pap."

"Thar it goes again, an' we are jest as fur off as ever. Mark, aint you got nothin' to suggest?"

"Don't believe I have. Job mout have."

"No, I haint, lessen it is that she marry me an' be done with it."

"Yas, and I reckon I can make sich a suggestion in favor of myse'f," Mark replied, and then, half musingly added: "I do wish this thing was over with, fur I am behind with my crap an' my farm's runnin' down, for I have to watch Job so close that—"

"Jest the same with me," Job broke in.

"Wall, now," said the old 'Squire, "suthin has got to be did, and did at once, fur I'm tired of this here feverish condition, as the feller says. I have hearn my gran'daddy talk about cases like this that took place in the old times, and they never failed to git at a settlement some how ruther. It mout have been by a match of some sort—foot race, rasslin' or shootin'. I don't know exactly how, but as near as I can ricollect the way gran'daddy told it they allus left it to be decided by some 'speriority that one hil over the other."

"I'm willin' to try it that way," said Mark.

THE RACE.

"I'm mor'n willin'," Job declared. "What do you say, Judy?"

"Suits me," the girl answered.

"All right," said the old man. "We ken now begin to see our way cl'ar. Shall it be rasslin'?"

They agreed that it should be wrestling, and, goin' out into the yard, gave themselves up to the contest, but the fatal similarity again asserted itself, for the two young men were of equal strength and agility. Then they tried foot racing, they were of equal speed; the shooting, they were of equal skill.

"Wall, this do beat, and beat it nearly too, anything I ever seed," the old 'Squire declared; "let's go in the house and set down; might as well be restin' while we're thinkin' up suthin' else. Hellow, yander comes Parson Briddle. 'Light, parson and examine yo' saddle," he added as the preacher drew up at the gate.

The parson dismounted and, with the old man, followed the lovers into the house.

"Is it possible," said the preacher, in response to a declaration made by the old 'Squire, "that you cannot, even by the most persuasive appeal to sentiment, settle this extremely eccentric courtship."

"Can't do it, one way nor tuther," the old man rejoined, and then, quickly turning to the girl, he added: "Judy, I've got a idea."

"What is it, pap?"

"Wall, it's this: Parson Briddle, here, has seed a good deal of the world—w'y, you've been 'way down in Robinson county, hain't you, Parson?"

"Yes," the Parson answered proudly.

"That, now," continued the old man, "he has even been 'way down in Robinson county, and is, from the fack that he has seed a good deal of the world, a fair jedge of the good pints in man; so now, Judy, air you willin' to leave it to the Parson and take the one he picks out?"

"Yes, I am willin," the girl answered.

"I'm willin' too," Mark quickly spoke up, "but I want to tell the Parson right now that of he decides agin me I'll whup him till the folks will think he's been chawed up and spit up by a thrashin' machine."

"And as fur me," said Job, "I'm mo'n delighted with the idee, but jest let me say that of he decides agin me I'll wallop him till you'd have to get him together with a hay rake."

"Gentlemen," the parson remarked, "I shall render no decision. I am very well satisfied with my position in life; my circuit is comparatively smooth and I have a pretty good horse; my salary is lagging, but the sisters have given me ninety-eight lindsy shirts and calico handkerchiefs enough to cover the rock of ages; so, taking it all into consideration, I do not care to be food for a dyspeptic threshing machine or to clog the teeth of a hay rake."

"Ah, Lawd," sighed the old man, "the end ain't no nearer in sight than it was at fust. Judy, fetch out the jug," he added, as the preacher said something in an undertone. "Now, boys," he continued, when the jug had been brought, "he'p yo' selves."

The boys, being mightily partial toward liquor, began to help themselves. The old man took a few pulls and the Parson dampened his pucker, but the boys drank recklessly, and, after a while, they were generously intoxicated.

"Job," said Mark, "I'm the best friend you ever had. You may have Judy."

"Mark," Job responded, "You ain't no better friend to me than I am to you, so you take her."

"Won't do it; you've got to take her."

"No, you've got to."

"Now we can call on the Parson to decide," the old man delightedly exclaimed.

"That's what we can," said Mark. "Parson, you pick out one of us to be the husband of Judy, here, and I want to say right here that Job's my friend an' that you decide agin him I'll larrup you till you'd run through a siftor."

"NOW BOYS, HE'P YO' SELVES."

"Parson, I'm in favor of you makin' a decision," Job declared, "and I am willin' to leave it to your jedgement; but let me tell you right now, Parson, if you decide ag'in Mark, I'll whale you till all that is left of you would ooze through a tow sack."

"Gentlemen," said the preacher, "as I just now remarked, I shall make no decision."

Mark and Job began to stretch themselves on the floor. "Let them sleep," said the old man. "Ho, me," he sighed, "I don't see no way outen this trouble."

"I do," the preacher answered, "step out-doors with me."

When they returned the old man said: "Judy, a decision has been made. You must marry the preacher. Hold on, now, don't fly off. He'd do better by you than either one of the boys. Why, jest think, he's got calico handkerchiefs enough to make more bed quilts than you could stuff into a hired man's appetite, and every woman in the community would be——"

"Petrified with envy," the parson suggested.

An expression of delighted resignation shone on the girl's face. "I will make out the license and do the marryin' myself," said the old man. "Oh, don't be skeered now; I'll fix the boys all right."

* * * * *

Mark awoke, and getting up, aroused Job. "'Squire," said Mark, "we got a little too much of your licker. Where did you git it?"

"That preacher that was here sent it to me the other day."

"Wall, he knows whut strong licker is, don't he Job?"

"That's whut he do, Mark," Job added. "I don't know how we air goin to fix up this love business."

"Neither do I. Where's Judy?"

"It's well you may ask whar she is, when you driv' her off that way," answered the old man.

"Who driv' her off?" Job exclaimed.

"Why, you and Mark thar, that's who. I begged you not to drink so much but you didn't pay no attention to me. You swore—both of you—that ef I didn't stand up here and marry Judy to the preacher you'd kill all of us and I jest had to do it and then you driv the bride and groom away and you ought to be ashamed of yo'selves."

Mark and Job remained silent, sitting over the fire for an hour at least, and then Mark, looking up, said:

"Job, I don't believe there's but one bigger fool than I am."

"Who's that Mark?"

"Both of us together."

"You air right, Mark. S'posen we saunter on down yander now an' fall offen the bluff."

OPIE P. READ.

Exercise and Perfect Rest.

There is no better preventive of nervous exhaustion than regular unhurried muscular exercise. If we could moderate our hurry, lessen our worry, and increase our open air exercise, a large proportion of nervous diseases would be abolished. For those who cannot get a sufficient holiday the best substitute is an occasional day in bed. Many whose nerves are constantly strained in their daily avocation have discovered this for themselves. A Spanish merchant in Barcelona told his medical man that he always went to bed for two or three days whenever he could be spared from his business, and he laughed at those who spent their holidays on toilsome mountains. One of the hardest worked women in England, who has for many years conducted a large wholesale business, retains excellent nerves at an advanced age, owing, it is believed, to her habit of taking one day a week in bed.

He Knew the Book.

Two men seated on a railway train fell into a pleasant conversation. "Speaking about books," said one of the men, a tall fellow with red hair, "have you read that wonderful novel, 'Sedge-Grass Ranch'?"

"No; is it good?"

"Finest thing I ever read in my life."

"Indeed."

"Yes, sir; one of the finest things in the English language."

"That's saying a great deal for an American novel."

"Yes, but I'm justified by the excellence of the book in making the assertion; and, as you are a reading man, I would advise you to buy it as soon as possible. Only cost you fifty cents. The train boy has the book, I think. Well, I must get off here. Good-bye."

"Good-bye. Say (addressing the conductor), who is that red-headed man?"

"I don't know his name," the conductor replied. "He's the author of a book called 'Sedge-Grass Ranch.'"

F. E. SPINNER, who was the United States Treasurer during the war and for many years after, is now eighty-eight years old. A cancer of the face is slowly eating away his life, and his sight is seriously impaired, yet he keeps up a correspondence with some of his old associates in the Treasury Department and shows the greatest interest in financial affairs.

FUN AND FRIVOLITY.

TRUTH told now does not shame the devil, but as a novelty it attracts his attention.

THE unmarried women of the country will undoubtedly be much interested in the work of the Patrons of Husbandry.

"IT is the partings in this world that give us pain," sadly sings a poet. It is the meetings, too. If you don't believe this ask the man who has a note to meet.

YOUNG man, do not be deceived. Your best girl doesn't care half so much about you getting a mustache raised as she does about your getting your salary raised.

A FLOATING newspaper paragraph says that a Halifax lady, aged eighty, has just begun taking piano lessons. Even the old and feeble can get square with their neighbors when they go about it right.

A LADY of Mississippi determined nine years ago never to marry a man who either smokes, drinks, swears, chews or uses slang. She is not married yet and thinks of making a compromise if she gets a chance.

"AND I want to say, 'To my husband,' in an appropriate place," said the widow, in conclusion, to Slab, the gravestone man. "Yessum," said Slab. And the inscription went on—"To my husband, in an appropriate place."

THE other day a teacher in a school showed a little girl a picture of a fan, and asked her what it was. The little girl didn't appear to know. "What does your mother do to keep her cool in hot weather?" asked the teacher. "Drink beer," was the prompt reply.

"BY the way," said a city belle to her country cousin, "send me a bouquet of golden-rod. I want to paint some." "There's no use in your trying to improve on it," was the reply; "nature did a mighty neat stroke of painting herself when she put the finishing touches on the golden-rod."

THREE different waiters at a Southern hotel asked a little, prim, precise Harvard professor at dinner in quick succession if he would have soup. A little annoyed, he said to the last waiter who asked: "Is it compulsory?" "No, sah," answered our friend and brother; "no, sah. I think it am mock turtle."

A SELMA (Ala.) man went into a store last week and put a lighted cigarette on the edge of an aquarium. A gold fish seized it and took a puff. For several days the poor thing lay at the bottom of the tank and panted like a tired dog. Its color changed to jet black, and the owner of that cigarette has sworn off for keeps.

HE—"And are you sure that I am the first and only man who ever kissed you?" She—"Of course I am sure. You do not doubt my word, do you?" He—"Of course I do not doubt your word, my darling. I love you too madly, too devotedly for that. But why, oh, why did you reach for the reins the very instant I ventured to put one arm around you if you had never been there before?"

A GASTRONOMICAL GRIST.

CHEESE is said to digest itself, but it is unwise to give it too much to operate upon.

CABBAGE, onions and cauliflower are three vegetables that usually announce themselves before dinner is served.

PATENT Office reports are not so tiresome as the everlasting articles in the press as to the "best way to cook terrapin."

IT becomes quite an interesting question how long hotels and restaurants can "keep" lobster salad in the convenient ice box.

ARTICLES attesting the efficacy of oysters and affirming the antiquity of their benefit to health are once more in circulation.

PRAIRIE chicken is game very much prized by our foreign visitors, some of whom never seem to have an "elegant sufficiency."

THE trouble with the baker's mince pie is that the ingredients are not of best quality, and kerosene seems to be used instead of brandy and sherry.

THAT ancient story of the unsophisticated woman who sent back her dish of stewed terrapin, with a request for "some of the breast," is on its rounds again.

AUTHORITIES on gastronomy often hold that the much boasted English turbot is not one whit better, if as good, as the ordinary American codfish. Both are coarse fish.

AS IF to vary the monotony somewhat the steward of a Philadelphia hotel has "capon salad" on the bill of fare, instead of chicken salad. There may be veal in it, too.

BITS FOR BACHELORS.

AGREE with the girl's father in politics and the mother in religion.

IF you have a rival keep an eye on him. If he is a widower keep two eyes on him.

DON'T put too much sweet stuff on paper. If you do you will hear it read in after years when your wife has some especial purpose in inflicting upon you the severest punishment known to a married man.

GO HOME at a reasonable hour in the evening. Don't wait until a girl has to throw her whole soul into a yawn that she can't cover with both hands. A little thing like that might cause a coolness at the very beginning of the game.

IF, on the occasion of your first call, the girl upon whom you have set your young affections looks like an iceberg and acts like a cold wave, take your leave early and stay away. Woman in her hour of dress is uncertain, coy and hard to please.

IN cold weather finish saying good-night in the house. Don't stretch it all the way to the front gate, and thus lay the foundation for future asthma, bronchitis, neuralgia, and chronic catarrh to help you to worry the girl to death after she has married.

DON'T lie about your financial condition. It is very annoying to a bride who has pictured a life of ease in her ancestral halls to learn too late that you expect her to ask a bald-headed parent who has been uniformly kind to her to take you out of the cold.

Who Would Be a Kaiser?

The longer that I live the more reason do I find to be thankful that I am neither a king nor a kaiser. The Emperor of Germany having paid a visit to the Emperor of Russia, the latter had to return it. At 10 o'clock a. m. he arrived at Berlin. His first business was to shake hands with a lot of generals and courtiers who were introduced to him, and to kiss the Emperor William. Then he drove through lanes of troops to the Russian embassy. But before entering he had to stand at the door for an hour to gaze on regiments marching past. After a hasty luncheon he paid a call on the Empress Augusta and the Empress Victoria. At six he dined at a gala dinner, and had to make a speech and to listen to one. After the dinner there was a "gala reception," with more introductions; and no sooner was this over than he was hurried off to a "gala representation" at the opera house. The next morning he had the pleasure of reading in his newspapers that no one at Berlin wanted him or thought much of him.

IT is thought washing the face in morning dew improves the complexion. Dew is distilled water; but being merely pure water it can not exercise any special influence on the skin. I am unwilling, however, to dispel this pleasing illusion, and therefore say: "By all means, young ladies, wash your faces in the morning dew, in full belief of its efficacy. To do so you must rise early and breathe the pure morning air; this will benefit your health, and no doubt your complexion at the same time." This is undoubtedly the lesson intended to be inculcated.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE. | A. L. FORCE.
Editors and Proprietors.

SILENT INFLUENCE.

Silent influence is most powerful.

The man who exemplifies in his every day walk and conversation the realities of Christianity, and who unostentatiously carries into practice at all times and with all people the cardinal virtues of honor, honesty, benevolence and self-control, exerts an influence for lasting good which cannot be overestimated.

The life actions of such a man bear with them and scatter broadcast a convincing power far greater than eloquent speech or high-vaunting profession can possibly accomplish.

He lives not for self alone, but for God and humanity, and his example, ever constant and sincere, instinctively leads others to imitate it.

Influence of like character attaches to nations as well as to individuals.

Our own country instances that. Here the grand problem of free representative government has been on trial for a hundred years, and instead of falling to pieces, as its enemies confidently predicted, it has strengthened and safely expanded, and practically fulfilled the designs of its illustrious founders. Here full liberty of conscience holds sway, every citizen stands equal before the majesty of law, and quietly as snowflakes fall upon the sod the people make and unmake administrations, while everywhere the functions of popular sovereignty go on without jar or hindrance.

That is an influence silent and mighty.

It permeates the remotest sections of earth, and no person can tell how far or what may be its resulting efforts.

The entire continent of America, with the exception of Canada and a few isolated foreign coast dependencies is now under the governmental authority of Republics.

The silent influence of the American Union has spread the wide world over.

The people of all nations reverence its established repute. Even in Russia, notwithstanding the Czar's iron despotism, the spirit of Republicanism is taking deep and growing root in the hearts of the down-trodden masses, and in England, the same spirit has become formidable enough to threaten the overthrow of the ancient House of Lords and other aristocratic prerogatives, while throughout Germany, Spain, Portugal and Italy, the people are earnestly [illegible] and hopefully appreciating Freedom's glories in the great Republic of the West.

Silent influence is a conquering force.

IT'S ALL OVER THE STATE.

How Other Papers Comment on the [illegible] and Effect of Last Tuesday's Election.

The Bound Brook Chronicle of yesterday says: "After a year of 'Prohibition which didn't prohibit,' but rather multiplied the free and easy sale of rum, Plainfield has returned to its first love and on Tuesday elected a pronounced high license Council."

And the Somerville Democrat makes, as usual, the most accurate statement of all in these words: "At the City election held in Plainfield on Tuesday, seven Councilmen were elected who are in favor of license. The Council now stands 8 to 3 in favor of license. Plainfield, under the no-license rule of the past year, has had sixty-three places selling liquor against thirteen saloons under the license reign of the preceding year. The Council is now composed of 7 Republicans and 4 Democrats."

PROHIBITION TO RESTRICTION.

No License in Plainfield Increased the Sale of Liquor.

The Elizabeth Journal says, editorially: "The election in Plainfield has resulted in what is generally understood to be a high license victory. The city has been under a no-license regime for the past year, but not by reason of the prohibition sentiment in Council or among the people. The voters last year elected a majority of men who favored granting licenses, but a squabble arose over the licensing of certain places, and the license men became divided on the subject. Thus the license vote was split, and neither side would yield to the other. As a result, no licenses were granted at all, but the prohibition was merely nominal, since it was not backed by a majority in Council or in the city at large.

"This condition of affairs has, according to some of the Plainfield papers, resulted in the sale of liquor in scores of places, and instead of acting as a restraint that has increased the sale and consumption of liquors of all kinds. On Tuesday last the anti-license vote fell from [illegible] of former years to 185. With so pronounced a victory for high license and with so strong a public sentiment to back it, there is little doubt that Plainfield will give a far more thorough test to high license than ever, and with far more satisfactory results than were obtained last year."

Roman Catholic Bank Scheme.

The New York Herald has been instrumental in exposing the alleged Roman Catholic Bank scheme, which Count [illegible] has been trying to spring on this country with a capital stock of $[illegible],000. In referring to the matter today, the Herald says:

"Among those who had been brought to consider the matter was General W. P. [illegible], of Plainfield, N. J. General [illegible] said last night that his information was given him in the strictest confidence and that it would greatly embarrass him to comment on the subject at this time. 'One thing is certain,' he added, 'the movement is not approved by the high officials in Rome. Later on, however, I shall be at liberty to give all the information I possess.'"

Favors New York.

The New Jersey delegation in Congress has been asked its views as to the proper place in which to hold the World's Fair. Senator McPherson favors New York. Senator Blodgett has not been heard from. The members of the House stand as follows: Messrs Geissenhainer, Fowler, Lehlbach and McAdoo are for New York. Buchanan and Bergen are noncommittal, while Mr. Beckwith is in favor of Washington, "because it is the capital of our country."

Malicious Business.

The practice of defacing show bills and posters which adorn the bill boards and fences about this city and North Plainfield, is on the increase. Boys who are bent upon destroying personal property should remember that defacing any bill, show or other bills comes under the head of malicious mischief, and is punishable by a fine or imprisonment.

—A steam roller is now used to crush down the crushed stone which is being put on the county roads.

SHOULD GUNS BE TAXED?

A Move in this State to Raise a Fund for the Paying of Gamekeepers.

A matter of much interest to gunners is to be brought before the New Jersey Legislature this Winter by the New Jersey Game and Fish Protective Society. This organization whose headquarters are in this city and whose officers are all prominent Plainfielders, includes a very large proportion of the Jersey shooting men who observe the game laws, and has decided to urge the passage of a law to tax guns and rifles, and devote the money obtained from the tax to hiring efficient game protectors, who will give their time to preserving the peace of cities.

President Percy C. Ohl, of the society, said to a reporter recently: "From my experience as an officer of the society I can say positively that since we have succeeded to a certain extent in enforcing the game laws in New Jersey the number of quail has increased. Protection of the native birds is much better than propagation. In the more thickly settled parts of the State, where the laws are the more efficiently enforced, the increase of game has been greatest.

"The men who are most anxious to have the game laws enforced are the sportsmen, and they are or ought to be willing to foot the bills. We have game constables everywhere now, and at first thought one might say that if they won't see to their business no one will. But in New Jersey no game constable can make over $50 a year out of it. The constables are usually respectable farmers. The poachers simply defy them by saying that if arrested somebody's barn will be burned. Such threats as these have been carried out occasionally, and the ordinary peace-loving citizen does not like to get the lawless gang of poachers in his county down on him.

"But if we had the funds to hire a company of active young men, who would get their living as officers of the game laws, and whom we could send from one part of the State to another and come down on the rascals when they least expected it, we could practically destroy the poacher's lawless occupation."

"I am in favor of taxing every sort of gun—Flobert's and rebored muskets as well as the rest—$2 per year. If a man can afford the money to buy a gun and ammunition and time to go a-shooting he can afford $2 a year more for the pleasure of doing so. A tax of that amount would yield from $50,000 to $75,000 a year, and that would hire an ample corps of efficient game protectors.

"An instance of what may be done in preserving fish came under my own observation. There was a gang of men openly seining the bass and shad out of the Raritan River at the dam. They were making a lot of money out of it, and they publicly threatened to hang the skin of any one who interfered with them on the nearest stake-and-rider fence. The game constable did not dare to molest them, so I sent a man to get evidence and make complaint, so that warrants could be issued. It was no trouble to get evidence, even when the poachers learned that they were to be prosecuted. They simply said they would kill any one who interfered.

"Of course that was all chaff. They did not mean to kill. We arrested them, and they were fined, and the fish now spawn unmolested, and every one who wishes can now fish in peace, and get plenty if he will fish according to law.

"Artificial propagation is an excellent thing when rightly managed, providing the game can be protected during certain seasons, but without that protection all efforts at restocking will be useless. I have myself had a hand in turning out some 15,000 quail in New Jersey, and of that number not one, probably, remains alive. And yet, in districts where the law is strictly enforced, the birds are rapidly increasing in number with artificial propagation."

THE CASE OF MR. RICE AND MR. SHOTWELL.

An Award Made Simply Because of Neglect by the Latter.

Below THE PRESS presents a copy of the award made by James McGee, Isaac W. Pangborn and Geo. C. Martin in the R. W. Rice & Co.—Shotwell matter. A careful perusal of which will show that the award is made, not because of default on the part of Wm. H. Shotwell but because of neglect in detecting the supposed default of others in the employ of Rice & Co.

The matter is not yet ended as Mr. Shotwell has retained able counsel to look after his interests and further developments may soon be looked for.

Award between R. W. Rice & Co., and Wm. H. Shotwell, made this thirtieth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and eighty nine.

The aforesaid parties having by their agreement made on the nineteenth day of August last, mutually agreed to submit all matters in dispute between them to the award and final determination of James McGee and I. W. Pangborn, and such third person as they shall name and appoint, and the said James McGee and I. W. Pangborn having named and appointed Geo. C. Martin to be such third person, and the said arbitrators having been first duly sworn faithfully and fairly to hear and examine the matters in difference between the said parties and make a just and true award according to the best of their skill and understanding, and having heard the allegations and proofs of the parties and considered the same, we, the subscribers, the said arbitrators, do hereby make and publish our award of and concerning the matters to the said arbitrators submitted as follows:

WHEREAS, The said R. W. Rice & Co., did make claim that their business had been damaged by the neglect of said Wm. H. Shotwell as well as by the neglect and default of Freeman Shotwell, Sr., and Smith Garretson for whose neglect and default said R. W. Rice & Co., claim that said Wm. H. Shotwell should be responsible, therefore:

First, We do award that the said Wm. H. Shotwell shall pay to the said R. W. Rice & Co., the sum of one thousand dollars on or before the seventh day of December next.

Secondly, We do award that the said sum is in full discharge and satisfaction of all claims or demands of said R. W. Rice & Co., against said Wm. H. Shotwell, Freeman Shotwell, Sr., and Smith Garretson, by reason of the neglect or default of either or of all of them; but said award is in no way intended to affect or invalidate any outstanding written contracts or bonds and mortgages heretofore entered into by either of said parties with the other.

In witness whereof we have hereto set our hands and seals the day and year first aforesaid.

Signed,
JAMES MCGEE,
ISAAC W. PANGBORN,
GEORGE C. MARTIN.

Dec. 7, 1889. Received of Wm. H. Shotwell the sum of one thousand dollars in full of above award.

Signed,
R. W. RICE & CO.
per R. W. RICE.

Plainfield Jurymen.

The members of the petit jury drawn at Elizabeth, on Tuesday, from this city, were: Edw. Willis, Jr., James G. [illegible], Wm. E. Alpaugh and John M. [illegible].

Seductive Influence.

DR. FLINT'S REMEDY, by its sedative influence over the nervous system, is one of the best remedies that can be used. Descriptive treatise with each bottle; or address Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

DOWN WENT THE NAMELESS.

By the Bowlers of the South—They Are Only Third in the Bowling Tournament, Now.

The tenth game for the championship of Union county, was bowled at Westfield last evening, and the mighty Nameless team dropped to third place. They were the favorites at the opening of the tournament and led at the start, but the Plainfield novices clipped their wings, and they have not won a game since.

Last night's roll was probably the most exciting of the series. Both clubs wanted the victory, and wanted it bad. The Nameless knew if they lost that they had no chance to finish ahead of Elizabeth; and the Mondays wanted to win and wrest second place from their local rivals. The tale of the frames below is an interesting one. The Nameless bowlers finished the first frame 50 pins ahead, jumped to a lead of 69 in the next, dropped to 30 in the fourth, and went up again to 44 the best in the fifth.

But in the ninth the two teams tied at 1318, and the battle of the tenth frame was a terribly exciting one. The Mondays had the sand, however, and scored 168 on the wind up to 149 by the Nameless. The score was:

MONDAYS.

	S.	S.	B.	Score.
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
A. W. Reese	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Force	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Wilcox	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Seely	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
				1486

NAMELESS.

	S.	S.	B.	Score.
Young	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Marsh	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Schmidt	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Manning	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Everett	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Sandford	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
				1467

Mondays . [illegible] 1318 1486
Nameless . [illegible] 1318 1467

The record now stands:

	WON.	LOST.
Elizabeth Athletic Club	3	1
Monday of Westfield	3	1
Nameless " "	2	2
Crescent of Plainfield	1	3
Pastime of Westfield	1	3

THE OPENING [illegible].

A Brilliant Success at Seminary Hall, Monday Night.

The first of a series of four Assembly balls to be given at Seminary Hall, during this season, took place on Monday. It was a brilliant affair throughout, and creditable to the patronesses: Mrs. William Bloodgood, Mrs. Robert L. Burnett, Mrs. Charles E. Brooks, Mrs. Harry G. Runkle, Mrs. Pliny Fisk, Mrs. William T. Kaufman, Mrs. Frederick J. Kuhne, Mrs. Dewitt C. Ivins.

One hundred and twenty-five acceptances had been received, and the attendance included the very elite. The music by Dodworth, and supper by Marcel, left nothing to be desired. After supper the cotillion was danced.

REGENT CONKLIN

And Other New Officers of the Royal Arcanum.

At a regular meeting of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, held Monday evening, at their rooms, 12 East Front street, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Regent—E. W. Conklin.
Vice Regent—Seymour Marsh.
Past Regent—A. W. Rand.
Orator—S. C. Baker.
Secretary—H. A. Thorne.
Collector—L. M. Stover.
Treasurer—W. J. Leonard.
Chaplain—A. W. [illegible].
Guide—F. A. Emmons.
Warden—J. F. Buckle.
Sentry—Garret VanWinkle.
Organist—C. W. Kellogg.
Trustees—A. Swain, E. M. Stover, W. J. Ford.
Representative to Grand Council—A. W. Rand.
Alternate—W. J. Leonard.

Serious Runaway and Smashup at Washingtonville.

Last Saturday morning, Mr. Sebring of Bound Brook, with Mr. Peter Winans of Warrenville, were driving towards this city along the main road leading through the Valley, and when about opposite Mr. Truman Bilyeu's residence a bolt broke, letting the shafts drop on the horse's heels. This so startled the animal that he sprang wildly forward drawing the carriage by one shaft. Under such conditions it was impossible to check the horse's speed by the lines, so Mr. Sebring leaned over the side of the wagon and grasped one of the front wheels, holding the reins in his other hand.

In this position they sped down the road—which is quite a steep grade in some places—for almost half a mile, when the strain on Mr. Sebring was so great that he was forced to let go of the wheel. A telegraph pole close to the road was in dangerous proximity, and towards it the horse ran at full speed. The collision was so great as to throw both men out and tear the top off the buggy. Mr. Sebring struck on a sharp stone, cutting a deep gash under his chin and leaving the jaw bone exposed, besides skinning his nose on both sides. Mr. Winans had a piece cut clean out of the palm of his hand, about the size of a quarter of a dollar. Being an old man he could not jump when he saw his danger, so he was terribly bruised by the fall. Mr. Winans is the father of the Prohibition candidate for Assembly.

The horse unrestrained ran on with the running gear of the carriage to Demler's Hotel, striking some hitching posts there with such force as to complete the wreck. Three wheels were broken and the axles bent all out of shape. The horse by striking a post was thrown to the ground when he was quickly caught.

The now bruised and cut men made their way to the hotel where they received the kindest of treatment, every thing being done to stop the blood which was flowing from Mr. Sebring's mouth. After washing the wound court-plaster was placed over it in such a way as to enable him to go on his way home. The horse is cut up very badly about the legs.

Mr. Sebring came up yesterday to see if the wreck, as he told a PRESS reporter, was worth bringing home. He says he has a severe pain across his chest. He must have thought part of the wreck at least was not worth removing, as the carriage top still remains in the bushes where it lodged when telescoped by the telegraph pole.

Election of Officers.

The annual election of officers to serve Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., for the ensuing year, was held in the post room, on Tuesday, with the following result:

Commander—Isaac Brokaw.
Senior Vice Commander—Charles B. Stevens.
Junior Vice Commander—Wm. B. Moore.
Quartermaster—S. C. Terry.
Surgeon—Wm. E. Northrup.
Chaplain—John A. Goodwin.
Officer of the Day—J. McVey.
Officer of the Guard—Wm. H. Day.
Council of Administration—W. E. Northrup, M. C. Dobbins, Wm. Hand, Jno. Ransome.
Delegates to Department Encampment—Wm. C. Smith, Israel Compton.
Alternates—Abram King, Thomas Ran[illegible].

No Rival in the Field.

There is no remedy which can rival HAMBURG FIGS for the cure of habitual indigestion and sick-headache. Their action is so prompt and efficient as their taste is pleasant. 25c. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

AN EX-COUNCILMAN TURNED NOVELIST.

Mr. Isaac W. Rushmore Writes a True Story With a Purpose.

The following tale, the hero of which is a resident of Plainfield today, is written by ex-Councilman Isaac W. Rushmore, of Union avenue, President of the Home Building and Loan Association of this city. The figures it quotes are furnished by Secretary S. R. Struthers. Mr. Rushmore's first effort proves he possesses the required power to interest his readers from the very beginning and hold their wrapped attention until the moral is reached.

Here is the story:

Some ten or twelve years ago two young workingmen were sitting in a saloon in the city of Philadelphia, drinking beer and smoking cigars. After awhile their conversation bore upon the way they were getting on in the world. Both were receiving good wages, and both had young families to support, but neither were laying aside anything to fall back upon, in case of sickness, loss of work or old age. In fact the thought had hardly occurred to them. They regularly paid their house rent and family expenses, they drank or smoked as much as they liked, and thought nothing of spending ten, twenty or thirty cents per day for useless things they would have done better to avoid. Said one, "I have been thinking of late how different it is with men in regard to accumulating property. I work hard and get good wages. I do not think my wife or myself are extravagant, yet we are only able to make ends meet. I love my family and I begin to feel the importance of laying up something for them. If I should lose my job in a dull time or be taken sick and all income stop, what would we do? I had almost as soon die as be supported by charity. I am too independent for that, yet how can I better my condition, is the question." The other replied, "I have been thinking of the same thing lately, and I can come no nearer solving the question than you have. I begin to feel very uneasy about it. If I only had a home of my own we could manage to get enough to eat and clothes to wear, come what might. I'll tell you what we had better do. There is Joe Stephenson, whom we have always known; he has never received as good wages as we have but he has just as large a family to support, yet he is his own landlord, has a home of his own, and nearly all paid for. Just think of it! No rent to pay! Suppose we go right over and call on Joe, and see if we can get some information." Over they went, and rang the bell. Joe met them at the door. "Come right in," he said in his whole souled way, "I am glad to see you," and offered them chairs. Soon after the three were seated the conversation turned upon economic questions. "Joe," one of the visitors said, "Tom and I have been thinking on a subject that concerns us very much, but I am sorry to say, the problem is more than we can manage. We thought best to call over and see if you could help us. We are both very anxious to have homes of our own, and stop paying rent; in other words we do not want to work and drudge all our lives and at last end up in the poor house. You know you have as large a family to support as we have; you have never received as much wages, yet you have a home of your own and nearly paid for. How do you do it; we would like to know?"

"Well," Joe said, "that is easy enough, just as easy as rolling off a log. You know we used to travel together before we were married, and we spent all our money having a good time. We smoked and drank together, went to concerts and theatres, had fine clothes, and thought we were enjoying ourselves. After I got married, I made up my mind that I would change my manner of living; but bear in mind we have always lived well, had good substantial food to eat, and clothes to wear, but the money I used to spend in drinking and smoking has bought me a home, yes, bought me a home! I have it nearly paid for, too, only lacking about $100."

"Is that so!" both of his friends exclaimed, "can that be possible! How did you do it?"

"Well, I'll tell you. I joined a Building and Loan Association. I found that 20 cents per day for 25 working days, amounted to $5 per month. That sum I invested in five shares of stock. Each month I paid the $5. In five and a half years I had $400 to my credit. This amount I withdrew and subscribed at once for seven shares of a new series. Then I bought a house and lot for $1,800, borrow $1,400 from the Association. I then ceased paying $15 per month rent, and paid to the Association as follows, per month:

Shares of $1, per month, per share	$7.00
Interest on $1,400, at 6 per cent annum	$7.00
Premium, say	3.00
Total	$17.00

Besides this payment to the Association my taxes, insurance, and repairs amounted to say $3 per month, making my house cost me $20 per month. That was ten years ago; my house, as I said before, is nearly paid for. It has been done so easily, I have hardly felt it, and I find my health is much better since leaving off the use of beer, liquor, and tobacco; in fact I feel happy all over. No landlord can put my things in the street for not paying rent!"

Tom and his friend eyed each other significantly, a new light had dawned upon them. They involuntarily grasped each other by the hand. "Let us do as Joe has done," cried Tom, "we should have commenced when he did." "I feel like kicking myself for losing so much valuable time. However, it is not too late yet. Joe, have you a copy of the constitution and by-laws of your Association. I would like to see it?"

The book was produced, and Tom and his friend Ben read it over. "Look here, Joe," they said, "we want you to explain everything to us; what does it mean in Article 17, Section 3? 'The minimum interest for loans shall be one dollar per month per share, and the premium bid shall be an additional amount per share.' That seems like a high rate of interest!" "Oh, no!" said Joe, "they call it interest, but much of it goes toward reducing the sum you have borrowed, so that in about eleven years you have nothing more to pay, your home is free and clear." "How about the premiums. Suppose we pay 25 cents per share, is not that paying a high rate?" "Not at all," said Joe, "that is low when you consider it goes toward swelling the profits of the Association, and as each borrower participates in the profits, it helps to reduce the interest to about five per cent. per annum. The higher the premiums paid, the sooner your home will be paid for." "Well, how about Article 15, on Withdrawals. Suppose we should not be able to pay our dues would we lose what money we had paid in?" "No," said Joe, "you can withdraw all you have paid in by giving one month's notice. After the first year, you get four per cent., but even during the first year you can generally sell your stock and get interest also. During the third year you get five per cent. interest, should you withdraw, and after that time a full share in the net profits. If you have borrowed money to purchase property, and cease to pay, at the end of six months the Association will sell it, and you would have to stand any loss that was made, but you would also receive all the profits in case it sold for more than cost."

"We see in Section 7, on Loans, a shareholder can borrow on his stock if he does not wish to sell or withdraw." "Yes, he may borrow ninety per cent. of the value of his shares, which might come very handy sometimes, to tide him over a tight place."

"We see in Section 8, 'A borrower may repay a loan or any part thereof, in case he has the money, but not in sums less than $200,' that is good."

Joe also told them how Building and Loan Associations favored men of small means, by loaning so much more than any individual or institution would, because each monthly payment helps to reduce the principal, and makes the loan safer. A man can buy property with but very little money, and get the benefit of the rise in value in a neighborhood.

* * * * *

Monday night the three men met again. Ben subscribed for ten shares of the stock in the Association where Joe had his money invested, and Tom took five shares.

Ten years passed, and with it came some changes.

Ben lost his situation through his employers failing. He shortly after left Philadelphia, and Tom and Joe lost all trace of him. Recently hearing he was located in Plainfield, New Jersey, they determined to go and see him, and learn how he was getting on. They soon found him in one of the machine shops. The meeting was a very pleasant one, and a great surprise to Ben, so he took a half day off to entertain his old friends. After dinner, Tom remarked, "Ben, you have a very comfortable home here, do you own it?" "Yes," said Ben, "I bought it about a year ago. I borrowed most of the money from the Home Building and Loan Association."

"Then you have such Institutions here, do you?" "Oh yes, we have two," Ben answered. "The one I am with started a year ago last April." "Is it a good concern?" "Yes, indeed. The President and officers have the reputation of being honest and conservative business men. They seem to take so much interest, the Association is bound to succeed." "By the way," said Tom, "I believe you are still a member of our old Association." "Yes," replied Ben, "when I left Philadelphia I rented my house, and used the rent in paying dues; the house will soon be clear, and a fine property it is. You speak of 'Our' Association; are you still a member?"

"I am that," the other answered, "you know I subscribed for five shares at first. Well, I soon found I could carry ten shares. I have as good a home as a man need wish, with but little more to pay upon it. I tell you what, Ben, it was a lucky thing for us we called that evening upon Joe; his talk with us changed our whole lives. Where can you find three healthier or happier men than we? We not only enjoy life in a sensible way, but we now have something to depend on, in case of sickness or accident." Joe spoke up, "Yes, I feel I did you a good turn that night, as I have done to many others whom I have influenced. Talk is necessary to convince a man, but it does not go half as far as example. You could see what I had done, and how my life and character were changing for the better. Nearly every one can do as we have if they choose. 'You cannot eat your cake and have it too.' You cannot spend all your money in indulgence and expect to get ahead. Nearly all the poverty and misery in this country is brought on by the sufferers themselves. But here, you will think I am preaching a sermon." "Not at all," said Ben, "I like to hear you talk that way, for it is as true as the gospel. But, Joe, Tom and I have been talking so much, you have not had a chance to tell me how you have been doing. I presume you still stick to the old Association?" "Oh yes," said Joe, "that has been the ladder up which I have climbed to my present condition. You know when you left Philadelphia my house had been about paid for; well, I continued right along, paying $17 per month, which gave me seventeen shares of stock. In two years and a half I had $500, which I used in buying another house for $1,800. I rented it for $15 per month, leaving still $12 per month from my savings to accumulate. In three and one half years this amounted to $500 again, and I bought a third house on about the same terms, so that now I have three houses—one paid for, two nearly paying for themselves, and I have seven shares accumulating which I may use for other investments."

"How's that?" said Tom, "oh, I see now, if you had continued to hire your house, you would have paid $15 a month, but when you bought, you paid this money to the Association, and all that you used besides this was the twenty cents a day over and above what you would have paid for rent, and now you have three nice houses, one free of debt, the others nearly so. Just think of it!"

Here we will let the curtain drop. Enough has been said to convince any reader that the lives of these men have been successful, but not more so than the average man can make his, if he so chooses.

Building and Loan Associations, where they have been well managed, have helped to raise men from poverty to prosperity by small savings, and their lives and those of their families have been made better and happier. If this story is instrumental in aiding some poor man to get a home of his own, through some Building and Loan Association, its object will be attained.

A Chance For All to Help.

If you have any warm clothing to spare, suitable for a woman, a full grown girl and a boy, or for smaller ones, send it to Mrs. Forrester, 218 Grove street. She needs it and is worthy of it.

A Financial Success.

The sale of fancy goods, home-made candies, etc., by the Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, held in the church parlors on Thursday afternoon and evening of last week, was a pronounced success, both from a financial and social point of view. The efforts of the ladies were rewarded to the extent of $350—the net proceeds from the fair.

A "Stab in the Back."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS: Will you allow me a small space in your valuable paper to let honest Republicans know that the communication in the daily snooze Friday evening in relation to the license question, is but a stab in the dark at the Hon. John Ulrich, to injure his chance of nomination for the Senatorship next Fall. I think that the Councilmen elected by the citizens of Plainfield have the interests of the citizens more at heart than to injure the City thousands of dollars and to throw a dozen taxpayers out of business, simply to spite Mr. Miller because he did not see fit to support the Republican nominee for Assembly.

A TAXPAYER.

A Plainfielder Implicated.

The Mamie Hughes abduction case of New Brunswick, has developed a great deal of faking on the part of some of the New York newspaper reporters, who have interwoven the mystery surrounding the Forote family with the murder of the girl found at Rahway. The story was told in Saturday's PRESS.

But it appears that the Forote family are not exempt from crime, as the following will attest, from the New Brunswick Fredonian of Saturday:

"Two years ago Jennie Monaelle, daughter of the safe maker of that name, residing between Plainfield and New Market, was forcibly detained seven months by the Forote family, and William Forote became enamored of her. She was abused and eventually escaped and walked through the woods to her home."

—The City Council for 1889, will meet and transact its final business on Monday the 23d instant.

READ SOME OTHER PAPER.

A Correspondent Who [illegible] Slander to [illegible] Over, in the [illegible] Shop.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS—No reflection need be inferred if we suggest that other than churchmen on the committee of arbitration in the Rice-Shotwell case, might have made it more clear to the public what in their judgment the one thousand dollars was for. The case has stirred up some interest but without facts from reliable sources that will satisfy, beyond much imputation of crime and defalcation divided between several parties. We claim a right to know since the matter has become public property.

Respectfully,
CITIZEN.

A VARIED FABRICATOR.

The "News" Stealing Baking Powder Ideas to Falsify Its Betters With.

In the news of Nov. 4, appeared the following bare-faced fabrication. It was published with the wilful intention of misleading those who read it. Rowell & Co's denial, also given below, brands the paper as a falsifier in one more of the many lines it has chosen for its dishonest methods of journalism.

This is what the news said:

We have received advance sheets of Rowell's Newspaper Directory. It is assumed to be an authority on newspapers, and is probably as nearly correct as it is possible to be, though sometimes otherwise. When it places the relative value of the Plainfield newspapers thus it accords with the experience of our local merchants, and, of course, must be correct:

News
Press
Times

"Nuf sed."

The above article was sent to Messrs Rowell & Co., and they wrote back as follows:

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 1889.

Publisher of Press, Plainfield, N. J. We have referred to the article you send, and as far as we can find out that system of comparison is the publisher's own. He evidently got the idea from an advertisement of the Royal Baking Powder Co. in which they assumed to give the relative value of the different Baking Powders by lines.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.

BISHOP SCARBOROUGH'S INSTITUTE.

An Organization That Will Greatly Assist Sunday School Work.

A fuller account than that which THE PRESS published of the proceedings of the Sunday School Institute, which held its first meeting in Trinity church, Elizabeth, on Thursday, may be of interest to Sunday School workers.

The meeting was called to inaugurate an Institute for the benefit of teachers in this diocese. The Bishop gave it his hearty approval and appointed the Rev. E. M. Rodman, Vice President, and the Rev. E. P. Miller, Secretary. The Rev. F. J. C. Moran, the General Secretary, was present and fully explained the object and plan of the Institution.

A paper on "The Difficulties of Sunday School Work," was read by the Rev. E. B. Joyce of New Brunswick, and an address on "The Teacher's Preparation," was delivered by the Rev. Pascal Harrower, of Staten Island. In the afternoon the Rev. F. M. McAllister made an address on Sunday work and the children had their hour, being addressed by the Revs. Moran, Malcom and Miller.

At the ensuing session, to crown a most successful day's work, Messrs Geo. C. Thomas and Rork, Superintendent and Associate Superintendent of the Sunday School of the Church of the Holy Apostles, Philadelphia, delivered addresses, and the Rev. J. Sanders Reed closed with an admirable speech on the history of the Sunday School, tracing it not from Robt. Raikes, but from Moses and the synagogue.

Steps are to be taken at once to hold another meeting on the other side of the diocese and to complete the organization, which will be undoubtedly a great help to Sunday school work.

VanWinkle Won the Prize.

There was a spirited contest in the Crescent League alleys, Tuesday, for a prize ball offered by Mr. Aaron Kline to the member making the most spares in ten frames. The result was: VanWinkle, 7; Baker, 6; Thiers, 6.

Reform Hall.

An appreciative audience occupied seats in Reform Hall Sunday night. President Harper presided, and Mr. Eden Boice conducted the devotional services. In the absence of Mr. Vanderbeek, Mrs. King very creditably led the choir music, with Miss Alice Smith as organist.

After a few preliminary remarks by the President, Messrs Geo. M. Angleman and Wm. B. Ayres delivered practical and highly interesting addresses. Both gentlemen spoke of the terrible ravages of liquor and portrayed the happy and priceless results of total abstinence. They were listened to with close attention.

The President called attention to the Mothers' Meeting held by the Woman's Temperance Aid Society in Reform Hall, Tuesday afternoons, at 3 o'clock, and after offering the pledge, with a response, the assemblage dispersed.

Funeral of Mary Jane Field.

The funeral service over the remains of the late Friend Mary Jane Field, who died on Friday, took place from the Friends' meeting house, corner of Peace and Third streets, Monday afternoon at half-past two o'clock. The quaint and ancient looking structure wherein the service was held, was hardly large enough to accommodate the vast number of relatives and near friends of the deceased, who had gathered for the last time to pay their respects to her memory.

Among those who spoke in eulogistic terms of the deceased were Friend Robert Haviland, of Chappaqua, N. Y., Friend S. B. Haines, of New York, Friend Elizabeth Thistlewait of this city, and Friend Elizabeth Haviland, of Brooklyn.

The pallbearers were: A. M. Griffin, George M. Griffin, Chas. H. Griffin, Townsend Rushmore, Robert Rushmore and Robinson Pound all but the last being grand nephews of the deceased. At the close of the service the body was interred in the Friends' burying ground adjoining the meeting house.

Unsatisfactory Result of a Horse Trade.

The Advertiser of Newark, said Tuesday:

"On Saturday evening last Norman Jones, a horse jockey, living at No. 18 Lum street, was arrested and held to bail by Justice Otto, on the charge of having swindled George Salter, of Plainfield, in a horse trade. Monday Jones made a counter charge of breaking and entering against Salter before Justice Sommers, and Salter was arrested and held to bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. Jones made affidavit that after he had traded with Salter, and placed the horse he had secured in the deal in the stable of Grocer Munn, at No. 441 Washington street, Salter forced an entrance to the stable and was taking his newly acquired horse away, when he was stopped and compelled to surrender the horse. The whole business seems to be a case of 'diamond cut diamond,' or the result of sharp practice on the part of at least one of the parties to the transaction. Jones claims that he told Salter, the horse for which he traded was balky, but that in other respects he was all right, and Salter claims that the horse was not only balky, but absolutely worthless. The Grand Jury will probably investigate the matter in the course of two or three weeks."

The harsh, drastic purgatives, once deemed so indispensable, have given place to milder and more skillfully prepared laxatives; hence the great and growing demand for Ayer's Pills. Physicians everywhere recommend them for indigestion, and liver complaints.

BOROUGH COUNCIL MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Borough Council was held on Friday, with Mayor Cooley in the chair. The other members present were: Messrs Buckle, Emmons, McGee, Needham and Smalley. The minutes of the last meeting were read approved.

A petition was received from Summit avenue property owners, asking Council to accept part of that thoroughfare, so as to extend the avenue to Westervelt avenue. Referred to the Street Committee.

The Collector's report showed a total collection of the 1887 taxes up to date as $2,644.92. The total collection of the taxes for 1888 thus far amounts to $7,660.53, and the taxes for 1889 collected up to date are as follows:

Borough	$166 55
Lights	499 63
Roads	416 36
Fire Department	145 73
Board of Health	41.64
Total	$1,269 91

Claims were presented and referred as follows: N. Y. & N. J. Globe Gaslight Co., $269.36 and $269.36; Alex. Thorn, $4.25; J. J. Heideloff, $3 65; Thos. McDonald, $2 28 and $37.50; H. W. Pangborn, $2; T. W. Morrison, $7.25; P. Kelleher, $6 25; W. Pangborn, $7; L. Conrad, $3; H. N. Spencer, $7.24 and $41.41.

Mr. McGee from the Fire, Water and Lamps Committee, submitted a contract, in blank form, for the renewal of the street lighting contract. The committee also reported favorably upon a former petition of Mr. Wm. P. Tallman and others asking for two additional street lights, and recommended that the petition be granted, the lamps to be ready for lighting with the beginning of the new contract.

In connection with the Committee's report Mr. McGee read a letter from the N. Y. & N. J. Globe Gaslight Company, in which the company stated that a rebate of 75 cents per lamp would be given to the Borough, according to the agreement, that in case the Borough contracted for three successive years, the rates would be $17 per lamp per year instead of $17.75, the first and second year rates. The report was received and filed.

The Street Committee reported having turnpiked Green Brook road twice from Somerset street to Madison avenue; crosswalks have been laid on Grand View and Jackson avenues and on Somerset street, and other necessary repairs have been made to the streets. The report was filed.

Mr. McGee introduced a resolution, which prevailed, authorizing the Mayor and Clerk to draw warrants for the payment of the following notes falling due: Dec. 20, 1889—$800 on the Road fund; Dec. 20, 1889—$1,500 on the Light account; Jan. 1, 1890—$800 on the Road account; Dec. 31, 1889—$1,000 on the Light account; Jan. 1, 1890—$500 on the Fire Department fund. Provision was also made for the payment of $87.50, interest due Jan. 1, on the Fire Department account.

Mr. McGee offered a resolution authorizing and empowering the Mayor and Clerk to execute the street lighting contract for one year from Jan 1, next. It was adopted.

A resolution by Mr. Emmons, appointing Richard McDonald a special Marshal, prevailed.

Mr. Smalley introduced a resolution notifying Thos. Kenna, that unless he lay a walk in front of his premises on the northerly side of Manning avenue, within thirty days, the borough will proceed to lay the walk. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Buckle offered a resolution, which was lost, asking for the reconsideration of the resolution adopted at the last meeting, compelling Mr. J. F. Merritt to lay about 600 feet of sidewalk along his unimproved property on Westervelt avenue.

This brought forth considerable discussion. Mr. Buckle thought it unjust to compel Mr. Merritt to lay the walk since there are no other sidewalks beyond that point; he was of the opinion that the Borough would get into trouble if Mr. Merritt was forced to lay the walk.

Mr Smalley said he thought the sidewalk was just as much a necessity now as ever, and he should therefore vote against the above resolution.

Mayor Cooley stated that he had sent an official notice to Mr. Merritt, but the latter had failed to recognize it. After some further discussion on the subject, the Auditing Committee reported on the claims sent in during the evening, and Council adjourned.

The First Concert.

Thomas orchestra and the Plainfield Choral Union, will give the first of their series of three subscription concerts, on Thursday evening, January 2, at Music Hall.

The entire second part of the programme will be taken up by the rendition of that beautiful musical work THE PRESS promised a month ago—"The Holy City." It will occupy an hour and a half at least, and some of New York's sweetest soloists, besides the fine orchestra, have been engaged to take part in the production.

Night School for Women.

It is to be regretted that the night school for women is not more largely patronized. The Board of Education has gone to the trouble and expense of starting a night school for women, and the attendance should be much larger than it is at present. Already one class has been abandoned, simply because there is but one pupil in it.

The next session for women will be held in the High School building on Friday evening of this week, and it is to be hoped that there will be an increased attendance.

The Rev. Mr. Mitchell's Innocence Officially Announced.

The Council called by the Mount Olive church to investigate matters pertaining to the Rev. Mr. Mitchell's case, found nothing against him. Ere the Council adjourned it gave the members of the church wholesome advice, urging them to "forget the past and unite with the pastor in laboring for the glory of Christ."

The Council found no charge even, against Mr. Mitchell. The news and other circulators of the scandal against the minister, confessed by their silence their charges were false, and the outcome of depraved minds.

Mrs. Forrester's Kind Friends.

The shipment of tea, coffee, sugar, rice and molasses sent through THE PRESS for Mrs. Forrester, was delivered to her free of expense by Mr. Andrew Kenney, manager of the U. S. Express Company in this city, Saturday morning.

THE PRESS representative—a young woman of tact and sympathy—called on Mrs. Forrester, that morning, and found her in great need of many things. She was given an order to go to Doane & Van Arsdale's and get what shoes she and her children needed, and she was given money to buy clothing. Coal and wood was also sent her that morning, and new rooms will be rented and paid for out of the money placed in the hands of THE PRESS for Mrs. Forrester's assistance.

—The Rahway Democrat says, editorially: "Plainfield went 'wet' at the city election on Tuesday, the Common Council elect being largely in favor of license. Two strong Republican Wards elected Democrats by large majorities."

Your wasted cheeks may have all the plumpness and bloom of health through your use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This time-honored remedy still leads the van. It improves digestion, purifies the blood, and invigorates the system. Give it a trial.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

HORSES. HORSES!

For Sale very Cheap. 150 Horses to Select from.

All Sizes—All Kinds—All Prices! Fresh arrivals every week. Can suit anybody. Satisfaction guaranteed. Low-priced Horses always on hand. Will improve in the country.

200 Horses & Mules always on hand to select from.

JOHN W. MORRIS,
520 BROAD STREET, NEWARK, N. J.
42-5-1yr

It Will Pay You.

Don't let an auction sale of any kind come to time without proper advertising. An extra dollar or two spent in this way to have an advertisement inserted in THE PRESS will notify hundreds of readers, many of whom would doubtless not see it but for such publication, and the little outlay could hardly fall short of bringing an increase in profits and oftimes might raise many dollars. It is profitable to advertise well.

"Tee Kay" in Advance.

The Sun a few days ago said: "W. Fred Quimby, the popular and expert trap shot of Newark, has been selected as substitute for the Eastern team of trap shots that are to tour the country shortly, shooting a series of matches against a similar team from the West.

"T. H Keller, 'Tee Kay,' of shooting fame, has signed to do the advance work of the combination. He leaves about Dec. 15 for Cincinnati, where the first shoot of the series takes place shortly after the holidays."

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

KASKINE,
(THE NEW QUININE.)

Gives
Good Appetite,
New Strength,
Quiet Nerves,
Happy Days,
Sweet Sleep.

A POWERFUL TONIC.
A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

Mine was also a bad a case of malaria as could be, and yet Kaskine cured me after I had been dosed with almost every drug in the Pharmacopœia.—J. D. Bird, B. A., Chemist Maryland Agricultural College.

"For eight years I had dumb ague intolerably. Wishing myself dead a score of times. I never found a medicine worth the bottle that held it, until I took Kaskine. That was a happy day for me. It gave me appetite and strength. I can sleep like a top. I stand by every word of this."—Thos Toole, Schuylerville, N. Y.

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

KASKINE CO., 168 Duane St., New York.
8-2-3

Christmas Gifts!

Smoking Jackets,
Dressing Gowns,
Fine Underwear,
Storm Coats,
Umbrellas,
Shirts.

Ulsters,
Cape Coats,
Over Coats,
Pea Jackets,

Full Dress Suits,
Prince Albert Suits.

Tredwell, Slote & Co.,
Clothiers and Furnishers,
273, 275, 277 BROADWAY, N. Y.,
COR. BROADWAY AND CHAMBERS ST.
11-7-2m

RADAM'S
MICROBE KILLER
Cures All Diseases.

The claim to cure all diseases, may at first glance seem very absurd; but after reading our pamphlet, giving a history of the Microbe Killer, explaining the germ theory of disease, and reading our testimonials, which prove conclusively there is no disease it will not cure, the truth of our assertion becomes clear. No person suffering from any blood, chronic or contagious disease should let a day pass without getting and reading this interesting book, which will be given away or mailed free. The gentlemen connected with this company are well-known business men of this city. Agents wanted everywhere. Address

The
Wm. Radam
Microbe
Killer Co.,
54 Sixth Avenue,
NEW YORK CITY.
11-21-y

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE TO THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW.

Arrangements have been made for the coming year which will maintain for the REVIEW its unrivalled position among periodicals, and render it essential to every reader in America who desires to keep abreast of the times. "From month to month topics of commanding interest in every field of human thought and action will be treated of in its pages by representative writers, whose words and names carry authority with them."

The forthcoming volume will be signalized by the discussion of questions of high public interest by the foremost men of the time, notably by a controversy on Free Trade and Protection in their bearing upon the development of American Industry and Commerce, between the two most famous living statesmen of England and America,

The Right Hon. W. E. GLADSTONE
AND
Hon. JAMES G. BLAINE.

This discussion, embracing the most important contributions ever made to an American periodical, will begin in the January number.

It is a significant fact—as showing the unparalleled popularity and usefulness of this periodical, and its wide influence upon public opinion—that the circulation of THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW is greater than that of all other American and English Reviews combined.

Subscription Price, Postage Prepaid, Five Dollars a Year.

THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW,
3 East Fourteenth Street, New York.

DEATHS.

BOCK—In this city, Dec. 9, 1889, Louisa, wife of Charles Bock, in her 27th year.

A new idea embraced in Ely's Cream Balm. Catarrh is cured by cleansing and healing, not by drying up. It is not a liquid or snuff, but is easily applied into the nostrils. Its effect is magical, and a thorough treatment will cure the worst cases. Price 50c.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she was a Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

With Ely's Cream Balm a child can be treated without pain or dread and with perfect safety. Try the remedy. It cures catarrh, hay fever, and colds in the head. It is easily applied into the nostrils and gives relief with the first application. Price 50c.

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mark Twain's New Book!
"A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court."

This is Mark Twain's best and most original book. "A keen and powerful satire on English nobility and royalty." A thoroughly American work. Illustrated by 300 fine drawings by Dan. Beard.

AGENTS WANTED,
To whom exclusive control of territory will be given.

Thousands of Dollars
to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars. Chas. L. Webster & Co., 3 East 14th Street, New York.
12-5-4

Parlor Stoves
Othello Ranges,
Steam and Hot Water Heating,
Hot Air Heating.
Hardware,
Plumbing,
Tinning,
And House Furnishings
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11-1-tf

Don't spoil your Feet with Cheap Shoes!
WEAR THE
BURT & PACKARD
Be sure that every pair is stamped "Korrect Shape."

Don't allow your dealer to palm off any substitute, as we have arranged to supply the "Korrect Shape" Shoes in any style for Gent's, Boys or Youths, and prepay all delivery charges where they are not sold.

You can only find them in Plainfield, N. J., at DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S, 21 E. FRONT ST.

Made in four grades. HAND-MADE, HAND-WELT, BURTWELT and MACHINE SEWED, which is stamped on the sole in addition to the trade-mark above.

PACKARD & FIELD.
(Successors to Burt & Packard)
Brockton, Mass.
8-12-3mo

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN
ESTABLISHED 1845

Is the oldest and most popular scientific and mechanical paper published and has the largest circulation of any paper of its class in the world. Fully illustrated. Best class of Wood Engravings. Published weekly. Send for specimen copy. Price $3 a year. Four months' trial, $1. MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, N. Y.

ARCHITECTS & BUILDERS
Edition of Scientific American.

A great success. Each issue contains colored lithographic plates of country and city residences or public buildings. Numerous engravings and full plans and specifications for the use of such as contemplate building. Price $2.50 a year, 25 cts. a copy. MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS.

PATENTS may be secured by applying to MUNN & Co., who have had over 40 years' experience and have made over 100,000 applications for American and Foreign patents. Send for Handbook. Correspondence strictly confidential.

TRADE MARKS.

In case your mark is not registered in the Patent Office, apply to MUNN & Co., and procure immediate protection. Send for Handbook.

COPYRIGHTS for books, charts, maps, etc., quickly procured. Address

MUNN & CO., Patent Solicitors.
GENERAL OFFICE: 361 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Great Inducements in Square Parlor Stoves,

RANGES, &c.
STOVES, LAMPS, TINWARE,
CUTLERY, GRANITEWARE,
MACHINIST and CARPENTER TOOLS,
HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, &c.
POWDER, SHOT AND SHELLS.
J. C. PIERSON, Jr.,
Telephone 126. 45 WEST FRONT ST

M. N. TERRILL & CO.,
UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,
No. 29 E. FRONT STREET.
M. N. TERRILL— GEO. W. COLE.
Practical Embalmer, and assistant to the late firm of Ford & Stiles. 8-17-tf

A. M. RUNYON & SON,
UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS,
60 PARK AVENUE.
Telephone Call 40.
RESIDENCE—48 MADISON AVENUE.
Telephone Call 27.
Office of Hillside Cemetery.

P. CASEY & SON,
UNDERTAKERS,
OFFICE—No. 7 Somerset St.,
Residence, No. 21 Third street, corner New, Plainfield, N. J. Everything pertaining to the business always on hand, and lower than any other firm in the State. All Calls Promptly answered Day or Night.—jl5yl

WANTS AND INFORMATION.

STORAGE—FIRST-CLASS ACCOMMODATIONS in newly-partitioned rooms. All thoroughly cleaned and free from vermin. Separate rooms if desired. Apply at Bostwick['s] or of owner M. VERMEULE. Two buggies for sale cheap.—jan30tf

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - City Editor.

—Oh, for a Y. M. C. A. building.

—It is understood that No. 2 Engine Company [illegible] gear for their horses and rolling stock.

—If officer L[illegible] should happen to ask you if you've seen him, ask him if he means "McGinty."

—Several cases of measles have recently been reported in this city, but no fatal ones have as yet resulted.

—Sunday, December 22, will have nine hours and fifteen minutes of daylight—the shortest day in the year.

—The barbed wire fence, says a farmer, will keep gunners off your place better than a score of "no trespassing" signs.

—Councilman Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, has added a handsome new delivery wagon to his rolling stock.

—The removal of the freight house and the introduction of street cars in this city, will not be accomplished this Winter.

—One Plainfield sport is reported to have come out a winner to the extent of $300 at the Elizabeth race track on Monday.

—Monday was a genuine Summer day, the weather being warm enough to sit indoors with the doors and windows open.

—Good sleighing with good weather at the right time would make a brisk holiday business for the seller as well as the buyer.

—Business at the Potter Press Works is said to be very brisk at present. The lathes and planers are running to a late hour every night.

—Prof. Gutt[illegible]'s opera house orchestra, consisting of seven pieces, will furnish the music for Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company's Ball, Jan. 21.

—In Vincent Chapel this Thursday afternoon and evening, the Woman's Foreign Missionary will hold a sale of home made candies and fancy articles.

—The Rice-[illegible]well difficulty will in all probability result in a law suit in which the editor of the [illegible] will be called to account. To that end arrangements are making.

—The good [illegible] welfare committee of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., are arranging for an evening suitable to take place on the 7th of January, the place for holding the [illegible] has not been selected.

—The following extract shows how a Somerville paper can flatter itself. "Mr. Daft has abandoned the project of building a street railway at Plainfield. If he should try Somerville he would meet with success."

—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union at its last business meeting adopted a vote of thanks for the use of Reform Hall, and transmitted advice of such action to the President of the Reform Club.

—At the opening of the Middlesex county Court at New Brunswick, Tuesday, Mr. Joseph Maier of Dunellen was granted a license to keep an inn and tavern and to sell spirituous and fermented liquors.

—Mr. Wm. VanSickle, the North avenue butcher, on Saturday sent a pair of chickens to Mrs. Harry Forrester of Grove street. Mr. VanSickle will see that Mrs. Forrester will not want for anything in the meat line.

—With lower prices Music Hall would have been filled, on Tuesday. THE PRESS has had occasion to say this before this season, and that night's crowded gallery and [illegible] parquette endorses such judgment.

—At the Odd Ladies' Fair, Friday night, the two parlor chair contests were decided. Miss [illegible]smith received one of the chairs, she having collected $24.00, and Mrs. Carman received the other, having collected $6.[illegible].

—A delegation from Howell and Plainfield Divisions, Sons of Temperance of this city, went to Westfield on Monday evening, and took part in the exercises given under the auspices of the Westfield Division at that place.

—Mrs. Mary Shelley of this city was on Monday held by Justice Hardy of North Plainfield, for the Grand Jury, for an alleged assault upon Miss Lucy Kissam. Mrs. Shelley secured bail and she was released from custody.

—The New Brunswick Fredonian says in an editorial: "The Prohibition ordinance of Plainfield did not prevent the existence of sixty illicit saloons in that city, and now the high license law will be enforced to keep the treasury from being exhausted."

—The funeral of the late Mrs. Chas. Bock, who died on Monday morning, took place from the late residence of the deceased on East Second street, Wednesday at two o'clock, the Rev. J. P. Taylor, officiating. The remains were interred in Hillside cemetery.

—A fine assortment of those celebrated parlor organs manufactured by Story & Clark of Chicago, are shown by Vanderbeek, 33 Park avenue. The cases are rich and elaborate cabinets, and the instruments are provided with pneumatic stops, alternating rail and all other modern improvements and ornamentation.

Change in the Management.

The management of the Woman's Exchange on Park avenue, has gone into new hands. Mrs. D. E. Anthony, the late Manager, will remove to New York, and the Exchange will hereafter be conducted by Miss Clara M. Whitfield.

Christmas Shopping Begun.

Some of the stores are now open until nine o'clock every evening to accommodate holiday shoppers, who are already beginning to make their purchases, and Saturday evenings the stores are open later. The arrangement will continue till the latter part of January.

Good Enough.

The net proceeds from the recent tournament of the Plainfield Bicycle Club, were $130. Chairman D. H. Lennon, of the committee in charge, he reported on Monday, and received the enthusiastic thanks of the members for the effective efforts of himself and his assistants.

W. C. T. U. Reception.

The reception given by the ladies of the W. C. T. U., to those who have recently signed the pledge, in the rooms of the Union on Saturday evening, was an enjoyable affair. The evening was spent in a social way, and the serving of refreshments added materially to the entertainment of the visitors.

A Good Mouse Trap.

A young lady, residing in the Third Ward, made a batch of chocolate caramels, last evening, which she placed in a cool spot in the kitchen to harden. This morning she was surprised to find that a mouse had wandered into the chocolate, and the animal being unable to extricate itself, laid down and died.

Feast of the Annunciation.

Sunday was the Feast of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin, a day that is observed with special religious services in the Roman Catholic church. On this day all the Sisters of Charity the world over renew their vows, a peculiarity of this Sisterhood being that their vows are taken for but one year and have to be renewed each year.

PERSONALIA.

Major Hawkins, ex-Assemblyman from Newark, was in town Friday.

Dr. Paul, formerly of this city, but now of Connecticut, was in town yesterday.

Miss Lillian Frith, of Park avenue, arrived home from Europe, per steamer "Teutonic," Friday.

Mr. Angus Andrews of Grant avenue, has resumed work again after a week spent with friends in Connecticut.

Miss Hanah Johnson, of Dunellen, has returned after spending several days with relatives at White House Station.

Mrs. Everson pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct before Mayor Main, Tuesday, and she was fined $5.

Mr. James Connelly, formerly of this city, who went West to Dakota several months ago, has returned to Plainfield.

Mr. Henry Agnew, of White House Station, Hunterdon county, spent Friday with friends and relatives at Dunellen.

Mr. J. W. Handren of Brooklyn, N. Y., was last evening the guest of Mr. C. Schepflin, at the latter's residence in Dunellen.

Miss Lulu C. Tuthson, of Newton, Sussex county, is visiting her cousins, the Misses Nellie and Minnie Rockafellow, of West Front street.

The clergymen of the city met at the residence of the Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes on West Seventh street, on Monday. Rev. Edward Love read a paper.

Mr. Charles E. Rose has been elected a member of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A., to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. C. F. Bull.

A delegation from the Winthrop base ball club of New York city, were entertained at supper, at the City Hotel, on Tuesday. They were the guests of the Crescent League.

The Christmas number of The Journalist will contain among other entertaining matter, original stories by Robert Fitz Randolph Hunteman and Walter Irving Clarke of this city.

Miss Newman, one of the teachers in the Franklin school building, is rehearsing the scholars in special music, to be rendered at the closing exercises on the morning of the 24th instant.

Mr. Michael Watson requests us to deny the statement published in another paper to the effect that Councilman Moffett had openly asserted that he would vote for Mr. Watson's license.

Mr. C. S. A. Davis of Broadway, was 82 years old on Saturday. Mr. Davis says he can remember but one rainy seventh of December during his lifetime; and that was about twenty years ago.

The Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, on Saturday, united in marriage Mr. Charles M. Irving, of New York city, and Miss Catherine L., daughter of Wm. H. and Rebecca R. O. Scott, of this city.

A telephone message from Mr. Richard Merritt, who is located at Tarrytown, N. Y., received at THE PRESS office, Thursday afternoon. Mr. Merritt stated that he was improving in health and spirits.

The Boston Musical Record for December, contains the following: "Miss Sarah Manning (soprano) and Miss Harriet Manning (contralto) of Plainfield, N. J., have been singing in New York with success."

At the residence of the bride on East Fifth street, at two o'clock on Saturday, occurred the marriage of Mr. Charles W. Rogers of Philadelphia, and Miss Josephine Stickle of this city, Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes officiating.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis preached an eloquent sermon on "The Catholic Congress and the proposed Co-operation of Catholics and Protestants to secure National Sunday Legislation," in the Seventh Day Baptist church, Saturday morning.

Mr. William Searing, of this city, Grand Scribe of the Grand Chapter of New Jersey, was present at the funeral in Newark, last week, of Grand King Milton C. Dodd. High Priest of Jerusalem, Joseph G. Miller, and Companion Henry Woodland, were also in attendance.

The first dance of the Tuesday Evening Club, a private organization formed last season for social pleasure and re-organized for this season, was given, on Tuesday, at the residence of Mr. Leo Daft, on Putnam avenue. The entertainment was a pronounced success in every particular.

Mr. Fred Andrews, one of the honorary members of the Plainfield Crescent League, entertained a number of his friends in the Club, at his home in Brooklyn, Saturday evening. There was a hearty welcome, a bountiful supper, and a flow of wit, singing and a grand good time in general.

The death is announced of Friend Mary Jane Field, which occurred at her home on East Second street, Friday morning, from typhoid pneumonia. The deceased was 53 years of age, and was for many years past a resident of this city. The funeral took place from the Friends' meeting house, on Peace street, Monday, at 2 P. M.

Mr. Theodore J. Miller, Jr., of the Third Ward, who is a good Republican and who honored his maiden vote this year by casting it for Councilman Townsend Rushmore, wants THE PRESS to explain that he is not the "Theo. Miller, Jr.," whose name was on the Democratic ticket. The latter was meant for Theodore S. Miller, who is a first-class man but in a bad ward for Democrats.

The Rev. E. B. Edgar lies very ill at his home on Broadway, but under the tender care of his sister and his daughter, Mrs. I. C. Pierson, and the best physicians, his recovery may be hoped for. Mr. Edgar for very many years was the pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church, but he gave up active professional labors some ten years or more ago, and built the home on Broadway he has occupied ever since with his family.

Overcome by Gas.

Two of the servant girls employed by Mr. Leo Daft were overcome by gas a few evenings since. The girls went to bed with the doors and windows closed tightly, and the escaping gas from a jet soon filled the room and asphyxiated the inmates. Dr. T. S. Davis, who was summoned, soon had the girls out of danger.

St. Mary's Rectory.

Contractor Potter Johnson is rapidly completing the woodwork on St. Mary's rectory, which was so badly damaged by fire, a few weeks ago. The woodwork in the interior of the building is all hand made, and this necessitates some little delay. Mr. Johnson, however, expects to have the rectory ready for occupancy by Jan. 1st, next.

The Profit of the Lecture.

The net profit to the Children's Home from the Amelia B. Edwards' lecture, was $129 after deducting $51 rent for Music Hall. It has been generally reported that the Ladies Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital was given the Hall free upon the occasion of the Kennan lecture for the Hospital's benefit, but THE PRESS is informed that the Hall was paid for by the members of the general board of directors of the Hospital.

Laying more Tracks.

The Pennsylvania and Central Railroad Companies had big gangs of men working, Sunday, at the Union Depot, in Elizabeth, putting in the intersecting frogs for the fourth track of each of these railroads through the city. A large crowd watched the work. It does not look as though the Pennsylvania contemplated elevating its tracks in the near future, or as though there was much likelihood of this dangerous grade crossing being abolished.

WORSHIPFUL MASTER MARSH.

Annual Election of Anchor Lodge Officers.

At a regular communication of Anchor Lodge, F. and A. M., held on Tuesday, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Worshipful Master—Craig A. Marsh.
Senior Warden—H. H. Lowrie.
Junior Warden—Albert Venino.
Treasurer—J. E. Turrill.
Secretary—J. H. Bartindale.
Proxy to Grand Lodge—O. T. Waring.
Trustees—W. A. Freeman, F. O. Herring, O. T. Waring.

The other officers will be given when appointed by the new Master.

A CHARITY MUSICALE.

The Fine Programme Rendered Monday Night for the Kitchen Garden.

Judging from the extent of the company present at the home of Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, on LaGrande avenue, Monday evening, the parlor musicale reaped quite a sum for the benefit of the Kitchen Garden. Even the halls and stairways, library and parlors were filled, and the warm welcome of Mrs. Tomlinson and Miss Tomlinson met the guests everywhere.

The programme was an elaborate one and generously rendered in a praiseworthy manner. The better features were the piano solos of Miss Sandford, and the baritone songs of Mr. Carl Dufft. The eight-hand pieces, especially the closing one, were particularly pleasing, and the solos of Miss Louisa Isabel Fisk received hearty encores.

Too much credit can not be given the affair for its great success, musically. If the patronage was not sufficient to create a large surplus above expenses, the fault is with the public.

WHO'LL WIN THE CUP?

Dr. Thiers Ahead but Haynes and Others Pressing Him.

The Trustees of the Plainfield Crescent League have offered a silver prize cup to stimulate bowling among the members. Not that the sport and exercise needs any encouragement for the Club House alleys are never idle, but competition for some honor stirs the ambition and makes crack bowlers.

The cup is won by the member making the highest score at any time during two weeks, while two or more are present and bowling. When any one member shall have won the cup three times in this manner, the prize is his permanent property.

It was put up last Monday evening, and Mr. Charles R. Thiers set the pace at once by putting up 201, which score on the opening of the second week still leads them all.

There are others, however, getting close on Thiers' heels. Mr. Joseph A. Haynes looked like a victor Saturday evening when he reached 132 in his sixth frame, but the pace was too hot to last.

The second on the list is also Thiers with 199. Then come the following: Van Emburgh, 180; C. R. Vail, 180; VanWinkle, 179; Rogers, 178; Reed, 177; Hallock, 175; Lyman, 174; Kline, 174; Haynes, 170; Leggett, 168; Littell, 168; Jackson, 168; Emerson, 164; Lowrie, 164; Compton, 163; C. Teel, 162; Codington, 160; Fritts, 155; Schultz, 155.

Mr John Beerbower, proprietor of the City Hotel, has given a handsome lignumvitæ ball as a second prize to be won and held under the same conditions as the cup.

Death of Mrs. Chas. Bock.

At her home on East Second street, about 3 o'clock Monday morning, occurred the death of Louisa Smith, wife of Mr. Chas. Bock. Mrs. Bock has been ailing for some time past, her death resulting from hasty consumption.

Further Charity through THE PRESS Relief Department.

A half-chest of tea received by THE PRESS from Messrs H. W. Banks & Co., of New York, to be distributed where it would do the most good in Plainfield, was sent Muhlenburg Hospital Monday, with a large package of sugar.

An Estimable Lady Gone.

At her home on West Fourth street, Saturday at 12:30 o'clock, occurred the death of Amanda G. Maxson, widow of the late Rev. Wm. B. Maxson, in the 81st year of her age. She was a sufferer from paralysis, her illness dating back for a period of many months.

She was the mother of the late ex-Mayor Maxson and of Mrs. Dr. Wells.

The First Team Will Have to Hustle.

There has been organized in the Crescent League a second team of bowlers who have already hung out their challenge on the walls for the first team to roll them a match game. The new team contains some good ones, and all competitors will have to hustle. Its members are: T. J. Carey, C. P. Leggett, R. F. R. Hunteman, W. A. Coddington, M. A. Haven, D. W. Littell, R. M. Stelle, H. F. Moore, J. A. Haynes and C. R. Thiers.

Fanwood's Big Score.

At Thum's alleys on Greenwich street, New York, Saturday afternoon, the Fanwood Club's bowling team which also included many of Westfield's crack knights of the ball, defeated the Produce Exchange team by four points after one of the closest games ever witnessed.

The Fanwoods led at the start but were passed in the third frame and were only ahead again in the fifth. In the ninth the Produce Exchange led by 27 pins and were confident of victory, but Fanwood's 193 pins in the ninth frame were just enough.

The score was:

FANWOOD A. C.	S	S	B	Tot.	PRODUCE EXCHANGE.	S	S	B	Tot.
Force	4	5	1	157	Trafton	4	4	2	200
Dallas	2	4	4	129	Halstead	2	5	2	154
Moore	3	6	1	162	Nye	3	3	4	146
Jackson	1	4	5	137	Clark	3	3	4	165
Downer	2	4	4	149	Zaun	2	4	4	143
Nye	5	0	5	139	Mauk	1	5	3	161
Smith	3	4	4	155	W. Braint'd	3	1	4	161
Seeley	5	3	1	229	Turnbull	2	4	3	171
Fancher	2	3	5	140	F. Braint'd	2	6	2	168
Oliver	4	4	2	179	Devene	1	6	3	180
Totals	31	37	22	1631	Totals	27	40	29	1627

FRAMES.

Fanwood	175	300	431	616	781	938	1106	1289	1436	1631
Exchange	155	300	[illegible]	[illegible]	773	970	1147	1267	1465	1627

Funeral of Miss Hattie M. Searing.

The funeral of Miss Hattie M. Searing, whose death occurred on Wednesday morning last, took place Saturday afternoon at half-past two o'clock, in the Trinity Reformed church, in the presence of a large number of the relatives and sympathetic friends of the family.

When the funeral cortege arrived at the church, the casket was borne up the centre aisle, by Messrs George R. Schlereth, Louis C. Beckman, Herman Keller, Joel C. Pennington, William B. Sharp and William M. Beckman, and deposited at the foot of the altar.

The Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the church, then read a portion of the XI chapter of St. John and also of the XXV chapter of St. Matthew. Mr. Schenck's touching remarks caused a sense of sadness to pervade the large assemblage.

The floral display was modest and appropriate, consisting of two pillows with the words "Our Friend" and "Hattie" inscribed on them in purple. The former was presented by the Park Avenue Social Club, and a cross from the Oriental Social Club, together with a sickle, a wreath and a bouquet of calla lilies. Interment was made in the family plot in the Methodist cemetery.

—Mr. F. H. Andrews is rehearsing the scholars in the Hope chapel Sunday school, in special Christmas music. Regular rehearsals will be held on each Monday evening until Christmas.

SOMERVILLE AGAINST PLAINFIELD AGAIN.

Defeat Stared the Home Team in the Face, but They Won by 13 Pins.

The Crescent League team did not seem to have on their bowling shoes, on Thursday, and Chris VanArsdale's team came down from Somerville and almost did the Plainfielders up. In fact it was not until the last frame was finished that the Crescents could breathe freely.

The home team was as published in these columns, with the exception of T. J. Carey's substitution for Jackson. Carey did well and proved he would rank up among the folks if he bowled oftener. Emerson, Hallock and the Teel brothers, brought the average up and drove off defeat. But as it was, if Mathewson and McMurtrie had enjoyed any sort of luck, Somerville would have won.

In the eighth, Plainfield was 67 pins ahead, but in the last two frames most of the team broke badly and only Reed and Carey's strikes, and the spares of Van Emburgh, Emerson and C. Teel in the tenth, saved the Crescents. The margin of victory, however, was only 13 pins.

The score:

CRESCENTS.	S	S	B	Total
Van Emburgh	1	2	4	139
Hallock	1	5	4	160
Van Winkle	1	1	8	166
H. Teel	2	3	5	141
Rogers	1	4	5	136
Carey	2	3	5	130
C. Teel	2	4	4	152
Emerson	1	6	2	147
Reed	1	5	4	130
Kline	2	1	7	113
				1335

SOMERVILLE.	S	S	B	Total
Schoonmaker	3	2	6	139
Capper	0	4	6	129
Major	3	0	7	130
Smith	1	2	7	117
Sutton	4	2	4	176
Bokaw	2	3	4	162
Haines	1	2	6	129
Mathewson	1	1	8	109
Gulick	3	1	7	117
McMurtrie	1	1	8	111
				1322

FRAMES.

Plainfield .[illegible] 1008 1196 1335
Somerville 114 [illegible] 999 1148 1322

HOLY CROSS SALE.

The Ladies' Annual Success.

The ladies of Holy Cross church took in about $400 at their annual sale, Wednesday, December 4, in the school building. There was a very large attendance, and every arrangement of the affair was especially praiseworthy.

To Miss Grace Luther and her assistants, is due particular praise for the charming decoration of the room. The choir guild had a table in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kellogg; while at the candy table were dispensed sweets by the sweet, from the hands of Miss Annie Murphy, Miss Della Storms, Miss Helen Warman and Miss Grace Brown.

It Was Only a Joke.

Some evil-disposed person tacked a notice on the front door of Tracy's shoe shop on Park avenue, during Saturday night. The notice read: "Closed on account of the death of James Tracy." Mr. Tracy was very indignant when he discovered the notice, Sunday morning.

They Come to Plainfield to be Happy.

(From the Somerville Democrat.)

Harry Squier, of Somerville, and Miss Lida E. Bedford, of Newark, were married on Wednesday, at the residence of the bride's mother. A large number of relations and friends witnessed the ceremony. The presents received were numerous and handsome. The happy couple have gone to housekeeping at Plainfield, where Mr. Squier is employed.

To Executors, Administrators and Guardians.

It is the privilege of all Executors, Administrators, Guardians, etc., in charge of the settlement of estates before the Surrogate of Union county, to have all the legal notices relating thereto published in THE PRESS. Readers and friends acting in any of the above capacities, who desire to do so can direct the Surrogate to send the notices to this office for publication.

Avoid Disappointment.

You have all had your experience in buying Christmas presents in New York and having them arrive by express, either broken or a day or two after Christmas was over. One of Plainfield's enterprising merchants, Mr. G. Q. Packer, suggests a way to avoid such disappointment. Presents may be selected today from his fine stock and reserved for delivery until the night before Christmas, if desired.

A Very Narrow Escape.

About ten o'clock on Friday as one of the drill engines which are employed to drill cars at the freight house, was crossing the Park avenue railroad bridge, a heavy iron poker, about fifteen feet in length, dropped from the tender and struck the roadbed with a crash.

Just at that time an open carriage containing a number of ladies was passing under the bridge, and the poker barely missed striking the vehicle.

Free Singing Class.

Mr. E. O Embury teaches free of charge a young men's singing class at the Y. M. C. A., Saturday evening of each week.

Classes for boys are held Tuesday and Thursday afternoons of each week at 4:30 o'clock.

The Association is exceedingly fortunate in being able to secure a gentleman of such large experience in voice training as leader of this class.

Bishop Scarborough's Sunday School Institute.

The Rev. T. Logan Murphy, Superintendent Phillips and six teachers of the Holy Cross Sunday school; and the Rev. E. M. Rodman, Superintendent Bull and three teachers of Grace church, took part Thursday in the first meeting of the Sunday School Institute of Bishop Scarborough's diocese. The meeting was held in Dr. McAllister's church, Elizabeth. The Bishop was one of the distinguished present. The meeting lasted all day, and was a most auspicious beginning.

Camera Club Doings.

At the regular annual meeting of the members of the Plainfield Camera Club, held in their rooms on Park avenue, last Monday evening, the following officers were elected:

President—Oscar S. Teale.
Vice President—Daniel C. Adams.
Secretary—James M. Leonard.
Treasurer—William H. Lyon.
House Committee—D. C. Adams, J. Hervey Doane, F. Richard Stevens.

The members will give another exhibition of amateur photography in February, and are also arranging for an exhibition of microscopic slides very soon afterwards.

Lodge Officers Elected.

The semi-annual election of officers to serve Wetumpka Lodge, No. 3,401, Knights of Honor, for the ensuing term, took place Thursday, with the following result:

Past Dictator—John H. Doane.
Dictator—C. J. Feytel.
Vice Dictator—J. F. Barber.
Chaplain—C. P. Wheeler.
Reporter—F. P. Haffner, P. D.
Financial Reporter—C. E. Vail.
Treasurer—J. C. Pierson, Jr.
Guide—R. Stafford.
Guardian—Thos. Osmont.
Sentinel—John Richter.
Trustees—H. J. Martin, J. C. Bovey, F. Doeringer.
Representative to Grand Lodge—C. J. Feytel, P. D.
Alternate—F. P. Haffner, P. D.
Medical Examiners—Drs. O. L. Jenkins, and W. F. Gaston.

The newly-elected officers will be installed at the first meeting in January.

VINDICATING THEIR PASTOR.

The Rev. J. W. Mitchell Calls a Council of the Baptist Churches to Investigate and Determine Upon Certain Slanderous Stories Concerning Him.

The Council of the Baptist churches which the Rev. J. W. Mitchell called to investigate and decide upon certain slanderous stories recently circulated concerning himself, met in Mt. Olive Baptist church in this city, Thursday afternoon, with closed doors, only the members of the Council, the witnesses and the deacons of the church being admitted. The investigation was held in the main auditorium and there were many curious persons in the audience, but they were asked to retire.

Rev. W. D. Dixon a colored preacher from Brooklyn called the Council to order, and he was afterward made Clerk. Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church in this city was chosen Moderator. The pastor and two delegates from each of the following churches were invited to sit in the Council, and most of them were present: First and Park Avenue Baptist churches, of Plainfield; Baptist church of Westfield; Fourth Baptist church of Elizabeth, Mt. Zion and Bethany churches of Newark, Second Baptist church of Orange, Abyssinia and Mt. Olivet churches of New York city and the Concord Baptist church of Brooklyn. Messrs Wm. Kline and James Connett represented Mt. Olive Baptist church.

Some discussion arose as to who called the Council together. Mr. Edward F. Maynard stated that the church had made no call, but it was subsequently shown that the call was signed by deacons Wm. Kline and James Connett.

The Clerk then read a statement showing how certain female members of Rev. Mr. Mitchell's congregation, through jealousy or spite, had, during the past fifteen months, circulated damaging stories reflecting upon the pastor's morals. The paper also alluded to the falsehoods published in the NEWS under the heading "A Pastor in Disgrace," and asked that the alleged charges be thoroughly investigated.

The witnesses called in the case were Mrs. Katie Mahew, Mrs. Aretta Maynard, Mrs. Grace Boswell, Mrs. Mary Maynard and Henry Pendleton. Little or no testimony was taken, and the Council adjourned without finding a single charge against the pastor by any member of the church.

FOR MRS. FORRESTER.

The Sympathy of New York Merchants Enlisted in Her Behalf.

The calling through these columns of the generous public's attention to the destitution of Mrs. Forrester, living on Grove street utterly without means of support, has brought her help from innumerable sources, with money, food and clothing.

The destitute woman has a family of seven children two of whom are infant twins. A number of Christian philanthropic women of this city and the borough called on her as soon as they read of her case, in THE PRESS. Among those who went to see the woman, was Mrs. Herman Simmonds, of Broadway and 9th street. She was impressed with the woman's needs, and the sympathy of Mr. Simmonds was also enlisted.

The latter, one of New York's big coffee importers, told of the case among his business colleagues, and the following articles were donated at once and shipped from New York by express, to Mrs. Forrester:

B. H. Howell, Son, & Co—2 gallons of molasses.
L. W. Minford & Co—35 lbs sugar.
Turner Brothers—25 lbs. sugar.
Williams, Russell & Co—25 lbs. sugar.
Gustav Jahn & Co—2 gallons molasses and 10 lbs. rice.
Dan Talmadge Sons, 10 lbs. rice.
Simmonds & Newton, 30 lbs. coffee.
Gillespie & Co., 10 lbs tea.

THE CYCLONES DEFEATED.

They and the Olympics Have Won a Record for the Season, of One Victory Each.

On election night, as reported in THE PRESS of the next morning, the Cyclone bowling team defeated the champion Olympics by a score of 1259 to 1231, on the Olympia alleys. The Cyclones had intended to disband then, but the Olympics asked for revenge and got it Friday night.

The score was as follows:

OLYMPIC.	S	S	B	Total
Collier	2	4	4	146
French	1	1	8	112
B. Lowrie	2	4	4	136
Hall	1	2	7	108
Drayton	2	5	3	157
J. Murray	2	3	6	131
C. Stover	2	2	5	142
Stevens	2	2	6	[illegible]
W. Lowrie	1	4	5	134
H. Stover	1	4	5	130
				1321

CYCLONE.	S	S	B	Total
Morgan	3	1	4	172
Lewis	0	3	7	111
Marsh	2	1	7	118
Martin	2	2	6	122
Strevell	2	0	8	109
Beebe	2	4	4	148
Murphy	2	1	7	110
Lenox	1	4	5	122
K. Murray	4	0	6	145
Adams	2	5	3	132
				1299

FRAMES.

Olympic	135	274	399	534	666	786	912	1046	1201	1321
Cyclone	114	234	361	502	626	773	[illegible]	1060	1187	1299

He Speaks Whereof He Knows.

Some one writes both gracefully and forcibly, says an exchange: "I would be glad to see more parents understand that when they spend money judiciously to improve and adorn the house, and the ground around it, they are in effect paying their children a premium to stay at home and enjoy it; but when they spend money unnecessarily in fine clothing and jewelry for their children, they are paying them a premium to spend their time away from home—that is, in those places where they can attract the most attention and make the most display."

Reform Club Election of Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Reform Club of Plainfield held on Thursday, the following were elected officers to serve for the year commencing the first Thursday in January, 1890:

President—Nathan Harper.
1st Vice Pres—Geo. W. F. Randolph.
2d Vice Pres—Edward B. Titsworth.
3d Vice Pres—Thos. R. Crosley.
Rec. Secretary—Alex. Titsworth.
Finan. Secretary—J. W. A. Bauersachs.
Treasurer—J. D. Spicer.
1st Marshal—Wm. Hand.
2d Marshal—Wm. C. Smith.
Serg't-at-Arms—Mark Loos.

A Clothier Comes to Grief.

James Taylor, a young man, came to this city about three months ago, and opened a clothing store at the corner of Front street and Madison avenue. The store was well stocked with ready-made clothing and although the proprietor was comparatively a stranger, he appeared to be doing a fair trade, but he neglected to advertise.

Thursday, however, a representative of the clothing firm of D. Mark & Sons, of New York, came out and levied on the entire stock to satisfy a chattel mortgage held by the above firm. The amount of the chattel mortgage is not known, but it is thought the entire contents of the store will not more than cover it.

As soon as it became known that Mark & Sons had levied on the stock, Mr. Samuel Drisir also made a levy to satisfy a claim for rent. Among the other known creditors are Messrs Mantz Bros., of this city and Ettinger Bros., clothiers, of New York.

BETTER ROADS DEMANDED.

Queens County Follows New Jersey in Seeking Improved Highways.

Interest in improved county roads is becoming general in the suburbs of N. Y. city, and more attention is being paid to the subject than in years past. This is largely owing to the results of the new Road act in New Jersey, on account of which, especially in Union county, many good roads are to be found.

Mr. Chauncey B. Ripley, of Westfield, who, from his activity in aiding to secure the passage of the New Jersey law, is looked upon as a public benefactor in his own county, and is considered an expert on the subject of roads, said recently in a talk with a New York Times reporter, that the publication concerning the Jersey roads in the Times of Nov. 23, had awakened much interest in the matter, judging from comments of the press, from many letters he had received, and from observations and inquiries made by Times readers, who seemed to regard country roads as fifty years behind the age. A number of newspapers within a circuit of twenty-five miles of the city had printed the article under the head of "Jersey Roads" and many letters had been received by Mr. Ripley.

"These letters," said he, "were from Queens county, Westchester, Ulster, and even from New England towns, asking for copies of the New Jersey Road act, for specifications, and other information respecting the cost of the roads, and for advice as to the best practical means of securing the needed legislation.

"What is the effect of improved roads on real estate?" was asked.

"A dealer in coal and masons' material at Orange, N. J.," replied Mr. Ripley, "states that Telford roads are in use from Orange to Dover, running through Milburn, Madison and Morristown, a distance of twenty miles or more, and the value of real estate is double, treble, and quadruple what it was before the construction of the roads.

"The roads benefit every person who keeps a horse or team, either for riding or driving. They benefit every person who keeps draught horses. They benefit all farmers. They benefit those who ride horseback, those who ride the bicycle, those who travel on foot; indeed, every person who uses a public road."

According to the New Jersey law the Freeholders of any county in that State are allowed to acquire, maintain and improve, and assume full control of public roads in their county by preparing a map of the roads they intend to assume the care of and filing the same in the Clerk's office. The roads so acquired become known as county roads. The roads may then be graded, paved with Telford, macadamized, or otherwise improved, the work being done under contract to the board under its specifications and plans. To raise the money to improve the roads the board may cause a special tax to be levied, which shall not in any one year exceed the sum of $25,000, nor one-fourth of 1 per cent. of the assessed value of taxable property in the county, or to issue bonds of the county bearing interest not to exceed 5 per cent.

Other directions are made in the act to guard property owners from any undue exercise of power by the Freeholders, or extravagant expenditure of money. The best thing that can be said of the law, however, is that it is proving satisfactory in every respect. In Union county $150,000 has been raised for macadamizing and keeping in repair the roads, and taxpayers are not now suffering from poverty in that section.

MISSING FROM SCOTCH PLAINS.

The Sudden Disappearance of Walter Fraze Has Thrown the Village Into a State of Great Excitement.

Walter Fraze, the sixteen-year-old son of Mr. Peter Frazee of Scotch Plains, has been missing from his home since Tuesday of last week, and efforts to discover his whereabouts have proved unavailing.

Young Fraze is a mason by trade and is employed by his father, who has the contract for erecting the new public school building at Scotch Plains. On the above morning the young man accidentally fell from a wagon, striking on his head. The injuries he received confined him to the house until afternoon, when at two o'clock he again started for the new building to resume work. Since then nothing has been heard of him, and it is feared that he has either wandered away or been foully dealt with.

Mr. Runkle Awarded a Contract of Over Two Millions.

Runkle, Smith & Co., of 40 Wall street, New York, whose senior partner is Mr. Harry G. Runkle of this city, have been awarded by the authorities of Havana, Cuba, a contract to erect a system of water works for that city, at a cost of $2,500,000. The firm bid against a number of European houses, and express surprise as well as gratification at their success, for as a rule Europeans are given the preference in Cuba.

Washingtonville Whispers.

The numerous friends of Mr. Andrew Wilson will be pleased to know that he has entirely recovered from his recent attack of pneumonia, and will be out in a few days attending to his duties.

The stone quarries are all in full operation, showing that building interests have not lagged; in fact the claim is made that the demand is greater than at any time this year.

As the season of hunting draws to a close, the woods are filled with hunters in search of bunny, who has thus far eluded the wiles of dog and gun.

The Sling Shot Injures a Woman.

Boys and sling shots have become such a nuisance, that it is about time that something was done to put an end to the dangerous practice. Scarcely a day passes that wounds are not inflicted upon inoffensive persons by these articles of amusement in the hands of wayward boys.

On Saturday a lady, whose name could not be ascertained, was struck in the side by a large stone hurled from a sling shot, and quite seriously injured. A lump the size of a man's fist, formed on the lady's side, and medical attendance was necessary to reduce the size of it.

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?

Do its Manufacturers Publish all the Ingredients Used?

IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?

As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the bread material.

Protection to consumers of food compounds lies in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but buy instead

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER.

This powder is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, and strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, with a little wheat flour to preserve it. This is attested by the official analyses of Government and State chemists, and physicians, and chemists of Boards of Health throughout the country.

CLEVELAND BROTHERS, ALBANY, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, New York.—mr21y1 9-1 ly

Catarrh

Is a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

A VOICE from Ohio. [illegible]

Day Man!

[illegible] William Kline, Harrisburg, Pa. [illegible]

[illegible] shall we start YOU in this business, reader? [illegible] Photograph Albums [illegible] Address E. C. ALLEN & Co., Augusta, Maine. 3-6-1y

CARNEY BROS.,

11 SOMERSET ST.

TINNERS,

PLUMBERS,

GAS FITTERS.

PARLOR STOVES,

COOK STOVES,

HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.

Tinware Made to Order.

Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces.

SANITARY PLUMBING. 03911y

HOW CAN THE LONG BE THE SHORT ?

A line may be a very long one and yet be the shortest between given points. For instance, the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has over 3,000 miles of road; magnificently equipped and managed, it is one of the greatest railway systems of this country; for the same reasons it is the traveler's favorite to all points in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana. It is the only line to Great Falls, the future manufacturing center of the Northwest; to the fertile free lands of the Milk River Valley; and offers a choice of three routes to the Coast. Still it is the shortest line between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Fargo, Winnipeg, Crookston, Moorhead, Casselton, Glyndon, Grafton, Fergus Falls, Wahpeton, Devils Lake and Butte City. It is the best route to Alaska, China and Japan; and the journey to the Pacific coast, Vancouver, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco will be remembered as the delight of a life-time once made through the wonderful scenery of the Manitoba-Pacific Route. To fish and hunt; to view the magnificence of nature; to revive the spirit; restore the body; to realize the dreams of the home seeker, the gold seeker, the toiler, or the capitalist, visit the country reached by the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway. Write to F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A., St. Paul, Minn., for maps, books and guides. If you want a free farm in a lovely land, write for the "Great Reservation" read it and resolve to accept the gift.

HAND OF FORTUNE !

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST.

PECK'S CORNER.

If You Have GIFTS To Buy,

YOU WILL FIND

Your Money Will Go Farther

AT PECK'S!

Than Anywhere Else.

A PROBLEM!

One would suppose from the really small quantity of good Clothing that is made and sold, compared to the enormous quantity of trash, that there was a patent on the article. It's really a problem why dealers care to sell so much poor clothing. Of course, there's more profit on trash than on a good article. AT THE TIME, that is; but the renewed and continued patronage of the come-again customers more than make up to the merchant the seeming loss in the single transaction.

Now, we don't pretend that we are the only firm from which a good article can be purchased; but we insist that the great bulk of Ready-made Clothing is a most inferior article, and not, as ours is, as near perfect as can be. For illustrations of what we mean, we invite your attention to our NOBBY ALL-WOOL SUITS at $10, or our Blue and Black CHINCHILLA OVERCOATS at $12, $15 and $20; or those BLACK DIAGONAL CUTAWAY COATS and VESTS at $10, $12 and $13; or the Nobby Style and Cut of our CHILDREN'S CLOTHING.

See the KNEE PANT SUITS guaranteed all wool, from $3 up. OVERCOATS for BOYS, YOUTHS or MEN. Style, slick; fit, faultless; materials, multitudinous. You may expect to see here a little improvement on the average run of Clothing in every particular, price included. YOU'LL NOT BE DISAPPOINTED.

McGregor &Co., 850 and 852 Broad St NEWARK, N. J.

A. VANDERBEEK,

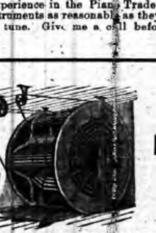
(CHAUTAUQUA BUILDING.)

NO. 33 PARK AVENUE, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

HAVING DISPOSED OF THE MUSICAL AND SPORTING Goods Department I am now prepared to devote my entire time to the sale and renting of

—PIANOS AND ORGANS—

Having many years of experience in the Piano Trade I am prepared to furnish first-class Instruments as reasonable as they can be had in New York city. Pianos tune. Give me a call before purchasing



PRICE LIST OF THE

EMPIRE STEAM CARPET CLEANING

Feather and Mattress Renovating Works,

Office and Works, 32 East Front Street.

HUGO WEIGMANN, Prop.

Ingrain and 3-Ply,	3c. per yd.		Feather Pillows,	50c. per pair
Tapestry and Brussels,	4c.	"	Feather Bolsters,	50c. each
Wilton, Velvet, Moquette and Axminster,	5c.	"	Large Feather Bed,	$1.50 each
			Hair steamed and picked,	5c. per lb

GUNNERS' SUPPLIES!

The "Club" Shell Loaded by the U. M. C. Co.

—LOOK AT THE PRICES—

10 ga 4 or 4 1-4 drs Powder, $1.85 pr 100
12 " 3, 3 1-4 or 3 1-2 " " $1.75 " "

American Wood, Schultze and Dead-shot Powder Shells Loaded to Order.

Guns of all Grades and Sizes.

Look at Our $1.00 Hunting Coat.

A. M. Vanderbeek & Co.,

33 PARK AVENUE,

Chautauqua Building, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

HARRIS PATENT ODORLESS EXCAVATOR CESSPOOLS, VAULTS

John Brown,

(Successor to John Burke.)

Cesspools, Vaults, Etc., Etc.,

CLEANED.

Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at CARNEY BROS., No. 1 Somerset street, or addressed to P. O. Box 718, will receive prompt attention.

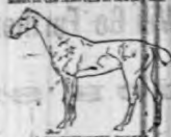
REMINGTON'S PICTURES.

A Talk With the Artist, and Drawings From His Pen.

How He Happened to Become an Artist—Peculiarities of the American Horse—Few Men Who Can Draw the Western Horse.

[Copyright 1889.]

In a cosy little house in Mott Haven, New York City, just beyond the Harlem river, lives Frederic Remington, famous in the magazine world for his drawing of the horse. Readers of the great weeklies and monthlies find a fascination in the life and nature of his work. He gained his position as an illustrator almost at a single bound. Four years ago he was a ranchman of the Southwest without art training, making an occasional sketch or two for amusement in the intervals of cowboy life.



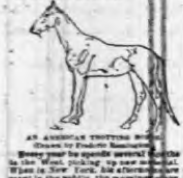
A THOROUGHBRED HUNTER.
(Drawn by Frederic Remington.)

In the spring of '86 he climbed up the stairs to the art editor of "Harper's Weekly" with a couple of sketches of the Indians and horses in the war of Geronimo, the Apache chief. He had just returned from that country at the end of his ranch life. A Yale College man, in 1879 he started out to make his fortune ranching in the far West. An expert horseman, a shrewd and keen observer from the start, he soon rose from a cowboy into a ranchman. The distinction on the plains is this: The owner of the ranch is the cattleman, the employe, whatever his age may be, the cowboy. Thus, grizzled old [illegible] men are often the "boys," the wealthy youngster from the East the man. But Remington's ranch did not prosper. The Indian troubles and hard luck pressed down upon him, and in '85 he gave it up as a failure and came on East. Here, "down on his luck," he determined to make a trial of his artistic proclivities, fortified only by a bare month's study at the Yale Art School years before. His perfect understanding of the horse and his close observation during seven years of ranching now stood him in good stead.

In those trial sketches handed to Harper's there was a great lack of technique. They bore no comparison with the finished work of the regular staff. Yet there was in them a wider knowledge of the West, a reproduction of horse action, photographically wrong, but one that would be felt as correct. Harpers' not only accepted the sketches but sent him back to Arizona for others.

His first sketches of Geronimo's campaign were printed late in the summer. [illegible] there appeared throughout the summer with a series of articles entitled "Our Soldiers in the Southwest." During '87 and '88 appeared drawings of [illegible] Kansas cattle sketches and pictures of scenes in the East, such as racing and football scenes, and incidents on a man-of-war. But all this time it was as a drawer of the horse that he shone out most brightly.

In the early part of 1888 he illustrated for the "Century" a series of papers written by Theodore Roosevelt on "Ranch Life in the Far West." Here he was in his element and his experience of his years in the saddle [illegible] of horse action. [illegible] Within the last few months he has illustrated for the "Century" and written as well four papers on wanderings among the Indians and horses of the plains. Last winter, armed with letters from our War Department and accompanied by a detailed Mexican officer [illegible], he visited the Mexican army in their camps and sketched the types. These [illegible] "Harper's Magazine" has just published. Besides these more important pieces of work he has furnished countless sketches to various publications and painted many characteristic scenes. But as a painter he makes no pretensions. He is purely an illustrator. Yet he works away enthusiastically with his brush, looking toward the future in that.



AN AMERICAN TROTTING HORSE.
(Drawn by Frederic Remington.)

Every year he spends several months in the West, picking up new material. When in New York, his afternoons are spent in the saddle, the mornings given up to work. His studio is a [illegible] place. The walls are lined and the corners piled up with saddles and bridles and bits of trappings of the ranchman and the Mexican horseman. There are studies of all types of horses scattered about. Remington himself is a stalwart, sturdy man of fine physique, tall, round faced and smooth shaven. He has the artistic temperament to a dot, but it is an athletic one. His ways of work and his ideas are interesting as characteristic of the man who in three short years has attained a rank that most people work a life time for.

"It wasn't because I knew how to draw that I met with my first success," he says, "for I didn't; but because I knew the West better than any other man. I have been all over it, from the City of Mexico to the Saskatchewan up North. They recognized a latent quality in my work which none other had.

"My drawing is done almost entirely from memory. I understand the horse so that every movement of his [illegible] itself upon me. For a color [illegible], a band or a [illegible] in the sleeve, [illegible] use a model, but that is all. The model is inactive, there is a stiffness about it," and he struck an illustrative pose. "The subject is alive and in action. Nature doesn't pose.

"As to drawing from a photograph, I am thoroughly familiar with all [illegible]

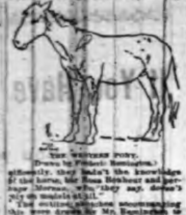
[illegible]

"People have no idea to look at [illegible]

[illegible]

"The matter of saddlery and [illegible]

[illegible]



THE WESTERN PONY.
(Drawn by Frederic Remington.)

[illegible] sometimes in the horses of England. In France, though the artists paint magnificently, they hadn't the knowledge of the horse, but Rosa Bonheur and perhaps Mornas, who, they say, doesn't rely on models at all."

The outline sketches accompanying this were drawn by Mr. Remington to illustrate what he has here said. The individuality of the types is certainly very strongly marked.

CROMWELL CHILDE.

THE AGE OF HORSES

Interesting Information for the Lovers of This Great Animal.

The average age of the forty-one animals that make up the "Obituary of Stallions" in the last issue of the London "Stud Book" was a little under seventeen years, while the fifty-four that are mentioned in the previous volume averaged a little over the same figure. These horses were of value, or they would not, of course, have been sent to the stud, and it thus appears that, roughly speaking, a hundred horses of sound constitution, and of whom it is safe to assume that every possible care was taken, lived on an average as nearly as possible seventeen years. A few of them were killed after having met with accidents, two or three died while on their voyages to other countries—for the sea is very fatal to the horse—many, including several Derby winners, having died on shipboard—and one, The Rover, was barbarously slaughtered by Irish moonlighters: "Murdered in Ireland, November, 1888," is his epitaph in the Stud book. Flux, paralysis, influenza—Lord Ronald fell a victim to this disease in 1888—inflammation, abscesses, rupture, diseased heart, peritonitis and broken blood vessels, are among the causes of death. Victorious, a son of Newminster, is described as having "died of old age," when no more than 18, and The Duke succumbed last year to the same complaint when 19. Thunderbolt, a son of Stockwell, lived to be 21, however, and is the patriarch of recent stallions. Hermit, of living horses, is hale and hearty at the age of 25, having won the memorable Derby of 1867.

HERBS FOR HOME USE.

HOREHOUND is good for a cold.

TANSY makes a very good tonic.

CATNIP has a proverbial reputation for its efficacy in cases of colic.

MINT is a very useful herb, having a good effect in cases of a sick or sour stomach.

ANY kind of herb poultice is very soothing. Prepare the meal as if for mush, and then add the herbs.

A CHICK hatched at York, Pa., first saw the light of day through three eyes. It had two mouths, but did not know how to use either, and died.

NEGLECT to maintain proper insulation of wires is the cause of most of the fatal accidents by electric wires in New York lately, according to experts.

TWO coal dealers at Port Huron bid exactly the same figure for supplying the city with [illegible] tons of coal, and then they tossed a cent to see which should have the contract.

A LADY of Newville, Cumberland County, N. Y., has a piano which was owned by the wife of President John Quincy Adams. The instrument is still in excellent condition.

A HOP poultice is especially soothing on account of opiate qualities possessed by the hop, and for this reason a hop pillow has a happy effect on a person suffering from insomnia.

The Unter den Linden of Berlin, with three lines of arc lamps separated by two rows of tiny lamps, is said to be the best illuminated thoroughfare in the world. The wires are under ground.

He Was Expected To.

One day when the late Chief Justice Shepley was sitting on the Supreme Bench of Maine a question of law came up in a case in which a pompous member of the bar acted as counsel. The Judge remarked that he should rule upon it such and such a way. "But," said the attorney in a manner calculated to impress the Court, "I should like to argue that question before it is decided." "I shall rule so and so," was the Judge's reply. "Well," said Mr. Pompous, drawing himself up, "if that is the case I shall submit"—with great emphasis on the I. "The Court expects you to submit, sir," replied the Chief Justice sternly, and went on with the business as if the lawyer did not exist.

Points of the Eagle and Mole.

"Why," asked the Mole, pausing in the midst of an excavation, concerning which nobody wanted him to continue, while he leisurely surveyed with the Eagle, in order to kill working time that hangs so heavily upon the sunstricken hands of the day laborer, "Why do you sit gazing so steadily up into the dim blue ether?"

"Because," replied the king of birds, who was too fly to get stuck on a single hand-woven conundrum, "it is a clear spot with me." So saying, he picked up the humble delver of the soil and made it sore for him.

Her fable shows that when a man asks a conundrum he should be ready to dive into the [illegible] the alignment of his closing [illegible]

TALMAGE IN JERUSALEM.

PREACHING ON THE SCENES OF THE SAVIOUR'S LAST DAYS ON EARTH.

The Glory of Solomon's Reign and the Golden Age of Jerusalem—The Awful Dimensions of Sorrow—[illegible]—Last Scene About Jerusalem.

JERUSALEM, Dec. 8.—At a large meeting of Christian people in this city to-day the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., of Brooklyn, was the preacher. His text was [illegible]: "Jerusalem! Jerusalem!" A report of his eloquent sermon is [illegible]:

[illegible]

whole. While within and without the palace you could not think of a single luxury that could be added, or of a single splendor that could be kindled. [illegible] Solomon's glory. [illegible] and royalty shall have no dominion, wealth no luxury, gold no glitter, song no melody, light no radiance, waters no gleam, birds no plumage, prancing coursers no mettle, upholstery no gorgeousness, architecture no grandeur, but it was all his.

"VANITY, VANITY—ALL IS VANITY!"

"Well," you say, "if there is any man happy, he ought to be." But I hear him coming out through the palace, and see his robes actually incrusted with jewels, as he stands in the door and looks out upon the vast domain. What does he say? King Solomon, great is your dominion, great is your honor, great is your joy? No. While standing here amidst all the splendor, the tears start, and his heart breaks and he exclaims: "Vanity of vanities; all is vanity." What! Solomon not happy yet? No, not happy. The honors and the emoluments of this world bring so many cares with them, that they bring also torture and disquietude. Pharaoh sits, as one of the highest earthly eminences, yet he is miserable because there are some people in his realm that do not want any longer to make bricks. The head of Edward I aches under his crown because the people will not pay the taxes, and Llewellyn, Prince of Wales, will not do him homage, and Wallace will be a hero. Frederick William III of Prussia is miserable because France wants to take the Prussian provinces. The world is not large enough for Louis XIV and William III. The ghastliest suffering, the most harrowing fear, the most rending jealousies, the most gigantic disquietude, have walked amidst obsequious courtiers, and been clothed in royal apparel, and sat on judgment seats of power.

Honor and truth and justice cannot go so high up in authority as to be beyond the range of human assault. The pure and the good in all ages have been execrated by the mob who cry out: "Not this man but Barabbas. Now, Barabbas was a robber." By honesty, by Christian principle, I would have you seek for the favor and the confidence of your fellow men, but do not look upon some high position as though that were always sunshine. The mountains of earthly honor are like the mountains of Switzerland, covered with perpetual ice and snow. Having obtained the confidence and love of your associates, be content with such things as you have. You brought nothing into the world, and it is very certain you can carry nothing out. "Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils." There is an honor that is worth possessing, but it is an honor that comes from God. This day rise up and take it. "Behold what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God." Who aspires not for that royalty? Come now and be kings and priests unto God and the Lamb forever.

If wealth and wisdom could have satisfied a man, Solomon would have been satisfied. To say that Solomon was a millionaire gives but a very imperfect idea of the property he inherited from David, his father. He had at his command gold to the value of six hundred and eighty million pounds, and he had silver to the value of [illegible] million, three hundred and seventy-seven pounds sterling. The queen of Sheba made him a nice little present of seven hundred and twenty thousand pounds, and Hiram made him a present of the same amount. If he had [illegible] of his pocket, it would have hardly been worth his while to stoop down and pick it up. He wrote one thousand and five songs. He wrote three thousand proverbs. He wrote about almost everything. The Bible says distinctly he wrote about plants, from the cedar of Lebanon to the hyssop that groweth out of the wall, and about birds and beasts and fishes. No doubt he put off his royal robes and put on hunter's trappings, and went out with his arrows to bring down the rarest specimens of birds; and then with his fishing apparatus he went down to the streams to bring up the denizens of the deep, and plunged into the forest and found the rarest specimens of flowers, and then he came back to his study and wrote books about zoology, the science of animals; about ichthyology, the science of fishes; about ornithology, the science of birds; about botany, the science of plants. Yet, notwithstanding all his wisdom and wealth, behold his wretchedness and let him pass on. Did any other city ever behold so wonderful a man? O Jerusalem, Jerusalem!

DAVID'S GREATEST GRIEF.

But here passes through these streets, as in imagination, I see him, quite as wonderful and a far better man. David the conqueror, the king, the poet. Can it be that I am in the very city where he lived and reigned? David great for power, and great for grief. He was wrapped up in his boy Absalom. He was a splendid boy, judged by the rules of worldly criticism. From the crown of his head to the sole of his foot there was not a single blemish. The Bible says that he had such a luxuriant shock of hair that, when once a year it was shorn, what was cut off weighed over three pounds. But, notwithstanding all his brilliancy of appearance, he was a bad boy, and broke his father's heart. He was plotting to get the throne of Israel. He had marshaled an army to overthrow his father's government. The day of battle had come. The conflict was begun. David, the father, sat between the gates of the palace waiting for the tidings of the conflict. Oh, how rapidly his heart beat with emotion! Two great questions were to be decided: the safety of his boy, and the continuance of the throne of Israel. After a while a servant, standing on the top of a house, looks off, and he sees some one running. He is coming with great speed, and the man on the top of the house announces the coming of the messenger, and the father watches and waits; and as soon as the messenger from the field of battle comes within hailing distance the father cries out. Is it a question in regard to the establishment of his throne? Does he say: "Have the armies of Israel been victorious? Am I to continue in my imperial authority? Have I overthrown my enemies?" Oh, no! There is one question that springs from his heart to the lip, and springs from the lip into the ear of the besweated and befoamed messenger flying from the battle-field—the question: "Is the young man, Absalom, safe?" When it was told to David, the king, that, though his armies had been victorious, his son had been slain, the father turned his back upon the congratulations of the nation, and went up the stairs of the palace, his heart breaking as he went, wringing his hands sometimes, and then again pressing them against his temples as though he would press them in, crying: "O Absalom! my son, my son! Would God I had died for thee, O Absalom! my son! my son!" Stupendous grief of David resounding through all succeeding ages. This was the city that heard the woe. O Jerusalem, Jerusalem!

I am also thrilled and overpowered with the remembrance that yonder, where now stands a Mohammedan mosque, stood the temple, the very one that Christ visited. Solomon's temple had stood there, but Nebuchadnezzar thundered it down. Zerubbabel's temple had stood there, but that had been prostrated. Then Herod built a temple because he was fond of great architecture, and he wanted the preceding temples to seem insignificant. Put eight or ten modern cathedrals together and they would not equal that structure. It covered nineteen acres. There were marble pillars supporting roofs of cedar, and silver tables on which stood golden cups, and there were carvings exquisite and inscriptions resplendent, glittering balustrades and ornamented gateways. The building of this temple kept ten thousand workmen busy for forty-six years. Stupendous pile of pomp and magnificence! But the material and architectural grandeur of the building were very tame compared with the spiritual meaning of its altars and holy of holies, and the overwhelming significance of its ceremonies. O Jerusalem, Jerusalem!

CHRIST'S LAST VISIT THERE.

But standing in this old city all other facts are eclipsed when we think that here [illegible] our blessed Lord was born, that up and down the streets of this city he walked, and that in the outskirts of it he died. Here was his only day of triumph, and his [illegible] crowd of wondering people. The excitement around the door of the cottage is wild as the stranger [illegible] had never been mounted, and after his friends had strewn their garments on the beast for a saddle, the Saviour mounts it, and the populace, excited, and shouting, and feverish, push on back toward the city of Jerusalem. Let some one jeer now or scoff at this rider, or the populace will trample him under foot in an instant. There is one long shout of two miles, and as far as the eye can reach you see wavings of demonstration and approval. There was something in the rider's visage, something in his majestic brow, something in his princely behavior, that stirs up the enthusiasm of the people. They run up against the beast and try to pull the rider off into their arms, and carry on their shoulders the illustrious stranger. The populace are so excited that they hardly know what to do with themselves, and some rush up to the roadside trees and wrench off branches and throw them in his way; and others doff their garments, what though they be new and costly, and spread them for a carpet for the conqueror to ride over. "Hosanna!" cry the people at the foot of the hill. "Hosanna!" cry the people all up and down the mountain. The procession has now come to the brow of yonder Olivet. Magnificent prospect reaching out in every direction—vineyards, olive groves, jutting rock, silvery Siloam, and above all, rising on its throne of hills, this most highly honored city of all the earth, Jerusalem. Christ there, in the midst of the procession, looks off and sees here fortressed gates, and yonder the circling wall, and here the towers blazing in the sun, Phasaelus and Mariamne. Yonder is Hippicus, the king's castle. Looking along in the range of the larger branch of that olive tree, you see the mansions of the merchant princes. Through this cleft in the limestone rock you see the palace of the richest trafficker in all the earth. He has made his money by selling Tyrian purple. Behold now the temple! Clouds of smoke lifting from the shimmering roof, while the building rises up beautiful, grand, majestic, the architectural skill and glory of the earth, lifting themselves there in one triumphant doxology, the frozen prayer of all nations.

[illegible]

PERSONALITY OF CHRIST.

The crowd looked around to see exhilaration and transport in the face of Christ. Oh, no! Out from amid the gates, and the domes, and the palaces, there arose a vision of this city's sin, and of this city's doom, which obliterated the landscape from horizon to horizon, and he burst into tears, crying: "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem!" But that was the only day of pomp that Jesus saw in and around this city. Yet he walked the streets of this city the loveliest and most majestic being the world ever saw or ever will see. Publius Lentulus, in a letter to the Roman senate, describes him as "a man of stature somewhat tall; his hair the color of a chestnut fully ripe, plain to the ears, whence downward it is more orient, curling and waving about the shoulders; in the midst of his forehead is a stream, or partition of his hair; forehead plain, and very delicate; his face without spot or wrinkle, a lovely red; his nose and mouth so formed as nothing can be represented; his beard thick, in color like his hair—not very long; his eyes gray, quick and clear." He must die. The French army in Italy found a brass plate on which was a copy of his death warrant, signed by John Zerubbabel, Raphael Robani, Daniel Robani and Capet.

Sometimes men on the way to the scaffold have been rescued by the mob. No such attempt was made in this case, for the mob were against him. From 9 in the morning till 3 in the afternoon, Jesus hung a-dying in the outskirts of this city. It was a scene of blood. We are so constituted that nothing is so exciting as blood. It is not the child's cry in the street that so arouses you as the crimson dripping from its lip. In the dark hall, seeing the finger marks of blood on the plastering, you cry: "What terrible deed has been done here?" Looking upon this outraged victim of the cross, we thrill with the sight of blood—blood dripping from thorn and nail, blood rushing upon his cheek, blood saturating his garments, blood gathered in a pool beneath. It is called an honor to have in one's veins the blood of the house of Stuart, or of the house of Hapsburg. Is it nothing when I point you to the outpouring blood of the king of the universe?

In England the name of Henry was so great that its honors were divided among different reigns. It was Henry the First, and Henry the Second, and Henry the Third, and Henry the Fourth, and Henry the Fifth. In France the name of Louis was so favorably regarded that it was Louis the First, Louis the Second, Louis the Third, and so on. But the king who walked these streets was Christ the First, Christ the Last, and Christ the Only. He reigned before the czar mounted the throne of Russia, or the throne of Austria was lifted. "King Eternal, Immortal." Through the indulgences of the royal family, the physical life degenerates, and some of the kings have been almost imbecile, and their bodies weak, and their blood thin and watery; but the crimson life that flowed upon Calvary had in it the health of the immortal God.

THE DEATH AND RESURRECTION.

Tell it now to all the earth and to all the heavens—Jesus, our king, is sick with his last sickness. Let couriers carry the swift dispatch. His pains are worse; he is breathing a last groan; through his body quivers the last anguish; the king is dying; the king is dead! It is royal blood.

It is said that some religionists make too much of the humanity of Christ. I respond that we make too little. If some Roman surgeon standing under the cross had caught one drop of the blood on his hand and analyzed it, it would have been found to have the same plasma, the same disk, the same fibrin, the same albumen. It was unmistakably human blood. It is a man that hangs there. His bones are of the same material as ours. His nerves are sensitive like ours. If it were an angel being despoiled I would not feel it so much, for it belongs to a different order of beings. But my Saviour is a man, and my whole sympathy is aroused. I can imagine how the spikes felt—how hot the temples burned—what deathly sickness seized his heart—how mountain and city and mob swam away from his dying vision—something of the meaning of that cry for help that makes the blood of all the ages curdle with horror, "My God! my God! why hast thou forsaken me?"

Forever with all these scenes of a Saviour's suffering will this city be associated. Here his unjust trial and here his death. O Jerusalem, Jerusalem!

But finally, I am thrilled with the fact that this city is a symbol of heaven, which is only another Jerusalem. "The New Jerusalem!" And this thought has kindled the imagination of all the sacred poets. I am glad that Horatio Bonar, the Scotch hymnist, rummaged among old manuscripts of the British museum until he found that hymn in ancient spelling, parts of which we have in mutilated form in our modern hymn books, but the quaint power of which we do not get in our modern versions:

> Hierusalem, my happy home!
> When shall I come to thee?
> When shall my sorrowes have an end,
> Thy joyes when shall I see?
>
> Noe dampish mist is seene in thee,
> Noe colde nor darksome night;
> There everie soule shines as the sunne,
> There God himselfe gives light.
>
> Thy walls are made of precious stones,
> Thy bulwarkes diamondes square;
> Thy gates are of right orient pearle,
> Exceedinge riche and rare.
>
> Thy terrettes and thy pinnacles
> With carbuncles doe shine;
> Thy verie streets are paved with gould,
> Surpassinge cleare and fine.
>
> Thy houses are of yvorie,
> Thy windoes crystal cleare,
> Thy tyles are made of beaten gould,
> O God that I were there.
>
> Our sweete is mixt with bitter gaule,
> Our pleasure is but paine;
> Our joyes scarce last the lookeing on,
> Our sorrowes stille remaine.
>
> But there they live in such delight,
> Such pleasure and such play,
> As that to them a thousand yeares
> Doth seeme as yesterday.
>
> Thy gardens and thy gallant walkes
> Continually are greene;
> There growe such sweete and pleasant flowers
> As noe where eles are seene.
>
> There trees forevermore beare fruite,
> And evermore doe springe;
> [illegible]

FREEHOLDERS' PROCEEDINGS.

[OFFICIAL.]

ELIZABETH, Nov. 7, 1889.

[illegible] Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, held [illegible] Wright, Whaley—17.

[illegible]

way or roadway, and ten feet in the clear on each side of the roadway for sidewalks; and said bridge to be built so as to leave at least twelve feet in the clear, between the bottom of the bridge and the surface of the roadway and sidewalks, but in order for this to be done, it was further agreed that this board would excavate or cut down the said roadway or turnpike to the depth of three feet underneath said bridge, and the said railroad company to pay the expense thereof, not to exceed, however, the [illegible] paid for excavation on said turnpike, in constructing the county road. We would, therefore, recommend that an agreement to the above effect be made with said railroad company, to be approved by county attorney.

J. Martin Roll, William H. Briant, Bradford Jones, Chas. D. Whaley, George W. Doty, Committee.

Freeholder Kyte moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

RESOLUTIONS.

By Freeholder Thompson:

Resolved, That in opinion of this board the bridge over Robinson's branch in Clark township, near house of George Bender, was in an unsafe condition and necessary to be rebuilt, that the contract having been awarded and materials of the ground, it is now too late to rescind action on the same, but if the road spoken of in the petition signed by George Hartshorne and others is properly laid out and the other road vacated, this bridge can be removed or a new one built, and that the action taken by the committee is perfectly justifiable and the same is hereby approved and sustained.

Freeholder Roll moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Vanderbeek:

Resolved, That three hundred and twelve dollars and fifty cents be paid to the Penn Bridge company for balance due on iron bridge over Green Brook, Grant avenue, Plainfield, when bill is properly approved by the committee.

Freeholder Howard moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Vanderbeek:

Resolved, That one thousand dollars be paid Rickard & Farrier on account of contract for mason work on Somerset street bridge, Plainfield, from special deficiency fund, when bill is presented to collector properly sworn to and approved by the committee.

Freeholder West moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Houston:

Resolved, That the bill of the New Jersey Dry Dock company, amounting to eighteen dollars and forty cents, for repairs to South Front street bridge, Elizabeth, be paid when properly audited.

Freeholder Donahue moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Roll:

Resolved, That the bill of Trengrove & Palmer for building line bridge between Union and Essex counties at Springfield near Campbell's mills, amounting to $480 as per contract, be paid from special deficiency account when properly audited and approved.

Freeholder Vanderbeek moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder West:

Resolved, That the sum of $500 heretofore appropriated under the laws of 1886 for charity hospitals be appropriated as follows: Seventy per cent. of $350 to the Elizabeth General Hospital and Dispensary of Elizabeth, N. J., and the remaining thirty per cent. of the $350 to the Muhlenberg Hospital of Plainfield, N. J., and that the county collector be and is hereby authorized and directed to pay the above named sums to the respective treasurers of said institutions without delay.

Freeholder Kleinhans moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Roll:

Resolved, That an agreement be entered into with the New York and Newark Railroad company concerning the bridges to be erected over Morris turnpike by said railroad in accordance with the report and recommendations made by the committees on said bridges, and that the director be authorized to execute the same on behalf of this board.

Freeholder Thompson moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Vanderbeek:

Resolved, That when this Board adjourns it be to meet on Thursday, Nov. 21, 1889, at 2:30 o'clock P. M.

On motion of Freeholder Thompson adopted unanimously.

The following bills audited and approved were read and ordered paid by a unanimous vote:

Stationery—Elizabeth Daily Journal, $6 50.

Publication—Elizabeth Daily Journal, $25; do., 20 40; Union County Standard, 25; Cook & Hall, 25; H. R. Rollinson, 25.

Public buildings—E. P. Edwards, $39.81; do., 24 49; do., 9 50; Protection Engine Co. No. 1 50; Spear & Hubbard, 11 [illegible]; Philip Brummer, [illegible]; Elizabethtown Gas Light Co., 30 11; David H. Chatfield, 13; E. P. Edwards, 40 57.

Jail account—J. O. Pinneo, $62 50; W. S. Tucker, 15 25; Charles W. Dodd, 337 50; do., 12 85; Mrs. Fanny Dodd, 75; John Klippel, 6 25; Bender Bros., 56 03; James O. Brokaw, 16 42; W. C. Baker, 23 12; J. W. Hildebrandt & Co., 27 10; C. A. Harris, 79 01; Henry J. Schmidt, 70 40; M. S. Newberry, 33 64.

County roads—F. A. Dunham, $1,530 50; Daily Advertiser, 5; Bernard Mahon, 1,947 96; H. G. Wood, 3,509 25; Bernard Mahon, 4,145 56; B. M. & J. F. Shandley, 3,782 80; do., 3,291 82; American Bank Note Company, 140.

Elections—Chas. E. Reed, $35; A. Lehman, 200.

Court—C. Addison Swift, $101 15; B. M. Rogers, 50; Wm. E. Sameson, 101 50; Jas. T. Wiley, 130; T. F. McCormick, 294 66; H. W. Knight, 210; Geo. Neill, 9; do., 30 45; F. F. Glasby, sheriff, 9 75; do., 165 60; do., 618 02; W. R. Wilson, 250; John H. Hughes, 87; John L. Crowell, 105; J. T. Wiley, 25; Eli M. Barber, 94 25; John A. Staats, 150; A. Moffett, 101 50; Henry Smith, 72 50; James J. Carey, 85; Jas. H. White, 94 25; Henry J. Schappe, 72 50; John Dixon, 72 50; Isaac A. Bunn, 87; Wm. H. Sault, 72 50; John B. McGrath, 101 50; John M. C. Marsh, 94 25; John B. Runyon, 72 50.

Salary—F. W. Westcott, $100; Chas. E. Reed, 25; E. M. Wood, 250; C. D. Ward, 75.

Incidentals—E. M. Wood, $50 90; C. D. Ward, 188; John L. Crowell, 144 26; Chas. E. Reed, 8 50; W. E. Sameson, 35.

Committee expense account—J. Martin Roll, $19; Jas. T. Pierson, 12 55; Robert G. Houston, 6 45; Bradford Jones, 5 65; George Kyte, 19 17; A. Vanderbeek, 2 45.

Members' pay account—Jas. T. Pierson, $48; Robt. G. Houston, 38; Wm. H. Briant, 38; Wm. Howard, 87 10; A. Vanderbeek, 50; Chas. D. Whaley, 40; Geo. Wright, 38 30; Bradford Jones, 41; J. Martin Roll, 153 60; Geo. Kyte, 70 22.

Bridge account—Newark Quarry Company, $16 74; Wm. Chamberlain, 23 10; Wm. H. Hughes, 14; do., 115; John T. Moore, 205 52; do., 105 [illegible]; do., 11 32; Albert Merrick, Rahway, 16 03; Charles A. Smith, Fanwood, 146 25; Jas. G. Moore, 260; Henry Bindenberger, Cranford, 49 75; E. V. Garthwaite, 225; N. T. Hakley, Union, 8; Wm. D. Johnson, 75; Francis Bartell, Fanwood, 12 50; John Dowd, 24 20; do., 22; M. E. Newberry, Elizabeth, 1,400; Jas. G. Moore, 190 98; do. 1,000; N. S. Oakley, 15 60; Jas. W. Hope, 43 10; Adam Gerlach, 30 25; do., 36 25; Henry Krouse, Linden, 7; Henry Krouse, Fanwood, 29; Wm. Runkle, Linden, 168 60; Wm. Runkle, Rahway, 48 30; Chauncey B. Ripley, Westfield, 117; Alfred Bonnell, 13 20; Thos. Thompson, Clark, 20 32; Penn Bridge Company, 325; Aaron L. Jimerson, 100; Brokaw & Cain, 19 13; Geo. M. Angleman, Plainfield, 43; Chas. T. Corby, 119 22; John S. Woodruff, 196 45; W. F. Denman, 37 35; V. Sayre, Springfield, 12; D. W. Day & Son, 50 60; E. G. Delaney, Summit, 55; D. W. Day & Son, 12 20; Robert Clark, 26 02; Chas. J. Drake, 45; Peter Frazer, New Providence, 30.

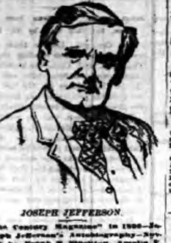
SPECIAL DEFICIENCY.

Bridge account—Wm. Chamberlain, Rahway, $5 10; Dennis Long, Union, 495; John Tunison, 150; J. B. Bangbart, Union, 2; The Lawrence Cement Co., Fanwood, 67 50; Walter Armitage, Elizabeth, 46; Chas. A. Smith, 75 78; E. T. Tappen, 41; M. J. Boyne, 28; Wm. H. Hughes, Clark, 152; Wm. Schoonover, 6; James Owen, 50; Alfred Bonnell, 70 12; Wm. H. Hughes, 400; A. B. Clark, Westfield, 150; A. Hoffman, 4; Jas. H. Garrier, 18 75; John C. Meeker, 11 76; F. M. French, 15; do., 200; Brokaw & Cain, 4 00; do., 33 63; Geo. M. Angleman, 3 50; John C. Meeker, 25 [illegible]; Jas. Owen, 50; Eugene Moon, 604 40; D. J. Boice, estate, 63 30; Geo. Conover, 17 63; Finton Hibbitts, Plainfield, 59 36; A. F. Carter, 58; A. J. Kolster, 96 75; do., 109 40; Chas. T. Corby, Springfield, 54 43; do., Union, 24 43; Chas. R. VanHouten, 17 13; Chas. T. Corby, 250 38; John S. Woodruff, 82 40; do., Union, 60 40; Wm. B. Denman, 18 [illegible]; do., 19 [illegible]; John S. Woodruff, 421 78; Wm. B. Denman, 25 77; Dunn & Goode, 500; Patrick Kelly, 14; Patrick Murphy, 70; D. W. Day & Son, Summit, 90 20; Benj. Robinson, 41; A. C. Doty, 21 15; John Maxwell, 23 74; Jos. Frazer, New Providence, 15.

Freeholder Howard moved to adjourn. Which was carried.

The Director declared the Board adjourned to Thursday, Nov. 21, 1889, at 2:30 P. M.

CHAS. E. REED, Clerk.



JOSEPH JEFFERSON.

"The Century Magazine" in 1890—Joseph Jefferson's Autobiography—Novels by Frank R. Stockton, Amelia E. Barr, and others—A Capital Programme.

DURING 1890 The Century Magazine (whose recent successes have included the famous "War Papers," the Lincoln History and George Kennan's series on "Siberia and the Exile System") will publish the long looked-for Autobiography of Joseph Jefferson, whose "Rip van Winkle" has made his name a household word. No more interesting record of a life upon the stage could be laid before the public. Mr. Jefferson is the fourth in a generation of actors, and, with his children and grandchildren, there are six generations of actors among the Jeffersons. His story of the early days of the American stage, when, as a boy traveling in his father's company, they would settle down for a season in a Western town, playing in their own extemporized theater,—the particulars of the creation of his famous "Rip van Winkle," how he acted "Ticket-of-Leave Man" before an audience of that class in Australia, etc.,—all this, enriched with illustrations and portraits of contemporary actors and actresses, and with anecdotes, will form one of the most delightful serials The Century has ever printed.

Amelia E. Barr, Frank R. Stockton, Mark Twain, H. H. Boyesen, and many other well-known writers will furnish the fiction for the new volume, which is to be unusually strong, including several novels, illustrated novelettes, and short stories. "The Women of the French Salons" are to be described in a brilliant series of illustrated papers. The important discoveries made with the great Lick Telescope at San Francisco (the largest telescope in the world) and the latest explorations relating to prehistoric America (including the famous Serpent Mound, of Ohio) are to be chronicled in The Century. Prof. George P. Fisher of Yale University, is to write a series on "The Nature and Method of Revelation," which will attract every Bible student. Bishop Potter of New York will be one of several prominent writers who are to contribute a series of "Present-day Papers" on living topics, and there will be art papers, timely articles, etc., etc., and the choicest pictures that the greatest artists and engravers can produce.

Every bookseller, postmaster, and subscription agent takes subscriptions to The Century ($4 00 a year), or remittance may be made directly to the publishers, THE CENTURY CO., of New York. Begin new subscriptions with November (the first issue of the volume) and get Mark Twain's story, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," in that number.

ST. NICHOLAS.

The Century Co's Magazine for Young Folks. Enlarged and Printed in New Type.

Since 1873, when under the editorial management of Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, the publication of St. Nicholas for Young Folks was begun, it has led all magazines for girls and boys. Nothing like it was known before, and today, as the Chicago Inter-Ocean recently said, "it is the model and ideal juvenile magazine of the world." Through its pages the greatest writers of our time are speaking to the youth of America and England, and the best artists and engravers are training the eyes of the boys and girls to appreciate the highest in art. Nobody knows how many readers St. Nicholas has. In the third largest public library in America—that in Indianapolis—more than 3,000 people read each month's number.

Since the first issue Mrs. Dodge has remained as editor. Early in its history other young people's magazines, "Our Young Folks," "The Little Corporal," "Riverside," etc., were consolidated with it, and its history has been one of growth from the first. Tennyson, Bryant, Longfellow, Whittier, Miss Alcott, Mrs. Burnett, Charles Dudley Warner, W. D. Howells, and almost every well-known writer of our time have contributed to its pages. There is only one way in which its conductors can make it better, and that is by making more of it, and so they announce that with the beginning of the seventeenth volume (November, 1889) St. Nicholas will be enlarged by the addition of eight, and sometimes sixteen, extra pages in each number. This enlargement is absolutely required to make room for the rich store of new material which has been secured for the benefit of St. Nicholas readers. The use of new and clearer type will be begun with the November number.

During the coming year there are to be four important serial stories by four well-known American authors. Athletics and outdoor sports will be a special feature (contributed by Walter Camp, of Yale, and others), and there will be stories of character and adventure, sketches of information and travel, outdoor papers, articles of special literary interest, suggestive talks on natural history, other scientific subjects, and the march of events. Both the December and January numbers are to be holiday issues.

The price will be the same as heretofore, $3.00 a year, 25 cents a number, and all dealers and the publishers (The Century Co., New York) take subscriptions. New subscribers should begin with November.

LEGAL NOTICES.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, administrator of Andrew Love, senior, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday the twenty-second day of January next.
Dated November 13th, 1889.

ANDREW LOVE, JR.
11-21 w10

NOTICE. NOVEMBER 8TH, 1889.

Estate of Sarah M. Latimer, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

NELSON RUNYON,
WILLIAM H. SHOTWELL,
JAMES F. MACDONALD,
Executors.
11-14 w10

NOTICE. NOVEMBER 8TH, 1889.

Estate of Harriet A. Coit, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made on the application of the undersigned, executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

CHARLES S. GUION,
ALFRED A. FREEMAN,
Executors.
11-14 w10

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors.

SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

ESTATE OF Jeremiah B. VanDeventer, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that on the second day of December, A. D. 1889, on the application of Caroline B. [illegible] and Augustus J. [illegible], as executors of Jeremiah B. VanDeventer, deceased; an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of Jeremiah B. VanDeventer, deceased, to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent, under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said executors within NINE months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor shall be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said executors.

ABM. T. HUFF, Surrogate.
12-5-9w

AN ORDINANCE

For changing the name of Putnam street.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

SECTION 1.—That the name of the street now known as Putnam Street be changed so as to be hereafter designated by the name of [illegible] Avenue.

Adopted December 2, 1889.
Approved by the Mayor December 3, 1889.
JOHN ULRICH, Mayor.
Attest: O. B. LEONARD, City Clerk.

LEGAL NOTICES.

1889.
TAXES!

Notice is hereby to the Taxpayers of

THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD,

That the Taxes assessed in said city for the year 1889, are now due and payable, and that

If the said Taxes be not paid by the 20th day of December Next,

the names of the defaulters, with their respective Taxes will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution.

The Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council chamber on the FOURTH TUESDAY IN NOVEMBER NEXT (the 26th), and sit from 2 o'clock P. M. until 5 o'clock P. M., or longer if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.
Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1, 1889. 10-3-1-w

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors.

SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

Estate of George W. Townley, Deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the twenty-seventh day of September, A. D. 1889, on the application of William H. Shotwell, administrator of George W. Townley, deceased; an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of George W. Townley, deceased, to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent, under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said Administrator within NINE months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor shall be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said Administrator.

ABM. T. HUFF, Surrogate.
10-3-9w

RAILROADS.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA.

PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after Nov. 10, 1889, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

8:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, dining car from Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Columbus, Cleveland and St. Louis daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars and dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South— [illegible]

For Philadelphia, [illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:20 P. M. (Through car.) week-days. For Cape May, 1:20 P. M., week-days.

For Trenton—[illegible]

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 50 A. M.; 1 29, 2 24 and 5 36 P. M.

For Flemington—7 50 A. M.; 1 29 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey

Station in New York—Foot Liberty Street.

Time Table in Effect Nov. 10, 1889.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave New York from foot of Liberty Street, [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Newark—[illegible]

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Somerville [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Easton [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 9 37, a. m., 5 20, p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5.12, a. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8.07 a. m. for Flemington, Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9.37 a. m.—For High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

2.04, p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4.34, p. m.—For Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Drifton, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

5.20, p. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton.

6.21, p. m.—For Flemington.

6.36, p. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. [illegible] Sundays, for Easton. [illegible] Sundays, for Easton, Allentown and Mauch Chunk. [illegible] Sundays, for Easton, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. [illegible] Sundays, for Easton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City—At [illegible] a. m., 12 [illegible] p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield [illegible] Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) [illegible]

For Perth Amboy—[illegible]

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, [illegible]

For Baltimore and Washington at [illegible]

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA—

Ninth and Green streets, [illegible]

From 24th and Chestnut—[illegible]

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker streets, [illegible]

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, Gen'l Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

INSURANCE.

FIRE INSURANCE!

The undersigned having been appointed agent for the

Star and Merchants Fire Insurance Co's of the City of New York, is prepared to write contracts of indemnity against loss by Fire and solicits applications from the citizens of Plainfield and vicinity.

NATHAN HARPER.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

J. C. Pope & Co.,
GENERAL AGENTS OF THE
German American Ins. Co.,
of New York.
Also represents other first-class Fire Insurance Companies. Agents of the Inman Steamship Line. Drafts on Ireland for sale. Stock and City National Bank Stock Bought and Sold. Also,
BUILDING LOTS
And Other Real Estate for sale.
OFFICE:
6 E. FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD.
JAMES C. POPE. ELIAS R. POPE.

PEERLESS [illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS | MISCELLANEOUS.

THE FALL OF 1889

BRINGS WITH IT many new styles, and much that is novel and [illegible] some in the line of man's attire. We are exceedingly particular [illegible] our clothes are cut and made. The very best Custom Cutters [illegible] positions in our employ. While we go in for appearances to the fullest extent, we are ever mindful of quality. If you will call and inspect our Fall Suits and Overcoats for Men and Boys you will note the extreme [illegible] and evident durability of every Coat, Vest and Pair of Trousers THROUGH THE WHOLE STOCK. We stake our reputation on the thoroughness of our work. You can get a suit for $8, $10, $12, $15 or $18, or an Overcoat, light or medium weight, all shades, silk facings and linings, for $10 or $12. We wish to convince you that our house deserves your custom. It does!

J. MARSHALL & BALL,

CLOTHIERS,

807, 809, 811, 813 BROAD STREET

10-10-3m

PIANOS. PIANOS.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,

Steinway,
(The Standard Piano of the World,)
Emerson,
S. G. Chickering,
Sterling,
And all Standard Makes of
Pianos and Parlor Organs.

Sole Agent for New Jersey for the SABLER Patent Metal Action Frame UPRIGHT PIANOS, the most popular Piano made. Musicians like it, singers like it, the PEOPLE like it, EVERYBODY likes it.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at the lowest prices ever given in Newark. A FIRST-CLASS UPRIGHT PIANO for $260 CASH, or $290 ON INSTALLMENTS. $10 MONTHLY until paid for. TELEPHONE 760.

S. D. LAUTER CO.,
657 AND 659 BROAD STREET, NEWARK, N. J.

12-14-y

SPECIAL NOTICE.

New Store! New Goods! New Firm

BARKALEW & DUNN,

Fancy and Staple Grocers,

NO. 18 NORTH AVENUE

We sell for Cash and will give Special Inducements

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion, Without injurious medication.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 182 Fulton Street, N. Y.

7-18-2y

A MAN

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MAGNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels (furnishing meals at seasonable hours) west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake and Sioux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, General Manager.
CHICAGO, ILL.
JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass. Agent.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXII. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1889. No. 51.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

H. L. FORCE & L. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.

AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.

TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
[illegible]

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
[illegible]

DR. CHARLES E. [illegible],
Dentist,
[illegible]

H. [illegible],
Auctioneer,
[illegible]

OSCAR S. TEALE,
Architect,
[illegible]

J. [illegible],
Veterinary Surgeon.
[illegible]

F. A. DUNHAM,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor.
[illegible]

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. Van Arsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
[illegible]

JOHN CHANDLER,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
[illegible] 10 East 3d St.
[illegible]

LUTKINS & HUMMER,
Dealers in
Butter, Eggs & Produce.
Meats of All Kinds,
FRUITS and VEGETABLES IN THEIR SEASON.
No. 14 PARK AVENUE, Plainfield, New Jersey.
Goods delivered in any part of the city.
A. LUTKINS. L. A. HUMMER.

Plainfield District Telegraph and Fire Alarm Co.
Prompt Messenger Service Furnished.
Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co.
LOW RATES. QUICK SERVICE. MONEY TRANSFERRED BY TELEGRAPH. COMMUTATION STAMPS FOR SALE.
OFFICE—4 PARK AVENUE.
W. S. SLITER, Manager.

TO THE PUBLIC!

We wish to inform our customers and the public generally that we have on hand the best quality of

LEHIGH COAL,
Fresh from the Mines.

It is under cover and well protected from the weather. We are prepared to deliver it well screened and in good order promptly. We are also prepared to furnish all kinds of seasoned Lumber and Masons' Materials at short notice.

A. D. COOK & BRO.

J. Harvey Doane,
6 PARK AVENUE.
(Formerly Clark's.)
Watches,
Clocks
And Jewelry.
Repairing neatly and promptly done.

Steam Marble Granite Works.
AND
Monuments & Headstones.
Fencing for Cemetery Plots
Large assortment of Slate Mantels
A large variety of Granite Monuments
[illegible]

Geo. A. Moore,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
[illegible]
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE.
[illegible]

Alex. Willett,
DEALER IN
BOOTS & SHOES,
No. 4 PARK AVENUE.
[illegible]

HOTELS AND SALOONS.

FORCE'S HOTEL,
NORTH AVENUE, (Near R. R. Station.)
JAS. M. FORCE, Prop'r.
A FIRST CLASS FAMILY HOTEL. [illegible]
[illegible]

TURF EXCHANGE HOTEL.
73 Courtlandt street,
CORNER WASHINGTON, NEW YORK CITY.
FRED. W. BALLARD, - - Proprietor,
[illegible]
PURE WINES, LIQUORS AND SEGARS.

SOMERSET HOTEL,
Cor. Somerset & Emily Sts., North Plainfield N. J.
[illegible]

C. E. JOHNSON,
of the firm of Shepherd, Johnson & Godown,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Office—No. 27 Central Avenue, Plainfield, N. J. [illegible]

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
[illegible]
Goods received on consignment.

Dime Savings Institution
OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.
JOHN W. MURRAY, President,
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice "
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS, BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

MICHAEL UHDAL,
CONTRACTOR
AND LANDSCAPE GARDENER!
Residence:
NETHERWOOD, NEW JERSEY.
P. O. BOX 787, PLAINFIELD.

GO TO
DICKINSON & CLAWSON,
JEWELERS, 13 Park Avenue,
For your
Fine Gold Watches,
CLOCKS, JEWELRY,
and SILVERWARE.
Sole agents for KING'S SPECTACLES and EYE-GLASSES, the BEST MADE, and CHEAPEST in the end.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches [illegible]
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 9 NORTH AVE. [illegible] Plainfield, N. J.

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CATARRH
COLD
HAY FEVER

CATARRH ELY'S CREAM BALM
Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell.
HAY-FEVER TRY THE CURE.
A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at Druggists; by mail, registered, 60 cents. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren street, New York.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing,)
Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
[illegible]
RIDING OR LIVERY.
[illegible]
TELEPHONE CALL NO. 66.

Livery Stables!
MR. D. S. ROBERTS
Has Removed to His New Building on
NORTH AVENUE,
[illegible]

EDUCATIONAL.

DODWORTH'S
CLASSES FOR
Dancing & Deportment,
SEMINARY HALL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.,
Commencing Wednesday, Oct. 30, '89,
From 3½ to 6½ P. M.
Circulars may be obtained of Miss E. E. Kenyon, at the Seminary.
THOS. J. DODWORTH,
Residence—[illegible] Fulton ave., N. Y. City.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. D. WOOLSTON, A. F. BUCKLE
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTERS SUPPLIES, 38 NORTH AVENUE.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mme. J. BERNARD,
ASTROLOGIST,
Residence—Harmony street, North Plainfield, fourth house from Somerset street, left hand side. Information inquired as regards present and future events, illness, marriages, journeys, law suits, etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. She converses
in English, German and French.
My husband is a first-class Cooper, and repairs tubs, pails, barrels, etc., cheap for cash.

Low Pressure Steam Heat
Introduced into Churches, Schools, Dwellings, Offices, Stores, etc.
STEAM FITTING, and STEAM FITTERS' SUPPLIES for sale.
Estimates cheerfully furnished for Heating and Ventilation.
JOHN N. SCHENCK.
Box 1081. Race St., North Plainfield.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
[Successor to T. J. Carey.]
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—14 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 166. Piano moving a specialty.

G. W. FORCE,
11 West Front street.
Opening of
FALL AND WINTER STOCK
Boots and Shoes at Low Prices
A FINE GRADE OF GOODS TO SELECT FROM.
11 West Front street,
G. W. FORCE.

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes, Menus,
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation,
Everything

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST.

DAILY PRESS

(Chautauqua Building),

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

R. R. FAIRCHILD,
Furniture & Bedding,
21 EAST FRONT STREET.

A Large Assortment of
Parlor Suites,
Bedroom Suites,
Lounges,
Tables
AND
Chairs,
The Largest Stock and the Lowest Prices.
Call and See for Yourselves.
3 DOORS BELOW P. O.

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
FOURTH STREET,
[illegible]

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR,
The best 5 cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest stock.
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobaccos always on hand.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in HAVANA & DOMESTIC
—SEGARS!!—
No. 28 PARK AVE., (near corner of SECOND ST.) PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials, of every description.
The celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco, with other popular brands constantly on hand.

"EXPERIENCE MAKES PERFECT!" What does inexperience make? A pretender!! What does the house owner get? He gets the results!!! What are they likely to be? Value for his Money on one hand; a chance of a fire or funeral on the other; good intentions proven neither.
MORAL.—Organized 1881. Incorporated 1882. At the head of the profession 1894.
The Electric Construction and Supply Co.
Stephens Building, Cortlandt St., N. Y. Plainfield office—18 North avenue.

JAMES K. ARNOLD,
GROCER,
Corner Somerset and Chatham Sts., North Plainfield.

N. B. Smalley,
DEALER IN
Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, Etc.
18 SOMERSET STREET, NORTH PLAINFIELD.
Orders called for and delivered. A share of the public patronage is solicited.

Benj. F. Moore,
[Late of Moore Bros.]
BUTCHER,
And dealer in FRESH AND SALT MEATS, POULTRY, etc., corner North avenue and Peace street, will be open and ready for business Wednesday, March 20th. Orders called for and promptly delivered.

E. B. MAYNARD
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE,
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residence. Shaving, Shampooing, &c., satisfactorily performed.

Fresh Garden Seeds,
Garden Tools,
Ranges, Laundry Stoves,
CUTLERY, &c.
N. H. & J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 13 SOMERSET ST.

THE JAPANESE
ARE GREAT PEOPLE
At manufacturing fancy articles of all kind. There is an exhibition of their handiwork at Randolph's City Pharmacy!
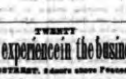
That is well worth looking at. Something never before shown in a Plainfield. Suitable presents for all.
Take your prescriptions there, and look at the stock whilst you wait.
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

School Books,
New and Second-hand.
School Supplies,
Large Assortment, Lowest Prices, at
ALLEN'S,
THE STATIONER,
23 East Front Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE.
Hugo Weigman,
10 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

TWENTY
Years experience in the business.
SECOND STREET, 2 doors above Peacestreet



BY JOHN E. STEVENS Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to Interfering, Forging, Stumbling and Interfering Horses. [illegible]

Accommodation Express.
PETER RICKERT, Proprietor
[illegible]

POETIC BRILLIANTS.

Not Yet.

The child who plays amid the nodding grass—
The wild-flower's home, the butterfly's dear haunt—
Hears in the softly-scented winds that pass
Echoes of voices far and sad which chant:
"Not yet."

The youth who pores o'er many a ponderous book
Till daylight sparkles in the distant sky,
Dreaming of fame with fixed, enraptured look,
Hears in their footsteps as the years pass by:
"Not yet."

The old man, whom kind Death, with gentle hands,
Beckons to sleep, looks back o'er all his years,
Gathers their few poor sheaves and humbly stands,
For at the portal waiting still he hears!
"Not yet."

—Margaret Thomas, in Youth's Companion.

In One Meter.

The nights are longer growing,
For wintry days are here,
And soon the firelight glowing
We'll value something dear.
Alas! 'mid all things sweeter
A certain ill doth lurk:
Too well we know the meter
Is getting in its work.

Ah! while John Henry lingers
Beside the parlor grate,
And holds Sue's taper fingers,
Unthinking it is late,
Sue's father hears the ticking—
Ill-omened notes of woe—
The meter's steady clicking
That comes up from below.

Then doth the pair, caressing,
Forget all else but love,
Nor think how they're distressing
The sire, one flight above;
Then on the parent worries,
While pallid grows his face;
Then on the meter hurries
Its record-breaking race.

—Boston Budget.

A Love Song.

Dearest dear, if thou wouldst measure
What to me is measureless,
Half the pain or half the pleasure
Of my love's great tenderness,
I will touch my heart-strings for thee—
Sings to thee it doth belong—
And the echo shall adore thee
In a song within a song.

As the sun is—to the flowers,
As the stars—to midnight skies;
As the rainbow—to the showers,
As the light—to sightless eyes;
As the flame is—to the fire,
As the breeze is—to the sea;
As the gain—to the desire,
So, dear heart, art thou to me!

—Once a Week.

Frost-Bitten.

The same dear eyes! the same dear hair,
A vanished summer bring to mind,
Till once again I view the square
Round which my young affections twined;
And see, at yonder casement, framed
Within the vine and blossom-spray,
She whom my boyish fancy claimed—
Your mother in her beauty day.

Forgotten now the gentle glow
That thrilled my willing senses through,
While sluggish now the pulses flow
That once beneath her glances flew.
But something in the rose you wore,
Caught in your tresses raven black,
Knocked lightly at affection's door,
And wakened thought some decades back.

Ah! lady-love, when Time has laid
His blighting touch upon your brow,
And silver-tipped the ringlet's shade
That boasts a prouder splendor now,
I hope you'll wear the passive grace
Of gentleness that lightly lay
Upon your mother's kindly face
Long after passed her beauty day.

—De Witt Sterry, in Frank Leslie's Weekly.

The Weaker Vessel.

When first we were wed she was peaches and honey—
Was my little wife.
Our bliss-burdened hearts were all peaceful and sunny,
And love ruled each life.
Whatever with gold I could add to her pleasure
I'd joyfully bring,
And I tenderly cared for my delicate treasure,
The sweet, tender thing.

But life is not now as it was when we wedded—
Well, I should say not.
She bosses me 'round till I'm getting bald headed;
She owns all I've got.
And hands that were gentle as zephyrs soft straying
Now rule or ruin.
And oft to myself I now find myself saying:
"You helpless old fool!"

—Chicago Herald.

Bells of the Past.

In the distance, sweetly pealing,
Gently o'er my senses stealing,
Scenes of childhood to me bringing
As I listen to the ringing
Of those distant bells.

Now their music echoes sadly,
Now reverberating gladly;
Little voices singing, weeping,
Little feet the measure keeping
To those distant bells.

Hear the bells? their music swelling,
Happy days to me foretelling;
Hushed and beautiful the hour
When from out the wondrous tower
Pealed those youthful bells.

Hast thou listened to love's rhyming
While the bells were sweetly chiming;
With no wish but to remain
Just to catch the sweet refrain
Of those youthful bells.

Days of youth and high endeavor,
Wouldst thou could remain forever,
With my joys thy tones are mingling
With a merry, merry jingling
As of wedding bells.

Hearts are held in Love's control,
Names on one she doth enroll;
Spreads her mantle all around
While afar the tones resound
Of our wedding bells.

—Lillian Stiles Webster, in Atlanta Constitution.

Do Your Best.

The signs is bad when folks commence
A findin' fault with Providence,
An' balkin' 'cause the earth don't shake
At ev'ry prancin' step they take.
No man is great till he can see
How less than little he would be
Ef stripped to self, and stark and bare,
He hung his sign out anywhere.

My doctern is to lay aside
Contentions, and be satisfied;
Jest do your best, and praise er blame
That follers that counts jest the same.
I've allus noticed great success
Is mixed with troubles, more or less,
And it's the man who does the best
That gits more kicks than all the rest.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

The Weather.

Oh, what should we do if we never could talk
On this most inexhaustible theme—
If we couldn't make use of this oakum to calk
Each bad-looking gap, leaky seam?
It may be Society's ship would go down
And every blessed American drown.

It rains or it shines, it hails or it thaws,
We remark as we meet, looking wise
As Solomon uttering one of his saws—
As if only we possessed eyes.
Now, would it be safe, do you think, to beguile
Our friends in some other way? Try it awhile.

Yes, let us shy off from this tasteless salute,
This dry wisp affronting to sense,
And something that's vitally good substitute
In place of this worthless offense—
Break boldly away from the hampering tether
And nibble a juicier tuft than the Weather.

—Julia H. Thayer, in America.

PRIMING THEIR GUNS.

Labor Getting Ready to Demand an Eight-Hour Working Day.

The National Convention of the Federation of Labor, at Boston—Preparing for the Grand Charge to Be Made in May Next.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

For the establishment of an eight-hour working-day throughout the entire Union, labor is now priming its guns for a grand charge on the enemy. The National Convention of the American Federation of Labor, at Boston, is not the first step in this direction, but it is the first determined and organized move for this result, in which a million men and women directly and actively participate.

On the 10th of December next, Boston will be the scene of one of the largest and most important gatherings of labor ever held in this country. On that day the National Convention of the American Federation of Labor, assembles in the Common Council Chamber, which has been placed at its disposal by the Boston City authorities pursuant to the call, issued several weeks ago, by President Samuel Gompers. The outcome of the convention will be a crusade in which a million men and women will actively participate, the object being the enforcement of the eight-hour system all over the Union.

For eight years, the Federation has been preparing for this fight, and it will enter the field with the full appreciation of the magnitude of the task before it. The first step for an eight-hour workday was taken by the Federation at its fourth annual convention held in Chicago, October 7, 1884. At the convention held the following year, the propaganda was formally promulgated. For a time, the progress of the movement was checked by the Anarchist bomb thrown at the meeting in the Haymarket square, in Chicago, on May 5, 1886, although even in that year a number of unions succeeded in enforcing the demand. The two following conventions took no action in the matter, but at that held in St. Louis a year ago, the Federation committed itself to a general agitation for the enforcement of the eight-hour workday, fixing May 1st, 1890, as the date when it should go into effect among the trades union everywhere in the United States. The principal duty of the Boston convention will, therefore, be to transform this agitation into an organized movement and to arrange for the general rising in May next.

During the recent convention of the Knights of Labor at Atlanta, a communication was received from President Gompers of the Federation, inviting the Knights to co-operate in the eight-hour campaign. It was fully expected that the Knights would make common cause in this crusade, which affected all classes of labor, irrespective of organization lines; but the Atlanta convention, after discussing the proposition for united action, decided to stand aloof and declared it to be the sense of the convention that the eight-hour battle could be best fought out by the local assemblies individually. This action is held by the Federalists as a virtual surrender, as far as the Knights are concerned, of the whole field, for the possession of which the workingmen have been fighting and their friends in Congress legislating for the past ten years. The main cause for the refusal, however, is said to be found in the jealousy that exists between the two organizations, the result of the decline of the Knights and their gradual absorption by the Federation.

With the adoption of a platform distinctly defining the programme of the eight-hour crusade, the real work of the convention will be finished.

Although the Boston gathering is to be distinctively an Eight-Hour Convention, there are several other matters liable to come under debate. These include a winter census, and a comprehensive inquiry by government into the causes of idleness and crime. Everything else, however, may be set aside for a full and free discussion of the object upon which the Federation may be said to have staked its future existence. During the past year meetings have been held in 140 cities at which eight hours have been demanded, and that agitation will be continued unceasingly until May next, when the general order will be sent out from the executive headquarters in New York which may have the effect of bringing a majority of the industries of the country to a sudden standstill, for a time at least.

"The reports which are to be presented to the Boston Convention," said President Gompers "will recite the facts regarding our overtures for the co-operation of the Knights in the Eight-hour struggle, and their reply. There are other reports, of course, but concerning these I do not care to say anything in advance of the assembling of the convention, further than that they will show the growth of the Federation during the past year. This will be our eighth annual national convention, and will be very largely attended, as we have nearly 600,000 members. The Federation has had its share of trials and of triumphs, too, and now it has a great duty before it, the practical direction of which is the province of the Boston Convention."

"What is the basis of representation in the Convention?" was asked.

"From national or international unions for less than four thousand members, one delegate; four thousand or more, two delegates; eight thousand or more, three delegates; sixteen thousand or more, four delegates; thirty-two thousand or more five delegates, and so on, in that progressive ratio. From each local or district trades organization or federated body, not connected with or having a national or international head affiliated with this Federation, one delegate is to be chosen. We have advised unionists all over the country to see that the full number of delegates is chosen, and that they are provided with the necessary credentials."

"I consider the unions able to cope with any emergency that may arise," President Gompers added. "We don't approve of sympathetic or unnecessary strikes, for these in a majority of cases are disastrous and end in the men returning to work on the employers' terms."

The convention will accordingly order the eight-hour fight to begin all along the line, regardless of the wet blanket cast on the movement by the Knights. The Federation leaders feel that their organization is sufficiently strong to make the fight on national grounds, even without allies, although they rely confidently on receiving the individual support of thousands of Knights, even though the K. of L. remain silent while the war is waging. They point to the official rolls of the Federation, which have just been completed, as evidence of their ability to conduct the battle alone. These rolls show the strength of the Federation as follows:

TRADES.	Local Unions.	Membership.
Journeymen Bakers	70	[illegible]
Barbers National Union	17	5,500
Boatmen's Int. Union	7	1,000
Boilermakers' Int. Bro'hood	32	3,500
Federation of Bookkeepers		4,000
Glassblowers' League (East)		3,500
Glassblowers' League (West)		4,500
Brotherhood of Brakemen	264	[illegible]
Brewers' National Union	21	[illegible]
Brick and Stonemasons' I.U.	161	[illegible]
Building Lab'rs & Hodcar'rs	30	6,000
Carpenters' and Joiners' Amalgamated Society	35	2,270
Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners	464	[illegible]
Cigarmakers' Int. Union	200	28,000
Carriage and Wagonmakers' Union		1,000
Nat. Federation of Miners and Laborers		35,000
Miners' and Laborers' Amal. Ass'n, Penn.		6,000
Miners' and Laborers' Amal. Ass'n, Ohio		14,000
Miners' and Laborers' Amal. Ass'n, Indiana	32	7,000
Miners' Protective Ass'n		10,000
Order of R. R. Conductors		8,000
Nat. Union of Coopers	11	11,000
Amal. Ass'n of Elastic Web Weavers	7	1,000
Brotherhood L'c'mo've Eng's	394	25,000
" Stationary Eng's		6,000
" Locomo've Fire'n	380	10,000
Furniture Workers' Union	25	5,800
Flint Glassblowers' Union	33	6,000
Granite Cutters' Nat. Union	80	5,000
Hairspinners' Nat. Union	4	900
Hat Finishers' Nat. Union	15	6,400
Hatmakers' Nat. Union	12	3,500
Silk Hatters' Association	17	1,000
Wool Hatters' Association	12	800
Horse Collar Makers' Union	21	1,500
Horseshoers' Association	33	3,000
Amal. Ass'n Iron and Steel Workers	117	25,000
Iron Moulders' Union of North America	200	28,371
Metal Workers' Union	13	1,200
Musicians' National League	18	9,000
Nat. Union of Oystermen	11	1,000
Nat. Patternmakers' League	9	1,000
Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators	116	[illegible]
[illegible] Union		3,000
Operative Plasterers' Int. U.	30	2,300
Journeymen Plumbers and Gasfitters		6,000
Int. Typographical Union	275	[illegible]
German-American Typog'a	[illegible]	1,100
Brotherhood of R.R. Switchmen	[illegible]	3,000
Lasters' Protective Union	66	[illegible]
Mulespinners' Union		10,000
[illegible] Union	20	1,000
Journeymen Tailors' Union	70	9,500
Brotherhood of Telegraphers		5,000
Textile Workers' Progressive Union	6	1,000
Umbrella, Pipe and Cane-workers	5	1,300
Woodcarvers' Union	9	2,000

Foremost among the leaders of labor who will take part in the Boston Convention will be Grand Chief Peter M. Arthur, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. When the Elevated Railroad engineers, several years ago, made their famous fight for nine hours, Mr. Arthur was their leader, and it was largely owing to his coolness and sagacity that they won. No indication of the contemplated strike was permitted to leak out, and it was unsuspected till the moment when the delegation of engineers presented their bill of grievances and asked for a conference. At that time all the engineers on the entire system of elevated roads were prepared to go out on the signal. At the wish of the managers of the roads the strike was deferred till next day, when a conference took place and the difficulty was adjusted. Concessions were made on both sides, but the engineers had the best of the agreement, getting full pay for their work and saving half an hour a day. Mr. Arthur is an old surface engineer, and used to handle the throttle on the Grand Trunk road, many years ago. His first experience as a labor arbitrator was while he worked upon that road, and he has so high an opinion of arbitration and so poor an idea of strikes that he will never willingly give his consent to the latter save as a last resort. Arthur is a natural leader of men. Cool, conservative and clear-headed, he is the most respected man among the 35,000 members of the brotherhood of which he is President. He lives in a handsome residence at Cleveland, O., which he owns. He has grown old in the labor cause, and has no higher ambition than to help his fellows in their struggles as long as he lives.

Another notable figure is that of Mr. A. Strasser, the President of the Cigarmakers' Union, which numbers 28,000 members. Like Mr. Arthur, Mr. Strasser is strictly conservative in his methods, and has endeavored to carry out this principle, as far as possible, in dealing with the 280 local assemblies that call him chief. But the cigarmakers are a very different class from the engineers. Principally foreigners, and a large proportion of them very poor and uneducated, it is not surprising that their differences with employers should frequently result in bitter feeling and the precipitation of strikes that might, under calmer auspices, have been averted. Still, with all this untrained material to embarrass him, President Strasser has been singularly fortunate in bringing up the union to a high standard of success, numerically and financially. He is devoted to the work, and has the very fullest confidence of his associates. He is about forty-five years of age and has held the executive office for several years, during which he has piloted the organization through a half dozen serious strikes with rare generalship and exceptionally good fortune.

G. C. Evans is the controlling spirit in the National Federation of Miners and Miners' Laborers, an organization with a membership of 35,000 men. This is distinct from the three amalgamated associations of miners in the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, which have 27,000 members alone. Mr. Evans is of Welsh descent, as are thousands of others in the mines, south and west. His presidency began about three years ago and he has, since that time, pushed the Miners' National Association to the very front of the labor organizations of the country, only one other union—the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners—exceeding it in point of actual membership. A clever organizer and a capital orator, President Evans will be heard from in the Boston Convention should he attend as a delegate.

Other labor men who will come to the front when the convention assembles, and who will make interesting reports to that body concerning the condition of labor in their respective trades, are Presidents E. F. O'Shea, of the Brotherhood of Brakemen; T. O'Dea, of the Bricklayers and Stonemasons; F. V. Debs, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen; P. F. Fitzpatrick, Iron Molders; W. Weihe, of the Steelworkers; R. Howard, of the Mulespinners, and the president of the smallest of all the organized bodies, A. M. Taylor, of the Wool Hatters' National Union, which has a roll of 800 members.

"We propose," said the secretary "to work entirely independently of legislation for the eight-hour day, and the plan to be adopted by the convention will be arranged with a view to making the crusade short and effective. No other subject of equal moment will be discussed. We settle one thing at a time. The other business will be of a routine character.

NOTES ON NOTABLES.

SARAH BERNHARDT has a magnificent tomb in the cemetery of Pere la Chaise.

SIR CHARLES RUSSELL receives the largest income from his practice of any man in the world and lives like a Prince.

MISS AMELIA B. EDWARDS is descended from the older branch of the Fitz-Gerald family, whose head is the Earl of Leicester.

MR. EDISON has been granted 408 patents on his inventions, and has over 300 applications pending. Most of these are electrical devices.

MISS SANGER, the President's type-writer, is said to be more useful to him than any clerk in his employ. She is a rapid worker and can copy on her machine 120 letters a day.

THE head of the Mormon church, President Woodruff, is eighty-two years old. He is solidly built and his head looks like that of General Grant. He wears his hair and beard close cropped and does not have a ministerial air at all.

CLARA MORRIS owns a very pretty piece of property on the line which divides the city of New York from Yonkers. The boundary divides her bed, and when she is asleep her head rests in New York while her feet are in Yonkers.

TIPPOO TIB, the great African slave dealer, is getting tired of his wandering and dangerous existence and proposes to settle down as a solid citizen on his estate at Casingo, 300 miles above Stanley Falls, where he has built for himself a large and fine stone mansion. His son, however, will carry on his father's trade, in which he has already been quite successful, as on his last expedition he returned with forty tons of ivory, worth $350,000.

KARL FALKENSTEIN is the name of the inventor of smokeless powder. Three years ago he was an unknown chemist in Vienna. He offered his invention to the Austrian war office, but no investigation of his device was made. Discouraged by this refusal he went to Berlin and had an interview with the Emperor and Count Waldersee. His invention was thoroughly tested by experts, and the smokeless powder was pronounced a success. He sold his rights to the German Government for a large sum and is now living in luxury.

THE distillation of essential oils from various species of plants, such as lavender, thyme, fennel, rosemary, etc., is quite profitable in Southeastern France. The country is here very arid and sterile, and these humblest of plants are, by industry and careful management, made to give prosperity to a large number of people. The United States is the largest consumer of these oils, and in time they will doubtless be produced in our own country. The still required for distillation is simple and inexpensive.

NATURE'S WONDERS.

ONE naturalist found over 12,000 eggs in a lobster, and another over 21,000. An insect very similar to an ant has produced 80,000 eggs in a single day, and Leuwenhoeck seems to compute 4,000,000 to the crab's share.

THE great-crested fly-catcher and several other birds adopt an exceedingly novel method to frighten away other birds or lizards that would prey upon their eggs. They wind into their nest one or more of the old skins which have been shed by snakes, so that these appear to be live snakes coiled about the nests.

ACCORDING to naturalists a scorpion will produce 65 young; a common fly will lay 144 eggs, a leech 150 and a spider 170. A hydrachna produces 600 eggs and a frog 1,100. A female moth will produce 1,100 eggs and a tortoise 1,000. A gall insect has laid 50,000 eggs; a shrimp, 6,000, and 10,000 have been found in the ovary of an ascaris.

MANY fishes produce an incredible number of eggs. More than 36,000 have been counted in a herring, 38,000 in a smelt, 1,000,000 in a sole, 1,130,000 in a roach, 3,000,000 in a sturgeon, 342,000 in a carp, 383,000 in a tench, 546,000 in a mackerel, 992,000 in a perch and 1,357,000 in a flounder. But of all the fishes hitherto discovered the cod seems to be the most prolific.

THE poacher who makes hares his specialty has a constant companion in the shape of a lurcher, a dog which at night embodies all his senses. Lurchers are pure crosses between the greyhound and sheep-dog; they have the speed of the one and "nose" and intelligence of the other. Such dogs never bark, and, being rough-coated, are able to stand the exposure of cold nights. They take long to train, but when perfected are invaluable.

GREAT WHEAT RIVALS.

Foreshadowing the Downfall of Our Supremacy in Grain.

We Cannot Compete With the Cheap Land, Labor and Transportation of Russia, India and the Argentine Republic—The Grain Problem.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

There is little else, if anything, in which we are voluntarily or involuntarily more interested than in the price of bread.

Hence that of wheat.

"Is there anything new in relation to wheat prices?"

"There is, indeed; or is going to be. It is only a few years since the United States dominated the wheat markets of the world—in 1879, 1880, 1881 and 1882. By that time India and Russia began to compete with us—the "pauper" wheat growers of Southeastern Europe and Southern Asia, if you please. This threw the price-lever into the hands of the English, the chief purchasers of imported wheat, enabling them to sit still while India, Russia and the United States cut each other's throats by under-bidding each other. Since then, Australia, Chili and latterly Argentine Republic have entered the contest as wheat producers in excess of their home requirements, and the question of our future as a competitor in the world's markets for the sale of wheat assumes very prominent proportions.

At this time the situation in the domestic wheat markets is not particularly satisfactory to those who class themselves as "constitutional bulls"—those members of the trade who are firm believers in the intrinsic worth of the cereal, who are always "under the market" to hold it up, who carry the grain, and in this way perform the economic function of holding one season's surplus to meet the wants produced by a lean harvest.

The price of wheat to-day is, or has been, about 24 per cent. less than it was one year ago, although the domestic crop is only 15 per cent. larger than in 1888, with reported smaller supplies available for export in Russia and India. This is the more striking when it is recalled that our reserve stocks at the close of the last cereal year, July 1, 1889, or on August 1, following, ran down as low as 35,000,000 bushels, "visible and invisible"—that is, stocks in sight at various points of accumulation and stocks in farmers' hands and elsewhere, not reported. There are some statisticians who place the reserves of August 1, 1889 at even a smaller total than I have given. This means that while our exports of wheat for the twelve months, ended July 1, aggregated (including flour) about 90,000,000 bushels of wheat—less than for a number of years before—we were obliged to draw upon farmers' bins and other reserves from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels in order to meet home and foreign requirements.

Our crops of wheat last year, 415,000,000, was considerably under an average, too. This year with, probably, 470 or 480,000,000 measured bushels of wheat, quite an average harvest, the seasons' requirements will include an item to cover the 20,000,000 excessive depletion of the preceding twelve-month. On top of this came the reports of lighter export supplies in India and Russia, yet prices have ranged 20 to 24 per cent. below those of a year ago. The great wheat experts have thus far been at fault in their predictions or expressions as to the probable course of prices. In England, Beerbohm, a leading authority, has not been committal, though manifestly expecting higher quotations. In Dornbusch's Circular, widely known in the grain trade, the letters signed by Mr. H. Kains-Jackson, have pronounced flatly in favor of the belief that the winter must bring higher prices. William E. Bear, of London, once editor of the "Mark Lane Express," has inclined to like views, particularly as Germany and France expect to have to buy some wheat this year from abroad.

At home there have been honest differences of opinions among good judges for more or less plausible reasons, only one of which calls for special reference, to wit, that there will be more than 2,000,000,000 bushels of wheat for export for the year ending July 1, 1890.

The veriest boy in the grain trade should know this to be worse than absurd. Let me prove it to you.

We will presume that the domestic grain crops for 1889 amounts to 480,000,000 bushels—probably larger—and that the quantity of wheat carried over last summer was about 35,000,000 from the preceding crop. That total, certainly a liberal one, is based on personal investigation. This would indicate a total supply with which to begin the current crop year amounting to about 515,000,000 bushels. The closest current estimates for wheat required for food at home average about 290,000,000 bushels, the quantity to be required for seed and for use in manufactures, etc., about 67,000,000 bushels, or for total home requirements 357,000,000 bushels, leaving about 158,000,000 bushels to export and carry over into the new crop year, July 1, 1890. Now, if we allow only 50,000,000 bushels to fill up last summer's depleted reserves and to carry over into the season of 1890-'91, there will remain available for export from July 1 last to June 30, 1890, about 108,000,000 bushels. Of course, if we can get along without "carrying over" all of 50,000,000 bushels, we increase the quantity available for export by just that much, so that at the outside one may place such total, perhaps, at 118 or 120,000,000 bushels. But shall we need that much? It does not look as if we should—that is, not now.

For nearly five months of the current cereal year, July 1 to the close of November, our exports of wheat (and of flour as wheat) have amounted to more than 44,000,000 bushels as compared with 47,000,000 bushels in a corresponding portion of 1888. As Europe took the bulk of her wheat purchases from us in the first five rather than in the last seven months of the previous cereal year (our total exports that year being only 90,000,000 bushels) it will be seen that, unless an unusual demand for our wheat shows itself in May and June, 1890, the prospect for 1889-'90 is for smaller foreign shipments than last year. Our exports are 11 per cent. less than from June 30 to the end of November, 1888, and if they maintain like proportions until next summer, the total cereal year's shipment will not exceed 83,000,000 bushels. So if the United States are to have 108 or 118,000,000 bushels for export in the current year, shipments at the rate maintained during nearly one-half of it promise to leave 25,000,000 or more bushels of this quality on our hands.

This is the view held by the bears.

It is perhaps at the bottom of a large portion of the reluctance of prices to advance and accounts for the drooping spirits shown by quotations. The rapid marketing of farmers' stocks, which the so-called official visible supplies utterly fail to give any intimation of, larger stocks of wheat afloat on the high seas for European ports and unexpected apathy on the part of importers at London and Liverpool naturally aid bears on wheat in the United States and the existing situation is accounted for.

What do the bulls rely on?

Upon anything, it must be on the repeatedly affirmed (and denied) stories of short supplies of wheat in Russia and on expectations that Germany, France and the United Kingdom will become liberal purchasers in our markets per force late next spring.

And right here comes the last question. If, with only an average wheat crop here after a year of unusual depletion of reserves, with extra requirements on the part of countries depending largely upon imported wheat and probable short supplies in one (or more) rural exporting countries—if, I say, with these favoring circumstances, we find England, for instance, willing to buy sparingly, to let us carry our stocks, where is the encouraging feature of our prospects as a wheat grower in excess of home wants?

Without attempting to give a final answer, it may be well to consider this: So far as Russia and India and Argentine Republic are concerned, the cultivation of wheat is extending and conditions prevailing there, such as cheap labor, cheap land and fertile soils, that enable them to compete, in the aggregate, to a large extent with the United States. Australia, too, has done considerable in this direction and promises to do more. Here we have cheap transportation, the most improved means of sowing, cultivating and harvesting, and a restless, energetic population. Until quite recently we have had an easy advantage over would-be rival wheat exporting countries, and the question plainly presents itself: are we to be permitted to retain this supremacy, or is the Russian peasant, the Indian ryot or the emigrant to South America to shut out the intelligent, well-equipped farmer in the great western grain States of North America?

A few days ago I learned that there are others giving their attention to this problem. A gentleman of perhaps thirty years, with a rotund, ruddy face, German cast of countenance, dark hair brushed back, but which, cut short, stood straight up over over his head, a few slight but well healed scars about his cheeks and forehead, relics, possibly, of his days at a German University, an erect, soldierly bearing and a manner at once easy and refined—such a visitor handed me a letter of introduction. It read as follows:

"IMPERIAL GERMAN CONSULATE GENERAL,
No. 1 Bowling Green;

DEAR SIR:—Dr. George Ruhland, the bearer of this letter, has been recommended to me by the German Government. His object in traveling is to study the production of grain in different countries, the freight tariffs and other matters connected therewith. I must be greatly indebted to you for any information or assistance you would kindly give him," etc.

Dr. George Ruhland proved to be a charming talker and an enthusiast on the subject which Prince Bismarck commissioned him to investigate. He has visited Russia, India and Australia, I think he said California and thence to New York on his way home.

He wished for data as to the growth of railway mileage, the telegraph, the gradual decline in interest rates since 1866, the farm mortgage business and kindred topics, and was soon supplied to the extent of my resources. Aside from official publications and copies of one or two leading economic publications, Dr. Ruhland took an interest in some papers by Edward Atkinson and David A. Wells.

The German Commissioner frankly stated that the former prominence of the United States as a wheat producer and seller in the world's markets, was not, in his opinion, due, as commonly explained, to fertile and cheap lands backed by pushing individuals. Those characteristics might have a little to do with it, but, if so, the United States is doomed as a competitor with Russian and Indian wheat, for the latter countries have vast regions of practically virgin soil, more fertile than our own wheat lands and to be had for little or no expense. Our cheap freight rates and elevated systems are important factors, but India is pushing its railways and Russia and Argentine their interior strange elevators. The doctor is of the opinion that the rapid extension of wheat production in the United States, and the ability to maintain it in the face of low prices, is due primarily to the rapid flow of capital to the soil in the form of loans. The ease and facility with which the American agriculturalist can borrow money to tide him over poor seasons and to procure machinery or other supplies, and the relatively low rate of interest at which he can accomplish this, compared with farmers in other lands, are regarded as the key-note to the persistent fight which American wheat growers have made against rivals favored in the race by a lower civilization, and therefore few and inexpensive wants.

Just how the heavily mortgaged American farmer intends to escape his yoke, Dr. Ruhland did not have time to explain; but his report to his government, when published, will prove of special interest here. The action of the German Government in sending Dr. Ruhland on this mission is in direct line with the enterprise shown in its reorganized and enlarged navy and its well-formed and, even to English minds, quite imposing schemes for colonization. The German first measures all his material, counts the cost, plans his work down to the last coat of polish, and then goes to work. He is nothing if not thorough.

Taking the suggestion of the traveling commissioner of the German Government, who has investigated causes of excessive wheat production and the ability to sell it in competition with semi-civilized peoples, for what it is worth, how does it weigh upon the wheat producing and exporting conditions prevailing here, outlined above?

Within a few years no radical changes are promised. But the conclusion is forced home irresistibly that loans will not enable the farmer to compete permanently against conditions which involve cheaper land and lower cost production. The Argentine Republic promised one day to become the center of the great wheat belt of the Americas, probably in advance of Russia reaching any like prominence. Ten years from now it is extremely doubtful whether we cut as much of a figure in the world's wheat markets as last year, or, as we now promise to in 1890.

But with a reduced domestic wheat area, and a greatly increased population, the question of the price of wheat assumes a new importance.

ALBERT C. STEVENS.

Rates of Advertising.

Space	Weeks 1	Weeks 2	Weeks 4	Months 1	Months 2	Months 3	Months 6	Months 12
1 in.	$1.00	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	$15.00
2 in.	1.50	2.00	3.00	4.00	[illegible]	8.00	12.00	20.00
3 in.	2.50	3.00	4.00	5.00	8.00	12.00	18.00	28.00
4 in.	3.00	3.50	5.00	6.00	9.00	16.00	20.00	30.00
5 in.	3.50	4.50	6.00	8.00	12.50	18.00	25.00	37.00
¼ col.	4.50	6.00	8.00	10.00	15.00	20.00	30.00	40.00
½ col.	7.00	10.00	[illegible]	15.00	24.00	32.00	54.00	80.00
1 col.	12.00	[illegible]	[illegible]	25.00	35.00	50.00	85.00	140.00

All Electro's must be solid metal.

"Little of Everything" column, 5 cts. per line.

Double cols. 30 per ct. advance of above rates

MECHANICS AND INDUSTRIES.

THE gold mined in Australia and neighboring islands in 1888 was valued at £5,508,553.

IN Great Britain the quantity of coal-dust remaining unemployed annually is calculated at 26,000,000 tons.

THE Westinghouse Electric Company is now organizing a company in England for the purpose of manufacturing and selling its patented appliances.

THERE is a great rush of Northern skilled labor into the Southern States, where better wages and more profitable opportunities are offered. Alabama is the favorite field.

A NEW and valuable fiber is said to have been found in the stalk of the okra plant, of which two crops per year can be raised in Florida. It is said to be superior to jute or sisal hemp.

IN Hull, England, common painters get fourteen cents per hour; in Leeds, Bradford, etc., fifteen, and in London from sixteen to seventeen. A five-room house costs five dollars per month.

MOLDS for casting iron can only be made in sand. Iron or other metallic molds chill the iron and it does not fit well. The great heat at which iron melts will burn any other material or will stick so as to break the mold.

A SYSTEM of building houses entirely of sheet iron has been communicated to the Society of Architecture in Paris. The walls, partitions, roofs and wainscotting are composed of double metallic sheets, separated by an air mattress, which is surrounded by different non-conductors of heat.

THE great increasing demand for electric lighting for the streets of cities and towns, as well as factories, public buildings, etc., and the consequent growing familiarity of the public with the subject, makes it imperative for parties who are furnishing themselves or others with electric lights to look not only to the first cost, but also to the efficiency of the apparatus, and determine the saving at the end of the year.

THE great and little manufacturers all over the country are crowded with shop, mill and factory work, and overtime is quite common in cities and towns. Iron and steel are advancing in price. Steel rails have gone up four dollars per ton in four months; pig iron one dollar per ton; nails ten cents per keg. Hardware has advanced, and the fear now is that prices will take another advance and alarm and check enterprise, which is proverbially timid.

THE Tonquin pirates, whom the French thought they had at one time, completely suppressed, have reappeared again and are striking terror among the merchant shippers. The Government will send a fleet sufficient to hunt them down and to annihilate them completely.

IN the race with automatic machines Paris has put herself in the lead with a machine exhibited the other day in the Place de la Republique. You brought with you a penny and a cup. You parted with your penny, dropping it into the accustomed slot, and your cup was full of steaming black coffee judiciously sugared.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

BRITISH GOLD.

The interference of British gold with American trade and industry is an old threadbare story, from time to time sounded and pretexed for vague political effect, but never until now did the theory of John Bull assume tangible form as a mischievous agent on this side of the Atlantic and so clearly evidence his greed for gain.

British gold by the millions is in the markets of the United States seeking to buy up breweries, flouring mills and various other invested enterprises.

Neither free trade nor fair trade brought it here, but the enormous tribute levied upon the people of this country under the misnomer of a protective tariff, and which alone has made possible that modern plundering device styled a Trust.

What are Trusts?

A combination of monopolists, for the purpose of more effectually controlling manufactured products, largely the actual necessaries of life, their quantities and selling prices to consumers, and arbitrarily dictating terms for labor and modes of traffic, in order that aggregated capital may heap up princely wealth and exert selfish power.

That in brief portrays the true character of Trusts, artfully glossed as they may be by interested inventors, and abettors.

They are directly at war with the rights and prosperity of the people, the industrial, laboring and trading masses, and the present one-sided tariff is mainly responsible for the foul and fast-increasing brood.

Down with them!

English syndicates, gold-laden and ambitious, are coming over to foster and enjoy our grand idea of protection. They scent our daily aftr and dinner grand profit in every barrel of flour, pound of sugar, keg of beer and sack of salt we use, and naturally endeavor to avail themselves of the glorious opportunity of growing rich out of high taxed American industry.

To call such a system "home protection" is to abuse the meaning of language.

One of the last and most glaring Trust combines is that bearing the high-sounding title of "The North American Salt Company."

Its capital stocks and bonds figure $15,000,000, fifteen million dollars.

Its object is to monopolize the entire salt production and traffic in the United States.

What that designs is easy to conjecture.

The subscribed capital will be held principally by Englishmen, although American monopolists are of course hand and glove with them.

Salt is an absolute necessity of life.

To make it free, plenty and cheap would benefit every man, woman and child in this country.

Salt is essential to the household, to farmers, dairymen, meat and fish packers and scores of other valuable interests.

To monopolize it for sordid gain is nothing short of robbery.

Beware of British gold and its American allies!

"HONEST PROHIBITIONISTS AGHAST."

The Question: Plainfield's Voters Answered in the Affirmative.

[From the New York Mail and Express.]

The result of the municipal election held last week at Plainfield, N. J., shows conclusively what the citizens of that town think of the policy of no license after a year's experience. All the newly elected councilmen, eight in number, are license men, and the policy of the city next year will therefore be license. Under the no license rule of the past year Plainfield has had more saloons and more drunkenness than ever before. There have been more than sixty places where liquor could be procured running at full blast, week days and Sundays, day and night. Being unlicensed, and therefore unrestricted, there was no particular reason why they should not sell all they could, in season as well as out, and to drunken men as well as sober. This they did, and their business flourished, and respectable citizens held up their hands in dismay.

The honest Prohibitionists, who had brought this state of things about with a sincere desire to improve the morals of the city, looked aghast at the pandemonium that their mistaken zeal had conjured up, and asked themselves if, after all, a licensed and restricted evil was not better than an unlicensed and unrestricted one; whether thirteen licensed saloons were not a less evil than sixty-three unlicensed ones; whether it was not better that a part of the public expenditures should be borne by the liquor men than that other citizens should groan under an unjust and disproportionate taxation.

These questions the voters have, by their ballots, answered in the affirmative. Prohibition has been given a fair trial and found not to prohibit. If it would, it would check many evils; nobody doubts that; but the world is too worldly to submit to enforced virtue.

The Lee Will Case Muddle.

While Francs Lee and his brother Daniel, lived and [illegible] their hundreds of thousands of dollars in the rookery near the Two Bridges, nothing was said, and not even a newspaper commented upon the eccentricities of the old couple. But now since both of them have passed away the heirs and lawyers have stepped in, and they are now trying to settle up the estate in Court.

Monday morning at Elizabeth Judge VanSyckel presided at a special session of the court, and there were present the usual large delegations of the Scotch Plains Baptists, the heirs at law of the deceased miser, and the lawyers.

The object of the meeting was to hear the motion on behalf of the church people for a new trial in the ejectment suit tried at the beginning of the October term, and at which the jury gave a verdict for the plaintiff, ejecting the church from the real estate left to them under the will.

Ex-Chancellor Runyon made the motion for the new trial, basing the application on the grounds that the verdict of the jury was against the weight of evidence, the law and the judge's charge. He also alleged that there is newly discovered evidence.

Mr. R. V. Lindabury, representing the heirs at law, addressed the court in opposition to the motion. Judge VanSyckel reserved his decision.

Heartburn.

DR. FLINT'S REMEDY will [illegible] heartburn from the stomach and [illegible] Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. [illegible]

THE CONTRACT FOR WATER WORKS.

It is All Prepared and Ready for Public and Councilmanic Consideration.

Following is the communication addressed to the City Clerk by the Water Committee, giving notice of the preparation of a contract with The Water Works Company of Plainfield, for public distribution and future action by the Common Council:

To O. B. Leonard, City Clerk of the City of Plainfield.

Pursuant to instructions of the Common Council, whereby the Committee on Water, Printing and Stationery were directed to prepare a contract in accordance with the proposition of Messrs Chas. K. Moore and Edward A. Lovell, with such modifications in the interest of the City as may be deemed advisable, and to present the same for final consideration of the Common Council at the earliest practicable date, of which 10 days' notice shall be given, and copy of contract be placed on file with City Clerk, 10 days before the meeting," the subscribers present herewith and file in your office the form of contract which has been prepared.

The contractors, Messrs Chas. K. Moore and Edward A. Lovell, have arranged to secure the incorporation of the Water Company under the corporate title, "The Water Works Company of Plainfield," of which Company the following persons are named as the incorporators:

J. Herbert Johnston,
C. N. Hoagland,
William Forster, Jr.,
James Moore,
Samuel Knox,
John R. Moore,
George Kyte.

As directed by the Common Council, five hundred printed copies of the proposed contract are placed at the disposal of the City Clerk for distribution among such taxpayers as may apply for the same.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., December 12, 1889.

Henry B. Newhall,
E. N. Ericksen,
Committee on Water, Printing and Stationery.

IT WILL BE A FULL DRESS AFFAIR.

The Coming Concert of the Choral Society and the Soloists Who Will Appear in It.

An Orchestra from the New York Philharmonic Society will appear with the Chorus of the Plainfield Choral Society, at the first concert at Music Hall on Thursday evening, January 2, 1890. The following well known artists have also been engaged: Madame Henriette Beebe-Lawton, Soprano; Miss Marion S. Weed, Contralto; Mr. Wm. H. Lawton, Tenor; and Mr. Carl E. Dufft, Baritone.

The programme will include solos by these renowned singers, and chorus singing, part songs, &c., by the society, besides the "Cantata of the Holy City," a work which has high rank in England, but which has never been heard in Plainfield. The Society has a chorus of one hundred of the City and Borough's best singers who have been studying and rehearsing under Mr. E. J. Fitzhugh for several months, and who are thoroughly prepared to render this work in a creditable and intelligent manner.

This concert is looked upon as a special feature of the Holiday season by the subscribers and their families, who propose to make it a more formal event than heretofore in Plainfield, following the custom prevailing in New York, Brooklyn, Orange and other cities, where society people lay special stress on patronizing and encouraging the various musical clubs that undertake the task of cultivating and elevating the general musical taste.

The concerts of the Vocal Society are private for subscribers and those whom they invite. Subscribing members pay ten dollars and have four admissions to each concert. No tickets are sold at the door or elsewhere. The subscription books close on Saturday of this week. Applications should be made to Mr. W. W. Roeland, President, or to Mr. Wm. T. Kaufman, Treasurer.

HOW LABORING GIRLS ARE OVERWORKED.

Where is That Terrible Place on East ——— Street?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I wish through your valuable paper that you would help me solve the question of "Labor for Girls," if space will permit.

This question, you will agree with me, is very important. Is there no law prohibiting dress makers and all others who employ girls as help, for a day's work from 8 A. M., to 7 P. M., from keeping them working till nine or ten o'clock and not even paying them for the extra time? But how quick they dock them when they are sick from being overworked at their own hands.

Think of the poor mothers who sit waiting for their daughters to come home; while waiting their daughters are delivering dresses through the rain and dark, dismal streets to some great lady who must have that dress to go to church in and show the people what she really is. God knows it is a shame for anyone to keep the poor girls who work hard all day for the few pennies they get, and make them work 14 and 15 hours a day, and when they are sick deduct them for the time they have lost.

There is one place in particular, on East ——— street, that I refer to, and a good many others that I know of. But the one on East ——— street can't be beat. I understand there is a forewoman there that is a crank, worse than fifty men are ahead—and they are, I admit, pretty bad cranks. I hope you will help me break up this dreaded night work.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

Met His Death on the Rails.

County Physician Wagoner, of Somerville, has decided that no one is responsible for the death of Martin Lofton, the man who was found dead along the Central Railroad tracks at Bound Brook, early Tuesday morning, and has issued his death certificate in accordance with these facts. The man was evidently killed by the cars.

Important Sale of Real Estate.

Mr. Joseph A. [illegible], proprietor of [illegible] Hotel, in North Plainfield, has purchased from Mrs. L. B. Boice the desirable site of land on the North corner of Somerset and Chatham streets, now occupied as a grocery store by Borough Clerk James K. Arnold.

The purchase price was $11,000, and the new owner will take possession on April first, next. Mr. [illegible] will re-model the building, and convert the same into a first-class family [illegible] place. His hotel at Somerset street and Green Brook road, will it is expected, be leased for a grocery store.

Mr. Harwood Denies That He Is a Married Man.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Please allow me a little space in your valuable paper, to stop some gossiping people who have nothing else to do but meddle with other people's affairs.

I would like to say: I am not a married man, or a father of children. I have no wife living in Newark, N. J., and in fact have never been to that town only to ride through it. I am single still, trying to make an honest living, and mind my own business. If those people who seem to take interest enough in me to talk about me behind my back, will come forward, I will give them all the information they want about my past, which is like an open book.

Respectfully,
H. Harwood,
Dancing Master.

ANOTHER DENUNCIATION OF THE "NEWS" AS A MALICIOUS LIBELLER.

Mr. Shotwell's Sworn Statement of His Dealings With Mr. Rice, and a Vindication by the Arbitrators.

The many friends and life-long acquaintances of William H. Shotwell in this city and its vicinity, ask for no sworn denial by him of any charge that may be made against his integrity; but the public in general who have been drawn into sympathy with him as another victim of vilification by the News, will be glad to read below his statement of the case between himself and Mr. Rice, as it so thoroughly and emphatically denies every wicked charge, and is endorsed by a communication from the arbitrators in the matter.

Again the people will say: "How much longer will we submit to the criminally libellous methods of the News? None of us is safe an hour in the day." But it is a long lane that has no turning. The day of retribution will come. The Editor of the News will probably be indicted by the Grand Jury that meets in a few weeks.

Mr. Shotwell's statement is as follows:

NEW JERSEY, } ss.
UNION COUNTY, }

Personally appeared before me, a Master in Chancery of New Jersey, William H. Shotwell, who being by me first duly sworn, on his oath, says: I have read the article in the Plainfield Evening News, of Monday, December ninth, 1889, entitled "$1,000 Awarded Rice," and I denounce the same as a false, malicious and wicked libel, made up of a single thread of truth, and a warp and woof of falsehood. It is true that I sold my grocery business to Mr. Rice in the Fall of 1887 for $20,000, that I bought it back in January of the present year for the same price and about six weeks latter re-sold it to Mr. Rice at something of a sacrifice; but it is not true that I forced Mr. Rice to re-sell the property to me in January by a threat of starting business for myself, or that I afterwards re-sold it at a sacrifice, because he was about to go into a competitive business. He simply offered to sell me the business in January for $250 advance on the price at which I had originally sold it to him, and I accepted his offer, to take effect April 1.

Soon, however, he began to complain that he had not been fairly dealt with in the sale, and I told him that if he felt in that way, I would let him have the property back again. He said he didn't want the Taylor house, which was a part of it, and I told him I would keep that, and let him have the balance, if that would satisfy him. He also said that it was reported that I had taken the property back because he couldn't pay for it and he didn't want the matter talked about. I told him that it should not be talked about by me, and at his request we put into the agreement of sale the following: "No mention shall be made by either party derogatory to the other, either directly or indirectly, nor about this transaction, or any other." This agreement is dated February 28, 1889, and has been religiously kept by me up to this hour. I disliked exceedingly to give up the property again, in this way, but I did it for the sake of peace, and was satisfied to do it. I soon found, however, that Mr. Rice was not contented. He began to accuse me of overcharging him in the inventory of the property which he bought of me with the business, and soon extended his charges to other matters. Wishing, if possible, to avoid trouble with him, I got him to go with me on the 9th of March, to see Mr. Gardner, cashier of the City National Bank, who was a mutual friend. We talked our troubles over in the presence of Mr. Gardner and to end our dispute, I then and there offered Mr. Rice $500 more for the property than the price at which he had agreed to sell it to me in January. He declined the offer and so the matter ended.

In July, Mr. Rice's counsel, Mr. Craig A. Marsh, sent for me and said that Mr. Rice charged me with passing counterfeit money, selling at short weight, and with other offences and wanted me to pay $5000 to hush the matter up. This was the first that I had heard of these charges and I, of course, declined to pay the money. Shortly afterward, by advice of friends, I consented to submit to arbitration any claim of any sort whatsoever that Mr. Rice might choose to bring against me. I named Robert Cook, Martin I. Cooley, Morgan I. Taylor, William F. Williams and Charles W. McCutchen, one after another, for arbitrators, but Mr. Rice would not agree to any of them, and we finally settled upon James McGee, Isaac W. Pangborn and George C. Martin. These gentlemen heard us at considerable length and finally made an award as follows: "Whereas the said R. W. Rice & Co., did make claim that their business had been damaged by the neglect of said Wm. H. Shotwell, as well as by the neglect and default of Freeman Shotwell, Sr., and Smith Garretson, for whose neglect and default said R. W. Rice and Co., claim that said William H. Shotwell should be responsible, therefore,

"First. We do award that the said Wm. H. Shotwell shall pay to the said R. W. Rice & Co., the sum of one thousand dollars, on or before the seventh day of December next.

"Secondly, We do award that the said sum is in full discharge and satisfaction of all claims or demands of said Rice & Co., against said William H. Shotwell, Freeman Shotwell, Sr., and Smith Garretson, by reason of the neglect or default of either or all of them, but said award is in no way intended to effect or, invalidate any outstanding written contracts or bonds and mortgages heretofore entered into by either of said parties with the other."

It is true that Mr. Rice charged me before the arbitrators with passing counterfeit money, and with selling at short weight and short measure; but it is not true, as stated in said article, that the said arbitrators found me guilty of these offenses or of any of them, or of any personal wrongdoing whatever, and in proof of this I refer to the wording of their report, as above quoted, and to a paper signed by two of them in the absence of the other and appended hereto. The arbitrators simply found that I was liable for the neglect and default of the under clerks in Mr. Rice's store, and adjudged that I pay one thousand dollars for this, and I did it, not because I thought it was just, but because I had agreed to abide by the arbitration. I was as ignorant of the wrongdoing for which I was required to pay this money as are the dead.

The charge of passing counterfeit money was as follows: Mr. Rice said that he once put a counterfeit one dollar bill in the back part of the money drawer in the store, and that about the same time he happened to see a counterfeit silver piece with the other silver money in the drawer, and that they were afterwards both missing when he looked for them. As all the clerks had access to the money drawer, and as the bill and silver piece, if really counterfeit, might both have been paid out by any one of the clerks by mistake, this charge was, of course, disproved.

In support of the charge of selling at short weight and short measure, Mr. Rice adduced only his own word. He said he had the measures and the weights, but he did not produce them. There were some old weights about the store when I left there, through rust and use, had worn away, but I had put them by themselves on the shelf long ago, and had not used them for years.

I solemnly declare that I never knowingly passed counterfeit money, or sold by short weight or measure, to any living being.

Mr. Rice declared" before the arbitrators that I sold seven quarts for a peck, but he did not prove it, and it is not true.

But one charge remains, viz: that I attempted to bribe the arbitrators, and offered one of them $500 for himself and others. This charge is simply infamous; I never made such an attempt and I never thought of it.

In conclusion, I can only add that I have lived for thirty-six years in the City of Plainfield, and the Borough of North Plainfield. During all that time I have endeavored to lead a life of sobriety and honesty. I have not consciously injured a man, woman or child. In my business transactions with Mr. Rice, I have yielded every point of doubt for the sake of peace. The very charges that he now makes against me, he submitted to the arbitrators, as he himself declares, and they were all decided against him, as the award, and the arbitrators' letter, hereto appended abundantly attest. Yet he now not only re-iterates these charges but adds thereto the monstrous falsehood that I was unanimously convicted upon them by the arbitrators. And this he does, not in the heat of controversy, but coolly and deliberately, and in the public press; he even going so far, it is alleged, as to look after the actual publication and to revise the proofs.

WILLIAM H. SHOTWELL.

Sworn and subscribed before me this 14th day of December, A. D. 1889.

JOHN H. VANWINKLE,
Master in Chancery of New Jersey.

LETTER FROM THE ARBITRATORS.

MR. WILLIAM SHOTWELL:

DEAR SIR—Our attention having been called to some comments on the award in the Rice-Shotwell controversy, we desire expressly to state, that the aforesaid award was in no way intended to, nor in our opinion does it, reflect in any way upon the integrity of Mr. Wm. H. Shotwell.

Signed,
JAS. MCGEE,
I. W. PANGBORN,
Arbitrators,
Plainfield, N. J., Dec. 12, 1889."

MOSES SHAW ARRESTED.

A Check to the Career of a Man Who is Accused of Swindling Others, Including Many Plainfielders, of Almost a Million Dollars.

[From THE PRESS of Dec. 13.]

Moses A. Shaw who from the Spring of 1888 until August of this year, first boarded with his wife on East Front street and afterwards occupied one of Mayor Male's houses on the aristocratic Crescent, has just been arrested in Washington. It seems probable that his career is closed at last, and the list of victims of his plausible tongue is completed.

Prominent among those who suffered from his ways and methods in this city, was Mr. L. A. Rheume from whom Shaw obtained about $48,000 to ostensibly invest in wonderful West Virginia lumber forests. The result was Rheume's failure and assignment of his business at Peace and Fourth streets for the benefit of his creditors. If Shaw's arrest had come before Rheume fell into his net, that victim would have been safe and his creditors would have been satisfied. Mr. Wm. J. Betzfield, Mr. Rheume's assignee, however, is handling the business in a way that will be for the mutual good of all interested.

The authorities of Bradford and Tioga counties, Pa., as well as several New York merchants, have been searching for Shaw for the past three months, and he was arrested at last in Washington, D. C., yesterday, and is held on a charge of swindling to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars. Aside from the large amounts of money involved, it is said that several merchants of New York and elsewhere have been drawn into a state verging on bankruptcy. Shaw first became known in commercial circles as a lumber dealer in Towanda, Bradford county, Pa. He remained in that town nearly twenty years, and his credit rose to such a height that over forty banks in Pennsylvania are, said to be sufferers through accepting his notes.

At the time stated above he moved from Towanda to this city, where he became more intimately connected with New York merchants and carried on more extensively than ever his peculiar business methods until he failed with liabilities of nearly $600,000. Among his creditors were the First National Bank of Wellsboro, Pa., from which he had obtained $3,200; also a private banking company of that town, which had advanced $7,000 on personal notes, and many other banks and private individuals, including Mr. Frank Lock and Mr. John Cathcart, both of North Plainfield.

Shaw arrived in Washington last Tuesday, bringing with him his wife and five loads of furniture which he removed from the Crescent avenue house about two weeks ago. He moved into a house near the corner of Second and C streets, Southeast. There he was found yesterday morning and taken before Justice Bingham, Chief Justice of the District Supreme Court. Prosecuting Attorney Mather, of Tioga county, Pa., who was in Washington with the requisition from Gov. Beaver, stated that the full amount that Shaw has obtained by worthless notes is nearly $800,000, but as many of these notes are beyond the statute of limitations, they cannot be brought up against him. The Court continued the case today to await the arrival of witnesses.

WELCOMING PASTOR TILDEN.

The Very Pleasant Affair That Occurred Thursday Evening.

A large company gathered in the Unitarian parlors, Thursday, to extend a welcome to the pastor, the Rev. W. P. Tilden, and wife.

A very pleasant address of welcome was made by Mr. Henry B. Wells, in which he expressed the appreciation of the young society in having for a lead-r one who was so abundantly qualified to instruct and uplift them. Mr. Tilden's reply was very happy, and ran along in a free and easy manner, now in a vein of pleasantry, and now in a serious strain.

The founder of the church, the Rev. D. W. Morehouse, of New York, was present, accompanied by Mrs. Morehouse, and he made a short address congratulating the society upon securing the services of Mr. Tilden. Instrumental and vocal music was furnished by members of the society, and Mr. C. W. Opdyke favored the company with some readings. Simple refreshments were served after the feast of reason, followed by agreeable social intercourse.

He Wants to Get Rid of His Prize.

Mr. Joseph G. Miller, proprietor of the Seventh Day pharmacy, has won a prize but he wishes someone would take it away. Anybody who is not easily shocked and wants an able bodied poll-parrot, can get one by applying to Mr. Miller at once before he kills it.

The parrot having driven all the guests out of Taylor's Hotel, Dunellen, was raffled off the other evening, and though Mr. Miller had nothing to do with the affair, some admiring friend threw 48 for him and sent the bird around as a slight token of esteem.

But since the parrot has developed an emphatic intent to ruin his new home and does it without cessation and without shame, besides chewing with glee the fingers of all the young Millers, anybody can have it who will send for it.

Nearly all colds are slight, at first, but their tendency is to so lower the system that the sufferer becomes a ready victim to any prevalent disease. The use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, in the beginning of a cold, would guard against this danger.

PERSONALS FROM THE VISITOR.

What the Methodist People Have to Read About in their own Special Paper.

From the current number of the Visitor, Pastor Mitchell's little paper that he publishes for circulation among his people in the M. E. church, are taken the following few items of general interest from the many specially concerning the congregation alone:

The Christmas entertainment will be held in the Chapel Christmas Eve. Committees are at work and all may expect a delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Sellers have returned from a prolonged visit to Pittsburg, their former home. They are welcomed back by many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Loomis recently visited Drs. Tuttle and VanMeter in Baltimore, finding them happy and successful in their new fields of labor.

A Committee has been appointed by the Official Board to ascertain the feasibility of starting a mission in the neighborhood of West Fourth and Monroe streets.

The pastor recently received a letter from Geo. Angleman, Jr., who is preaching at Rosedale, Kansas. His health is good and he is having prosperity in his work. This will be good news to his friends in this city.

The ladies of the W. F. M. S. had a parlor sale of home-made articles in Vincent Chapel last Thursday afternoon and evening. Quite a sum was realized, which will be appropriated to the support of a Bible reader in India.

Before another number of our little paper is issued, the old year will have ended, and the new year will have begun. This is a season of retrospection, when we look back over the past year; of introspection when we examine ourselves to see what real progress we have made in the better life; and of prospection, when we look into the future with plans and purposes for more consecrated and unselfish living.

Mrs. James McGee is enjoying a visit from her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Moger, of California.

Prof. Larribee is engaged in translating an important Italian scientific volume into English. Those who are acquainted with the Professor's linguistic ability, know that the work will be well done.

Mrs. Chas. H. Aull, of Pittsburg, sister of the pastor, is visiting at the Parsonage. Miss Mary Aull, sister of Mrs. Mitchell, also from Pittsburg, will be a guest at the Parsonage during the holidays.

Mr. Abram Hooley has been offered a responsible and lucrative position with the Northern Pacific R. R in the far Northwest. If he should accept many friends will regret the departure of himself and his excellent wife from Plainfield.

The Christmas music is very beautiful, and the school has entered into the preparation of it with unusual vigor and enthusiasm. With organ, piano, violin and trombone accompaniment, the music will be an attractive feature of the Christmas entertainment.

The pastor has recently solemnized the following marriages: Nov. 26, W. J. Stephenson and Theresa Benegar, and Nov. 28, Charles Walter Hall and Alice May Leland. The former took place at Newark, and the latter at the bride's residence, 93 Grandview avenue.

The children of the Juniors' Class gave a very pleasing entertainment to their parents and friends Friday afternoon Dec. 6. It was one of the best juvenile entertainments we have ever seen, and too much credit cannot be given to Mrs Van Vliet and Mrs Fairchild, who had the whole matter in charge.

The committee in charge of the North Plainfield Chapel enterprise are considering all the elements connected with the work, and soon plans will be presented to the church. Nothing will be done thoughtlessly, and the interests of our church and the cause of Christ will be carefully subserved by the committee.

Mr. Marin D. Deichoff, a native Bulgarian, who is a graduate of Drew Seminary, and expects to return to Bulgaria to take work in our Methodist Missions there, will give a free lecture in Vincent Chapel next Friday evening, Dec. 20, at the regular meeting of the Epworth League. Mr. Deichoff will tell us about the people of Bulgaria, their manners and customs, and will wear the native custom during the lecture. Old and young are invited.

January 5 will be Communion Sunday. At that time both Sacraments will be administered and members received.

Mr. J. G. Cadmus recently met with a severe sprain which has kept her confined to her room. She is not yet able to be about.

On next Sabbath morning Dr. Hurlbut will preach the Christmas sermon. The pastor will preach at night. The choir music will be appropriate to the occasion.

Last Sunday was the closing Missionary Sunday for the year in the Sunday School. The collection for that day was nearly $250. The total missionary collection from the School is $450. This sum, added to the church collection, will make our total contribution $1,250; about $2.08 per member.

No one thing in connection with our church work gives the pastor more pleasure than the unity which is manifest in all the members. We have no petty parties, no cranks, and no growlers. The official Board is a unit, and all the various societies and organizations of our church, work in perfect harmony. Next to the unity of our own membership, we rejoice over the unity of all the evangelical churches in the city. There are no unseemly jealousies and rivalries, and the Christian church in Plainfield is one army, under the same Captain, only divided into regiments for more effective work, each having its own officers who acknowledge the same great Head.

Dr. Carroll has already begun his church statistic work for the new census with his usual energy and system. He has opened his office on North avenue, opposite the station, and has an effective corps of clerks at work. Those who know the Doctor know that his part of the Census will be thoroughly reliable. His task is a delicate and difficult one, and the work has been assigned to the one who has no superior for that kind of painstaking and accurate labor.

Somerset County Freeholders.

The above Board met in the Court House in Somerville, Tuesday, Dec. 10, all the members being present. The minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

The Finance Committee, through Mr. Wyckoff, reported expenditures to date, $64,215.20, of which $30,202.20 was for bridges, $6,455.52 for court expenses, $4,800.25 for lunacy, $4,162.97 for interest, $3,421.32 for per diem and salaries, and $8,706.64 for public buildings and grounds.

Watch for It.

One of the first of the Christmas windows to be decorated especially for the occasion, was that of A. M. Vanderbeek & Co., 33 Park avenue. These enterprising young men, Messrs Andrew Vanderbeek and Harry McIntosh, last year made a display of snow birds and live quail, that attracted a great deal of admiration.

This season they offered something just as novel and entertaining. It was displayed for the first time on Saturday morning.

—Senator McPherson has introduced a bill appropriating $10,000 for the purchase, from Stephen Vail of Morristown, of the original telegraph instrument by which the first message ever transmitted was sent.

THE OLD AND STUBBORN TIMES.

Still Advocating Illicit and Unrestricted Rum Selling.

(From the Central Times of Yesterday.)

Our young and rather boastful contemporary, the Daily Press, is glorying over the election of a license Council, as if the result were a testimony to the supreme wisdom of that journal in advocating license. Bless its precious young life, when has Plainfield elected anything else but a license Council? With one or two exceptions many years ago, this city has had for twenty years a license majority in the Common Council. Oh, no, young fellow, the majority of Plainfield voters have uniformly said, "Let us have the dram shop established in due form along our highways." It has never required any newspaper to develop a license sentiment.

But the votes for license have never changed the opinion of the TIMES which, for the twenty years that Plainfield has been a city, has been opposed to the license system and has advocated the prohibition of the liquor traffic in this little community. Only "183 voted with the TIMES and 1,461 voted with the Press," exclaims the last named contemporary. Well, if there was not one man to vote against the license system here the TIMES would still be against it. Every friend of the license system knows where this journal stands. And it might be added, they know too that it does not attempt to abuse those who differ from it on that subject. The TIMES will stand by its anti-license principles and continue to urge our citizens to adopt them, hoping that the day is not very distant when the good people of Plainfield will agree to banish the dram shop from the town.

THE WORST DEFEAT OF ALL.

The "Nameless" Wipe Up the Westfield Alley's With the "Pastimes."

The twelfth game of the bowling tournament for the championship of this county, was rolled on the alleys at Westfield, on Tuesday, by the Nameless and Pastime Clubs of that place.

The latter rolled the lowest score of the tournament and were defeated by 202 pins. They took the biggest kind of a lead at the start but fell all apart in the third and fourth frames. Mr. Seely of the Monday Club, acted as umpire. The score was as follows:

NAMELESS.

	S	S	B	Total
Young	3	2	5	148
Moore	2	4	4	143
Jackson	1	5	4	151
Worth	2	3	5	143
Everett	2	0	8	120
Howe	2	6	2	180
A. L. Alpers	1	5	4	143
Hanford	1	2	6	127
MacQuoid	0	6	4	149
Foster	1	4	5	140
				1444

PASTIMES.

Ward	8	6	4	161
Cash	0	1	9	96
Smith	0	3	7	112
Pearsall	1	3	6	117
Collins	3	4	4	146
Welch	3	1	6	136
Darby	3	1	7	120
Crouch	1	2	6	138
Hall	2	2	6	139
Love	1	2	6	127
				1343

FRAMES.

Nameless	124	263	419	544	728	883	988	1124	1269	1444
Pastimes	148	269	398	546	685	782	909	1039	1149	1343

The record now stands:

	WON.	LOST.
Monday of Westfield	4	1
Elizabeth Athletic Club	3	2
Nameless of Westfield	3	2
Crescent of Plainfield	1	3
Pastime of Westfield	1	4

COMPLIMENTED FOR THEIR WORK.

An Official Visit From Grand Scribe Sebring.

William H. Sebring, Grand Scribe of of the Grand Chapter, R. A. M., of the State of N. J., paid an official visit to Union Chapter, No. 7, R. A. M., of Newark, N. J., Monday evening, accompanied by several of the companions of Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, R. A. M., of this city, and was received with great honor by the companions of Union, No 7.

Before closing, Grand Scribe Sebring entertained the companions with lengthy remarks, complimenting them upon the efficiency of their work and interest taken in the Order, all of which was received with great enthusiasm. Afterward the visitors were entertained with a sumptuous banquet at Allen's, the well-known Newark caterer.

The Contract Awarded.

Mr. F. S. Dunn, Manager in this city for the Electrical Construction and Supply company, has secured the contract for wiring throughout the new Miller building on Park avenue. The four flats and three stores will be fitted up with electric lights. There will be 83 incandescent lamps in the building.

Aunt Polly Bassett Coming.

The Y's have engaged Aunt Polly Bassett to give one of her "Yankee Singin' Skewls" at Music Hall, Thursday evening, Dec. 19, for their own benefit. All persons desiring to give their families and children a genuine treat, should take them to "Singin' Skewl." Two hours of uproarious fun may be expected.

Distributing Station.

The New Jersey Central Railroad Company is about to erect a distributing station at the point where the Long Branch Railroad leaves the main line in Elizabethport. It will be an immense structure. When the station is finished all way freight will be sorted there and put into way trains for the points on the main line, Long Branch and Newark lines, without first hauling to Jersey City, as at present.

Jerusalem Lodge Election.

At the annual communication of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, A. F. and A. M., held in their Lodge rooms, at No. 10 East Front street, on Tuesday, the following named were elected officers to serve the ensuing year:

W. M.—Henry S. Mason.
S. W.—Wm. J. Ford.
J. W.—Charles Leggett.
Treas.—C. H. Hogg.
Sec'y—B. F. Coriell.
Trustees—John Chandler, Henry Woodland, J. A. Hubbard.

Brother John Chandler was appointed proxy to attend the Grand Lodge.

The Game Laws.

The gunning season in New Jersey closed on Saturday. After this persons who shoot quail, pheasants, woodcock, rabbits, English snipe, upland or grass plover, reed birds, rail birds or marsh hens, will be liable to penalties of from $5 to $20. There is such ignorance of the law among sportsmen that an abstract of the game laws, as amended by the Legislature, is given. The open seasons are as follows:

Quail, pheasants and rabbits, Nov. 1, to Dec. 15, inclusive.

Woodcock during the month of July and from Oct. 1 to Dec. 15, inclusive.

Upland or grass plover, Aug. 1 to Dec. 15, inclusive.

English snipe, during the months of March and April. Also between the 1st day of October and 15th of December, inclusive.

Reed bird, rail bird and marsh hen, Sept. 1 to Dec. 15, inclusive.

The penalty for violation of the law in the case of reed bird, rail bird and marsh hen is $5, and for the others $20.

—The statistics gathered by the National Bureau of Labor show that there has been one divorce to every forty-nine marriages in New Jersey since 1879.

TALKING THROUGH HIS HAT.

A Correspondent Who Has Opened His Mouth and Put Both Feet in It.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:—Your contemporary, the Daily Press, makes the following announcement:

Ministers of the gospel in this city have privately assured The Press of their sympathy, and praised its courage. "I would do the same," said one divine, "but they would accuse me, as they do you, of being the saloon keeper's friend in advocating a change again from prohibition (?) to license. Yet that is just what the saloon keeper does not want. Under prohibition they sell without restriction and without fee."

The "divine" above referred to certainly does not understand the rum situation in Plainfield. Every well informed man in Plainfield knows that the rum sellers instead of not wanting a license council elected, so that they could sell "without restriction and without fee," did all they possibly could at the late election to elect license members of the council, and spent their time and money to accomplish that end. Every man who voted a license ticket was the saloon keeper's friend, whether he was a minister of the gospel or not, and every saloon keeper so considers him. I speak knowingly on this subject.

As to the "sixty-three rum holes," claimed by the Press to be "running at all hours of the day and night, including Sundays," the statement needs confirmation. But if it be true, the common council has power to have them detected and punished, and why does it not do it? And why is it, if rum-sellers can ply their nefarious business without money and without price, they are so terribly anxious to pay $700 each for the privilege, as a license fee? Even if they do sell rum to a few old topers "on the sly" they cannot begin to do the harm they have done, and will do, with wide open doors through which our young men are enticed, beguiled and ruined.

Every well-informed man in our city also knows, that under a license system the ordinance was violated every day, and no license was ever revoked. Under the specious plea that rum sellers should be licensed because they break the law, why not license them to sell on the Sabbath day, after lawful hours at night, and to sell to intoxicated persons and minors, and to conduct gambling hells? The doctrine that has been accepted seems to be, if a man breaks the law give him a license to exonerate him.

Again, if councilmen are willing to vote to give any one a license whose application conforms to the ordinance, are they willing to vote to change or amend the ordinance to make it more restrictive? The fact of the matter is, there never has been any restriction under licenses in Plainfield, and the fees have always been high.

M.

[To the first of the above writer's assertions, we can only say: THE PRESS does not know that "the rum-sellers did all they could and spent time and money to elect license members of the Council" How does "M" know it? But we do not believe they spent time and money in any such unnecessary way. They did not have to. The people unbribed and uninfluenced by rum-sellers—as "M" accuses them of being—elected by choice, free will and overwhelming majorities, a solid body of seven Councilmen who have not all their eyes on the one side of their noses, like "M" is built, when looking at this question of how most effectually to restrict rum selling.

[As to the second assertion that THE PRESS' statement needs confirmation as to the sixty-three rum holes running all hours of the day and night in Plainfield, we can only refer "M," and the Times, and all others who doubt the statement, to the police for "confirmation." Chief Carey once had a list of over fifty of these "speak-easy" saloons.

[If "M" is acquainted with any dealers who are anxious to pay $700, he is in our opinion, merely acquainted with business men who are anxious for a share in the monopoly of the sale of liquor that under high license is in the hands alone of those who are licensed. To the rest of the rambling epistle—all as merely specious as that we have shown—there is no answer called for. A man who can't see that there has been restriction under the license system in Plainfield when there were but thirteen saloons against sixty-three under the no-license system, should not command our attention for a moment. ED.]

Borough Breezes.

Borough Marshal Pangborn arrested two disorderly persons in North Plainfield afternoon of Dec. 11. They were John Powers, alias "Sailor Jack," and John Malone, alias "Black Shorty." Mayor Cooley committed them each to the County Jail for thirty days.

Fanwood's Mysterious Disappearances.

What has become of Walter Frazee, promises to remain as much a mystery as the disappearance of George Thomae who *also suddenly faded entirely and for*ever from the sight of his friends and neighbors of Scotch Plains.

No trace was ever found nor word heard of Mr. Thomae, and even the horse and wagon he drove disappeared as he did. So also has all traces of young Frazee been lost. Word from Pine Brook, Conn., to where it was thought he might have followed his sweetheart, has been received to the effect that he is not there nor has not been there.

Sale of Fancy Articles.

The ladies of the Seventh Day Baptist church held a sale of fancy articles, candy, etc., in the lecture room of the church, Dec. 11. The attendance was large and the receipts were very satisfactory to those who had the affair in charge.

The spacious room was tastefully decorated with bunting and Chinese lanterns and a huge Japanese umbrella occupied a prominent position in the centre of the room. The various tables were presided over by the following persons:

Candy and fruit—Mrs. A. L. Titsworth and Miss Florence Potter.

Fancy table—Mrs F. A. Dunham, Mrs. Chas. Dunham and Mrs. Geo. H. Babcock.

Fancy table—Miss Lucy Dunham, Mrs. Geo. B. Titsworth and Mrs. Eva Van Syckle.

Refreshment booth—Mrs. J. G. Miller, Mrs. Chas. Randolph and Mrs. J. F. Hubbard.

Lemonade—Miss Grace Lewis, Miss Lulu Clawson and Miss Ida Randolph.

A. O. U. W. Meeting.

The meeting held in the rooms at the Republican Headquarters, East Front street evening Dec. 11, was well attended by those interested in an organization which claims to be the oldest fraternal beneficiary organization in existence, and now numbering over 227,000 members.

After listening to an explanation of its workings by John W. Diefendorf of Wilmington, Del., Grand Master Workman of this jurisdiction, 31 of those present came forward and signed the application for a charter to institute a lodge in this city. Many prominent and leading citizens headed the list, and assured the Grand Master Workman that each could interest some of his friends in the same. It will also be decided at this meeting when this new lodge will be instituted. It is expected that such ceremony will take place Thursday evening of this week. Those desiring to join can call upon Dr. Jenkins, or Dr. Gazele, and be examined and sign the charter list. The endorsement of this Order by so many leading men is sufficient guarantee of an assured success.

—The deep gullies washed out of the roadbed on Arlington avenue, below Ninth street, by the late freshet, have been repaired.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

HORSES. HORSES!

For Sale very Cheap. 150 Horses to Select from.

All Sizes—All Kinds—All Prices! Fresh arrivals every week. Can suit anybody. Satisfaction guaranteed. Low-priced Horses always on hand. Will improve in the country.

200 Horses & Mules always on hand to select from.

JOHN W. MORRIS,
520 BROAD STREET, NEWARK, N. J.
12-1-4w

Examine Your Pipes and Faucets.

As the cold weather approaches, the more frequent conflagrations emphasize the necessity of looking after our fire extinguishing apparatus. In city and country, in private houses and factory, the water pipes and supply should be a special object of solicitude at this time. The causes of fires multiply with the cold, more open-fires are in use, furnaces are started, and defective flues and kerosene lamps begin to do their destructive work. The same cold weather that increases the sources of conflagration tends to impair the water supply of buildings and of street wells, so necessary for its extinction. Before the winter has begun, the pipes and faucets should be inspected and put in thorough working order.

Bob Walpole, the "Sporting Blacksmith."

B. Walpole, of Scotch Plains, N. J., familiarly known as Bob, is one of the best all-round sportsmen of this State. He is a great shot in the field, and is known far and near as the "sporting blacksmith." He is well up in sporting matters, and no one in Union county knows better where to find each variety of game in its season than does he.

He has shot for many seasons over a liver and white ticked pointer dog. This dog, although slow in movement as compared with the modern racing canine, is reported to be a rattling "killing dog," that is, one that knows where to look for and find birds and then firmly "stands" them until their owner gets the shot. Walpole is not alone handy with the breechloader, but he owns as fine a strain of gamecocks as there is in the country.

Clean the Sidewalks and Gutters.

Mayor Male has instructed Street Commissioner Angleman to enforce the ordinance relative to keeping the sidewalks and gutters clear of snow and ice, and the Street Commissioner has signified his intention to carry out the mayor's instructions to the letter.

The ordinance states that the entire walk from the fence to the curb must be cleared of hail, sleet and snow within twenty-four hours from the time of its falling, under penalty of a fine or imprisonment. The gutters must also be opened within the same period. In case such snow, hail, ice or sleet shall become so congealed that the same cannot be removed without injury to the sidewalk, then the same must be strewn with ashes, sawdust or sand within four hours after sunrise of the next following morning.

By observing these rules the readers would save themselves from any unpleasant complications which may arise.

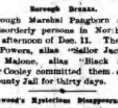
Benefiting the Telephone Service.

The N. Y. & N. J. Telephone Co., is erecting a series of big poles through New Jersey for the long distance telephone between New York and Philadelphia. Each pole is over 100 feet high and costs, when erected, over $100.

The company recently had a force of men at work in this city, substituting the high poles for the shorter ones, and the service has been greatly benefitted by the change. Thanks to Manager Charles Runyon.

—The net profit to the Children's Home from the Amelia B. Edwards' lecture was $229, and not $129, as previously reported.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.



KASKINE,
(THE NEW QUININE.)

Gives
Good Appetite,
New Strength,
Quiet Nerves,
Happy Days,
Sweet Sleep.

A POWERFUL TONIC.
A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

Mis[illegible] has had a case of malaria as could be, and yet Kaskine cured me after I had been dosed with almost every drug in the Pharmacopoeia.—J. D. Bird, B. A., Chemist Maryland Agricultural College.

"For eight years I had dumb ague intolerably. Wishing myself dead a score of times. I never found a medicine worth the bottle that held it, until I took Kaskine. That was a happy day for me. It gave me appetite and strength. I can sleep like a top. I stand by every word of this."—Thos. Toole, Schuylerville, N. Y.

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

KASKINE CO., 166 Duane St., New York.
4-3-y

Christmas Gifts!

Smoking Jackets,
Dressing Gowns,
Fine Underwear,
Storm Coats,
Umbrellas,
Shirts.
Ulsters,
Cape Coats,
Over Coats,
Pea Jackets,
Full Dress Suits,
Prince Albert Suits.

Tredwell, Slote & Co.,
Clothiers and Furnishers,
272, 275, 277 BROADWAY, N. Y.,
COR. BROADWAY AND CHAMBERS ST.
11-7-3m

DEATHS.

BERRY.—In North Plainfield, Dec. 14, 1889, suddenly, Mrs. Alfred Berry, in her 72d year.

COMPTON.—In this city, December 17, Eleanor E., wife of Lewis F. Compton, in her 81st year.

FIELD.—In this city, December 16, Susan E. Field, aged 60 years. Funeral services from her late residence, 108 West Second street, Friday, December 20, at 2:30 P. M.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became a Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The BREATH of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked and frequently entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended the use of Ely's Cream Balm [illegible] for the best and only cure.

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

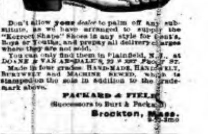
MISCELLANEOUS.

Mark Twain's New Book!
"A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court."

This is Mark Twain's best and most original book. "A keen and powerful satire on English nobility and royalty." A thoroughly American work. Illustrated by 220 fine drawings by Dan. Beard.

AGENTS WANTED,
To whom exclusive control of territory will be given.
Thousands of Dollars
to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars. Chas. L. Webster & Co., 3 East 14th Street, New York.
11-5-w4

Parlor Stoves
Othello Ranges,
Steam and Hot Water Heating,
Hot Air Heating.
Hardware,
Plumbing,
Tinning,
And House Furnishings
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11-1-tf



Don't spoil your Feet with Cheap Shoes!
WEAR THE BURT & PACKARD
See that every pair is stamped The Burt & Packard "Korrect Shape"

Don't allow your dealer to palm off any substitute, as we have arranged to supply the "Korrect Shape" Shoes in any style for Gent's, Boys or Youths, and prepay all delivery charges where they are not sold.

You can only find them in Plainfield, N. J., at DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S, 22 WEST FRONT ST.

Made in four grades: HAND-MADE, HAND-WELT, BURTWELT AND MACHINE SEWED, which is stamped on the sole in addition to the trade-mark above.

PACKARD & FIELD,
(Successors to Burt & Packard)
Brockton, Mass.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN
ESTABLISHED 1845.
Is the oldest and most popular scientific and mechanical paper published and has the largest circulation of any paper of its class in the world. Fully illustrated. Best class of Wood Engravings. Published weekly. Send for specimen copy. Price $3 a year. Four months' trial, $1. MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, N. Y.

ARCHITECTS & BUILDERS
Edition of Scientific American.
A great success. Each issue contains colored lithographic plates of country and city residences or public buildings. Numerous engravings and full plans and specifications for the use of such as contemplate building. Price $2.50 a year, 25 cts. a copy. MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS.

PATENTS may be secured by applying to MUNN & Co., who have had over 40 years' experience and have made over 100,000 applications for American and Foreign patents. Send for Handbook. Correspondence strictly confidential.

TRADE MARKS.
In case your mark is not registered in the Patent Office, apply to MUNN & Co., and procure immediate protection. Send for Handbook.

COPYRIGHTS for books, charts, maps, etc., quickly procured. Address
MUNN & CO., Patent Solicitors,
GENERAL OFFICE: 361 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Great Inducements in
Square Parlor Stoves,
RANGES, &c.
STOVES, LAMPS, TINWARE,
CUTLERY, GRANITEWARE,
MACHINIST and CARPENTER TOOLS,
HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, &c.
POWDER, SHOT AND SHELLS.
J. C. PIERSON, Jr.,
Telephone 128. 41 West Front St.

M. N. TERRILL & CO.,
UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,
No. 29 E. FRONT STREET.
M. N. TERRILL,— Geo. W. Cole.
Practical Embalmer, and assistant to the late firm of Ford & Stiles.
5-17-tf

A. M. RUNYON & SON,
UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS,
60 PARK AVENUE.
Telephone Call 40.
RESIDENCE—48 MADISON AVENUE.
Telephone Call 27.
"Office of Hillside Cemetery."

P. CASEY & SON,
UNDERTAKERS
OFFICE—No. 1 Somerset St.
Residence, No. 11 Third street, corner New, Plainfield, N. J. Everything pertaining to the business always on hand, and lower than any other firm in the State. All Calls Promptly Answered Day or Night.—10291

WANTS AND INFORMATION.

STORAGE—FIRST-CLASS ACCOMMODATIONS in newly-partitioned rooms. All thoroughly cleaned and free from vermin. Separate rooms if desired. Apply at HORTON [illegible] owner, M. VERMEULE. Two buggies for sale cheap.—[illegible]

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - City Editor.

—Oh, for a Y. M. C. A. building.

—Oh! could we but have that freight house moved away.

—Calendars for 1890 are numerous and of many tasty designs.

—A beautiful rainbow was seen in the heavens, early Thursday morning.

—Christmas shoppers walk right by the stores of men who don't advertise.

—Give your boy a membership in the Y. M. C. A., for a Christmas present.

—The legislature of 1890 meets on Tuesday, the 14th day of January next.

—Strings of gaping children from all parts of the city gaze at the shop windows.

—[illegible] are due on the 21st inst., which makes the 21st the shortest day in the season.

—The Sunday evening meeting in Warren Mission chapel was led by Mr. F. H. Andrews.

—A few persons took advantage of the light fall of snow, and indulged in a sleigh ride Sunday.

—The streets were thronged with holiday shoppers during yesterday afternoon and last evening.

—James McKenzie and John Collins are in Johnstown, Pa., erecting presses from the Scott Press Works.

—It is reported that a boy named Anderson of West Front street, had an eye put out with a sling shot, Thursday afternoon.

—The sun has reached its earliest setting limit for this year, and the shortest day will soon come, which is on December 21.

—Special music from Danks's "Temple Themes," will be rendered at the Christmas celebration of Warren Mission Sunday school.

—The new certificates for the firemen have arrived, and will be distributed as soon as the official signatures are attached to the same.

—In the Court of Special Sessions at Elizabeth Wednesday, Geo. J. M. Drake, editor of the Elizabeth Sunday Leader, was fined $100, being convicted of a charge of libel.

—It is thought to be only a matter of a very short time before a certain newspaper man in this city will join others of his kin in the soup. "The mills of the gods grind slow."

—The annual Christmas tree and festival of the Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein will be held at the hall, on Somerset street, on Tuesday evening, December 31, at 7:30 o'clock.

—The Board of Education met on Saturday evening, but about the only business transacted was the auditing of a number of claims. The new Board will organize next month.

—A young lad living on West Sixth street, whose name could not be ascertained, was seriously injured by being struck in the neck by a bullet, shot from an air-gun, Friday afternoon.

—One of the employees in the foundry at the Pond Tool Works, had the misfortune to break a leg while at work, a few days ago. The broken bone was reset at Muhlenberg Hospital.

—A snow scene with log cabin, wintry looking trees and live rabbits running about, is what attracts crowds in front of one of the windows in Warren Randolph's pharmacy on West Front street.

—The poll parrot which Mr. J. G. Miller, the druggist, has been trying to give away for a week or more past, is now an honorary member of the Bachelor's club, and hereafter will be known as "Mrs. J. M. McGinty."

—Crescent Lodge, No. [illegible], K. of P., of Flemington, entertained visiting Knights on Wednesday, Dec. 11, and among the Grand officers present were: Judge Ulrich, Grand Prelate, and E. V. Lorton, G. K. of R. and S., both of this city.

—Officer Charles Giese has sold out his restaurant business on Somerset street, to Mrs. Josie Preston, who took possession of the place on December 1. Officer Giese also took possession of his new house on Orange street, on that date.

—Among the interesting features in the drama, "A Desperate Game, or All for a Wife," which is soon to be produced by the Plainfield Dramatic Club, is the graveyard scene. Mr. Harry [illegible] of New York, will personally manage this scene.

—The members of Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company, are arranging for a grand ball to be given in the Saengerbund Hall during the latter part of December. The proceeds will be devoted to the purchase of fatigue caps and firemen's overcoats.

—The scholars in Hope chapel Sunday school, will have a special rehearsal of their Christmas music on Wednesday evening, and on the Sunday following Christmas they will unite with the Crescent Avenue Sunday school, in the Christmas service.

—It is understood that Mr. Burdick, the temperance revivalist, received in the neighborhood of $300 for his recent labors in this city. It is also said that Mr. Burdick at first agreed to come here for the collections alone, but, fortunately for him, other arrangements were made.

Talks to the Night School.

Mr. Townsend Rushmore told the scholars of the night school for men, last evening, all about China as he saw it. It will be the beginning of a series of just such interesting and instructive talks to the night school.

Ten Days' Vacation.

The public schools will hold exercises appropriate to Christmas, on Tuesday of next week, and will then close until Monday, January 6.

Scholars and teachers will welcome and enjoy this brief vacation in the midst of their term, all of which the latter very much deserve.

A Hundred-Year Mortgage.

A mortgage has been placed on record by the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey to the Central Trust Company of New York, for $50,000,000, to run for 100 years at 5 per cent. It is given as a security for the bonded indebtedness of the road. It covers all the roadbeds of the Central Company in the State of New Jersey and all the real estate belonging to the company, including its rolling stock.

An Important Decision.

Judge Magie, of the Supreme Court, has rendered a decision that is likely to have considerable interest for all holders of school bonds. The Judge held that it is necessary to the validity of the bonds, that the Boards of School Trustees issuing them shall designate in the notice calling the meeting of the legal voters to authorize the bonds, the lot or site to be selected for the contemplated school improvement for which such bonds are to be issued.

The question arises whether this does not invalidate all school bonds issued since 1880, when the act authorizing the issue of school improvement bonds was passed, though all proceedings under which such bonds have been approved by the Attorney-General.

It is stated over $300,000 of these bonds are held by the State of New Jersey. In all probability a validating act will have to be passed in order to validate the bonds already issued without the site being designated in the notice for the meeting of voters.

PERSONALIA.

Councilman A. T. Gallup has gone on a Western trip in the interests of the Potter Press Works.

Mr. Asa D. Pope of Dunellen, has been confined to the house for the past week suffering from illness.

The Dover Era says: "Dr. E. W. Hedges, of Plainfield, spent Tuesday night at his home in Chester."

Rev. Father T. J. O'Hanlon, formerly pastor of St. Joseph's church in North Plainfield, was in town Saturday.

Mr. Harry Adams has returned from a trip in the far West, and is stopping with relatives on West Fourth street.

John Simpson lately in the employ of Andrew Wilson, is in Muhlenberg Hospital suffering from typhoid fever.

The next of the Seminary Lectures will be given Friday evening, Jan. 10. It will be by Mrs. Hall on "Social Usages."

Mr. R. A. TenEyck of this city is at the house of Mr. R. A. Davis, Elizabeth, suffering from a severe attack of asthma.

Mr. Edward Nelson, the popular railroad and Music Hall ticket agent of this city, is so sick as to be confined to his house.

Miss Mabel Logan, of Logan's Ferry, Pa., has returned home after a pleasant visit with relatives on East Seventh street, this city.

About fifteen invited guests partook of a wild turkey supper at Mr. Samuel Allen's residence on Mountain avenue, Thursday evening.

There will be a private masquerade ball held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Boehm, 7 West Front street, on the night of New Year's Day.

The Rev. Mr. Richards preached from the pulpit of the Presbyterian church on Washington Heights, New York city, last Sunday morning and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Pope arrived in Plainfield last week after a wedding trip South, and are at home, corner of Park avenue and West Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bachman and Mr. and Mrs. Betters of Newark, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Boehm of West Front street, during Sunday.

At a regular Convocation of Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, F. and A. M., Thursday evening, the Mark and Past Master Degree was worked upon Mr. Harry Stockton.

Mrs. Susan E. Field died at her home, No. [illegible] West Second street, on Monday night, aged 60 years. The funeral will take place from the house on Friday at 2.30 P. M.

Rev. J. C. Bliss, a former pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, but now of New York city, was present and delivered a short address at Hope chapel, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Charles Bock of East Second street, has been doubly afflicted within the past week. A few days ago, Mr. Bock was bereft of his wife, and Monday his five-year-old daughter died.

Mr. and Mrs. John Grabler and Mrs. Chas. H. Aull, of Pittsburg, are the guests of the Rev. and Mrs. C. B. Mitchell of Grove street. Mrs. Aull is a sister of the Rev. Mr. Mitchell.

Mrs. A. D. Shepard will give a reception at her house, "The Gables," from 8 till 10 o'clock, Monday evening, Dec. 30, with a dance afterwards. Miss Shepard will receive with her mother.

Mr. Joseph Eder, for a long time past night operator at the District Messenger office, has severed his connection with the office here and will engage with the Lehigh Valley Railroad company.

Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Dickinson of North Plainfield, are receiving the congratulations of their friends over the arrival of a girl baby. The little one's age will be reckoned from Sunday of last week.

Charles Mitchell, one of the heirs of the Sarah Lattimer estate, died at his home in Knoxville, Tenn., Thursday. He was left $10,000 by the provisions of the will, and the executors were about to pay over the money to him.

Councilman D. S. Roberts entertained at dinner at his residence on North avenue, Dec. 11, Mayor Maile, City Judge Codington and the members of the City Council for 1889. McVey, the North avenue caterer, furnished the dinner.

About fifteen couples of young-people drove over to Lambert DeCamp's Hotel at Dog Corners, last Friday, and spent a few hours socially together. Prof. Frazee furnished the music for dancing, which was indulged in by those present.

The soloists who have been engaged for the first of the Plainfield Choral society concerts, include Miss Henrietta Beebe—now Mrs. Lorton—and Mr. Carl Dufft who was heard with so much pleasure at the recent musicale at Mrs. Tomlinson's.

At the annual meeting of the State Charities Aid Association, held Dec. 11 in Y. M. C. A., Hall, Newark, Mrs. Dexter Tiffany of this city, who has been very earnest in the work of the Association, was elected a member of the Board of Managers.

About twelve o'clock of Monday night, occurred the death of Eleanor H., wife of Lewis F. Compton, of consumption. The deceased was in the twenty-first year of her age. The funeral will take place from the house, No. 124 West Front street, on Thursday at 2:30 p. m.

Rev. Mr. Skellenger, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Dunellen, will preach his farewell sermon, on the last Sunday in the present month, previous to his departure for his new field of labor. Rev Mr. Skellenger was tendered a public reception in the church parlors, evening Dec. 11.

Mr. Fred Moore is lying dangerously ill at his home on West Third street, from an attack of typhoid pneumonia. Monday night the patient had a hemorrhage, and his condition has since been so critical that the physician in charge has refused to allow any one in the room outside of the regular attendants.

Miss Carolyn Knowland, of East Seventh street, is spending a month with her sister, Mrs. L. E. Laflin of Chicago. Miss Knowland was present at the grand opening of the Auditorium in Chicago, on Monday, Dec. 9, at which there were also present President Harrison, Vice President Morton and other distinguished persons.

At the Methodists' church sociable, last Friday, the singing of Mr. Elmer Runyon and Mr. D. T. Barnes, was the bright particular pleasure of the evening. Mr. Runyon's rendition of White's "Marguerite," and Mr. Barnes' rendition of "The Good Shepherd," by Barri, were perfect. They also sang as a duett, Donizetti's "Adieu."

Prof. J. E. Oliver of Fort Scott, Kansas, has been visiting his brother, Mr. W. F. Oliver and his wife of West Fifth street. Prof. Oliver returned a few days ago from a six months' tour through Europe, where he procured many rare objects of interest. He left for Philadelphia, afternoon Dec. 11, where he will visit relatives before returning to the West.

The marriage took place in Elizabeth Dec. 10, of Thomas H. Burnet, the youngest son of the late John M. Burnet, of this city, and brother to Charles Burnet of Madison avenue, and John Burnet of West Fifth street. The bride was Miss Fannie Farrington, granddaughter of Col. Thos. F. DeVoe of New York. The ceremony took place at St. John's church, and the Rev. Otis A. Glazebrook officiated. Mr. Burnet is Managing Clerk in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Brooklyn elevated railways, and one of the crack bowlers on the Elizabeth Athletic Club's team.

Mr. William D. Craig of North Plainfield returned from Texas on Tuesday. Mr. Craig will remain here for an indefinite period, after which he will return to Texas.

The death is announced in New York, on Tuesday of Dr. Pope, a well-known physician of that city. The deceased was also known, both in this city and in North Plainfield, he having been a guest at Stelle's Hotel for several seasons past.

OFFICERS OF THE COUNCIL OF 1890.

A Contest for the Clerkship Between Messrs Coward and Anthony.

Straws point just now to the election of Henry E. Newhall as President of the incoming Council, while the clerkship is still an unsettled contest between Joseph B. Coward and Edward E. Anthony.

DOCTORS AT DINNER.

The Medical and Surgical Staff of Muhlenberg Hospital Will Enjoy a Feast and a Flow.

On Thursday of this week will take place the first annual dinner of the physicians and surgeons on the staff of Muhlenberg Hospital. A very elaborate menu will be served, besides a flow of reason.

The toast master will be Dr. E. W. Hedges, and the following will reply as called upon: "The Old Physician," Dr. T. H. Tomlinson; "Surgery in Muhlenberg," Dr. George W. Endicott; "The Beneficence of Pain," Dr. J. B. Probasco; "The Ladies," Dr. W. D. Murray; "The Imagination in Disease," Dr. J. H. Carman; "Consultation," Dr. M. B. Long; "Similia Similibus," Dr. W. C. Boone.

The sentiment of one of the toasts, Dr. Murray's, is:

There's not a blessing or a woe;
There's not a whisper, yes or no;
There's not a life, or death, or birth;
There's not a feather's weight of worth,
Without a woman in it.

CHORAL SOCIETY PLANS.

The Coming Concert to Have and Orchestra.

At the regular rehearsal of the Plainfield Choral Society, Monday night, President W. W. Howland announced the names of the soloists engaged for the coming concert, as already given in these columns, and stated also that an orchestra would be included in the first concert at least.

It seems THE PRESS in stating some weeks ago that an orchestra would be engaged, did so before the directors of the Society had fully agreed that such a great additional expense could be incurred. But, as Mr. Howland said last evening, immediately after such publication the subscriptions came in very rapidly.

However, if the public expect to have such a luxury as a large and talented orchestra at each of the three concerts proposed, a few more subscriptions are necessary. Those who feel unable to pay for a full subscription of ten dollars for four seats for the entire three concerts, can send their names to Mr. H. O. Newman, 4 West Fifth street, for half a subscription and he will combine the subscriber with another. This should be done before Saturday, as next Monday the selection of seats will be opened to subscribers.

Worked the Second Rank.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., of this city, worked the second rank on two candidates, Friday; and also made arrangements to secure a lease of one of the large halls in the Hand building, on Second street.

Principal Rose Will Take Part.

The thirty sixth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Teachers' Association will be held at Trenton, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 26, 27 and 28. In the superintendents' and principals' department on Friday, Principal C. E. Rose, of North Plainfield, and Principal N. W. Pease, of Elizabeth, will participate in the discussion of "The Function of the Principal in Supervision."

Would be More Gratified for a Little "Works" in Plainfield.

(From the Chronicle.)

According to the Plainfield Press the business firm of which Mr Harry G. Runkle of that city is the senior member, has contracted to furnish the City of Havana with a system of water works at a cost of $2,500,000. While the enterprise is to be commended and the Cubans are to be congratulated, Plainfield people would doubtless feel much more gratification were the benefit to be applied to their own city, either by Mr. Runkle, a Cuban or anyone else.

New Company Incorporated.

The Steel Die Manufacturing Company, of Plainfield, filed articles of incorporation with the Clerk of Union county Friday. The capital is $1,000,000. The corporators are William F. Arnold, of Plainfield, and Edward H. Atwood, Charles A. Senior, Jr., Robert C. Young and Bernard J. Secke, of New York.

The incorporators held a meeting in the City National Bank building, Friday afternoon, when the organization was perfected. The company will have its factory in Connecticut, with offices in this city and in New York.

It Always Works That Way.

Under the above heading the Dover, N. J., Era says:

"A year ago the city of Plainfield, N. J., which had high license, decided to try no license at all. Since then the illicit sale of liquor in the city has been notorious. As a result the people, at their charter election on Tuesday, elected a Council on the license issue by tremendous majorities. One trial of no license in a restricted locality seems to be about all that most people want. The prohibitionists having helped to repeal the law providing for no license in counties, the only practical thing left for smaller communities is high license."

'Tis Not So in Plainfield.

The New York World of Tuesday says: "A special officer to look after truants from school is sadly needed at Elizabeth, where truancy seems to be on the increase. A number of urchins to whom school life is burdensome congregate on Murray street, where the Pennsylvania freight yard is located, and amuse themselves by stealing rides on trains at the risk of life and limb. When not engaged in this hazardous pastime they make life miserable for the people living in the vicinity, whom they annoy in a hundred different ways. So great has this nuisance become that several clergymen have called the attention of a World representative to the matter."

No Charge Made or Intended.

Mr. Craig A. Marsh denies unqualifiedly the statement made concerning him by Mr. Shotwell in Saturday's PRESS, and has received assurances from the three lawyers who represent Mr. Shotwell, that no reflection was intended, and further assurance from R. V. Lindabury, Esq., Mr. Shotwell's senior counsel, that Mr. Shotwell would himself correct the erroneous interpretation that some have placed upon the sentence referred to.

Mr. Marsh's reputation as a lawyer of the highest grade morally and intellectually is of course proof against any charge of unprofessional conduct, but in this case, it is pleasant to know that no such charge was made or intended.

A Hamburg Fig.

There is no longer need to force children to take castor oil. A HAMBURG FIG, which is like preserved fruit, will be taken by them with relish. 25c. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

THE GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH.

Progress of the Crescent League Minstrel Entertainment.

At a meeting last Saturday evening of those who have the matter in charge, various committees were appointed by Mr. Howard Emerson to carry out the arrangements for the grand minstrel entertainment to be given in Music Hall during February, by the members of the Plainfield Crescent League.

These committees on minstrel features, general entertainment, music, &c., have already jumped into their special work and the progress fully assures the greatest show on Earth—or at least, in Plainfield.

The principal attractions of the programme will be the acts and specialties of local talent. Some professionals will probably be imported of extraordinary ability and novelty, but the agility and humor of certain members of the club will be the drawing card of the affair.

NO DESIGN YET SELECTED.

The Committee on the Soldiers' Monument Give Some Idea of What's Wanted.

Other members of the committee on selection of a design for the monument that the Plainfield people contemplate erecting to the honor of her dead soldiers and sailors, viewed Monday night the designs spoken of in THE PRESS. But no definite conclusion was reached. The design most preferred included a shaft sixty feet in height, but its approximate price $35,000, was more than the committee thought it was possible to raise by popular subscription.

From a number of features of different designs that were specially admired, the sculptor of the monument company that prepared the designs will combine one or two others nearer in style and proposed price, $25,000. These will be submitted to the committee in a week or two, and nothing further will be done in the matter until then at least.

Carol Sundays.

The Crescent avenue church will hold its Christmas Carol concert, Sunday afternoon, December 29. The scholars and teachers of Bethel and of Hope chapels, will join in the exercises at that place.

The Seventh Day sabbath school will have its entertainment of the kind on the 26th inst.

Fix that Road.

The condition of Green Brook road, from Somerset street, West, is most deplorable. At the present time, and before Winter has fairly set in, the mud is nearly hub deep in many places. THE PRESS is requested to lay the matter before the Street Committee of the Borough Council.

Nipped in the Bud.

While a son of Chief of Police T. J. Carey was preparing a place for the reception of some guinea pigs in the show window of his father's place of business on West Front street, Monday night, a quantity of cotton batting caught fire and for a time a disastrous conflagration was threatened. The flames, however, were nipped in the bud, and the excitement soon died out.

Chemistry at the Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. Educational Committee introduced in its work a new departure in the form of an Evening in Chemistry, on Thursday. Thirty persons were present. Mr. C. E. Rose as Chairman of the Educational Committee, introduced Prof. Charles L. McBride of Reynolds' pharmacy, who gave an interesting and instructive talk, illustrated by experiments. For over an hour and a half he held his class in close attention.

Was Martin Loftus Murdered?

The body of "Martin Loftus" was found Monday opposite Gateville, about one mile above Bound Brook, on the Central R. R. of N. J., by the track walker.

The body was brought to Bound Brook by Foreman Brady, and after being examined by County Physician Wagoner was handed over to Undertaker Bush.

Deceased leaves a wife and one child at Hampton Junction.

The Water Works Question.

The silly sense believes and says that the City Council will dispose of the Water Works question on Monday evening next, when in all probability a franchise will be granted.

As a matter of fact there is said to be not a shadow of a chance of the Council granting a franchise at the next meeting. The outgoing Councilmen certainly would not vote for anything that would embarrass the Council of 1890.

Wreck on the Central Railroad.

A disastrous wreck occurred on the New Jersey Central Railroad at Bergen Point, early on Tuesday, which reduced into kindling wood a number of coal and freight cars. The railroad officials are very reticent on the subject, but it is understood that a coal and freight train came into collision at that point and that the wreckage blocked the road for several hours.

The morning trains to New York run as far as the wreck, and the passengers were transferred to trains east of the wreck.

No Unprofessional Conduct Imputed.

LAW OFFICE OF
R. V. LINDABURY,
68 BROAD ST.,
ELIZABETH, N. J., Dec. 17, 1889.

Craig A. Marsh, Esq., Plainfield, N. J.

DEAR SIR:—I regret to learn that it has been supposed by some that Mr. Shotwell's affidavit which appeared in last Saturday's Plainfield PRESS, contains a reflection upon you. I drew up this affidavit myself, and neither Mr. Shotwell nor I intended to cast the slightest imputation upon you. Indeed, I may say for myself—and if Mr Shotwell was here I am confident I could say it for him, too—that I have too high a regard for your personal and professional integrity to think for one moment that you were capable of any unprofessional conduct in the matter. I am,

Sincerely yours,
R. V. LINDABURY.

Condoling the Death of a Brother Member.

At a stated meeting of the Exempt Fireman's Association, held in Fireman's Hall, Dec. 16, 1889, the undersigned committee were appointed to draft suitable resolutions on the death of the late Solomon Flaig. The following was adopted:

WHEREAS it seemed best by an allwise Providence to remove by death our beloved brother Solomon Flaig, we, the surviving members of the association, bow in humble submission to Him who "doeth all things well."

Resolved, That in the death of our beloved friend and brother fireman, we the members of the Exempt Firemen's Association of Plainfield have met with an irreparable loss, as he has endeared himself to every member of the Association by his manly and courteous manner.

Resolved, That while we deeply feel this great affliction which has fallen upon us, we would extend to his beloved wife and family our sincere sympathy in the loss which they have sustained.

Resolved, That the room be draped in mourning for the usual number of days.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to to his afflicted wife.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be placed on the minutes of the Association and also published in the daily papers.

T. O. DOANE,
T. J. GILLIES,
D. W. LITTELL.

No remedy for blood disorders can equal Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Though concentrated and powerful, this medicine is perfectly safe, and may be taken by children as well as adults. Physicians recommend it in preference to any other. Price $1. Worth $5 a bottle.

MOSES SHAW IN JAIL.

Chief Justice Bingham Denies His Application For a Release on Bail.

Moses A. Shaw, of this city, whose arrest on a bench warrant issued by Chief Justice Bingham of Washington, D. C., on the production of a requisition from Gov. Beaver of Pennsylvania, was told of in THE PRESS of Friday, was before the Chief Justice that afternoon.

Judge Jere Wilson appeared for Shaw and Assistant District Attorney Coyle and Mr. J. W. Mather, State Attorney for Tioga county, Pa., for the Pennsylvania authorities. The latter produced the requisition and Mr. Wm. J. Butifield of North Plainfield, identified Shaw as the party wanted. The hearing was continued till Saturday and the prisoner was sent to jail, the Chief Justice denying an application for bail.

THE [illegible] JUBILEE.

The Stags Ride the Goat, and Otherwise Enjoy Themselves.

Saturday evening the Plainfield Bicycle Club inaugurated for the Winter again, the regular Saturday night "Jubilees" that were such a successful feature of last season.

On entering the Club House, each member was individually and metaphorically compelled to ride the "goat" as an initiation into the sport of the evening. Immediately after going through this highly delightful (?) formula, he was prepared to lend a helping hand in putting the next man through a like manœuvre.

The evening was spent in that eminently social manner in which this Club whiles away the time at its "stag" rackets—such as boxing, pulling the tug-of-war, etc. While the festivities were at their height the Club Patriarch—rare old Tom Burr—stole away on the quiet to make provision for a supply of clam chowder which, when it arrived shortly after, the boys did ample justice to as well as a goodly supply of other refreshments provided by other members of the Club.

Dunellen Dislikes to Loose Him.

Rev. D. W. Skellenger has tendered his resignation as pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Dunellen. He will leave January 1, for Albany, N. Y. There is great regret in Dunellen over his withdrawal.

He'll Get the $25,000 Now.

The court of last resort at Albany Tuesday—the court of appeals—affirmed the judgment for $25,000 in favor of Wm. N. Alberti against the New York, Lake Erie & Western R. R. Co. Alberti was injured while a passenger on the road, when he was a resident of this city.

Exempt Firemen's Meeting.

A regular meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association was held in Firemen's Hall, on Monday evening. The business transacted was routine in its nature, and included the auditing of a number of claims and the reports of the various Committees. Four new propositions for membership were received.

The members also devised means for collecting all outstanding debts, incurred by individual members.

Was a Bottle of Wine.

The bottle of wine which was offered as a prize for any resident of Plainfield, East of Grant avenue, who should first reach Taylor's Hotel at Dunellen, in a cutter, was won by Mr. Edward M. VanBuren of Ninth street, who succeeded in reaching there early Sunday morning. Every year Mr. Taylor, the proprietor of the hotel, offers a bottle of wine for the person reaching his place first, and on some occasions the contest becomes quite exciting.

Death of an Estimable Lady.

At her home on Craig place, North Plainfield, about five o'clock Saturday afternoon, occurred the death of Mrs Alfred Berry, in the seventy-second year of her age.

The deceased's death was very sudden, she having been out in the door yard within an hour of the time when it occurred.

Mrs. Berry was a woman who had endeared herself to a large circle of friends and acquaintances, and her death resulted from heart disease.

To Commemorate the Ohio Crusade.

At the call of the National and State Officers of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Dec. 22 and 23, will be observed at their rooms at 73 West Front street, by the Union of this city, in commemoration of the 16th Anniversary of the Ohio Crusade.

Monday evening, Mrs. Tomlinson will, in connection with the crusade exercises, give an account of the National Convention which was held in Chicago November 8 to 12 inclusive. Every one will be welcome.

Young People's Entertainment.

The readings and recitations given in Warren Mission chapel by Miss Lucy A. Yendes, on Tuesday, were thoroughly entertaining, and appreciated by the large audience present. The readings were interspersed with music by an orchestra, consisting of four violins, two cornets and an organ, under the leadership of Mr. C. P. Wheeler of North Plainfield. The vocal music, consisted of choruses by the Mission choir and solos by Miss Smith.

Accident at Pond's.

It is safe to say that there are more accident's at the Pond tool works in the course of a year than there are at the rest of the factories in the city put together. Thursday's record adds two more victims to the list.

Those who were injured at the works that day are Oliver Worth and William Rooney. The former caught his left hand in the machinery and had the two last fingers and a part of the hand cut entirely off. Rooney had his right thumb cut off. Both men had their wounds dressed at Muhlenberg Hospital.

Parlor Sale.

The parlor sale by the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church, held in Vincent chapel, Thursday, was a success, both financially and otherwise, and the ladies will realize about $63 as the result of their efforts. The pretty chapel was artistically decorated, and the ladies in charge of the candy and fancy tables did a thriving business. These were presided over by the following ladies:

Fancy table—Mrs. N. Hull, President, Mrs. G. VanVliet, Miss M. Martin.

Candy table—Miss Belle Langer, Miss L. Chandler.

During the evening refreshments were also served in abundance.

Election of Officers.

At a regular encampment of Major Anderson Post, No. 109, G. A. R., held on Thursday, officers were placed as follows:

Commander—Abel S. Titsworth.
Senior Vice-President—J. P. Allis.
Junior Vice-Commander — W. H. B. Drake.
Chaplain—Thos R. Crosley.
Quartermaster—E. J. Olsson.
Officer of the Day—W. C. Magee.
Officer of the Guard—J. N. Anderson.
Surgeon—Asa Collier.
Trustee, 3 years—C. H. Randolph.
Representative to State Encampment—Asa Collier.
Alternate—Wm. H. Williams.

Mr. E. H. Holmes was last night mustered in as a member of the Post, and there are three other candidates awaiting their turn to be mustered in. The Post now has a membership of about 55.

The newly-elected officers will be installed into their respective offices, at the first meeting in January.

PLAINFIELD BEATS SOMERVILLE AGAIN.

The Crescent League Bowlers Easily Roll Down the VanArsdale Pin Knights.

On the evening of April 4, the bowlers of the Crescent League of this city rolled their first game against the bowlers of Somerville and defeated them by a score of 1418 to 869.

The Somervillians immediately went into practice, got rid of the dead wood on the team, and on Dec. 4 came down to Plainfield under command of Chris. Van Arsdale, prepared to do Plainfield up. They came within a two-spot of doing it. The score was: Plainfield, 1335; Somerville, 1312.

Last Friday evening the Crescent League bowlers were coaxed into a third game, and were persuaded to go to Somerville where the spiders of that town had their net all spread in the rear of Van Arsdale's hotel, to catch the Plainfield flies. But there were no flies on the visitors, and although the Somervilles finished the second frame ahead, they were never in it again. The score was as follows:

PLAINFIELD.

	S	S	B	Total
VanEmburgh	3	3	4	162
Ballock	2	3	4	150
Thiers	2	3	5	120
H. Tool	2	3	5	130
Emerson	2	3	5	151
Carey	0	4	6	120
C. Tool	1	4	5	141
Jackson	0	4	6	130
Reed	1	2	7	126
Davis	2	6	2	162
				1400

SOMERVILLE.

Schoonmaker	1	1	8	106
Gulick	1	3	6	136
Brokaw	0	5	5	130
Haynes	2	4	4	148
VanArsdale	0	4	6	124
Pocock	0	4	6	120
Totten	2	2	6	134
Sutton	0	2	8	109
Smith	0	3	7	113
Davenport	3	2	6	127
				1260

FRAMES.

Plainfield	106	220	302	446	712	848	996	1136	1268	1400
Somerville	126	241	371	505	642	773	895	990	1128	1260

Silver Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Swackhammer the former Master Mechanic of the Central Railroad and a son-in-law of Mr. C. H. Rugg of this city, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary at their residence in Dunellen, on Tuesday, guests being present to the number of sixty-two. The presents were numerous and costly, and included a solid silver service from Joliet, Ill.

Judge Harper's Address at Reform Hall Sunday Evening.

Considering the slippery condition of the sidewalks a fair sized audience occupied seats in Reform Hall above evening The President of the Club and Mr. Vanderbeek and choir were at their posts of duty. Mr. Angleman acted as Chaplain The speaker of the evening was ex-Judge Nathan Harper.

He reviewed at length the inherent qualities of moral heroism, eulogized it as a virtue more precious than rubies, and eminently worthy of honor and praise, and then brought distinctly before his hearers several detailed incidents wherein moral heroism was the governing impulse. The speaker paid a glowing tribute to the exertions of the Christian Temperance Women of our country, and pronounced those noble men who have conquered the terrible thirst for intoxicating drink within themselves even greater heroes than Napoleon at the war-swept bridge of Lodi. Judge Harper appealed to the young men and young ladies, the boys and girls, to pledge themselves to life-enduring total abstinence from intoxicating liquor of every name and kind, and to become heroes and heroines in the grand struggle for the triumph of moral right over mercenary wrong.

The pledge was offered, on behalf of which George Angleman made a few appropriate remarks, and after singing by the choir the meeting closed.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institution of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

CLEVELAND BROTHERS, ALBANY, N. Y.

20 GOOD BOOKS FREE!

TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER OF THE DAILY PRESS.

By special arrangement with the publisher, we are enabled to offer the entire list of Twenty Valuable Books enumerated and described below, absolutely free to every subscriber to this paper for the ensuing year, at the regular subscription price. These books, each one of which contains a complete first-class novel or other work by a well-known and popular author, are published in neat pamphlet form, printed from good readable type on good paper, and many of them handsomely illustrated. They comprise some of the finest works ever written by some of the greatest and most popular writers, both of America and Europe. Each one is complete in itself:

Mrs. Caudle's Curtain Lectures. By Douglas Jerrold. Very old and very funny. The younger as well as older generation should read them.

Adventures of a Bachelor. By the author of "Elijah Beanpole's Adventures in New York." A great humorous book by a popular author.

How to Make and Save Money on the Farm. A valuable compilation of useful facts, hints and suggestions for farmers and gardeners.

From the Earth to the Moon. A Novel. By Jules Verne.

The Little Old Man of the Batignolles. A Novel. By Emile Gaboriau.

A Dangerous Woman. A Novel. By Mrs. Ann S. Stephens.

The Linden Farm Bride. A Novel. By Margaret Blount.

Simon Derrick's Daughter. A Novel. By M. T. Caldor.

The Heiress's Will. A Novel. By Sylvanus Cobb, Jr.

The Peril of Richard Pardon. A Novel. By B. L. Farjeon.

Blackbird Hill. A Novel. By Edgar Eric Keech.

The Guardian's Plot. A Novel. By Dr. J. H. Robinson.

The Grey Falcon. A Novel. By M. T. Caldor.

The Sorrow of a Secret. A Novel. By Mary Cecil Hay.

Percy and the Prophet. A Novel. By Wilkie Collins.

The Story of a Wedding Ring. A Novel. By the author of "Dora Thorne."

Marlyn Ware's Temptation. A Novel. By Mrs. Henry Wood.

A Modern Cinderella. A Novel. By the author of "Dora Thorne."

The Island Home. A Novel. By M. T. Caldor.

The Pearl Glove. A Novel. By Clara Augusta.

Bear in mind that we agree to send the entire list of Twenty valuable books, as above, absolutely free, by mail, post-paid, to every new subscriber to THE DAILY PRESS, for the ensuing year at the regular subscription price, and to every old subscriber who pays up all arrearages and renews for one year in advance.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, New York.—my18y1 5-7 ly

CONSUMPTION,

IN its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even in the later periods of that disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middleton, Tennessee.

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Darien, Conn.

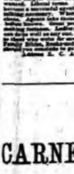
"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. Chandler, Junction, Va.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.



A $20 A Day Man!

A VOICE from Ohio. Here is a portrait of Mr. Garrison, of Salem, Ohio. He writes: "Was at work on a farm for $20 a month; I now have an agency for E. C. Allen & Co's albums and publications and often make $20 a day." (Signed) W. H. GARRISON.

William Kline, Harrisburg, Pa., writes: "I have never known anything to sell like your album. Yesterday I took orders enough to pay me over $25." [illegible]

Shall we start YOU in this business, reader? [illegible]

Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., AUGUSTA, MAINE. 24-1y

CARNEY BROS.,

11 SOMERSET ST.

TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.

PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.

Tinware Made to Order.

Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces.

SANITARY PLUMBING.

HOW CAN THE LONG BE THE SHORT ?

A line may be a very long one and yet be the shortest between given points. For instance, the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has over 3,000 miles of road; magnificently equipped and managed, it is one of the greatest railway systems of this country; for the same reasons it is the traveler's favorite to all points in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana. It is the only line to Great Falls, the future manufacturing center of the Northwest; to the fertile free lands of the Milk River Valley; and offers a choice of three routes to the Coast. Still it is the shortest line between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Fargo, Winnipeg, Crookston, Moorhead, Casselton, Glyndon, Grafton, Fergus Falls, Wahpeton, Devils Lake and Butte City. It is the best route to Alaska, China and Japan; and the journey to the Pacific coast, Vancouver, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco will be remembered as the delight of a life-time once made through the wonderful scenery of the Manitoba-Pacific Route. To fish and hunt; to view the magnificence of nature; to revive the spirit; restore the body; to realize the dream of the home-seeker, the gold-seeker, the toiler, or the capitalist, visit the country reached by the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway. Write to F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A., St. Paul, Minn., for maps, books and guides. If you want a free farm in a lovely land, write for "The Great Reservation" read it and resolve to accept the golden

HAND OF FORTUNE!

PEERLESS DYES [illegible]

PECK'S CORNER.

WE WANT TEN THOUSAND! GIFT GETTERS AT PECK'S!

NOT WORDS--FACTS!

The Largest Stock——ON PAPER,
The Best Styles——ON PAPER,
The Lowest Prices——ON PAPER,
The Best Made Goods——ON PAPER,

Will Not Convince the Public.

"The banquet board must be spread with tempting viands when the guests arrive, else there is disappointment and disgust."

That's the secret of our success. Good advertisements are good, but Good Clothing is better. We think we excel in both, and we know we do in Clothing. The people have confidence in us. They know from past experience that we sell a reliable article at a moderate price. We have constantly backed up our words with facts; facts in Clothing that the people can see for themselves and appreciate. There are some very pointed facts in this season's stock; some regular knock-down arguments in favor of trading here.

McGregor & Co., 850 and 852 Broad St NEWARK, N. J.

A. VANDERBEEK,

(CHAUTAUQUA BUILDING.)

NO. 33 PARK AVENUE, PLAINFIELD, N. J

HAVING DISPOSED OF THE MUSICAL AND SPORTING Goods Department I am now prepared to devote my entire time to the sale and renting of

—PIANOS AND ORGANS—

Having many years of experience in the Piano Trade I am prepared to furnish first-class Instruments as reasonable as they can be had in New York city. Pianos tuned. Give me a call before purchasing.

PRICE LIST OF THE

EMPIRE STEAM CARPET CLEANING

Feather and Mattress Renovating Works.

Office and Works, 32 East Front Street.

HUGO WEIGMANN, Prop.

Ingrain and 3-Ply,	3c. per yd.
Tapestry and Brussels,	4c.	"
Wilton, Velvet, Moquette and Axminster,	5c.	"
Feather Pillows,	50c. per pair
Feather Bolsters,	50c. each
Large Feather Bed,	$1.50 each
Hair steamed and picked,	5c. per lb

GUNNERS' SUPPLIES!

The "Club" Shell Loaded by the U. M. C. Co.

—LOOK AT THE PRICES.—

10 ga 4 or 4 1-4 drs Powder, $1.85 pr 100
12 " 3, 3 1-4 or 3 1-2 " " $1.75 " "

American Wood, Schultze and Dead-shot Powder Shells Loaded to Order.

Guns of all Grades and Sizes.

Look at Our $1.00 Hunting Coat.

A. M. Vanderbeek & Co.,

33 PARK AVENUE,

Chautauqua Building, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

PEERLESS EXCAVATOR
CESSPOOLS VAULTS

John Brown,

(Successor to John Burke.)

Cesspools, Vaults, Etc., Etc., CLEANED.

Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at CARNEY BROS., No. 1 Somerset street, or addressed to P. O. Box 719, will receive prompt attention.

COMMERCIAL NOTES.

The world's product of wine last year amounted to a little over [illegible] gallons, coming mostly from France, Italy and Spain. California furnished [illegible] gallons.

The growth of egg importations into England during the last twenty years has been remarkable. In 1866 the value of the eggs imported was [illegible], while in 1888 it had risen to [illegible]. This growth will be maintained unless something is done to extend poultry-keeping in England.

Bran seed forms a considerable item in the export trade of some of the Moorish ports. Thus from Laraiche last year in a total export valued at [illegible] the bird seed exported was valued at [illegible], and the quantity was [illegible] quarters. In 1887 the quantity was [illegible] quarters, and the value [illegible].

Butter and cheese are the chief exports of Holland. In 1887 she shipped about [illegible] pounds of butter, valued at [illegible], and [illegible] pounds of cheese, worth [illegible]. Most of the butter and fully one-half of the cheese went to England, and the remainder to France, Hamburg, the United States and other countries. It is estimated that the exports of artificial butter during the last two years have far exceeded those of the natural product, and this year will show a still larger increase.

There certainly must be an enormous market for American fruit in England when it is known that only one fruit evaporator was exhibited at the recent royal show, and that by a German manufacturer. The new Bonnet sprayer, or spraying machine, also attracted great attention; but American implement manufacturers who looked into it were not as enthusiastic over this new innovation as the English trade have been. The invention is being injured from the American stand-point by being worked as a big financial scheme.

Comparatively little butter is manufactured in Italy, and the consequence is a large use of the artificial product. These are imported from France, Antwerp, Germany, England and the Netherlands. The demand for butter has become so important in Europe, South America, Australia, India, Japan and even China that, with the under supply of the real article, it is necessary to manufacture something analogous to it. Again, these foreign markets will pay only low prices, so that they don't afford much of an outlet for the surplus of good American butter as would otherwise be exported.

JEWELS RICH AND RARE.

Lady Guinness is said to have given an order for a diamond necklace which it will take several years to make owing to the present scarcity of stones of the first water. The design is superb, and the cost will be about [illegible].

The diamond and pearl necklace worn, on state occasions by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt has excited the greatest wonder and admiration. The striking feature of this necklace is that the diamonds are pierced through the center and are strung alternately with the pearls. It is said that it required many weeks of patient labor to pierce each stone.

Mrs. Leland Stanford has the most valuable collection of diamonds in the world except the crown jewels of Russia and Great Britain. One of her necklaces is worth [illegible] and her entire collection is valued at [illegible]. The rarest gems from the caskets of the late Queen Isabella, of Spain, and the ex-Empress Eugenie are now owned by Mrs. Stanford.

One of the jewels owned by Mrs. Robert Johnson, of San Francisco, is a necklace of diamonds that form a perfect counterfeit of a snake. It is composed of solitaires set in illuminated gold, the plates of which, overlapping each other like those in chain armor, render the necklace perfectly pliable and increase the resemblance to the snake-like sinuosity.

The precious gems with which Mrs. Mackay decks herself are about as well known in Paris and London as she is. Among them is a flawless sapphire nearly half an inch in diameter, which is said to have cost [illegible]; the finest emerald known to exist, for which a fabulous price was paid; an almost priceless set of rose-pink coral jewelry, and a pair of diamond solitaires valued at [illegible].

CORRECT CONDUCT.

There is no greater compliment than a perfect punctuality. It is the "politeness of kings." Queen Victoria, the Prince of Wales, the King and Queen of Italy never keep any one waiting.

A lady should be very particular to specify whom she wishes to see, and no lady should go to a strange house uninvited, on the spoken belief of some other person that she will be welcome.

A young gentleman may be taken by a married lady, who is all powerful to a ball, as she is supposed to indorse his respectability, but it is always better for him to leave his card, and for him to receive an invitation.

If through any misapprehension a person goes into a house uninvited, a hostess should never show, by word or manner, that she observes it. The very fact that a person has crossed her threshold gives, for the moment, that person a claim on the politeness of a hostess.

There is no such utter mistake as to lose one's temper, one's nerve, one's composure in company. Society may be a false condition of things, but, whatever its faults, it demands of a woman the very high virtues of self-command, gentleness and composure, politeness, coolness and serenity. Good manners are said to be the shadows of virtues.

A hostess should never reprove her servants in the presence of her guests. All that worries her must be carefully concealed from them. It is her place to oil the wheels of the domestic machinery so that nothing shall jar. It is quite impossible in America that such a set of trained servants could be obtained who should make the domestic wheels move without jarring. But the hostess must not appear to notice it. If she is disturbed, or flustered, or miserable, who can enjoy any thing?

BOTANICAL BREVITIES.

[illegible]

GENERALLY INTERESTING.

There are 120,000 Mormons in Utah's total population of 200,000.

Philadelphia society sanctions the five o'clock tea with nothing but rock candy.

Of 8,000,000 Germans not living in the Fatherland 1,000,000 are in this country.

It has been estimated that the habitual opium eaters in the United States number 150,000.

The Governor of Montana estimates the white population of the State at 175,000, and the Indians at 15,000.

The oldest person who died this year was Gottfried Wagenseyl, who passed away in Germany not many weeks ago at the undisputed age of one hundred and twenty-six years.

During 1888 slightly over a hundred million dollars' worth of gold has been dug from the earth on the four continents; the largest quantity came from Australia, California and South Africa. Africa is looking up.

The Engineering and Mining Journal makes the startling statement that forest fires have this year destroyed more than the value of all the timber planted, stolen and legitimately cut between the Missouri and the Coast Range.

A New York shipper has received a letter saying that late arrivals of Danish apples are coming in competition with the American fruit. The writer claims that the apples from Denmark are even superior to those from this country.

There is a new dance called "The Dream," which is said to be a veritable dream. The wife of the composer dreamed the dance, and at once awakened her husband, who arose and composed the dance to her steps.

Railroad men have their own names for cars. Thus, the coal cars are known as "black Marias," the Western engines as "camel backs," and a certain kind of car solely used by the Delaware & Hudson as "exclusives."

The Chicago commercial travelers, four thousand in number, have agreed to take five hundred thousand dollars' worth of stock of the Chicago-Columbus Exposition Company, and to attempt to sell some of the stock of the company to every customer that they meet on their travels.

The postal card was twenty years old on the first of October last. Austria has the credit of first adopting the invention, though it was first advocated by the German Postmaster-General, Dr. Stephan. On October 1, 1869, a "Correspondenz Karte" first burst on the astonished Continental world.

The finest duck shooting in the country is to be found in the wild celery flats on the Susquehanna, below Havre de Grace. The number of ducks killed in a single season upon these flats is said to average as high as thirty thousand. They are always found plump and in the best condition and of the finest flavor, the result of feeding upon the wild celery.

A young woman holds the position of conductor on one of the railroads in Colorado, and gives entire satisfaction. She collects fares and punches tickets like a man; but when it comes to putting some fellow off because of his failure to comply with the requirements of the railroad company, it is her custom to call on a man to do the work, and brakemen and passengers are equally willing to assist her.

STRAY SCRAPS OF SCIENCE.

Shooting stars are supposed to be small meteors encountered by the earth in the progress of their circulation round the sun.

When occurring in the vicinity of large rivers particles of the good qualities of sea-breezes, but do not contain so much ozone or saline matter. These breezes are said to be rarely higher than four hundred feet above the surface.

The progress of stellar photography is well exemplified in the case of the inner satellites of Uranus, which, although they are among the most difficult of all, have during the past year been successfully photographed.

Experiments with a new explosive called ecrasite, which is to dynamite as 200 to 75, have recently been made in Austria, and are said to have succeeded so well that the invention has been purchased for military purposes exclusively.

Why do leaves turn? The green matter in the tissue of a leaf is composed of two colors, red and blue. Oxidation occurs when sap ceases to flow, and vegetation takes on a yellow or red tint. A dry, cold climate produces more brilliant foliage than a damp and warm one.

"There is a great mistake," remarks a California astronomer, "as to the actual amount of movement of the earth in an earthquake. An earthquake in which the motion was a half-inch would prove very disastrous, and yet people do not hesitate to say that they saw the earth move at least a foot."

The latest report states that twenty-one observatories are now engaged in the international undertaking of photographing the entire heavens. Each observatory will have to take about several hundred photographs in the zone assigned to it, and it is hoped to finish the work in three or four years.

The magnetic needle points in the same direction as the magnetic poles in all parts of the earth. The magnetic poles do not correspond with the axis of the earth, which makes a variation of the needle at places not on a meridian which coincides with both poles. The needle is never inverted, but dips as it approaches the magnetic poles.

PEACE, BE STILL.

THE REV. DR. TALMAGE PREACHES AT CAPERNAUM.

Lessons Deduced from the Voyage of Christ and His Disciples That Stormy Night on Gennesaret—Never Fear While Christ Is in the Ship.

Capernaum, Dec. 15.—The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., preached here today to a group of friends on "The Stormy Passage," taking for his text the verses of [illegible]

[illegible]

From the western shore a flotilla pushing out; not a squadron, or deadly armament, nor clipper with valuable merchandise, nor piratic vessels ready to destroy everything they could seize, but a flotilla bearing messengers of life, and light, and peace. Christ is in the front of the boat. His disciples are in a smaller boat. Jesus, weary with much speaking to large multitudes, is put into somnolence by the rocking of the waves. If there was any motion at all, the ship was easily righted; if the wind passed from starboard to larboard, or from larboard to starboard, the boat would rock, and by the gentleness of the motion putting the Master asleep. And they extemporized a pillow made out of a fisherman's coat. I think no sooner is Christ prostrate, and his head touched the pillow, than he is sound asleep. The breezes of the lake run their fingers through the locks of the worn sleeper, and the boat rises and falls like a sleeping child on the bosom of a sleeping mother.

Calm night, starry night, beautiful night. Run up all the sails, ply all the oars, and let the large boat and the small boat glide over gentle Gennesaret. But the sailors say there is going to be a change of weather. And even the passengers can hear the moaning of the storm, as it comes on with great strides, and all the terrors of hurricane and darkness. The large boat trembles like a deer at bay among the clangor of the hounds; great patches of foam are flung into the air; the sails of the vessel loosen, and the sharp winds crack like pistols; [illegible]

SAVED BY CHRIST.

Overboard go cargo, tackling and masts, and the drenched disciples rush into the back part of the boat, and lay hold of Christ, and say unto him: "Master, carest thou not that we perish?" That great personage lifts his head from the pillow of the fisherman's coat, walks to the front of the vessel and looks out into the storm. All around him are the smaller boats, driven in the tempest, and through it comes the cry of drowning men. By the flash of the lightning I see the calm brow of Christ, as the spray dropped from his beard. He has one word for the sky and another for the waves. Looking upward he cries: "Peace!" Looking downward he says: "Be still!"

The waves fall flat on their faces, the foam melts, the extinguished stars relight their torches. The tempest falls dead, and Christ stands with his foot on the neck of the storm. And while the sailors are bailing out the boats, and while they are trying to untangle the cordage, the disciples stand in amazement, now looking into the calm sea, then into the calm sky, then into the calm Saviour's countenance, and they cry out: "What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey him?"

The subject, in the first place, impresses me with the fact that it is very important to have Christ in the ship, for all those boats would have gone to the bottom of Gennesaret if Christ had not been present. Oh, what a lesson for you and for me to learn! We must always have Christ in the ship. Whatever voyage we undertake, into whatever enterprise we start, let us always have Christ in the ship. All you can do, with utmost tension of body, mind and soul, you are bound to do; but oh! have Christ in every enterprise, Christ in every voyage.

THE NECESSITY OF GOD'S HELP.

There are men who ask God's help at the beginning of great enterprises. He has been with them in the past; no trouble can overthrow them; the storms might come down from the top of Mount Hermon, and lash Gennesaret into foam and into agony, but it would not hurt them. But here is another man who starts out in worldly enterprise, and he depends upon the uncertainties of this life. He has no God to help him. After awhile the storm comes and tosses off the masts of the ship; he puts out his life boat and the long boat; the sheriff and the auctioneer try to help him off; they can't help him off; he must go down—no Christ in the ship. Your life will be made up of sunshine and shadow. There may be in it Arctic blasts or tropical tornadoes; I know not what is before you, but I know if you have Christ with you all shall be well. You may seem to get along without the religion of Christ while everything goes smoothly, but after awhile, when sorrow hovers over the soul, when the waves of trial dash clear over the hurricane deck, and the decks are crowded with piratical disasters—oh, what would you do then without Christ in the ship? Take God for your portion, God for your guide, God for your help; then all is well; all is well for time, all shall be well forever. Blessed is that man who puts in the Lord his trust. He shall never be confounded.

But my subject also impresses me with the fact that when people start to follow Christ they must not expect smooth sailing.

THE TROUBLES OF THE APOSTLES.

These disciples got into the small boats, and I have no doubt they said: "What a beautiful day this is! What a smooth sea! What a bright sky this is! How delightful is sailing in this boat, and as for the waves under the keel of the boat, why they only make the motion of our little boat the more delightful." But when the winds swept down, and the sea was tossed into wrath, then they found that following Christ was not smooth sailing. So you have found it; so I have found it. Did you ever notice the end of the life of the apostles of Jesus Christ? You would say, if ever men ought to have had a smooth life, a smooth departure, then those men, the disciples of Jesus Christ, ought to have had such a departure and such a life. St. James lost his head. St. Philip was hung to death to a pillar. St. Matthew had his life dashed out with a halbert. St. Mark was dragged to death through the streets. St. James the Less was beaten to death with a fuller's club. St. Thomas was struck through with a spear. They did not find following Christ smooth sailing. Oh, how they were all tossed in the tempest! John Huss in the fire, Hugh McKail in the hour of martyrdom, the Albigenses, the Waldenses, the Scotch Covenanters—did they find it smooth sailing? But why go into history when we can draw from our own memory illustrations of the truth of what I say. Some young man in a store trying to serve God, while his employer scoffs at Christianity; the young men in the same store antagonistic to the Christian religion, teasing him, tormenting him about his religion, trying to get him mad. They succeed in getting him mad, saying, "You're a pretty Christian." Does that young man find it smooth sailing when he tries to follow Christ? Or you remember a Christian girl. Her father despises the Christian religion; her mother despises the Christian religion; her brothers and sisters scoff at the Christian religion; she can hardly find a quiet place in which to say her prayers. Did she find it smooth sailing when she tried to follow Jesus Christ? Oh, no! All who would live the life of the Christian religion must suffer persecution; if you do not find it in one way, you will get it in another way. The question was asked: "Who are those around the throne?" And the answer came back: [illegible] that has got into this five thousand bushels of wheat, and the only way to get rid of the chaff is to throw all the wheat overboard." Now, that is a great deal wiser than the talk of a great many Christians who want to throw overboard all the thousands and tens of thousands of souls who are the subjects of revivals. Throw all overboard because they are brought into the kingdom of God through great revivals—because there is a peck of chaff, a quart of chaff, a pint of chaff! I say, let them stay until the last day; the Lord will divide the chaff from the wheat. Do not be afraid of a great revival. Oh, that such gales from heaven might sweep through all our churches! Oh, for such days as Richard Baxter saw in England, and Robert McCheyne saw in Dundee! Oh, for such days as Jonathan Edwards saw in Northampton! I have often heard my father tell of the fact that in the early part of this century a revival broke out at Somerville, N. J., and some people were very much agitated about it. They said: "Oh, you are going to bring too many people into the church at once;" and they sent down to New Brunswick to get John Livingston to stop the revival. Well, there was no better soul in all the world than John Livingston. He went and looked at the revival. They wanted him to stop it. He stood in the pulpit on the Sabbath and looked over the solemn auditory, and he said: "This, brethren, is in reality the work of God; beware how you try to stop it." And he was an old man, leaning heavily on his staff—a very old man. And he lifted that staff, and took hold of the small end of the staff, and began to let it fall slowly through between the finger and the thumb, and he said: "Oh, thou impenitent, thou art falling now—falling from life, falling away from peace and heaven, falling as certainly as that cane is falling through my hand—falling certainly, though perhaps falling slowly." And the cane kept on falling through John Livingston's hand. The religious emotion in the audience was overpowering, and men saw a type of their doom, as the cane kept falling, until the knob of the cane struck Mr. Livingston's hand, and he clasped it stoutly and said: "But the grace of God can stop you as I stopped that cane;" and then there was gladness all through the house at the fact of pardon and peace and salvation. "Well," said the people after the service, "I guess you had better send Livingston home, he is making the revival worse." Oh, for gales from heaven to sweep all the continents! The danger of the church of God is not in revivals.

[illegible]

GOD AND MAN.

Again, my subject impressed me with the fact that Jesus was God and man in the same being. Here he is in the back part of the boat. Oh, how tired he looks; what sad dreams he must have! Look at his countenance; he must be thinking of the cross to come. Look at him, he is a man—bone of our bone, flesh of our flesh. Tired; he falls asleep; he is a man. But then I find Christ at the prow of the boat; I hear him say: "Peace, be still;" and I see the storm kneeling at his feet, and the tempests folding their wings in his presence; he is a God.

If I have sorrow and trouble and want sympathy I go and kneel down at the back part of the boat and say: "Oh, Christ! weary one of Gennesaret, sympathize with all my sorrows, man of Nazareth, man of the cross." A man, a man. But if I want to conquer my spiritual foes, if I want to get the victory over sin, death and hell, I come to the front of the boat, and I kneel down, and I say: "Oh, Lord Jesus Christ, thou who dost hush the tempest, hush all my grief, hush all my temptation, hush all my sin!" A man, a man; a God, a God.

I learn once more from this subject that Christ can hush a tempest.

It did seem as if everything must go to ruin. The disciples had given up the idea of managing the ship; the crew were entirely demoralized; yet Christ rises, and he puts his foot on the storm, and it crouches at his feet. Oh, yes! Christ can hush the tempest. You have had trouble. Perhaps it was the little child taken away from you—the sweetest child of the household, the one who asked the most curious questions, and stood around you with the greatest fondness, and the spade cut down through your bleeding heart. Perhaps it was an only son, and your heart has ever since been like a desolated castle, the owls of the night hooting among the fallen arches and the crumbling stairways. Perhaps it was an aged mother. You always went to her with your troubles. She was in your home to welcome your children into life, and when they died she was there to pity you; that old hand will do you no more kindness; that white lock of hair you put away in the casket or in the locket didn't look as it usually did when she brushed it away from her wrinkled brow in the home circle or in the country church. Or your property gone, you said: "I have so much bank stock, I have so many government securities, I have so many houses, I have so many farms—all gone, all gone." Why, sir, all the storms that ever trampled with their thunders, all the shipwrecks, have not been worse than this to you. Yet you have not been completely overthrown. Why? Christ says: "I have that little one in my keeping. I can care for him as well as you can, better than you can, O bereaved mother!" Hushing the tempest. When your property went away, God said: "There are treasures in heaven, in banks that never break." [illegible] the tempest. There is one storm into which we will all have to run. The moment when we let go of this world and try to take hold of the next, we will want all the grace possible. Yonder I see a Christian soul rocking on the surges of death; all the powers of darkness let out against that soul—the swirling wave, the thunder of the sky, the shriek of the wind, all seem to unite together; but that soul is not troubled; there is no sighing, there are no tears; plenty of tears in the room at the departure, but he weeps no tears; calm, satisfied and peaceful; all is well. By the flash of the storm you see the harbor just ahead and you are making for that harbor. All shall be well, Jesus being our guide.

Into the harbor of heaven now we glide;
We're home at last, home at last.
Softly we drift on the bright, silv'ry tide,
We're home at last.
Glory to God! all dangers are o'er,
We stand secure on the glorified shore;
Glory to God! we will shout evermore,
We're home at last.

A Wonderful Watch.

The most ingenious, perfect and complex watch ever manufactured was sent out from the works of Patek, Philippe & Co., of Geneva, Switzerland, in July, 1887, and is now in possession of Baron Nicholas. It is what is known as the full sized "hunter." On one side there is a dial of the regulation kind, exhibiting the hour, minute and second hands, also an independent chronograph hand, which marks the fifth of seconds. The same dial has repeating mechanism, which strikes the hours, quarters and minutes. The opposite dial has hands pointing to the months, weeks and days. Another large central hand on this dial, if set at the beginning of each year, correctly points to all moon phases, and also acts as a perpetual calendar. It is so constructed as to admit of its keeping two different times, say standard on one side and sun time on the other.—American Analyst.

Tippoo Tib.

Much has been said about Tippoo Tib's responsibility for the assassination of Maj. Barttelot, but, in my judgment, Tippoo Tib's action to a certain extent was prompted by a benevolent intention. While it is said that he delayed the supply of men necessary to make up Barttelot's contingent at Bonalya, and thus aroused the suspicion of foul play that occurred later on, his motive was a good one, inasmuch as, knowing the lawless character of the Manyuema, he appreciated the difficulty which white men would have in controlling them, and sought to prevent an opportunity for the mutiny which subsequently resulted in the death of Barttelot.—Herbert Ward.

Strategic.

A little boy had a colt and a dog, of both of which he was exceedingly fond. His generosity was often tried by visitors asking him, just to hear what he would say, to give them one or both of his pets.

On one occasion Johnny told a gentleman who had often teased him in this way that he might have the colt—but not the dog.

His mother naturally expressed surprise, and asked: "Why, Johnny, why didn't you give him the dog instead of the colt?"

"Don't say anything, mamma," he whispered; "when he goes to get the colt I'll set the dog on him."—Youth's Companion.

Circulation of Water in Boilers.

The circulation of water in boilers is attracting more attention from engineers and the importance of it is being more generally recognized. The best circulation is, of course, found in the plain cylindrical boiler, where there is nothing to interfere, and increases with the number of flues added. Other considerations must enter in the matter of the economical generation of steam, but the circulation should not be forgotten. In tubular boilers the best practice places the tubes in vertical rows, leaving one which would be center row. The circulation is up the sides of the boiler and down the center. Tubes placed zig zag never give good results.

At the recent celebration in Baltimore of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the bombardment of Fort McHenry and the composition by Key of "The Star Spangled Banner," was present Samuel Sands, who is probably the oldest printer living, and who, while an apprentice in the office of the Baltimore American in 1814, first put that song into type from the author's original manuscript and distributed it through the streets of that city.

The results of English researches in Assyria the past year are said to be very valuable. Almost the whole of Sennacherib's great palace at Kouyunjik has now been cleared out, including the library and chambers, and the result is that some seventeen hundred new tablets, etc., have been secured for the British Museum. The Americans got into trouble with the Arabs, and were obliged to abandon the work.

GOOD RULES TO GO BY.

Never obtrude any advice unasked.

Aim at cheerfulness without levity.]

Never dispute if you can fairly avoid it.

Never show levity when people are engaged in worship.

Never judge a person's character by external appearance.

Say as little as possible of yourself and those who are near to you.

Never affect to be witty, or jest so as to wound the feelings of another.

Never court the favor of the rich by flattering either their vanities or vices.

Never dispute with a man more than seventy years of age, nor a woman, nor an enthusiast.

Never ridicule sacred things, or what others may esteem to be such, however absurd they appear to be.

Never think the worse of another on account of his differing with you in politics or religious opinions.

Always take the part of an absent person who is censured in company, so far as truth and propriety will allow.

Never resent a supposed injury till you know the views and motives of the author of it, nor seek any occasion to retaliate.

INDUSTRIAL INTELLIGENCE.

A Japanese has discovered a process for making artificial tortoise shell with the whites of eggs.

Every electric motor manufactory in the United States is said to be crowded to its utmost capacity to meet the demands for electric power.

During the last year the exports of sewing machines and parts of sewing machines from the United States amounted in value to $2,243,119. Next year's exports promise to be larger.

Last year 40,000 persons secured work through a labor bureau in Paris. Unemployed men and women are allowed to register at the bureau, and the agents are required to notify them when any situations are vacant.

Several ladies in Everly, a village in Yorkshire, Eng., have started a co-operative shirt factory. Stock is being bought rapidly by working-women in other trades, and the affair has been a success from the start.

Considerable discontent is reported among all the laborers on the different plantation islands in the West India and Windward Islands. Nearly all of the islands are worked by capitalists from the United States.

Great Britain mined about ten million more tons of coal, iron and other minerals last year than in 1887, and employed ten thousand more men in the work, but fewer lives were lost in the process. The total number of fatal accidents was 885 and of deaths occasioned thereby 960, being an increase of four in the accidents, but a decrease of ninety-one in the lives lost.

One of the wonders displayed at the Paris Exposition was an artificial silk. A French chemist having analyzed the gummy substance exuded by the silkworm, produced its counterpart by artificial means, and by ingenious appliances put it through several processes until he produced a substance which only experts can distinguish from natural silk. The goods manufactured from it exceed the natural silk in brilliancy of color, has an equally fine luster, will wear nearly as well, and can be produced far more cheaply.

FREEHOLDERS' PROCEEDINGS.

[OFFICIAL.]

Elizabeth, Nov. 21, 1889.

Pursuant to adjournment the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county met on Thursday, Nov. 21, 1889, at 2:30 o'clock, p. m.

Present—Director Hubbard and Freeholders Briant, Doty, Donahue, Howard, Houston, Jones, Kyte, Kleinhans, Pierson, Roll, Thompson, Vanderbeck, Van Saum, Wright West, Whaley—17.

Absent—None.

The minutes of last meeting (omitting list of bills ordered paid) were read and on motion approved.

COMMUNICATIONS.

State of New Jersey,
Office of Adjutant General,
Trenton, Nov. 14, 1889.

Mr. E. M Wood, Collector of the County of Union, N. J.:

Sir—The members of the Military Board of the State of New Jersey, appointed and constituted a commission by the provisions of "An act to provide for the purchase of sites for and the erection and equipment of armories in cities of the first and second class, and making appropriations therefor, and to provide for the taking of real estate for such sites by commission in case the same cannot be purchased by agreement" approved March 22, 1889, to select and purchase on behalf and in the name of the State of New Jersey, a plot of ground in each of such cities in the State, of the first and second class, where there are now or hereafter shall be established regimental or battalion headquarters of the National Guard, suitable for the purposes of an armory.

Hereby give notice, in accordance with the provisions of the third section of said act, that they have agreed to purchase lands for said purposes, as by said act directed, said lands situate, lying and being in the city of Elizabeth, in the county of Union, and described as follows:

"On the North side of East Jersey street two hundred and fifteen feet East of Jefferson avenue, being one hundred feet front and rear and two hundred feet deep and having an additional front on Hampton place, and that for the fulfillment of said contract the Commission will require the sum of eleven thousand, four hundred and forty-five ($11,445) dollars, and interest from Oct. 9, 1889, to be applied to the payment of the amount of the purchase price on cost of said land.

By direction of the President of the State Military Board.

William S. Stryker,
Adjutant General and Secretary of the Board.

On motion of Freeholder Doty received and referred to Legal Committee and County Attorney.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Gentlemen—The Committee on North avenue County Road would respectfully report, that upon a meeting with the Roselle and Newark Railway Company, it was agreed by the said company to construct and build over North avenue a bridge so as to leave a span of thirty-six feet in the clear, for the driveway or roadway, and five feet in the clear on each side of the roadway for sidewalks. The company to give sufficient land to make up the deficiency, and said bridge to be built so as to leave at least fifteen feet in the clear, between the bottom of the bridge and the surface of the roadway and sidewalks, but it was agreed that no excavation be done under the said bridge.

We would recommend therefore that an agreement to the above effect be made with said railroad company to be approved by the county attorney.

George Kyte, Robt. G. Houston, P. D. Van Saun, John J. Donahue, James T. Pierson, A. Vanderbeck, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Roll received and ordered filed.

RESOLUTIONS.

By Freeholder Roll:

Resolved, That the lunacy bill of $6,-601 96, due Nov. 15, be paid when the same is properly audited by the committee on lunacy.

Freeholder Howard moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder West:

Resolved, That an agreement be entered into with the Roselle and Newark railroad company concerning the bridge to be erected over North avenue in the township of Union, by said railroad in accordance with the report and recommendations made by the committee, and the director be authorized to execute the same on behalf of this board.

Freeholder Howard moved its adoption.

On roll call adopted unanimously.

A number of election bills not approved by the auditing committee owing to excessive charges, were read and on motion of Freeholder West the clerk was instructed to return the bills for correction.

The following bills audited and approved were read and ordered paid unanimously:

Court account—Isaac A. Dunn, $20; John H. Hughes, do., $8; George Conger, do., 7.

Publication—Chas. H. Schmidt, $50; Charles H. Schmidt, do., 7.50; Chas. H. Schmidt, do., 88.95.

Public buildings—M. D Wilson, $8.65.

School account—I. P. Towne, $19.50.

Bridge account, Penn. Bridge company. Plainfield, $612.50; James H. Guerrier, do., Fanwood, 7.75; G. W. Drury, agent, do., Rahway, 340; James Gaddis, do., Summit, 4.50; Geo. W. Reeve, do., Summit, 10.20; Thomas Thompson, do., Clark, 8.95.

SPECIAL DEFICIENCY.

Bridge account—Trenzrowe & Painter, Springfield, $490; Chas. J Drake, do., Fanwood, 20.50; E. M. Johnston, do., Fanwood, 8; George Walton, do., Plainfield, 3.25; John W. Sickler, do., New Providence, 4; Wm. S. Van Dorn, do., do., 14; Andrew Schefer, do., do., 15.

Election—George L. Heitzel, 1st dist., 1st ward, Elizabeth, $15; John H. Lamb, do., 12; Edward F. Whalen, 2d dist., do., 9; Jabez Marsh, do., 3d dist., do., 15; John H. Connolly, do., 10.50; Adolph Cordaun, do., 12; W. H. Hulskamper, 1st dist., 2d ward, do., 15; Jacob Meyer, do., 12; Patrick Keeler, 2d district, do., 15; Patrick McKeon, 1st dist, 3d ward, do., 9; Henry Hartman, do., 9; Manuel Mayer, 12; Christian F. Peters, do., 9; Henry Zimmerman, 2d district, do., 12; Frederick Kimmeier, do., 9; Louis Wurst, do., 9; Paul Noll, Jr., do., 9; Frederick J. Severs, 3d district do 9; T. J. Cantwell, do 10.50; T. F. Mayer, do 9; Louis Menge, do 12; George A. Mooney, 4th ward, do 9; J. C. Luster, do 6; George Rabig, 1st district, 5th ward, do 6; John Skillen, do 15; J. W. Blakeley, do 9; Matthias T. Hoagland, 2d district, do, 12; James Sweeney, do, 9; George N. Hall do, 9; George S. Ford, do, 10.50; David W. Waters, do, 12; John R. Laggren, 6th ward, 15; Benjamin L. Lawrence, do, 9; H. C. Smith, do, 10.50; William A. Miller, do, 12; D. Necfus, Jr., 7th ward, 12; Jas. Craig, do; 15; Mark D. Wilson, do 9; Wm. B. Lewis, do, 9; James N. Hyde, 8th ward, Elizabeth, 6; Albert F Denman, do 9; Joseph Benedict, do. 15; John D. Miller, do, 6; Frank McNierney, do, 7.50; John J. Kenney, 1st ward, Plainfield, 6; Hoagland, 2d ward, Plainfield, 15; John Johnston, do, 10.20; John Mortimer, do, 6; E. E. Anthony, do, 6; J. A. Demarest, do, 15; J. Oakley Nodyne, 3d ward, Plainfield, 14.50; J. C. Randall, 1st district, 4th ward, Plainfield, 7.50; V. L. Frazee, do, 6; J. B. Higgidst, do, 10.25; E. W. Titsworth, do, 6; Robert Mitchell, 2d district, 4th ward Plainfield, 10.3.; Robert H. Loughlin, do, 8.50; Jos. B. Martin, do, 6; M. R. Flynn, do, 6; A. B. Cook, 1st ward, Rahway, 9.50; O. F. Jones, do, 6; Chas. H. Lambert, 1st and 3d ward, Rahway, 30; R. B. Fordham, 1st ward, Rahway, 6; J. T. Davis, 2d ward, Rahway, 7.50; Isaac S. Miller, do, 9.50; Henry Howard, do, 6; A. J. Haliday, do, 6; G. B. Gaskill, 1st district, 4d ward, do, 6; James H. Brunt, do, 9.60; George L. Reed, do, 7.50; H. P. Ryno, 2d district, do, $7.50; William C. Hill, do, 9.50; F. C. Hill, do., 6; S. F. Gibbons, do, 6; Lewis Merrick, 4th ward, do, 6; Edward Crowell, do, 9.50; Wm. H. Arken, do, 6; John Melbourn, do, 15; Henry Bender, Clark, 7.50; August Huber, jr, do, 9.70; Jacob Leutchman, do, 6; school district, No. 6, do, 15; W. R. Parker, do, 6; W. D. Bigelow, Cranford, 15; D. A. Everett, do, 6; S. G. Emmons, do, 9.30; W. H. Close, do, 6; Edward Miller, Fanwood, 19.40; Edward L. Hand, do, 7.50; Joseph Clark, do, 6; Lawrence Collins, do, 6; Excelsior Hook and Ladder Co, do, 15; Lewis L. Vonah, Linden, 15; John K. Mulford, do, 7.50; Wm. J. Post, New Providence, 15; John F. Wahl, do, 6; E. W. Starr, do, 6; Matthias Doty, do, 10.50; Stephen S. Woodruff, Springfield, 7.50; John W. Sheville, Springfield, 6; J. J. Lane, Summit, 15; John P. Pheasant, do, 10.60; Daniel C. Day, do, 7.50; M. C. Halsey, do, 6; T. J. Scott, do, 6; Township of Westfield, 15; John L. Crowell, 48.30.

Freeholder Vanderbeck moved to adjourn.

Which was carried.

The director declared the board adjourned to Thursday, December 5, 1889, at 2.30 o'clock p. m.

Chas. E. Reed, Clerk.

ST. NICHOLAS.

The Century Co's Magazine for Young Folks. Enlarged and Printed in New Type.

Since 1873, when under the editorial management of Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, the publication of St. Nicholas for Young Folks was begun, it has led all magazines for girls and boys. Nothing like it was known before, and today, as the Chicago Inter-Ocean recently said, "it is the model and ideal juvenile magazine of the world." Through its pages the greatest writers of our time are speaking to the youth of America and England, and the best artists and engravers are training the eyes of the boys and girls to appreciate the highest in art. Nobody knows how many readers St. Nicholas has. In the third largest public library in America—that in Indianapolis—more than 3,000 people read each month's number.

Since the first issue Mrs. Dodge has remained as editor. Early in its history other young people's magazines, "Our Young Folks," "The Little Corporal," "Riverside," etc., were consolidated with it, and its history has been one of growth from the first. Tennyson, Bryant, Longfellow, Whittier, Miss Alcott, Mrs. Burnett, Charles Dudley Warner, W. D. Howells, and almost every well-known writer of our time have contributed to its pages. There is only one way in which its conductors can make it better, and that is by making more of it, and so they announce that with the beginning of the seventeenth volume (November, 1889) St. Nicholas will be enlarged by the addition of eight, and sometimes sixteen, extra pages in each number. This enlargement is absolutely required to make room for the rich store of new material which has been secured for the benefit of St. Nicholas readers. The use of new and clearer type will be begun with the November number.

During the coming year there are to be four important serial stories by four well-known American authors. Athletics and outdoor sports will be a special feature (contributed by Walter Camp, of Yale, and others), and there will be stories of character and adventure, sketches of information and travel, outdoor papers, articles of special literary interest, suggestive talks on natural history, other scientific subjects, and the march of events. Both the December and January numbers are to be holiday issues.

The price will be the same as heretofore, $3.00 a year, 25 cents a number, and all dealers and the publishers (The Century Co., New York) take subscriptions. New subscribers should begin with November.

INSURANCE.

FIRE INSURANCE!

The undersigned having been appointed agent for the

Star and Merchants
Fire Insurance Co's of the City of New York,

is prepared to furnish substantial indemnity against loss by Fire and solicits applications from the citizens of Plainfield and vicinity.

NATHAN HARPER

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

J. C. Pope & Co.,
GENERAL AGENTS OF THE
German American Ins. Co.,
of New York.

Also represents other first-class Fire Insurance Companies. Agents of the Inman Steamship Line. Drafts on Ireland for sale. First and City National stock, Bonds bought and sold. Also,

BUILDING LOTS
And Other Real Estate for sale.
OFFICE:
6 E. FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD.
JAMES C. POPE. ELIAS R. POPE.

1890.

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED.

A new Shakespeare—the Shakespeare of Edwin A. Abbey—will be presented in Harper's Magazine for 1890, with comments by Andrew Lang. Harper's Magazine has also made special arrangements with Alphonse Daudet, the greatest living French novelist, for the exclusive publication, in serial form, of a humorous story, to be entitled "The Colonists of Tarascon: the Last Adventures of the Famous Tartarin." The story will be translated by Henry James, and illustrated by Rossi and Myrbach.

W. D. Howells will contribute a novelette in three parts, and Lafcadio Hearn, a novelette in two parts, entitled "Youma," handsomely illustrated.

In illustrated papers, touching subjects of current interest, and in its short stories, poems, and timely articles, the Magazine will maintain its well-known standard.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE....$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY....4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR....4 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE....2 00

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States, Canada, or Mexico.

The Volumes of the Magazine begin with the Numbers for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at time of receipt of order.

Bound Volumes of Harper's Magazine for three years back, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, post-paid.

Index to Harper's Magazine, Alphabetical, Analytical, and Classified, for volumes 1 to 70, inclusive, from June, 1850, to June, 1885, one vol., 8vo., Cloth, $4 00.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of Harper & Brothers.

Address: HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1890.

Harper's Weekly.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Weekly has a well-established place as the leading illustrated newspaper in America. The fairness of its editorial comments on current politics has earned for it the respect and confidence of all impartial readers, and the variety and excellence of its literary contents, which include serial and short stories by the best and most popular writers, fit it for the perusal of people of the widest range of tastes and pursuits. The Weekly supplements are of remarkable variety, interest, and value. No expense is spared to bring the highest order of artistic ability to bear upon the illustration of the changeful phases of home and foreign history. A Mexican romance, from the pen of Thomas A. Janvier, will appear in the Weekly in 1890.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year.

HARPER'S WEEKLY....$4 00
HARPER'S MAGAZINE....4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR....4 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE....2

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States, Canada, or Mexico.

The Volumes of the Weekly begin with the first Number of January of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at time of receipt of order.

Bound Volumes of Harper's Weekly for three years back, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postage paid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume) for $7 00 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of $1 00 each.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of Harper & Brothers.

Address: HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

RAILROADS.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA.
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after Nov. 10, 1889, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:35 A. M. Fast Line, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, dining car from Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Columbus, Cleveland and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

[illegible] P. M. Western Express with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars and dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

[illegible] P. M. Pacific Express, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—[illegible]

For Philadelphia—[illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

1:20 P. M. (Through car,) week-days. For Cape May, [illegible] P. M., week-days.

For Trenton—[illegible]

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—[illegible]

For Flemington—[illegible]

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.
Station in New York—Foot Liberty Street.

Time Table in Effect Nov. 10, 1889.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Newark—[illegible]

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Somerville [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave Easton [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 9.27, a. m., 5.20, p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD

[illegible] a. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

[illegible] a. m. for Flemington, Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9.27 a. m.—For High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

[illegible] p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

[illegible] p. m.—For Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Drifton, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

[illegible] p. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, &c.

[illegible] p. m.—For Flemington.

[illegible] p. m.—For Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. [illegible]

For Atlantic City—At [illegible]

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

For Perth Amboy—[illegible]

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, [illegible]

For Baltimore and Washington at [illegible]

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA.

[illegible]

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, Gen. Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

MISCELLANEOUS | MISCELLANEOUS.

SPECIAL NOTICE.
New Store! New Goods! New Firm
BARKALEW & DUNN,
Fancy and Staple Grocers,
NO. 18 NORTH AVENUE
We sell for Cash and will give Special Inducements

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion. Without injurious medication.

The Centaur Company, 182 Fulton Street, N. Y.

7-18-ly

A MAN

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

MONT.
DAKOTA
NEBRASKA
WISCONSIN
ILLINOIS
MISSOURI
ARK.
GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE.

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MAGNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels (furnishing meals at seasonable hours) west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake, and Sioux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, General Manager. CHICAGO, ILL. JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass. Agent.

LEGAL NOTICES.

1889.

TAXES!

Notice is hereby to the Taxpayers of

THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD,

That the Taxes assessed in said city for the year 1889, are now due and payable, and that

If the said Taxes be not paid by the 2[illegible]th day of December Next,

the names of the defaulters, with their respective Taxes will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution.

The Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council chamber on the FOURTH TUESDAY IN NOVEMBER NEXT (the 26th), and sit from 2 o'clock P. M. until 5 o'clock P. M., or longer if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1, 1889. 10-3-1 w

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors.

SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

Estate of George W. Townley, Deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the twenty-seventh day of September, A. D. 1889, on the application of William H. Shotwell, as Administrator of George W. Townley, deceased; an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of George W. Townley, deceased to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent, under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said Administrator within NINE months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor should be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said Administrator.

ABM T. HUFF, Surrogate.
10-3-9w

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, Administrator of Andrew Love, senior, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday the twenty-second day of January next.

Dated November 13th, 1889.

ANDREW LOVE, JR.
11-21 w10

NOTICE.— NOVEMBER 6TH, 1889.

Estate of Sarah M. Latimer, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

NELSON RUNYON,
WILLIAM H. SHOTWELL,
JAMES F. MACDONALD,
Executors.
11-14 w10

NOTICE. NOVEMBER 6TH, 1889.

Estate of Harriet A. Cole, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made on the application of the undersigned executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

CHARLES S. UPTON,
ALFRED A. FREEMAN,
Executors.
11-14-w10

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors.

SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

Estate of Jeremiah S. VanDeventer, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that on the second day of December, A. D. 1889, on the application of Caroline E. Brunson and Augustus J. Brunson, as executors of Jeremiah S. VanDeventer, deceased, an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of Jeremiah S. VanDeventer, deceased, to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent, under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said executors within nine months from the date of said order, and in default thereof any such creditor should be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said executors.

ABM. T. HUFF, Surrogate.
12-5-w9

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

JOSEPH JEFFERSON.

"The Century Magazine" in 1890. Joseph Jefferson's Autobiography—Novels by Frank R. Stockton, Amelia E. Barr, and others—A Capital Programme.

During 1890 The Century Magazine (whose recent successes have included the famous "War Papers," the Lincoln History and George Kennan's series on "Siberia and the Exile System") will publish the long looked-for Autobiography of Joseph Jefferson, whose "Rip van Winkle" has made his name a household word. No more interesting record of a life upon the stage could be laid before the public. Mr. Jefferson is the fourth in a generation of actors, and, with his children and grandchildren, there are six generations of actors among the Jeffersons. His story of the early days of the American stage, when, as a boy traveling in his father's company, they would settle down for a season in a Western town, playing in their own extemporized theater,—the particulars of the creation of his famous "Rip van Winkle," how he acted "Ticket-of-Leave Man" before an audience of that class in Australia, etc.,—all this, enriched with illustrations and portraits of contemporary actors and actresses, and with anecdotes, will form one of the most delightful serials The Century has ever printed.

Amelia E. Barr, Frank R. Stockton, Mark Twain, H. H. Boyesen, and many other well-known writers will furnish the fiction for the new volume, which is to be unusually strong, including several novels. Illustrated novelettes, and short stories. "The Women of the French Salons" are to be described in a brilliant series of illustrated papers. The important discoveries made with the great Lick Telescope at San Francisco (the largest telescope in the world) and the latest explorations relating to prehistoric America (including the famous Serpent Mound of Ohio) are to be chronicled in The Century.

Prof. George P. Fisher of Yale University, is to write a series on "The Nature and Method of Revelation," which will attract every Bible student. Bishop Potter of New York will be one of several prominent writers who are to contribute to a series of "Present-day Papers" on living topics, and there will be art papers, timely articles, etc., etc., and the choicest pictures that the greatest artists and engravers can produce.

Every bookseller, postmaster, and subscription agent takes subscriptions to The Century ($4 00 a year), or remittance may be made directly to the publishers, The Century Co., of New York. Begin new subscriptions with November (the first issue of the volume) and get Mark Twain's story, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," in that number.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

W. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.

AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.

TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXII. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1889. No. 52.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

Rates of Advertising.

SPACE	WEEKS 1	2	3	MONTHS 1	2	3	6	12
1 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	4.00	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
2 in.	1.50	2.00	3.00	4.00	5.50	8.00	12.00	20.00
3 in.	2.50	3.00	4.00	5.00	8.00	12.00	18.00	25.00
4 in.	3.00	3.50	5.00	6.00	9.00	15.00	20.00	32.00
5 in.	3.50	4.50	6.00	8.00	12.50	18.00	25.00	37.00
¼ col.	4.50	6.00	8.00	10.00	15.00	[illegible]	30.00	46.00
½ col.	7.00	10.00	13.00	15.00	24.00	32.00	54.00	82.00
1 col.	12.00	18.00	[illegible]	25.00	35.00	50.00	85.00	140.00

All Electro's must be solid metal.

"Little of Everything" column, 5 cts. per line.

Double col. 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public. Office corner of Park avenue and Second street.

GEORGE W. GAY,
General Auctioneer.
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 183, Dunellen, N. J. Or address in care of Constitutionalist. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES H. TERRIS,
Dentist,
20 West Front street. A new local anaesthetic for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.

H. [illegible]
Auctioneer,
P. O. Address, Lock Box 71, Scotch Plains, N. J. Orders left at E. C. Mulford's, Somerset street, Plainfield, N. J., will receive prompt attention.

OSCAR S. TEALE,
Architect,
141 Broadway, New York city, Rooms 88 and 89 (Telephone Building). Residence, Plainfield, N. J.

J. H. FRESTER,
Veterinary Surgeon.
Office in A. M. Seguine's livery stables. Telephone call No. 91. East Fifth street.

F. A. DUNHAM,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor.
No. 1 Park avenue, Force's building.

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VAN ARSDALE,
PIANO TUNER.

JOHN CHANDLER,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
No. 26 East 3d St.
Jobbing promptly attended to.

LUTKINS & HUMMER,
Dealers in
Butter, Eggs & Produce.
Meats of all Kinds.
No. 12 PARK AVENUE, Plainfield, New Jersey.
Goods delivered to any part of the city.
A. LUTKINS. L. A. HUMMER.

Plainfield District Telegraph and Fire Alarm Co.
Prompt Messenger Service Furnished.
Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co.
LOW RATES. QUICK SERVICE. MONEY TRANSFERRED BY TELEGRAPH. COMMUTATION STAMPS FOR SALE.
OFFICE—1 PARK AVENUE.
W. S. SLITER, Manager.

TO THE PUBLIC!
We wish to inform our customers and the public generally that we have on hand the best quality of
LEHIGH COAL,
Fresh from the Mines.
A. D. COOK & BRO.

J. Hervey Doane,
6 PARK AVENUE.
Watches,
Clocks
And Jewelry.
Repairing neatly and promptly done.

Steam Marble Granite Works.
AND
Monuments & Headstones.
Fencing for Cemetery Plots
Large assortment of Slate Mantels.
A large variety of Granite Monuments.
L. MANNING.

Geo. A. Moore,
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE.

Alex. Willett,
Dealer in
BOOTS & SHOES.
No. 4 PARK AVENUE.

HOTELS AND SALOONS.

FORCE'S HOTEL,
NORTH AVENUE, (Near R. R. Station.)
JAS. H. FORCE, Prop'r.
A FIRST CLASS FAMILY HOTEL. Steam Heat. First-class Plumbing.
Transient guests at reasonable rates.

TURF EXCHANGE HOTEL.
73 Courtlandt street,
CORNER WASHINGTON, NEW YORK CITY.
FRED. W. BALLARD, - - Proprietor,
(formerly of Jersey City), is now conducting the house on the corner of Washington and Courtlandt streets, New York, formerly kept by the late James Van Pelt, and by Wm. Hulsapple. All their old friends will be most courteously received.
PURE WINES, LIQUORS AND SEGARS.

SOMERSET HOTEL,
Cor Somerset & Emily Sts., North Plainfield, N. J.
Permanent and Transient Board, at fair rates.
First-class Stables and Sheds attached.

C. E. JOHNSON,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
Goods received on Consignment.

Dime Savings Institution
OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.
JOHN W. MURRAY, President,
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice "
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS, BEST IN THE WORLD.

MICHAEL UHDAL,
CONTRACTOR
AND LANDSCAPE GARDENER!
Residence:
NETHERWOOD, NEW JERSEY.
P. O. BOX 707, PLAINFIELD.

GO TO
DICKINSON & CLAWSON,
JEWELERS, 13 Park Avenue,
For your
Fine Gold Watches,
CLOCKS, JEWELRY, and SILVERWARE.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc., Etc.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 8 NORTH AVE., opposite Plainfield, N. J.

CATARRH ELY'S CREAM BALM
Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell.
HAY-FEVER TRY THE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren street, New York.

LIVERY.
A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables
Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
RIDING OR LIVERY.
TELEPHONE CALL NO. 96.

Livery Stables!
MR. D. S. ROBERTS
Has Removed to His New Building on
NORTH AVENUE,

EDUCATIONAL.

DODWORTH'S
CLASSES FOR
Dancing & Deportment,
SEMINARY HALL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.,
Commencing Wednesday, Oct. 30, '89,
From 3½ to 5½ P. M.
Circulars may be obtained of Miss E. E. Kenyon, at the Seminary.
THOS. J. DODWORTH.
Residence—1,100 Fulton ave., N. Y. City.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. B. WOOLSTON. J. F. BUCKLE.
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTERS SUPPLIES. 26 NORTH AVENUE

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mme. J. BERNARD,
ASTROLOGIST,
Residence—Hardberry street, North Plainfield, fourth house from Somerset street, left hand side. Information imparted as regards present and future events, (love, marriages, lawsuits, etc.) Satisfaction guaranteed. She converses
in English, German and French.
My husband is a first-class Cooper, and repairs tubs, pails, barrels, etc., cheap for cash.

Low Pressure Steam Heat
Introduced into Churches, Schools, Dwellings, Offices, Stores, etc.
STEAM FITTING, and STEAM FITTERS' SUPPLIES for sale.
Estimates cheerfully furnished for Heating and Ventilation.
JOHN N. SCHENCK.
Box 1051. Race St., North Plainfield.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
[Successor to T. J. Carey.]
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—16 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 369. Piano moving a specialty.

G. W. FORCE,
11 West Front street.
Opening of
FALL AND WINTER STOCK
Boots and Shoes at Low Prices
A FINE GRADE OF GOODS TO SELECT FROM.
11 West Front street,
G. W. FORCE.

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be
Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes, Menus,
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation,
Everything.
WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST.
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building),
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

R. R. FAIRCHILD,
Furniture & Bedding,
21 EAST FRONT STREET.
A Large Assortment of
Parlor Suites,
Bedroom Suites,
Lounges,
Tables
AND
Chairs.
The Largest Stock and the Lowest Prices.
Call and See for Yourselves.
3 DOORS BELOW P. O.

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
FOURTH STREET,

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR,
The best 5 cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana.
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobaccos, always on hand.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in HAVANA & DOMESTIC
—SEGARS!!—
6 PARK AVE., (near corner of SECOND ST.)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials, of every description.
The celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco, with other popular brands constantly on hand.

"EXPERIENCE MAKES PERFECT." What does inexperience make? A pretender!! What does the Home owner get? He gets the results!!! What are they likely to be? Value for his Money on one hand; a chance of a Blower failure on the other; good intentions proven neither.
MORAL.—(Organized 1881. Incorporated 1886. At the head of the profession 1889.)
The Electric Construction and Supply Co., Telephone Building, Cortlandt St., N. Y. Plainfield office—26 North Avenue.

JAMES K. ARNOLD,
GROCER,
corner Somerset and Chatham Sts., North Plainfield.

N. B. Smalley,
DEALER IN
Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, Etc.
SOMERSET STREET, NORTH PLAINFIELD.
Orders called for and delivered. A share of the public patronage is solicited.

Benj. F. Moore,
[Late of Moore Bros.]
BUTCHER,
And dealer in FRESH AND SALT MEATS, POULTRY, etc., corner North avenue and Somerset street, will be open and ready for business Wednesday, March 20th. Orders called for and promptly delivered.

E. B. MAYNARD
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE,
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, &c., satisfactorily performed.

Fresh Garden Seeds,
Garden Tools,
Ranges, Laundry Stoves,
CUTLERY, &c.
N. H. & J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 15 SOMERSET ST.

THE JAPANESE
ARE GREAT PEOPLE
At manufacturing fancy articles of all kind. There is an exhibition of their handiwork at Randolph's City Pharmacy!
That is well worth looking at. Something never before shown in Plainfield. Suitable presents for all.
Take your prescriptions there, and look at the stock whilst you wait.
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

School Books,
New and Second-hand.
School Supplies,
Large Assortment, Lowest Prices, at
ALLEN'S,
THE STATIONER,
23 East Front Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE.
Hugo Weigman,
EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

TWENTY
Years experience in the business.
SECOND STREET, 3 doors above Peace street.
JOHN S. STEVENS, Horseshoer.

Accommodation Express.
PETER BRUKERT, Proprietor.

CHOICE BITS OF POETRY.

If and Perhaps.

If every one were wise and sweet,
And every one were jolly;
If every heart with gladness beat,
And none were melancholy;
If none should grumble or complain,
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Oh, what a happy world 'twould be
For you and me—for you and me!

And if, perhaps, we both should try
That glorious time to hurry;
If you and I—just you and I—
Should laugh instead of worry;
If we should grow—just you and I—
Kinder and sweeter-hearted,
Perhaps in some near by and by
That good time might get started.
Then what a happy world 'twould be
For you and me—for you and me!
—[illegible]

Before the Fire-Place.

Before the open fire-place
The happy children play,
And in the lights and shadows trace
Odd figures grave and gay.
The goblins as they come and go,
While the flickering light,
Are chased by fairies to and fro,
Which fills them with delight.

Before the open fire-place
The maiden bright and fair
Is happy in a smiling face
Between her lover's chair.
Yet, as each ember flashing
Its dying shadow throws,
She can not help regretting
That her lover don't propose.

Before the open fire-place
The father worn and sad,
Within the embers tries to trace
The dollars once he had.
His melancholy thoughts pervade
An able-bodied sigh,
As to himself he says: "Great Smoke!
But coal is awful high."
—Chicago Herald.

How to Live.

Live for an end; pass not thy days in dreams!
An aimless life—a ship without a helm—
Is but the sport of varying winds and streams,
Which rocks shall wreck and billows overwhelm.

Live for a noble end; one to make life
A grand and glorious thing, to bless, not blight;
Thy brother who shall follow in earth's strife
The standard thou shalt raise of wrong or right.

Live for that noble end all earnestly,
Press steadily forward to thy chosen goal;
So shalt thou gain it, and bear on with thee
Some weaker one, some less determined soul.
—Philip Burroughs Strong, in Youth's Companion.

Smile and Frown.

She smiled from morning until night,
A smile was always on her lips,
And bubbling mirth and wholesome joy
Sprang from her very finger-tips.

I'd meet her on the street—she'd smile;
In drawing-room—she'd smile the same;
Her whole life seemed a happy one.
Alas! too soon a change there came.

One morn I met her, sad to tell!
A mournful look was on her face,
And where the smiles had once held sway
A look of agony had its place.

Had she been crossed in love? Ah, no!
I banished far the thought, forsooth.
I chanced to look—the reason found,
Poor girl! she'd lost a sweet front tooth.
—Lawrence American.

Up and Down.

We're up to-day on fortune's hill,
And free from every sorrow,
But in the wheel of good and ill
All may be changed to-morrow.
We're up and down as time flies on—
Now ease, now hardest labor—
No millionaire can safely frown
Upon his lowly neighbor.

Riches take wings—the man of wealth
May meet with sudden losses,
While he whose only store is health
May ride behind his hosses.
Then do not slight the toiling poor,
For labor ne'er disgraces,
And, though your fortune seems secure,
Some day you may change places.

God help us all—we're poor at best—
Dependent on each other—
Though crowned with cancer sore distressed
Weak man is still man's brother.
Then, when on fortune's top we stand,
No ill our state attending,
Let us extend a helping hand
To those about descending.
—Elmira Telegram.

Winter Courtship.

In meads where lambkins used to sport,
No sportive lambs we see;
The nights are long, the days are short,
And so, alas! are we.

At morn the rooster later crows,
Paid off's the yachting crew;
Again the nor' nor'easter blows,
The politician, too.

Against the pane the raindrops beat,
The hunter beats the wood;
In cozy parlors lovers meet,
And it is meet they should.

And close together there they sit,
A situation grand;
And while her gentle heart goes pit-
A-pat he pats her hand.

Oh, witching hours! oh, honeyed love!
Who cares that summer's flown,
When one beside the parlor stove
Can sit and hold his own.
—Boston Courier.

Under Tints.

While surface colors show the skillful finish,
Revealing touches of a master's care,
Of under tints that serve but to diminish
The toning, many never are aware.

They soften what would otherwise be glaring,
They indicate the frequent self restraints,
And are suggestive of the pains unsparing,
That always show the master as he paints.

These under tints are not for outward showing,
They are not painted for the world's applause,
But tho' all undiscerned save by the knowing,
They mark observance of artistic laws.

The truest lives have under tints concealing
The portraiture of many a hidden grace;
Oft to discerning eyes comes a revealing
In a refined expression of the face.
—Prof. T. W. F-[illegible], in Christian Inquirer.

The Fool's Epitaph.

Sleep well, sweet knave of cap and bells,
Our brother of the braver heart,
Who dared to seem the thing he was
And scorn the hypocritic part.

Who capered 'neath his fardel's weight,
And gayly clashed fate's fetter links,
And snapped his fingers at life's frown,
And bandied humor with the Sphinx.

We cowards cloak our motley garb
Beneath convention's ample fold,
And greet our brother's antic grin
With alien looks, austere and cold.

Our pale, wan lips would fain deny
Folly the heritage of each,
Although it peep from many a rent,
And jingle in our foolish speech.

Brother, we lack but thy stout heart
To scorn the conventional glance,
To flaunt our motley, shake our bells,
And join earth's hurly-burly dance.

Sleep well, sweet fool; like thee, we live
In open guise or unconfessed,
No whit more wise, not half so brave,
Until, like thee, we, too, find rest.
—Arthur Mark Cummings, in Life.

SOME DOINGS OF WOMEN.

Rapid Advancement Made By Barnard College.

The Christmas Preparations of Tello 'd Apery, Who is Olive Harper's Clever Little 12-year Old Son—The Seidl Society and Its Recent Doings.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

Master Tello 'd Apery is going to have the pleasantest Christmas of any child in New York of whom I have heard. Tello is the bright and sunny-souled 12-year-old boy of Olive Harper, the well-known writer. He was only 5 when he composed his first story—it was, I believe, a tale of a tiger—printed it in straggling capitals, and trotted across Union square with it to place it with his own hand on the desk of Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge for publication in "St. Nicholas," where it appeared in due course, photographed and reproducing in fac simile the original chirography.

Tello is now the editor and publisher of the "Sunny Hour," a monthly paper for boys and girls, which he started last spring to raise money to buy shoes for barefoot children, and which is the most thoroughly unique and successful journal ever managed by a child, reflecting Tello's frank and honest boyishness so naively and with such an open sincerity that it is no wonder half the royalties of Europe have responded to his appeal to write for him.

Tello is one of the most popular boys in New York, more petted than Tommy Russell or Otto Hegner, and the wonder is he isn't spoiled. People are always wanting him for some social occasion, and he is almost as much of an attraction at a charity bazaar as Mrs. Cleveland would be if she would attend. Last Saturday, being a holiday, he played all day with the Vanderbilt children.

But I started to tell you about his Christmas tree. Tello always gets what he wants. He is the most fortunate of little boys in that regard. A day or two before Thanksgiving he wrote to Mrs. Lamadrid, who originated the one cent coffee stands, to know if he might help wait on the tables at the dinner she gave to the poor. "Mamma says," declared Tello, "that I am almost as good as a girl." Mrs. Lamadrid invited him, and Mrs. Frank Leslie tied him up in a big apron, so that when his father, the dignified Prof. Telamaque 'd Apery, called for him he didn't know the child. At this dinner a woman petitioned him for shoes. Tello's charity is only for children, but he asked her to call at his home the next Tuesday at six o'clock and he would see what he could do. The woman wore sixes, and among all the shoes sent in by the readers of "The Sunny Hour" there was not a pair she could put on.

"Never mind," said Tello, "before six o'clock on Tuesday the shoes are sure to come."

Up to Tuesday noon there was no sign of them, but at two o'clock there came a rap, and, behold, two pair of sixes, which were deposited under the birdcage, where the canary hopped to and fro as chipper as the boy.

It is just in the same way that Tello manages about his Christmas tree. He has invited thirty barefoot newsboys and bootblacks, and he expects to give an apple and an orange and some candy and a pair of shoes and stockings and perhaps clothes to every one of them. And he hadn't the least idea a few days ago where any of these things were coming from. But he was sure of his guests, and equally sure that somehow, from somewhere, all the gifts would materialize.

Tello must have inherited his mother's journalistic cleverness, for he is a born newspaper man. When he got out the first number of "The Sunny Hour" he sent a copy to Queen Victoria. Much to his surprise the Queen wrote him a letter, very formal but very kind.

"If she'll write to me," said Tello sagely, "so will all the rest of them."

Accordingly without anybody's suggestion or any backing, he wrote to the Queens of Greece and Roumania, to Boulanger and Prince Jerome Bonaparte, to Premier Crispi and Ghazi Osman Pasha, to the Countess of Martel, who writes over the name of "Gyp," and to more princes and dignitaries than I have space to name. Almost without exception they replied to him, sending photographs and contributions, and the Queen of Roumania, I think it is, though I may mix them up, not being on such intimate terms myself with royalty, taken captive by the charm of his boyish simplicity, corresponds regularly with this American child, sending him frequent notes through her maid of honor. Pictures of all these grand personages adorn his big writing desk, which stands side by side with his cabinet of curiosities and birds' eggs, treasures which he told his young readers some time ago how to collect, first warning them to be very neat. "Because your mother'll fire them out if you don't take care of them."

Tello wrote recently to the Czar. He is quite certain that in no long time he will be able to offer to the public the first literary contribution of the Emperor of all the Russias. He has a poem by the Prince of Montenegro in the current number, and no sooner had he secured it than he sat down and wrote to a little newsboy of his own age in Washington for an account of his experiences.

"There," said he, with the air of a man who has a "beat" on his esteemed contemporaries, "I'll have a prince and a newsboy in my Christmas number, and that's something no other paper can come by."

American writers find Tello as hard to resist as do foreign princelings. A little while ago he wrote asking Frank Stockton for a story. "I'll write one as soon as I can think of something good enough," came the answer. "What sort of a story would please you?"

"I'd like one," replied this literary critic, "with a laugh at the beginning and a cry in the middle and general gladness at the end."

Tello has a large scheme on hand for such a little boy, nothing less than the establishment in New York of a Greek Church. He is learning modern Greek himself, under the tuition of his father, who speaks that language and thirteen others fluently, and through his mother's stories of her travels in the East and the friends his parents have made among the Greek colony in the city he has become very much interested, and with his usual open-hearted confidence has written to the Patriarch, setting forth the need of New York Greeks of a place to worship in. Some of his friends are very confident of the little editor's success, and load their champion with flowers and more candies than his mother thinks good for him. And really it wouldn't be astonishing if Tello did succeed. Tello talks French always with his father and English usually with his mother. He has a decoration from the President of the United States of Columbia.

Tello isn't a prig. Some of his manuscripts which "Olive Harper" treasures are almost phenomenally neat, but when he has finished one we are assured on her word of honor he turns somersaults on the floor. He is always planning for his next number, but he plans just as cleverly for his holidays. Sometimes he will begin on Friday.

"Now, mother, you know you say I don't get exercise enough. Well, to-morrow morning if I were to hurry with your errands, don't you think it would be a good thing for me to go to the park for the day?"

Then, when his point has been gained, off he goes with another boy and sails his catamaran on the lake and runs and whoops and stays until long after dark and rides home on the top of a Fifth avenue stage in blissful forgetfulness of editorial cares.

Tello doesn't use the editorial "we." His mother didn't notice it in the "The Sunny Hour's" first number, but letters began to pour in asking the whys and wherefores.

"I can't say 'we,'" said Tello, "because I haven't got any partner, and I don't want to lay the blame on any other fellow for my blunders."

"The Sunny Hour" is a sixteen page paper with a pretty yellow cover and about 2,000 paying subscribers, though Tello often prints as many as 15,000 copies to send to people to interest them in hunting up shoes and stockings. His mother thinks it will grow to be a great magazine, and Tello says, with much gravity, that the charity it represents will be his "life" work. If you knew the persistence of the boy you might think so, too. Already it is well enough known so that Tello sometimes gets two dozen letters of a morning, and some of them are addressed simply to "Tello 'd Apery, America," and reach him without more explicit directions.

The other day I heard a newspaper man say: "If I controlled a New York daily I would open a youths' department and get Tello to edit it, and it would be a bigger success than Mrs. Francis Hodgson Burnett's syndicate columns."

Barnard College, though but two months open, has taken at once its rightful position as the head and front of the movement for the higher education of women in New York. The house at 343 Madison avenue, which it occupies, is but a few blocks from Columbia, and is a four-story and basement brown-stone front, admirably adapted to its purposes. There is no dormitory system, but the girl students who come from homes in the city, from Brooklyn, Newark, East Orange, Elizabeth and other places have a cozy sitting-room on the second floor with a big oak study table and oak mantel, rows of bookshelves, pictures of literary and learned worthies on the walls and rich dark rugs under foot, partly covering the stained floor. Here at any hour of the morning or afternoon you will find groups of blue-eyed or brown-eyed freshwomen, of whom the youngest is 16 and the oldest 23, and in whom it would be impossible to trace any likeness to the popular idea of a woman who goes to college. Not one of them looks as if she fed on Greek roots for dinner and extract of logarithms for tea and dragged her hair back from her forehead and pinned it in a severe knot with sharp pointed lead pencils and wore blue stockings and bad gowns and talked only transcendental theories and esoteric problems.

These girls on the contrary, are fresh-faced and bright-eyed, and the sound of their laughter comes rippling out at the open door so merrily that, unless you listen for, "Did the iodine color your starch grains?" and "Yes, mine came out beautifully all inside the cell walls," you needn't suspect them of anything more "unfeminine" than curly bangs and cakes and bouillon.

The college has admitted only a freshman class, as Smith College did at its opening, and the girls who had begun the Columbia course for women, a dozen of them or thereabouts, are going forward with it, without regard to Barnard. There are about twenty students this term, and the college has money enough pledged to pay its running expenses for two years. The house has been leased for five years, and it is hoped to raise a fund for its purchase. Indeed, the interest which the college awakens is so great, even at its modest beginning, that it seems in every way probable that before its complement of classes is full, it will fairly compel gifts of money, etc., which shall properly endow it and place the Columbia annex on a secure footing. It was only last March that the women who have pressed the project really secured permission from Columbia, and yet the college is open and has received the gift of a fine botanical laboratory, which is now in running order, and the offer of a chemical laboratory which without doubt will be accepted. There is no chemical laboratory in New York open to women, and in this one much advanced work will be done, for Barnard College hopes to enlarge its bounds on the Johns Hopkins plan and to give post graduate and special courses and to become in the true sense of the word a university for women. The new University Club, membership in which is limited to college graduates, has rooms in this building, and several courses of lectures have been planned which will open to New York women generally and will rally them about the girls' college.

The Seidl Society, whose President is Laura C. Holloway, and whose objects are musical and philanthropic, makes many interesting and some pathetic discoveries. One of the attendants at a course of lectures on Wagner, which has been given recently under the society's auspices, was a young seamstress who stitches all day for small wages, and takes singing lessons in the evening. This girl is said to have as fine a contralto voice as Anna Louise Cary Raymond, and to be an enthusiast in her devotion to musical study, but the drudgery of her daily toil so wore on her that she would fall asleep at the lectures, unable to enjoy what she had so denied herself to hear. The club has been good-naturedly laughed at for naming itself after Herr Seidl, but the Metropolitan Opera House director has taken much interest in struggling students of music, and his beautiful wife has given a good deal of money with the quietest and unostentatious kindness to help along girls with talent but without means.

One of the interesting things in the Christmas novelty trade is the success of the bright little woman who put on the market bonbon boxes concealed in the skirts of puritan parsons or Quaker aunts or old farmers or people of any quaint variety capable of being done up in odd and old-fashioned costumes. The queer-looking little dolls, for such everybody takes them to be, make striking Christmas tree ornaments.

ELIZA PUTNAM HEATON.

BACHELORS ARE DOOMED.

Washington Girls Have Donned Their War Paint.

Desperate Afternoon Skirmishes on the Avenue—The Dear Girls No Longer Wear High-Heeled Shoes, But Their Corsets Fit as Snug as Ever.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

Feminine humanity is in a big flutter of expectation and seasonable jollity. It is the prevalent idea that this winter will, from a standpoint of social dissipation, out-do anything that preceded it in the last administration. The Washington girls, native, imported and official, are in the depths of dressmaking. Dress and the possibilities of displaying the same are the all-absorbing topics. Pleasant avenue during the pleasant afternoons has already put on its winter look. "Congress is here" chants Washington, and every woman is in a delightful tremor of excitement over the possibilities of the season. Pretty women are abundant. They fill the cars and stages and between three and half past four are to be seen in flocks on the avenues. "Now that Congress is back," said a pretty girl yesterday, "all the girls put on their war paint for afternoon skirmishes at high teas or during promenades." It is the thing for young girls to walk. Just a touch of Anglo-mania has shown itself in the increase of the feminine pedestrian. "Why," said a prominent ladies' bootmaker, "you would be astonished at the difference that shows itself in the shoes worn by the Washington women during the past two years. "Twenty-four months ago," he continued, "eight out of ten pairs of walking shoes had inch heels and now I seldom make one more than three-quarters of an inch and most are half-inch. Why?" he reiterated. "Well, because Washington women are beginning to walk, and confidently learning to walk at the same time. Then I went out on the avenue and the first woman I saw walking along as though she enjoyed the exercise was Miss Maude Pauncefote, the eldest daughter of Sir Julian Pauncefote the English Minister to Washington. This young lady is English with strong American instincts. She has been presented at court and is therefore "out." In figure she is tall and graceful with a look of strength in her motions. In strange contrariness to the average English girl Miss Pauncefote says she never wants to go back to England, as this country is satisfactory. There may be a hint of matrimonial intent in this, but, if so, no one is sure of it. Walking not half a block behind the English girl was Miss Mattie Mitchell, the belle of two seasons and daughter of Senator John Mitchell, of Oregon. The two girls evidently bent on exercise swing along the avenue as though they had to do ten miles before the sun went down. Miss Mitchell was the more prettily dressed of the two, but the English girl's clothes seemed a trifle more appropriate for the walk. A lady who saw them both described Miss Mitchell's costume as bonafide Parisian. I know it was a dark brown, just a little darker than the long lashed eyes of the wearer and that it fitted perfectly, and the general effect seemed popular, if one can judge by the number of heads that were turned for another look at the slender lissome figure. Miss Pauncefote wore a dark gray tailor-made suit with lap seams, such as men's coats have, and the hat was almost round with a few feathers, and matched the suit exactly in color. Both of these girls promise to be not a little prominent during the coming season with the American, Miss Mitchell, well leading in popularity as she has already led for two seasons.

"Talking about dresses to a lady I was told that there is a gentle craze for "long waists" now agitating a great many Washington girls. As a rule tall women seem to be the exception and possibly that fact led my informant to her conclusion, but I asked a professional modiste who confirmed the story and said that during the past week not a few young ladies in ordering dresses had insisted that the waist be made to look longer than in the preceding dresses made for them. "It is a fact that is possibly somewhat local," said the dressmaker, who by the way is a man, "and will probably soon wear out, but it undoubtedly has taken hold of Washington just now." Just then a pretty woman came in and I had to leave. As though in contradistinction to the assertions of the man milliner the prettiest woman on the block had a rather short waist and was to a small extent a dress reformer. Her name is Miss Emma Jean Wilson. Miss Wilson teaches oratory in one of the select schools here and in her odd moments of leisure devotes herself to physical culture. Just now she has started a crusade against corsets. Her own figure is very pretty, so I didn't ask if she practised her own doctrines, but she told of a beautiful society girl who had come to her for lessons with a waist so small as to look painful. A little work with Miss Wilson roused the society girl's interest but increased the circumference of her waist. Then the mother of the society girl objected to the enlargement and said she would take her daughter away if her waist grew any longer. The mother won, said Miss Wilson and the girl committed suicide shortly afterward. In support of her new corset theory Miss Wilson has written several letters, but the Washington girl does not seem to care much about life without corsets. Among the pretty girls in Washington Miss Gertrude Miller, the eldest daughter of the Attorney-General, takes high rank. I saw her in Pennsylvania avenue the other day in a silver gray silk costume that was "terribly fetching." A big bunch of white chrysanthemums fastened to the corsage with a diamond pin were the only breaks in the gray tone of the dress, and the effect was delicious. During the last political campaign the Miller and Harrison households were on terms of closest intimacy, and the little lady who wore the gray suit will be prominent in all the White House festivities this winter.

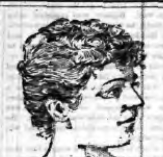
Miss Mildred Fuller, one of the coming debutantes of the season, is another of the young pedestrians. Her sister, Mrs. Matt Auberg, was married before she came "out," but will take part in the winter's social work here. Miss Mildred is the only one in Washington just now, but she is one of the prettiest sights imaginable when she is coming back from a long walk, her face glowing with color and her whole appearance that of a pretty girl in excellent health and spirits. She is partial to a rich brown cloth suit with bronze trimmings and a la Directoire.

There is one very beautiful woman in Washington who avoids the glare of publicity as much as possible, but is all the time doing something original. The other evening she gave a little supper to a party of young girls and asked each of them to let her know the prevailing color of the costume she was to wear. They did so, and to their artistic satisfaction found when the table was reached that the colors were matched by the appointments of their respective seats—flowers, china, napkins and menu were all selected with regard to the colors of the costumes and the incandescent lamps shone through colored globes giving the scene much the effect of a "rainbow supper," as they concluded to call it. There was but one crumpled rose-leaf in this pretty scene and that was caused by the too close location of a brilliant brunette to a costume and table appointment of nile green. Parties of a similar arrangement threaten to become prevalent during the season.

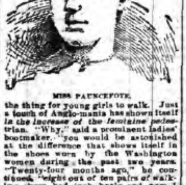
Within the past few days Mrs. Grover Cleveland's dog has turned up again on Pennsylvania avenue. Of all the dogs in Washington, and the girls here from the highest to the lowest in the social scale never reach happiness until they have a dog, this particular dog that was once owned by Mrs. Cleveland is the ugliest. When it lived in the White House it was shaved and combed with a regularity that managed to produce the most startling effect. The dog is of the poodle variety, with that superfluity of black and shaggy hair that marks his kind. The last evolution of this dog's hair shows the animal with ringlets of wool around his ankles, a large and wavy tuft at the end of his tail and a little left around his shoulders. The remainder of the dog is barren of hair or covering of any kind, save for the enormous bow of red ribbon tied around his neck, giving him a rakish appearance in perfect consonance with his closely shorn anatomy. The young guardian of this animal is a bright, pretty girl who seems to have reached the pinnacle of complacent happiness when she is being escorted along the street by the dog of originally presidential ownership.

In the very select part of Washington there is a private hotel that has lately gone through an earthquake all by itself. Had the matter gone a little longer without being shaken up it might have resulted in a very decided scandal. There appeared not long ago at this place a very dashing young woman whose general appearance was not without suggestion of proclivities a trifle rapid, yet whose demurely cast down lashes and subdued conduct seemed to denounce any such suspicion as unkind to lovely yet unprotected feminine nature. There is a divinity of quiet and aristocratic complacency hedging most of the inmates of this hotel in question, but when the sons of the matrons were found paying solicitious attention to the pretty young woman there began to be subdued remarks, all ending with an interrogation point. Finally one of the young ladies of the place came down into the front parlor to receive a caller. The back parlor was dark and apparently uninhabited. Just how it came out no one knows, but it was discovered while the young lady entertained her caller in the lighted front parlor, the young lady's brother had entertained the charming unknown in the unlighted back parlor. Before breakfast the next morning the maids and matrons held an indignation meeting, and after a short but emphatic interview with the proprietor it was decided that the accomodations were too limited for the beautiful stranger, and being delicately informed thereof that individual took her leave and the matrons remained triumphant but severely shocked. I am told, however, that the same couple that occupied the dark parlor were seen in Pennsylvania avenue the next evening.

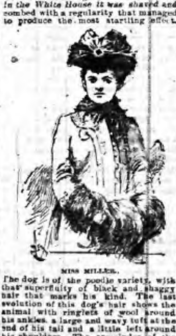
McC. LOGAN.



MATTIE MITCHELL.



MISS PAUNCEFOTE.



MISS MILLER.

"Why am I like a pin?" asked a worthless fellow of his wife. He expected she was going to say: "Because you are so sharp," but she simply answered: "Because if you should get lost it wouldn't be worth while to spend time looking for you, and because two hundred of you put up in a bundle would be worth only ten cents."

TOLD OF THE TITLED.

THE new King of Portugal is a crack shot, and two years ago took a first prize at Wimbledon.

THE Queen of England has had her Christmas and New Year's cards arranged in a scrap book. The inscription, "To my dear grandmamma," appears on many of them.

THE Dowager Empress of China takes a great interest in the development of the Celestial Kingdom and spends a great deal of time in consultation with railroad projectors.

KING KALAKAUA, of the Sandwich Islands, offers his throne for sale for $800,000. A few years ago he offered it for $800,000,000. The price of thrones has, quite evidently, gone down.

THE King of Bavaria smokes one hundred cigarettes every day and is so fond of seeing blazes that each time he lights a cigarette he sets off a box of matches just for the fun of seeing them burn.

THE Queen of Italy is growing stout, to her great distress. She has several times tried to become a vegetarian, in hope of reducing her weight, but is too fond of good living to persevere in such a course.

KING LUIS, of Portugal, did not in all his reign sign a single order for capital punishment. He had conscientious scruples against inflicting the death penalty and so succeeded in making it practically obsolete in his dominions.

PRINCE GEORGE, of Wales, commanded a torpedo boat during the recent British naval maneuvers. When at last the pennant was hauled down he personally thanked and shook hands with every member of the crew, and gave to each his photograph and a sovereign.

BOTH in appearance and in manner the Czar has become a Muscovite of the old Cossack type. He is a colossal figure, being a giant both in height and in girth, quite bald, with a flat nose, an immense sweeping mustache and a stupendous beard which flows over his chest.

THE German Emperor is said to have made himself most agreeable on his visit to Norway and Sweden, winning people everywhere by his pleasant and simple manners. He rode alone in a carriole when on his country excursions, and was so much pleased with the conveyance that he purchased one, and also bought a Lofodden boat for use on the lakes at Potsdam.

THE mother of the present Emperor of Germany has until recently been compelled to live in Germany. The statute under which she was retained has within a short time been revoked by the Emperor, and the ex-Empress is at liberty. In return for the Emperor's liberality the ex-Empress has surrendered all the papers and diaries of her husband, the late Frederick.

KING OSCAR, of Sweden, has recently been staying at Rome, and while there he availed himself of the opportunity to pay his respects to the Pope. The blunt old sailor, however, considerably scandalized the courtiers at the vatican by refusing to kiss the hand which Leo XIII. extended for the purpose. Instead of this he clasped the astonished Pontiff in both arms and imprinted a sonorous osculatory salutation on each of the Holy Father's cheeks.

HUMOROUS TRIFLES.

AT a charade party—"And my whole," concludes the leader of the game, "is the name of a precious stone, the first letter of which is M, and"—"Emerald! Emerald!" shouts Jones, who is present, not giving anyone else, in his excitement at the discovery, a chance to speak.

"YOU advertise that there is a fine stream of water on the place, but I don't see it," remarked a stranger, who wanted to rent the place. The landlord said: "Just work that pump handle a little and you will see a fine stream of water. You don't expect to have the Niagara Falls on the place for fifteen dollars a month, do you?"

THE most pathetic story of the season thus far is that of a poor old hen in Michigan that has been trying for seven weeks with all the energy of despair to hatch out something from a lump of dried putty, three black walnuts and a glass marble. She is worn to a shadow, but her spirit is unconquerable, and she seems determined to sit it out on that line if it takes all winter.

THE latest fish story of the season comes from Kirkwood, Ill. While digging a well near that place Farmer Hook struck a large vein of water at a depth of thirty feet, and was astonished to find a big fish in the well. The fish was as large as a man and weighed one hundred and forty pounds. It differed from any variety ever seen before in this neighborhood. So does the story.

"WHAT is it that keeps you busy writing so late in your study every night?" asked Mrs. Pollywog of her husband. "I am writing the history of my life." "I suppose you mention me in it?" "Oh, yes; I call you the sunshine of my existence." "Do I really throw so much sunshine into your daily life?" "I refer to you as the sunshine of my existence because you make it hot for me." A rise in the thermometer occurred immediately.

A RESIDENT of Wheeling, Pa., who has an unfortunate faculty for swearing, had for years been endeavoring to break himself. He has only succeeded after inventing a bureau provided with drawers working on rollers, which render the drawer unusually well behaved, and never invoke the customary outbursts of profanity. Being fastened into the wall and floor, it prevents the gay and festive collar button from bouncing under or behind it.

A CITIZEN who had just had a tooth pulled howled himself through the reception room and down-stairs to the street. "I believe you are next, sir," said a waiting sufferer, politely. "Oh, no, sir; you came in before I did." "I'm sure I'm not next," sniffed an old lady. "I shall have to give up my turn," said another, regretfully. "I've stayed here longer than I ought already." "My dinner will be ready in half an hour," said the last one left. And they all made a hasty exit.

ART OF PRINTING.

The English Acknowledge Themselves Inferior to Americans.

A London correspondent referring to the opening of the International Exhibition of printing says: The exhibition serves to make plain once more our national inferiority as printers, not only to certain of our continental rivals, but to our own flesh and blood across the Atlantic. In all directions we are outdone in an art of which we were among the earliest and most successful practitioners. If Caxton and his co-workers were able to revisit the glimpses of the moon, they must regard with sighs of pity and regret the degeneracy of their craft in England. How comes it that we have allowed our old position to be occupied by our foes? Is it that the utilitarian in us has, in that department of life, as in others, wrestled with and overcome the artistic? Is it that among our numerous virtues, that of good taste is gradually vanishing from our midst? For it is in good taste that we are so woefully deficient in our printing performances. We have at our disposal good and varied type and the best paper; the materials are all there, but where is the sense of neatness, of appropriateness, of beauty, which should govern the disposition of the types and the printing off from them?

Pointers by a Merchant.

No, I know it isn't perfect, but it's as nearly perfect as I've been able to catch as to up to date. If you wait till you find a saddle-horse having all the desirable points, you're likely to use Shank's mare till you turn up your toes in a hearse.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, | A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

THE SEASON.

We are in the midst of the gladdest days of the year, the season of festivities, gift-giving, generous deeds and pleasant memories, alike precious to the young and to those who have passed the [illegible] of life.

It is also a thoughtful season. [illegible] looking back far into the centuries we can behold the star of Bethlehem shining with celestial glory over the humble manger wherein lay the infant Redeemer of the World, and there [illegible] increased strength to [illegible] follow Him, both in precept and example, as the sure and certain guide to the [illegible] of eternal happiness.

Christmas is a living story. In [illegible] it abides true and lasting profit.

Then, as to the present. Joy and gladness abound, yet, alas, how many homes are poor and darkened, [illegible] by sorrow and misfortune, and [illegible] doubt, because of evil and [illegible] habits. To place within these [illegible] cheer, and there practically exemplify the old story of [illegible] Faith and Charity, [illegible] discharge Christmas [illegible] speaking, Christian duty.

Make the present as happy as possible for all.

The days are fast rolling by. Soon the last of 1889 will be here and gone.

That fact spreads before us food for thought.

The history of the now closing year, as a general whole, and as connected with each individual life experience, is fresh in mind. To garner therefrom lessons of wisdom and apply such knowledge for the making of a better future, will [illegible] win fortune dearer than gold.

With the season's compliments, we proffer to all the people, irrespective of sectarian or partisan name, [illegible] wishes for an abundance of Peace, Prosperity and Plenty.

LIBERTY OURS NOW.

Hereafter It Will be New Jersey [illegible] the World.

The joint boundary commission appointed to locate and mark out the boundary line in lands under water in Raritan Bay between New York and New Jersey has just completed its work, and decided that the bronze statue of "Liberty" is within the boundaries of New Jersey.

Since its creation the jurisdiction of the commission has been increased until it comprised the entire boundary of the two states in lands under water from the Romer Beacon, in Raritan Bay, to [illegible] and Piermont, on the Hudson River. Major W. Hamilton, Robert Moore and Lieut. G. C. Hanus, U. S. N., are the commissioners appointed from this state. Great difficulty was experienced in agreeing upon the line in New York Bay, as the popular belief has been that Liberty and Gibbet Islands belonged to New York.

New York has indeed jurisdiction over them for certain purposes, but the title to them was always in New Jersey. The commissioners from New York found that they must agree upon a line that would throw Liberty and the other islands and Robbins Reef Lighthouse clearly in New Jersey. The line in the Arthur Kill and the Kill Von Kull has been already [illegible] and the work of the commission will be entirely completed next year, as the line is practically agreed upon the balance of the work [illegible] to a great extent merely technical.

GIVE THE REPORTERS THE NEWS.

Especially THE PRESS Reporters, and [illegible] Won't Regret It.

Rev. Mr. Ferguson, of Milford, has a deal of common sense in his make up. A resolution was offered at the meeting of the Congregational Club in New Haven recently, of which Mr. Ferguson is a member, that reporters be excluded. Mr. Ferguson boldly opposed any such legislation. He said:

"I have friends who are on the staffs of daily papers, and if I should meet them after having been and should be asked what was done I should tell them. They will get the news anyway, and it is a good deal better to let them have it at first hand than it should be distorted by going from mouth to mouth."

This applies to other than ministerial meetings. It is a mistaken idea that some men have, that they can keep a level-headed reporter from getting a piece of news which he is after. It cannot be done. A reporter who has any pride will get it in one way if not in another, and it is the part of wisdom for those who have news to give it to the reporter in a straightforward manner. Else he may get it from some one who knows just a little about the matter and not enough to be accurate. Errors thus creep into the reports and the reporter is blamed for it.

The intelligent reporter is not a fool. He knows what to report and what not to. If he is attending meetings he goes for business and not to report all the idle gossip that may be uttered in the meeting. He goes for news, not fun, and if by inadvertence he should report that which is not news his editor would draw his blue pencil through it like a flash. Treat the reporter with common decency and respect and he will not forget it. Treat him with contumely and harshness and it may be regretted.—Ansonia Sentinel.

Crusade Day.

Sixteen years ago Monday the women of Hillsboro, Ohio, made the crusade against the saloons in the town. Assembling in the Presbyterian church they prepared themselves by earnest prayer, and with "Mother" Thompson as their leader, proceeded to the saloons and entreated the dealers to quit the business. Where they were permitted they knelt in prayer in the saloon, and where not their prayers and entreaties were made without. A number of the dealers were converted, and destroyed their stock, knocking in the heads of the kegs and barrels, and letting the beer and liquor run into the streets. Like results were obtained in the same manner in other towns. Seeing a longer war before them than they dreamed of at first, the women crusaders organized what is now known as the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which to-day numbers 142,179 women.

The unions throughout the land on Sunday and Monday celebrated the anniversary of that notable event. On Sunday afternoon the local union held commemorative exercises, and Monday night Mrs. [illegible] T. H. Tomlinson gave an interesting account of the National Convention and its relation to the Crusade, in the W. C. T. U. rooms on West Front street.

Bonds For a New School.

Supt. of Schools H. B. Willis [illegible] Dec. 15, issued bonds for $6,000 to raise money to build a new school building at Dunellen. The necessary documents relative to the proposed building were sent to the Attorney General for his approval, and have been returned with his signature and approval. The whole of the bonds are already secured and have been taken up, it is said, by the Plainfield banks.

CHIEF CAREY EXPLAINS CERTAIN THINGS.

Why the Case Against Muldowney Was Dismissed on Appeal.

To THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—James Muldowney was convicted in the City Court sixteen months ago. He could not be convicted on the appeal at any time since then because four men are fugitives from justice and none are left to tell the tale of Muldowney's guilt. Two of the fugitives are known to be in Ireland, and the other two, I believe, to be in Canada. The most desperate efforts were made before the first trial to get the witnesses out of the way. Bribery was resorted to by somebody, as was sworn to in open court. After Muldowney was found guilty and sentenced, there was no way known to the law by which the one witness then remaining in the state could be prevented from decamping like the rest. The only writ that could issue against him was a subpœna, and a subpœna from the highest court was slapped on him within five minutes after the case was appealed. He left the state notwithstanding, and will never return.

So much is made of the simple fact that the City would not convict Muldowney on appeal because the witnesses had all run away, that a short story of the case seems to be in order. Here it is:

Muldowney and wife were arrested in May, 1888. Before the trial, two witnesses left the country for Ireland, and a third started on his way to Canada. I could not catch up with the ocean steamships, but I did catch up with the man who started for Canada. I caught him, nabbed him, and brought him back home. His name was James McMullen. I searched him and found a roll of bills, amounting to twenty-five dollars in his possession. This money, he swore in open court, was handed to him by a man who got it from Muldowney. I had no other evidence that he got it from Muldowney and I started for the man, who, McMullen said was the go-between. This man, the go-between, skipped, and he will never trouble Plainfield again. The roll of bills was produced in court.

Well, Muldowney and his wife were both convicted, although I had only one witness left. There was nothing to keep Muldowney from appealing the case, and he did it. I knew the witness, McMullen, would disappear again, unless I could lock him up, and the law would not let me lock him up. I did the next best thing, and obtained from the Corporation Counsel a subpœna to compel the witness to attend at the next term of Court. This I served upon him, and if we can ever lay hands on the witness, we can have him severely dealt with for contempt of Court in refusing to appear in answer to the subpœna.

The case came up for appeal the first time in October or November, 1888. I could not get hold of the witness, McMullen, but Muldowney's lawyers thought I had him concealed in the Court House and they got the case postponed; postponement No. 1. The case came up again in January or February, 1889. I had been unable to get the witness here, and so the city had to ask for a postponement. The city got it; postponement No. 2. The case came up again in May, or June, 1889. I could not get the witness here, and the city had to ask for another postponement. The city got the postponement; postponement No. 3. The case came up again in October, 1889, and was set down for trial for December 18. I still could not get the witness, although I had spent a great deal of money and had visited several different cities where my opinion of his whereabouts led me, and had done everything else I could think of to track the man. The indications point to his being in Canada.

I reported these facts to the Corporation Counsel, and he told me that the city was not entitled to any further postponement of the case, and that if Muldowney's counsel moved to dismiss the appeal the Court would grant the motion. He said that they could have had the appeal dismissed at any term of Court, during the last six months, if they had opposed postponement and made the motion. He added that he had explained the matter to members of the Common Council and others interested in seeing the liquor license ordinance enforced, and they fully understood the situation. And I was told that if Muldowney's lawyers would not consent to have the case further postponed, the city would simply have to submit to the inevitable. When, day before yesterday, the Corporation Counsel inquired of Muldowney's counsel they refused to consent to any further postponement and that was the end of it. All that was left was to make the formal motion to dismiss the case on appeal, and that was done yesterday. And the whole city government could not have prevented the dismissal.

The result of the matter is that four men are fugitives from justice and Mr. Muldowney escapes the one hundred dollar fine because of that fact. If Mr Muldowney considers this a vindication, he is welcome to it.

This is how "this City [illegible] $100," and four valuable (?) citizens, and how Muldowney beat the City.

TUNIS J. CAREY,
Chief of Police.

A [illegible].

The Advertiser of Newark, says: "The Plainfield [illegible] Common Council will adopt an ordinance reducing the liquor license fee from $750 to $500. The licenses will be dated from February 1st, instead of March 1st, as heretofore."

Marvellous Weather.

Everybody is still talking of yesterday's weather. And why not, for it was very remarkable. Christmas day, 1888, the thermometer stood 23 degrees above zero, and it was considered marvellous weather. Yesterday the thermometer stood at 72 above.

Elizabeth Presbytery.

A special meeting of the Presbytery of Elizabeth, of which Plainfield is a part, will be held in the Third Presbyterian church at Elizabeth on Monday afternoon, 30th instant, for action on several matters, as follows:

The dismission of Rev. James M. Nourse, of the Presbytery of Washington City, to connect with the Madison avenue church, of Elizabeth.

To act upon the dismission of Rev. George H. Payson from the Presbytery of Passaic to become pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Rahway, and to consider the request of Rev. David W. [illegible] for dissolution of the pastoral relations between him and the church at Dunellen to unite with the Presbytery of Albany.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate have recently been made in North Plainfield, and the deeds for the same have been recorded in the County Clerk's office at Somerville:

Dec. 2—Charles B. Brown to Mary D. F. Varney, property in North Plainfield, $3,[illegible].

Dec. 5—Margaret [illegible] to Ellen B. Finney, property in North Plainfield, $1.

Dec 7—Daisy C. Horton to Nathaniel Taylor, property in North Plainfield, $3,[illegible]. Wm. White et ux to Marion [illegible], property in North Plainfield, $[illegible].

Dec. 9—Township of North Plainfield to O. E. Moore, 13 acres in North Plainfield, $[illegible].

A [illegible] Wedding Present.

The Publisher of THE HOUSEHOLD evidently believes in encouraging matrimony as will be seen by his offer in another column to send a wedding present to every bride who may apply for the same. See offer headed "To Young Housekeepers."

CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

An adjourned meeting of the City Council was held on Monday, principally for the purpose of hearing the report of the Committee on Water Works. President Dumont was in the chair, and the other members present were: Messrs Dunham, Erickson, Gallup, Jenkins, Marsh, Moffett, Myers, Newhall, and Squires.

The Council chamber was well filled with citizens and representatives from the various water works firms. Among those noticed in the lobby were: Councilman-elect D. S. Roberts, S. G. Smith, Leonard Spangenberg, John Johnson, and Townsend Rushmore, Mayor Male, Mayor J. H. Cooley, of North Plainfield, ex-Councilmen O. T. Waring, L. W. Rushmore, Wm. Thompson, B. O. Bowers and E. B. Clark, Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, John W. Murray, E. B. Pope, John M. Crane, E. Woltmann, Manager Moore, of the Electric Light Company, F. E. Miller, L. L. Manning, W. B. Codington, J. W. Yates, T. O. Doane, J. A. Hubbard, T. J. Carey, F. A. Dunham and many others.

The reading of the minutes was omitted, and the regular order of business was suspended. Council then, upon motion of Mr. Erickson, took up the report of the Water Committee, a lengthy document of some one hundred sections. The clerk read the report, and at the end of each section an opportunity was given for discussion by the members of the Council.

Previous to reading the Water Committee's report, Mr. Newhall stated that the members of the Committee had met twenty-five or thirty times, and that a contract had been printed and distributed among the citizens. At the last moment, however, it was found, he said, necessary to make some alterations, which he submitted in the shape of a revised or amended contract.

The first objection made was by Mr. Squires to Section No. 20, for two reasons he said. First, the city would not require 250 hydrants as provided for in Section No. 20, and secondly that it was unfair to the other bidders.

When Section No. 29 was read, Mr. Marsh entered a protest against the unfair dealing of the Water Committee. He said the Committee had drawn up a contract and filed the same with the City Clerk, and now a new contract had been sprung on the Council, one that was revised and hard to follow.

At a later stage in the proceedings the chair appointed Messrs. Newhall, Erickson, Marsh and Squires as a Special Committee, the president to act as chairman. Said Committee to confer with Messrs Moore and Lovell and to insist that the rate of purchase at the end of two and three years be fifteen and twenty per cent respectively, in excess of the cost of the works. Several of the sections in the proposed contract were referred to the Special Committee, the Committee being requested to report at an adjourned meeting of the Council to be held on Friday evening.

An opportunity was then given for the citizens to express their views on the subject, and Mr J. W. Yates made exceptions to several of the sections, among them as to whether or not the city had a right to furnish water to other communities. As a matter of fact the Corporation Counsel gave his opinion in the affirmative.

Engineer Bassett, representing the Commonwealth Water Co., was the next speaker Mr Bassett said he was present to present the claim of the "Plainfield Water Supply Company," organized by an act of the Legislature in 1869, and holding a perpetual contract to furnish the city with water This company, he said, was prepared to make more liberal terms for the introduction of water works than any yet submitted. Mr. Bassett said it was the intention of the Company to merge the perpetual franchise into a more favorable contract. He asked for an opportunity for representatives of the company to be heard before final action was taken. At 11 30 P. M., the water works controversy ended.

A petition was received from the Plainfield Bicycle Club, asking for permission to erect a frame gymnasium. Granted.

Messrs. David M. Demarest and L. W. Serrell communicated to the Council their objections to granting a water works franchise, and at 11 45 o'clock the Council adjourned.

Reform Hall.

A fair sized audience met in Reform Hall, Sunday night, President Harper occupied his chair, Mr. Eden Boice offered prayer, and Mr Vanderbeek and choir, with the exception of Mr. and Mrs. King, absent on account of sickness, conducted the musical exercises.

The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Emma Poole, whose remarks commanded unbroken attention. After rendering in a most beautiful manner a touching hymn, she proceeded with an interesting and instructive narrative based upon her own life experience, and largely imbued with religious sentiment. Mrs. Poole is an earnest gospel temperance worker and advocate of the efficacy of prayer and the consecration of individuals to the service of God, which she ably presented as a need of the day in which we live.

The President announced that hereafter the Sunday and Thursday evening meetings will commence promptly at 7:45 o'clock He also gave notice that the eminent platform orator Mr. Samuel A. [illegible], of Netherwood, would be the speaker in Reform Hall, next Sunday evening, and solicited for him a full attendance.

The Beginning of the Other Man's Innings.

William Shotwell has begun foreclosure proceedings on a mortgage of $9,000, which he holds on the store and business of R. W. Rice & Co., of North Plainfield, which mortgage became due a few days ago.

Caught in the Act.

A female was caught in the act, while attempting to elope with a fourteen-pound turkey from in front of Cortell's meat market on West Front street, Saturday evening The woman was tucking the bird under her shawl, when discovered.

An Evening Sociable.

About twenty of the members of Our Own Social Club were present at a sociable held at the residence of Miss Angie [illegible] on Jackson avenue, North Plainfield, on Friday. Messrs Coude and Rogers furnished the music, and dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

The Raritan Canal Closed.

The Delaware and Raritan canal which runs through Bound Brook closed navigation for the season Friday, at 12 o'clock. A large number of boats lie in the basin on their way south for the winter. The past season has been an exceptionally good one on the canal.

No Danger.

There is a single case of the mildest type of scarletina at the Children's Home. There is no danger to anyone but the little patient is kept isolated in the infirmary, and this announcement is only made to allay public anxiety that may arise from exaggerated reports.

Attempted Burglary.

About 10:30 o'clock on Wednesday, Dec. 18, as a son of Mr. Chas. [illegible] of [illegible] street, was returning home, he heard a strange noise in the kitchen. Upon investigation it was found that two strange men had been trying to pry open a kitchen window.

The two men were seen standing in the dooryard, but when Mr. [illegible] [illegible] them with a revolver, they escaped by vaulting a fence and passing out through an adjoining door yard.

CLOSING EXERCISES

In the Public Schools—Interesting Programmes of Singing, Recitations and Addresses.

The usual holiday closing exercises took place in the public schools on Tuesday, and in all of the schools there were more or less floral decorations.

The exercises at the High School were quite simple. A large number of parents and old pupils were present. After the usual opening exercises there was the singing of Christmas music by the school, followed by two readings, one entitled "Pete," A Christmas Story from St. Nicholas, read by Miss Addie Jackson; and the other "The End of the Play," (Thackeray) read by Master Alfred Wilson. The exercises were closed by a short address by Dr. J. B. Probasco.

The exercises at the Irving school were very interesting. A great many parents were there, showing their interest in the school. The exercises consisted of short selections delivered in a very charming manner by the children, interspersed with singing of Christmas music by the school. Both the Irving and Franklin schools were finely decorated. The following are the programmes:

IRVING SCHOOL.

Song—Greeting Song..........School
Recitation—Christmas Time..Margaret W. Cave
Recitation—Do It at Once..Fred. E. Hendrickson
Song—Holiday Song..........School
Recitation—The Seasons..........Charles R. Doane
Recitation—Come, Santa Claus..Bertha Mitchell
Recitation—The Little Christmas Schemer..........Lizzie M. Gulick
Song—Chimes of the Bells..........School
Recitation—One Christmas Eve..Thomas M. Muir
Dialogue—The Sick Doll..........Etta Pond, Geo. E. Cowling
Recitation—Santa Claus and the Mouse..........Charles H. Grammall
Song—Hark, the Bells Are Ringing Gay..........Little Girls and Boys.
Recitation—Christmas..........Lizzie F. Dennick
Recitation—The Baby's Stocking..........Charlotte A. Cave
Recitation—The Postman Knows..Jas. B. Taylor
Song—Beautiful Thoughts for Christmas..........School.
Recitation—Two Stockings..........Lizzie Fisk
Recitation—Trouble Ahead—Lindley M. Hillman
Address..........Supt. L. B. Goodrich.
Song—Christmas Bells..........School

FRANKLIN SCHOOL.

Processional..........School
Reading and Prayer
Song—"Ring the Bells"..........School
Recitation—"A Christmas Legend"..........Addie Grammall
Recitation—"A Puritan Doll"..........Alice Osborn
Song—"Jolly Old St. Nicholas"
Recitation—"A Little Boy's Walk"..........20 Little Children
Recitation—"The Dressed Turkey."..........Champlain Riley
Piano Solo..........James Abora
Recitation—"Pet and Her Cat"..........Lulu Johnson
Song—"Ring on, ring on"..........School
Recitation—"Christmas Eve."..........Nellie Apgar
Recitation—"December"..........Clyde Burnet
Song—"Softly, sweetly thro' the air."..A Number
Recitation..........Miss Waters
Song..........Four Little Ones
Recitation—"Two Little Stockings"..Sarah Hand
Recitation—"Santa Claus"..........Lulu Jackson
Song—"Once Upon a Midnight Clear"..........A Number
Recitation—"Grandpa's Christmas Partnership" Florence Beal
Recitation—"A Dear Little Schemer"..Eva Benton
Solo and Chorus—Star, Star"..........John Bartendale
Recitation—"A Christmas Story"..........Jane Taylor
Recitation—"Santa Claus and the Mouse"..........Willie Lyon
Recitation—"Christmas"..........Florence Bowman
Recitation—"When Grandpa was a Little Boy"..Lulu Packer
Recitation—"When Grandma was a Little Girl"..Daisy Dunn
Speech.
Song—"Christmas Time."
Processional.

At the Washington and Bryant School buildings special closing exercises were held, consisting of singing and recitations by the scholars, and addresses by several members of the Board of Education. In North Plainfield the exercises were, also, of an interesting nature and reflected great credit on those who took part.

No More Presents.

The Retail Grocers Association of Newark, gives notice that the members have discontinued the practice of giving holiday presents to customers, deeming the usage "costly, pernicious and unwise," and one which has developed into a great evil and a severe tax.

At Warren Mission Chapel.

The afternoon and evening services in Warren Mission chapel, Sunday, were according to the programme published in THE PRESS on Saturday. Mr. Frederick [illegible] was present and conducted both services and Mr. M. [illegible] Dunham led the singing. The attendance was large at each service.

Pulled out a Draw Head.

Engine No. 174 attached to the Flemington passenger train, going West, pulled out its draw head, when starting from the Plainfield station, on Saturday evening. Travel was delayed for about half an hour, until another engine was sent from Dunellen to take the place of the disabled one.

A Sterling Man Almost Drowned.

John Maher a farmer living near Sterling, had a narrow escape from falling into a watery grave on Saturday night. Maher was driving through the notch on Somerset street, and in attempting to turn his vehicle he deliberately drove into the pond alongside of Dunier's Hotel. Both Maher and the horse were rescued with much difficulty.

Broke the Bridge of His Nose.

About 9 o'clock on Saturday morning, one of the workmen employed in tearing down the old White and Stelle building corner of Manning avenue and Warren street, accidently dropped a beam 2x4 and 12 feet long striking Mr. Horace Pangbourn, another employee on the head which resulted in inflicting a slight scalp wound and breaking the bridge of his nose.

Walter Frasee Still Missing.

A searching party consisting of about 200 residents of Scotch Plains and Westfield turned out Sunday and thoroughly searched the extensive woodland North of Scotch Plains, and known as the "pines," in the hope that some tidings could be learned concerning the mysterious disappearance of Walter Frasee. The party scoured the woods all day, but could neither find or hear anything of the missing man.

A Holiday Treat in New York.

There is nothing in the way of a holiday treat offered that surpasses in charming music, fun, beauty and brilliancy, "Faust up to Date," at the Broadway theatre, New York, by the London Gaiety company. Miss Grace Pedley is a beauty who plays Marge rôle with a fascination to which all must surrender. The comedians Lonnen and Danby, prove that London knows what's what in endorsing them. The pretty girls are numerous and mostly we ad'rous tall. As many as one hundred in all shapes and colors, are on the stage at a time.

License to be Granted a Death Rattle.

As soon as the new Council goes into power a movement will be made to break up the "speak-easies" about the city.

An ordinance will be introduced providing for the licensing of hotels and saloons from the first of February. Then as soon as properly endorsed applications for licenses can be received and advertised, they will be granted, and the occupation of the illicit and disorderly places will be gone.

The present ordinance provides for the granting of licenses from March 1, of each year, and the fee is placed at $750. An effort will be also made in the new Council to reduce the fee to $500, but such object may not be attained. The dating of the licenses a month earlier, however, will probably be accomplished.

CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL.

Friends' First Day School.

The anniversary of the Friends' First Day school was, as usual, unostentatiously observed in the Peace street meeting house Christmas afternoon. The exercises opened with the reading of Psalm CXLVIII, responsive responses thereto being made by Lillie Garretson, Etta Yanger, Nettie Kreitling and Grace De Forest. "Nearer Heaven" then followed, after which, Nathan Harper, Superintendent, and Aaron M. Powell delivered short addresses appropriate to the occasion, both feelingly alluding to the recent death of Mary Jane Field, a Friend of great religious worth and an earnest and interested worker in the school from the date of its organization. Recitations being next in order, eighteen in number, by scholars of various ages, were admirably rendered and well received. An abundant supply of ice cream and cake was then handed forth, and with the presentation of a box of candy to each girl and boy on the roll, another pleasant annual event terminated.

A PURSE TO THE PASTOR.

The Rev. J. W. Mitchell's Many Friends Testify Their Esteem.

The Rev. J. W. Mitchell, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church, and Mrs. Mitchell, were tendered a Christmas donation party at the parsonage, on Liberty street, last evening. The committee in charge of the very successful affair, were Mrs. Arthur Wyckoff, Mrs. Henry Kingslow and Mrs. Alfred Atkins

There were present a large number of the church members and its well wishers. Mrs. Mitchell as hostess was assisted by her daughter, Miss Maud Mitchell, who was graduated with such honor from the High School this year. The gathering was congenial and pleased. Many of Mr. Mitchell's friends who could not be present remembered him with gifts.

During the evening the already happy and much satisfied pastor was presented with a purse of twenty-five dollars in gold, as a token of the esteem in which he is held by those who contributed it.

MULDOWNEY'S REPLY.

He Accuses Chief Carey of Some Very Wicked Things.

To THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Mr. Carey has had a long chase after witnesses. He said I sent two to Ireland, and two to Canada. If I don't make a mistake there was only one witness in all and that was McMullen. Further he said that he could not find McMullen. He could find him if he thought that it would do him any good. He saw him on the third day of last July, on Front street, and he told Mr. Carey at that time if he took the witness stand again he would tell the truth.

McMullen told me that Mr. Carey told him when he was arrested for robbing Charles Smith's saloon that if he did not swear against me he would get five years in State Prison So for fear of going to Prison he swore against me. As I knew I would be convicted in this city Court, I appealed my case. Then McMullen was free and cleared out and that was the last that was seen of him.

Mr. Carey further said that I postponed the case once. I never did. I was always ready for trial. He says that he traveled most of those big cities where he thought he could find McMullen. I know that he could get him in Brooklyn. I like the truth and nothing but the truth.

JAMES MULDOWNEY.

AT ST. MARY'S SCHOOL.

The Programme of Monday's Interesting Exercises.

Very entertaining exercises were held in St. Mary's Parochial school, as included in the following varied programme:

Chorus..........."The Star of Bethlehem"
Dialogue..........."A Lively Afternoon"
Masters E. [illegible], C. Grimes, J. Moran T. Shirley, G. Kiely, F. Hughes M. Higgins.
Solo..........."When Far Away"
Miss Josie Shafter.
Recitation..........."God is Nowhere"
Miss Lucy Rafferty.
Chorus..........."And there were Shepherds"
Solo..........."Our Crew"
Master E. Shirley.
Dialogue..........."Seeing's Believing"
Composed and taught by Miss Annie [illegible].
Characters:
Misses A. Gleason, L. [illegible], F. Rafferty, E. [illegible], A. Roth.
Chorus..........."O Holy Night"
Recitation..........."Mrs. Yardley's Guests"
Master John Daly.
Santa Claus' Visit...........Master E. Lynch
Solo..........."A Mother's Love"
Miss Julia E. Day.
Tableau and Christmas Basket.
Chorus...........Adeste Fidelis

HE SCOOPS 'EM ALL.

Harry VanEmburg Who Won The Thanksgiving Turkey, Takes the Cup and Ball.

The first two weeks' contest for the elegant silver cup offered by the Trustees of the Plainfield Crescent League, ended Saturday night. No one passed the scores given in THE PRESS, and consequently VanEmburg took the prize.

The competition for the prize ball given by Mr. John Beerbower, was decided at the same time. VanEmburgh also won this by making the highest average in twelve games—186. The ball is his permanent property, but he must win the cup three times before he owns it

The six highest scores for the cup, were:

VanEmburgh	223
Emerson	218
"	216
Haven	201
A Kline	201
Thiers	185

Closing Exercises.

The usual holiday closing exercises in Rodman Seminary, were held on Friday morning. The programme included recitations, essays and readings by the pupils and an address by the Rev. E. M Rodman.

Strayed or Stolen.

On Friday, Dec. 13, a bay horse hitched to a three-spring wagon, either strayed away or was taken from Irvington. Any information concerning the same would be thankfully received by Patrick Mc Mahon of Union.

Asleep in a Doorway.

When Janitor Hope arrived at the Bryant school building, about 5:30 o'clock, on Monday, he heard strange noises in front of the building. Arming himself with a club, Mr. Hope sallied forth expecting to find a nest of tramps asleep in the doorway But, instead, he saw the form of a beautiful woman, well dressed, and apparently about twenty years of age, quietly reposing in the arch which opens the front entrance to the building.

The woman when aroused told Mr. Hope that she hailed from Elizabeth and that her male companion had deserted her during the night. She refused to divulge her name, and said that she had simply gone there in order to find a place to sleep.

—The contract for plastering the row of new houses on Grove street West of Front, has been awarded to A. M. Griffen. The cost will be about $2,500.

Indigestion.

A recent attack of indigestion is easily cured if the right remedy is applied, but every medicine except HAMBURG FIGS is so distasteful to take or smell that a person prefers to let the disease take its course. If the above laxative cannot be obtained, [illegible] Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

WE HAVE OUR EYES OPEN.

Here's a Tip For THE PRESS' Exchanges.

The Elizabeth Herald Thursday, copied from Wednesday's issue of this city the year old fact that Mr. Wm. N. Alberti's contest for $20,000 damages from the Erie Railroad had been taken to the Court of Appeals at Albany.

In THE PRESS of the same day the Herald could have obtained information of the fact but a few hours old, that the Court had decided the case in Mr. Alberti's favor.

As that gentleman wrote this paper the next day: "You are to be commended for moving through this World with your eyes open."

THE SOMERSET BRIDGE DELAYED.

$2,000 Worth of Girders Spoiled in Transportation.

Seven wrought-iron girders, each 52½ feet long, weighing 3½ tons apiece, and worth about two thousand dollars, sent to Plainfield by the contractors for the building of the Somerset street bridge, were bent out of shape in transportation and are useless.

The girders were stretched along two "gondola" cars, each end resting on short pieces of timber laid across from the raised sides of the cars. The end of one of these timbers slipped off and let the ends of the girders down bending them out of shape.

New ones will have to be forged and the accident will thus cause a delay of a few weeks at just the time of year when there is no time to spare in building out of doors.

THE CRESCENTS ARE THE PEOPLE.

Westfield Yells Victory, but Plainfield Gets It.

If they had yelled less and bowled more, the "Mondays" of Westfield would not have felt so ashamed of themselves Thursday when the Crescent League team defeated them on the alleys of the latter in this city.

It was the thirteenth match of the tournament for the bowling championship of Union county, and a victory meant everything for the Mondays while the Crescents would gain little by it. But how the Plainfield boys did roll, and what big feathers they now wear in their caps! The Crescent team already had the honor of being the first to defeat the "Nameless," and Thursday was added the glory of being the first to defeat the "Mondays" since that team took first place in the tournament.

The visitors—let it be hoped—learned one lesson. They cannot win against Plainfield by yelling. Cries from Westfield throats of "we've got them on the run!" and other braggadocio, filled the club house and deafened and disgusted every body present, including one or two members of their own team. But the Plainfielders were fuller of sand than usual, and did their shouting when the game was over. It is worthy of note that Dallas, who was the most quiet of all the bowlers, rolled the biggest score.

After it was all over, Captain Seeley presented two handsome boquets he had brought for the purpose, to Messrs Reed and Dallas, the head bowlers of both teams. Councilman-elect, Seymour G. Smith, acted as umpire in a most satisfactory manner, although he was greatly embarrassed at having to stand where he faced a bevy of fair woman whose admiring glances—that he could not help, and which he justly deserved—had a most distressing effect on one so very bashful

The score was:

CRESCENTS.

	S	S	B	Total
VanEmburgh	3	5	2	156
Hallock	2	1	7	127
Thiers	3	5	3	161
Jackson	3	4	4	144
Carey	4	4	3	167
Rogers	3	4	5	130
Haven	1	5	4	155
C. Tool	0	5	4	132
Reed	3	3	3	173
Davis	0	5	5	134
				1480

MONDAYS.

Cohen	4	0	7	136
Dorvall	3	4	3	166
[illegible]	1	2	8	114
Dallas	4	8	2	194
Force	0	3	7	172
Ditts	1	2	6	130
Eckman	1	4	8	129
Wilcox	2	2	6	13[illegible]
[illegible]	2	4	2	188
Seely	0	5	5	129
				1403

FRAMES.

Crescent..	143	285	409	549	722	890	1042	1193	1337	1480
Monday...	111	264	434	564	693	855	978	1128	1266	1403

The record now stands:

	WON.	LOST.
Monday of Westfield	4	3
Elizabeth Athletic Club	3	2
Nameless of Westfield	3	2
Crescent of Plainfield	2	3
Pastime of Westfield	1	4

Somerset County Courts.

The December term of the Circuit Court, Judge Magie presiding, opened last Tuesday morning.

The following is the list of petit jurors from North Plainfield: Johnathan Clawson, John Emery, Thomas Armstrong, James Sharp, William Boe, W. H. Van Winkle, Jacob Voehl, Wm. Bodine.

Notice of trial in the Supreme Court has been filed in the case of Eliza C. Emmons vs. Adam Fritts.

THINGS ARE WHIRRING IN STERLING.

Items From THE PRESS' Own Correspondent.

The silk mills at Sterling are having more orders to fill than they can get ready by working through the day, and hours over time every night. They are working until nine o'clock every night now, and will continue to do so until after the holidays. Sterling has never seen such a busy time as now.

There are a number of ribbon weavers at work in the new factory that has just been finished, and before long it is thought that there will be a great many more. Messrs Cole & Kuett, the owners of the mills, are two of the finest men that ever owned Sterling and the mills They have just had their mills all repainted and repaired for a good Winters service. There motto seems to be, "Build the town up," and they are doing it.

Mr. Cole has taken a pew in the Presbyterian church, and attends regularly. He just made the Sunday school a handsome gift to purchase Christmas presents for the children of the Sunday school.

The Rev. A. Cushing Dill has been elected by a unanimous vote to permently fill the place he has been filling so well on a 6 months call. He will continue his good work for another year and it is hoped by all for longer. Since he has been here he has done a great work. The work that all other ministers would discourage over and give up, but there is no give up in him.

The Sterling Sunday school will have their Christmas entertainment on Christmas Eve.

The people of Millington are holding extra meetings every night, and a large number are to be taken in the church before long. Mr. Kentworthy, Mr. Mundy's son-in-law, seems to be the most enterprising young man around these parts.

When the Council Goes Out.

In answer to "Citizen," and other correspondents, THE PRESS would reply that Councilmen hold office from noon of the first Monday of January following their election until noon of the first Monday in January of the next year. The present Councilmen therefore do not go out of power until the sixth of January.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

WE CHALLENGE ALL MANUFACTURERS
To produce any preparation of any Cereal
So Delicious in Taste, so Beneficial in Results, as REX-WHEAT,
The King of Grain Foods,
For PORRIDGE, GEMS, GRIDDLES, or BREAD, test to be public. Time and method to be agreed upon.
PATENT CEREALS CO., 45 Pearl Street, New York. 12-26-6m

SHOTWELL vs. RICE.

The Latter Says He Has the $9,000 to Pay the Mortgage at Any Time.

The foreclosure of a mortgage of $9,000 by William H. Shotwell on R. W Rice & Co., was told of exclusively in THE PRESS of Tuesday.

Mr. Rice was interviewed by a reporter concerning the matter, and stated that the mortgage fell due December 16, but he supposed he had thirty days in which to pay it. Consequently the papers were very unexpectedly served upon him, and he accuses the officer of inhumanity in going to the Cooley Sanitarium, where Mrs. Rice was an invalid, and serving papers in the matter on her, thus greatly prostrating her.

Mr Rice further said that he has the money all ready to pay the mortgage in full, but as proceedings in suit had been commenced, there was no occasion for him to settle at once.

Mr. Rice also requests THE PRESS to say that if Mr. Shotwell or his attorneys had requested payment of the mortgage before bringing the foreclosure suit, the mortgage would have been promptly paid. He says that the foreclosure was begun without any notice whatever and while he was absent from the State.

CHRISTMAS AT HOLY CROSS.

One of the Most Charming of the Day's Services.

The pretty little Church of the Holy Cross was beautifully decorated, yesterday, with evergreens and holly. The altar was almost hidden beneath the mass of holly-wreaths which seemed to have grown wild upon it, and the organ-loft was covered by a bank of the same flowers, at least six feet in height. A large congregation was present.

*Rev. T. Logan Murphy preached an appropriate sermon and administered the Holy Communion. The choir of nearly forty voices rendered beautifully the musical part of the service, each member wearing a spray of holly in honor of the day. The choral programme was as given in THE PRESS last Saturday.

Tonight the Sunday school hold their Christmas festival in the church at 7:30 o'clock. An offering will be taken for the Children's Home and all friends of the school are invited to be present. The full church choir will attend and lead in the musical programme.

A GRAND TIME.

Christmas at the M. E. Church.

Vincent chapel was well filled last Tuesday evening, with a merry crowd of people, it being the annual Christmas entertainment of the school and their friends. The chapel was very prettily decorated and presented a neat appearance. There was a large curtain stretched across the platform, which was drawn between the several numbers on the programme. The exercises commenced at 7:30 with Mr. J. W. Jackson in charge assisted by Mr. Walter McGee, Mr. Davis and Mr. French, the latter presiding at the organ.

The exercises opened with singing by the school, followed by a prayer by the Rev. Dr. Hurlbut. "Christmas Folks and the Children" was the title of a play admirably performed, and after the infant class sang "A Child this Day is Born," Effie Baker recited "Santa Claus." Miss Millie Spicer then gave a recitation entitled "Repentance." The school sang "Unto us a Child is Born," and Clarence Mills recited "Stolen Custard." Miss Morrison followed with a recitation, "The Knight and a Page," after which a handsome crayon portrait of Rev. Mr. Mitchell was presented to Mrs. Mitchell by the ladies of the church.

The school sang "Jehovah Reigns," and the usual distribution of candy, oranges, etc., brought the Christmas' festival to a close.

BEWARE OF THIS DOG.

He's Been Practicing on His Boss.

During the past three months chicken theives have stolen over two hundred fowl from the coops of Mr. Johnathan F R. Clawson, of New Market. So Mr. Clawson bought a cross between bloodhound and bull dog, recently, to guard what remained of his stock.

The dog has not caught any thieves, yet, but it is busily engaged in a course of training. The other day it knocked Mr Clawson down by way of practice, and bit him through the back and arm nearly to the bone, just to get its teeth in shape.

Dr. Brakely cauterized the wounds and drew the flesh together with plasters. Mr. Clawson is thoroughly convinced now that sure death awaits any stranger who comes prowling around his premises after dark, with that dog loose. The animal seems satisfied with its practice on its master, and patiently awaits all comers.

Christmas Bells in Washingtonville.

The Washingtonville Sunday school held their Christmas festival last evening, at which a large number of the scholars and their parents were present to enjoy the musical as well as the more substancial parts of the exercises.

This Sunday school, which has grown under the present management until it finds itself cramped for room, hopes soon to be in their beautiful new chapel now so near completion. Mr. E. L. Bonney, of North Plainfield, the Superintendent of the school, is one of the most indefatigable of Sunday school workers.

Moved Out in The Night.

The clothing firm on North avenue, heretofore existing under the firm name of "I Brown & Bro," is no more and the owners, it is alleged, moved out at night, leaving $1,700 to be charged up to the sinking fund.

The firm leased a store on North avenue about five months ago, which they stocked largely with the goods taken from Samuel Drier's store on West Front street. During Tuesday night, it is said, the goods were removed from the store, and the store has since remained closed. The window decorations remain intact, but the store is empty.

Among the creditors are Mr. Drier whose claim is $1,600, three hundred of which was obtained as a loan about a week ago, and Joseph Stolnak, a second hand shoe dealer of North Plainfield, who loaned the firm $84 on Monday. A $40 gas bill was also left for the gas company.

Shortness of Breath.

DR. FLINT'S REMEDY should be taken at once when slight exertion or a hearty meal produces shortness of breath or a pain in the region of the heart. Send for treatise, free. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

HORSES. HORSES!

For Sale very Cheap. 150 Horses to Select from.
All Sizes—All Kinds—All Prices! Fresh arrivals every week. Can suit anybody. Satisfaction guaranteed. Low-priced Horses always on hand. Will improve in the country.
200 Horses & Mules always on hand to select from.
JOHN W. MORRIS,
520 BROAD STREET, NEWARK, N. J.
42-3m

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

KASKINE,
(THE NEW QUININE.)

Science emerging from Darkness.
The Hopes of People Who Use Kaskine Are Always Realized In a Cure.
A POWERFUL TONIC.
A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.
THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.
I am pastor of the Reformed Church of the Thousand Islands, having lately come here from Troy, N. Y. While at Troy I used Kaskine and it did me much good. Rev. C. F. Evans, Alexandria Bay, N. Y.
I have been ailing for 17 years with nervous dyspepsia and debility, and Kaskine has done me a great deal of good I am much stronger and have good hope of complete recovery. The effect of Kaskine upon my appetite is very marked, and it is only three months since I began using it.—Geo. W. Walker, Newcastle, Del.
Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.
KASKINE CO., 169 Duane St., New York.
5-3-y

To Young Housekeepers.
Free to all Brides.
Notice is hereby given to all the readers of this paper and all their friends and acquaintances throughout the United States and Canada, that
THE HOUSEHOLD
WILL BE SENT ONE YEAR AS A Wedding Present
To every newly married couple whose address—and 10 cents to pay postage—is sent to the publisher within one year from the date of their marriage.
Persons sending for this present are requested to send copy of a paper containing a notice of their marriage, or some other evidence that shall amount to a reasonable proof that they are entitled to the Magazine under the above offer. Address,
"THE HOUSEHOLD," Brattleboro, Vt.

RADAM'S
MICROBE KILLER
Cures All Diseases.
The claim to cure all diseases, may at first glance seem very absurd; but after reading our pamphlet, giving a history of the Microbe Killer, explaining the germ theory of disease, and reading our testimonials, which prove conclusively there is no disease it will not cure, the truth of our assertion becomes clear. No person suffering from any blood, chronic or contagious disease should let a day pass without getting and reading this interesting book, which will be given away or mailed free. The gentlemen connected with this company are well-known business men of this city. Agents wanted everywhere. Address
The Wm. Radam Microbe Killer Co.,
54 Sixth Avenue,
NEW YORK CITY.
11-21 y

Christmas Gifts!
Smoking Jackets,
Dressing Gowns,
Fine Underwear,
Storm Coats,
Umbrellas,
Shirts.
Ulsters,
Cape Coats,
Over Coats,
Pea Jackets,
Full Dress Suits,
Prince Albert Suits.
Tredwell, Slote & Co.,
Clothiers and Furnishers,
273, 275, 277 BROADWAY, N. Y.,
COR. BROADWAY AND CHAMBERS ST
11-7-26w

Mark Twain's New Book!
"A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court."
This is Mark Twain's best and most original book "A keen and powerful satire on English nobility and royalty." A thoroughly American work. Illustrated by 200 fine drawings by Dan. Beard.
AGENTS WANTED,
To whom exclusive control of territory will be given.
Thousands of Dollars
to be given away as Prizes to agents. Send for circulars, Chas. L. Webster & Co., 3 East 14th Street, New York.
12-5-W4

DEATHS.

GARTHWAITE—December 19, of croup, Lillian C., oldest child of T. A. and Annie E. Garthwaite, aged 4 years, 10 months and 19 days.

STELLE.—On Thursday, 19th inst., at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. F. Sprague, 156 Adelphi street, Brooklyn, Mrs. Eliza Stelle, widow of Samuel Stelle, in the 8[illegible]th year of her age.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she was a Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The BREATH of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he be comes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked and frequently entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best and only cure.

WANTS AND INFORMATION.

STORAGE.—FIRST-CLASS ACCOMMODATIONS in newly-partitioned rooms. All thoroughly cleaned and free from vermin. Separate rooms if desired. Apply at Moores' [illegible] store, or of owner M. [illegible]. Two buggies for sale cheap.—[illegible]

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Parlor Stoves
Othello Ranges,
Steam and Hot Water Heating,
Hot Air Heating,
Hardware,
Plumbing,
Tinning,
And House Furnishings
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11-1-tf

Don't spoil your Feet with Cheap Shoes!
WEAR THE BURT & PACKARD

See that every pair is stamped "Korrect Shape."
KORRECT SHAPE
Don't allow your dealer to palm off any substitute, as we have arranged to supply the "Korrect Shape" Shoes in any style for Gents, Boys or Youths, and prepay all delivery charges where they are not sold.
You can only find them in Plainfield, N. J., at DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S, 23 West Front St.
Made in four grades HAND-MADE, HAND-WELT, BURTWELT and MACHINE SEWED, which is stamped on the sole in addition to the trade-mark above.
PACKARD & FIELD,
(Successors to Burt & Packard)
Brockton, Mass.
5-13-6mo

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN
ESTABLISHED 1845
is the oldest and most popular scientific and mechanical paper published and has the largest circulation of any paper of its class in the world. Fully illustrated. Best class of Wood Engravings. Published weekly. Send for specimen copy. Price $3 a year. Four months' trial, $1. MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, N.Y.

ARCHITECTS & BUILDERS
Edition of Scientific American.
A great success. Each issue contains colored lithographic plates of country and city residences or public buildings. Numerous engravings and full plans and specifications for the use of such as contemplate building. Price $2.50 a year, 25 cts. a copy. MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS.

PATENTS may be secured by applying to MUNN & Co., who have had over 40 years' experience and have made over 100,000 applications for American and Foreign patents. Send for Handbook. Correspondence strictly confidential.
TRADE MARKS.
In case your mark is not registered in the Patent Office, apply to MUNN & Co., and procure immediate protection. Send for Handbook.
COPYRIGHTS for books, charts, maps, etc., quickly procured. Address
MUNN & CO., Patent Solicitors.
GENERAL OFFICE: 361 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Great Inducements In
Square Parlor Stoves,

RANGES, &c.
STOVES, LAMPS, TINWARE,
CUTLERY, GRANITEWARE,
MACHINIST and CARPENTER TOOLS,
HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, &c.
POWDER, SHOT AND SHELLS.
J. C. PIERSON, Jr.,
Telephone 126. 44 West Front St.

M. N. TERRILL & CO.,
UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,
No. 29 E. FRONT STREET.
M. N. TERRILL— GEO. W. CO[illegible]
Practical Embalmer, and assistant to the late firm of Ford & Stiles. 8-1-tf

A. M. RUNYON & SON,
UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS,
60 PARK AVENUE.
Telephone Call 40.
RESIDENCE—48 MADISON AVENUE.
Telephone Call 27.
"Office of Hillside Cemetery."

P. CASEY & SON,
UNDERTAKERS.
OFFICE—No. 1 Somerset St.
Residence, No. 11 Third street, corner Richmond, Plainfield, N. J. Everything pertaining to the business always on hand, and lower than any other firm in the State. All Calls Promptly Answered Day or Night.—c1ly1

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - City Editor.

—Oh, for a Y. M. C. A. building.

—Oh! could we but have that freight house moved away.

—A new floor is being laid in the waiting room at the railroad station.

—The Plainfield post-office never knew so busy a Christmas time as this.

—One victim of the cup was gathered in by the police on Saturday evening, and this morning Mayor [illegible] fines him three dollars.

—The enjoyment of the Holidays, will be the skating at The Crescent, on the afternoons and evenings of Christmas and New Year's days.

—Mr. A. J. Winckler, contractor, has about completed a neat seven-room cottage for Mr. A. Lot[illegible] on Park place at the head of Vine street.

—Over two thousand copies of the illustrated eight-page Christmas number of The Press, were printed and sold on Tuesday and yesterday.

—An evening sociable will be held at the residence of Mr. L. Ten Eyck on Centennial avenue, between New Market and Bound Brook, on Friday evening of this week.

—Mr. Edgar Apgar, who has charge of the Crescent League club house, is something of a bowler himself. He rolled a score of 196, the other day, which was pretty good for a beginner.

—The members of the Young People's League of the First Baptist church met on Friday evening, and discussed the matter of changing the time for meeting from Sunday to Friday night.

—The farmers' wagons now monopolize our thoroughfares. Many farmers drive into town early in the day, tie their horses in front of the stores, and spend several hours in sight-seeing.

—The Plainfield Singing and Turn Verein will hold a festival in the hall on Somerset street on Tuesday, December 31, at 7:30 P. M. There will also be a Christmas tree for the children.

—The members of the City Council will again discuss the water-works subject at an adjourned meeting to-morrow evening, but it is generally believed that the Council of 1890 will take the final action.

—A Plainfield man was caught in the act of "lifting" a bottle of whiskey from a shelf in a North Plainfield bottling establishment Saturday night. The fellow was bounced without ceremony.

—A correspondent writes us to state that the owner of the goat that chewed up a section of Officer Flanagan's underclothing a few days ago, has offered to pay the officer the price of the garment.

—Aunt Polly Bassett's Singin' Skewl in Music Hall on Thursday evening was well attended. [illegible] entertained those present in an agreeable manner, and the other pupils recited their lessons remarkably well.

—The high wind this afternoon blew down the heavy sign board from on top of Mr. M. M. Thorn's real estate office on North avenue, and in falling the board narrowly escaped striking a lady who was passing at the time.

—The newly elected officers of General Wadsworth Post, No. 73, G. A. R., of Somerville, will be installed publicly at Armory Hall on the Second Monday in January. Winfield Scott Post of Plainfield has been invited to attend the exercises.

—Probably the windows of Barkalow & Dunn, the North avenue grocers, contains of all the greatest variety in the way of live stock. It is a lawn [illegible] in the delight of the crowds of little folks and the admiration of older ones, who stop to look.

—The members of the Carpenters Union of this city will not unite with the masons in holding a grand ball in the new Hand building on West Second street, as previously announced. It is expected that the masons alone will give the ball as soon as the building is completed.

—The ever reliable carrier of The Constitutionalist, Chas. E. Clark, will call on the patrons of the paper on New Year's Day with his original carrier's address and to wish them a Happy New Year, and hopes in return to be made happy by their noble generosity and spontaneous liberality.

—Yesterday the weather was more like Spring than it usually is in the middle of Winter. During the morning hours in the sun the heat was really oppressive, and it was not uncomfortable to sit out of doors. Later in the day, however, it grew cooler and the thermometer dropped several degrees.

Blossoms in December.

Three branches of cherry blossoms, picked by Henry Angerbauer, decorate the writer's desk on this 26th day of December.

[illegible]

Chief Carey says that "in considering the answer from witness it seems, and how untrue it all is, I don't feel called upon to make any reply to Mr. [illegible]'s communication in yesterday's Press."

Fanwood Commuters' [illegible]

"It is reported that the commuters of Fanwood are circulating a petition for signatures requesting the railroad authorities to stop the 8.23 A. M., Plainfield express for New York, at their little way station.

Paying in the Taxes.

Fifteen thousand and fifteen dollars in round numbers were paid in to Collector Johnson of the taxes for 1889. This makes a total of about $[illegible] which have been paid in thus far on the total tax levy of $128,[illegible]. The amount of taxes received at the Collector's office up to and including December 20th this year is about $5,000 more than was received in for the corresponding period last year.

Death of a Former Plainfielder.

At Bellefontaine, Ohio, on Tuesday, the 17th instant, occurred the death of Mr. Israel Runyon, formerly of this city. The deceased was in his eightieth year, and was well known here, where he was for many years engaged in carpenter work. He leaves one daughter and two sons—Frank and Charles, the latter a compositor on the Central Press. Cancer of the throat was the cause of death.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate have recently been made in North Plainfield, and the deeds for the same have been recorded with the Somerset County Clerk:

Dec. 14—D. Corey to D. C. Adams, deed dated Jan. 18, 1887, undivided half lot in North Plainfield, $[illegible]. Mary Adams Lee et al to A. J. Winckler, [illegible] lots in North Plainfield, $2,[illegible]. W. W. Tunison, Sheriff, to Chinese Insurance Co., N. Y., property in Warren and North Plainfield twps.

Dec. 17—Moses B. McCl[illegible], ex'r, to Mortimer Osborne, 14.75 acres in North Plainfield, $1; M. Osborne to W. H. Stiles, same property, $275; W. W. Tunison, Sheriff, to W. H. Shotwell, lot in North Plainfield, $[illegible].

Many an otherwise handsome face is disfigured with pimples and blotches, caused by a humor in the blood, which may be thoroughly eradicated by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is the safest blood medicine in the market, being entirely free from arsenic or any deleterious drug.

PERSONALS.

Mr. Ed. Marble, the well-known minstrel, was in the city Sunday.

Mr. T. H. Keller of this city, will start West on a business trip, Thursday.

Mr. Joseph Pike of East Front street, is confined to the house by a serious illness.

Mrs. Matilda Duryea and Miss Duryea have gone West, and are now at Chicago.

Mrs. John Hunt from Indiana is visiting her daughter Mrs. John Logan of Dunellen.

The engagement is announced of Miss Adelaide McGee and Mr. Welch of New York.

Mrs. A. E. Pomery and Mrs. Sedler, of Grove street, will spend the holidays at Jersey City.

Miss [illegible] of the public school corps of teachers will spend her vacation in New York city.

Mr. W. H. VanSlyck and family, are at "The Greenfield," West 73d street, New York, for the Winter.

Senator James L. Miller and family will spend the Winter in their New York home, [illegible] Fifth avenue.

Mrs. A. Stockler and sister of Illinois have been visiting their cousin, Mrs. Wm. V. Melody of No. 66 West Fifth street, this city.

Wm. H. Steile, Superintendent of the Piscataway Sunday school, has resigned his position to become a minister of the Gospel.

The Rev. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck are visiting the mother of Mrs. Schenck, at Roxborough, Phila. They will return on Friday.

Mr. Isaac W. Rushmore has been elected a Director of the First National Bank to fill the term of Jeremiah VanDeventer, deceased.

Mr. Walter Dobbins has returned from Peddie Institute, at Hightstown, New Jersey, and will spend the holidays with his parents in this city.

Mr. Louis Apgar was on Wednesday again admitted as a patient to Muhlenberg Hospital, suffering from his old complaint abscess in the side.

Mr. John Drayton has been confined to his home on Richmond street, for several days past, suffering from a complaint bordering on typhoid pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Clark are entertaining a little guest at their home on Park avenue. She is only a few days old but will remain with them forever.

The Locust Grove correspondent of the Westfield Standard says: "Mr. Davison has sold his place to Mr. Gibson, of Connecticut, and will remove to Plainfield."

Miss Thyng, one of the latest additions to the corps of public school teachers, has given up her position. She was appointed to fill the place of Miss Burt, and taught drawing also.

Mr. Martin M. Thorn left Plainfield on Friday for a trip to the Pacific coast. He will spend at least a month with his daughter, a prominent and talented portrait painter of Los Angeles.

Nearly all of the carriages in the city have been engaged for the night of the 30th instant, on the occasion of the reception to be given by Mrs. A. D. Shepard and Miss Shepard.

Mr. Howard L. Emerson of the Crescent League, bowled two remarkable scores in succession Tuesday, Dec. 17. They were 216 and 218, and he now leads in the race for the Club silver cup.

After an illness of but two or three days, Lilian Garthwaite died Thursday of croup. She was not quite five years of age, and the oldest child of Mr. and Mrs T. A. Garthwaite of No. 66 East Front street.

Mr. John Bornet has sold his house on West Fifth street, and with his family will reside in New York, as usual, for the Winter. But he is in the market for another home in Plainfield with more extensive grounds.

Mr. John Ditmars and daughter of Somerville, and Mr. Peter C. VanNuyse of New York city, and his sister, of Roysfield, N. J., spend Sunday with Mr. G. Q. Dolliver and family, of Manning avenue, North Plainfield.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Alfred Berry who died on Saturday took place from her late residence on Craig place, afternoon of Dec 18, Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes officiating. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

The members of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the First Presbyterian church was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bettman, at the latter's residence on Willow avenue, North Plainfield, Friday evening.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Eliza Steele who died in Brooklyn on Thursday, took place from the First Baptist church in this city on Saturday afternoon, Rev. D. J. Yerkes officiating. Interment was made in Hillside Cemetery.

Upon the occasion of closing exercises prior to the holiday vacation, at the Seminary, the other morning, the pupils of Miss Alice Holmes presented her with a beautiful etching, handsomely framed, as a token of their esteem.

Three little brothers of this city—Willie, Robbie and Arthur—have labored lovingly and successfully in the construction of a large scrap book of 300 pretty pictures which they send through The Press as a Christmas present to Willie Hamilton.

The funeral of the late Susan E. Field, took place from the residence of the deceased, No. 108 West Second street, at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, Rev. J. W. Mitchell officiating. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

An electrical club has been organized in Rutgers College, with E. T. Middleton as President and W. G. Hubbard of this city as Secretary and Treasurer. Associate or honorary members will be chosen from the professors and noted electricians.

The wedding bells at Washingtonville will be again set to tune. The invitations are out to the marriage of Miss Emma Louise Briyea and Mr. Walter Titus, both of Washingtonville, to take place Wednesday, Jan. 1, at 2 P. M., at the home of the bride.

Miss Lottie D. Springsteen of North Plainfield, has won the prize of ten dollars offered by The World to the one of a thousand little girls who would secure the longest list of names to a petition for a World's Fair in New York. She had 1347 names on her list.

Mr. Edward Nelson is steadily improving, and with the thorough mental and physical rest he is now having there is every reason to feel assured that he will soon be thoroughly recovered and a better man than ever. This will be good news to his hosts of friends.

Mrs. John Cameron of this city, has received letters and telegrams from her husband, who is at Hudson, in New York State, stating that Mr. Cameron was not arrested and that the accounts of his difficulty in railroad matters, published in the New York papers is false.

Mrs. Lucy Johnson of Northville, Fulton county, New York, mother of Mrs. A. W. Sperry of Grandview avenue, celebrated her 91st birthday on the 4th inst. She is in possession of all her faculties, has eight living children and several grand and great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Samuel Steele, sister-in-law of the late Manning Steele, of this city, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. E. Sprague, in Brooklyn Thursday. Mrs. Steele was in the 85th year of her age, and died of general debility. Funeral services were held in the First Baptist church of this city, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. James E. Clark is in St. Louis.

Mr. J. K. Emmet was a guest at Miller's Hotel, during his stay in this city.

Miss Mabel VanMiddlesworth is visiting friends on Alden street, Orange.

Mr. Charles Roberts and wife, of Brooklyn, were guests at Miller's Hotel, yesterday.

Mrs. Theodore F. French and Miss French, have gone to Crescent City, Florida.

The Rev., and Mrs. A. G. Dills will enjoy their holidays with relations in Providence, R. I.

Justice James Hardy, the well-known contractor, is confined to his home on Duer street by illness.

Cyrus F. Moore and Edward Tomlinson both of this city, will spend Christmas week in Hartford, Conn.

Mr. A. S. Ewing and family, of Montreal, Canada, are visiting Counsellor and Mrs. W. K. McClure, of Broadway.

Miss Norma Freeman, of Broadway and Fourth street, has returned home after a prolonged visit in upper New York State.

Ex-Councilman Tell A. Boguelin is confined to his home on East Front street, suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Miss Mary E. Thorn, of East Second street, is spending the holidays with her sister, Mrs. Wm. M. Perine, of East Orange.

Mr. B. T. Mulford, an old and respected citizen of this city, died at his home, 147 Somerset street, at 11:30 o'clock, this morning.

Master Ellis L. Crater, of East Front street, received a substantial Christmas gift from his parents in the shape of a handsome gold watch.

An item in the news on Tuesday, to the effect that Mr. Geo. Wyckoff and Miss Mamie McCord were married on that day, is indignantly denied by the former.

Mr. Smith Wyckoff, janitor of the Bachelor's Club, was presented with a crisp ten dollar note, yesterday, by the members of the club in appreciation of his faithful service as janitor.

Mr. Thomas Martin, of Deckertown, N. J., is spending the holidays with his sister-in-laws, Mrs. Elijah Sutton, of Chatham street, and Mrs. Mary A. Martin, of Linden avenue, North Plainfield.

Mr. Herbert Ryno, for some time connected with the electric light station in this city, but now in the same position with the Newburgh, N. Y., company, was in Plainfield yesterday visiting old scenes and acquaintances.

A party of forty friends surprised Mr. Joseph Angerbauer at his home on Somerset street, last Saturday evening, upon the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of his birthday. The affair was a very agreeable one all round, with dancing until after midnight.

Mr. Wm. James and Miss Annie Diehl, of Washingtonville, were quietly married in this city yesterday afternoon. Mr. Francis Bartell and Miss Florence Overbaugh, friends of the contracting couple, were the only witnesses. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. James started on a short wedding trip.

Cadet Tieman N. Horn, U. S. A., was at home over Christmas Day, having been awarded a short leave for especially high standing and meritorious conduct at the West Point Academy. He had not hoped to be allowed a day's absence in a year at least, but the unexpected reward accorded him permitted of a very joyous surprise to his mother when he arrived in Plainfield Tuesday evening.

Mr. Israel C. Pierson, of this city, was unanimously chosen a member of the New York Mathematical Society at its recent annual meeting in Columbia College. Mr. Pierson is the Actuary of the Washington Life Insurance Company. His actuarial tables, which after years of labor in compilation have been published by the Company, have caused an unprecedented demand for the book by the insurance men of the World and many of the largest libraries. The most flattering but sincere letters of commendation have been sent Mr. Pierson by the heads of even his Company's fiercest business competitors.

A PHYSICAL AND MENTAL FEAST.

The Food For Body and Brain That Was Served at the Staff's Dinner.

The first annual dinner of the medical and surgical staff of Muhlenberg Hospital, took place on Thursday evening, as first told of in The Press.

There were present the entire staff, Dr's Probasco, Tomlinson, Endicott, Hodges, Long, Boone, Carman and Murray, and a veritable flow of reason and a feast of soul, resulted. No better picture of the affair can be presented than by the publication of the menu of physical and mental luxuries:

MENU.

℞ - - - -

Green Brook Oysters.
Boiled Prawns in Oil
SOUP.
Mulligatawny Soup, a la Muhlenberg.
Hard Tack, a la U. S. Army.
FISH.
Gaspe Salmon, a la Genoise, Pure Gall Sauce,
Spaghetti, a l'Italienne.
Boiled Pigeons Eggs and Bird Nest soup.
ROAST.
Mignon Filets, a la Bernardi.
Pomme de terre en Paille,
Tomatoes a la Reine.
[illegible] Shaped Spring Chicken bones, with Dead Beet Sauce.
ICES.
Sherbet, a la North Plainfield.
Bromide of Potash Tablets.
Small Onions with Caraway Seeds.
GAME.
Piscataway Quail on Toast, with Watercresses.
Raw Gold Fish, Fried Palates of September Figs.
SALAD.
Bull Frog City Celery, Mayonnaise Dressing.
Bamboo Shoots with Mushrooms.
Olive Branches.
DESSERT.
Fruit. Ice Cream. Cake. Nuts. Coffee.
Pepsin. Stomach Pump (by request). Ipecac.

TOASTS.

Toast Master .... Dr. Hodges
Or candies some Doctor, quite tender and young,
And [illegible] on a bit of his tongue.
Dr. O. W. Holmes

The Old Physician .... Dr. Tomlinson
"Talk of your science! after all is said
There's nothing like a bare and shiny head;
Age lends the graces that are sure to please;
Folks want their Doctors mouldy, like their cheese."
Dr. Holmes

Surgery in Muhlenberg Hospital ... Dr. Endicott
Sir He's a tumor that must be cut away.
Sir O he's a limb that has got a disease;
Moral, to put it off: to cure it easy.
Shakespeare

The [illegible] of Pain .... Dr. Probasco
There was never yet philosopher
That could endure the toothache patiently.
Much Ado About Nothing

The Ladies .... Dr. Murray
"There's not a blessing or a sun,
There's not a whisper, yes or no,
There's not a life, or death, or birth,
That has a feather's weight of worth,
Without a woman in it."

The Imagination in Disease .... Dr Carman
What grief hath set the jaundice on your cheeks?
Troilus and Cressida

Consultations .... Dr. Long
A consultation comes in order next—
You know what that is? In a certain place
Most certain Doctors to discuss a case
And other matters, such as weather, crops,
Potatoes, pumpkins, lager beer and hops.
Dr. Holmes

Similia Similibus .... Dr. Boone
I did not know since the death of Dr. Bayard that there was an exclusively homoeopathic physician in New York.
Dr. Egbert Guernsey

Immersed in Green Brook.

John Mackey, letter carrier No. 6, took a bath, Friday afternoon, while on his last trip. He undertook to cross the brook at the foot of Orange street upon a fallen tree, which broke while he was in the middle of the stream, and "Down went Mac(key) to the bottom of the brook," which he says was twenty feet deep.

—There will be a special service of song in the Crescent avenue church, next Sunday evening.

ANOTHER PLAINFIELD ATTRACTION.

The Bicycle Club to Build a Gymnasium Right Away.

The Plainfield Bicycle Club is composed of progressive men, young and old. Just as we had an article in type in regard to the "proposed" gymnasium, we hear that the fiat has gone forth that the structure shall be built and ready for occupancy in two months, or by the first of March.

The subject of a gymnasium was first broached at a club meeting held about ten days ago, and application blanks, to be signed by intending members, were only issued on Monday last. But so great is the interest manifested in the scheme, and so intense is the desire to become connected with it, that the membership was increased 40 per cent., Thursday. Those of our citizens who wish to avail themselves of the opportunities offered by a first-class gymnasium should secure application blanks from some of their friends who are members of the Club.

The terms of membership are—initiation fee, $5; dues, $1 per month, payable quarterly; and $10 for membership loan certificate. The latter amount bears interest at six per cent. per annum, and the principal is returned to the member after his resignation from the Club. All applications are carefully sifted, and it is suggested that the membership be limited to 160. The instruction, for those who desire it, will be in the hands of a competent professor. An afternoon class, for ladies only, will probably be a prominent feature.

CHRISTMAS TIDE.

A Very Successful Service at Trinity Reformed Church Sunday—The Service in the Evening.

A large congregation greeted the pastor of the above mentioned church Sunday morning notwithstanding the inclement state of the weather, and were well repaid by listening to a grand sermon, appropriate to the birth of our Saviour, from the following text,—"Now let us go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord has made known unto us."—Luke second, part of the 15th verse.

The service of song was also rendered in an almost faultless manner by the excellent choir this church now enjoys. Mr. A. L. Titsworth presided at the organ in his usual pleasing style. To him is also due the credit for the thorough training the choir gave evidence of having received.

The church was elaborately decorated with many hundred of yards of evergreens gracefully festooned from the front doors to the organ. A large star, an appropriate emblem for the occasion, was hung from the ceiling of the church, in front of the pulpit, while the pulpit itself was entirely covered with greens, across the front of which was the appropriate motto "Merry Christmas," in letters of gold. The entire pulpit platform was also made to look cheerful by many potted plants and handsome bunches of cut flowers. Altogether the church presented a beautiful appearance and credit should be thus publicly given to those who labored so arduously and so successfully for its accomplishment. To the Society of King's Daughters, "Whatsoever Ten" by name, Mrs. Chas. P. Leggett, directress, together with a number of young ladies and gentlemen of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the church, is due the credit for the entire decorations. We congratulate all who took part in making the church look as it never has before, on a similar occasion.

Standing room only was all that was obtainable at Trinity Reformed church, at evening, on the occasion of the usual Christmas celebration in that church. The programme was "Israel's Promised Day," and it was gone through with beautiful effect. An organ voluntary by Mr. A. L. Titsworth, opened the service, and the pastor invoked the Divine blessing. A select choir sang "O Promised Light," Mr. H. G. Martin, acting as precentor for the hymn that followed.

"Comfort Ye My People," was sung by Masters Edward and Robert Clark in a highly commendable style, the school joining in the chorus. The pastor, the Rev. Cornelius Schenck then made a few introductory remarks in which he wished the scholars a "Merry, Merry, Christmas."

Rev. Mr. Schenck also congratulated Mr. H. J. Martin upon his efficiency in rehearsing the scholars, and also the committee on decorations.

The school sang "Our Great Deliverer," followed by responsive reading and another hymn, after which Superintendent E. E. Anthony gave out the usual notices. Another interesting feature of the exercises, was a duet and chorus, "Prepare Ye the Way," by Miss Lizzie Dunn, Miss Susie Berg and the school.

Rev. E. M. Rodman addressed the children from the text: "A Little Child Shall Lead You," giving some apt illustrations of the power and influences of the young. Miss Sadie Addis sang sweetly "The Temple Vesper Hymn," the school joining in the chorus. A recitative by the choir, "Night Reigns Supreme," responsive reading, singing "Glory to God in the Highest," and the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. Mr. Rodman brought the Christmas celebration to a close.

A Talk on China.

Councilman-elect Townsend Rushmore gave a talk on China before the scholars of the night school, Dec. 18, that was both interesting and profitable. He also exhibited before the pupils many relics and coins which he gathered during his recent trip there.

A Talk on the Revolutionary War.

Mr. Charles W. Opdyke gave an entertaining and instructive talk before a good sized audience in the parlors of the Unitarian church, Dec. 18, on the effects of the Revolutionary War in this vicinity. The speaker pointed out some of the old buildings in this city which stood in Revolutionary times.

Pythian Notes.

Grand Chancellor A. B. Race, of Smith's Landing, was the guest Dec. 18, of Grand Keeper of Records and Seals E. T. Lorton, of West Fifth street.

Grand Master of Exchequer C. U. N. Wilson, of Long Branch city, was the guest of Grand Prelate John Ulrich, one day last week.

Fancy Articles From State Prison.

There are on exhibition at The Press office some artistic designs such as work boxes, match safes, etc., which were made by Horace VanNest, of this city, during the leisure moments in his cell in State Prison, the only instrument used being a knife. The articles will remain on exhibition for a few days.

A False Rumor.

The rumor that work on the County roads has been stopped for want of funds, originated in the fact that, owing to the bad weather, the work has not progressed far enough to entitle certain contractors to collect certain installments from the County, and quarry operations and pay rolls, in some cases, have been retained.

A New Street Commissioner Wanted.

"Our city streets are more like filthy barn-yards than public avenues. The paved streets are as bad as the others, and all for the want of a little attention on the part of those who are liberally paid to give it."

The above is merely a quotation from this morning's The American, published at Trenton.

TO SATISFY A CHATTEL MORTGAGE.

A Clothing Clerk Leaves Household Goods to Offset a Board Bill and Justice Nash Steps in and Gobbles Up the Whole Business.

William Hammond, a young man until recently employed as a clerk in a West Front street clothing store, went out West to follow Horace Greeley's advice and grow up with the country. Before leaving, however, he transferred a quantity of household goods to Mrs. Eick, of West Second street, to offset a thirty dollar board bill.

Hammond before leaving also obtained from Justice V. W. Nash a loan of about $27 on the furniture, giving a chattel mortgage on the same. Dec. 18 Justice Nash auctioned off the furniture to satisfy his claim, and the boarding mistress is thus the loser.

$10,000 IS THE FIGURE.

Editor Harrison and Grocer Rice Sued for That Amount of Damages by William H. Shotwell.

The editor of the News received a "holiday present," Christmas Eve., in the shape of summons in a suit by William H. Shotwell for $10,000 damages for defamation of character. B. W. Rice is made a joint defendant in the same suit which will be tried at the May term of the Somerset County court.

It was the intention of the plaintiff to first present the defendants for indictment by the grand jury for criminal libel. But the civil suit is begun first, and the indictment may follow at any time within two years.

GRACIOUS, HOW WE GROW!

Further Increase of THE PRESS Establishment.

The entire upper floor of the Chautauqua building at the corner of Park and North avenues, is now occupied solely as the composing rooms of The Daily Press and the Weekly Constitutionalist, where a larger force of men than is employed in any similar establishment in this vicinity, set and make up the papers.

The job department is located in the top story of No. 3 North avenue and connects with the newspaper composing rooms. With the press room three stories below, where the five presses, boilers and engines, are located, the composing rooms are connected by passenger elevators, dummies for small forms, speaking tubes and gongs.

The office of the two papers and the extensive printing business, is on North avenue, and back of it are the editorial rooms where the reporters' desks also are. But within the past week further addition has been made to even such extending quarters.

The whole basement of No. 33 Park avenue has been leased and fitted as a delivery room for The Daily Press, and a folding and mailing room for both the daily and Constitutionalist. This room is open until 7:30 o'clock every evening, and no one need go to bed before reading The Press.

And yet we will have to have more room yet in a very few weeks, unless we stop growing—which can't happen.

CONTRACTORS IN TROUBLE.

John Cameron of This City Said to be the Victim of His Wicked Partner.

[From The Press of Dec. 20.]

The New York papers of last night and this morning, were full of all sorts of sensational reports regarding the alleged arrest of John Cameron, the wealthy railroad contractor of this city, on all sorts of charges.

One despatch said: "John Cameron of Plainfield, N. J., one of the contractors engaged in building the Kinderhook and Hudson Railroad, was arrested on Wednesday night charged with grand larceny made by that company. The amount of the alleged steal is $9,597 and other persons are said to be implicated. Cameron had charge of the section of the road in Stuyvesant, New York, and came from that place Wednesday morning. He took his arrest coolly. The Italians employed on the railroad at Stuyvesant learned that Cameron had left with the wages due them, and became so enraged that they threatened to burn and plunder the village. Deputy Sheriff Clow called to his assistance a number of villagers, and arrested five of the ringleaders."

The truth of the matter is about like this: Wednesday night at Stuyvesant, New York, there was a small riot among the Hungarians employed by the firm of Cameron & Clark, contractors on the Kinderhook and Hudson Railway, because they had not received their last month's wages, which were due and should have been paid on Dec. 10. Five of the rioters were arrested and lodged in jail.

The railroad company paid the contractors for work about $10,000 on the 16th, and Clark, it is alleged, absconded with the money because the firm had lost already about $4,000 on the work. The company have had both contractors arrested. The railroad company will be compelled to stand the loss of the wages, as it is responsible under the special railroad act.

The Night School.

There were forty present at the night school for men on Thursday. The night session has been discontinued until Jan. 7th, next, when it will be resumed until the second week in March.

Much good has resulted from the night school, and it is to be hoped that the attendance will increase when the school re-opens after the Holidays.

No Tidings Yet.

Nothing has yet been heard of Walter Frazee, the young mechanic who mysteriously disappeared from his home at Scotch Plains, a few weeks ago, and his friends fear that he is dead. Although searching parties have scoured the surrounding country, young Frazee's disappearance is as much of a mystery as it was when at first reported.

A New Dancing Hall.

Mr. Charles H. Hand is pushing forward to completion his new building on West Second street, and in the course of a few weeks the structure will be enclosed. The new hall will be formally opened with a ball by the Mason's and Carpenter's Union, on a date to be hereafter announced. Mr. Hand has already had several applications from parties who desire to give balls, etc., in the hall.

Unity Lodge Meeting.

A most enthusiastic meeting of the Knights of Pythias was held in Unity Lodge room, Dec. 18. About seventy-five being present including every elective member of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey, from Grand Chancellor Race to Grand Master at Arms Kilbourn. Eloquent addresses were made on the progress of the Order in the State and particularly so in this District.

Unity Lodge conferred the first Rank on one candidate in a fine manner and made nominations for its Lodge officers for the ensuing year. A bountiful collation was served to all in the Lodge room, and the proceedings terminated at a late hour much enjoyed by all present.

—The boys who, in rainy weather, sweep the street crossings, are more of a nuisance than a benefit.

The special quality of Ayer's Hair Vigor is that it restores the natural growth, color, and texture of the hair. It vitalizes the roots and follicles, removes dandruff, and heals itching humors in the scalp. In this respect, it surpasses all similar preparations.

RHEUMATISM.

Officer Flanagan Arrests a Goat but in Consequence He is Compelled to Walk With a Cane.

Officer Patrick J. Flanagan, one of the city's most efficient policemen, is now obliged to hobble around with the assistance of a cane, he being subject to rheumatism. The officer has enjoyed tolerably good health of late, but the arrest of a white goat one day last week is said to be the cause of his latest attack. On that morning the goat was seen prowling about West Front street, devouring dry goods boxes, tomato cans and other appetizing relishes, when the officer stopped his goatship in his mad career and escorted the animal to the station house.

Several hours later the goat was released, and, evidently for revenge, the animal went directly to Officer Flanagan's house on Liberty street and chewed up one of the lower limbs of a pair of under trousers hanging on a line in the door-yard. Hence the officer's latest attack of rheumatism.

THE COMMUTER'S CLUB CAR.

Even the New York Papers Speak of Such a Luxury.

The first issue of The Suburban, a New York illustrated journal devoted to the interests of the people in towns and cities contingent, contains an article on the "Howard" commuter's club car, written by Mr. Walter Chamberlin of this city.

It deserves republication in full and would have it if The Press could spare the space. The list of members given, who support this luxury on wheels, includes: L. E. Howard, President; Jacob Kirkner, Morgan S. Taylor, B. O. Bowers, Henry A. McGee, Walter M. McGee, E. J. Waring, A. W. Haviland, George M. Kirkner, John I. Holly, M. I. Cooley, H. B. Wells, James McGee, H. W. Stover, James W. DeGraff, A. W. Demarest, Seymour G. Smith, J. P. Mason, Clifton Wharton, Jr., J. W. Johnson, H. F. Johnson, W. T. Broadway, G. L. Dupee, Samuel Townsend, B. M. Day, E. St. John, C. E. Horn, W. H. VanSlyck, J. T. Scott, H. M. Stockton, C. T. Pond, James A. Taylor, Edward W. Conklin, E. S. Hooley, A. C. Vail, J. M. Crane, J. F. Moore, Andrew McKinney, Russell C. Johnson, W. F. Williams, P. A. Emmons, L. M. Stover.

Plainfield Pays Its Taxes.

This City is the first this year to pay its full quota of County and State School tax for 1889. On Friday last, City Treasurer Alex. Titsworth paid over the following amounts:

County tax	$28,612.86
State School Tax	17,852.14
Total	$46,465 00

The Yellow Tavern Sold.

By order of the Supreme Court, Sheriff Fick on the afternoon of Dec. 18 sold the tract of land and premises known as the Yellow Tavern or Elm Park Hotel, situated in the township of Piscataway, at Bound Brook. The complainant was Mary E. Illsley; the defendants, Eliza Shotwell and John Mannion. The hotel was sold to plaintiff for $150, the decree and costs amounting to $452.55.

One Woman's Great Success.

Mme. Alberti lectured before the New Century Club, (the prominent woman's club) of Philadelphia, on Dec. 18. She so much interested her auditors in the Delsarte training system, that all of the ladies remained nearly half an hour after a one-hour lecture and—not at all according to programme—discussed the paper and volunteered a class of thirty ladies if she would take them.

The Hatchet Stuck in His Head.

Edward Apgar with his head bound up, though able to be on duty at the Crescent League club house, was seen by a Press reporter, on Monday, and questioned as to what had happened him.

"I was standing on a chair," he said, "and reaching up to drive some nails, when the hatchet I was using fell out of my hand and the blade striking me just above the temple stuck straight up in my skull. I grabbed the handle and pulled the hatchet out of my head just as I fell over backward.

Jr. O. U. A. M. Notes.

At the regular meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., held in the S. of T. rooms, on Thursday, the officers for the next quarter were nominated.

The Council is to have new headquarters the first of the year. The Trustees have leased the Fireman's Hall, in the First National Bank building. The room is better equipped and much larger than the one they now occupy. The members of Franklin Council will do all in their power to help the Firemen's Relief and Exempt Fireman's Associations to make the Hall one of the finest in the State.

The Good and Welfare Committee of the Council will tender the members and their lady friends an evening sociable to be held in Cutter's Hall, on Tuesday evening, January 7.

The election of officers for the next quarter will take place on Friday evening, Jan. 3. The meeting will be held in their new rooms in the First National Bank building.

A Duel Between Intellectual Giants.

The January number of the North American Review will be rendered memorable by one of the most brilliant features which have ever appeared in an American periodical. This is a discussion between the Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone and Hon. J. G. Blaine on the Tariff, Mr. Gladstone advocating Free Trade and Mr. Blaine Protection. Whatever can be said on one side and the other of this subject will be said in these articles in the most telling and impressive way by these two great masters of controversy. Mr. Gladstone's article will occupy between twenty and thirty pages of the Review, and Mr. Blaine's reply will be about the same length, if not longer. It will be a battle of intellectual giants.

The articles will be published simultaneously, by Mr. Gladstone's consent, and, as they take up so much space, this issue of the Review will be enlarged to admit of the usual number and variety, of papers on important and timely topics.

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?

Do its Manufacturers Publish all the Ingredients Used?

IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?

As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the bread material. Protection to consumers of food compounds lies in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but buy instead

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER.

This powder is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, and strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, with a little wheat flour to preserve it. This is attested by the official analyses of Government and State chemists, and physicians, and chemists of Boards of Health throughout the country. CLEVELAND BROTHERS, ALBANY, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, New York. 5-7 ly

Save Your Hair

By a timely use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. This preparation has no equal as a dressing. It keeps the scalp clean, cool, and healthy, and preserves the color, fullness, and beauty of the hair.

"I was rapidly becoming bald and gray; but after using two or three bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair grew thick and glossy and the original color was restored."—Melvin Aldrich, Canaan Centre, N. H.

"Some time ago I lost all my hair in consequence of measles. After due waiting, no new growth appeared. I then used Ayer's Hair Vigor and my hair grew Thick and Strong.

It has apparently come to stay. The Vigor is evidently a great aid to nature."—J. B. Williams, Floresville, Texas.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past four or five years and find it a most satisfactory dressing for the hair. It is all I could desire, being harmless, causing the hair to retain its natural color, and requiring but a small quantity to render the hair easy to arrange."—Mrs. M. A. Bailey, 9 Charles street, Haverhill, Mass.

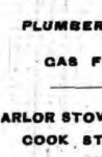
"I have been using Ayer's Hair Vigor for several years, and believe that it has caused my hair to retain its natural color."—Mrs. H. J. King, Dealer in Dry Goods, &c., Bishopville, Md.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.



A $20 A Day Man!

A VOICE from Ohio. Here is a portrait of Mr. Garrison, of Salem, Ohio. He writes: "Was at work on a farm for $20 a month; I now have an agency for E. C. Allen & Co's albums and publications and often make $20 a day." (Signed) W. H. Garrison.

William Kline, Harrisburg, Pa., writes: "I have never known anything to sell like your album. Yesterday I took orders enough to pay me over $25." W. J. Elmore, Bangor, Me., writes: "I take an order for your album at almost every house I visit. My profit is often as much as $20.00 for a single day's work." Others are doing quite as well; we have not space to give extracts from their letters. Every one who takes hold of this grand business piles up grand profits.

Shall we start YOU in this business, reader? Write to us and learn all about it for yourself. [illegible] Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., AUGUSTA, MAINE. 2-5-ly

CARNEY BROS.,

11 SOMERSET ST.

TINNERS,

PLUMBERS,

GAS FITTERS.

PARLOR STOVES,

COOK STOVES,

HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.

Tinware Made to Order.

Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces.

SANITARY PLUMBING.

HOW CAN THE LONG BE THE SHORT ?

A line may be very long one and yet be the shortest between given points. For instance the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has over 3,000 miles of road; magnificently equipped and managed, it is one of the greatest railways of this country; for the same reasons it is the traveler's favorite to all points in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana. It is the only line to Great Falls, the future manufacturing center of the Northwest; to the fertile free lands of the Milk River Valley; and offers a choice of three routes to the Coast. Still it is the shortest line between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Fargo, Winnipeg, Crookston, Moorhead, Casselton, Grafton, Fergus Falls, Wahpeton, Devils Lake and Butte City. It is the best route to Alaska, China and Japan; and the journey to the Pacific coast, Vancouver, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco will be remembered as the delight of a lifetime once made through the wonderful scenery of the Manitoba-Pacific Route. To fish and hunt; to view the magnificence of nature; to revive the spirit; restore the body; to realize the dream of the home seeker, the gold-seeker, the toiler, or the capitalist, visit the country reached by the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway. Write to F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A., St. Paul, Minn., for maps, books and guides. If you want a free farm in a lovely land, write for the "Great Reservation"; read it and realize the opportunity to secure a home.

HAND OF FORTUNE!

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

PECK'S CORNER.

GET THE BEST!

THAT MEANS

TRADE

AT PECK'S!

NOT WORDS--FACTS!

The Largest Stock—ON PAPER,
The Best Styles—ON PAPER,
The Lowest Prices—ON PAPER,
The Best Made Goods—ON PAPER,

Will Not Convince the Public.

"The banquet board must be spread with tempting viands when the guests arrive, else there is disappointment and disgust."

That's the secret of our success. Good advertisements are good, but Good Clothing is better. We think we excel in both, and we know we do in Clothing. The people have confidence in us. They know from past experience that we sell a reliable article at a moderate price. We have constantly backed up our words with facts; facts in Clothing that the people can see for themselves and appreciate. There are some very pointed facts in this season's stock; some regular knock-down arguments in favor of trading here.

McGregor & Co., 850 and 852 Broad St NEWARK, N. J.

A. VANDERBEEK,

(CHAUTAUQUA BUILDING,)

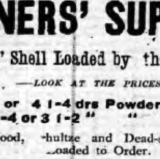
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

HAVING DISPOSED OF THE MUSICAL AND SPORTING Goods Department I am now prepared to devote my entire time to the sale and renting of

—PIANOS AND ORGANS—

Having many years of experience in the Piano Trade I am prepared to furnish first-class Instruments as reasonable as they can be had in New York city. Pianos tuned. Give me a call before purchasing.

PRICE LIST OF THE



EMPIRE STEAM CARPET CLEANING

Feather and Mattress Renovating Works.

Office and Works, 32 East Front Street.

HUGO WEIGMANN, Prop.

Ingrain and 3-Ply,	3c. per yd.	Feather Pillows,	50c. per pair
Tapestry and Brussels,	4c. "	Feather Bolsters,	50c. each
Wilton, Velvet, Moquette and Axminster,	5c. "	Large Feather Bed,	$1.50 each
		Hair steamed & picked,	5c. per lb

GUNNERS' SUPPLIES!

The "Club" Shell Loaded by the U. M. C. Co.

—LOOK AT THE PRICES.—

10 ga 4 or 4 1-4 drs Powder, $1.85 pr 100
12 " 3, 3 1-4 or 3 1-2 " " $1.75 " "

American Wood, Schultze and Dead-shot Powder Shells Loaded to Order.

Guns of all Grades and Sizes.

Look at Our $1.00 Hunting Coat.

A. M. Vanderbeek & Co.,

33 PARK AVENUE,

Chautauqua Building, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

ODORLESS EXCAVATOR

John Brown,

Successor to John Burke.

Cesspools, Vaults, Etc., Etc.,

CLEANED.

Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at CARNEY BROS., No. 11 Somerset street, or address P. O. Box 726, will receive prompt attention.

CAUGHT IN THE CURRENT.

HEREAFTER the boats carried by Atlantic steamers, instead of being made of wood, will be made of steel, in one piece.

A MAN of Norristown, Pa., was unable to land a sixteen-pound carp that he caught, and called a friend who shot it on the wing.

A LETTER was landed in Ann Arbor the other day labeled "Look out!" This letter was written at the top of the Eiffel tower.

THE "penny in the slot" device has been applied in England to chairs for use in public places, arranged to keep the seat upright until the coin is dropped in, when it can be lowered.

THERE will be over 8,000 new Indian voters in South Dakota as a result of the recent land allotment acts. Every Indian over twenty-one who receives an allotment becomes thereby a citizen.

THE United States cruiser Thetis, which lately returned to Sitka after an extraordinary cruise, is the first steam vessel that ever went to the mouth of the Mackenzie river, in the Arctic Ocean.

THERE is a horse at Hamburg, N. J., named Sentinel, now thirty-three years old, of Hambletonian-Clay blood, who was in over thirty battles and skirmishes in the late war, including Petersburg, Fredericksburg, Winchester, the Wilderness and Gettysburg, being wounded at the latter.

"SPOKANE," writes a recent visitor, "will be rebuilt better than it was. Sandstone will be discarded for granite. A recent discovery is that of a granite quarry nine miles north. There is a wall of white gray granite a mile and a half long and six hundred feet high. Pieces fifty feet long have been taken out. This stone will be used largely in the reconstruction."

A COMPANY has laid a main in New York, and will supply the butchers of Washington market with cold air. The supply may be regulated by a cock. The air is made frigid by the ammonia system. The butchers will use the space formerly occupied by ice to put meat in. The company intends to supply restaurants and saloons, and possibly summer resorts in the city, just as soon as it gets its pipes laid.

A BEAUTIFUL white marble bust of Mrs. Cleveland, upon a pedestal of black and white marble, is at present occupying a corner of ex-Marshal Wilson's drawing-room in Washington. It was left in his charge when Mr. Cleveland went to New York. The bust is life size, and is the work of G. Scanzi, Genoa, and bears the date 1886. It was made from impressions taken when, as Miss Folsom, she traveled in Europe.

DOWN in Nashville, Tenn., they devised a shrewd arrangement for enabling voters who could not read to place their cross in the right place on the ballot of the Australian system. They had tin plates made just the size of the ballots, and with slots cut in them at such intervals that the open spaces would come over those names which the voter desired to cross. A young lawyer of Nashville invented the device the night before the election.

WHILE the Chinese influx has been checked by the passage of the Restriction act, there has, says the San Francisco Chronicle, during the past few years been a steady increase in the number of Japanese immigrants. Three years ago the Japanese colony in this city numbered 800; to-day the figures may be placed at 2,500. During the last three months 300 Japanese have arrived here, and during the same time only sixty have departed.

STRAY SQUIBS.

MAN at telephone (trying to find out who has rung the call)—"Hello, there, are you Thirty-seven?" Young lady at the other end (indignantly)—"No, you horrid thing, I'm only seventeen."

STRANGER—"Have you a boy who can take a note up to Harlem right away?" District messenger clerk—"Why don't you try the post-office. You will get better results." Stranger—"No, I won't either. I don't want it to get there before next Wednesday."

A WOMAN had three sons who went West and settled down on a cattle ranch. Wishing to give this ranch some name, they wrote home, asking the mother to suggest one. She wrote back advising them to call it "Focus," "because," said she, "it is the place where the sons raise meat."

PRETTY COUSIN (in art gallery, to Mr. Sissy)—"But why is your painting hung so high, Charley?" Mr. Sissy—"Well—er—you see, Maud, there are a good many vandals come in here with umbrellas and canes, and I told the committee to hang it as high as possible to keep it out of their way."

FIRST BOY—"I kin lick you." Second Boy—"Jes' you try it." First Boy—"Huh! what'll ye do?" Second Boy—"I look like you, and the first time I hear your dad calling you, when you aint around, an' I am, I'll wiggle my fingers at him an' sass him, an' then you'll catch it when you git home, an' if you say you didn't do it, he'll lick you harder for lyin'."

HE—"Something about the room looks different from what it did when I called last. What is it?" She—"Oh, why, I took down the 'Learn to Say No' motto that used to hang over there by the piano." He—"What did you do that for? It was a pretty piece of work, I thought." She—"Oh, yes, the work was very pretty, but—I didn't like the sentiment." And in less than two minutes she was saying "yes."

BASHFUL SWAIN—"Now, Mr. Pedalsome, I want you to play your sweetest music at my wedding next week—something appropriate, you know." Mr. Pedalsome—"Well, I will do my best. If I knew who the bride was I might select something suitable." B. S.—"I am to marry Miss Sophia Shrillson. Don't you know her?" Mr. Pedalsome—"Sophia Shrillson! Of course I do. She used to sing soprano in our choir years ago. (Absentmindedly.) I think that the 'Last Rose of Summer' would be about right for her."

PHYSIOLOGICAL FACTS.

THE average number of teeth is thirty-two.

THE weight of the circulating blood is twenty-eight pounds.

THE brain of a man exceeds twice that of any other animal.

A MAN breathes about twenty times a minute and twelve hundred in an hour.

THE average weight of an adult is one hundred and fifty pounds and six ounces.

A MAN breathes about eighteen pints of air in a minute, or upward of seven hogsheads in a day.

THE average weight of the brain of a man is three and one-half pounds, of a woman two pounds and eleven ounces.

THE heart sends nearly ten pounds of blood through the veins and arteries each beat, and makes four beats while we breathe once.

ONE HUNDRED and seventy-five million cells are in the lungs, which would cover a surface thirty times greater than the human body.

THE average height of an Englishman is five feet nine inches, of a Frenchman five feet four inches, of a Belgian five feet six and three-quarter inches.

Very Absent Minded.

"The most absent-minded man in my day," said the hotel clerk, "but none to surpass a porter that I knew once in a hotel that I worked in one summer. It was along about eleven o'clock and the officers brought in a nice, respectable-looking man badly intoxicated, who had come in on the train. Said I to the porter: 'John, take this man up to his room and check his valise, and put it into the coat-room on the second floor.' The next morning a valise was found in bed. We hunted for him and found the man sleeping on the floor of the coat-room, his head on a gripsack and a valise check, No. —, around his neck." The crowd that heard this yarn looked at the clerk and said: "Don't tell that too often or you will come to believe it yourself."

[illegible]

Father—"Willie, where have you been?"

Willie (hesitatingly)—"Cummin', putting red pepper into Uncle 'Rastus' shoes."

"I am surprised, Willie! I thought you were above doing a mean act."

"So I was, sir."

BEYOND OUR BORDERS.

THE Sultan of Zanzibar has joined the warfare against slavery.

AN official estimate of the population of Greece places it at 2,187,208.

THE Government of Ecuador has issued a decree forbidding Chinese immigration.

AT the new shooting grounds in Brussels electricity has been introduced to record the result of shots at the different ranges.

THE Nicaraguan Government is disposed to found a city, to be called America, at the Atlantic terminus of the Nicaraguan canal.

THE International Cruelty to Animals Congress in Paris has decided not only against the check rein, but against blinkers, bits and whips.

THE move to give a Sunday holiday to the French railway employes has begun on the Paris-Lyons road. It will probably extend all over France.

RAILWAY freights in Great Britain are seventeen per cent. over the average on the continent, and more than double those of the United States.

MUCH opposition is arising in Mexico to negro immigration. Petitions against it are to be circulated throughout the country, and several proprietors have already refused to sell land to the newcomers.

THE municipal council of Paris has appropriated 260,000 francs for the erection of a crematory in that city, and has voted a "cremation tax" to defray the expense of the incineration of the bodies of those whose friends can not afford to pay for it.

A SUDDEN demand for bronze-colored hair perplexes the worthy coiffeurs of Paris just now. But as the demand must produce or create the supply, an enterprising merchant in capillary wares sent to China while the craze was still young, and the result was that bales of copper-colored hair, long and short, straight and curled, soon arrived at Marseilles, and the humblest grisette can invest in a bronze-colored wig of Chinese origin.

PARIS comes out splendidly at the end of her great world's fair. She has added four magnificent new buildings to her already beautiful stock of palatial structures; gets one-half of the $1,000,000 surplus, the other half of which goes to the State, and all her small tradesmen are fairly bursting because of their overflowing coffers. All the monarchical capitals united could not have made such a splendid show, nor have come so handsomely to the end of it without a single drawback.

RARE AND REMARKABLE.

A SURGEON near London has for years kept his coffin under his bed. He also had his tombstone duly inscribed, except the date.

AT Waurogan, Conn., a man hunting in the woods treed and caught a monkey and a few days before another monkey was captured in a similar way in a forest in the middle of the State.

THE Alta-Californian tells of a Mexican maid who when her lover left her gathered his love letters in a heap, sat on the pile and fired it, literally burning to death upon this unique funeral pyre.

"A POOR woman at Montgomery," reports the Anniston (Ala.) Press, "bought a round-trip ticket for the corpse of her child in order that she might take it to Pine Road to let her relatives view it before burial."

A SIOUX lady recently created quite a sensation at a fashionable ball in London by wearing a pair of shoes with a circle of diamonds around each heel. She wore a short dress and as she waltzed turned the heads of other dancers in a whirl.

A RANCHER exhibited twenty onions at the Arroyo Grande (Cal.) fair that weighed one hundred pounds. Another showed a forty-four-pound cabbage and a nineteen-pound carrot, while still another took the "cake" with a beet five feet long that scaled 104 pounds.

A [illegible] Russian lately died whose fame was mainly acquired by his marvelous capacity for drinking champagne. In gratitude to the bottles out of which had come the chief enjoyment of his life, he collected the lead papers with which the corks of the bottles were covered and ordered that they should be used in making his coffin.

ST. JOHNS, Mich., has a most peculiar and eccentric young man. He is so bashful that he does not speak to his nearest neighbors, and he will go miles out of his way to avoid meeting a young lady. A few years ago his parents sent him to school; he attended only three days because twenty young ladies surrounded him at the school-house and teased him till he nearly fainted.

Thistle Brocade.

A thistle brocade recently exhibited by a New York house is enthusiastically described by a contemporary as "a piece of magnificence well worth seeing. There are two of the same designs on different grounds, black and white. The more stunning is the black. A large spray of thistle heads and stem, long, ruffled leaves flings itself imperiously across a full breadth of the rich satin ground in the splendor of golden weft."

THE centennial of the visit of President Washington to Boston and New England in 1789 was lately celebrated by a meeting in the Old South Meeting-house, when a movement was started to raise $5,000 for the erection of a suitable monument over the grave of Washington's mother at Fredericksburg, Va.

A MARRIAGE FEAST.

THE REV. DR. TALMAGE PREACHES NEAR CANA, IN GALILEE.

Christ's First Recorded Miracle—"The Conscious Water Saw Its God, and Blushed"—Religion and Happiness Go Hand in Hand—His Power to Save.

NEAR CANA, Dec. 22.—The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., preached here today on "A Marriage Feast," taking for his text John ii, 10: "Thou hast kept the good wine until now." He said:

Standing not far off from the demolished town of what was once called Cana of Galilee, I remind myself of my Lord's first miracle, a miracle which has been the astonishment of the ages. My visit here today [illegible] vivid to my mind [illegible] in Christ's history. My text [illegible] to a wedding in that village. It is a wedding in common life, two plain people [illegible] each other, hand and heart, and their friends having come to congratulate. The joy is not the less because there is no pomposity. In each other they find all the future they want. The dowry in the cup [illegible] may count as much as a score of [illegible] from the hothouse. [illegible] but a plain father's blessing and a plain mother's love, and [illegible] as much as if she were a princess. [illegible] after her parents have [illegible] years, that in a few short months [illegible] should have been carried off [illegible] but mother remembers how it [illegible] her own eyes [illegible] the wedding, but [illegible] and the banqueters are gone, and she [illegible] dry all night.

[illegible] we are today at the wedding in Cana of Galilee. Jesus and his mother have been invited. It is evident that there are more people than were expected. Either some people have come who were not invited, or more invitations have been sent out than it was supposed would be accepted. Of course there is not enough supply of wine. You know that there is nothing more embarrassing to a housekeeper than a scant supply. Jesus sees the embarrassment, and he comes up immediately to relieve it. He sees standing six water pots. He orders the servants to fill them with water, then waves his hand over the water, and immediately it is wine—real wine. Taste of it, and see for yourselves; no [illegible] in it, no logwood, no strychnine, but first rate wine. I will not now be drawn aside to the question so often discussed in my own country whether it is right to drink wine. I am describing the scene as it was. When God makes wine, he makes the very best wine, and one hundred and thirty gallons of it [illegible] it is better than any other [illegible] "Why, this is really better than anything we have had. Thou hast kept the good wine until now." [illegible] the praise of [illegible] with [illegible] Cana [illegible] was the [illegible]

WHAT THE MIRACLE TEACHES.

We learn from this miracle, in the first place, that Christ has sympathy with housekeepers. You might have thought that Jesus would have said, "I cannot be bothered with this household deficiency of wine. It is not for me, Lord of heaven and earth, to become caterer to this feast." Not so said Jesus. The wine gave out, and Jesus, by miraculous power, came to the rescue. Does there ever come a scant supply in your household? Have you to make a very close calculation? Is it hard work for you to carry on things decently and respectably? If so, don't sit down and cry. Don't go out and fret; but go to him who stood in the house in Cana of Galilee. Pray in the parlor! Pray in the kitchen! Let there be no room in all your house unconsecrated by the voice of prayer. If you have a microscope, put under it one drop of water, and see the animalcules floating about; and when you see that God makes them, and cares for them, and feeds them, come to the conclusion that he will take care of you and feed you, O ye of little faith.

A boy asked if he might sweep the snow from the steps of a house. The lady of the household said: "Yes. You seem very poor." He says: "I am very poor." She says: "Don't you sometimes get discouraged, and feel that God is going to let you starve?" The lad looked up in the woman's face and said: "Do you think God will let me starve when I trust him, and then do the best I can?" Enough theology for older people! Trust in God, and do the best you can. Amid all the worriments of housekeeping go to him; he will help you control your temper, and supervise your domestics, and entertain your guests, and manage your home economies. There are hundreds of women worn out, and nervous, and exhausted with the cares of housekeeping. I commend you to the Lord Jesus Christ as the best adviser and the most efficient aid—the Lord Jesus who performed his first miracle to relieve a housekeeper.

I learn also from this miracle that Christ does things in abundance. I think a small supply of wine would have made up for the deficiency. I think certainly they must have had enough for half of the guests. One gallon of wine will do; certainly five gallons will be enough; certainly ten. But Jesus goes on, and he gives them thirty gallons, and forty gallons, and fifty gallons, and seventy gallons, and one hundred gallons, and one hundred and thirty gallons of the very best wine.

THE CREATOR'S GENEROSITY.

It is just like him! Doing everything on the largest and most generous scale. Does Christ, our creator, go forth to make leaves, he makes them by the whole forest full; notched like the fern, or silvered like the aspen, or broad like the palm; thickets in the tropics, Oregon forests. Does he go forth to make flowers, he makes plenty of them; they flame from the hedge, they hang from the top of the grapevine in blossoms, they roll in the blue wave of the violets, they toss their white surf into the spiraea—enough for every child's hand a flower, enough to make for every bower a chaplet, enough with beauty to cover up the ghastliness of all the graves. Does he go forth to create water, he pours it out, not by the cupful, but by a river full, a lake full, an ocean full, pouring it out until all the earth has enough to drink and enough with which to wash.

Does Jesus, our Lord, provide redemption, it is not a little salvation for this one, a little for that, and a little for the other; but enough for all—"Whosoever will, let him come." Each man an ocean full for himself. Promises for the young, promises for the old, promises for the lowly, promises for the blind, for the halt, for the outcast, for the abandoned. Pardon for all, comfort for all, mercy for all, heaven for all; not merely a cupful of Gospel supply, but one hundred and thirty gallons. Ay, the tears of godly repentance are all gathered up into God's bottle, and some day, standing before the throne, we will lift our cup of delight and ask that it be filled with the wine of heaven; and Jesus, from that bottle of tears, will begin to pour in the cup, and we will cry: "Stop, Jesus, we do not want to drink our own tears!" and Jesus will say: "Know ye not that the tears of earth are the wine of heaven?" Sorrow may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.

I remark further, Jesus does not shadow the joys of others with his own griefs. He might have sat down in that wedding and said: "I have so much trouble, so much poverty, so much persecution, and the cross is coming; I shall not rejoice, and the gloom of my face and of my sorrows shall be cast over all this group." So said not Jesus. He said to himself: "Here are two persons starting out in married life. Let it be a joyful occasion. I will hide my own griefs. I will kindle their joy." There are many not so wise as that. I know a household where there are many little children, where for two years the musical instrument has been kept shut because there has been trouble in the house. Alas for the folly! Parents saying: "We will have no Christmas tree this coming holiday because there has been trouble in the house. Hush that laughing upstairs! How can there be any joy when there has been so much trouble?" And so they make everything consistently doleful, and send their sons and daughters to ruin with the gloom they throw around them.

Oh, my dear friends, do you know not those children will have trouble enough of their own after a while? Be glad they cannot appreciate all yours. Keep back the cup of bitterness from your daughter's lips. When your head is down in the grass of the tomb, poverty may come to her, betrayal to her, bereavement to her. Keep back the sorrows as long as you can. Do you not know that son may, after a while, have his heart broken? Stand between him and all harm. You may not fight his battles long; fight them while you may. Throw not the chill of your own despondency over his soul; rather be like Jesus, who came to the wedding hiding his own grief and kindling the joys of others. So I have seen the sun, on a dark day, struggling amidst the clouds, black, ragged and portentous, but after a while the sun, with golden pry, heaved back the blackness, and the sun laughed to the lake, and the lake laughed to the sun, and from horizon to horizon, under the saffron sky, the water was all turned into wine.

HE WANTS US TO BE COMFORTABLE.

I learn from this miracle that Christ is not impatient with the luxuries of life. It was not necessary that they should have that wine. Hundreds of people have been married without any wine. We do not read that any of the other provisions fell short. When Christ made the wine it was not a necessity, but a positive luxury. I do not believe that he wants us to eat hard bread, and sleep on hard mattresses, unless we like them the best. I think if circumstances will allow, we have a right to the luxuries of dress, the luxuries of diet and the luxuries of residence. There is no more religion in an old coat than in a new one. We can serve God drawn by golden plated harness as certainly as when we go afoot. Jesus Christ will dwell with us under a fine ceiling as well as under a thatched roof; and when you can get wine made out of water, drink as much of it as you can.

What is the difference between a Chinese mud hovel and an American home? What is the difference between the rough bear skins of the Russian boor and the outfit of an American gentleman? No difference, except that which the Gospel of Christ, directly or indirectly, has caused. When Christ shall have conquered all the world, I suppose every house will be a mansion, and every garment a robe, and every horse an arch necked courser, and every carriage a glittering vehicle, and every man a king, and every woman a queen, and the whole earth a paradise, the glories of the natural world harmonizing with the glories of the material world, until the very bells of the horses shall jingle the praises of the Lord.

I learn, further, from this miracle, that Christ has no impatience with festal joy, otherwise he would not have accepted the invitation to that wedding. He certainly would not have done that which increased the hilarity. There may have been many in that room who were happy, but there was not one of them that did so much for the joy of the wedding party as Christ himself. He was the chief of the banqueters. When the wine gave out he supplied it; and so, I take it, he will not deny us the joys that are positively festal.

I think the children of God have more right to laugh than any other people, and to clap their hands as loudly. There is not a single joy denied them that is given to any other people. Christianity does not clip the wings of the soul. Religion does not frost the flowers. What is Christianity? I take it to be, simply, a proclamation from the throne of God of emancipation for all the enslaved; and if a man accepts the terms of that proclamation, and becomes free, has he not a right to be happy? Suppose a father has an elegant mansion and large grounds. To whom will he give the first privilege of these grounds? Will he say: "My children, you must not walk through these paths, or sit down under these trees, or pluck this fruit. These are for outsiders. They may walk in them." No father would say anything like that. He would say: "The first privilege in all the grounds, and all of my house, shall be for my own children." And yet men try to make us believe that God's children are on the limits, and the chief refreshments and enjoyments of life are for outsiders, and not for his own children. It is stark atheism. There is no innocent beverage too rich for God's child to drink, there is no robe too costly for him to wear. There is no hilarity too great for him to indulge in, and no house too splendid for him to live in. He has a right to the joys of earth; he shall have a right to the joys of heaven. Though tribulation, and trial, and hardship may come upon him, let him rejoice. "Rejoice in the Lord, ye righteous, and again I say, rejoice."

HE COMES IN THE HOUR OF EXTREMITY.

I remark again that Christ comes to us in the hour of our extremity. He knew the wine was giving out before there was any embarrassment or mortification. Why did he not perform the miracle sooner? Why wait until it was all gone, and no help could come from any source, and then come in and perform the miracle? This is Christ's way; and when he did come in, at the hour of extremity, he made first rate wine, so that they cried out: "Thou hast kept the good wine until now." Jesus in the hour of extremity! He seems to prefer that hour.

In a Christian home in Poland great poverty had come, and on the next day the man was obliged to move out of the house with his whole family. That night he knelt with his family and prayed to God. While they were kneeling in prayer there was a tap on the window pane. They opened the window, and there was a raven that the family had fed and trained, and it had in its bill a ring all set with precious stones, which was found out to be a ring belonging to the royal family. It was taken up to the king's residence, and for the honesty of the man in bringing it back he had a house given to him, and a garden, and a farm. Who was it that sent the raven tapping on the window? The same God that sent the raven to feed Elijah by the brook Cherith. Christ in the hour of extremity!

You mourned over your sins. You could not find the way out. You sat down and said: "God will not be merciful. He has cast me off;" but in that, the darkest hour of your history, light broke from the throne, and Jesus said: "O wanderer, come home. I have seen all thy sorrows. In this, the hour of thy extremity, I offer thee pardon and everlasting life!"

Trouble came. You were almost torn to pieces by that trouble. You braced yourself up against it. You said: "I will be a Stoic and will not care;" but before you had got through making the resolution it broke down under you. You felt that all your resources were gone, and then Jesus came. "In the fourth watch of the night," the Bible says, "Jesus came walking on the sea." Why did he not come in the first watch? or in the second watch? or in the third watch? I do not know. He came in the fourth, and gave deliverance to his disciples. Jesus in the last extremity!

I wonder if it will be so in our very last extremity. We shall fall suddenly sick, and doctors will come, but in vain. We will try the anodynes, and the stimulants, and the bathings, but all in vain. Something will say: "You must go." No one to hold us back, but the hands of eternity stretched out to pull us on. What then? Jesus will come to us, and as we say "Lord Jesus, I am afraid of that water, I cannot wade through to the other side," he will say: "Take hold of my arm;" and we will take hold of his arm, and then he will put his foot in the surf of the wave, taking us on down deeper, deeper, deeper, and our soul will cry: "All thy waves and billows have gone over me." They cover the feet, come to the knee, pass the girdle, and come to the head, and our soul cries out: "Lord Jesus Christ, I cannot hold thine arm any longer!" Then Jesus will turn around, throw both his arms about us, and set us on the beach, far beyond the tossing of the billow. Jesus in the last extremity!

A GRANDER WEDDING.

That wedding scene is gone now. The wedding ring has been lost, the tankards have been broken, the house is down; but Jesus invites us to a grander wedding. You know the Bible says that the church is the Lamb's wife; and the Lord will after awhile come to fetch her home. There will be gleaming of torches in the sky, and the trumpets of God will ravish the air with their music; and Jesus will stretch out his hand, and the church, robed in white, will put aside her veil and look up into the face of her Lord the king, and the bridegroom will say to the bride: "Thou hast been faithful through all these years! The mansion is ready! Come home! Thou art fair, my love!" and then he shall put upon her brow the crown of dominion, and the table will be spread and it will reach across the skies, and the mighty ones of heaven will come in, garlanded with beauty and striking their cymbals; and the bridegroom and bride will stand at the head of the table, and the banqueters, looking up, will wonder and admire, and say: "That is Jesus, the bridegroom! But the scar on his brow is covered with the coronet, and the stab in his side is covered with a robe!" and "That is the bride! the weariness of her earthly woe lost in the flush of this wedding triumph!"

There will be wine enough at that wedding; not coming up from the poisoned vats of earth, but the vineyards of God will press their ripest clusters, and the cups and the tankards will blush to the brim with the heavenly vintage, and then all the banqueters will drink standing. Esther having come up from the bacchanalian revelry of Ahasuerus, where a thousand lords feasted, will be there. And the queen of Sheba, from the banquet of Solomon, will be there. And the mother of Jesus, from the wedding in Cana, will be there. And they all will agree that the earthly feasting was poor compared with that. Then, lifting their chalices in that holy light, they shall cry to the lord of the feast: "Thou hast kept the good wine until now!"

A Carnivorous Plant.

A remarkable plant has been under discussion at the London rooms of the British Association for the Advancement of Science. It was exhibited by Dr. Hooker, who gave the inaugural address as president of the section of biology. The address was upon the subject of flesh eating plants, in the course of which Dr. Hooker explained and demonstrated by experiment some of the remarkable discoveries of the late Mr. Darwin. Among other botanical rarities he showed a plant called "Dionia," the leaves at that moment being wide open. A fly was captured and put upon one of the leaves. Instantly the plant closed like a thing possessing animal life. After a few moments the plant slowly opened and disclosed the fact that the fly had been completely dissolved—eaten, as it were. A bit of beef was afterwards consumed in the same way. Pieces of chalk and cheese were instantly rejected by the plant. Professor Huxley, who was present, said that these phenomena formed a wonderful problem, and that the plant certainly had a stomach and a nervous system of its own.—St. Louis Republic.

Astronomy.

"Oh, what's the use of having one word sound so much like another?" exclaimed a little girl, who had innocently stated that a man stood on a parallel, instead of a parapet. "It mixes you up so!" It does indeed, and the results of such mixing are every day apparent, in forms more or less amusing.

"You will always be prettier than I," said the same little girl to her sister, "because your hair grows so even, and mine turns up in a cow catcher."

One day the conversation turned on astronomy, and one and another member of the family pleaded ignorance of all but the most elementary knowledge of the science.

"I know the Pleiades when I see them," said one, "but I've forgotten how many stars there ought to be."

"I recognize the Dipper," said some one else, and at this point the youngest member of the family broke in:

"And O'Brien!" cried she. "Don't you know O'Brien, with his sword and belt?"

Some of them thought they did, though under a slightly modified name.—Youth's Companion.

Where Government Clerks Smoke.

The government has at last found a use for that vast inclosed court in the pension building. No one has ever known what it was designed for except to look spacious, and once in four years to give room for the inaugural ball. But it is now converted into a national smoking room. For one hour each day clouds of tobacco smoke curl about the great columns, and the scent of tobacco permeates the air. Gen. Raum has prohibited smoking in the pension office during working hours, and to make up to the clerks for the privation has granted them the privilege of this great court as a smoking room during the lunch hour. At midday they march about this tiled hall and mingle the odor of the "two-fers" with the fragrance of the quarter Havanas. The penny cigarette mingles its paper smell with the rest. The rules of the departments have been steadily running the cigar smokers out, and this is the first concession they have had.—Washington Letter.

The Russian empire had at the last census a population of 108,787,235 souls, or 4,500,000 more than in 1884, when no exact census was taken in the newly annexed countries of Central Asia. The population is densest in Poland, where [illegible] inhabitants to the square verst, equal to about [illegible] square miles.

MRS. MORTON'S GOWNS.

Winter Costumes of the Wife of Our Vice-President.

A Bewildering Array of Dresses of the Finest Materials and Original Designs, But None of Them Decollete. Gowns for All Purposes.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

There is no prettier picture in any New York house than that presented by Mrs. Levi P. Morton surrounded by her five fair daughters. She is a beautiful woman, and yet quite thirty-five years of age, though many people think her older, because her hair is white. This is not the result of age, but of pain, for Mrs. Morton has been for many years a sufferer from neuralgia. [illegible]

Mrs. Morton is not an extravagant woman, but her taste is exquisite, and those of the new dresses which she will wear in Washington this winter are marvels of richness and beauty.

"I do not buy many imported dresses," she said to the reporter. "I really think our New York dress-makers turn out some of the prettiest gowns in the world."

And so they do, if one may judge from Mrs. Morton's wardrobe. For indoor wear, she has some very stylish little jackets made of velvet, in dainty colors. The morning I called upon her, she wore one of copper-brown with a Figaro front, scarcely deeper than a yoke, that fell over a blouse front of soft ecru silk, figured with tiny Persian devices. It was held in at the waist by a velvet girdle.

One of her breakfast dresses is of bisque-blue camel's hair, lined with pale pink surah. It has long Pilgrim sleeves falling to the floor, similarly lined. The front is of silk, daintily smocked at the throat and fastened at the waist with a silver girdle.

A tea gown is made of brocaded silk as soft as surah. It is tied in front with broad, handsome ribbons, and a deep "Kendal" collar of fine point lace is turned away from the low cut throat.

One of her prettiest dinner dresses is of heavy yellow satin, brocaded with clusters of purple grapes, the demi-train of dark purple velvet. The bodice is pointed back and front, shirred at the shoulders and drawn softly down to a point in front where it is edged with bands of velvet. The sleeves reach the wrists and are a succession of alternate folds of silk and velvet. With this dress will be worn a splendid set of amethysts, mounted upon gold wires, consisting of necklace and cross, earrings, bracelets and tiara. The fan that matches this costume is of magnificent purple plumes.

Among Mrs. Morton's reception dresses—the one which I fancy fashion writers will have most to say about this winter—is a combination of black velvet, lace and jet. The bodice is of velvet and reaches just up to the arm-pits where it is finished with little jet points. It just meets in the front and falls away in regular saw-teeth to the waist line where it points down into a regular coat flap, edged with jet, and sweeps out in a train from the waist. The whole front is of the finest silk net, heavily embroidered with jet. The lace is brought from the top of the bodice up over the shoulders where it is held in place with crescents of the finest cut jet. Long gloves of black suede, reaching to the shoulder, will be worn with this dress.

Another exquisite evening costume has a trained skirt of cream-colored Viennese lace, with embroidery in amber and blue silk, fully half a yard deep, running round the bottom. The bodice is of ecru satin brocaded with primrose velvet flowers. From the bodice depend long pointed tabs of the brocaded goods reaching to the very bottom edge of the skirt. The bodice has short sleeves, puffed high on the shoulder, and the neck is cut round, but not low. None of Mrs. Morton's dresses are low, although she has a faultless neck and beautiful shoulders.

An odd street costume is of black and white Scotch plaid. The plain, round skirt is cut bias. The waist is close-fitting and opens in front down to a point just below the swell of the bust, and is filled in with a soft vest of black silk. Below this is a girdle of black silk about eight inches wide. From under the left arm three-inch wide straps of russet leather are passed round to the front, where they are fastened in tiny silver buckles. The sleeves are very odd, they fit the arm closely from the wrist up to a point half way between elbow and shoulder, where they suddenly flare into an immense puff. A stylish little bonnet to match this suit is made of black velvet ornamented with two sea gulls.

The fashion of trimming with fur seems to have found favor in Mrs. Morton's eyes, for fur not only adorns but becomes a part of many of her dresses. A beautiful carriage dress of almost white cloth has around the bottom of the skirt a band of black marten, eight inches broad. A long tight-fitting coat, open in front and slashed on the sides up to the hips has a broad rolling collar of the fur, and bands of it are placed around the sleeves at the wrists and just above the elbow.

Last winter Mrs. Morton wore an exquisite costume of white lace, heavily trimmed with ostrich feathers. This year she has the costume almost reproduced, except that now it is trimmed with white fur.

Among her winter wraps is a Russian garment made of dark mahogany velvet, shot with gold. The large outer cloak is bordered with beaver fur and falls away from the figure at each side like great wings, lined with vivid flame color.

A cloak of gray green velvet has sleeves of a very beautiful fabric, covered with many-colored embroidery in Persian effects. A superb passementerie, exactly matching this material, is placed where the sleeves are joined to the mantle, so that it falls on the green velvet. There is an odd pointed yoke and Fichu-like collar of the same around the throat. This mantle is only for evening wear.

The handsomest of Mrs. Morton's wraps is a long garment of dark, moss-green velvet, made surtout style, with rich trimming of Alaska sable, a deep Russian collar of this fur nearly covering the shoulders.

She does not share the taste for the large "picture" hats of velvet, laden with ostrich plumes, but wears instead close-fitting toques, or round turbans, made to match her costumes.

Mrs. Morton has recently purchased an entire dining service, including china, cut glass, silver and linen. The china is the finest Haviland, and is colored almost entirely a dark mahogany red, which is relieved by scroll patterns of gilt. The silver is of very massive design, very much like the patterns used a hundred years ago. In the matter of table covering, Mrs. Morton does not incline towards the table spreads of embroidered silk or satin, which are now so popular. She prefers, rather, the colored decoration. Some of her sets, however, are marvels of needlework which is done by drawing the threads and working in intricate lace patterns. Her tray clothes and bouffet scarfs are all made after the same fashion, having, in addition to the needlework, heavy knotted fringe.

Mr. Morton has taken as his Washington residence a large house near Mr. Blaine's, built by a wealthy California widow and completed less than two years ago, but recently vacated by the death of its mistress. It is all furnished, ready for occupancy. Mrs. Morton will take with her her own corps of servants, and there, as in New York, the household arrangements will be under her personal supervision.

MARGARET MANTON.

THE DIAMOND.

Its Origin Still Pretty Well in the Dark.

The origin of the diamond has been a fruitful topic for speculation among scientists; hence many contradictory theories have been advanced and argued with some show of reason; but after all that has been said and written upon the subject, we are still left pretty much in the dark. Theories answer a good purpose, since they often lead the way to truth. But this is not all; they illustrate the ingenuity in the human mind in seeking to account for the methods Nature takes for the accomplishment of her secret operations.

Some of these theories about the origin of the diamond are very ingenious and interesting, though the amount of truth they embody remains to be proved. It has been suggested that the vapors of carbon during the coal period may have been condensed and crystallized into the diamond; and again, the itacolumite, generally regarded as the matrix, was saturated with petroleum, which, collecting in modules, formed the gem by gradual crystallization. Newton believed it to have been a coagulated, unctuous substance, of vegetable origin, and was sustained in the theory by many eminent philosophers, including Sir David Brewster, who believed the diamond was once a mass of gum, derived from certain species of wood, and that it subsequently assumed a crystalline form. Dana and others advance the opinion that it may have been produced by the slow decomposition of vegetable material, and even from animal matter. Burton says it is younger than gold, and suggests the possibility that it may still be in process of formation, with capacity of growth. Specimens of the diamond have been found to enclose particles of gold, an evidence, he thinks, that its formation was more recent than that of the precious metal.

The theory that the diamond was formed immediately from carbon by the action of heat is opposed by another, maintaining that it could not have been produced in this way, otherwise it would have been consumed. But the advocates of this view were not quite on their guard against a surprise, for some quick-witted opponent has found by experiments that the diamond will sustain great heat without combustion.

She Wanted More than [illegible].

Wife—George, before we were married, do you remember you promised me I should have everything that my heart could wish?

Husband—And haven't I kept my promise?

Wife—Yes, George; and it is for that reason that I often wish you had promised me all that stomach could wish, too. Aren't we ever going to give up boarding and go to housekeeping?

BITS FROM ABROAD.

TEN THOUSAND debtors are languishing in the jails of great Britain.

THE sentiment in favor of a republic is said to be spreading very rapidly in Brazil.

NEW postage stamps put in circulation in Spain contain a bust of Alfonso XIII., the three-year-old King.

ONE of the new Parisian follies, fresh from the exposition, is silk socks dyed in the colors of the French flag.

THE slave trade is now outlawed in all parts of the African coast which are under foreign influence, except in the provinces of Portugal.

IT is said that $100,000,000 of English capital has gone into Argentine Republic within the last few years. A vast amount has also been sent into Chili and Honduras.

LONDON correspondents agree that cigarette smoking is on the increase among young women in that city—not vulgar young persons, but among those of social standing.

AN imperial decree just issued directs that Austrian State officials of every rank shall henceforth wear uniforms on and off duty, and shall salute one another in the military fashion. The decree excites the strongest opposition.

THE Ceylon planters are about to undertake the cultivation of the kola nut as a substitute for coffee, in view of the diminishing production of coffee in Brazil. The kola nut is indigenous in Western Africa, but is easily cultivated in Ceylon.

SIR FRANCIS DE WINTON, late Governor of the Congo State, says that in spite of the scores of explorers who have been traversing Africa in all directions since Livingstone began his travels the larger part of the many millions of natives have never yet seen a white man.

CREMATION is coming more and more into vogue in Germany, in spite of the expense and certain legal difficulties which render its performance in some parts almost an impossibility. At Gotha no fewer than one hundred bodies have been cremated during the present year.

1890.

Harper's Young People.

AN ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY.

The Eleventh Volume of HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, which begins with the Number for November 5, 1889, presents an attractive programme. It will offer to the readers at least four serials of the usual length, and others in two or three parts, namely, "The Red Mustang," by William O. Stoddard; "Phil and the Baby," by Lucy C. Lillie; "Prince Tommy," by John Russell Coryell; and "Mother's Way," by Margaret E. Sangster; two short serials by Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen. Two series of Fairy Tales will attract the attention of lovers of the wonder-world, namely, the quaint tales told by Howard Pyle, and so admirably illustrated by him, and another series in a different vein by Frank M. Bicknell. There will be short stories by W. D. Howells, Thomas Nelson Page, Mary E. Wilkins, Nora Perry, Harriet Prescott Spofford, David Ker, Hezekiah Butterworth, Sophie Swett, Richard Malcolm Johnston, etc.

A subscription to HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE secures a juvenile library. There is useful knowledge, also plenty of amusement.—Boston Advertiser.

TERMS: Postage Prepaid, $2.00 Per Year.

Vol. XI. begins November 5, 1889.

Specimen Copy sent on receipt of a two-cent stamp.

SINGLE NUMBERS, Five Cents each.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address: HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

ST. NICHOLAS.

The Century Co's Magazine for Young Folks. Enlarged and Printed in New Type.

Since 1873, when under the editorial management of Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, the publication of St. Nicholas for Young Folks was begun, it has led all magazines for girls and boys. Nothing like it was known before, and today, as the Chicago Inter-Ocean recently said, "it is the model and ideal juvenile magazine of the world." Through its pages the greatest writers of to-day are speaking to the youth of America and England, and the best artists and engravers are training the eyes of the boys and girls to appreciate the highest in art. Nobody knows how many readers St. Nicholas has. In the third largest public library in America—that in Indianapolis—more than 3,000 people read each month's number.

Since the first issue Mrs. Dodge has remained as editor. Early in its history other young people's magazines, "Our Young Folks," "The Little Corporal," "Riverside," etc., were consolidated with it, and its history has been one of growth from the first. Tennyson, Bryant, Longfellow, Whittier, Miss Alcott, Mrs. Burnett, Charles Dudley Warner, W. D. Howells, and almost every well-known writer of our time have contributed to its pages. There is only one way in which its conductors can make it better, and that is by making more of it, and so they announce that with the beginning of the seventeenth volume (November, 1889) St. Nicholas will be enlarged by the addition of eight, and sometimes sixteen, extra pages in each number. This enlargement is absolutely required to make room for the rich store of new material which has been secured for the benefit of St. Nicholas readers. The use of new and clearer type will be begun with the November number.

During the coming year there are to be four important serial stories by four well-known American authors. Athletics and outdoor sports will be a special feature (contributed by Walter Camp, of Yale, and others), and there will be stories of character and adventure, sketches of information and travel, outdoor papers, articles of special literary interest, suggestive talks on natural history, other scientific subjects, and the march of events. Both the December and January numbers are to be holiday issues.

The price will be the same as heretofore, $3.00 a year, 25 cents a number, and all dealers and the publishers (The Century Co., New York) take subscriptions. New subscribers should begin with November.

INSURANCE.

FIRE INSURANCE!

The undersigned having been appointed agent for the

Star and Merchants

Fire Insurance Co's of the City of New York,

is prepared to write substantial indemnity against loss by Fire and solicit applications from the citizens of Plainfield and vicinity.

NATHAN HARPER

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,

FIRE AND LIFE

INSURANCE AGENT,

Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.

MONEY TO LOAN

On Approved Security.

J. C. Pope & Co.,

GENERAL AGENTS OF THE

German American Ins. Co.,

of New York.

Also represent other first-class Fire Insurance Companies. Agents of the Inman Steamship Line. Drafts on Ireland for sale. First and City National Bank Stock Bought and Sold. Also,

BUILDING LOTS

And Other Real Estate for sale.

OFFICE:

6 E. FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD.

JAMES C. POPE. ELIAS R. POPE.

1890.

Harper's Bazar.

ILLUSTRATED.

HARPER'S BAZAR is a journal for the home. Giving the latest information with regard to the Fashions, its numerous illustrations, fashion-plates, and pattern-sheet supplements are indispensable alike to the home dress-maker and the professional modiste. No expense is spared in making its artistic attractiveness of the highest order. Its clever short stories, parlor plays, and thoughtful essays satisfy all tastes, and its last page is famous as a budget of wit and humor. In its weekly issues everything is included which is of interest to women. During 1890 Olive Thorne Miller, Christine Terhune Herrick, and Mary Lowe Dickinson will respectively furnish a series of papers on "The Daughter at Home," "Three Meals a Day," and "The Woman of the Period." The serial novels will be written by Walter Besant and F. W. Robinson.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
HARPER'S MAGAZINE	4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	$4 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	2 00

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States, Canada, or Mexico.

The Volumes of the BAZAR begin with the first Number of January of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at time of receipt of order.

Bound Volumes of HARPER'S WEEKLY for three years back, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postage paid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume) for $7 00 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of $1 00 each.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address: HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1890.

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED.

A new Shakespeare—the Shakespeare of EDWIN A. ABBEY—will be presented in HARPER'S MAGAZINE, for 1890, with comments by Andrew Lang. Harper's Magazine has also made special arrangements with Alphonse Daudet, the greatest living French novelist, for the exclusive publication, in serial form, of a humorous story, to be entitled "The Colonists of Tarascon: the Last Adventures of the Famous Tartarin." The story will be translated by Henry James, and illustrated by Rossi and Myrbach.

W. D. Howells will contribute a novelette in three parts, and Lafcadio Hearn, a novelette in two parts, entitled "Youma," handsomely illustrated.

In illustrated papers, touching subjects of current interest, and in its short stories, poems, and timely articles, the Magazine will maintain its well-known standard.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	2 00

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States, Canada, or Mexico.

The Volumes of the Magazine begin with the Numbers for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at time of receipt of order.

Bound Volumes of Harper's Magazine for three years back, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, post-paid.

Index to Harper's Magazine, Alphabetical, Analytical, and Classified, for volumes 1 to 70, inclusive, from June, 1850, to June, 1885, one vol., 8vo., Cloth, $4 00.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address: HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

RAILROADS.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA.

PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE

Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after Nov. 10, 1889, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

8.35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, dining car from Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Columbus, Cleveland and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, [illegible]

[illegible] P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars and dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis, daily except saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

6.42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—[illegible]

For Philadelphia [illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

[illegible]

For Trenton—[illegible]

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—[illegible]

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.

J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey

Station in New York—Foot Liberty Street.

Time Table in Effect Nov. 10, 1889.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

[illegible]

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

[illegible]

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD

[illegible]

For Atlantic City—[illegible]

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

[illegible]

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

[illegible]

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA

[illegible]

[illegible]

H. P. BALDWIN, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

MISCELLANEOUS | MISCELLANEOUS.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

New Store! New Goods! New Firm

BARKALEW & DUNN,

Fancy and Staple Grocers,

NO. 18 NORTH AVENUE

We sell for Cash and will give Special Inducements

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion, Without injurious medication.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 182 Fulton Street, N. Y.

7-18-y

A MAN

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches, and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MAGNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels furnishing meals at seasonable hours west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake, and Sioux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, General Manager. CHICAGO, ILL. JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass. Agent.

LEGAL NOTICES.

1889.

TAXES!

Notice is hereby to the Taxpayers of

THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD,

That the Taxes assessed in said city for the year 1889, are now due and payable, and that

If the said Taxes be not paid by the 2[illegible]th day of December Next,

the names of the defaulters, with their respective Taxes will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution.

The Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council chamber on the FOURTH TUESDAY IN NOVEMBER NEXT (the 26th), and sit from 2 o'clock P. M. until 5 o'clock P. M., or longer if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1, 1889. 10-2-1-w

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors.

SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

Estate of George W. Townley, Deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the twenty-seventh day of September, A. D. 1889, on the application of William H. Shotwell, as administrator of George W. Townley, deceased; an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the Creditors of George W. Townley, deceased, to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent, under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said Administrator within NINE months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor should be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said Administrator.

ABR'M T. HUFF, Surrogate.
10-3-9w

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, Administrator of Andrew Love, Senior, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday the twenty-second day of January next.

Dated November 13th, 1889.

ANDREW LOVE, JR.
11-21 w10

NOTICE. NOVEMBER 8TH, 1889.

Estate of Sarah M. Latimer, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, Executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

NELSON RUNYON,
WILLIAM H. SHOTWELL,
JAMES F. MACDONALD,
Executors.
11-14 w10

NOTICE. NOVEMBER 6TH, 1889.

Estate of Harriet A. Coit, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made on the application of the undersigned executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

CHARLES S. GIBSON,
ALFRED A. FREEMAN,
Executors.
11-14-w10

Notice of Order to Limit Creditors

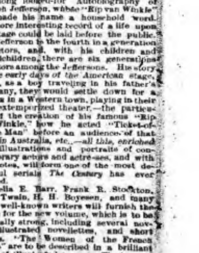
SOMERSET COUNTY SURROGATE'S OFFICE.

ESTATE OF Jeremiah R. VanDeventer, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that on the second day of December, A. D. 1889, on the application of Caroline E. Brunson and Augustus J. Brunson, as executors of Jeremiah R. VanDeventer, deceased, an order was made by the Surrogate requiring the creditors of Jeremiah R. VanDeventer, deceased, to bring in their debts, demands and claims against the said decedent under oath or affirmation, and present the same to said executors within NINE months from the date of said order; and in default thereof any such creditor should be forever barred of his or her action therefor against the said executors.

ABR. T. HUFF, Surrogate.
12-5-9w

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.



JOSEPH JEFFERSON.

"The 'Century Magazine" in 1890—Joseph Jefferson's Autobiography—Novels by Frank R. Stockton, Amelia E. Barr, and others—A Capital Programme.

DURING 1890 The Century Magazine (whose recent successes have included the famous "War Papers," the Lincoln History and George Kennan's series on "Siberia and the Exile System") will publish the long looked-for Autobiography of Joseph Jefferson, whose "Rip van Winkle" has made his name a household word. No more interesting record of a life upon the stage could be laid before the public. Mr. Jefferson is the fourth in a generation of actors, and, with his children and grandchildren, there are six generations of actors among the Jeffersons. His story of the early days of the American stage, when, as a boy traveling in his father's company, they would settle down for a season in a Western town, playing in their own extemporized theater,—the particulars of the creation of his famous "Rip van Winkle," how he acted "Ticket-of-Leave Man" before an audience of that class in Australia, etc.,—all this, enriched with illustrations and portraits of contemporary actors and actresses, and with anecdotes, will form one of the most delightful serials The Century has ever printed.

Amelia E. Barr, Frank R. Stockton, Mark Twain, H. H. Boyesen, and many other well-known writers will furnish the fiction for the new volume, which is to be unusually strong, including several novels, illustrated novelettes, and short stories. "The Women of the French Salons" are to be described in a brilliant series of illustrated papers. The important discoveries made with the great Lick Telescope at San Francisco (the largest telescope in the world) and the latest explorations relating to prehistoric America (including the famous Serpent Mound, of Ohio) are to be chronicled in The Century. Prof. George P. Fisher of Yale University, is to write a series on "The Nature and Method of Revelation," which will attract every Bible student. Bishop Potter of New York will be one of several prominent writers who are to contribute a series of "Present-day Papers" on living topics, and there will be art papers, timely articles, etc., etc., and the choicest pictures that the greatest artists and engravers can produce.

Every bookseller, postmaster, and subscription agent takes subscriptions to The Century ($4 00 a year), or remittance may be made directly to the publishers, THE CENTURY CO., of New York. Begin new subscriptions with November (the first issue of the volume) and get Mark Twain's story, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," in that number.